Wellness Ministry

Did you know that the sun is our greatest source of Vitamin D? The body creates this important vitamin when the sun hits our skin and combines with our body's cholesterol. (Yes, cholesterol! Healthy levels of cholesterol play many important roles in body function). Vitamin D is made with UVB rays and is most effectively absorbed when the sun is in the high noon position. The less you see your shadow, the more effectively you are absorbing Vitamin D from the sun. It is also more easily absorbed through larger expanses of exposed skin – such as the torso and the back. If you are not getting short, healthy doses of sun exposure on a regular basis then you can find Vitamin D in whole foods like oily fish, liver, and eggs. Synthetic forms of Vitamin D found in industrialized milk, processed cereal, and other "fortified" foods are not efficiently converted into the biologically active form of Vitamin D. Vitamin D is a critical component of our health. It is a maintenance and repair hormone; it influences over 2000 genes; it aids in weight control, hypertension, and calcium absorption. So get out and enjoy the beautiful sunshine God created! Your body needs it!

And God said, "Let there be light," and there was light. And God saw that light was good. Genesis 1:3-4

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Thank You

Friends,

It is difficult to put our thoughts and most sincere thanks into words after the sudden and overwhelming loss of our dad/husband/son, Ramiro Perez, but we are very thankful and appreciative to all of our family, friends, co-workers and colleagues, for all the kind words, deeds, gestures, food, plants and flowers, cards, company, and most importantly all the prayers at a time when we have needed it the most. We are blessed and thank God for people in our lives such as yall.

Thank you to Father Lionel Fernando for a beautiful church celebration of Ram's life. It was exactly what he would have wanted. Thank you to St. Ann's choir for singing in honor of their fellow choir member and to our dear friends Sam David and Betty Hernandez and Mary Perez and Adelita Alvarez for serving as lectors and Eucharistic ministers. Thank you to the ladies of St. Ann's parish and the Guadalupana Society for the delicious meal. Thank you to our prayers warriors who prayed the holy rosary before, during, and after the funeral services. Also, thank you to San David Hernandez, George Hernandez, Armando Dominguez, Ruben Castilleja and Milton Castilleja for singing "Las Nubes". The lyrics of that song are most fitting and we know Ram was singing and dancing away in a place that we can only dream about.

Thank you to Concho County Hospital and Auxiliary Board in Eden, Texas. You all were Ram's second family and home away from home. He adored all of you dearly.

Thank you to Robert Noriega, Lila Gallegos, and George Hernandez for being at Nanny and Tata's side immediately until we could get to them. Thank you George and JoAnn Hernandez and family for so unselfishly helping out with all you did. Words cannot describe our appreciation.

Thank you to the pall bearers: Ronald Pincince, Sr., John Carlos Gonzales, Javier Weingart, Robert Noriega, Frank Gallegos, and John Miguel Carmichael, and honorary pall bearers: Ronald Pincince, Jr., Michael Duran, and Jacob Perez. Please know that each one of you was selected because you have a most special place in Ram's life and heart.

With the most sincere of hearts, we thank all of you. God Bless.

Water Sources Dwindle
The majority of water used in Texas (59 percent in 2003, according to the state's 2007 water plan) is supplied by groundwater. Texas is home to nine major aquifers that supply much of this groundwater, including the Ogallala-High Plains Aquifer that stretches beneath eight states. With increased development and the growth of irrigated agriculture, the water withdrawal rate from the aquifer has greatly increased. In some areas, water levels have declined more than 100 feet and continue to drop.

The Gulf Coast Aquifer, stretching from Florida to Mexico, supplies 54 Texas counties with all or part of their water supply. It is also in danger of being overdrawn; its supply is expected to be reduced 12 percent between 2010 and 2060.

Urbanization exacerbates this trend by increasing the demand for water and blocking the natural replenishment by paving over ground that previously was permeable to water, allowing it to percolate down to recharge the aquifer. So much water has been removed from the Gulf Coast Aquifer without being replenished that sinking of the ground—or subsidence—of as much as 13 feet deep has occurred in some parts of Harris and Galveston counties.

To counteract this trend, the counties, including the City of Houston, are gradually increasing water supplies from surface water sources. Surface water will cost customers two to four times the cost of groundwater, largely due to the infrastructure needed to make the switch; surface water generally requires more purification than groundwater and longer pipes for transportation.

In other areas of Texas, the majority of water used already comes from surface sources. The City of Dallas, for example, withdraws only one percent of its water from the ground. While this helps alleviate demand on aquifers, it can place a heavy burden on lakes, rivers, and streams, especially during droughts.
