Kitty's Korner

The weather has bordered on lunacy for the past week. At press time last Tuesday afternoon, it was freezing, sleet and snowing and in that order. This week, its a pleasant 67 degrees. It's anyone's guess what the weather will be tomorrow.

The Ozona Stockman has a new Chevy Blazer for carting the papers back and forth. It's been a fun vehicle to drive and everyone on the staff has been vying for its use. The only trouble I have found is my sign vocabulary. I am pretty adept at reading English and I can make out the written word in Spanish, but when it comes to sign language my ability seems to be sadly lacking.

It wasn't too hard to figure out the seat belt sign (a fat person in a sitting with his seat belt fastened) when the red light flashed, and I have finally solved the riddle of the fuel gauge. It's a series of circles. When the circle is filled in with white, you are ready to go, and when the circle lacks anything but the outline, you are on empty and had better get to the gas station. All the circles in between don't really mean anything but three-quarters full, half full and one-fourth full, have more meaning to me than the circle indicators.

The book symbol with two broken lines shooting out means that's the windshield washer. I found this out strictly by accident when I pushed it and water squirted on the windshield. My vision was blurred until I found the windshield wipers.

I can readily tell where the battery gauge is, since almost everyone knows what a battery looks like. However, I'm up the creek when it comes to deciphering that gauge with the little teapot sign and the one with the periscope peering out of the waves. So far the indicators have all stayed on normal (I guess that is what the midline mark means). Some day I'm going to read the book.

The four-wheel drive has me stymied again. When the two-wheel under-chassis lights up on the little sign, I think that's where you are supposed to do most of your ordinary driving. However, when you shift into four-wheel, there is a high and a low. I've only tried that once. I couldn't get it back into two-wheel and had to drive up to Buttery Motors where Richard Berry gave me some instruction. I haven't tried that again, but some of the others found it useful when delivering the papers on icy roads last Wednesday. No problem at all they told me.

James Pagan has been performing the duties of driver and he really earned his money when he took the paper to be printed last week. He said the little vehicle plugged right along, even though visibility was zero in some places. What usually takes about four hours from unloading time, took six and a half hours last week.

I always worry when anyone takes the paper but yours truly so I was waiting up to hear the papers were back safe and sound. About 10 o'clock Tuesday night I looked out and couldn't believe my eyes. There were skiers on the hill, having a ball with snow flakes falling all around. This was my amusement until the paper rolled in at 12:30 a.m. I was amazed and amused at that bunch of ski nuts. Needless to say, I didn't join them, just watched from in front of a roaring fire.

I worry about a lot of things, but there are several things I absolute do not worry about. Among these are being injured in a skiing accident, getting AIDS, and having a nuclear bomb dropped on my house.

Commissioners in first meeting of new year

Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday for the first meeting of the new year, with a packed agenda. Due to illness in his family, Judge A. O. Fields was unable to be present and senior commissioner Jack Williams presided, assisted by County Attorney Tom Cameron.

Several important decisions were deferred until next month's meeting and the return of the judge to the bench. These include a decision on funding for Meals for the Elderly, funding of a Child Abuse Program, the appointment of hospital board members and other items.

Kathy Reavis met with the court to ask for funding for the Meals on Wheels program. The program was closed last year when federal agencies cut funding. The new facility is due to open and begin serving meals Feb. 3. It will open in a building donated by Alleane Sutton which is in the process of being remodeled. Mrs. Reavis, explained to the court, the group had no federal contract and it would be necessary to acquire funding through donations and the county.

She said the group planned to serve 70 meals per day to the elderly. This would require $3,500 per month from the county to fund the meals. On the other hand, if the county should choose to pay for meals of those on the poverty level only, the cost would be $2,000 per month. This action was deferred until Judge Fields returns.

The court also asked to wait until the next meeting to act on a child welfare proposal put forth by the schools and state welfare officials. Several members of the school board, Superintendent of Schools Garland Davis, Primary School Principal Walter Spiller and Lou Ingram, school nurse, along with two representatives of the State Child Welfare Department. Mrs. Ingram explained to the court that child abuse in the lower grades was due in large part to neglect, such as filth, lice, and non-attendance. She did not elaborate on the number of children in this situation.

Fr. Richard Altenbaugh, member of the Crockett County Child Welfare board, was also present and asked that the number of members on the board be increased from seven to 14. However, since this was not on the agenda, no action was taken.

Mr. Davis, Joe Couch and the two state representatives, spoke for the expansion of child welfare services in the county. In summing up the proposal the group asked for a full time child welfare worker and a part time

Annual banquet to feature Billie Scott

The annual Ozona Chamber of Commerce banquet will be held January 30, at the Ozona Civic Center. The after dinner speaker will be Billie Sue Scott.

Tickets for the banquet are $10 each and may be purchased from any chamber director. The meal will be catered by Charlie Frazier.

Mrs. Scott will give her Sesqui-centennial rendition of her presentation of "A Tribute."

Billie was born in Lamesa, Texas. At the early age of eight her father encouraged her to learn poems and readings. He saw a talent that should be developed and during the depression years paid $5.00 a month to the local "expression" instructor to develop this talent. This interest in speech and drama continued and upon completing her first year in drama at Hardin-Simmons University, she was chosen to receive the Alpha Psi Omega "Most Outstanding Freshman in Drama" award. She received a BS degree from Hardin-Simmons University in speech and drama.

Billie met and married Willie L. Scott who enrolled in Hardin-Simmons University after World War II. Her interest in the young man on the battlefield was kindled by her husband who told her of the sacrifices friends and acquaintances had made during five of the major battles in the European Theater.

Stuart announces for another term

B. W. Stuart has authorized The Stockman to announce his candidacy for a third term as County Commissioner, Precinct 2, subject to the Democratic Primary in May.

Stuart is asking for a third term and running on his record. While in office, he has attended to dump ground operations for the court, and worked with the SCS in supervising operations of dams and draws. He was appointed by the court to supervise the clean-up of the county road department yard, and this is still in the process.

He is presently overseeing the building of a driving range for youngsters who participate in golf.

Stuart describes himself as a full-time commissioner and works for the good of the entire county as well as Precinct 2. He feels he is doing a good job and asks his constituents support for another term. Stuart, who has lived in his precinct for 50 years, is presently working with the State Highway Department in an effort to re-route some of the waterways north of Ozona. He wants to see this project through, as well as some other operations with which he is concerned.

He likes his job and enjoys working with the county and those in his precinct for the good of all. He also feels his experience as a mechanic for 30 years with North Motor Co. stands him in good stead to oversee county equipment and trucks.

Stuart, a former professional baseball player, came here over fifty years ago. He married the former Wanda Dunlap. They will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, Jan. 19. They raised their four children and educated them in Ozona schools. The oldest, Douglas, is an airline executive in Washington, D.C. Their daughter, Carolyn, is now Mrs. W. J. Wilson and is a homemaker. Gregory, another son works with an oil company in Ozona, and Jeffrey is manager of the Circle Bar Truck Corral.

Besides working for years for Joe North, Stuart owned and operated Stuart Motor Co. for a number of years. He also served several terms on the school board when his children were in school here.

He assures his constituents he is only a phone call away and is ready at any time to help them with any problem that might arise.

Gunshot is fatal to local man

Sheriff Billy Mills and three of his deputies responded to a gunshot report at 2:25 Saturday afternoon. They found the body of 21-year-old Pedro Guerra in the bedroom of his home on Mulberry Street.

Guerra was dead from a gunshot wound to the head. A .38 caliber handgun was recovered near the body. There were no witnesses to the shooting, as far as officers can determine. A family member made the call of officers.

Judge Raymond Davee ordered the body sent to the Bexar County Medical Examiner's office for a full autopsy. He will make an official ruling when he gets the autopsy report.

Funeral services for Guerra were held Tuesday afternoon at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery under the direction of Sizemore Funeral Home.

Survivors include his mother, Lucy Williams; his father, Pedro Guerra of San Angelo; three brothers, Ray Vargas, Tiney Guerra and Noe Guerra; two sisters, Frances Lombana and Martha Williams; and grandparents, Soledad Galindo and Beatrice. Also two sons, Pete R. Guerra III and Robert R. Guerra. All survivors are from Ozona.

FAIR TRADE MEANS JOBS FOR TEXANS

The United States has always been a "free trader" in world commerce, allowing virtually free access to our markets for imported goods while expecting other countries to follow our example.

However, our trading partners are turning "free trade" into a free ride to the U.S. for their exports while closing off their own markets to our goods and services. That hurts America's economy, and it takes jobs away from Texans. It is high time America began taking responsible action to combat unfair trade, and I am cosponsoring legislation in Congress which will do exactly that.

This legislation places trade squarely on the front burner of national priorities where it belongs. America's economic success depends more than ever on how well we compete in the global marketplace, and Texas is no exception.

Texas is now a major exporter of manufactured goods, ranking second in the nation in that category in 1981. Manufacturing means jobs, and more than 135,000 jobs in Texas were dependent on exports of manufactured goods in 1981. Texas ranks first among the 50 states in chemical exports, fourth in electronic equipment and third in nonelectronic machinery.

We lead the nation in cotton exports, rank second in meat exports, second in shrimp, and third in rice. Exports account for 25 cents of every Texas farm dollar.

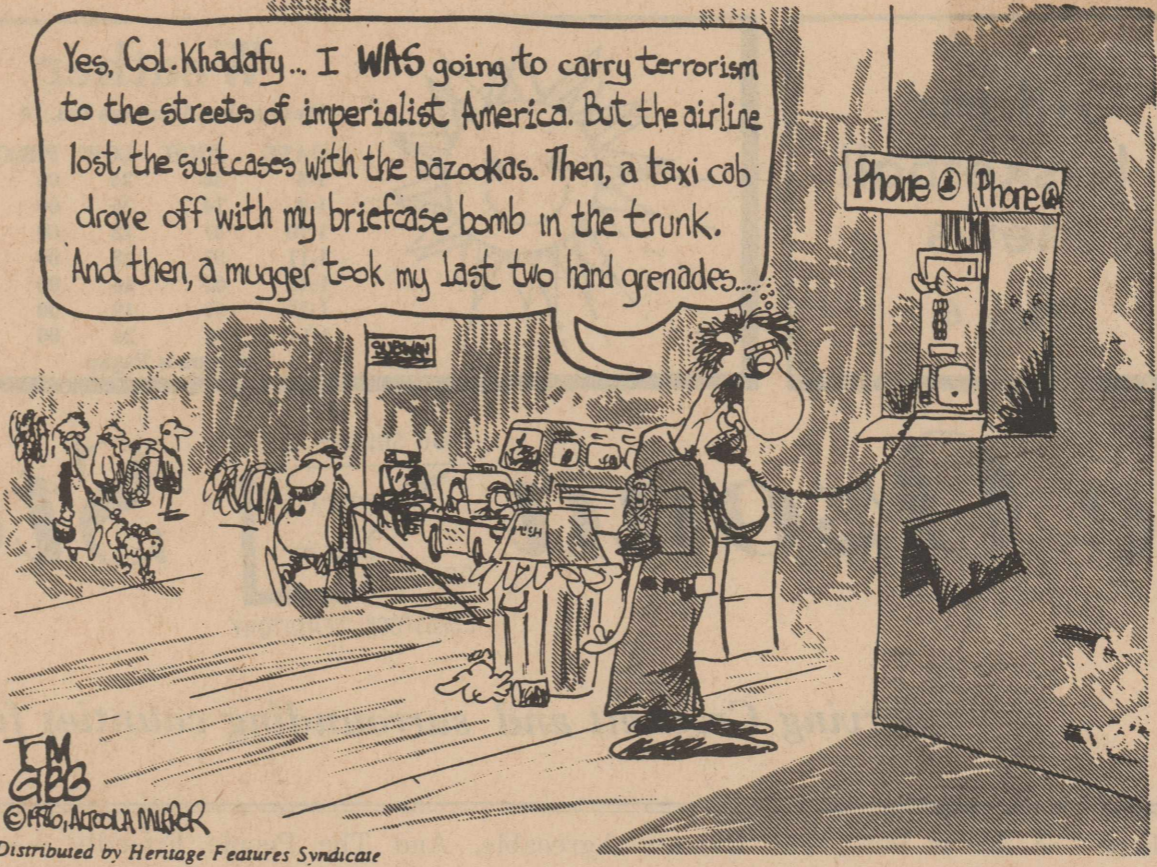

These figures show how much is at stake in world trade for Texas farmers and Texas workers. When foreign nations flood U.S. markets while closing theirs off, our farmers and factory workers pay a very dear price for Uncle Sam's free trade policy.

The Trade Partnership Act which I am cosponsoring sets out a comprehensive program aimed at expanding exports by breaking down illegal trade barriers, opening up international trade and seeking monetary adjustments. It puts our trade partners on notice that we won't tolerate a one-way trade street any longer, but it avoids the pitfalls of knee-jerk, protectionist measures which only repeat the mistakes of the past and ultimately lead to a worse economic situation than before.

This legislation aims at building trade, not tearing it down. It provides assistance to companies which face unfair competition or trade barriers, and it supplies more authority to the President's Trade Representative to move against unfair trade practices.

It also provides job retraining and relocation aid for workers who have lost their jobs to import competition or who may lose them as their industry adjusts to the more competitive environment.

If we're going to solve our nation's trade imbalance and restore the competitive edge to American business, we need a concerted effort — a coordinated effort — which expands exports, fends off unfair trade practices and aids American workers. This plan is directed toward all of these goals instead of taking the easy but destructive path of protectionism.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Architect consultants working on the Texas Goddess of Liberty removed from the top of the dome have discovered a message left 100 years ago painted inside the statue, but they haven't figured out what it says.

And while many statistics and reports can be found now to wrap up 1985, no one is able to decipher just what the crystal ball has in store for Texas in 1986.

The Libyan sanctions involve some six large Texas companies established in that nation and how much their loss will hurt Texas, if it comes, is a question mark.

Other various economic figurings released recently include: —The Bureau of Labor Statistics says new Texas job opportunities will be low because of stress to energy and agriculture sectors. December's unemployment rate was 6.8 percent, a tenth under the national rate.

—Governor Mark White said he can assure Texas employers that their federal unemployment taxes will actually decrease by $120 million this year.

—Texas local property taxes grew by 12.9 percent last year, for a total of $8.2 billion in local property taxes.

—Although the Legislature increased the state's share of school aid by a billion per year, local schools adopted the largest hikes in local school taxes in state history totalling over half a billion dollars.

—A House report says that shutdown of the controversial "white oil" commerce in the Panhandle wouldn't cost the region's economy hundreds of millions of dollars in the next few years, as some have claimed. But Texas would lose $18 million a year in production taxes.

Funds, Performance
Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby last week told a group of educators his new idea to get Texas school districts to improve academically.

The state should cut their funds and quit subsidizing poor performances, he said. "That's the way our society works. You reward good performance and penalize bad performance."

A few days later, Gov. White jumped for the idea, saying the public was demanding more accountability in state spending. But White said he preferred incentives, not penalties, to stimulate better performance.

White also said the state won't have to raise taxes to fund higher education next year.

PUBLIC NOTICE
On August 20, 1985, Westar Transmission Company, a Division of Cranberry Pipeline Corporation, filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas a Statement of Intent to change its City Gate Rate. On December 12, 1985, Westar filed its First Supplemental Statement of Intent, and requested that sales to Energas Company for its Ozona distribution system be treated like other similar sales to Energas. These sales would be subject to the requested margin of 80.75 and would include Westar's weighted average cost of gas. This same rate applies to sales by Westar to Energas' West Texas System, Andrews Gas Company, Inc. and the City of White Deer.

The proposed change increases the cost of service component to $0.75 and alters the definition of weighted average cost of gas. The cumulative effect of the proposed change will increase the annual revenues of Westar by approximately $26,185,504 and is a "major change" as that term is defined in TEX. REV. CIV. STAT. ANN, art 1446e, Sec. 5.08. The proposed effective date is September 25, 1985. Further information or a copy of the Statement of Intent and supplement can be obtained from Westar at P. O. Box 90, Amarillo, Texas 79189 or from the Railroad Commission of Texas at P. O. Drawer 12967, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711-2967. 45-4tc

Volunteer training seminar scheduled in Reagan County

A volunteer training seminar concerning domestic crises situations will be held January 23, hosted by the Reagan County Memorial Hospital. The training session will include hotline phone crisis intervention, role playing, volunteer advocacy relating to public awareness, and resource referrals to appropriate agencies. The seminar will be held in Big Lake at the hospital board room from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and is open to anyone from Crockett, Irion and Reagan counties.

Anyone interested in attending is asked to call Pat King at the Reagan County Memorial Hospital, 915-884-2561, or Frank Galindo III at the San Angelo Family Shelter at 655-5774. No registration fee is required but interested parties are asked to call so that accommodations can be made for the number expected attendees.

Microcomputers in ranch management seminar set

Computers, a subject cussed and discussed by ranchmen everywhere will be highlighted during a two day seminar here January 28-29. Dubbed "Microcomputers in Ranch Management", the seminar is being sponsored by the Extension Service in cooperation with the Crockett County Range and Livestock Committee. The location will be the Crockett County Library at 705 12th Street. The first day's activities will begin at 12:30 p.m. with registration while the second day will start at 8 a.m.

The seminar's organizers say the objective of the workshop is to provide ranchers and agri-businessmen an opportunity to learn how microcomputers are being used in ranch management.

The first day's activities will begin with the presentation of a physical/financial "picture" of an average Crockett County ranch followed by potential range improvements for the mythical ranch. Then the financial feasibility of making range improvements to the ranch will be determined by using software available through the Extension Service.

A panel made up of local ranchers will follow the ranching situation exercise. This panel is to discuss how they use microcomputers in their individual ranching operations. The afternoon's activities are set to conclude at 5 p.m. to be followed by a break for supper. At 7 p.m. the workshop will resume with two concurrent sessions; one dealing with hardware and software selection issues for beginners, and the second a hands-on use of ranch management software in four topic areas.

The second day's activities will offer ranchers the opportunity to select from among several programs including sheep and goat enterprise budgeting and analysis, wildlife and beef cattle budgeting and analysis and forage and range planning and budgeting. Also on tap is a ranch financial statement preparation and analysis and accounting software session for persons with no experience. A second session for those with experience is offered following lunch.

The two day workshop is scheduled to conclude at 4:30 p.m. January 29. Registration forms and further information may be obtained by contacting Billy Reagor, Crockett County Extension Agent at P.O. Box 969, Ozona, Texas 76943. A registration fee of $10 per person will be charged for those registering before Jan. 20 and $15 thereafter. The registration fee covers the proceedings and refreshments.

Prescribed burning is used to improve rangelands

By Reggie Quiet

Prescribed burning is a relatively new technique used to improve rangelands. It is done during the dormant season, usually January and February in this area, to suppress certain undesirable plants and to improve the nutritive quality of forage. The Soil Conservation Service can provide ranchers technical assistance in planning and carrying out a prescribed burn on their rangeland.

Under certain conditions, prescribed burning is a viable and effective brush control alternative that can be carried out more economically than chemical and mechanical brush control methods. Prescribed burning is also an effective method to improve distribution of livestock. Burning removes old growth from plants and at least for a few months reduces the animal's preference for one plant over another.

Fine fuel is dormant grasses, forbs, and other plants that will carry the fire. Before burning, most rangeland needs to be deferred during the previous growing season to produce sufficient fine fuel that is evenly distributed.

A fire plan should always be worked up before this practice is carried out. Factors to be considered include the amount and distribution of fine fuel; desired weather conditions; preferred wind velocities; direction to burn; and the location of highways, buildings, and other improvements.

An actual prescription of wind speed and direction, relative humidity, and air temperature should be designated for each burn. Fireguards and firebreaks are then planned and a lighting sequence is developed for setting the fire.

After the burn, the pasture should be deferred for a period, depending on range condition, and the producer's goals for improvement.

The local Soil Conservation Service working through the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District can provide technical assistance to local ranchers in planning and carrying out a prescribed burn.

4-H Horse Club to meet Jan. 18 at Shannon Ranch

The monthly meeting of the Crockett County 4-H Horse Club will be held January 18, at the Shannon Ranch. Members will meet at the Courthouse Square at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday and bring sack lunch, notebook, and pen.

All of those members who have horses are to bring them as the group will be riding and training that day. Dress in warm clothes.

Crockett County Library Notes

Texas Trivia-"The Eyes of Texas", probably the most beloved song ever written about the Lone Star State, isn't sung today as John Lang Sinclair wrote it. His original version, written on a scrap of brown laundry paper, is in the possession of the Ex-Students' Association of the University of Texas. It reads:

"The eyes of Texas are upon you
All the live long day.

The eyes of Texas are upon you
They're with you all the way.
They watch you through the peaceful twilight.

They watch you in the early dawn
When from the eastern skies the high light

Tells that the night is gone."

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

My---but were you all as surprised as I was last week when the severe snow storm hit us, and lasted longer than usual. We needed the moisture, but I have never enjoyed playing in the snow as many do.

Bare root planting is this month's big opportunity because bare root plants become better established than those planted in a nursery can. Only certain kinds of plants are sold this way, but bare root is the best way to plant apples, apricots, peaches, plums, figs, flowering fruit trees, roses, grapes and berries.

Follow these guidelines: Plant as soon as possible to keep roots from drying out. Just to be sure, soak roots in water overnight. Dig an ample hole and add soil amendments and slow-acting fertilizer, such as bone meal. Form a cone of soil in the bottom of the hole and spread the roots over it, making sure the plant ends up at the right depth. Fill the hole and tramp the soil down to compress any air pockets. Fruit trees need pruning prior to planting to reduce the top growth and compensate for the amount of roots lost when the plant was dug up.

Pruning is winter's next important garden job. Any leafless plant can be pruned now and some must be. The exceptions to this rule are fruit trees grown only for their flowers. These are best pruned while they are in bloom. Deciduous fruit trees grown for their fruit, such as apricots and peaches, must be pruned or they will eventually cease producing fruit. Since each kind requires a different pruning method it is best to seek advice.

Dormant spraying follows planting and pruning in order of importance. Dormant sprays are light oils that smother rather than poison pests. Safe and effective, they can be used only on leafless plants, but they almost guarantee fewer pest problems the following season. To control peach leaf curl, peaches must be sprayed every year with such a mixture or with Bordeaux. Many vegetables can be planted this month and is also a good time to plant strawberries, often available bare root at a savings now. Rose growers hardly need to be told but nurseries are chock-full of bare root roses, the best way to plant them. Watch for the names of the newest roses on the market now.

I must think it over!

That's what my parents said when I asked if I could go to Eddie's Sunday School.

You see, there are lots of churches in town. And my parents haven't decided which one we ought to attend. These are important decisions. They take time!

But that doesn't make Sunday mornings much fun. With all my friends at church, there's nobody to play with except that bully up the street. And Dad and Mother say I shouldn't play with him.

That's funny! How come parents can decide what kind of boys we should play with, but they can't decide what church we should attend?

Seems to me that going to church next Sunday might help us all decide.

BASKETBALL PREVIEW

Lions win district opener and other results in week's b.b. play

By Amy Beth Scoggins

The Ozona Lions and Junior Varsity Lions were victorious in their first district games against the Coahoma Bulldogs. The Lions defeated the Bulldogs 52 to 46 and the JV Lions outscored their opponents 48 to 38. The Lions led by a score of 28 to 23 at the end of the first half. The game became close during the third quarter, but the Lions kept their lead and captured the win to make it 1-0 in district play.

"I am glad that we opened the district race with a good start," Coach John Curry said. "Although we didn't shoot well, we still played a good game. There were some key free throws that pulled the game out. To be a contender in the district we must continue to improve."

Harvey Fierro was high scorer with 13 points followed by Mike Morrow with 12 points. Steve Sanchez contributed eight points while Able Lara provided seven. Scoring four points each were Bret Thompson, Mark Marshall, and Scott Denman.

The Lions shot 55% from the free throw line sinking six of the 11 attempted free throws.

High scorer for the JV Lions was Danny Sanchez with 14 points. Will Seahorn followed scoring 12 points. Derold Vargas, Oscar Payne, and Jim Etheridge contributed six points each. Bret Hood provided four points.

"I was a little apprehensive at first because it had been quite a while since our last game," Coach David Porter said. "Once we got into the game, we played well. Coahoma was a tough team."

The JV Lions shot 40% from the free throw hitting six of their 15 attempts.

Both the Lions and the JV Lions will play their second district game in Colorado City on January 17.

The Lady Lions have been improving with each game, but were unable to come out on top last week with Sonora defeating the Lady Lions 44 to 36 on January 7, and Coahoma beating the Lady Lions on January 10, 64 to 49.

"It's very hard for me to understand why we didn't play a good first half against Sonora," Coach Rhonda Yarborough stated. "I expected a very intense effort from us the first half; instead, we let them beat us up and down the floor which resulted in more than several easy lay ups for them."

Vickie Reagor scored 13 points followed by Julie Reagor with eight points. Lydia Pena contributed five points while Zelda Munoz and Stacy Lay provided four points each. Vanessa Miller scored two points.

"The key to our play from here on out is going to be the intensity level of our play," Yarborough added.

"I was pleased with the effort that we made against Coahoma," Yarborough said. "There is no doubt about it—Coahoma has a very good team."

Julie Reagor provided 15 points for the Lady Lions against Coahoma. Munoz followed with 14 points. Vickie Reagor scored six points while Pena contributed five. Sharon McCrohan scored four points. Miller provided three points while Stacy Lay scored two.

"The Lady Lions played with pride and never gave up," Yarborough stated. "I think we can all take a lot of pride in the girls' play against Coahoma. I know that we are getting closer, and all of the players and fans that have stood behind us are really going to be in for a treat when we have that first complete game."

The Lady Lions will play in Colorado City on January 17 at 6:30 p.m.

The Junior Varsity Lady Lions outplayed Sonora on January 7 by a score of 39-35 and were upset by the Coahoma JV Bulldogettes on January 10, 39-22.

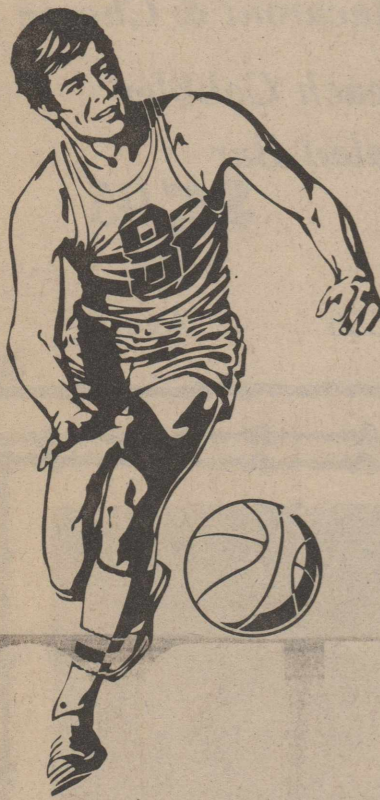

The JV Lady Lions were behind 8 to 11 at the end of the first quarter, but pulled ahead to take the lead in the second quarter and led 20-13. The JV Lions continued to control the game and played on to win.

Regina Cervantez scored 13 points followed by Cathy Moran with eight points. Kriss Corley provided seven points while Vickie Flores scored five. Eileen Moran contributed four points. Adriane Wilson also added two points.

The JV Lady Lions shot 50% from the free throw line sinking 11 of their 22 attempts.

Dottie Gonzales provided six points against Coahoma while Cervantez scored five. Flores, Stacy Winkley, Corley, Shannon Curry, and Wilson scored two points each. Joann Hertz also scored one point.

The JV Lady Lions will travel to Colorado City to play their next game on January 17. The game will begin at 8:00 p.m.

members of the EMS organization.

A motion was made by Fred Deaton and seconded by Orlando Vargas to sponsor ECA classes in March, and to send one teacher and two representatives to Fire School at Texas A&M in the summer. Motion carried.

The Board then went into executive session. The Board returned to regular session.

It was decided by the Board that the inpatient admissions would be limited to no more than 8 patients. Anything over this will be transferred to other facilities. The hospital will comply with the state licensing requirement concerning nurses at all times, preferably a Registered Nurse on each shift. The hospital will attempt to maintain the quality required for Medicare certification in every aspect except staffing.

The Board decided to defer action on the maintenance contract with Corning Medical on the blood gas analyzer.

Apparently, during the executive session, ten or eleven staff members were relieved of their duties. According to Chairman of the Board Sandy Stokes, these include the high cost people required to keep Medicare certification. These include an insurance clerk, a medical records secretary and the director of nurses.

Members present were Sandy Stokes, Lloyd Winkley, Orlando Vargas, Maria DeLaRosa, Fred Deaton and Alleane Jones. Others attending were Tom Cameron, Bill Boswell, Dr. Carlisle, Dr. Owensby, Jacque King, Elvira Caldwell, Ramona Turnley, Lee Carlisle, Dub O'Bryant, Doug Meador and Carol Hunnicutt.

Journey Through Texas

An 1835 map published in Philadelphia showing the original land grants in Texas. Austin's grant is center, right. From the Stephen F. Austin Anderson Library, University of Houston Collection, Special Collections, M.D. ton-University Park.

Stephen F. Austin fulfills his father's dream

By Fran Dressman

They're coming, you see, because of the land. It's a chance to have land of their own to farm or ranch. They're eagerly leaving the United States for the empty prairies and rich bottom lands of Mexican Texas.

Stephen F. Austin, too, is motivated by the land. He has the aid of no other sketch, but manages to draw a map of Texas depicting how it looks during this October of 1829. The map is now in the care of kinsman Thomas F. Leaming in Philadelphia, who is having it published. Leaming also is sending geography books for use here in San Felipe de Austin.

A fraudulent land deal being advertised in the United States has Austin very concerned. D. A. Smith, Richard Exeter and Co., claim the need "to dispose of 48,000,000 acres of land on the head of Red River." But Exeter cannot deliver the title since he "is nothing more than what the law calls an Empresario...an agent hired by the Government to introduce a certain number of families of a certain description within a certain time..." Austin notes. He has permission to settle land, but he has no titles to transfer.

Truth is, Austin himself is an empresario: Since 1821 he has received four grants to settle U.S. ranchers and farmers in Texas. Stephen became an empresario because of his father, Moses.

It's the elder Austin who received the grant from the Spanish Mexican government to settle 300 families here. Moses, a lead mine operator, had dealt with the Spanish before when, as empresario, he led his family and miners to Missouri before the territory belonged to the U.S. Losing all in the bank panic of 1819, he looked for a new business venture: Texas land.

But Moses died in 1821, so 27-year-old Stephen, a former member of the Missouri legislature, carried on his father's dream; it was the young Austin who chose the Brazos and Colorado river areas for the settlements.

Austin went to New Orleans to announce the formation of his colony and to give the rules and regulations: In return for taking an oath of allegiance and being "moral, sober, and industrious," the head of each family will be granted land that must be cultivated within a year.

If the contract was fulfilled, Austin also received land. For surveying and other empresario duties, the settlers paid him 12½ cents per acre. He also took responsibility for the actions of his settlers.

The price of U.S. land was very high in 1821—fact is, it's still high after nine years! Plus, many men in the U.S. were ruined by land speculation in the '20s depression. It's no wonder Austin found settlers there waiting for him when he returned to Texas.

Austin turned the property over to a settler by "taking his hand, walking around the land and saying in a loud and perceptive voice...in the name of the Government of the Mexican Nation" the land is his. The new owner sealed the bargain by pulling weeds, throwing stones and planting cuttings. The land commissioner then delivered the title.

During the first two years of his colony Austin spent much of his time trying to convince the new government in Mexico to honor his grant. Eventually, the issue was decided: ranchers got a league or sitio of land (4,428 acres), farmers got a labor (177 acres) and everyone had to profess allegiance to the Roman Catholic Church. Few, though, changed religions.

Austin's become one of the most successful and best-known empresarios around here. He rightly gets upset over land speculators who claim to be what they're not. His role of empresario was granted under special permission, before the national colonization laws were enacted. "All powers of both Empresario and Commissioner were invested in me," Austin writes. These two appointments have never been united for another.

Reading scores big in Area MS read-a-thon

Students in Ozona schools stacked up the books in the Fall edition of the MS Read-a-Thon. Youngsters read a record 282 books and raised $767.11 to lead the fight against multiple sclerosis in West Texas.

A couple of months ago, local MS volunteers presented an exciting challenge to grade school students: "Join the MS Read-a-Thon and read for the need of others." With the support of area teachers and parents, the children responded by reading books and recruiting sponsors who contributed a quarter, half-dollar or more for each book read to the Permian Basin Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Participating from Ozona Intermediate School were Lisa Herring, Sarah Southwell, Candace Williams, Toni Moreno, Martha Mayfield, Alex Sanchez.

Participants from Ozona Jr. High School were Haley Carson, David Southwell, Ami Sewell, Elvia Vasquez, Jamina Carrizales, Veronica Vasquez and Mary Turnley.

Texas Silver Haired Legislature

Effective January 1, 1986, Candidacy petitions and information forms for the first Texas Silver Haired Legislature became available in Crockett County at the Courthouse Annex according to Rachel Hall, local coordinator.

The Silver Haired Legislature, established by the 69th Texas Legislature, is a model legislative session in which older Texans are elected by their peers to meet at the State Capitol to initiate and debate issues that affect the elderly. Four representatives will be elected from the Concho Valley Council of Governments Area Agency on Aging region.

Two representatives will be elected from Tom Green County and the remaining two will be elected from the rural counties of Coke, Concho, Crockett, Irion, Kimble, Mason, McCulloch, Menard, Reagan, Schleicher, Sterling and Sutton.

Anyone that is a Texas registered voter and is 50 plus years of age may run for the Silver Haired Legislature.

To become a candidate, one must obtain an official candidate form and obtain 25 signatures from 60 plus registered voters who live in the appropriate area. These forms along with a $5.00 filing fee must be returned to the CVCOG-AAA office by February 28, 1986.

The Regional Advisory Committee on Aging of the Concho Valley Council of Governments is the steering committee for the special project. The election will be held Friday, May 30, 1986 at the County Courthouse from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. in Crockett County. Each elected Silver Haired Legislator will be responsible for all expenses relating to his candidacy, election and travel to Austin for the legislative session, September 28-October 1, 1986.

The Silver Haired Legislature is a great opportunity for older Texans to better impact the political process. This first effort will take a lot of community support. Anyone in Crockett County interested in assisting with this important and exciting event is encouraged to contact Rachel Hall at 2-2721 or 2-2984.

What value human life ?

By Charles Huffman

"Only 'viable' human beings who have the 'capability of meaningful life' may, but need not, be protected by the state". (U.S. Supreme Court, January 22, 1973)

The Supreme Court's ruling on abortion has not only devalued human life, but it has set in motion a mentality of death that reaches far beyond the womb. Francis Schaeffer wondered, "Will a society which has assumed the right to kill infants in the womb-because they are unwanted, imperfect, or merely inconvenient-have difficulty in assuming the right to kill other human beings, especially older adults who are judged unwanted, deemed imperfect physically or mentally, or considered a possible social nuisance?"

Abortion practices are being used to justify euthanasia. In the Atlantic Monthly it was argued that if the life of a Down's Syndrome baby can be ended prenatally, why should it not be ended neonatally (just after birth)? The only difference between the fetus and the infant is that the infant breathes with its lungs. Like it or not, this line of logic is correct. If we can kill babies before they are born, why not after?

Another shocking statement comes from a Nobel Prize winner: "If a child were not declared alive until three days after birth, then all parents could be allowed the choice that only a few are given under the present system. The doctor could allow the child to die if the parents so chose, and save a lot of misery and suffering. I believe this is the only rational and compassionate attitude to have." (National Right to Life News, August 30, 1983)

By ignoring the problem of abortion live births, the courts and the medical establishment are choosing to overlook a long, well-documented history of cases. Following are only a couple of instances. Bakersfield, Calif.-1973: A 4 1/2 pound infant was born alive following a saline abortion. Informed by phone, the doctor ordered two nurses to stop giving oxygen to the baby. His instructions were overridden by another physician. The baby survived and was later adopted. The first doctor was indicted for solicitation to commit murder. The case was dismissed. Westminster, Calif.-1977:

So far, we have been talking about babies who were aborted. Not wanted. But what about wanted babies who become unwanted immediately after they're born? 1971: At John Hopkins Hospital, a baby was born with an intestinal blockage that meant he could not be nourished. When his parents learned that he also had Down's Syndrome, they refused to permit the relatively minor operation that would have corrected the internal condition. So the baby was wheeled into an out-of-the-way corner, where he died of starvation and dehydration 15 days later! 1982: In Bloomington, Indiana, a baby was born with Down's Syndrome. 'Infant Doe', as he came to be called in the courts, needed simple surgery to enable him to eat. However, the parents refused the surgery-and went further by refusing to yield custody of the child to any of the couples who were eager to adopt him. When the matter came before the courts, the parents' decision to let the child starve to death was reinforced.

If we continue to allow such practices we need to check our own qualifications for staying alive. Just being a living human being isn't enough anymore. Charles Darwin, who is honored in our education system today, is the grandfather of the evolution theory. If man evolved, then he is a mere animal, and his value is determined strictly by what he can offer society. If man is created in the image and likeness of God, his value is determined by his Creator. Either ALL men are created equal and have value according to the Lord who made them, or no one has ANY value, regardless of our efforts to throw together some sort of sliding scale. The ones who insist on the practices of abortion, infanticide, and euthanasia are unknowingly signing their own death certificates. If their brothers and sister in humanity are worthless, then so are they. When God came to us in the Person of His own Eternal Son, Jesus Christ, He said: "Let Me assure you, anything you did (didn't) do for one of My brothers here, you did (didn't) do for Me" (Matthew 25:40, 45)

"Rescue the captive from death, and spare those who are staggering from slaughter. If you say, 'Look, this isn't our business', won't He who weighs hearts consider it? And He who guards your life-won't He know it, and won't He pay back everyone according to what he does?"

We will be observing Life Sunday on January 19th, with a special worship service. The public is invited to join with us on this day as we hear God's Word on this issue and offer our prayers and service to Him.

country, on a news program she witnessed young men burning the American flag and their draft cards in protest of our involvement. Her concern grew because of the lack of patriotism and she put together a simple speech entitled "America, I Love You!". She promised herself the speech would no longer be given when it lost its effectiveness. Some eleven years later it is still the most popular speech she gives, having been acclaimed outstanding by retired Texas Supreme Court Justices, Price Daniel and Zollie Steakley.
For seven years she has worked as a volunteer with the Triple L Club, a Senior Citizen group from Northwest Austin. She is a member of the Settlement Club, a club founded in 1915 to help impoverished children. Today the club houses emotionally disturbed teenagers. This year Billie was appointed the Fund Drive Chairman and the club has been challenged to raise $50,000.00 to contribute to the working budget for this year. 98% of all funds raised go directly back into operating the Home. She is also a member of The Austin Womans Club and PEO.

Living at historical Camp Mabry, the National Guard Headquarters of Texas in Austin inspired her to write and present to different club groups a presentation of "A Tribute". This is a small scale production giving tribute to early day Texas women who stood by and gave support to their husbands during the time when Texas was struggling for independence. The production has become popular with Austin clubs such as Daughters of the American Revolution, Garden Clubs, VFW Auxiliary Mid-Winter Round Up and Rotary organizations.
Billie Scott is married to Major General Willie L. Scott, Adjutant General of Texas. They have two children; Aliceson Scott Gaccione who is married to Staff Sergeant Pat J. Gaccione, an Air Force Medic, and Richard White Scott, a student at Baylor University, Waco, Texas.

When General Scott retired Billie began to devote most of her time to the young people at the Settlement Home and she hopes to expand her public speaking interest.

EXTENSION OFFICE NEWS

By Rachel Hall

Upcoming events

January 16-Ozonia, like many small towns, spends a majority of their money out-of-town. The local chamber of commerce and Extension Service are co-sponsoring a consumer survey which concentrates on reasons why people shop out-of-town. Dr. James Mallet, Community Development Specialist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will conduct group interviews. Goals for the survey are to help retailers identify the strengths and weaknesses of their retail goods and services and permit consumers to explain their perception of conducting business in Ozonia.

January 16-The Crockett County Program Building Committee will be meeting at 7:00 p.m. at the County Extension Office Meeting Room to devise long range plans for 1987-1990.

January 20-A 4-H Clothing Planning meeting will be held at 5:30 p.m. at the Extension Office Meeting Room. All leaders and interested persons are encouraged to attend.

Fit For Life classes will begin the first week of February. One hour classes will be held, each Tuesday or Thursday, for twelve weeks. Tentatively, classes will be from 12:00-1:00 p.m. and 5:30-6:30 p.m. provided there is enough interest. (The noon and evening session would provide the same information.)

The "Fit For Life" series is researched based and concentrates on personalizing an individual's total diet and exercise plan. Participants will not be exercising during class time, rather they will be learning about various topics and applying them during the week.

Various topics include: measurement of initial, midpoint, and final percentage body fat, flexibility, and cardiovascular fitness; controlling eating cues; snacking and eating binges; proper exercise methods; low calorie meals; nutrition myths; stress management; positive self concept; slimming with appropriate clothes; eating out; and fad diets.

The "Fit For Life" weight control series is inexpensive, when compared to many commercial programs. There is a $25.00 registration fee-$15.00 will be returned at the conclusion of the series, provided all sessions are attended. A physician's release is required. Call the County Extension Office at 2-2721 for a registration form or more details.

Why Exercise?

A diet without exercise is like a car without an engine--it won't go anywhere.

Aerobic exercise like walking, jogging, swimming or bike riding can mean the difference between effective weight loss and just another failed diet. Here's why.

Exercise drives up your metabolic rate. Have you ever been on a diet and found that your rate of weight loss slows down the longer you diet? That's because the metabolic rate decreases with a diet by 10-15%.

Combining exercise with diet counter-balances the problem by increasing your metabolic rate to burn more calories.

Many people believe that exercise increases the desire to eat, but the researchers don't agree. Studies show a decrease in appetite follows strenuous exercise in most people, especially those who are normally inactive.

Exercise also releases fat into the bloodstream which maintains blood sugar levels. Since a drop in blood sugar stimulates hunger, exercise reduces hunger pangs.

When you exercise, food passes through your intestinal tract much faster. This means a smaller percentage of the day's calories are absorbed.

Exercise also has psychological benefits. It can give you a sense of accomplishment, self-esteem, well-being and self-control. With these positive feelings, the commitment necessary to stay on your diet will be easier to find.

So if you're on a diet or thinking of starting one, put on your walking shoes--you'll get to your weight loss goal a lot faster than you will in a car with no engine.

Ozonia's sister dies in Kansas

Vaccination good control for brucellosis disease

Vaccination continues to be a top priority for control of brucellosis in the Texas brucellosis program, and judging by numbers of calves vaccinated in the past five years, it also is becoming a top management practice for livestock producers.

Major revisions were made in the Texas brucellosis program in 1980 with the emphasis on vaccination. Results are amazing. Vaccinations in fiscal year 1980 totaled 557,888. Vaccinations in fiscal year 1985 totaled 1,353,337. Thus, vaccinations virtually tripled during that time with a 143 percent increase.

Dr. John W. Holcombe, Executive Director, Texas Animal Health Commission, Austin, cited three reasons for the upsurge in vaccinations: acceptance on the part of producers for vaccinations; inclusion of private veterinarians in the Texas brucellosis program; and the use of the reduced dosage of Strain 19 vaccine. "Private veterinarians working with livestock producers have been especially helpful in increasing brucellosis vaccinations, and the use of the reduced dosage of vaccine has been a factor in helping to eliminate false brucellosis reactions which had been a problem with the stronger dose of vaccine," Dr. Holcombe said.

Under range conditions, vaccination can be as much as 95 percent effective. In addition to helping prevent infection, an animal which is vaccinated has more value, and it has more freedom of movement in marketing channels. Vaccination ages for heifers are 4 to 12 months.

Complete information on vaccination may be obtained at any area Texas Animal Health Commission office or the State TAHC office in Austin.

secretary, at a cost of $34,536 per year. Of this amount, the state would make half the funds available, contingent on the availability of funds; the school would assume one-fourth of the liability and the county was asked to assure the remainder. It was also suggested that office space might be available in the clinic offices near the hospital.

Commissioners Chuey Castro and Sostenes DeHoyos motioned and seconded the proposal, but the proposal did not come to a vote, due to the absence of the judge.

Appointment of new hospital board members was also deferred until the next meeting.

Reports from various county departments resulted in advertisements for three county road department employees, due to retirement of one and termination of two. It was also decided to require future employees to submit to a physical examination.

Onesimo Ortiz asked for more mowers for the cemetery and was given permission to purchase two. He also reported that Olive Nursery will be here soon to plant liveoak trees at the cemetery.

In other action concerning the cemetery, Paul Shacklette presented a plat of the new addition. He was told to proceed with the plans. County clerk Debbie Puckett said only two gravesites were available in the existing cemetery. The court set a new policy to sell no more than two lots to one family.

Garland Young gave the civic center report. New members of the board were submitted and approved by the court. They are Camille Jones, Rhonda Yarborough and Frances Denman. Outgoing members are Ann Childress, Jim McCrohan and Felice Guitierrez.

Sherry Scott and Louise LeDoux gave the library report and noted a great increase in those using the library. They also submitted a copy of the Library Journal in which the new Crockett County Public Library was featured. Katherine Russell was appointed to serve out the term of a board member who moved from Ozonia.

Bill Boswell, acting hospital administrator, gave the hospital report and announced the staff would be cut by 10 to 11 employees. He also reported the bed capacity of the hospital would be cut to eight.

Bids for county vehicle insurance were opened at 11 o'clock. The only bid submitted was that of Baggett Agency, at a cost of $22,300. It was approved.

Names were drawn for persons to serve on the grievance committee. They are Oscar Kost, Jonesy Williams and Simplicia Cervantez.

Salaries for election judges and clerks were raised from $4 per hour to $5, and County Treasurer Jim Dudley was given a raise of from $100 to $200 for car allowance, in line with other elected officials.

Members of the court held discussions on several items presented before adjourning around 1 p.m.

Winter driving safety tips

With less daylight hours and more adverse weather conditions ahead, safe driving habits are a must.

Leave enough room between you and the car in front of you to make an emergency lane change. Watch for tail lights of the vehicle two cars in front of you. Be prepared to slow down or stop if necessary.

When waiting at a red light, wait a few seconds before proceeding on a green light. The driver coming through the intersection may be speeding up to beat the red light.

Leave your headlights on low beam when approaching other vehicles at night. If the approaching car has its headlights on bright, glance to the right side of the road and avoid looking directly at the oncoming lights. This will prevent you from becoming momentarily blinded.
