Haskell man faces charge of murder

A 25-year-old Haskell man is being held in county jail in lieu of $50,000 bond after being charged Friday morning with murder.

Edward Mays was arraigned in county court and charged with the fatal stabbing of Shonna Lynn Andress, 27-year-old nursing home employee and mother of two.

The incident occurred early Friday morning at 712 S. 9th where the woman was living and where the man formerly lived.

County Sheriff Johnny Mills said it was not clear if Mays was admitted to the home or whether he forcibly entered.

Ms. Andress was stabbed in the living room and fell in the bedroom. She was taken to Haskell Memorial Hospital where she was pronounced dead at 4:19 a.m.

Mays was arrested about two and a half hours later.

Cost of City Hall set at $394,719

Final cost of the new City Hall was $394,719.50, city administrator Scott Wall reported to the City Council last Tuesday night.

The cost included $365,000 to Southwest Industrial Contractors for construction of the building, $8,000 to Haskell National Bank for the land, $25,600 to architects and $3,491.58 in legal expenses.

The amount paid the contractor came after a $8,000 credit because of lateness in completion.

The administrator also reported to councilmen at last Tuesday's meeting of some plans of the Park Committee. He said the organization plans to establish a Friend of the Park fund for memorial contributions and to seek a grant from the State Parks and Wildlife Commission for improvements. He also said the committee plans to install more parking places at the RV park.

Councilmen also learned that Lone Star Gas Co. will refund $5,569 to local customers. This will amount to about 35 cents per customer and will be in the form of a credit on the gas bill.

The council set a trial period for a new policy on the use of the city brush truck. Under this policy, a local resident or a church may use the truck one day a month without charge for use in hauling tree limbs and other debris. It will be reviewed after a month.

Council members discussed a city clean-up week and will discuss it further at the next meeting.

Great reunion

Editor: To all the members of the Haskell High School class of 1923, thank you for all the work you did in making the 70th reunion a most enjoyable and successful event. The reunion was held at the Haskell High School on April 22, 1993. The girls debating team of Haskell High School, composed of Mary Ella Lee and Jean Traylor, won the championship in the debate. Although the girls' debate team was not the Haskell High School team, they were the Haskell High School team. Writers call for passage of tax

Gene Long

Editor: The days of relocating industry from one area to another are just almost over. Today, relocation costs are prohibitive. A new approach is to find someone wanting to start an industry, who has the knowledge but lacks the necessary funds to get started.

Start-up costs are enormous; in fact prohibitive--thus an industrial board set up by the City Council and responsible to local citizens with funds made available by a half-cent sales tax can offer help to a knowledgeable would-be manufacturer.

That help could take many forms: A building and/or land offered at low interest or lease/purchase contract, manufacturing equipment at low interest or lease/purchase agreement, five-year tax incentives, utilities procurement, road and/or railroad access, to name a few of many.

This helps the manufacturer get his business started. This is not a free ride, just a little relief at a time when the manufacturer is hard pressed to spend large amounts of funds to get his business going.

The help can take many forms: Training prospective employees to do the work necessary to the manufacturer, paying for landfill costs, locating raw materials, procuring water supplies, whatever it takes to ease start-up costs for the lean years of manufacturing.

An industrial board could help in legal costs of procuring permits necessary to manufacturing certain products.

There are three necessary elements to a manufacturing entity: A knowledgeable manufacturer or a corporation with a knowledgeable chief executive officer; an industrial board with foresight, courage and understanding; and funding (money).

When all three of these elements are present, industry will be established and barring a catastrophe, will succeed, thus jobs will be available.

Now the job is only the very beginning of the return on the taxpayers' investment. With a job comes a paycheck, a paycheck buys groceries, housing, clothing, transportation, and a long list of other costs of being alive and prosperous--including health care, insurance, utilities, taxes, education, entertainment, etc. Also with the job comes responsibility--government, church, school, to name a few, along with marriage, children and self.

One result of a job is a responsible citizen. Is there a need? What is one responsible citizen worth? And if said citizen has a family and lives in our community all of his life (even long after the working years he/she will be a responsible citizen), then what is one worth? Taking all that this citizen puts into his community--what is his worth?

His worth then becomes astronomical and cannot even be expressed in dollars and cents. The value of one responsible citizen finally becomes a spiritual blessing to everybody as long as he or she lives, maybe even beyond that.

That is well beyond the $15 to $30 he costs us to get him a job. The half-cent sales tax is the base for establishing a means of procuring for Haskell not one, but many, solid, responsible citizens who will return to the community far more than that community will invest.

Every dollar he spends here will be multiplied again and again. (He will pay you, you will pay me, I will pay her, she will pay them, etc.) so that his $1 will be worth $6 or $7 to the community.

You are one of these responsible citizens too, so wouldn't it seem logical if there were more of you? Well, for a few cents a day or week, even a few dollars a week or month, it is possible.

If money were the only object, a drug dealer would be just as valuable as a factory worker, but that is not the object--it's decent, responsible citizens like yourself. We want more of them and jobs are the bait we'll catch them with. And this is not just to attract citizens outside our community, but to help those already here.

I urge you to vote for this half-cent tax for the betterment of all citizens, for a better quality of life for all citizens, to encourage work and industry for all our citizens.

Whether in this venture, or any other venture, working together we can accomplish good for everybody.

Gene Long

Editor: Haskell was one of the first cities in the area to become interested in industrial development. In 1974, the Industrial Foundation secured through donations enough money to buy an industrial park of five acres and build an 11,000-square-foot building. In the atmosphere of that day and time that was enough to entice the factory of Herman Marcus to move here and employ 75 workers.

In 1986 when the building became empty, it was impossible to attract industry with only a building. We had to supply the machines too. This was done by donations also. In today's world the Haskell Industrial Foundation is having to compete with cities and counties that have an industrial foundation tax based. This issue was on the ballot the last two elections. I would like to apologize for not explaining this issue to the people of Haskell.

Some of the facts are:
1. First of all, on a $2.00 hamburger, the tax is only 1 cent.
2. Very few people even know what percentage of sales tax they are charged.

3. Seventy percent of the money spent in Haskell is from people who live outside the city limits.

4. Sales tax is not charged on basic necessities. Therefore the lower income folks don't pay much of this tax.

5. All towns in this area our size or larger have this tax.

6. The money goes to a board of five people who are appointed by the City Council.

7. The board members are not paid.
8. State law regulates the way this money is to be spent.

9. If the money is not used it will return to the city.

As president of the Haskell Industrial Foundation I would like to ask you to please vote in favor of this tax. Haskell can no longer be effective on industrial matters operating on donations alone. Without tax money it is a continuing struggle to keep the present factory open and running. The state has set up this law for

Track meets

To the Haskell track meet volunteers: The coaching staff and I want to say thank you to all the people who worked at our track meets the past three weeks.

We hosted our first junior high meet April 3, our second high school meet April 10 and our 7-2A district meet this past weekend.

Once again, the visiting teams were extremely complimentary on our track facility and extremely complimentary on the professionalism in which you, the volunteers, conducted the track meets.

It takes approximately 75 volunteers to hold a first class track meet and ours were first class.

A big thanks also goes to the athletic Booster Club and the Kiwanis Club for the work they did at the track meets.

Without your help we would not be able to conduct these athletic events for our kids and our Unless They're Stopped, Southwestern Bell Will Know More About You Than Even The IRS.

By keeping track of who you call, how often you call and how long your conversations last, Southwestern Bell and other Texas telephone companies can create an alarmingly detailed profile of your life.

Fortunately, they have never had any reason to do this.

Until now.

The telephone companies are no longer satisfied with owning a monopoly over local telephone lines. They now want to own and control the information services that flow through those lines.

By using their file on you, these companies could make you the target for all kinds of sales messages involving your business, your health, your finances, your family life and more.

Call an obstetrician and you could be hounded by diaper services and daycare centers. Call for stock quotes and the telephone company could try to sell you their stock selection service. Call a dating service and the next thing you know the telephone company could try to arrange your social life.

The Texas legislature can go a long way towards preventing this abuse by supporting a two-year study that will provide the true facts behind the telephone companies' desires to be deregulated and free to set their own policies and rates.

Urge your legislator to vote in favor of a two-year, fact-revealing study that will protect Texans from the monopolistic whims of Texas telephone companies. Because if you remain silent now, everything you say later can, and just might, be used against you. Support the two-year study and protect your pocketbook.

Tell your legislator that you want to be protected from powerful Texas telephone company monopolies.

Chemotherapy and Breast Cancer: In the past, most women with early-stage breast cancer that had not spread to the lymph nodes were treated with surgery, sometimes with radiation. However, because about 30% of these women will have recurrences and breast tumors rarely respond to treatment a second time, many physicians now are recommending preemptive chemotherapy. Researchers are looking for clues to suggest which women have a greater potential for recurrences.

Council candidates give statements

Kay Bagot

I graduated from the University of Texas at Arlington with a Bachelor of Arts degree in foreign language. I have taught English and foreign languages for the past 12 years.

As a resident of Haskell raising three sons, I have many concerns about the direction the community takes. I would like to see the community prosper, and its people live together with mutual respect and equal representation.

One concern I have involves attracting new industry and business to our community. Increased job opportunities would give young people and new residents a reason to come to Haskell and raise families.

Another concern is that taxpayers' money should be spent wisely. This money should be spent on things that the community agrees are needed. Important issues such as street repair, water treatment, and help for the elderly and disadvantaged are among the issues being discussed by many residents.

A last area of concern is the public awareness of the various cultural groups in our community and the guarantee that they have equal representation. Recognition and appreciation should also be shown to the volunteers of our community such as the fire fighters and senior citizens who are generally taken for granted.

If you share these concerns and would like to have better representation to voice your opinion, you can help by electing me as your City Council member on May 1.

Kay Bagot

Todd Barnes

My name is Todd Barnes and I am running for City Council.

I have been serving the public for over 12 years in one capacity or another and wish to serve the City of Haskell.

I want to do what is best for the City as a whole. I do not represent any one group or special interest groups. My goal is to serve the City and do what is best for it.

Thank you for your consideration.
Please vote.

Todd Barnes

Iva Lee Gipson

My husband and I moved to Haskell in November 1940. Our first child was one year old.

J. B. began working in the tax assessor-collector's office, later he was appointed as tax assessor. After serving in the Army he came home and began working for Bill Wilson Motor Co. and later bought an interest in the business. J. B. was on the School Board when the elementary school building was built. He also served on the City Council.

I am a member of the First Baptist Church and teach a ladies' Sunday School Class. I am on the Industrial Foundation Board, Haskell Memorial Civic Center Board, president of Brazos West Art Association. I owned Iva Lee's Fabrics before I retired.

I have been involved in the workings of city government, school and business.

Haskell was once a prosperous town of four car dealerships, three furniture stores, three drug stores, several grocery stores, four department stores, four dress shops and two men's stores. Downtown Haskell was busy most any day of the week. Now we have empty buildings around the square. This has happened to most of the small towns.

I would like to see our town work to rebuild, but we must begin with some very important basic needs. Our sewer system needs much work done to it. Some homes have problems of not being able to flush their commodes because of stopped-up sewer lines. There are areas of our town where the water is not clear. What ever the problem is it needs to be fixed. Our streets are in dire need of repair.
I ask for your vote this next

City election to return me to the City Council. I will not be in favor of spending money for any project unless it is for the good of our town, and if it is a large sum of money, I would want the people of Haskell to have a voice in what is done.

Thank you.

Iva Lee Gipson

Gaston Tidrow

I appreciate this opportunity to tell the voters of the City of Haskell why I placed my name on the ballot.

First of all, I want to say I am not angry with anyone. I think it is time to put the past behind us. We cannot take care of the present problems and plan for the future of our City if we continue to dwell on past differences.

To the newcomers, I am 52 years old, I was born and reared here. I raised my family here and the only time I haven't lived in Haskell were the years I spent in the U.S. Army. I am very proud of our town and when I travel I take great pride telling people I am from Haskell. I want all of us to always be proud of our town.

As a taxpayer, I want to keep the tax base as low as possible.

If elected, the city streets will be one of my immediate concerns. I have been farming for 10 years, before that I was in the lumber business and was a building contractor. In this line of work I built streets in an area town and that experience has given me an insight as to what can be done with our city streets with the funds that are available.

As a contractor, I worked successfully with a wide variety of people and I feel I can work with the present City Council as well as any of the candidates that may be elected.

I am a former Haskell Jaycee.

While in that organization, I had the honor of being named Jaycee of the Year in 1968 and as Key Man of the Year in 1970. I held almost every office and served as chairman of all the major Jaycee projects, including the project for the Veteran's Memorial located on our Courthouse square.

I grew up in the First Assembly of God Church. My wife, Willie Fay, and I are members of the East Side Baptist Church.

If elected as City Councilman, I will strive to be fair, open minded and serve with integrity.

Thank you.

Gaston Tidrow

Indian nine beats Hawley for 6-3 record

The Haskell Indian baseball team was to meet Anson Tuesday afternoon and then will take on league-leading Rotan Friday.

The Indians brought their district 7-2A record to 6-3 last Tuesday with a 22-5 walk over Hawley.

Cody Cypert hit a grand slam homerun and Stacy Walker added a two-run homer to pace the 15-hit Indian attack. Brian Brzozowski was the winning pitcher, boosting his district record to 3-2.

Rotan still leads the district although the Yellowhammers suffered their first district loss last week at the hands of second-place Jim Ned. Rotan is 6-1 in district play, Jim Ned is 7-2 and the Indians are right behind at 6-3.

A message from the ABILENE EYE INSTITUTE & CATARACT SURGERY CENTER DEDICATED TO EXCELLENCE

We specialize in cataract surgery with intraocular lens implant and routinely use the small incision phacoemulsification technique. We have 2 modern, fully equipped operating rooms each with its own Zeiss operating microscope and Phacoemulsifier. We also have an observation room so that family and friends may view the surgery while it is happening. Our ambulatory surgery center is State licensed and Medicare approved. We have performed over 3,000 cataract implant operations since 1987. Our doctors accept Medicare Assignment and we think you will find our fees very competitive with most hospitals. Our friendly, dedicated staff is available to answer any of your questions. If you need transportation, we can help.
