

HOUSE PLAN No. 41

Housewife's Delight

The housewife likes a chance to visit with the family while she does her work in the kitchen—but they mustn't be constantly in her way. So here is her special kitchen, with adequate space for meal preparation, laundry equipment, freezer chest and a large area for the kitchen table on which to serve the family meals. The meal preparation area is arranged so that there will be no traffic through it. We also have provided a large pantry for dry feed storage in addition to the freezer chest.

The porch which is equally accessible to both the kitchen and living room is an excellent place to relax on hot days or evenings in the summer, or to serve the family meals. At the same time it gives the housewife a comfortable place to sit and shell peas, etc., during the summer, and yet to be near her work area. She has a view from at least three directions so that she can see what is going on about the place.

An abundance of storage space is incorporated in this Farm & Ranch House Plan No. 5141.

If you prefer a basement or central heating plant, we suggest that you use the space allotted to the pantry, water heater, and closet and arrange it to provide a basement entrance. Or you may use a portion of this same space to house a heating plant.

The lines and exterior treatment of the house have been simple but are such that they fit equally well into almost any setting. You will find the construction cost of this house to be reasonable in that all the materials and millwork are standard stock items that can be purchased at any building materials dealer. You can obtain blueprints for this The Muleshoe Journal Farm & Ranch House Plan No. 5141 and a handy list of materials by which you can figure your construction cost accurately. Send $1 to Building Editor, Farm & Ranch - Southern Agriculturist, Dept. L-36, Nashville, Tenn. Order by number-plan No. 5141. Blueprints are adequate for any farm carpenter or for any farmer handy with tools.

Letters To The Editor...

OPPOSES TAX SUPPORTED CHURCH SCHOOLS

Dear Editor:
How I wish I could shout into the ear of every editor in America the danger of tax supported religious schools. For through that medium, the strongest churches would come to dominate the Individual Soul. . . . Freedom of Worship — How much do we love thee? I have written Mr. Mahon, Mr. Connally, Mr. Shivers, and Mr. Taft. It's time every American was awakening out of his sleep.

Future Farmers Exhibit Livestock At Annual San Antonio Fat Stock Show

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 — Exhibits of Keith Bray, Donald Harrison, Jimmy Pruitt and Alvie Gilliland, all Muleshoe Future Farmers, will be displayed at the boys' fat stock show of the third annual San Antonio Livestock Exposition February 15-24 in the Bexar County Coliseum, according to Vannoy Stewart, state FFA adviser.

Edward White will accompany the boys to San Antonio. It is expected that the largest number of youth farmers will attend the Exposition on February 19, which has been designated as Rural Youth Day. Many Texas FFA members have already been exhibitors at the 1952 stock shows in Fort Worth and Houston.

Premium offers of $7,190 will be competed for at the San Antonio show by the FFA group. "The prizes and encouragement which our young farmers win at such shows have greatly helped in pushing their investments to the multi-million dollar mark," stated Stewart.

Thirty-five thousand boys from both farm and city homes are now engaging in the Texas FFA program, which is designed to give them a varied education in farm management, and related subjects. Steers, lambs, hogs and dairy heifers to be shown by the FFA group in San Antonio will be some of the top specimens chosen from Texas FFA livestock, which represents 5 million dollars of the total 13 million investment of Texas FFAs.

The Texas FFA has made tremendous progress since its organization in 1929 with only 2,600 members. Club members over the state planted 14,000 acres of corn and 25,000 acres of cotton last year. The boys are handling poultry and turkey projects valued at around $9,000,000 and their sheep and goats are valued at over $500,000. Other projects include raising horses, rabbits, wheat, oats, forage, fruit, potatoes, melons, vegetables and peanuts. Last year's largest crop was 48,000 acres in forage, and the nearly 2 million dollar fruit crop was the biggest money maker.

Texas Dep't Of Agriculture Giving Attention To Better Planting Seed

The Texas State Department of Agriculture is giving a lot of attention toward better planting seed for Texas through better state law enforcement and through revising some of the out of date seed laws. It is responsible for protecting the public on all planting seed which is a sizeable job in a state like Texas that produces about one billion dollars worth of crops yearly.

The Texas Seed Council, Texas Seedmen's Association, and Texas A. & M. College are a vital part of this better seed program. Jointly, these three groups helped sponsor a week's "Short Course for Seedmen" this past summer at College Station, Texas. The purpose was to better acquaint the seed trade with problems of seed laws and their enforcement in Texas.

Within the Department is being formed a closer knit, more economical, and efficient seed division. Instead of having a seed laboratory division and a seed certification division, these two have been combined into one called the Seed Division.

13,000 Samples Tested
The seed laboratories, one in Austin, and one in Lubbock, tested about 13,000 seed samples for purity and germination this year for sellers of seed. When any seed are sold in Texas, the label attached must show this test. The label or test is no better than the sample, and the sample is no better than the sender. Thus, more stress is being placed on official samples. This means samples drawn by inspectors of the Department instead of by sellers.

The seed certification deals with growers who voluntarily meet planting seed standards set up by the State Seed and Plan Board and the Department. By the Seed Division working with these voluntary growers of registered and certified planting seed in seed law enforcement, more than 28 field crops are now standardized from which one million bags of first quality seed with a cash value of six million dollars will pass into the Texas channels of trade this year. Actual field inspections of growing crops in this program were made by the Department on about 3,000 individual farms this season.

All this seed work is financed largely by fees paid by those getting the service. Heretofore, the Legislature has not permitted the Department to have all these fees it collects to enforce the seed laws. All these fees are badly needed for better seed law enforcement and it has been so recommended by the Department.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

The cultivation of spiritual sense gives man dominion over all evil, according to the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul" to be read in all Christian Science churches next Sunday. Understanding God as Soul, the source of real happiness, the Golden Text is made clear: "My soul shall be joyful in the Lord; it shall rejoice in his salvation" (Psalms 35:9).

This Bible admonition is included in the Lesson-Sermon: "Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth" (Colossians 3:2). The theme is developed in these words by Mary Baker Eddy from her textbook: "We cannot deny that Life is self-sustained, and we should never deny the everlasting harmony of Soul, simply because, to the mortal senses, there is seeming discord. It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right

Bovina, Friona Men Officers Of Race Association

RUIDOSO, N. M., Feb. 12 — Four jockeys riding in the Ruidoso racing season will split more than $1,000 in cash prizes, this year, officers and directors of the association, meeting here last Thursday, voted. The money, a considerable increase over last year, is offered to stimulate jockeys to greater efforts to win, said the racing officials. "The jockeys must compete cleanly, because the State Racing Commission has made rules governing the jockey's actions on the track, which should prevent any unsportsmanlike actions," the association's announcement said.

Other action taken included: Quarter horse trials will be run on the first day of the meet, June 21; the finals in the Futurity a week later — purse: all entry fees plus $2,500 added by the Central Bar & Grill, Ruidoso, N. M., plus 5% of the mutual handle, will be divided as follows: 1st place, 50 per cent; 2nd place, 25 per cent; 3rd place, 15 per cent; 4th place, 10 per cent. Quarter horse championship race will be run on June 28 or 29, purse $1,000.

The thoroughbred futurity will be run on June 28 or 29, purse, $1,500.

The thoroughbred handicap will be run at a date to be set later, with a purse of $700.

The thoroughbred futurity finals will be run about three weeks after the trials. Deadline on entries for the futurity races has been extended to Feb. 15.

Improvements at the track include renovation of the jockey's room with new steel lockers being installed and covering of walls with plywood. The stands and secretary's office have been repainted, and other improvements made.

Present officers and directors were all re-elected as well as the manager. They are: Bert Chitwood, Friona, Texas, president; Jim Derrick, Carlsbad, vice-president; Tommy Hicks, Ruidoso, secretary-treasurer; Ed L. Davis, Amarillo, Tex., Hop Lee, Alamogordo, Fred Carson, Bovina Tex., understanding of Him restores harmony. Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of Soul" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 390).

Paving This Year Foreseen On Two Farm To Market Roads In Bailey Co.

It appears that two stretches of Farm to Market roads will be paved in Bailey County this year. Members of the Bailey County commissioners court reported after a meeting they held with the district highway engineer in Lubbock last Thursday, February 7.

The two roads are:
1. Farm to Market road from State Highway No. 70, west to the county paved roads. This is the road that goes by the old Muleshoe ranch headquarters.
2. Farm to Market road from Stegall west to the New Mexico state line.
From information obtained it appears that both of the above described roads will be worked into the same project. Right of way information is now being obtained, and right of way deeds are being prepared for the right of way for said Farm to Market roads.

Book Outlines Legal Aid In U. S.

Very few persons realize their opportunities to obtain legal aid in the United States. Therefore a study of the availability of legal services for persons unable to pay fees may come in handy as a reference book in the future.
The book, written by Emery A. Brownell, is entitled "Legal Aid in the United States" and may be borrowed at any time by a library reader. Most persons know that a judge is required to appoint counsel for a criminal case defendant who is financially unable to employ an attorney.

But this book goes into facilities for civil cases, what legal services may be needed, aid from societies and departments of social agencies, public bureaus, bar associations, etc., and covers methods by which aid in such cases may be obtained. The book has a forward by Harrison Tweed, president of the National Legal Aid Association, and an introduction by Reginald Heber Smith, director, Survey of the Legal Profession.
Other books recently added to the library shelves are "The King's Rhapsody", by Chapman and Novello; "My Cousin Rachel", written by Daphne de Maurier; and "Dance to the Piper", by Agnes DeMille.

Pilot Parachutes To Safety

about four miles north of Sudan. The pilot, 1st Lieut. Chas. H. Schmid, address not learned, parachuted to safety, uninjured, landing about 1000 yards from the scene of the crash.
Reports from the scene, stated that the fighter plane was completely disintegrated, blown to bits, with no parts even of metal larger than the size of the human hand remaining in evidence.
The plane is said to have hit the ground, bounced about thirty feet and then exploded with a tremendous crash.
The two accompanying air men, in two other fighter planes, continued to circle the scene of the crash until they noted the arrival of large numbers of persons at the scene.
They also, were able to presumably, contact their home base headquarters by radio, at Clovis, and an investigation and rescue squadron was immediately dispatched from there.
The Clovis base has only recently been re-activated, and is said to be operating temporarily as an auxiliary of Reese Air Base.
Within moments Reese Air Base also was in action, dispatching three fire trucks, three ambulances, a doctors car, and a cordon of more than 100 military police, as well as trained army air force investigators, and Public Relations officers to the scene of the crash, traveling at high speed by way of Levelland.
Deputy Sheriff Burdette of Sudan, also rushed to the scene, and was joined shortly afterward by Sheriff Sid Hopping and Tommy Gilbert, who left for Sudan immediately after receiving the report.
Upon arrival, military police threw up a security ring around the spot where the crash occurred, and ordered the hundreds of folks who had flocked to the scene of the crash, attracted by both the terrific noise of the explosion report, and by word of mouth heralding of the crash in Sudan, to keep at a distance until investigation was completed.
Cars by the hundreds flocked to the scene, and the streets and business houses of Sudan were almost deserted as word of the crash quickly spread.
Despite the fact that Lamb county is centrally located between the Lubbock and Clovis training bases, and not much further distant from the Roswell base, this is the first crash of a training plane reported in this county.

LIE COMES TO BAT

Hold on to your hats, boys; one of the highest authorities in the United Nations says the danger of war breaking out is lessening. The chance is less than it was three months ago and "certainly much less" than one year ago, according to U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie.

This is interesting. If memory serves us correctly, United Nations is at war now in Korea, and has been for almost two years. What General Lie must have had in mind is that larger, more global war in which the Russians would fight openly instead of behind the skirts of North Korea and Red China.

Short-range prophecy is itself a dangerous thing. If the past is anything to judge by, the time to get jittery is when the prophets agree that the stock market is going up tomorrow, or that a woman will never again lose her keys to the car or that the danger of war approaching zero. —Dallas News.

Phillips Station Opening Here Had A Special Meaning For Former Resident

A. M. HUGHES

The grand opening of the Evans Brothers Phillips 66 service station in Muleshoe on February 2, bears special significance for Phillips Petroleum Company's sales department, and especially to the vice president of sales, A. M. Hughes.

Hughes joined Phillips in 1928, shortly after the company had started its marketing operations. As division sales manager, in Amarillo, Hughes built the company's first bulk plant there, a 24 ft. x 40 ft. sheet-iron warehouse with three storage tanks. Under his direction, the first Phillips service station in Amarillo had its official opening on March 2, 1928.

Mrs. Hughes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tyson, moved from Haskell, Texas, to the Muleshoe area in 1921, marking one of Hughes' first contacts with what is now the city of Muleshoe.

While he was division sales manager at Amarillo, Hughes was called "Mayor of Muleshoe" by R. C. Jopling, then general sales manager of Phillips, and now vice president of advertising. His unofficial title was further verified when Hughes bought several pieces of land near Muleshoe at the beginning of the depression.

Born in Holland, Texas, Hughes attended public schools in Temple, Texas. After finishing school, he worked for Southwestern Oil Company, at $1.00 per day, until the company went out of business when he was 17. Hughes then joined Waters-Pierce Oil Company and was sent to Fort Worth to keep track of the iron barrels used for local freight shipment of gasoline.

For the next 15 years, Hughes learned lots about the oil industry, being promoted to division office order clerk, bookkeeper, cashier, station agent, traveling salesman, and division office chief clerk.

Lube For Plains Windmills
A favorite remembrance of Hughes during that time, was "Burro John."

"Every month or so," Hughes recalled, "here came old 'Burro' WE HAVE A FRESH SUPPLY of Garner Farm Record Books. We stock them each year, so that a farmer can always have the same book he has been using.

STROKE OF GENIUS

It may be snowing in northern climes, but down in the Southern resortlands it's time for outdoor fun. With old Sol high in the sky, this pretty vacationer is all set for a boat ride. She is as talented with a needle as she is with an oar, for she made her own sun outfit from cotton bags. She used plain white flour bags for the shorts and jacket, with a border print bag for the halter and trim.

John' up to our bulk plant, with 32 burros hitched to three trail wagons. He'd load the wagons with 1,000 pounds per burro, then start overland to places not reached by railroads.

"He traveled about 10 miles per day, and often went to points 150 miles away. He sold lots of paraffin candles and axle grease, and quite a bit of lube oil for windmills."

At the outbreak of World War I, Hughes joined the Army, but was discharged, via telegram, while on his way to training.

He quickly resumed his oil career by joining Cities Service at San Antonio. He built the first bulk plant and division office for that company at San Antonio, and then became division manager, a position in which he supervised construction and operation of 19 bulk plants and service stations.

A brief career as an Independent jobber at Haskell, Texas, followed before Hughes rejoined Cities Service. Just when things looked bright as a jobber, the price of Ford automobiles was slashed, cotton fell from 40 cents to eight cents per pound, and Hughes had to sell tank wagon gasoline cheaper than tank car price plus freight.

He returned to Cities Service for six years as chief auditor and chief clerk at Fort Worth, until he joined Phillips in 1928, Builds Phillips Plants founder of the company, gave Hughes authority to build 40 plants. It was generously estimated that the plants would sell 10,000 gallons per month. But when they sold more than 100,000 gallons per month, the number of plants was boosted from 40 to 140.

In 1932, Hughes was appointed southwest regional manager. In a short time, he was called in to Bartlesville, and soon became assistant sales manager of Phillips. He then was made general sales manager. Phillips rapidly became a major marketer in the Midwest, and Hughes was elected Vice-President, Sales Department, and a Director, in 1937.

"I don't believe business history has another story so romantic and big as Frank Phillips' development of refining and marketing," says Hughes, who has helped establish more than 15,000 marketing outlets for Phillips Petroleum Company. "We went across the Midwest United States in three years, doing what it took others many years to do. In fact, all the others said our marketing plans would end in failure. They said the same thing about our products pipe line. But as everybody knows, we were successful at every turn."

Phillips now has direct marketing operations in 28 states, and other of its products, are sold in every other state except California.
