TOM JOHNSON GETS 1,500 GAL. IRRIGA'N WELL

Ireton Contracts Drilling of Two Other Wells.

A fine irrigation well was brought in last week on the Tom Johnson farm located about seven miles northwest of Muleshoe, being drilled by R. C. Ireton, local driller.

The well is described as being 90 feet deep, the hole being of 15-inch diameter. First stratum water was encountered at 18 feet and was 24 feet thick with water-bearing sand. At 50 feet another water-bearing stratum was encountered, running down to the total depth of the hole. Seventy-two feet of steel casing, perforated at the bottom was placed in the hole.

Mr. Johnson has installed in this well a Peerless No. 12 2-stage centrifugal pump, using a gear head coupled to a Ford V-8 industrial motor for power. The pump has a 10-inch discharge pipe, is capable of delivering 1,800 gallons per minute at 1,760 r. p. m., was given an initial developing test of about 10 hours, gradually increasing the rate of discharge, and was said to be delivering approximately 1,500 g. p. m. when the test was finished. The pump was purchased of J. L. Gregory, local Peerless agent.

Johnson states he will use the well this year mostly for irrigating a cotton crop contemplating the planting of 300 acres.

Ireton is this week drilling an irrigation well for Humphrey & Prescott on a farm located a mile west and a mile north of the Johnson well. When this hole is finished he has contract to drill an irrigation well for Guy and V. Nichols on the farm eight miles west of Muleshoe owned by Mrs. J. W. Gregory sr., he having it leased for five years. Both these wells, it is reported, will have Peerless pump installations.

Funeral Service Of Rev. M. W. Hough Held Here Saturday

Funeral services for Rev. M. W. Hough were held Saturday afternoon of last week, and interment of remains made in the Muleshoe cemetery Sunday afternoon. Rev. Moore, Baptist minister, Circleback, had charge of the funeral, while members of the Odd Fellows lodge, Sudan, of which the deceased was also a member, had charge of the burial service.

Deceased was 59 years, six months and 21 days of age at death, which was caused by heart failure, probably induced by acute indigestion. He was born in North Carolina, moving to Hopkins county, this state when but a small lad. After growing to young manhood, he was married to Miss Claud Deod, of Hopkins county. To this union there were born four children, three boys and a girl, one of the sons, Hollie, preceding the father in death about a year ago.

Rev. Hough and family moved to Sudan in March, 1929, two years later moving into the Lonhewey community, Bailey county where he resided for some time, later moving about five miles northeast of Muleshoe, where he died Friday night of last week.

He has spent about 23 years of his life in the Baptist ministry, living not only a very conscientious but also a useful life. His sudden death is greatly mourned by his many friends in this section. A large concourse of people followed his body to its final resting place. Several relatives from a distance also attended the last rites, burial being delayed until Sunday awaiting the arrival of a brother.

SPECIAL DISTRICT COURT FOR INDICTMENT OF NEGRO KILLER

A special term of the Lamb County District court was called for last Monday by Judge C. D. Russell, who also recalled the Grand jury in the matter of returning an indictment against Floyd Kelly, negro alleged to have shot Sheriff F. A. Lloyd, that county, who died last week.

Charges against Kelly were sworn out by Sam Hutson, deputy sheriff, who participated in the gun fight.

Mrs. Lloyd, wife of the slain sheriff, was last week appointed sheriff of the unexpired term of her slain husband.

2,444 Acres Of Land 17 Lots Change Hands In County In March

Since the beginning of 1937 there have been 14,932 acres of farm land, also 53 lots located in Muleshoe and other community centers of the county, that changed hands according to records at the County Clerk's office. During March 2,444 acres of land changed hands and there were 17 residential and business lots in Muleshoe which changed hands, the record for last month being as follows:

March 1—W. P. Faulkner to Crystal Lee Co., lots 23 & 24, blk 21, Muleshoe; Mrs. Pearl B. Gordon to A. P. Faulkner, lots 23 & 24, blk 21, Muleshoe; March 2—J. H. Harris et ux to J. M. Gay, labor 15, league 212, Crosby county land.

Hinkston Gets An Irrigation Well At 300 Feet Drilling

An irrigation well was finished the latter part of last week for Chas. Hinkston on his farm 12 miles northeast of Muleshoe, being drilled by the late H. J. McCarty, who died about two weeks ago, and R. C. Ireton, of Muleshoe.

The farm on which this well was drilled is not located directly in the shallow water-bearing Blackwater valley; but rather on secondary irrigable land, hence the well was much deeper than the average dug in this valley. The hole is 300 feet deep, being 15 inches in diameter for the first 180 feet, reduced to 12 1/2 inches diameter to 240 feet, while the balance is six inches diameter. Steel casing was put in the entire hole, the last 120 feet of it being perforated.

First water-bearing sand was struck at 135 feet, the second at 180 feet and from there on down to the bottom of the well there was sand and water-bearing stratum.

Installation of pump and engine has not yet been made, but indications are the well will be a generous producer, according to Mr. Ireton.

DRISCOLL IRVIN IS KILLED

Driscoll Irvin, 26, son of Len Irvin, former sheriff of Lamb county, was killed in an automobile wreck last Monday morning near Carlsbad, N. M. The accident occurred while Irvin and R. E. Walling were driving from Hobbs to Carlsbad, about six miles from the latter town a casing blowing out, according to report, and the car turning over five times. Walling was also seriously injured; but it so happened a physician driving that way came upon the scene of tragedy shortly after the accident, picked up both men, taking the injured one to a hospital in Oa'bad for treatment.

Irvin was a former deputy sheriff of Lamb county and at one time was a special Texas Ranger. He is survived by his father and other, sister Maurine and younger brother, Billy.

Funeral services were held at Olton Tuesday afternoon, being conducted by Rev. G. O. Dean, long time friend of the family.

Judge R. C. Hopping, Lubbock, last week resigned as agricultural member of the State Planning Board.

Cochran County Oil Wells Contracted Much Leasing Done

Announcement has been made by the Texas Oil Co. that an oil test well will be made near the old Marland well in the vicinity Lehman in Cochran county. It is also reported that the Magnolia Co., is preparing to drill a test well on the Woolley farm in that county, about two miles northeast of the Dugan discovery well.

The Cameron well being drilled northwest of Whiteface is reported down about 3,500 feet, and pay expected within the next three weeks.

Considerable land leasing for oil is now reported going on near Morton in Cochran county and reaching up into the southeast corner of Bailey county. The Magnolia Petroleum Co., is reported to have paid a bonus of $27,135.50 last week on a 1,800 acre land lease, league 58, Martin school land, located north of Morton and formerly belonging to the Honolulu Oil Co., Dugan well owners.

It was reported Thursday of last week a contract had been signed in Dallas for drilling a test well on the Mills county school land, northwest of the Dugan well and southeast of Lehman, on a tract of land belonging to a Slaughter heir, in Cochran county.

The last issue of the Texas Oil and Gas Journal reports a test well is to be located on labor 4, league 70, Abner Taylor survey, in the southeast part of Bailey county. No date for spudding in was given.

135 CROP APPLICATIONS MADE

There have been 135 applications for crop loans made in Bailey county to date, according to information given out by officials of that office at the court house.

These loans average about $244 each, totaling $26,100.00. A few of them have not yet been returned from the Washington office.

It is stated the feed loans in this county will probably average about the same number and amount as those of last year, a good percentage of former loans have been paid.

Editors Are 3 To 1 Against President's Court Suggestions

Editors of daily and weekly newspapers outside the large metropolitan centers are divided three to one against the President's proposal to change the number of justices of the Supreme court, and a little more than three to one against any amendment to the Constitution involving the Supreme court at this time, according to a poll taken by the Publishers Auxiliary, Chicago.

This is the trend of opinion expressed by 5,678 editors in the final returns from the poll conducted. Forty-eight per cent of the 11,860 editors in the final returns sent in marked ballots. It is estimated that the newspapers answering the poll are read by more than 35,000,000 readers in all the 48 states.

A total of 1,374 editors declared themselves "for" the President's Supreme court proposal and 4,129 were against the measure. Editors of 1,035 indicated they were for a change in the Constitution relative to the Supreme court, while 3,396 were against any such change.

A SEED RACKET IS ON

Farmers of this section are being warned that people are traveling through the country at this time representing themselves as being employed by the Federal government to sell seed and other commodities to growers.

Three such men were arrested a few days ago at Clovis, N. M., alleged to have been connected with such racket in Parmer and Curry counties. Bailey county farmers should be careful, is the warning put out.

FILES LIQUOR INJUNCTION

Leonard G. Theoford, Littlefield druggist, has been granted an injunction by District Judge Moss, Taboka, against the Texas State Liquor Board restraining the Board's revoking his permit to dispense liquor on prescription.

A large number of such permits have been revoked during the past two weeks.

New Mexico added approximately $6,000,000 to its tax rolls last week when its Supreme court made oil property and equipment subject to tax.

SECURITY ACT BRINGS SEVEN MILLION TO ST.

Bailey Co. Has Four Contributors To Its Employees.

Austin, March 30.—Contributions under the Texas Unemployment Compensation act are being paid by four employers in Bailey county, Chairman-Director Orville S. Carpenter announced today, and the contributions from these employers will set up unemployment benefit accounts for 34 workers in Bailey county. The commissions activities in Bailey county are under direction of District Fieldman E. E. Merriman, who has headquarters in the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce office.

All employers who have problems arising under the Texas Unemployment Compensation act are requested to call on Merriman for assistance, Carpenter declared.

The Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission was established by an act of the Texas legislature, which was signed by Governor James V. Allred on October 27, 1936. In five months of operation the Commission has collected approximately $7,000,000 from 11,767 Texas employers. All money collected from employers will be used to establish benefit accounts for more than 600,000 workers, while all operating expenses of the Texas Commission are paid by the Federal Social Security Board, Carpenter pointed out.

The next payment to the Texas Commission will be due April 20th, when Texas employers who are subject to the act must pay a tax of one and eight-tenths per cent on their total payroll for the month of April, 1937.

EASTERN STAR MEETING

The regular meeting of the Eastern Star organization will be held Tuesday evening, April 6 at the Masonic hall. All members are urged to attend.

Committee On Soil Conservation Has Been Named For 1937

The 1937 Agricultural Conservation program in Bailey county will be under the administration of a county committee composed of the same members who served in 1936 as a result of a recent organization meeting of the County Board of Directors. Committee members elected were: W. G. Kennedy, chairman; George Dammron, vice-chairman; W. L. Key, third member and V. E. Garner, alternate. The County board includes E. L. Smith of West Camp and Lonnie Arnold of Baileyboro in addition to the above named members.

Printing of work sheets for the new program will start as soon as final plans for handling this work have been completed. A small number of work sheets have already been signed at the county agent's office for preliminary audit by the State office.

John F. Starkey will serve as range inspector for Bailey county in connection with the Range program for 1937. His appointment was by the County Agricultural Conservation committee.

A three-day training meeting for range inspectors of this district is being held this week, April 1, 2 and 3, at Spur at which the inspectors will receive instructions preparatory to beginning their work. Members of county committees will attend these meetings with the inspectors.

KIDDIES EASTER EGG HUNT

Members of the grade Muleshoe Grammar school were entertained with an Easter egg hunt Thursday afternoon of last week by their teacher Fannie Galtman. It was held in the west part of town on vacant lots. When the group returned to school were pleasantly surprised by being served delicious refreshments of cake, hot chocolate and marshmallows. Medames Allen McGee and Williams.

TRUCK AND GASOLIN

A truck belonging to Littlefield Panhandle Co. also a big tar burner last week, was burned last week in Earth, while at Littlefield. T $800.00.

WEEKLY LAY SERMON

DREAMS
By JESS MITCHELL

Dreams are the semi-conscious and more or less disconnected thought one has while asleep. They are nocturnal fantasies occurring while one is in light slumber and cannot control volitionally the action of the mind. While they are often caused by some sensory stimuli, yet at times, because of their more or less rationality, they often appear to be the product of deliberate forethoughts which have escaped control and wandered on of their own accord.

Scientists of recent years have spent considerable time in trying to unravel the riddle of dreams, and have attained some results in that direction, though various hypotheses have not yet been entirely proven. Psychologists today know that only about 10 per cent of one's mind is conscious, the other 90 per cent being subconscious, and when acting, does so of its own accord and without any willful suggestion or stimulation, yet the conscious and subconscious are at one with each other in purpose and action. Freud, who was one of the first to attempt analysis of dreams, claimed they were similar to wakened reveries, wherein the "fringe of thought" was active in a semi-conscious degree but of not sufficient potency to be willfully controlled, while Dr. Jung, celebrated Viennese specialist, claims the sub-conscious mind contains not only all the knowledge gathered during the life of an individual, but in addition, it contains all the wisdom of the past ages, and dreams and reveries are an unconscious act of drawing forth this hidden knowledge.

Without the justification of any systematic gathering of facts primitive people ascribed considerable meaning and importance to dreams. The early Hebrews have a decided historical record in this direction and there are plenty of other people, both ancient and modern, who cling to the belief that dreams reveal facts and events hidden from ordinary consciousness, especially those having to do with the course of the future. Just how much of dreaming is the result of wakeful wishing is not definitely known; but it is quite positive that most dreams are the actual or symbolical expressions of suppressed desires, hysteria, unreasoning fears and inhibitions of various kinds either originating in dreams or else dreams continue foreshadowing such imaginations begun during waking hours. At least the universal interest in dreams has added much to its consciousness.

The Bible, the Koran, the Zend-Avesta and other books of religious authority deal much with dreams and considerable credence has been placed in them. People of the early days had a feeling of less complexity than those of the twentieth century. While perhaps being as logical and more intuitive than people of this present age, yet they were not so skilled in diagnosis and analysis as folks of today. Because of the conditions under which they lived, they were inclined more to suspicion and superstition, to accept ideas as matter-of-fact and without need of direct proof.

Some folks of the early days of history went so far as to believe all important dreams were inspired and many of them revelations of duty to mankind. They insisted that dreams prove the comparative independence of soul from body, for while the eyes are closed, the senses dulled, the body in a lethargic state, wings of the soul sweep onward frequently in hitherto unknown realms.

Of course, many dreams are merely the result of disturbed physical conditions. There are plenty of illustrations as proof of that fact. An over-filled stomach of food, an alcoholic or narcotic disturbance should never be mistaken for divine inspiration or revelation. The night-mare of indigestion should never be misconstrued. Late suppers are a warranty deed for bad dreams, while highly spiced foods of highly flavored drinks at midnight open doors diabolical rather than spiritually idealic. Entirely too many dreams are merely midnight dyspepsia.

Night dreams are often merely the echo of day thoughts. If, during the day, one is irascible, pugnacious and gunpowder in disposition, the night dreams are quite likely to be of similar kind. If, in day time, one is over-suspicious of assault, they are likely to feel the point of a dagger or hear the whine of a bullet during their night hallucinations. A scholar's dream is often a philosophic echo, a poet's dream a rhythmic echo, a merchant's dream a business echo.

Coleridge composed his Kubla Khan in a dream, and upon waking wrote down 300 lines of it without any difficulty. Tarini, famous violinist, composed his wonderful sonata while asleep, and so vividly was it impressed upon his mind that upon awaking he easily transferred it to paper. Norman H. Moss, prominent attorney, knew there was a law that would free his client. He searched for it for three weeks, but could not find it. One night in his sleep he arose from his bed, and going to his desk wrote something down upon a piece of paper, returning to his bed. The next morning, upon arising, he was surprised to see lying upon his desk a note of the very article, number and page upon which the particular law in question was to be found. It was difficult for him to believe his wife, who was awake at the time, and told him he wrote it down himself the night before. She didn't know he was asleep; but he was.

A day filled with elevated thoughts and unselfish action invariably produces dreams set to music. Day thoughts filled with grasping, avaricious desires, invariably produce dreams in which one is out-Shylocked. One is always quite apt to hear and see in their dreams what they see and hear while awake.

It is the religious theory of many people that all good dreams are divinely inspired; that the little chunk of mind each individual possesses is a part of Universal Mind; that Universal Consciousness inspires individual consciousness, and, therefore, good dreams are for their personal betterment. Philosophers claim life is intended to be dynamic, never static, and it's greatest purpose is that of growth. Consequently the directions of the sub-conscious or cerebellum lobe of one's brain is intended for his elevation and inspiration. Tertulian, Martin Luther, John Huss and numerous others of ancient and medieval times believed implicitly in the inspiration of dreams, and there are plenty of folks today who could not be convinced to the contrary regardless of all the logic, philosophy and scientific data piled onto their reasoning faculties. Innumerable instances are on record of dreams that are otherwise unexplainable.

A mysterious something has often appeared in response and comfort. People have often gone to sleep with bereavements intolerable and awakened in perfect resignation because of something that occurred during slumbering. It is conclusively clear that not nearly all dreams are woven of earthly analogies, nor are they the phantasmagoria of diseased brains. Dreams have often changed characters and been the means of directing lives in entirely different courses of thought and action.

Indeed most people, throughout all ages, whether by night dream or day reverie, have had within them some unexplainable prompting that causes them to believe they do not cease to live when death destroys the body in which they dwell; but that there is within them a spark of life that is immortal and will continue to manifest itself eternally. They cannot explain it satisfactorily, nor is it all a matter of mere faith, for there are plenty of concomitant and corroborative evidences of a convincing nature. Whether rich or poor, whether barbaric or highly educated, whether moral or immoral, that idea persists throughout life with most people. For aught anyone knows that inherent thinking, that unmistakable prompting, that mysterious feeling, that unexplainable wakeful dream, may some time become life's greatest reality.

CORPORATION OF ONE MAN SELLS STOCK IN SELF

Selling stock in himself is the method devised by Price F. Brown, a student of Texas Tech college, Lubbock to finance his tuition in the American Academy of Dramatic Arts.

Price has incorporated himself with a capital stock of $800, he hopes. His friends in Lubbock are receiving applications for stock which totals 200 shares, ranging in price from one to $10 each. No dividends are promised; but Price reserves the right to redeem the stock certificates on or before January, 1942. All certificates will be redeemed by that date. Price's folder says:

Endorsements of the scheme, which is "neither legal or illegal" and "pursued to or pursued by no law," are reproduced from ministers. Price's former classmates at Tech, and a college professor. With ambitions to become an actor, Price left Tech for New York City last fall.

S. S. CLASS EGG HUNT

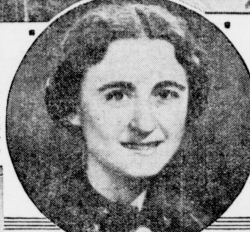

The Intermediate class of Progress, Sunday school, was entertained last Sunday by their teacher, Mrs. Rolland Bigham with an Easter egg hunt at the sand hills. A picnic lunch of sandwiches, cake and ice cream was served.

Those who attended were Imogene Lowry, Juanita Bigham, Bernice Hogan, Bonnie Jean Hurst, Viola Grant, Jerene Murrah, Jewel Dean Williams, Myrtle Parker, June Gwyn, Body Neal Lowry and Morris Gaston, visitors were Mrs. W. B. Gwyn and Oleneth Bigham. Everyone reported a very enjoyable time.—Reporter.

What's Happening In Washington And Other Cities Of Importance

Gov. Frank Murphy, Michigan, last Monday estimated the total idle people in the United States now would reach 124,000.

Arizona newspapers have given notice that their case against the state charging one per cent sales tax on gross income, will be carried to the U. S. Supreme court.

Another attack on constitutionality of the Social Security act has been made by the Alpha Portland Cement Co., and 203 other persons and firms test to be made in U. S. Supreme court. An injunction against collecting such tax is prayed for.

Senator Ashurst, Arizona, leader of the Roosevelt Supreme court organization bill in Congress, has stated there will be no compromise in prosecuting the President's plan to a successful consummation. Senators Hatch, N. M., Connally, Texas, and others have offered modified bills instead.

Similar in nature to the Federal gold depository at Fort Knox, Kentucky, the Government now plans a silver depository to be constructed near the West Point military academy that will cost $600,000 and house approximately $1,000,000,000. The proposed building will be 150x250 feet, containing 16 silver vaults, surrounded by a high steel fence, protected by cannon and soldiers.

A strong earthquake was felt in Los Angeles, covering an area of more than 10,000 square miles of California, Thursday of last week. Clocks were stopped and dishes thrown from shelves.

The U. S. Senate Agriculture committee has endorsed 100 million dollars for protection against wheat crop damage from weather, insects and other hazards. There is some fear if the measure passes Congress it may be nullified by the Supreme court since it is similar to the old AAA.

A VANISHING ART

THE totem pole, symbol of achievement among families of the West Coast Indians of North America, is disappearing. The art of carving and painting, with native dyes, these picturesque monuments to valor and legend, now is known to so few of the older members of Pacific Coast tribes that both the United States and Canadian Governments have taken steps to preserve all authentic totem poles in their respective territories.

Except for some museum pieces, totem poles are unknown to people who live east of the Rockies, but they are items of intense interest to tourists and travelers to Alaska. The shaded portions of the map (inset) show where the best examples are now to be found.

The layout illustrates two excellent examples of this vanishing Indian art. Right, is a splendid totem pole at Sitka, Alaska, and below is a strange animal designed by an ancient native of Kitwanga, B.C., to guard his village against intrusion by evil spirits.

TRAGEDY OF DEATH

It is tragic scenes such as this, with its terrible indictment of lack of highway traffic regulations which makes us shudder at Death's increasing harvest of lives.

This graphic picture of shredded steel illustrates better than words the aftermath of a terrific crash of a truck careening head on into a family motor car. The truck ripped open the motor car from front to rear. (Note the flattened bumper on the truck, also the out-work trend on the tire.)

According to the National Safety Council the traffic death toll of the nation reached a new high mark in the first nine months of this year with 25,859 lives lost, will, a council prediction that the year's crash fatalities will reach a record high of 72,500.

In highway casualties, truck accidents far exceed those caused by motor cars. It is revealed that the congestion of highways by trucks has resulted not only in frequent monopolies of public roads to transport business on wheels but that most of the truckers involved are irresponsible and do not have public liability insurance to cover personal injury and damage to property of others.

Thrill of a Lifetime—Cub Reporter Says After Interviewing First Lady

When Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt visited the Texas State College for Women (CIA) on her tour of the Southwest, Miss Amalee Gough, editor of the Lass-O, college newspaper, was on hand to extend her an official welcome from the press. NEGRO AND FIRST COUSIN MAKE A TRIP UP MOUNTAIN

Boaz, Ala.—A 16-year-old Attalla negro caused a traffic jam here yesterday when he arrived on a bicycle pulled by a mule.

The folks here never had seen anything like it.

Somebody in Attalla gave the young negro a job delivering the mule to Boaz which is up Sand Mountain about 15 miles from Attalla.

The boy rigged up his bicycle and let the mule pull him up the mountain. The mule delivered, he peddled to the edge of the mountain—then coasted home to Attalla.

of the greatest lessons in life—the importance of responsibility. The dog also will teach the boy lessons in love and duty and faithfulness that he cannot do without in later years.

The boy who has never owned and loved a dog has missed something from his boyhood that goes a long way toward preparing him to be a man. Knowledge of sympathy and understanding can be learned from a dog, and that is the kind of knowledge most needed to get through this world successfully.

GOING BACK

Back when the depression got to going good and farm prices dropped to low levels quite a few farm boys around Muleshoe deserted the old home place and sought a living out in the industrial world.

In some instances they were encouraged to do so by their parents, since it meant fewer mouths to feed at a time when farm prices were at rock-bottom. Today, as this is borne out by a recent government survey, there are more farm boys at work on home acres than at any time for a dozen years. There are more attending agricultural schools, too, than ever before, since the future of farming is brighter than ever before. On top of that there's nobody to stage a "sit-down strike" on the farm and throw you out of a job a popular pastime just now in the industrial plants of the nation.

All of which speaks well for the good judgment of the boy who is quitting the factory for his old place on the farm.

WASTING MONEY

Along about this time of year paint stores are springing up around every corner in the cities and mail-order publications abound with new and alluring paint ads.

It is just another way of separating the unsuspecting citizen from his money since much of the stuff that is new sold for paint and passes for paint is far from being paint after it is spread and a few hard rains hit it. Pretty labels and high-sounding trade names do not mean that the contents of the can are worth carrying home. There's so much deception in paint that buying it has become a real gamble.

Yet there is protection if you want to be protected. You can buy it here at home, from a dealer you know personally. Then you eliminate the risk of wasting your money. No matter what it costs, there are but two kinds of paint—good and bad. Your hometown dealer knows the difference, and you can believe what he tells you. You can't do that in fly-by-night paint stores or in buying it by mail.

YOUR ACTUAL VALUE

Without regard to how much money or property he may have, the average Muleshoe citizen is worth only about $8. That figure is determined by measurements secured from present-day market quotations, and is divided as follows:

There's water enough in the average man's body to fill a small keg; fat enough for several bars of soap; iron enough for a medium-size nail; sugar enough to fill a teacup; lime enough to whitewash a chicken coop; phosphorus enough to make 2,000 match tips; magnesium enough for a dose of cascara; potassium enough to explode a toy cannon and sulphur enough to rid a dog of fleas.

On today's market this entire collection could be purchased for $8. So no matter how important you may think you are, and regardless of how well off your neighbor may think he is, you are both on a par when it comes to actual value—neither one of you are worth much more than one of Uncle Sam's present-day 6¢ dollars.

Jaunty Journalettes

Maybe the reason some Muleshoe girls give such crazy kisses is because their lips are cracked.

A diamond seems to be some Muleshoe women's idea of a stepping stone to success.

Perhaps when a Muleshoe man says the answer to an argument is as "clear as mud," he means that it covers the ground.

Perhaps one reason Muleshoe couples marry in a hurry is that each is afraid the other may change their mind.

It's darned poor psychology for any Muleshoe boy to tell his girl she is too good for him, for it won't take her long to find it out after they are married.

It's seldom one hears anyone around Muleshoe complaining of indigestion if they make it a practice to bend over a washbasin at least once a week.

Some people around Muleshoe insist that life is like a custard pie: if the crust is good the filling will get by.

Seems like if Muleshoe folks want to be surprisingly happy, a certain amount of ignorance is absolutely essential.

The old-fashioned Muleshoe woman who saved her wedding dress for her daughter, now watches that daughter save the dress for the next wedding.

How many Muleshoe citizens can remember when the best sign of spring's arrival was when mother started dozing out sulphur and molasses and feeding the family sassafras tea?

Kapak is the down from the seed pods of the Randoe tree, grown chiefly in Java, but to some extent in Ceylon and the Philippine Islands. The United States imports around 700,000 tons per year. "NEWSVERTISING"

All advertising is news; because it conveys news of an important economic nature, hence it may be termed "newsvertising," for while it contains news of human interest, such news is of a nature conveying important business transactions.

Advertising has long been considered one of the best forms of salesmanship. Its purpose being to convey information to people who are in the market for such named commodities.

Sometimes the question is raised as to "who pays" for advertising. The inexperienced business man may be inclined to say he pays for it. The customer, however, pays for it. The truth of the matter is neither pay for it.

Every business man of reasonable experience knows that the more goods of a given kind manufactured the cheaper the cost of such making. Business men, in turn, realize they can buy much cheaper in large quantities than in small batches, thus saving money. Even customers frequently obtain commodities from retailers at lower prices where large quantities are purchased.

Fixed overhead expense of no concern is increased because of increased business. It costs no more for rent, heat, light, and several other fixed items required to run any business to sell $50,000 worth of goods annually than to sell $30,000. Of course, it will take more clerks to care for a larger volume of business; but that expense is cared for out of the profits of more and larger sales. Any clerk who is not worth his wages plus a profit to his employer should never be hired.

The truth of the matter is that effective advertising is self-supporting and self-liquidating. Neither the business man nor the customer pay for it. No one pays for it unless it be the non-advertiser who loses business constantly because the advertiser takes it away from him, and because his fixed expense goes on just the same while his volume of business remains the same or gradually drops. It is also true that the non-reading customer who buys blindly, fails to read the ads, gets stuck with inferior brands of goods, buys non-advertised goods, some of which the manufacturer is either afraid or ashamed to put his name on, frequently paying higher price for such commodities than they are actually worth—that person who helps you advertising because of his ignorance and gullibility.

Seasoned and experienced business concerns never do business without advertising, some spending hundreds of thousands and millions of dollars annually in such salesmanship. Of course, no big business concern is going to deliberately waste or throw away such large amounts of money unless they are getting value received in return; yet there are plenty of little business men who remain "little" simply because they will not accept some of the time-proven methods of increasing business.

No advertising never costs the advertiser a penny. It increases his business, enabling him to buy larger quantities for less money, sell such to his customers for less money, bringing him more customers all the time. It does not cost the customer anything, for he buys cheaper, getting all or at least a part of the benefit of lower prices paid by his merchant. Even the manufacturer makes money by selling to the advertising retailer, because it enables him to manufacture in larger quantities and at cheaper cost. On the other hand, the business man who does NOT advertise and the customer who does NOT read advertising; but buys blind—these are the ones who actually pay for advertising while advertising business concerns and advertising readers reap the benefit.

Fixed overhead expense of no concern is increased because of increased business. It costs no more for rent, heat, light, and several other fixed items required to run any business to sell $50,000 worth of goods annually than to sell $30,000. WE'RE LIVING LONGER

If there is any one thing Muleshoe people want to do more than anything else it is to live to a ripe old age. That is why everyone will be interested in a report from the Census Dept. to the effect that the age of American citizens is gradually being increased. Back in 1929, for instance, 57.6 percent of the nation's population was 21 years of age or older, while in 1935 it had jumped to 61.5 percent. Then, too, the average person 70 years of age or over has been increasing at a rate twice as fast as our population increase. That means more people per 1,000 now reach the age of 70 than at any time in the past. Most local citizens can recall when a man was considered "old" when he reached the fifty mark. Today the 30-year-old man is considered still within the prime of life.

Just what this extension of life is due to is a matter for debate. Whether it is the result of more skilled medical service, or more careful attention to body-care or with greater attention to diet and exercise, it is not possible to say. Perhaps it is the result of all these things put together. At any rate, it's the sort of news every paper loves to print and every reader loves to read—news to the effect that the average age of the American people is being extended at a slow but certain pace.

BOYS AND DOGS

While it may strike some people that Muleshoe has more than its share of dogs, the fact remains that if every boy in town had one he would be better off. Roshing teaches a boy responsibility like the ownership of a dog.

When he realizes his dog will grow hungry if he does not feed him; that he will get sick and die if not properly fed; that he will be cold and wet if not sheltered, then the boy learns one

50 Balloons With Dollar Bills Given At Plainview Wed.

Another new feature of the Plainview Friendship Wednesday program is scheduled for April 7 when 50 balloons each with a one dollar bill attached will be released from the roof of the City auditorium at ten-thirty o'clock in the morning, and those who capture the balloons get the dollars.

That Wednesday will also be the April Dollar Day, with all sponsoring merchants offering extra specials for the day.

At nine-thirty in the morning at the Chamber of Commerce office all former residents of the states of Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee will gather for a reception and reunion. Refreshments will be served those who register.

At two o'clock in the afternoon at the City auditorium the usual cash contests will be held.

GOVERNMENT WARNS AGAINST A BIG ACREAGE OF STAPLE CROPS; PRICES MAY BE MUCH REDUCED AS A RESULT

That there are indications of a big increased acreage to be planted in staple crops all over the nation, is the latest of letters this week from E. J. Holmgren, assistant director, Southern division, College Station, received by W. C. Taylor, county agent, the letter being quoted in full as follows:

Reports reaching this office from States in the Southern region indicate a crisis has been reached in our effort to maintain a balanced production in our major cash crops. Farmers are evidencing a marked tendency to increase the acreage planted to cotton, tobacco, and peanuts. Fertilizer sales have shown a sharp increase.

"I am afraid advancing prices for some of our commodities, particularly cotton, have caused Southern farmers to forget the situation which brought about 5-cent cotton, 80 to a ton cottonseed, and prices for other commodities on the same low starvation scale. Because of the seriousness of the situation, I am convinced we must make a further special effort to let every farmer in the belt understand that a material increase in cotton acreage this season could easily place cotton producers in a position similar to that in which they found themselves in 1933. Despite the fact that the burdensome surplus of American cotton has been reduced, our carry-over of approximately 7 million bales is still 2 million bales above normal.

"The estimated world supply of all cotton for the present season was over 42 million bales. In only one other year, 1933, has the supply equaled or exceeded this. The world supply and world demand for cotton largely determines the price that American growers receive. The world consumption of all cotton during 1935-1936 was 27.4 million bales, and of this amount mill consumption accounted for 26.8 million bales. This total world consumption exceeded that of any other single year but was about 2 1/2 million bales less than the world production of cotton in 1936. It is evident at this time that world consumption of all cotton during 1936-1937 will not equal the production of 1936, which means a larger world carry-over of all cotton in the 1937-1938 season. This carry-over and the 1937 crop will determine supply and price.

The only way we can avoid another season of excessive supplies and low prices is through the wholehearted cooperation of all cotton producers in the Agricultural Conservation Program. Unless farmers help themselves by diverting cotton acreage to soil-conserving crops, there is nothing the Government can do to maintain the balanced production necessary to obtain reasonable prices.

"For four years farmers have effectively used Governmental measures in a cooperative effort which has resulted in a steady upward march of farm income. Now that we have partly attained our objective of balanced production and fair prices it is even more important that farmers do not desert the program that has meant so much to their welfare.

"Farmers should also realize that in the past when it has become necessary for the Government to give assistance beyond that offered in the agricultural programs themselves, that assistance has been extended only to those who have cooperated. For example, cotton loans have not been extended to non-cooperators.

"I would seem desirable to make available to county workers for distribution to farmers in your State a brief statement giving the facts about the cotton situation so that farmers may know just what to expect in the event they insist upon increasing acreage. Some of the things that should be called to their attention are: (1) That we again face low-priced cotton unless we continue to maintain a balanced production; (2) conservation payments at 5 cents a pound for the average yield on the diverted acres are sure and certain; (3) the cost of producing cotton on diverted acres is saved; (4) cotton that is produced will cost less per pound to grow; (5) the diverted acres produce conserving crops, some of which may be used for food and feed stuffs; (6) soil fertility is conserved; and (7) a better price for cotton is assured if production is kept within reasonable limits.

"It is our suggestion that a brief outline of these facts be made and copies distributed to every producer in your State before he actually plants his cotton.

FOLLOWING EASTER, RESURRECTION OF INSECTS BEGINS; THE MARCHING ARMY STARTS ATTACKS ON ALL THE GARDENS

Thousands of dollars worth of food stuff is lost annually in Bailey county, according to Miss Alma Stewart, county home demonstration agent, largely because growers either do not know what to do to protect it or else are careless and procrastinate putting into use their knowledge until it is too late. It won't be very long now, she said, before garden stuff will be coming up in good earnest and the army of insects of various kinds will begin their inroad march upon the tender juicy plants.

A "stitch in time" is an old saying, and never more applicable than to taking such stitches in time to protect young garden plants, she said. Herewith she submits a list of the different kinds of insects farmers of this county will have to fight this spring, together with the particular poison to be used for eradication in each bug or worm, urging that garden growers clip out this item, paste it in their scrap books so they may have it for ready reference when needed.

SUCKING INSECTS—Plant lice, small, green to brown, wingless, usually on under surface of leaves. They attack nearly all crops, especially greens, cucumbers, melons and cabbage. Combat with nicotine sulphate spray or dust.

Squash bug, brown one-half inch long, flat backed, a "stink bug," attacks vine crops of various kind. Give plants clean culture and trap the bugs under boards.

Halequinn cabbage bug, mottled with black and orange, one-half inch long, attacks cabbage, collards and cauliflower principally. Trap crops, use nicotine sulphate dust or 1 pound good laundry soap in 2 gallons water.

Red spider, very small reddish mites, webs found, attacks nearly all crops. Combat with nicotine sulphate spray.

CHEWING INSECTS—Potato beetle, striped, black and yellow, one-third inch, larvae are orange colored, attacks Irish potatoes principally. Use calcium arsenate or lead arsenate spray or dust.

Cabbage worm, a velvet green worm about 1 inch long, attacks cabbage, collards and cauliflower. Use calcium arsenate or lead arsenate dust.

Flea beetles, shiny black, hopping, size of pin head, attack greens, eggplant, tomatoes, potatoes, pepper, radish, cabbage, melons, beets, cucumbers. Use Bordeaux mixture.

Tomato fruit worm, dark striped, 1 inch long, boring into fruit, feeds on tomatoes, corn and okra. Use calcium arsenate or lead arsenate spray or dust. Plant sweet corn for them to eat, if preferred.

Tomato worm, green 2 to 3 inches long with hump on posterior end. Found on tomato vines. Hand pick or use calcium arsenate or lead arsenate spray or dust.

WORMS—The cut worm is generally a grayish brown, half, curled, grub-like in soil, from three-quarters to 1 1/2 inches long, cuts off plants at the ground, attacks nearly all crops. Use poison bran mash, applying about sundown.

Striped cucumber beetle, striped yellow and black, about one-quarter inch long, narrow body, attacks vine crops of various kinds. Combat with calcium arsenate dust.

Corn worm is the same as tomato fruit worm attacking corn, cotton and tobacco vines. Good idea to plant resistant varieties first or at least one-half the planting of this type. May be combated with arsenate-hydrated lime dust.

MATERIALS—For calcium arsenate spray use 2 teaspoons to 1 gallon water for the dust, 1-oz. to 1 lb. gypsum, hyponitric lime dust.

Lead arsenate spray, 3 teaspoons to 1 gal. water; dust, 2 oz. to 1 lb. hydrated lime or flour.

Nicotine sulphate spray, 1 to 3 teaspoons to 1 gal. soapy water; dust, 2 tablespoons to 1 lb. hydrated lime.

Bordeaux mixture, spray, copper sulphate (bluestone) use 1 1/2 oz. in 2 quarts water, 2-oz. hydrated lime in another 2 qts. water. Mix the two solutions together just before spraying.

Poison bran mash, 1 lb. Paris green or white arsenic, 25 lbs. bran, 1 to 2 qts. black strap molasses, juice of 1 orange, water to make of mass consistency. Be careful children and chickens are not allowed to get to this mash because of it being poisonous.

STUDENT-FACULTY THANKS

The Muleshoe schools wish to acknowledge their appreciation to the patrons of Muleshoe who were instrumental in making it possible to finance the County Interscholastic meet by their donations. This meeting has been held at Muleshoe for the last six consecutive years. We feel highly honored that the schools of the county select Muleshoe each year for this occasion. It amuses us to feel that they are highly pleased at the treatment received at our hands.

The Muleshoe schools also wish to express their appreciation to the schools of the county for their excellent sportsmanship shown during the entire meet. We hope they are satisfied with our efforts at hospitality. If this hospitality was not shown every moment of the events, please believe it was intended at all times. We wish them to know that a welcome will always be extended when ever they sit fit to visit us.

The Antique Hunters

By RONALD WILSON
© Muleshoe Journal, Muleshoe, WND. Service.

DANCING HET waves rose from the black oil pavement that stretched endlessly through yellowing countryside. A hot south wind was parching the earth and shriveling the corn in the fields. It was a New England summer day.

Betty Humphrey leaned forward to free her sheer silk dress from the sticky clutch of the roadster's black leather cushions. "Dan, dear, we've been driving for seven hours. Let's stop in the next shady place and cool off. I don't see what fun it is to go on a vacation in the country and then drive every minute of the time."

Dan Humphrey chuckled. "Well, Bets, seems to me it was you who issued orders for the vacation. If you say stop, stop."

He pushed in the clutch and the roadster glided to rest in the shade of a giant elm. "Want to get out and stretch your legs?" he continued. "There's a farmhouse across the fields. They might have some antiques, though I guess every dealer in Boston, as you know, has rambling old farmhouse from the road."

"Just crazy about each other and about antiques," was the way friends catalogued the pair. Dan's home was in Boston, so antiques were an old story to him. Betty, however, was a Texas girl one recently come East. To her Dan's mother's home had been almost a fairyland. She gazed in admiration at the "bannister-back" chairs and the "grandfather's" clock in the hallway and went into ecstasies over the blue "Staffordshire" dishes and the "Liverpool" tea set in the dining room. "It was her enthusiasm which had kindled Dan's interest, and the two had spent hours together in the Boston library poring over volumes about antiques and old china.

But it was without much hope that Dan now reached some stone steps at the back of the house and knocked vigorously on a screen door. There was no response.

"Guess it's no use," he said, "nobody home." He peered inside. "Gee, and there's an old high-bog in there, sure as shooting!"

Betty mounted the steps and flattened her nose on the screen.

"Oh! Dan, it's an old one; just look at these lines! Oh, I wish we could look at it!" In her excitement Betty pulled at the screen door, which swung open.

"Let's go on and look at it anyway; there's nobody here and I've got to see it," whispered Betty. She seized Dan's hand and dragged him protestingly into the house.

Lovingly Betty ran her hand over the polished walnut, and fondled the brass pulls with reverent touch.

"Better beat it before the family turns up," said Dan unceremoniously.

"But Dan, look at those brass handles; they'd be just perfect for that swell-front bureau of your mother's—those she has on it now are reproductions the antique man said. I wonder if these people would care if we took them? We could leave some money—five dollars, which is a lot more than they should be worth. The people would probably be tickled to death."

"Why, Bets, that's ordinary stealing."

"I don't care if it is, Dan Humphrey. I'm going to have those handles!" Betty pulled open one of the drawers ever so slightly and started to loosen the nuts which held the handle in place. Dan stood by disapprovingly.

"Hurry, Dan, and help me! Suppose those people came back now and caught me in the midst of this! You'd be just as guilty as I am!" Betty handed him the four handles she had already loosened.

Several hours later a little roadside antique shop lured them into its cool intriguing depths.

"Let's ask him how much they're worth," said Betty, showing the proprietor the ill-gotten handles.

The antique man fingered the curiously shaped pieces of brass a minute. "Hope you didn't pay too much for these, Miss," he said. "They're modern reproductions worth about a quarter a pair. Lots sure if the folks around here use 'em so they'll be safe from sneakytheives if there's nobody home during the day. You know we have our own ways of meeting the crime problem here in the country."

Baileyboro Club Meeting

The H. D. club met at the school house Tuesday, March 23, and in spite of the sand, there were 14 members present, also one visitor, Mrs. D. Jones, of Amherst.

The president, Mrs. Faye Starkey, called the meeting to order, and time was spent on discussion and planning of a play.

Mrs. G. L. Blackshear and Mrs. Bill Lafon who attended a Sewing demonstration at Wagon that day were counted in as those present.

The club wishes to correct a misunderstanding; Mrs. Lee Bell was elected as 4-H club sponsor, it having been stated Miss Louis Wren, former sponsor had resigned, but she is still in charge.

Next meeting will be April 6, at 2:00 o'clock at the school house. Everybody is welcome.—Reporter.

THE STATE OF TEXAS
IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF BAILEY COUNTY, TEXAS, MAY TERM, A. D. 1937.
TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF BAILEY COUNTY GREETING:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED, that you summon, by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in the County of Bailey, State of Texas, if there be no newspaper published in said county (but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published), for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof,

Mrs. Edna Bell Danby and her husband, whose name is unknown, and the heirs of Grace Hagins and her husband, whose name is unknown, and the heirs of Grace Hagins and Bernice Hagins whose residences are unknown, to be and appear before the Hon. District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the County of Bailey on the third day of May, 1936 at the Court House thereat in Muleshoe, then and there to answer a petition, filed in said Court on the 27th day of March, A. D. 1937, in a suit captioned on the Docket of said Court, No. 1103, wherein Charles Malone, Jr. is plaintiff and Mrs. Edna Bell Danby and her husband, whose name is unknown, and the heirs of Grace Hagins and her husband, whose name is unknown, and the heirs of Grace Hagins and Bernice Hagins are defendants. The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit:

Suit in trespass to try title, plaintiff alleging himself to be the owner in fee simple of Labor No. 2 of League No. 189 of Ector County School Lands in Bailey County, Texas, having acquired the same from Ector County, a political subdivision of the State of Texas, on January 6th, 1936. Plaintiff claiming acquired title to said land from the State by grant for school purposes; alleging that the defendants unlawfully entered upon said premises and disposed him thereof and praying for title and possession, and praying for suit and possession and costs of suit.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, and have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND SEAL OF SAID DISTRICT COURT OF BAILEY COUNTY, TEXAS, THIS 27TH DAY OF MARCH, A. D. 1937.

Humble Work

It is a great mistake to suppose that the best work of the world is done by people of great strength and great opportunities. It is unquestionably an advantage to have both these things, but neither of them is a necessity to the man who has the spirit and the will to achieve great results. Some of the greatest work of our time has been done by men of physical feebleness.

Tavern of Fame

One of the famous English taverns associated with Charles Dickens is the Six Jolly Fellowship-Porters of "Our Mutual Friend". It was the favored resort of Rogue Riderhood and Gaffer Hexam, and stands in Limehouse. Now it is time it was the Banquet of Grapes. It is no wider than its front door, recalling Dickens' description that it was like "a handle of a flat iron set upright on its broadest end."

PAPER STOCK PRICES GOING HIGHER!

INCREASED COST OF RAW MATERIALS MAY AFFECT PRICES

Business Men Should Place Orders Early Before Advance In Prices Necessary

During the past two months paper stock of all kinds has advanced from 20 to 35 per cent, and present indications are for still higher prices. A leading paper house has sent out the following letter of warning:

"At this time last year, sulphite pulp was costing paper manufacturers $37.50 per ton against a cost today of $55.00 per ton, with some mills offering to pay a bonus of $5.00 per ton for additional pulp."

This means advances of 100 per cent for paper stock may soon be in order, while the average advance will be around 30 per cent.

WHY THE INCREASE

Chemicals and pulp, used in paper manufacture are also largely used in manufacture of rayon, gun-cotton and other war materials. Many foreign countries are keeping at home and using these materials. Home demand plus tariff levies in America have virtually cut off all importations of chemicals and paper to this country. Advance in all costs, including labor, are responsible for increased prices of paper.

It is suggested that business concerns soon needing printing of any kind place their orders NOW, thus saving on future rising costs which seem inevitable.

Governor Clyde Tingley of New Mexico, who persists in saying "ain't," says he has traced that expression back as far as the Revolutionary war, and since the dictionary is full of words that finally became authorized because of no other reason but constant usage, he declares "ain't" should be proper by this time and he "ain't" going to quit using it."

Passing himself onto most of the major All-American selections was not the only accomplishment of Slinging's Sammy Baugh, Texas Christian's passing quarterback. He also passed his way into the hearts of 2,400 Texas State College for Women fans, who voted him their favorite Southwest Conference star. Baugh is shown here as Miss Dorothy Ehlinger, student president from New Braunfels, presented him with a travelling bag. Dick Todd, Texas A. & M. backfield star, was second in the balloting.

General News Over Texas And Adjoining States For The Week

More than 1,600 kiddies attended the Easter egg hunt given last Sunday by Rotarians at Hereford. The hunt also included some valuable prizes.

Senator Clint Small has introduced in the Texas legislature a bill permitting the use of "stool pigeons" in obtaining liquor from dealers selling in violation of law, also prohibiting taking of liquor orders in dry areas.

Teachers and students of Tech college, Lubbock, returning last week from an expedition to the Big Bend country in southwest Texas, brought back with them approximately 4,500 relics of various kinds.

Gov. Allred has served notice on Texas legislators he will veto any bills to remit state ad valorem taxes for maintenance of conservation districts that may be passed. He said revenue-raising bills were more important than revenue decreasing bills.

Henry Wallace, U. S. secretary of agriculture, has been invited and is expected to attend the annual meeting of West Texas Chamber of Commerce and to speak on that occasion at the session to be held at Brownwood, May 10 to 12.

A 10-inch reflecting telescope with magnifying power so great that student astronomers can have excellent vision of the moon has been completed by Tech college Physics department, the work being done principally by students.

Surviving teachers and pupils of the New London gas explosion when 45 pupils and teachers lost their lives, resumed school work last Monday. Plans are being made for rebuilding the wrecked school building as soon as possible.

Two hundred High school pupils at Clovis, N. M., went on a strike, some of them the "sit-down" style. Friday of last week, because they were not given any extra Easter holiday period. It took the combined effort of teachers and police to bring them back into school rooms.

Burns Kittler, a clerk in the First National Bank, Lubbock, who disappeared a few weeks ago at about the same time the loss of approximately $5,000 was discovered, is reported to have been located at McGehee, Ark., with $4,720 on his person. For some time it was thought he had been the victim of foul play, efforts to locate him having proven futile.

A THREE INCH SNOW FALL HERE STIMULATES GROWTH
Easter bunnies, rubber shoes and other springtime wearing apparel was doffed last Monday when citizens of Mulshoe and the South Plains awoke to find the ground covered with snow and a considerable drop in temperature, the thermometer registering 22 above zero.

While it is generally estimated the snow fall here was about three inches, yet because of its excessive wetness and much of it melting soon after falling, accurate measuring of it was difficult. However, it has been of great benefit to winter wheat, spring oats and barley recently planted, boosting pasture grass at this time and stimulating some early garden planting.

Reports indicate the snowfall was general all over this northwest area of the state, reaching eastward for several hundred miles.

Methodists To Have An All Day Service Dinner At Church

An all day program is planned to be held at the Methodist church next Sunday, with dinner being served at the noon hour, according to announcement made by the pastor, Rev. R. S. Watkins.

Beginning at 9:45 a. m. a devotional service will be conducted by Prof. Flaude Gallman, Sunday school superintendent.

At 10:00 a. m. A. M. Meddlin, Abernathy, district superintendent of adults will live an address, to be followed by elder offerings and reports.

At 10:45 Rev. E. E. White, presiding officer of this district from Plainview, will deliver the sermon, at which time the sacrament of the Lord's supper will also be given.

Lunch will be served in the church at the noon hour.

At 1:40 p. m., Rev. M. B. Norwood, district young people's superintendent, Littlefield, will deliver an address on "The Young People of the Church," this to be followed by an address on Children's Work of the Church," by Mrs. M. B. Norwood, an accredited teacher in children's work.

At 2:40 p. m., the second quarterly conference of the local church, is scheduled to be held, conducted by Rev. E. E. White and Rev. Watkins.

Everyone has an invitation to come, worship, enjoy the blessings and benefits of the day's service and spread their dinner with other attendants, according to Rev. Watkins.
