

THE MULESHOE

Dedicated to the Progress and Development of Bailey County and the South Plains of Texas

LITTERA SCRIPTA MANET—THE WRITTEN WORD ENDURES MULESHOE, County Seat of Bailey County, TEXAS THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1936

VOLUME 14 NUMBER 39

ELECTION DATA WILL BE GIVEN SATURDAY NITE

Shortest Ballot In The History of County Up Saturday.

Proponents of the "short ballot" idea will probably be pretty well satisfied when they get to vote in the second Democratic primary next Saturday since there are only five names on the ticket, two being for state offices, two for county wide offices and one for precinct office, copy of ballot being found on the editorial page of this newspaper. It is stated this is probably the shortest ballot ever put out for an election occasion in the history of Bailey County.

State officers to be voted on are Ernest Thompson and Frank S. Morris for Railroad Commissioner and J. E. McDonald and George B. Terrell for Commissioner of Agriculture. In the county race M. G. Miller and Dr. A. R. Matthews are in the runoff for County Judge. J. J. Williams and Miss Elizabeth Harden for County and District Clerk, while D. Warner and George Henderson are aspirants for place as County Commissioner in Precinct 27.

The usual election party will be held in Muleshoe Saturday night after the closing of election polls, returns being placed on the big blackboard of the Muleshoe Motor Co. front porch and announcement made over radio loud speaker of results as they are tabulated and returned. Many are interested in having prompt knowledge of returns is invited to attend this party.

Paul Bros. Erect 200 Ton Silo For Fall Stock Feeding

Paul Bros., prominent ranchers of Bailey County, with headquarters located about three miles south of Circleback, have just completed the erection also yet built in this county, 180 feet long, nine feet deep and wide, holding about 250 tons of hay, according to J. B. Waide, farm agent, who inspected it first of this week.

This silo is to be filled with grain crops to be used in feeding out lambs and cattle during the coming winter. Paul Bros. have for the past several years been raising large numbers of lambs and cattle in Bailey county, feeding out annually over 2,000 head of lambs and from 500 to 1,000 head of steers for market. The stock fed by them has invariably carried a good finish, equal to many northern fed cattle, and on some occasions, as in 1925 and 1926, topped the California market.

Mr. Waide stated there would probably be some 20 or 30 more silos of the trench type constructed in Bailey county this fall, which will bring the total number of farmers and stockmen in this county using that type up to 55. The average silo holds from 75 to 100 tons of feed.

BRINGS LOAD OF MELONS

E. W. Black residing about four miles northeast of Bula in Bailey County, brought into Muleshoe last Saturday morning his first load of watermelons, they average from 20 to 40 pounds each. He has about 15 acres of these melons growing on his place and expects to harvest around 100 tons within the coming two weeks. Several tons of them have already been contracted for sale, Black said. Last year he also had a large acreage of melons which were sold to a good profit.

The Journal force can testify to the delightful flavor and fine quality of the melons in the fact that Mr. Black left us as a sample last Saturday.

PASS MASONIC HONORS

At an examination held last week at the Grand Lodge of Texas, Judge Adams, W. E. Renfrow and Conception received certificates of passage in the esoteric work of the esoteric lodge.

The examination followed a three week school of instruction held here by R. A. Warren, of Canyon.

Cost Of Foods Is Seen To Be Higher For Coming Winter

Chicken for the Sunday dinner this winter is going to cost more than it did last winter, according to figures made public a few days ago by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which says these fowls are due for a hike in price along with the cacklerberries they lay. Also milk and potatoes, present indications point, will be higher, the former because feed is bound to take a price jump and the latter because of drought conditions in many sections which cut short the crop of spuds.

The report says: Dairy products supplies are expected to be slightly lower because pastures have been burned. That means farmers have to buy feed for their cows, or else kill them and sell them for meat. In either case it cuts the supply of milk for the dairies.

Feather and egg supplies should be larger. There were larger spring hatchings this year than last. Even so, the prices may rise if the drought sends feed prices so high that farmers decide not to raise their chickens to maturity.

There will be less fruit. The spring frost harmed the trees. Apple and peach crops will be smallest since 1921. Pears and citrus fruits, though, promise to be plentiful.

There is expected to be less beef, veal and lamb for the next twelve months. But there will be more pigs than last year. The drought reduced the amount of feed and the reduced feed will probably curtail meat production.

Lard will be 25 per cent more plentiful this year than last.

Butter prices are high because of the drought, and farmers in the intensive dairy regions are busily producing it to meet the demand. But it most prices go high in proportion farmers are likely to sell their cows for meat. That would mean less milk, less butter fat, and lower stocks of butter.

There will be plenty of wheat of all kinds except those used for bread and macaroni.

Ice stocks are expected to be larger. There are more plants in the north and south planted more this year.

Potato supplies will be markedly less this year. The prices for them the last two years were so low that farmers planted less acres in potatoes this year.

Local Prices Higher. Local grocers have already begun to scratch their wits to keep commodities at nearly winter former prices as possible; but present indications are that these efforts will not last long. Already prices on flour, sugar, canned fruit and various staple commodities have taken rises, with further indications that some commodities may soar still higher in the near future.

Local crocers are also having difficulty in keeping stocks regular, as many of the articles they order from wholesale houses they find are now out of stock. Some very staple commodities are running short. Some customers have already begun anticipating future commodities ahead of present needs, increasing their away in anticipation of rising future prices.

Grains and other feedstuffs were advancing for the past month. This week prices in Muleshoe being as follows: kafir $3.00; wheat $1.10; milo $1.40; sucan $3.40; and 100 lbs. of bushel.

RELIGION OF CANDIDATES. Having had number of inquiries concerning the religious affiliations of the leading presidential candidates the Journal takes this means of answering all at the same time.

President Roosevelt is an Episcopalian. Vice President Garner is a member of the Methodist church. Governor Alf Landon, is also a Methodist. Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential candidate, is a Congregationalist.

WILL ROGERS DAY AUG. 24

Will Rogers day has been designated for August 24, according to advice received Monday from the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Rogers, who died about a year ago, was a frequent visitor to Muleshoe. He was intimately associated with the Habel ranch interests a few miles east of town.

It is understood several of his old friends and former acquaintances plan attending the Centennial on this special day.

DUCK HUNTING LIMITED

Duck hunters in Texas this season will have 30 days only for securing their favorite wild game, according to information released by the Department of Agriculture, Washington.

In Texas the season will be from November 26 to December 26.

GOV'T DROUTH REPORT SHOWS TERRIBLE TOLL ON CROPS; IN SOME SECTIONS TEXAS MUCH DAMAGE

Plains Area Holds Up Well Under Extraordinary Blaze Of Sun, Yet Moisture Is Needed For Some Of The Crops.

Mounting mercuries in Texas last week to new high temperatures, definitely established a record heat condition for this section said to be the worst in 20 years past. Relenting some what is a warm fervor this week, the temperature dropped a little; but meteorologists declare there is no indication of any immediate drastic relief.

Weather observers say crop dangers are not so much in the heat itself as in the influence of scorching winds and blasting sunshine, which even on irrigated plains has its devastating influence. Approximately 20 deaths have been reported as definitely resulting from the summer holocaust, and stockmen have reported some deaths of livestock where water has been scarce. Temperatures in places below the caprock in central and eastern Texas have been reported as high as 117 degrees.

Up on the Plains area it was much lower, 104 being the highest recorded in Muleshoe.

The past few days have witnessed a few rainfalls, dimming the sun's brightness, and various prognosticators are declaring September will be ushered in with rain. Some crops of this section are now needing moisture, especially growing feed, and here and there some farmer wishing for more moisture for his growing cotton.

What productions are lower than forecast a month ago, now indicating 62,745,000 bushels, and about six million bushels lower than the July forecast. Grain sorghums forecast now with 81,588,000 bushels as compared with 97,823,000 bushels last year. Present indications are the corn crop will be about 46.3 per cent of average normal. Crop conditions of the northwest area, including Montana and the Dakotas, show little or no ready improvement.

On the other hand, many observers insisted that the drought would strengthen New Deal reelection chances. The disaster graphically portrayed the need for Federal assistance when State resources gave out. Moreover, practical politicians realized that every one of the thousands recently helped by the government would be grateful to the administration.

Ernest Thompson in Run-off With Morris For Railway Com'n

Austin—Carrying the fight vigorously to his opponent in the run-off primary for Railroad Commissioner, Colonel Ernest O. Thompson, Chairman of the Railroad Commission, seeking re-election to a second term, this week charged before audiences in half a dozen Texas towns and cities that the campaign of his opponent, Frank Morris, of Dallas is "foisted, engineered, paid for and controlled by the unlawful producers of oil, the unfair operators of trucks, and those who would wilfully or negligently refuse to obey the law."

Pointing out that he lacked less than 10,000 votes, or a little more than 1 per cent of the vote cast in the first primary, of having a majority over all four of his opponents, Thompson predicted an overwhelming victory Saturday, and asserted there is but one issue in the campaign:

"That is whether the control of the Commission shall continue as it has under the policies laid down by myself and Judge Terrell, or whether it shall be turned over to a small group of law violators, who seek to use the Commission for their own selfish ends, and their personal enrichment, at the expense of the people and the State."

Lending interest to the race was the action of Judge C. V. Terrell, veteran member of the Commission, who took the stump in behalf of Col. Thompson, after Lon A. Smith, third Commissioner, had spoken in behalf of Morris.

At the meeting last Monday, the committee declared it had examined all records and details pertaining to Thompson's "personal and official business affairs and acts," and "did not find the slightest evidence that would reflect in any manner upon the integrity and honesty of Col. Thompson, either in his personal business or official acts." The committee deplored "a contemptible, unwarred and false attack upon Col. Thompson," by "sinister interests and individuals notoriously connected with the 'hot oil racket.'"

U. S. COMMERCE DEPARTMENT MAKES REPORT FIRST OF WEEK

The U. S. Department of Commerce last Monday officially stated that the Texas cotton crop had dropped to about 72 per cent of normal, with an indicated yield of 3,850,000 bales, compared with 2,950,000 last year.

The Indiana corn crop is destroyed, said the report, with continued deterioration going on in Missouri, Louisville, Ky., reports tobacco crop slightly improved. Many county and district fairs have been canceled because of shortage of agricultural exhibits to be shown. Citrus crop may be larger than last year.

TRADE EXPANSION AWARDS

In the Trade Expansion Awards made here last Saturday Miss Winifred Auer received first honors of $5,000. Guess, second of $1,500; J. W. Johnson, third of $1,000. Mrs. W. Smith received four tickets to the local picture show. A quilt was also given away by members of the church missionary society at Needlemore.

R. L. Brown spoke favorably in behalf of Ernest Thompson's candidacy for re-election on the State Railroad Commission.

It was announced there would be no more cash awards made until the regular Trades Day event the first Monday in September.

ORIGIN OF PARTY SYMBOLS—Most people have grown so accustomed to seeing the Democratic and Republican parties portrayed as a donkey and elephant respectively, that they spend little time wondering why it is so. As a matter of fact there are few old timers living who remember the first election in which first portrayed the parties as such.

The donkey was first used in this manner by Nast in 1870 and the elephant as a symbol of the Republican party was born four years later. The quickly caught the public fancy and have been so employed ever since.

TO ATTEND SCHOOL MEET

A meeting of the Panhandle School superintendent's association has been called to be held at Plainview, October 17, by president H. P. Webb, of Otton, and will be attended by Prof. W. C. Cox, superintendent of the Muleshoe schools.

A change of sex operation is now reported to have been successfully performed at Dallas a month ago and physical changes indicative of the male sex are now said to be quite pronounced. She was 15 years of age. No details have been made public.

95c IS COUNTY TAX RATE SET LAST MONNDAY

Lowest County Rate to Apply Since 1925 The Record.

At an adjourned session of the Bailey County Commissioners' court held last Monday the county tax rate was set at 95 cents on the $100 valuation, being the lowest such rate enjoyed by property owners of this county since 1925. The rate last year and for several years previous was $1.05. This new low rate was made possible through a general good payment of taxes for the past year also the payment of considerable delinquent taxes, according to County Judge J. E. Adams. Bailey county is now in pretty good financial condition, said Judge Adams. Next January there will be the sum of $5,275 indebtedness due on the county road and bridge fund, including interest and sinking fund, and the county will have on hands about $3,000 to apply on said payment.

A payment of $1,825 will be due on this general fund, and already there is $1,000 in the bank to meet that obligation. There is nothing due against the permanent improvement fund; but there is $1,700 in the bank for future contingencies. There is $3,940 due against the court house and jail fund, and $100 now on hands to apply. Nothing is due on road district No. 1 fund, but there is $3,660 in the bank credited to that fund. No taxes has been levied against this fund this year for last year. There will be $2,220.08 in the jury fund January 1 and no indebtedness against it.

At the meeting last Monday, the county expense budget was also adopted, there being very few changes necessary and its total being substantially the same as last year.

Tax rates now applying are 55 cents for the county and 42 cents for the state. The school tax in Muleshoe district is $1.00. The City of Muleshoe has also yet completed its budget. Therefore its tax rate has not yet been set.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has expressed his hopes the next session of Congress would pass a crop insurance law.

He said he expects the insurance proposal he first advanced in Kansas City last month to be whipped into legislative shape by the time the session opens in January, 1937.

It has not yet been worked out in detail, he said, but in general it provides farmers would set aside a certain amount of their crops each season as "premiums" in return for having the crop insured by the government. In good years, these "premiums" would be stored as "insurance reserves." In bad years, they would supplement short crops.

Wallace contended, the consumer would be protected against unduly high prices and the farmer's "premium" in return for having the crop insured by the government. In good years, these "premiums" would be stored as "insurance reserves." In bad years, they would supplement short crops.

Wallace said there would probably have to be changes in the soil conservation program next year because of this summer's drought.

There are now 84 different projects, employing 2,725 men and women being prosecuted in this WPA district, according to J. O. Jones, director at Lubbock.

Types of work being done include road and street paving, parks, sewing rooms and library work and water systems. Some National Youth administration projects have recently been proved and work on them is to start soon.

EQUALIZATION BOARD MEETS

The Tax Adjustment and Equalization Board, Muleshoe school district, met Monday for adjustment and changing assessments of some property owner's renditions.

It was stated both private and corporation had been successfully performed at Dallas a month ago and physical changes indicative of the male sex are now said to be quite pronounced. She was 15 years of age. No details have been made public.

This is the first organization of this kind in the State of Texas for distribution of officially certified Irish potato seed. Irish Cobblers, McClure and Britt, Triumph varieties, having secured permits and recognized for the purity of various strains. There will be seed from 40 acres of these three varieties for sale this fall and winter.

It is understood that several tentative orders for this seed, now totaling about three carloads, have already been received by the association.

BAILEY CO. HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB NEWS

By MISS ALMA STEWART
Bailey County

Uses Whole Grain Method

"I am going to can some of our corn the whole grain method this year," said Mrs. Homer Green, coperator of the Enochs home demonstration club.

Mrs. Green shiners the corn in water 4 to 5 minutes then cuts from the cob deep enough to remove most of the kernels. She does not scrape the cob. She adds 1/2 teaspoonful of salt and 1 teaspoonful of sugar to the pint and half as much water as there are by weight. She heats to boiling, packs into containers and processes at 12 lbs. pressure, pint glass jars 60 minutes, and No. 2 cans 50 minutes.

Uses Pasteboard and Scrap Lumber

"My mother and I built my clothes closet of paste board and a very little scrap lumber which was used for the frame," said Mrs. Ruby Everett, wardrobe demonstrator of the Goodland club. The walls of this closet were made of pasteboard and were papered on the inside with light wall paper to give more light and keep moths away.

Mrs. Everett added a rod the entire length of the closet for hanging her husband's and her clothing. She also added a rod to the lower part of the closet for hanging her two year old daughter's clothing. She believes in teaching her children the habit of taking care of their clothing. She added shelves to one end of this closet

Uses Cracked Fruit Jars

"I made three flat racks of three cracked fruit jars. I filled the jars with sand to make them heavy enough to stand and mix a pad of cotton covered with a scrap of cloth for the top," said Mrs. L. L. Daniel, wardrobe demonstrator of the Joyland club. Mrs. Daniel says this holds the crown of the hat in shape and protects the brim.

Cans Beets Instead of Pickling

"I plan to can my beets this year instead of making pickles of them all, like I have been doing," said Mrs. L. G. McNairy, farm food supply demonstrator of the Progress club. Mrs. McNairy added, "I have canned them while they are young and tender and I plan to serve buttered beets, Harvard beets, beet salad and other ways."

Mrs. McNairy says she scalds the beets in boiling water for about 15 minutes until the skins slip off easily. She leaves on at least one inch of the stems and all of the roots during the cooking to prevent bleeding. She slips off the skins, fills the containers, adds one teaspoonful of salt to each quart and fills with hot water. She processes at 12 pounds pressure or 240 degrees Fahrenheit, quart glass jars for 40 minutes.

Thed Garden Does Not Crust

"We find the sub-irrigated land is not nearly so hard to work because the ground doesn't crust and it takes much less water," said Mrs. L. G. McNairy, farm food supply demonstrator of the Progress home demonstration club.

Mrs. McNairy has laid 180 feet of the she says the greens she planted on sub-irrigated soil have grown twice as fast as the surface irrigated ones.

They used the new square tile form and used 3 parts of sand, 1 part of cement and 1/2 part water.

Raise Enough Fruit To Fill Budget

"Even though the freeze did get our peaches for this year, we expect to make enough fruit to fill my budget which is 30 containers per person," said Mrs. C. H. Justus, farm food supply demonstrator of the Muleshoe home demonstration club.

Mrs. Justus put out 300 strawberry plants this year. She has dewberry and blackberry plants which are loaded with berries. The grape vines have many grapes.

Mr. and Mrs. Justus, with the help of their boys have made and laid 147 feet of tile. "We find that the ground doesn't crust and is loose," added Mrs. Justus.

How To Raise Garden

"Sub-irrigation is the only way to have a garden in West Texas," said Mrs. Roy Sheriff, farm food supply demonstrator of the West Camp demonstration club.

I planted two patches of greens; surface irrigated and sub-irrigated. The other I made three times as many on the sub-irrigated. I certainly think it pays to sub-irrigate. We had 250 feet of tile this year and I plan to lay more next year" added Mrs. Sheriff.

Builds New Clothes Closet

"Since our club was organized June 19 and I was elected demonstrator, I had very little time to build my clothes closet, but was determined to finish it in time for our Achievement day. The thing was less than a month after we had organized the club," said Helen Brinker, Watson 4-H club demonstrator.

Helen used ply board and scrap lumber for this closet. It is 2 1/2 feet wide and 4 feet long. She has papered it with left over ceiling paper and has varnished the shoe racks with left over varnish.

The closet is light and clean and has shelves in one end for linens and clothing and a shelf above the clothes rod for hats. She has made shoe and hat racks. The total cost of the closet was $3.75.

Saved for Family

"I have made 63 garments this year and by doing so I have saved $7.41 for the family," said Opal Smitker, 4-H club girl of Buda.

In addition to the sewing Opal bought 100 baby chicks in February and has raised 93 of them. She sold the cockers and then sold 10 of the chicks and all the feed except $2.40. So the 31 pullets she has cost only $2.40. May 5 she bought another 100 chicks and 88 of them are fryers.

Failure To Stop If Man On Horseback Signals, Is A Crime

If you fail to stop when the man on the horse signals, you may lose one-third of your driver's license.

This is a provision now of the license law, Capt. Homer Garrison Jr., of the public safety department, Austin explained.

He says: "When approaching a horse or horse-drawn vehicle on the highway the driver of a vehicle must take care not to frighten the animal, and if signalled by the rider or driver of the horse, must slacken speed, or, if necessary, stop, until the animal is under control."

There are other little-known provisions. One deals with slow drivers who hug the middle of the road and fail to move over on signal. If a highway patrolman catches a man straddling the stripes at 25 miles an hour and other cars trying to pass, the man probably will hear from it.

Other "one-third ticket" offenses include: Failure to blow a horn when attempting to pass a car. Failure to yield to the driver of an automobile coming into an intersection from the right.

Failure to signal intention of turning.

Passing a street car or train which is discharging passengers until the passengers have reached the safety of the curb.

Tri-State Fair At Amarillo To Open September 1, $20,000

Amarillo, August 18.—With increased cash premiums, more exhibit space, better amusement features and added departments, the Tri-State fair will open its fourteenth annual exposition here September 21.

"Interest in the 1936 exposition has started earlier than ever in the history of the association and there is every indication of a banner year for the Tri-State Fair," declared O. L. "Ted" Taylor, secretary-manager.

Gene Howe—"Old Tack"—is president of the Tri-State fair this year. "More than 4,000 catalogs, carrying a list of premiums amounting to approximately $20,000 and all guaranteed for payment in full, have been mailed.

"The Tri-State Fair has the money in the bank right now to pay all the premiums offered," said Taylor.

Since the first catalogs were issued there has been a heavy demand for premium lists. Copies may be obtained by writing to the Tri-State Fair.

For the first time since 1932 the Tri-State Fair this year will have a full poultry department, arranged to meet the insistent demand of fanciers throughout the Southwest. Earl Surry of Amarillo will be superintendent of the department.

"To accommodate the ever-increasing crowds that attend the Tri-State Fair the association since last year's exposition has spent approximately $35,000 in improvements," explained Mr. Taylor.

The expenditures were made principally to increase exhibit space.

"The new poultry department will have a building of its own—so will the agriculture exhibits, both county and individual," explained Taylor. "The automobile building has been remodeled entirely, providing more display space for domestic arts, domestic science and other departments."

On the amusement zone this year will be the United Shows of America, which will come direct from the Michigan State fair at Detroit, making a $4,000 railroad jump.

The fall meet of the Tri-State Fair races will begin Friday, September 18, at an improved plant, and continue throughout fair week.

Instructor In a Brides School Has Lead Role In June Wedding

AFTER one year as instructor of cookery in a New York City school for brides, Miss Deborah Ebbett, pictured at gas ranges, right below, decided to practice what she preached—that home-keeping heeds are happiest. This June Miss Ebbett became the bride of Alfred W. MacMullen of Lyndhurst, New Jersey.

Pictured also are three of her students working in an ultra-modern kitchen equipped with the smartest gas ranges and refrigerators where time and step-by-step principles in kitchen craft are taught annually to scores of brides.

ERNEST THOMPSON'S OPPONENT

Editorial in Austin American
A curious man this Frank Morris seems.

Most reasonable men run for office in hope of being elected, and quit when the odds are completely stacked against them.

But not Morris who had 17 per cent of the vote for railroad commissioner, while Ernest O. Thompson needed only one per cent of the total vote for a complete majority. Not even the most vigorous opponent of the incumbent, Thompson, would be so sanguine as to think that Morris has a chance to beat him out. The situation suggests that somebody wants to spend their money badly to harass Thompson, and that Morris is making himself a nuisance candidate.

Morris announced an itinerary of speaking engagements last week. He is to appear, said his campaign manager here, in Waco Saturday night. A resume of his purported speech was published in the Sunday American-Statesman.

The fact that Ernest Thompson actually spoke in Waco Saturday night aroused our curiosity. How did it happen that two opposing candidates spoke in the same town at the same time? Did any one hear either of them?

So we telephoned Editor Frank Baldwin of the Waco News-Tribune. He said:

Ernest Thompson spoke here Saturday night and had a good crowd. But Frank Morris. He had no engagement in Waco. Or if he did speak, he did it driving down the street in a sound truck. He did not come to the newspaper office or send us a copy of his speech. And so far as the Waco police know, he held no meeting whatsoever.

Maybe this is a coincidence.

But the Sunday Dallas Morning News reported in its columns that Morris had spoken Saturday at Carthage, W. R. Nelson, county judge of Polk county, telegraphed that "reports that Morris spoke to a large crowd in Carthage Saturday are erroneous. No speech either by or for Mr. Morris was made and the only evidence in his behalf was the distribution of literature by out of town people."

The News reported another purported speech by Morris last week from Beaumont.

Editor Alfred Jones of the Beaumont Enterprise printed a different version. His paper stated Morris came there to see a doctor and issued a statement while in town, but did not speak to any crowd of people.

Fortunately neither the Austin American nor The Austin Statesman published a report of these two purported meetings.

We want Candidate Morris to get this straight: We don't like fake news. We shall be glad to report his speeches—if and when he makes them. But he better send along plenty of proof that he made them.

For Morris seems to be a curious man.

Landon and Son

Gov. Alf M. Landon frolics with his son, John Cobb, 3. "Pay-as-you-go," says the Republican nominee, "then your children won't bear the burden of your mistakes."

Roosevelt Slips, Gallup Reveals

New York City.—A definite swing away from President Roosevelt since the nomination of Landon and Knox by the Republicans at Cleveland and since the Democratic national convention at Philadelphia is indicated in the latest poll reported by the "American Institute of Public Opinion."

On June 7 the Gallup poll showed the President as having 56 per cent of the popular vote against the field. With the campaigns definitely under way following the national conventions, the poll released July 12 showed the President's popular vote as having been reduced to 51.8 per cent, and having shrunk more in some cases in states normally Republican or doubtful.

A survey conducted among 3,000 persons in every walk of life by Fortune magazine indicated that after three years of the New Deal 59 per cent of the persons questioned feel that they are no better off.

Landon's Amendments

Topeka, Kas.—In the face of noisy Democratic opposition, the Republicans in the Kansas senate voted a resolution, 25 to 10, to limit the business of the current session to the passage of state constitutional amendments proposed by Gov. Alf M. Landon. Landon had suggested that the legislature enable the state to conform to federal social security laws.

"In considering the proposed amendments," the governor told the legislators, "I desire to call attention to the fact that the platform of the Republican party adopted at its national convention provides for a plan of social security different from the social security act adopted by congress."

"Any proposed amendments to the constitution should merely grant to the legislature of the state the power to enact laws to enable this state to join in any such final act for this purpose as may ultimately become the settled law on this question."

Debt $266 a Head

Washington, D. C.—The United States national debt at the close of the 1936 fiscal year was 33 billion 770 million dollars, according to the report of the treasury department. That is a debt of approximately 266 dollars for every man, woman and child in the nation, or approximately $1,964 for every family.

THREE LONG (YEARS)

President's Spending Compared
Milwaukee, Wis.—Appropriations of President Roosevelt's administration which were unspecified by congress totalled 13 billion 500 million dollars, or more than eight times the combined unspecified appropriations made to all the Presidents in the 143 preceding years, John D. M. Hamilton, Republican National chairman, told the state Republican convention here.

Old Bryan Paper Bolts Roosevelt

Omaha, Neb.—The Omaha World-Herald, for 50 years one of the leading Democratic newspapers of the Middle West and once edited by William Jennings Bryan, has definitely stamped itself as opposed to President Roosevelt and the New Deal policies his administration stands for.

"Mr. Roosevelt, as earnestly and passionately as Hitler once did, assails our own capitalist system," says the World-Herald editorial.

"By his sweeping onslaught Mr. Roosevelt has precipitated uncompromising war between the government he heads and private enterprise."

"And just as long as that war rages, the billions of credit and money tied up in the banks, idle and unused, will remain idle and unused. The millions of idle workers will remain unused, unless it be on public labor."

"This newspaper believes the American system, both economic and political, is not so desperately sick, so hopeless beyond cure, that it is necessary to kill and replace it with an order alien to our traditions, repugnant to all our aspirations."

Landon Urges Wisconsin

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Wisconsin, with its thousands of beautiful homes and high percentage of home owners, is an example of much that is best in American life today," Gov. Alf M. Landon, Presidential nominee, wired the Republican State convention here.

"Your decentralized industry, including thousands of small manufacturing plants living and prospering side by side with larger corporations, represent an ideal and a balance for which we must strive and to which the Republican party is committed by its platform."

Landon's telegram continued: "These small homes and businesses have been built by a frugal people schooled in the old fashioned virtue of thrift. I have never before known a campaign which has evidenced so greatly the quiet determination of men and women to save themselves and their children the things that we Americans hold most dear. The American people have an appreciation of the value of good government and are prepared to fight for it."

John D. M. Hamilton, national chairman, speaking at the convention, referred to American citizens as "stockholders" in the federal government, accusing the administration of misleading its stockholders: "Your stockholders would like to learn, Mr. Morgenthau, why in recalling that the Treasury estimated in 1934 a $4,000,000,000 deficit for the fiscal year just ended, you omitted the fact that in the same year 1934, your Chief Executive promised that the deficit for this period would be zero, and before a United States senate committee as recently as last April you predicted it would be nearly $6,000,000,000."

"Voters see in Gov. Landon a man who not only pledged his administration to a balanced budget, but a man who delivered a balanced budget," Hamilton continued.

LEAGUERS GO TO CETA CANYON

Members of the Senior Epworth League, Methodist church left Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to attend an annual three days league rally encampment at Ceta canyon, near the City of Canyon.

The group met at the church and all went together to the canyon in a truck furnished by A. C. Gaede driven by Alvin Farrell.

Mrs. R. N. Edwards sponsored the group to the encampment.

Tuesday afternoon at 6:45 o'clock the Muleshoe league had charge of the Ves per service and very interesting talks were made by various members. League members from various towns in the Plainview district attended and all had parts on the program.

Among those from Muleshoe who attended were Alvin Farrell, R. E. Willis, Hazel Nelson, Irma Willis, Twila Farrell, Janie Lee Watkins, Jeanette Watkins, and the sponsor, Mrs. R. N. Edwards.

Editorial

Every Great Attempt Is Glorious Even If It Fails

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

When thou dost lend thy brother any thing, thou shalt not go into his house to fetch his pledge.—Deuteronomy 24:10

When you lend a person money it becomes lost for any purposes of your own. When you ask for it back again, you find a friend and a money by your own kindness. If you begin to press still further, either you must part with what you have lent or else you must lose your friend.—Plautus.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

Muleshoe citizens are warned to beware of strangers who come to their doors and upon any pretense or another seek to be admitted. Such people are very often thieves posing as salesmen, solicitors or inspectors. They should never be permitted to enter your home until they are identified through reliable credentials. If such people are the authorized representatives of reliable business firms they are always ready and able to identify themselves. If they cannot furnish proper identification you should refuse to deal with them in any way.

Never be misled by smooth-tongued salesmen nor by the type who possess an engaging personality and have highly polished manners. The cleverest crook possesses these same qualifications. Never advance cash on the purchase of merchandise which is for future delivery until the identity of the person with whom you are dealing has been established beyond all doubt. Never offer your personal check in payment for merchandise bought from salespeople who come to your door. As has so often happened, personal checks may be altered and cashed for larger amounts.

High-pressure or free gift salesmen should be avoided. They offer a free gift to secure entrance to your home. If their merchandise is of high standard the offering of free gifts is not necessary. Our people need never be the victims of sales schemes, or petty thieves if they will be on their guard and just enough suspicious of every strange canvasser to stay on their guard and constantly bear in mind the truthfulness of the old saying that "you can't get something for nothing."

FOR ERNEST THOMPSON

The Journal doesn't very often take a strong open position in state politics; but as the second Democratic primary draws near it is taking this opportunity to suggest to the voters of Bailey county that Ernest Thompson should be returned to membership of the State Railroad Commission. Thompson, aside from being qualified, both by experience and knowledge to efficiently handle the duties of that office, is also a West Texas man, and Bailey county, other things being equal as they doubtless are in this case, should certainly favor a man on this commission from this section.

There is now little doubt but an oil field will be opened in this section during the next two years, perhaps south Bailey county may have several wells before that time expires and it will at least do no harm to have on that commission a man from this section of the state. Thompson is an influential official with other state officials, and there might come other times when his influence would be desired by half of this county. If we dont vote for him, certainly we could not expect it.

When it is believed that Thompson is well qualified for this office, there is no undue selfishness manifest when citizens of this county vote for their own personal interests. Thompson carried 21 of the 26 Parham county precincts in the first primary, and lacked only a few thousand votes beating his four opponents in that first race. Hence, our suggestion to the voters of this county that they throw their ballots in his direction.

CLEAN HIGHWAYS

Alabama has set a good example for other states by forbidding the placing of signs and billboards along public highways. Wrecking crews are on the job tearing down every type of sign that has marred the highways for years, and pretty soon at least one state will be able to point to clean highways. Too many signs and billboards are so placed as to form blind corners. Cars shoot out from cross-roads from behind billboards, which conceal approaching cars in both directions. From the standpoint of safe driving every billboard should be removed.

Alabama has set a fine example and if you will ask any Muleshoe motorist what he thinks of such a move he doubtless will tell you that he will welcome the time when billboards are in the matter of drinking water. America it will be a prettier America and a safer America in the way that drive when that is done.

WATER THE DOG

Local dog owners who have the interest of their pets at heart will remember that at this season of the year it is dangerous to neglect them in the matter of drinking water. Investigation has shown that it is usually the inability of a dog to secure drinking water that causes it to "go mad," which is just another definition for rabies.

August is the dangerous month for your dog, so make sure that drinking water is left where the animal can easily reach it at all hours of the day or night. And then see to it that the supply is kept constantly replenished. If there is not a stream near at hand, keep a water vessel well filled outside the house where the dog can get to it. If you are leaving him for any length of time locked up, make sure he has plenty of water handy. You are not only safeguarding the life of the dog but protecting yourself and your family from a possible sad experience.

THE COMMON MAN

With another election under way Muleshoe voters are hearing a lot about the "common man." All candidates are for him, as usual. They try to tell us how poor we are and then we spend our money for gas and go out motoring on Sunday and see everybody else buying gas and spending money and having what appears to be a good time. Everyone seems to be condition about the man who soils his hands in honest labor, and toils in the ranks of those who are accomplishing the brilliant achievements of this wonderful age, yet the spirit of commercialism, which appears all-absorbing, seems to have little time for the cultivation of sentiment, and the developing of that elegant art of being a true gentleman.

This should not be true. When one becomes so engrossed in professional and commercial problems that they have no time for the development of the finer traits the sacrifice is really too great for personal good or common weal. The sacred traditions of the Southland should be preserved in the lives of the courtly courageous and chivalrous men who are the successors of the old-time Southern gentlemen who lived and died of romance and had their work done by slaves.

Aids from chaste language and courtly manners, there are other marks which everywhere distinguish a true gentleman. The man must be before the gentleman is. Honor and integrity must be fundamental. Manliness is more than physical courage or brute strength—it is moral fibre and mental vigor. Moral courage and mental capacity never fall below par, and it is every inch a man who regardless of criticism, has the courage to do his duty.

Cleanliness is another mark of the true gentleman. No man even though he have access to the highest circles of society, deserves to be called a gentleman if he is impure in his life. Good morals are as essential to the character as good food is to the development of the body. The unclean man instead of developing the higher instincts of his fellow creatures, helps to cultivate their baser passions. It cannot be other wise, for the region in which he dwells his inner self is one of vulgarity and obscenity. The life of the true gentleman is so pure that his association never fails to be inspiring and uplifting. Still another mark of the true gentleman is nobleness. The ability to live above the sordid elements in which multitudes revel is an indication of royal character. The man who scorns misrepresentation, hates the disreputable, despises all kinds of evil conniving, is the man who has within him the elements of imperial power. In such a man Conscience is sovereign. There is no sacrifice of truth for expediency, conviction for popularity nor manhood for material gain. The true gentleman holds to scorn the moral scavenger, and will not countenance the purveyor of moral filth.

So while the South has opened its gates to the strangers from the North and from other lands, who bring with them their spirit of thrift and modes of doing business, let us not forget the examples of our fore parents. Let not the politeness of the past become a matter of poetic sincerity. Business is never permissible in the man who would be a gentleman. Politeness is always in order. While we are so busy making a living let us not forget the more important matter of making a life.

The Earth, Santa Fe Publication Tells Of Size of 1 Lone Acre

A letter from a would-be acre-tracker farmer carries this question: "How much is an acre?"

The Oklahoma Agricultural college gives an answer which probably is as good as any. Here it is, as recommended to 4-H Clubs:

"An acre of land contains 43,560 square feet. Decide on a place for one of the corners of the plat and drive a stake at that point. From this stake measure off the length desired, and drive a stake at the second corner. This gives a stake at each end and one side of the plat. The number of feet in length divided into the number of square feet in an acre, 43,560, will indicate the width the rectangle must be to contain one acre. Suppose the plat is 363 feet long. Divide 363 into 43,560 and the answer, 120, will be the number of feet in width the field should be.

"If an acre is laid out in a square, each side should be 209 feet, which is the nearest to a square acre without using fractions of a foot.

"A piece of ground might be in such shape as to make it necessary to lay it off in a triangular shape. If a right triangle, with one side 240 feet, the length of the other side may be found by dividing one-half of 240 into 43,560 the number of feet in a square acre. Half of 240 is 120 and 43,560 divided by 120 equals 363. The above figures are given only for illustrations, but the same principles hold good with all dimensions.—The Earth.

Diphtheria Toxoid Saves Child Life Says St. Health Dr.

Austin, August 16.—Education of the public to the value of diphtheria immunization has resulted in lowering the incidence of this dread disease, but Texas still loses over 400 of its future citizens each year from this preventable disease, according to records in the Texas State Department of Health.

"It is a generally accepted fact among public health authorities," Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer, said, "that any community may control its death rate from diphtheria,

Where Broadway Crosses the Sunset Trail

The saga of the last frontier of western progress blends curiously but effectively at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial today with the new frontier of entertainment. "Sashay All," rousing musical climax below is an air-view "Casa Manana", most talked-of cafe-theater going attractions on the Frontier Centennial grounds are "Pioneer Palace" and its Honky Tonk revue, and "Jumbo"—"Bigger than a Show, Better than a Circus."

Immunization has been proved a safe and effective preventive measure. Wherever immunizing treatment has been extensively used, diphtheria has steadily decreased.

"The most forceful weapon in the control of diphtheria is prevention through immunization, rather than cure of the disease after it has developed. Children can be protected against diphtheria by the use of what is known as toxoid. Young children are particularly susceptible to the disease. Accordingly, as soon as a baby is six months old, the parents are advised to take it to the family physician and have it immunized—protected, by the use of toxoid. Older children in the family who have not had the protective treatment, should be immunized also, and this should be attended to now before the school season begins. This immunizing agent is absolutely safe to administer; there is only a slight local reaction, and practically no constitutional or troublesome after effects. It confers a life time immunity in the majority of cases. To be certain that immunization is complete, however, the child should be taken back to the physician six months after the toxoid was administered, and given the Schick Test.

"It is within the power of the parents of this State, cooperating with their physicians and public health departments, to eliminate diphtheria from Texas."

RECIPE FOR MAKING A HOME
"Take half a cup of Friendship add one cup of Thoughtfulness;
Cream together with pinch of powder of Tenderness.
Very lightly beaten into a bowl of Loyalty
With one cup of Faith, one of Hope, and one of Charity;
Be sure to add a spoonful each of Gaiety that sings,
And the ability to laugh at little things
Moisten with the sudden tears of heartfelt Sympathy.
And bake in a good-natured pan. Serve repeatedly."

Texas Dental Health Program Is Planned By State Department

Austin, August 17.—Mouth care is an integral part of the nation wide public health program and the dentists of America are keenly aware that strong teeth of the citizens of tomorrow are dependent upon health education of today. Dr. Eward Taylor, director of the dental health division of the State Department of Health, has returned from his return from San Francisco where he was among 10,000 dentists from Canada, Mexico, and the United States attending a national meeting of the American Dental Association.
Dr. Taylor heads a division of the Texas Health Department that was established in March and he has formulated a program to be launched at the beginning of the school year.
"We are beginning our work in Texas at an opportune time," Dr. Taylor said, "for there is universal recognition just now that no public health program is well balanced that does not include dentistry. Strong emphasis was placed by the association president Dr. George W. Winters on dental education in his address and it was urged that more attention be paid to dentistry for children, a field which has been neglected in the past."

Plans for a dental health program in Texas contemplate work in the public schools and free examination of the mouths of school children. Dr. Taylor said, "It will be our aim," Dr. Taylor said, "to give every school child in Texas a reasonable knowledge of the part a healthy mouth plays in the growth, advancement, and general health of the individual. We will encourage early correction of whatever mouth defects are found. The Texas school survey likewise will include dental examinations in our school next year. Along with this enter school program will go a plan of education for the general public through the use of newspapers, radio, motion pictures, and general health talks. We bespeak the cooperation of the public in this work."

Texas Dental Health Program Is Planned By State Department

Austin, August 17.—Mouth care is an integral part of the nation wide public health program and the dentists of America are keenly aware that strong teeth of the citizens of tomorrow are dependent upon health education of today. Dr. Eward Taylor, director of the dental health division of the State Department of Health, has returned from his return from San Francisco where he was among 10,000 dentists from Canada, Mexico, and the United States attending a national meeting of the American Dental Association.
Dr. Taylor heads a division of the Texas Health Department that was established in March and he has formulated a program to be launched at the beginning of the school year.
"We are beginning our work in Texas at an opportune time," Dr. Taylor said, "for there is universal recognition just now that no public health program is well balanced that does not include dentistry. Strong emphasis was placed by the association president Dr. George W. Winters on dental education in his address and it was urged that more attention be paid to dentistry for children, a field which has been neglected in the past."

Plans for a dental health program in Texas contemplate work in the public schools and free examination of the mouths of school children. Dr. Taylor said, "It will be our aim," Dr. Taylor said, "to give every school child in Texas a reasonable knowledge of the part a healthy mouth plays in the growth, advancement, and general health of the individual. We will encourage early correction of whatever mouth defects are found. The Texas school survey likewise will include dental examinations in our school next year. Along with this enter school program will go a plan of education for the general public through the use of newspapers, radio, motion pictures, and general health talks. We bespeak the cooperation of the public in this work."

POULTRY FACTS
FINDS SANITATION PARASITE CONTROL
Rigid Hygiene Urged Rat-er Than Medicine.

By H. C. Gosage, Extension Poultry Specialist North Carolina State College—WNU Staff
Seventy per cent of the fowls raised in the state college poultry disease laboratory are infested with one or more kinds of intestinal parasites.
In the parasites are liable to impair the health and efficiency of any poultry flock unless the poultryman takes active steps to control them.
The product prevents the normal life in rigid hygiene and sanitation rather than in medicinal treatment of the birds.
Unless the premises are kept clean, the birds will become re-infested at frequent intervals and any medicinal treatment would have to be repeated again and again.
Eggs from the tapeworm pass out in the droppings from the birds. When the chickens eat these insects, a young tapeworm which has hatched, can attack the intestinal linings of the birds and lay more eggs to develop into worms.
The tapeworm, however, when developing medicine should be given the birds. Capsules can be given. They are more effective than powder mixed with the feed.
Internal parasites harm the fowls in many ways. They absorb food needed by the birds. They injure the intestinal linings and prevent the normal assimilation of digested food of the birds. The poisonous products of the parasites are also harmful.

Year-Round Raising of Turkeys, Michigan Plan
Turkey raising would be placed on the same production basis as chicken raising under a research program being worked out by the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station.
Late summer-hatched points now are in the raising pens as part of the station's experiment to determine whether it is practicable and profitable to raise winter turkeys for spring marketing.
The experiment was shown that intensive care for turkeys can be expanded and advanced into year-round production basis the same as chicken raising.
The experiment was shown that intensive care for turkeys can be expanded and advanced into year-round production basis the same as chicken raising.

Good and Cheap Housing
There are several well recognized factors which enter into the construction of poultry houses, regardless of size of flock, location or other factors, among them being adequate ventilation and the appropriate power being made available for the various purposes.
The Legislature shall have power to regulate the construction of poultry houses, and the reasons therefor, and shall have authority to enact laws to that effect.

Large and Small Eggs
According to the Missouri agricultural experiment station there is apparently a natural tendency for the domestic hen to lay large eggs during the regular brooding season, while smaller eggs are laid during the summer months.
Dr. D. C. Warren of the Kansas State Agricultural college has shown that high temperature causes the birds to produce smaller eggs.
The Missouri station it was shown that the first egg laid in a clutch is usually the largest egg in that particular clutch.

Milk-Fed Poultry
The term "milk-fed" as applied to dressed poultry for the market, according to a writer in the Rural New-Yorker, denotes special fattening for two or three weeks upon a liquid or semi-liquid ration which should contain milk but which may not if necessary be substituted.
Poultry to be so fattened is kept in confinement during the feeding. Such specially fattened poultry will sell at a premium and should bring a correspondingly better price.

When Pullets Are Failure
When the pullets are shown to be less than failure owing to poor quality breeding stock, faulty management, or disease or parasites then the best procedure will be to sell the pullets and keep the hens which have proved satisfactory from the standpoint of ability and egg production.
If the pullets are shown to be a failure in the first year of their life, they should be sold or otherwise disposed of as soon as possible.

$1,391,099,397 in '35 Farm Imports

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Agricultural imports during 1935, which saw grains and meats, as well as their by-products and substitutes, multiply again and again under Roosevelt easy trade policies, were estimated here to have reached a total value of $1,391,099,397.

Imports of one item alone—cottonseed oil, a hard substitute—out of a long list, denied opportunity for self support to 403,197 rural persons, by displacing the production of 3,622,049 acres of American farm land. A total of 33,483,336 acres were displaced by all the imports together, with a total of 174,000 rural persons denied the opportunity of self-support.

Computing Land Displacements. The displacement of land is computed from the acreage which would have been necessary to produce the amount of each item imported, if it had been produced in America, rather than by the coolie or peasant labor of foreign countries.

For instance, during 1935, there were imported into the United States 43,242,256 bushels of corn, according to the United States department of commerce. By dividing that total by the American 10 year average yield per acre, it can be shown that the corn imports would have required 1,814,000 acres for their production in this country.

Effect of Pork Imports. Such estimates of the effect of other items of import are equally revealing. Imports of 5,297,335 pounds of pork, hams and bacon during 1935 displaced the production of 68,070 acres of American farm land. The 27,438,870 bushels of wheat imported could have been produced on 2,229,000 acres here, taking some 61,626 rural inhabitants off the relief rolls.

No Politics in Relief. In Mamaroneck, New York, a relief canvas showed that 24 out of 27 executive or supervisory jobs were held by Democrats. By Republican voters out-number the Democrats 3 to 1.

Advised by Physicians. Dentists now agree that chewing food well is good for the teeth. They require action of this kind, and the clearing of food from crevices between teeth which results. Correct chewing promotes good teeth, as well as good health. Reduction of doctors' and dentists' bills is a natural outcome. But no reliance is going to a dentist and having periodic examinations of children or adult's teeth should result. Nor should there be any laxness in assuming a physician when symptoms of illness foretell the need.

A child, or an adult for that matter, who labors to seasickness, or car sickness which makes itself felt aboard trains, trolleys, and sometimes in closed automobiles, will find a cracker or crust of bread well merited, a decidedly good remedy. This is because anything that keeps the stomach in action relieves the nausea. Gum is sometimes chewed for this reason when traveling. In seasickness and its like, chewing of such simple things proves a remedy in itself.

Floating Foods. There is something intriguing about the idea of foods that float. We are accustomed, today, to beverages, that are termed floats, chocolate floats, coffee floats, etc., but these are not floats although the liquids have nourishment in them. The very term float, is significant, since it indicates a combination of a buoyant cream foundation, with sufficient body to support the top edibles, and an upper ingredient or preparation of a lighter consistency or with a texture that will keep a-top the lower or foundation food.

There are many of the floating preparations. Chief among these are the light and fluffy beaten whites of eggs, uncooked, or the delicately browned and slightly cooked beaten egg-whites as found in meringues. Marshmallows or marshmallow whip is a usual float. Among the more solid edibles that float are found conde (pronounced con-day) crusts, slices of lemon and also of hard boiled egg, halved Boston crackers and oyster crackers, some varieties of grapes, and of leaves of sweet or fragrant herbs, etc.

Modern Home Lighting Provides For Everyone's Comfort

In this charming living room, ceiling lighting at the ceiling combines with lamps and wall fixtures to provide proper seeing conditions for every member of the family.

By Jean Prentice

WHEN homes were lighted with candles and gas jets, there was some excuse for glare spots and dark corners. Today, with the cost of electricity coming down all the time, and with the improvement in electric light bulbs and lamp shades, there is no reason for any family to cheat their eyes of the light they really need.

Proper home lighting today supplies light for seeing as well as decoration, providing for the eye tasks of every member of the family. Dark shades are definitely a thing of the past, and many light-colored bulbs are being confined to fixtures that are used only for decorative purposes.

In general, the new lamps have greater height for better spread and utilization of light; their shades have white linings for greater efficiency and increased quantities of useful light; their shades are open at the top to contribute larger amounts of illumination throughout the room. These virtues combine to help achieve softness in lighting result.

Perhaps most noteworthy of the features of these new lamps is the diffusing glass bowl, which provides better quality and control of light, permitting some of the light to go downward to the book, newspaper or sewing, and the remainder upward into the room where it helps to illuminate the area surrounding the chair, desk, or divan.

Ceiling lighting is becoming increasingly popular, particularly in new homes. Here the light comes from a cove or trough built around the ceiling, with concealed bulbs shedding a soft radiance throughout the room. When combined with appropriate floor and table lamps, a lighting flexibility that assures maximum eye-comfort and convenience is obtained. No room can rightfully call itself a living room—in the fullest sense of the term—unless every chair has a lamp centered directly beside or nearby it. For perfect comfort depends upon the ability to see without eyestrain, and good seeing is impossible without good lighting.
