

Dean and June Richmond

Former residents celebrate 50th

A former Haskell business couple celebrated their 50th anniversary March 31 in Alamogordo, N.M.

Dean and Julia "June" Richmond, who owned and operated Richmond Jewelry in Haskell from 1944 to 1947, were married in Seymour on March 31, 1940.

Mrs. Richmond is the former Julia Gore of Burkburnett. Richmond, who was born in Haskell, grew up in Seymour. They have lived in Alamogordo for 33 years.

She retired in 1976 from the Alamogordo Daily News and he retired from civil service at Holloman Air Force Base in 1960.

They attend the Methodist Church and were active in the Masonic lodge and Order of Eastern Star in Haskell before moving to Alamogordo. He is a past master of the Haskell lodge and also belonged to IOOF. They are both active in the Alamogordo Amateur Radio Club.

They have a son, Major (retired) Charles "Chad" Richmond of Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. Richmond said they first came to Alamogordo in 1952, then moved and returned twice. After their retirement, they owned and operated J&D Lapidary.

Raines, Howard exchange vows

Mischelle Raines and Leonard Howard were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. April 14 in the Bethel Lutheran Church at Ericksdahl. The Rev. Stan Leaf officiated.

The bride was presented by her grandfather, Roy Kite of Giddings. The bride was attired with a traditional gown of white satin. The fitted bodice with drop waistline covered with iridescent sequins, small pearls and embroidered flowers, with a sweetheart neckline was closed in back with small pearl buttons.

Her Elizabethan sleeves accented with embroidered flowers, pearls and sequins were fitted at the wrist and closed with small pearl buttons. A full skirt was finished with wide scalloped matching lace and flowed to a cathedral train. Lace adorned the front skirt and train. It was designed with cutouts and sprinkled with pearls and sequins.

Her head piece was adorned with white dainty flowers, pearls and sequins. The veil flowed to cathedral length in front and back. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses, with pearls, baby's breath, white carnations, greenery and red ribbon.

Something new was her wedding dress, something old was the ring she wore which was her great-grandmother Coker's wedding ring. Something borrowed was a pearl necklace, bracelet and earrings belonging to her maid of honor, and something blue, her garter.

Maid of honor was Lora Rigsby of Cleburne. Bridesmaid was Debbie Miller of Haskell. Serving as flower girl was Kaley Billington of Haskell. The bridal attendants wore long red satin dresses with drop waistlines, round neckline and short puffed sleeves. The flower girl wore a red and white dress with a red hat. The attendants carried single red roses.

Before the service, the bride presented her mother with a red rose, and following the marriage ceremony, she presented her mother-in-law with a red rose.

Attending the groom as best man was Eddie Klose of Haskell. Groomsman was Hollis Howard of Graham, brother of the groom. Derrick Fricke of San Antonio, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer. The groom and attendants wore black tuxes, white shirts, red bow ties and cummerbunds and red rose boutonnieres.

Candles on the altar, candelabra on each side of the altar and candles on the unity candle stand were lighted by the bride's cousin, Will Wedeman of Victoria. Ushers were Marc Raines and Marty Falkenberg of Tampa, Fla., brothers of the bride.

Pianist was Lance Hanson of

A reception was held in the fellowship hall at Bethel Lutheran Church. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth over red. The tiered wedding cake was decorated with red roses. A sherbet punch was served. Chocolate cake squares and coffee were served on the groom's table. The reception hall was decorated with helium-filled balloons in colors of red, black and white. In the center were white wedding bells. The balloons were released by the guests as the bride and groom departed from the reception.

Serving at the bride and groom tables were Nancy Dodson of Jacksboro, Sara Jo Williams of Jacksboro, Julie Gipson of College Station and Denise Mask of North Richland Hills. Assisting the servers were Jamie Weaver, Sue Hertel and Florence Peden.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William Bass of Tampa, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Howard of Haskell.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home on Saturday noon. Decorations of red, black and white were used.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple are at home in Haskell. The groom is employed at Hanson Paint and Body Shop and the bride is the girls' coach at Rochester.

Out-of-town relatives for the wedding were the bride's mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. William Bass of Tampa, Fla., grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kite of Giddings, Mrs. Joyce Fricke, Cindy and Derrick of San Antonio, Mrs. Patty Lowery, Will Wideman of Victoria.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Howard, David Howard, Theresa Gardner, Daniel and Kate of Wylie, Gloria Carlton of Rankin, Wayne, Nita Carlton, Randall and Phillip of Hawley, Kevin and Jennifer Almon of Hawley, Louisa, Chris and Holli Howard of Graham, Naldo and Leigh Anne Esparza and Tyler of Seminole.

A lingerie shower honoring the bride-elect was held April 7. Hostess was Debbie Miller.

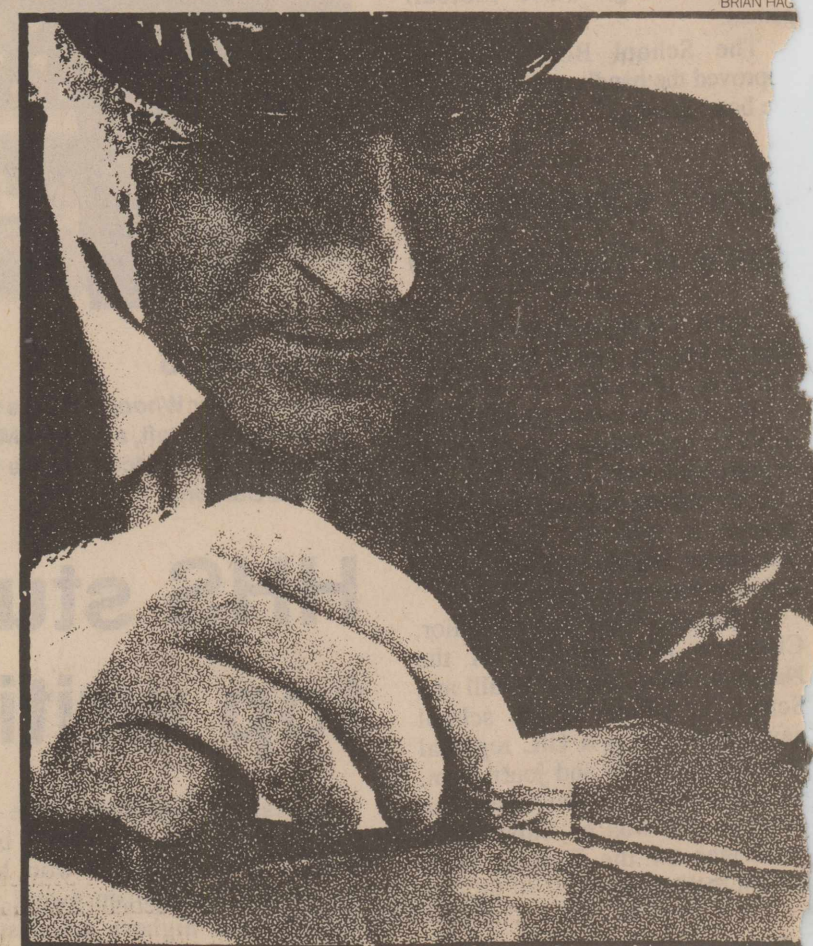

Return from cruise

Durene Boone, Thula Perry and Nancy and Bailey Toliver were met in Los Angeles by Louisa Archibald following their NCL cruise down the Baja peninsula to Mexico and over to Catalina Island. Louisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Herren. The group visited the Queen Mary, Spru Goose, China Town, Universal Studios, City Hall, Disneyland, Crys Cathedral and the neighborhood on Gatewood Street where Thula lived when she entered school.

If the thought of flying doesn't scare you, how about the thought of flying with a pilot who's addicted to cocaine?

According to a series of articles by a Pittsburgh newspaper, drug addiction among airline pilots is not at all uncommon.

The newspaper's series was the result of a phone tip from a frustrated doctor.

He told of a pilot who'd been rushed to the hospital near death from an overdose of cocaine.

A survey of the area's hospitals proved this was not an isolated incident.

Upon further investigation, reporters learned that screening flight personnel for drug use was forbidden. And that the FAA medical exams didn't mandate blood and urine analyses so drug use couldn't be detected.

They learned scores of pilots were receiving treatment for drug abuse.

The newspaper's story brought the problem to the attention of the public.

The public was outraged. And demanded immediate reform.

As a result, several reforms were initiated. Among them, the development of more extensive FAA medical exams.

Reforms that may never have occurred if it hadn't been for a couple of reporters pursuing a story.

Airplane club fun fly has close contests

The Texas Chiefs Model Airplane Club Fun Fly Sunday was truly a fun day.

Mixing some new fliers with the more experienced fliers produced some close contests, yet everyone felt a winner because of the closeness of the scores.

Winning the Loops-A-Lot was a first for Steve Barbour as was winning the two-minute time flight a first for Jim Crawford.

However, Kip Nemir scored high enough in both events to force a pair of flyoffs. Kip edged Steve for first place overall and Crawford nosed out Shawn Barbour for third.

A two-day Fun Fly and open house is scheduled for June 2-3 with many out-of-town fliers expected.

We would like to thank Dr. McSmith and the staff at Rice Springs Care Home for their tender loving care of our mother and grandmother, Mary Ruth Dutton.

Governor stands firm on tax veto

AUSTIN - Democratic legislators are airborne to slam dunk a sales tax increase past Gov. Bill Clements' veto stamp, but the feisty Republican is poised to reject the shot.

A stern gatekeeper, Clements warned lawmakers he will keep them in Austin for a third special judge has said he will on May 1 consider extending the court-ordered deadline.

Thus, lawmakers have at least two ways to squirm out of passing a school finance bill this month.

Third Session Inevitable

Perhaps the wisest heads knew all along that a third special session was inevitable.

As Speaker Gib Lewis said last week, "The governor will do what the governor has to do," and so must pro-tax Democrats. When Clements threw down the veto gauntlet, inevitably they had to answer.

Now, if lawmakers squirm past the deadline, who's to say that it won't take a fourth or fifth special session for lawmakers to equalize school finance?

Some Other Options

- The Senate may breathe new life into the state lottery issue next session, thought dead when the House rejected it last week as a means to raise school revenues.
- Gov. Bill Clements suggested layoffs. Some state agencies have hired employees above the Legislative Budget Board levels.

Lewis and Hobby said they knew of no place where cuts could be made.

Bullock blamed Clements for "balancing a school budget on the back of the workers assisting the poor, the sick and those in nursing homes."

The state employees union rebuffed Clements and called for a state income tax.

Teachers to March

Before the floor debate on his sales tax bill, state Rep. James Hury, D-Galveston, invited teachers to march on the Capitol.

"Let 'em march, if they've got nothing else to do. It's good exercise," responded Clements.

Of course, they had something better to do: Teach in the classroom. But a teacher group spokesman said they'll march this summer in the third special session.

session if they fail to fund public education with revenue cuts and transfers.

Meanwhile, a conference committee that has been putting final touches on the education bill began looking at a first-year price tag of between $523 and $550 million.

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, chairman of the conference committee, said that whatever bill emerges will have a first-year price tag that can be financed with the tax bill and budget cuts already approved by the House.

That level, he said, will include $65 million estimated to be necessary to make up for a projected deficit in the public school budget under current law.

By the end of last week, almost everyone accepted the warning as a realistic prediction. "This session is effectively over," said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

But without doubt, some Democratic lawmakers want a tax bill for Clements to veto or risk closing schools.

With the party's gubernatorial nominee Ann Richards trailing GOP choice Clayton Williams by some 15 percent, she needs the advantage of blaming Clements for closing schools.

Of course, not all Democrats think like that, and a handful voted against the tax hike. The majority simply felt that a tax hike is the easiest and only way to get the funds for schools. Republicans, for the most part, think the future cost will be much, much higher unless the structure is streamlined.

Prepayment Hopes

The focal question now is: Since the Legislature won't make the court-ordered May 1 deadline, will the Texas Supreme Court close public schools before the semester ends.

The answer depends in part on how fast a school district prepayment bill follows the tax bill through the House.

This bill authorizes Comptroller Bob Bullock to prepay school districts for summer months, thereby keeping them from closing for lack of money.

But if the partisans want to trap Clements, why would they allow him this out? The bill's fate, whether it passes or dies, probably signals the Democrats real intentions.

That failing, a state district

Perry blasts Hightower

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower apparently cares more about bartenders and cocktail waitresses in Nevada than he does about working Texas farmers and ranchers, Rick Perry said in a press release last week.

"Hightower spent April 16 walking the picket line at Binion's Horseshoe Casino in Las Vegas to mark the 80th day of the strike of Local 226 of the Hotel Employees and Restaurant Employees International," said Perry, who is the Republican candidate opposing Hightower in this year's general election.

"Was Jim Hightower elected by Texans so he could stick his nose in out-of-state labor disputes?" asked Perry.

"Are Texans paying his salary so he can get bigger paychecks for casino employees in Southern Nevada?"

"Just exactly what do kitchen workers in a Las Vegas casino have to do with Texas farm and ranch families? Especially when the sticking issue in the strike appears to be the union's refusal to open its books and justify its extremely high administrative fees for the union-run health and pension fund."

"While Hightower flew to Las Vegas from Dallas on someone else's tab, he did have a state plane fly him to Love Field so he could catch his flight. That's wrong."

"For eight years, Hightower has been an ineffective, grandstanding agriculture commissioner. His act has worn thin here at home, so now he's taking it on the road to become a national spectacle."

"Rather than walking a picket line for cocktail waitresses at a Vegas casino, Hightower's time would be better spent here in Texas dealing with the real problems of Texas farm families," Perry concluded.

If you save a dollar this year, and then double your savings each year, it would take just 21 years to accumulate a million dollars.
Actually, you would have $1,048,576. And that's without interest.

If you save five dollars this year, and then double your savings each year, it would be 19 years before your savings totaled a million dollars ($1,310,720). But you would have $5,242,880 after 21 years.

Writing in Newsweek, Lee Iacocca says he wrote a piece eight years ago pleading for a bipartisan plan to cut the annual deficit. "I should have saved my breath," he says. "Since then we've had four elections, the passage of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings, a National Economic Commission, endless deficit debates, a big tax cut and lots of smoke and mirrors. Meanwhile, our national debt has gone from barely $1 trillion to just over $3 trillion and has grown three times faster than federal income."

But he's making another stab at a solution:

"If I were king for a day and could impose true bipartisanship, I'd decree passage of an automatic income-tax surcharge that every year would equal the deficit figure. That would force every politician in Washington to stay within budget or explain to the voters why their taxes just went up. Do you think that might make them a little more accountable to all of us?"

Commenting further on the deficit, Iacocca writes:

"I've got some bad news for everybody who lives west of the Mississippi: all individual federal-income-tax dollars collected in those states for 1989 will buy absolutely nothing. They will not buy the Army a single bullet or cover the cost of a single food stamp. They won't even help out with the new pay raise for Congress. Every dime of your taxes will be needed to pay interest on the national debt for one year. And next year, all your taxes will go to the same place. And the year after that, and the year after that."

"That debt is not like other debt because, realistically, we now have to consider it as permanent. In fact, it's a virtual certainty that the principal will never be paid down. We've created a congenital $3 trillion handicap that will be visited on every generation of Americans to come, a bitter legacy for our kids. Adding even another dollar to it should be considered a form of fiscal child abuse."

Stolen:

One frog to another: "Time's fun when you're having flies."

And:

"English is the only language in which noses can run and feet can smell."

They must like Rick Perry over in Stephens County.

In the April 10 Republican primary runoff, Rick got all 39 votes cast in that county.

Crime figures for New York City clearly give a tragic message on how crime is increasing.

•In 1951, the city recorded 244 homicides. In 1988, there were 1,896.

•In 1951, there were 904 rapes. In 1988, there were 3,912.

•In 1951, there were 7,004 robberies. In 1988, there were 86,578.

•In 1951, the city had 3.2 police officers for every felony committed. In 1988, there were 6.1 felonies for every police officer.

Troy Lee Tiffin

Troy Lee Tiffin, 97, died April 16 in a Haskell hospital.

Services were Thursday afternoon (April 19) at the United Methodist church in Quitaque with Steve Ulrey officiating. Burial was in the Quitaque Cemetery, directed by Pinkard Funeral Home of Rule.

Born in Red Bay, Ala., he moved to Motley County at an early age. He farmed in that area. He later moved to the Los Angeles area where he lived until about a year ago when he moved to Rule.

He was the widower of Susie Bessie Smith Tiffin.

Survivors include two daughters, Ethel Lee Morrison of Gainesville and Edna Slaton of Rule; a son, Clyde B. Tiffin of Vancouver, Wash.; a sister, Buel Savage of Phelan, Calif.; a brother, Von Dale Tiffin of Quitaque; 21 grandchildren; and several great-grandchildren.

She had lived at Rice Springs Care Home for the past two and a half months.

Funeral services were Saturday afternoon at the Chapel of Wilkinson-Hatch Funeral Home in Waco with the Rev. Ruth Huber-Rohlf's officiating. Burial was in Oakwood Cemetery.

She is survived by a son and daughter-in-law, W. A. and Zetta (Short) Dutton of Haskell; a brother, T. C. Earhart of Waco; a sister, Mrs. L. B. Atwell of Waco; a daughter-in-law, Jodie Dutton of Roswell, Ga.; six grandchildren, Sandra Guinn of Midland, Frank Dutton of Munday, Sheila Hester of Rochester, Rodney Dutton of Odessa, Ruthie Watson of Haskell, Lisa Pheister of Haskell, Marsha Carden of Roswell, Ga.; Cynthia (Dutton) Leyda of Santa Fe, N.M.; and 17 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were grandsons and great-grandsons.

Bettie Balzer

Bettie Balzer of Sagerton died Tuesday, April 17, at Humana Hospital in Abilene. She was 91.

Funeral services were Thursday afternoon at Faith Lutheran Church in Sagerton with the Rev. Mel Swoyer officiating. Burial, under direction of Holden-McCauley Funeral Home, was in Willow Cemetery.

State board helps insurance problems

For Texas consumers who have complaints about insurance companies or agents, one source of assistance is the State Board of Insurance.

Although the State Board of Insurance cannot compel a company to pay a claim, it can prompt a more thorough review of a claim by the insurance company. In addition, the Board tracks complaints against insurers to monitor their activities and their treatment of policyholders.

Last year, 19,124 life/health complaints and 7,615 property/casualty claim complaints were registered with the State Board of Insurance. Follow-up by the agency resulted in consumers receiving an additional $17,020,755 in claims payments.

In the event of a dispute concerning your insurance claim or premium, send the Board a letter providing the name of the insured/claimant, insurance company, policy number, type of insurance and a brief statement outlining the facts. Send the letter to: State Board of Insurance, 1110 San Jacinto, Austin, TX 78701-1998.

Your complaint will be assigned to a technician who will contact the insurance company. You will receive an acknowledgement from the technician to whom your case has been assigned.

The investigation process may take several weeks. You will be kept informed of progress made during the investigation.

If the Board cannot resolve your dispute with the insurance company or agent, you may have to look for help in the courts which are the final word on questions of fact and interpretation of law.

Even if the dispute is not resolved in your favor, your complaint becomes part of the records of the Board and helps the Board document how companies conduct their business.

Complaint data is used in targeting companies for market conduct examinations, which look into sales practices and policyholder treatment. The information also is part of the Board's "Early Warning System" for identifying companies that need closer financial surveillance.

If you want to know how many complaints were received for any licensed company you can call the Board's consumer toll free consumer line: 1-800-252-3439.

Operators can also tell you the license status of a company or agent, answer basic questions and give you assistance in filing a grievance.

The line is answered form 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, excluding holidays.

Home Ec committee makes plans

The Haskell County Home Economics Committee met April 18 for its regular quarterly planning meeting.

Committee members heard reports on programs and activities the committee has sponsored since the first of January. They also suggested topics to include in the information letter and news series they will be sponsoring soon.

July 26 was selected as the date for a clinic entitled, "Basic Mechanics for Everyone." Other specifics for the clinic will be finalized during the committee's next meeting.

The committee decided to add an educational program to those already planned for this year. They will sponsor a program entitled, "Consumer Decision Making With Financial Calculators." The program will be conducted by Lou Gilly, county extension agent-home economics. Dates will be Tuesday, Aug. 7 (especially for college students and young adults) and Aug. 9 (especially for middle-aged and older adults). The committee will make the final plans for these meetings when they meet again July 18.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00. A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Two are elected as PCA directors

Lloyd M. Blackwell of Stamford and Dean Turner of Matador were elected to three-year terms as directors of the board in the annual stockholders meeting of the Rolling Plains Production Credit Association held in Childress April 6 and Stamford April 7.

Other board members are Dan Henard Jr. of Wellington, Garon B. Tidwell of Munday and Lance D. Morris of Crosbyton.

Joe A. Hanson, treasurer, was presented a plaque by John S. Rike III, president, on behalf of the membership and staff in appreciation of his 38 years of service to the association. Hanson began his Farm Credit System employment in 1952 as an accountant in Stamford and is planning retirement in the fall of this year.

Retiring director W. J. Boykin of Childress was recognized and presented a commemorative plaque by director Tidwell. Boykin was first elected to the board in 1974 and has served as board chairman for the past eight years.

Henard gave the board report. With a capital-to-total assets ratio of 29.49 percent, Rolling Plains PCA is one of the strongest capitalized of all Texas lending institutions. A 1989 net profit of $162,000 after federal income taxes of $360,000 enabled the association to further strengthen its financial base. The surplus and allowance for loan losses accounts are now some 217 percent greater than they were nine years ago.

Based on capital, asset quality, management, earnings and liquidity, Rolling Plains PCA has again been designated a Tier I association by the Farm Credit Bank of Texas.

The Nominating Committee report was presented by chairman Mark Lundgren of Avoca. Elected to serve on the 1990 Nominating Committee were the following: Ross Greene of Quanah for the Childress office; William C. Lockett Matador office; Darrell Richards of Avoca for the Stamford area; Hubert Bellinghausen of Knox City for the Munday area; and Victor Arrington, Spur office.

Rike acknowledged the strength of Rolling Plains PCA and said that its fiscal soundness "has been truly impressive." He noted that the association recently loaned some $1,850,000 at 9.5 percent with the Fixed Rate Equipment Loan program and that PCA has various types of lending programs to meet any need.

Highlight of the evening sessions was Bob Lewis as "Tumbleweed Smith." He kept the audience laughing with tales of Texas and of characters interviewed on his "Sound of Texas" syndicated radio program. A barbecue dinner was served prior to the meeting.

In each section, a total of $250 in cash prizes were awarded in a drawing from PCA stockholders in attendance. Winners in the Childress section were Ray Don Caldwell of Tell, Carl Seal of Cee Vee and Walter Taylor of Vernon. In Saturday's Stamford section, the names of S. C. Ferguson of Hamlin, J. C. Moorhouse of Benjamin and Mark Lundgren of Avoca were drawn.

The association maintains offices in Abilene, Childress, Matador, Munday, Spur and Stamford.

Two graduate

Darla Kaye Griffis graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor of arts degree in social welfare in the fall 1989 commencement exercises at Texas Tech University.

Also graduating was Randall Allen Roewe, who received a bachelor of business administration degree in finance.

Champions

Jerod Harris, left, had the grand champion lamb at the recent Victoria County Livestock Show and his brother Ryan, showed the reserve champion. Jerod also had showed the grand champion carcass lamb. The boys are sons of Gordon and Debbie Harris of Victoria and the grandson of Lorene Harris of Haskell.

Lafaun Walker

Rochester student state bound

Lafaun Walker, Rochester High School senior and daughter of Supt. and Mrs. Tom Walker, will advance to state in the UIL shorthand contest May 5.

On April 21, she won third in the regional meet held at McMurry College with a score of 97.5 percent--six errors--placing behind Jeran Ware of Westbrook (99.166, two errors) and Debi Rawlings of Rule (98.75, three errors).

This is the first time since Bob Penman went to the state contest in spelling in 1975 that Rochester has had a student qualify for state in academics.

Training workshop for tutors

The Haskell County Literacy Council will host a Steck-Vaughan tutor training workshop for anyone who wishes to learn to tutor adult non-readers.

The Steck-Vaughan teaching method uses phonics, sight words, language experience, comparisons and life skills such as reading maps, reading payment schedules, reading menus, depositing money, writing checks, filling out forms and more.

Steve Van Thournout, director of Steck-Vaughan field representatives from Chicago, will be the tutor trainer.

The workshop is a four-hour training session and tutoring books will be available to purchase.

Registration will be from 9 to 9:30 a.m. Saturday, April 28. The session will be at the First Baptist Church activity building in Haskell.

For pre-registration or for more information, call Cathy Page at 864-3127. Librarians will be awarded hours toward their county certification.

District meeting

Entertains

Nick Jimenez entertained visitors during the Super Second Saturday program.

Thinking of buying a new air conditioner
or furnace?

Today many home owners are buying neither one because the smartest unit to buy is an all season heat pump.

A heat pump cools your home in the summer and heats it in the winter. And not only that, it'll pump savings back into your pocket because it's one of the most energy efficient cooling and heating systems you can buy.

As a WTU customer, you can qualify for $500 cash when you install an electric heat pump and your home meets WTU's Energy Saving Plan requirements.

For more information on an all season heat pump, call your cooling and heating dealer or WTU.

Final preparations needed for program

By David Sikes
SCS Conservationist

Participants in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) need to finish preparations necessary for seeding grass on their land this spring.

Preparations should include a final plowing or spraying of a herbicide to obtain an adequate seedbed, determining fertilizer needs, purchasing grass seed, and making arrangements to either lease seeding equipment or hiring someone to do custom seeding. Seeding should be completed before June 1 on all CRP acres.

Adequate seedbed preparation is a critical step in the process of getting new grass started. An effort should be made to eliminate weeds and other growing plants that would compete with the new grass for moisture, nutrients and space. If tillage with sweeps or disks is used for seedbed preparation, plowing should be as shallow as possible to help maintain a firm seedbed. It may also be desirable to pack the seedbed with either a rubber-tired or metal packer after plowing.

A firm weed-free seedbed can often be obtained by spraying a herbicide instead of plowing. The herbicide must be approved for use with the grass to be seeded, and should give effective control of existing weeds, annual grasses or growing small grain.

Fertilizer should be applied either before or during the seeding operation. The standard recommendation for CRP is 40 pounds per acre of nitrogen and phosphorus. Soils that are clay or loam often require less fertilizer than sandy soils. Therefore, a soil test can be used to determine the fertilizer requirement instead of using the standard recommendation.

Grass seed needs to be purchased as soon as possible. CRP participants can purchase their own seed and lease seeding equipment to do the seeding themselves, or they can hire a custom seeder to do it for them. In most cases, a custom seeder will be able to supply the grass seed.

For more information concerning preparations for grass seeding, contact the Soil Conservation Service at 864-2312.

Thank you for reading The Haskell Free Press.

--Weinert--

by Myrtle Phemister
 Earth Day, 1990 came and went, very quietly in Weinert. We talked among ourselves about pollution, conservation, erosion and waste, and promised to be more aware of our part in saving our environment for future generation.
 The weeks rainfall totaled another 5 and 2 tenths inches, and each night brings serenades of the frogs singing. Each day the mockingbirds, robins and scissor-tailed song remind us of our heritage--country life, the good life!

 Our birthday people includes Francis Mahan, Monica Estrada, Gilbert Jimenez, Jr., Ezekiel Estrada, and Deshea Phemister. Happy birthday, all!
 Floyd and Hellen Stout will celebrate another wedding anniversary, probably with a camping and fishing trip? Congratulations.

The families of the D. I. Whites gathered on Friday night in Weinert to welcome Jimmy and Sue Hackney with Tolanda of Ft. Worth as Jimmy will be preaching for a revival at the Haskell Church of Christ this week.

 The party became a prayer vigil, as word was received that the Hackney's son, Todd, was hospitalized in Great Falls, Montana, after a serious accident in which he was injured while working on a ranch there.
 He is improved at this time, and will be recuperating at his parent's home for the next 8 weeks, wearing a neck brace.
 Bonnie Hackney, Jimmy's mother, is also at the Hackney home recuperating from heart surgery. Our prayers are for a complete recovery for the whole family. In case you'd like to send a note to hasten the healing, the address is 4635 Boaz, Saginaw, TX 76179. Becky and Ricky King of Ft. Worth were weekend guests of the Whites.

R. S. Sanders continues to improve following his hip replacement last week, in room 6722 at Hendricks and began therapy treatments Monday.

 Doneta Hudgens, with Caleb and Bryce were in Needmor, for Easter and reports her father is home from the hospital and improving daily following the stroke he suffered previously.

 Audra and Bob Schindler of Abilene, Murl Alexander of Lubbock, Evelyn Ellison of Muleshoe were in town for a visit with Bertie Alexander, but left immediately when word was received of the serious illness of another daughter, Dorothy Lee, in Clovis, N.M.
 Dorothy is improving from her bout of pneumonia and emphysema.

 Jeanene and Gene Perry of Stanton were recent visitors to Weinert and with her parents, Helen and Buck Turnbow.

Ida and Willie Farrel returned safely from a weeks stay at Proctor Lake which they enjoyed in spite of the clouds and rain storms.

 Francis Mahan spent the week in Hamilton sitting with a sick friend, Susie Jordan, and had a nice week of visiting with daughter, Margie and Pete Jordan.

 Mr. and Mrs. Ed Murphy, Lane and Shanna, were in Crane for a visit with relatives, especially with the Spudd Curfew's whose daughter was married on Saturday. Shanna Murphy was a part of the wedding party.

 Several ladies from the Foursquare Church enjoyed a weekend retreat at Whispering Oaks Camp in Buffalo Gap, where they were inspired by the messages given by Bobbie Wold of Oregon, who serves as president of the North-west District of the United Foursquare women.
 Those attending from Weinert were Sandra Chambers (the Weinert minister's wife), Rene Vojkufka, Doneta Hudgens, Janet Frazier, Julie Parks and Barbara Bowman.

Congratulations are due Molly Estrada for the first place award she received at the track meet held in Idalou on Saturday, and sponsored by the Catholic churches.
 Molly represented the Haskell CYO (Catholic Youth Organization) and she is the daughter of Julian and Andrea Estrada.

 Mr. and Mrs. Junior Seballos of Abilene with Aaron and Andy, spent the weekend with her mother, Angie Castello, Rueben and Amy, Brad and Lucas.

 Weinert watched as "progress" changed the looks of our town, as one of the first of four houses built here was bulldozed down last week.

Former home of Dr. Hart, built in 1907, the old house, where the Bob Baldwins lived so long, was in a state of bad disrepair, completely past being fixed. We were saddened, in a way, but we are glad to have it cleared away.
 Roy Herricks is busily repairing the "old rockhouse", the Dr. J. F. Cadenhead's, later the J. W. Liles home, which is also one of our landmarks. We appreciate Roy.
 We have much to do in the way of cleaning, repairing and fixing-up our town. Let's get busy!

 The City Council election of the Board of Director will be held at the school on May 5 in conjunction with the Haskell school board election.
 Do go and vote! If you need a ride call a neighbor.

 The revival at the First Baptist Church continues through Friday with good crowds out to hear Hollas Hoffman each evening at 7:30 p.m. Directing the music is Keith Johnson of Abilene.
 Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Harbers, the local pastor.

Alton and Mildred Sanders were in Jean for a weekend revival at the First Baptist Church with Alton serving as music director for the services.
 They were guests in the home of Jessie and Lana Edwards of Graham.

 Janet Frazier with her little people, had a career field day planned but the wet weather caused the trip to be home-bound, with local career people showing and telling about their careers.
 Donnie Harbers, a former electrician, now a pastor, told about his two careers.
 Jerry Don Hudgens employee of Koch Oil Co., showed his truck and told about his job.

 Youth committee discusses projects
 The Haskell County 4-H and Youth Committee met April 11 for its quarterly planning meeting.
 The committee voted to cater the district Gold Star banquet on Nov. 15 for the fund-raising project for the year. They also voted to donate $50 to the "Help Save Our Library" fund started by the Haskell Young Homemakers and a $50 gift certificate from Sport-About to the county-wide graduation party.
 The committee received subject matter trend training, discussed ways to include more minority 4-Hers and 4-H leaders in the Haskell County 4-H program and reviewed successful activities they were sponsoring and the 4-H calendar for the next three months.
 Committee members representing all of the communities of Haskell County were present for the meeting.

Two from here get TSTI honors
 Two Haskell County students at the Sweetwater campus of Texas State Technical Institute are listed on the President's List for the recently finished fall term.
 They are John Land of Haskell and Ross Anderson of Weinert.
 In order to qualify for the President's List, a student must maintain a 4.0 grade-point average for the term.

1890 - 1990 A CENTURY of VISION

by Pauline Couch
 Vice-President & Cashier (Retired)

Marshal Samuel Pierson

In the beginning was Marshal Samuel Pierson. He, along with four other far-sighted and civic minded citizens, applied to the Comptroller of Currency for a Certificate to organize The Haskell National Bank. This was November 13, 1890. In the first Stockholders meeting, January 13, 1891, M. S. Pierson was selected as the first President and a Director. Mr. Pierson was a major stockholder and a very major and wise influence on the direction of the bank's policies. He was influential in launching the high standards of service to the community and providing a safe and friendly banking facility that has lasted for a century, and still gathering momentum.
 In his early adult years, Mr. Pierson was a teacher in New Salem, Texas, before enlisting in the military service at the outbreak of the Civil War. He became a Lieutenant with the 17th Cavalry, Company C, in 1862. He later became Adjutant and served his country until the end of hostilities. He returned to teaching by day, and farming in his "off" hours. Later becoming the owner of a very successful mercantile business in Emory, Rains County, Texas. He operated this enterprise for some thirty years, including about ten years after he had migrated to Haskell County. He came "West" in the early 1880's bringing his large family, and his astute business sense, high moral and family values, wise counsel and pioneer work ethics. He instigated and followed the high ideals in Haskell National Bank that are still prevalent today. While founding and building a financial institution he was also very much involved in the development and betterment of Haskell County. He and his family were very active in the First Baptist Church, where he served as Deacon for many years, and was a major contributor of time and funds. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, and was heavily engaged in developing farming and ranching aspects of the county.
 Mr. Pierson served Haskell National Bank as President for 19 years (1890-1909). At his death in 1909, his wife, Maggie Pierson became President and served for 38 years until her death in 1940. A son, Alfred C. Pierson, later became President--still carrying on the traditions and values instilled by his parents.
 As Haskell National Bank strolls down its "lane of memories", and celebrates and reviews its illustrious past century, the vision, hard work, dedication and investment of time and money by its' Founding Fathers, especially M. S. Pierson, stand out sharply as a reminder to today's management that good judgment and moral values are still very much in vogue today.
