Baseball All-Stars finish season

by T. C. Tucker

Ozona youth baseball ended recently as the Little League and Senior League All-Stars were finally eliminated after better-than-average play.

The Little League All-Stars started well as pitchers Andres De La Garza and Joe Esparza led them to a 5-4 finish over Big Lake.

Their next stop came in the form of an 8-1 victory against Sonora. Manny Munoz pitched the game for Ozona.

Then Pecos stepped in the way and proved too much to handle for Michael Fay and the rest of the Ozona team.

Now only one loss from elimination, Ozona's All-Stars clipped Sonora again, 9-4, behind the pitching of De La Garza and Beto Ramos.

Ozona took on a tough San Angelo team, but kept right up there with them. However, San Angelo stayed out of reach, winning 12-10 and sending Ozona home to stay.

The Senior League All-Stars

opened their season with a high-scoring win over Junction. Lonnie Martinez pitched for Ozona in the 27-16 game.

San Angelo took Ozona to the cleaners in the next game, winning 28-1. Ozona's pitcher for the game was Larry Sanchez.

Pepito Porras and Lee Galan shared the mound in their 11-9 loss to Sonora, thus terminating Ozona's stint in All-Star play.

"Both the teams had a good season," George Ybarra said. "All the teams, from T-ball and up, did a great job this year. Hopefully, we'll have a better season next year as many guys will be back."

Court schedules budget meeting

Crockett County commissioners will meet in called session Wednesday to discuss the budget and propose a tax rate for 1989.

The 1:30 p.m. meeting will be held in the courtroom.

West Texas Days at Six Flags

Six Flags Over Texas has scheduled "West Texas Days" the week of August 8-14.

During the week-long event, all West Texans who enter the amusement park with the specially designed "West Texas Days" coupon will receive a $3 discount on regular one-day tickets. In addition, Six Flags will make a donation to West Texas Rehabilitation Center for every coupon redeemed during "West Texas Days".

Locally, coupons are available at THE OZONA STOCKMAN.

Preccia Miller to promote Texas mohair

by Michael Glaze

Preccia Miller of Sonora will appear in the Ozona National Bank lobby tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. promoting Texas mohair.

The daughter of Mike Miller of Ozona and Nancy Johnson of Sonora and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Miller of Ozona is spending the summer promoting Texas grown mohair products for Jimmy Cahill's Ol' Sonora Trading Company.

"We're proud to have her here," said bank president Don Long in announcing Miss Miller's arrival.

In an effort to convince consumers of the benefits of domestically produced mohair, Miss Miller will be showing finished mohair products made of material grown in Texas and produced entirely in the United States.

Cahill's Ol' Sonora Trading Company turns out an entire line of mohair blankets, throws, and even garments, and is the only label on the market that makes the claim of incorporating Texas mohair and U.S. processing.

According to Cahill, approximately 95% of all mohair grown in Texas

The House Judiciary Committee will have a hearing in San Angelo, focusing on the use of foreign workers on ranches July 29 in San Angelo says Lamar Smith, R-San Antonio.

The hearing will be held in the meeting room of the San Angelo Convention Center between 2:30 and 5 p.m. said Smith, who also is a member of the Judiciary Committee.

The meeting will be open to the public and is expected to include witnesses from the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers, Texas Farm Bureau, Texas Poultry Federation, Associated Milk Producers Inc., and the Texas Cotton Ginners Association.

Cahill has enlisted the help of several young ladies such as Miss Miller, including former Miss U.S.A.

Kim Dutton, to help promote his products and Texas mohair in general.

Miss Miller is a 1988 graduate of Sonora High School and plans to attend Stephens College in Columbia, MO this fall.

Everyone is invited to step by Ozona National Bank and meet Miss Miller.

Preccia Miller, who is featured on the cover of the Ranch Magazine for July, will be at Ozona National Bank Thursday to promote Texas mohair.

Lore Hohertz, 1987 Ozona Youth Rodeo Queen, will crown the 1988 contest winner Friday night, Aug. 5.

This year's contestants are: Missy Bishop, Tamie Reagor and Rita Rios.

Commentary

The following editorial appeared in the June 18th edition of the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM and addresses the problems faced by rural hospitals. It is being reprinted from THE MENARD NEWS.

To a small town, a hospital obviously is a place to treat the sick. But it is so much more than that. Often it is also the only place for emergency care, the center point for home health-care services, the place for preventive health care, the location for well-child clinics.

To a small town, a hospital figures heavily in a community's economic picture, with a payroll and capital improvement and operating expenditures that buoy a local economy. In addition, it can be a major contributing factor in whether industry - with its jobs, taxes and economic diversification - will come to town.

Like a school, a hospital to a small town doubles as a community focal point. With a hospital, a small town not only can offer its citizens the security of medical treatment but essential, community-enhancing social and economic benefits.

If one closes, though, the pain can be profound. Sorely needed medical protection and other services to the community are lost. Doctors often leave town. Other medical personnel are thrown out of work. The elderly, who account for a high percentage of a rural hospital's patients, are left in limbo. Residents are forced to travel many extra miles to obtain quality health care.

Literally and figuratively, then, a hospital closure results in the draining away of a considerable amount of a community's lifeblood. Sadly, that often happens in Texas' rural areas.

Consider:
* In the last four years, more than 30 rural hospitals have closed in Texas.
* Of Texas' 254 counties, 48 have no hospital.
* Of Texas' 528 non-federal hospitals, more than 40 percent are in rural areas.

* Texas' rural hospitals serve a population of 3.2 million - about 20 percent of the state's population.
* A high percentage of rural hospital patients are elderly and are likely to be poor and very ill.

Why do these rural hospitals close? A major reason is that Medicare pays them much less to treat patients than the hospitals' actual costs. Other reasons range from the bankruptcy of private corporations that own some rural hospitals to the failure of local citizens to approve taxes and/or bond money to build and maintain hospitals.

Primarily, the Medicare payment system is at fault. Rural hospitals often receive several hundred and even thousands of dollars less than do hospitals in larger cities for treatment of the same illness. Whereas urban hospitals often receive payments totaling more than their patient costs, rural hospitals often receive payments well below actual cost.

That loss threatens their continued operation and - as has happened more than 30 times in recent years - often puts them out of business. Unless more equity is built into the system, more rural hospitals will close.

Corrective action must come at the federal, state and local levels. On the federal level, Congress must move swiftly and decisively to ensure that Medicare payments more adequately cover rural hospital costs and to find ways to assist the rural hospitals.

The mechanism for doing that is in place, although in embryonic stage, through recently-formed bipartisan coalition of about 50 House members known as the Rural Health Care Coalition. Also, some Senate Finance Committee members from rural states have assisted.

This congressional push has helped, resulting in slight Medicare funding increases to rural hospitals, grant programs and demonstration projects. But greater congressional effort is required, and starting points should include making Medicare payments more equitable and giving subsidies to rural hospitals based upon the percentage of Medicare patients they treat.

Congress should also look closely - as should the state - at claims that sanctions are unfairly imposed on rural doctors.

On the state level, the Legislature must include in its planned tort reform plan some special measures that give greater legal protection to rural hospitals and their physicians. Lawsuits and the threat of lawsuits are driving up their insurance and other costs, causing some rural physicians to abandon certain types of medical practice.

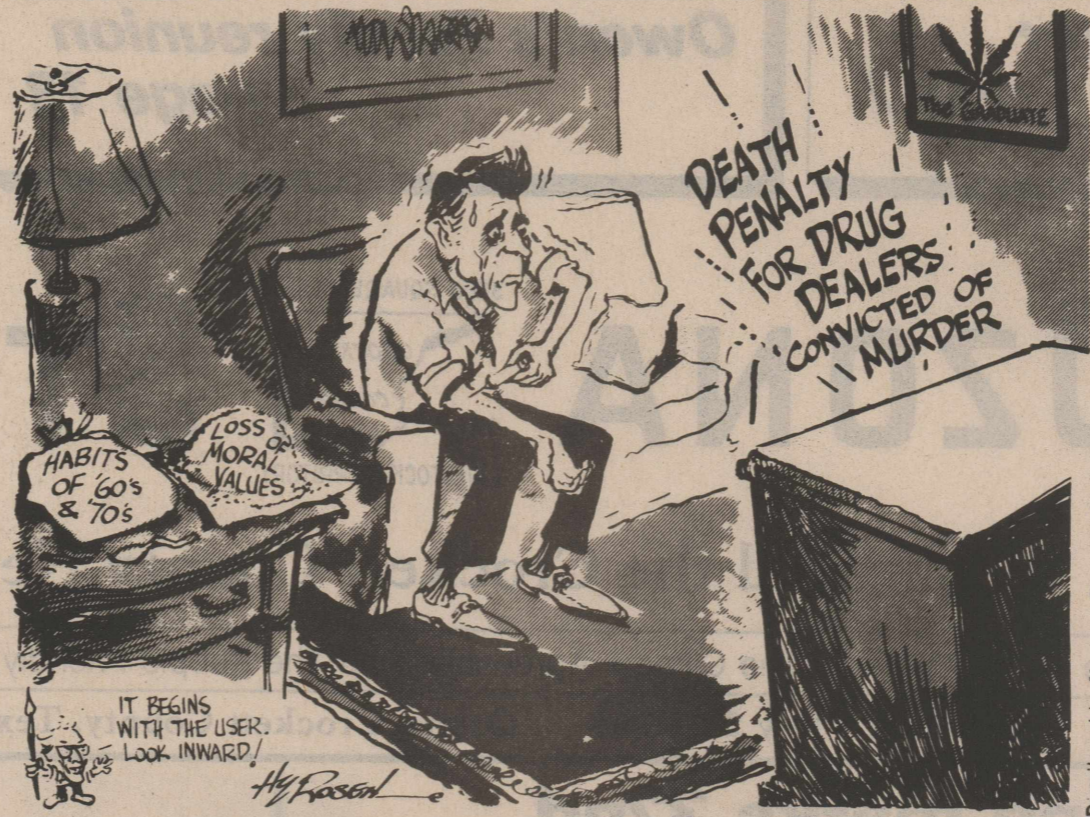

Legislators also should consider special rural nursing education programs that would include no-interest and low-interest tuition loans and grants. In addition, they should re-examine the Medicaid program to determine how its payment system might be changed to assist rural hospitals.

Locally, rural citizens must understand that they have a vested interest in their hospitals and that although some assistance should come from the federal and state treasuries, they are responsible for carrying some share of the load.

Specifically, they must stop rejecting bond proposals designed to finance the construction of new hospitals and/or improving existing hospitals so they meet Medicare and other standards. Too often, citizens turn their backs to needed hospital bond issues and increased hospital taxes and, as a result, hospitals sometimes close.

These are mere starting points. Federal, state and local officials must put them into place and pursue other corrective steps not only to save rural hospitals from the padlock, but also to let them serve more effectively.

For a small town, a hospital is a terrible thing to lose. Just ask a town that has lost one. Unfortunately, that is all too easy to do these days.

WHERE THE DEATH PENALTY BEGINS

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas Democrats were big winners at the national convention, and now eyes turn to the Republican convention scheduled next month in Houston.

In an event that shouldn't be related, but sadly is, Gov. Bill Clements was hospitalized with a slight stroke last week, but reported recovering and in good spirits.

His health is even more pivotal at this time, because of the rule allowing U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen to run for two offices at once.

Should Clements, a Republican, step down from office for any reason, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, a Democrat, would replace him.

That would mean a Democrat, not a Republican, would be able to make the chain-reaction appointments that could result if the Dukakis/Bentsen ticket takes the White House.

Such an event would set the Texas Republican Party back 25 years, a happening about which everyone has some kind of opinion.

Sleaze Factor

San Antonio Congressman Albert Bustamante spoke unkindly of his city's state Sen. Frank Tejeda, after the San Antonio Light printed a transcript of a taped conversation wherein Tejeda was offered money to arrange the awarding of a tax collection contract.

Tejeda himself released the tape of his conversation with former Gov. Mark White aide Lupe Zammaripa, an act Bustamante called "sleazy" for setting up Zammaripa.

Months ago, Tejeda chaired the legislative panel examining alleged misconduct of two Texas Supreme Court justices, a probe which ultimately brought about a court reform movement with a full slate of reform candidates.

Now, word is that Tejeda is no longer welcome in some of the Capitol set's backroom dealings because he cannot be trusted to "protect" his sources. That's right, Tejeda says, those who approach him with sleazy deals shouldn't trust him.

Many Mad Dads

A group of divorced fathers want Atty. Gen. Jim Mattox to take down 500 billboards he put up calling for enforcement of child support payments.

Vaughn field gains producer

The Vaughn multipay field of Crockett County gained a marginal Queen oil producer with completion of Wintershall Corp., Midland, No. 107 Isabei Vaughn, 16 miles northwest of Ozona, to pump .56 barrel of 29.5 gravity oil, plus 70.65 barrels of water.

Production was through perforations at 1,004-420 feet, which had been acidized with 5,950 gallons.

The following tops were picked on ground elevation of 2,624 feet: Queen, 997 feet; Grayburg, 1,224 feet; McElroy, 1,276 feet; and San Andres, 1,303 feet.

It was drilled to 1,658 feet, where 5½-inch casing was set, and plugged back to 1,424 feet.

Location is 2,635 feet from the south and 1,435 feet from the west lines of 86-0P-GC&SF Survey.

The group filed suit in federal court claiming the posters cause breaches between them and their children, discriminate because they don't target women who fail to make payments, and help Mattox's gubernatorial race at their expense.

Mattox's office said probably about 70 percent of those who owe child support payments do not pay.

Lease Ruling Hailed

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro hailed a federal bankruptcy court ruling which sets a precedent allowing the state to repossess oil leases when lease owners do not pay their royalties.

"If they don't pay the rent, we want that lease back so we can put the well back to work for the state," Mauro said.

He said the ruling could affect 100 state-owned oil and gas leases worth $500,000.

Nugent Draws Fire

Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent drew fire for mistakenly reporting speaking fees on his campaign contributions report.

The error angered groups which hired him to speak, but have not endorsed his candidacy. It "gives the wrong impression," a spokesman said.

Nugent said the report should have shown that he donated the honoraria to his campaign.

Consumer Alert

The Public Utility Commission issued a "consumer alert" about alternate phone companies' fraud and price gouging.

These companies operate through exclusive contracts with hotels, hospitals, airports and private pay companies which make commissions on the calls made by guests, patients and other customers.

Other Highlights

• H. Ross Perot, the Dallas millionaire who some say is the most effective Capitol lobbyist, has joined the anti-casino gambling movement, pledging $10,000 to defeat the issue on the Galveston ballot next month.

• Houston attorney William B. Cassin was appointed to the Public Utility Commission, breaking the stalemate that has stymied the three-member board.

• In races for the Texas Supreme Court, former Democratic congressman Jack Hightower raised and spent almost twice as much as Republican Justice Barbara Culver, appointed by Clements.

Dallas Judge Charles Ben Howell, a Republican, has raised zero in his bid against Justice Raul Gonzalez, who spent about $400,000 in the primaries.

• The League of Women Voters is sponsoring a voter sign-up drive that has hired a direct mail company to include millions of cards in their coupon package mailouts.

• Comedienne Lily Tomlin will give an Aug. 19 benefit in Dallas for her good friend, Ann Richards. Tomlin was among those sending congratulations following the treasurer's convention keynote success.

Do you remember?

When several local ranchers imported Prickly Pear eating bugs from Mexico?

In the early 1930's Wayne West and Early Baggett learned that the pear in Mexico was dying from an insect infestation. Upon investigation the bugs were identified. They looked much like the familiar Lady Bugs.

A trade was made for youngsters to gather them in very large quantities.

Mr. West had a screened enclosure built for the back end of a pick-up.

George Harrell joined the enterprise and one afternoon Mr. West arrived at the ranch with his cargo of bugs. Using tin cans the bugs were scooped from the enclosure into cardboard boxes. The amount for each ranch had been pre-determined. The bugs were then distributed where the pear grew the thickest.

Did the pear die? That is still a matter for debate!

Perhaps other ranchers were involved. One story tells that, originally, Mr. Pon Seahorn was most interested in the experiment. But finally he decided that the idea was a bit far-fetched to invest actual dollars in it.

Medina, Vallejo attend Sul Ross orientation

Michael Medina and Melissa Vallejo were among the approximately 125 students and 60 parents attending freshman orientation at Sul Ross State University July 14-15.

Estrella Ortiz accompanied Medina to orientation and attended activities planned for parents.

The orientation session was designed to prepare both incoming students and their parents for the fall semester at Sul Ross. The purpose was to acquaint students with the university, give them a preview of college life and the opportunity to meet other incoming freshmen as well as consult with their major advisor and register for fall classes.

While the students were learning what to expect from college life, parents were learning about university programs, meeting university personnel and learning about financial obligations. The parents were also taken on a tour of the campus and downtown area and served a lunch at the Alpine Country Club.

A dance was held Thursday night on the parking lot of the Graves-Pierce Gym for all those attending orientation as well as those students attending summer school.

The next orientation of new students will take place Aug. 22 from 1-5 p.m. Registration is scheduled for Aug. 23 and 24 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Athletic physicals scheduled for Aug. 3, 10

Seventh, ninth, and eleventh grade students planning to participate in any athletic event for the 1988-89 school year have the opportunity to receive a physical Aug. 3 and 10.

Dr. Marcus Sims will head the Crockett County medical and Ozona High School coaching staffs involved in the operation.

A $5 fee, a bargain compared to individual visits to the doctor, will be expected of each person for the service. If one should miss this opportunity, it will be up to him or her to get a physical in order to participate in athletics.

Boys' physicals will take place on the 3rd at Crockett County Hospital from 4 to 6 P.M. Girls' will follow on the 10th at the same time and place.

Texas From the County Agent's desk
Agricultural Extension Service by Billy Reagor County Extension Agent

Fleas attack during summertime

Fleas attack both man and animals and often become a major problem during the summer months in Texas.

The tiny pests cause annoyance and discomfort and can also spread certain diseases, a major one being bubonic plague.

Adult fleas cause the most problems as they have piercing, sucking mouthparts and suck blood, said Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Adult fleas may live from two months to two years. After each blood meal females lay four to eight eggs, which hatch in two to three weeks. They may deposit as many as 500 eggs in their lifetime.

Flea control may be difficult due to the circumstances under which the pests occur. Home infestations are often discovered a short time after a pet has been taken out of the home. Immature fleas have completed development and, with the absence of the normal host, turn to man for their life-sustaining blood meal.

Satisfactory control of fleas for any length of time depends on these factors:

--Both adult and immature fleas must be eliminated from the home and yard by proper chemical control and sanitation measures, such as replacing infested bedding materials and cleaning carpets and stuffed furniture.

--Pets must be rid of fleas by using registered chemicals. In the case of rat or mice fleas, these hosts must be eliminated.

--Reinfestation must be prevented by protecting pets with flea collars or other preventive chemicals during times of likely infestations.

Chemicals registered for indoor flea control include Baygon, DDVP, dursban, malathion, methoprene, Ronnel and SBP-1382. Use a coarse spray on floors and baseboards, Reagor said. Treat one foot up the walls and under the house where possible. Check product labels prior to use.

Chemicals registered for outdoor flea control include Baygon, Cygon, diazinon, dursban and malathion. Treat animals' bedding or remove and replace with new material. Good coverage is necessary for good control.

To control fleas on host animals, use dursban, lindane or Vapona on dogs and Korlan, Lindane, malathion and Phosmet on cats. Since some of these chemicals have specific restrictions, be sure to read the label prior to use. Some compounds may be harmful to greyhounds and whippets. Do not treat nursing puppies or kittens or animals that are ill, said Reagor.

4-H Field and Stream Project camp-out held

The 4-H Field and Stream Project group held its first camp-out and fishing trip on the Devil's River at Bakers Crossing July 22-24. Some 18 youth and 11 adults participated in the weekend activity.

W.D. Haire and Rod Chalmers coordinated the activity. 4-H members were assigned to adult sponsors who were responsible for the youth. They assisted the youth with camping and fishing activities as well as safety.

Bob Harris and Haire instructed the youth on fishing techniques, tackle, and different kinds of fishing. Chalmers instructed youth on fishing laws and regulations.

Terry and Peggy Dickerson provided the groceries for the camp and Terry was the chief cook. He was assisted by 4-H members on K.P. duty and by leaders and County Agent Billy Reagor.

The purpose of the camp was fun as well as an informative activity. The youth had opportunity to learn more about fishing and camping as well as a greater appreciation for the outdoors and natural resources.

Youth attending were: Christa Chalmers, Martha Mayfield, Tess

Worthington, Cassie Montgomery, Robert Gentry, Derek Puckett, Keith Sessom, Mike Kenison, Erika Kenison, Adrienne Dickerson, Heather Hill, Bonnie Martin, Jeannie Cooper, Shane Cooper, Tom Martin, Clay Harris, Tooter O'Bryant and Brett Sawyer. Leaders were: Rod Chalmers, W.D. Haire, Bob Harris, Helen Kenison, Peggy Dickerson, Ed Martin, Dub O'Bryant, Jamie Sawyer, Terry Dickerson, Billy Reagor and Brice Ulbrich.

How to occupy your children's free time

by Cynthia Harrell Hodges

The thrill of no more classes and plenty of free time to play has been replaced with the "I don't know what to do now itis" in many households this summer.

Vacations have already taken place, relatives have been visited, libraries have often concluded their summer programs, and children, with ever-shortening attention spans have what is commonly known as "I don't have anything to do or anything to play with itis".

The computer age and video games have shortened attention spans, and often led to the need for increased organized activities. Creative fun projects for the entire family can be constructive, educational, and interesting.

Some longtime teachers, mothers and grandmothers have suggestions that can ease a child's boredom without breaking the family bank account.

Susie Harrison, a mother of three and pre-school teacher at the Ozona Community Center, recommends sand and water play for three and four-year-olds. A bucket of water and an old paintbrush are winners, as the toddler paints the sidewalk, the trees, the flowers, the house, a wooden fence and even the driveway.

A second fun activity is the making and baking of mud pies for 30 minutes in a 350 degree oven. The three and four-year-olds will be amazed by the change in the texture of the mud, Mrs. Harrison said.

Nancy Hale at the Crockett County Extension Office offered several creative ideas as well as community involvement. Youngsters can help with garage sales sponsored to benefit the Meals on Wheels program. The library has books on every subject. Siblings can have a reading contest to see who can read the most books during the summer, with the winner receiving the book of his choice to keep. Children can also participate in the upcoming parade preceding the youth rodeo. They can make an item and take it to someone in the nursing home, and even adopt a grandparent.

For the outdoor type, children can collect leaves from various types of grasses and trees. Tracing the bark on a tree can illustrate to young children how a pecan bark differs from a live oak.

An old shoestring and various kinds of pasta can create a lovely necklace to wear, Mrs. Harrison said.

Kitchen activities, such as instant pudding or jello, help children learn about measuring and stirring. Slice and bake cookies provide almost instant tummy filling fun and can be shaped in many fun shapes and sizes.

Boxes from the grocery store provide hours of fun for music teacher Sarah Hignight's children. An old sheet can be hung from the kitchen table to create an instant hideaway and camp out. The worst thing a child can do is stay in front of the television all day, Mrs. Hignight said.

Buttons and thread can provide endless hours of fun for children as they knot, unwind and twist the buttons onto the thread for a necklace or bracelet.

Kathryn Russell, a mother of three, and kindergarten teacher to many throughout the years, recommends homemade modeling clay. A recipe for making your own modeling clay requires:

- 1 cup flour
- 1/2 cup salt
- 3 teaspoons alum
- Vegetable coloring
- Enough water to hold together

Mix as for dough and bread to the consistency of clay. This modeling material will remain soft for weeks if it is kept in a moist cloth.

Modeling clay wrapped in waxed paper and packed attractively in a box and given as a gift will provide many enjoyable hours to the child receiving it.

Another good recipe for summer fun is homemade finger paints:

- 3/4 cup laundry starch
- 1 1/2 cups soap flakes
- Cold water
- 1 quart boiling water

Coloring (cake or frosting colors, bluing or water color paints or poster paint)

Mix the starch with a little cold water. Pour the mixture slowly into one quart of rapidly boiling water. Stir constantly until the mixture thickens; when it cools slightly, add the soap flakes. Stir well. Divide into three or four parts and color each part a different color.

Finger painting is done on a piece of glazed paper of a size that will fit easily on the table. Wet it on both sides, put it down on the table, shiny side up, and smooth out all wrinkles with wet hands. With a spoon put a scant teaspoonful of paint on the paper, and with wet hands smear the paint over the paper, using both hands and a free arm and shoulder motion. Many effects can be obtained with finger, fingernails and fists. When the painting is finished, pull it off the table and hang it up to dry. When dry, the painting may be pressed on the back with a hot iron. Cleaning up afterward should always be a part of finger painting.

A homemade obstacle course for the adventuresome tricycle or bicycle rider can be fun for the entire neighborhood. A broad jump course and a stick lowering contest can be fun for one or more, Mrs. Russell said.

Two creative ideas for car traveling are excellent fun for those six and older. For one word game, children are asked to imagine taking a trip to Savannah for some seashells (this is an example only). Each child must come up with the proper "s" word; for example, shoes in Salem. Each letter of the alphabet can be used, Mrs. Russell explained.

A second more complicated version emphasizes the ending letter in a city, like Pittsburgh. The child would have to think of a place that started with the "H" in Pittsburgh. The younger children can think of any word that starts with an H.

Summertime activities also can include old unmatched socks, from which the toes can be removed, and string tied across the middle to create the child's puppet of choice. Paper bags from the grocery store can be used to make faces.

The only limits to the "I don't have anything to do itis" are a child and parents' own imagination, an early bedtime, or an escape to the swimming pool for some wet water fun.

Attention K-Mart shoppers

Dear J.C. Penney,

My deepest regrets, I had always assumed your name lacked the last e and proceeded to mention this in my recent article. Newspaper offers look into past. Following the article's publication came the knowledge that you continued to spell your name with that e and looked forward to doing so in the future... unless of course, I damaged your name beyond repair and you sink into bankruptcy. (Egads! That would leave Wal-Mart and Sears alone at the top.) If you have financial troubles due to my stumble, don't hesitate to seek help at the address listed below. Again, I express my apologies to any I have hurt.

Sincerely,
T.C. Tucker

A 41-year-old Earnest Tubb and the Texas Troubadours song book which was personally presented by my father, Joe Campbell, for his help during a performance in El Cajon, CA was the object of Monday morning's show and tell. Some of the residents stated they could remember when Earnest Tubb used to come to San Angelo to perform.

A meeting of the Crockett County Hospital and Care Center Auxiliary was called to order by president Glenda Henderson Monday afternoon. A report on the success of the barbecue fund raiser was given by treasurer Ruth Hester and chairman Jo Davidson. Several new projects were discussed, and the auxiliary was happy to welcome Jane Childress and Helen White as new members.

Emma Taylor was the special prize winner of an El Chato's gift certificate in Tuesday morning's bingo. She was the first to cover the numbers on all four corners. Other prize winners were: Alice Ross, Nellie Harp, Lucia Rios, Theo Burns, Manuela Perez, Minnie Karr and Virginia Hoover. Helpful volunteers were: Stacy Winkley, Mattie Cooper, Sophie Kyle and her grandson, Jay Alexander, who was visiting from Abilene. Bingo was followed by a van outing to El Chato's for lunch. Residents were well pleased with the friendly service and delicious food. We would like to thank El Chato's for their generosity.

A short but well-correlated film titled "America" was shown Tuesday afternoon. The music and scenery were impressive. We would like to thank the Crockett County Public Library for the splendid selection.

A performance by the Bob Bell Band topped off the day's activities in a lively manner. Band members present were: Jim Wilson, Bob Bell, George Hester and Jamie Knox. The music was great. Much to the residents' delight, Janet Wilson brought her dog, Allie, wearing a blue bandana, and a baby opossum. This was the second time the residents had the opportunity to see the opossum, and they could hardly believe how much it had grown in just two weeks.

Oriental figurines were among the pieces worked on in Wednesday morning's ceramic workshop. Volunteers being kept busy were Ruth Hester and Stacy Winkley. Residents attending the workshop were: Theo Burns, Hazel McDaniel, Moriana Perez, Ethel Youngblood, Consuelo Sarabia and Juana Hernandez.

Residents were greeted by the smiling faces of beauty shop volunteers, Vivian Hughes, Joann Williamson, Martha Tijerina, Yolanda Avila and Audrey Smith Thursday morning. These ladies' weekly visits are always looked forward to.

Good ole ragtime piano music sounded throughout the care center halls Thursday afternoon, thanks to Muriel Gillit's talents. Muriel's playing inspired residents to join together in a sing-a-long. They agreed they could listen to her play for hours.

Mass was conducted by Rev. Bill

Du Buisson during the Spanish Hour of Praise Thursday afternoon. Visitors and Spanish speaking residents sang hymns while Alicia Perez and Herberto Gutierrez played guitars.

Eva Dean was Friday morning's big bingo winner. She won two of the special games played and won a polished pink stone necklace and a miniature rose pin for her efforts. Other winners included: Harry Blatchford, Manuela Perez, Moriana Perez and Bertha Miller. Volunteers Yolanda Avila and Stacy Winkley assisted residents with their cards and served popcorn. Thank you, ladies.

The latest technique in designer T-shirts was demonstrated by Rebba Houston and Tina Holmsley Friday afternoon. Residents were fascinated and followed the process step by step with an active interest. A lot of questions were asked to which Rebba took ample time to answer. We would like to thank Rebba and Tina for showing us how to create a stylish piece of clothing of such beauty.

Sunday's worship service was presented by Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church.

Visiting Mary and Len Hillman this week are her daughter and grandsons, Karen Freeman, Dennis Jr. and James of Alvin.

Delayed retirement means bigger checks

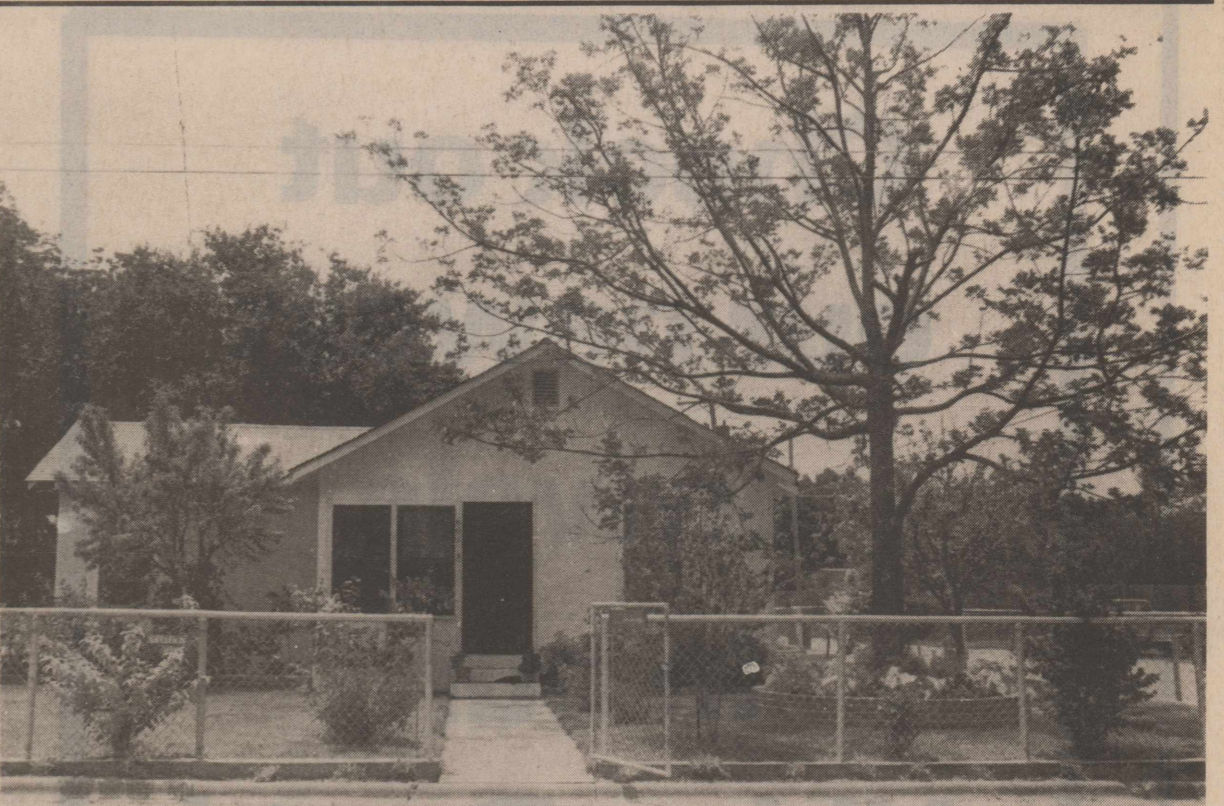

People who are approaching 65 and who do not plan to retire should be aware that their Social Security check will be larger when they finally do apply for it, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

The reason is because of "delayed retirement credit". This credit increases a person's retirement checks for each month he or she does not get a benefit after 65 and before 70. The credit adds 1/4 percent for each month--3 percent for each full year--a person does not get a check because of work. It also applies to widows and widowers benefits. The credit will gradually increase to 8 percent a year between 1990 and 2009.

In addition to these credits, a person's earnings after 65 may also result in a larger check than would have been payable at 65.

Of course, Upp said, a person who starts getting checks at 65 can still work and earn a significant amount before his or her benefits are affected. In 1988, people 65 through 69 can earn $8,400 and still get benefits for all of the year. There is no limit for people 70 and older.

If earnings go above $8,400, then $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above this amount. This annual exempt amount will increase automatically to keep with pace with increases in average wages. The exempt amount for people under 65 is $6,120 for 1988.

People who are working and estimated they would not earn more than the exempt amount should make sure the estimate is still accurate. Any change in a person's estimate should be reported to Social Security, Upp said.

Ode to New Mothers and Fathers

REMEMBER WHEN:

A good night's sleep meant no one crying late at night for food; there were no diapers to change; laundry was a once-a-week affair; toys weren't found in every corner of the house; a car seat didn't occupy all of the front or back seat.

REMEMBER WHEN:

There were no tugs at your pants' leg or skirt by a little one trying to stand up; there was no "lizard" scouting along the floor, opening doors to cabinets containing who ever knows what. A small purse was all you needed; the grocery aisle getting your first attention didn't feature baby food, diapers, wipes and bottles.

REMEMBER WHEN:

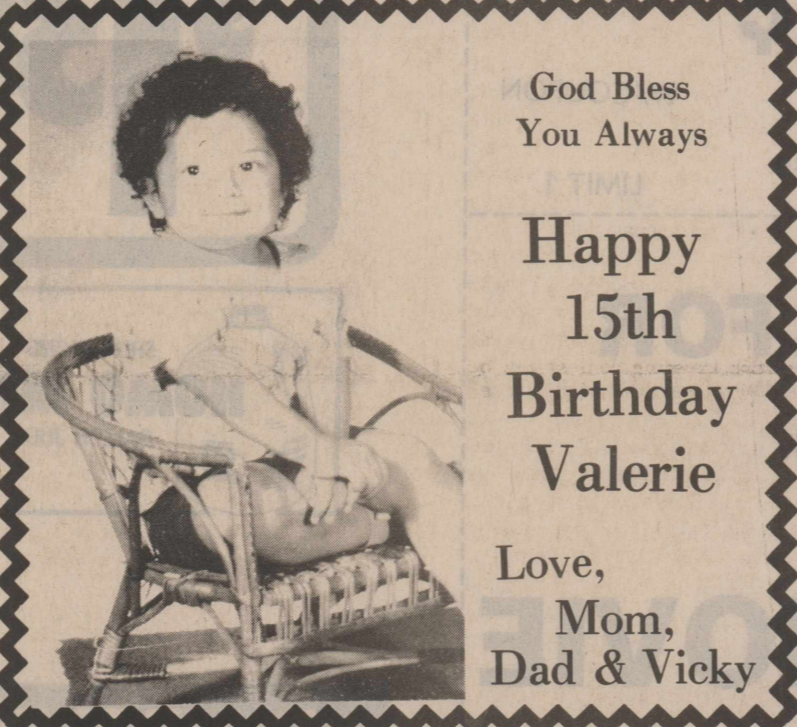

Shopping could be done at a leisurely pace; you didn't have to leave church because a little one cries; no one looked adoringly at you and said more with his eyes and actions than words could ever express; no one sat on your shoulders for a better view and some aerial reconnaissance.

REMEMBER WHEN:

The stroller held packages and you held the little one so he (or she) wouldn't cry; the first little steps were met with several kerplows and kabooms; the first tooth made a plunking sound after several sleepless nights due to teething; how your whole world changed with a little one's birth.

Walk by faith, not by sight

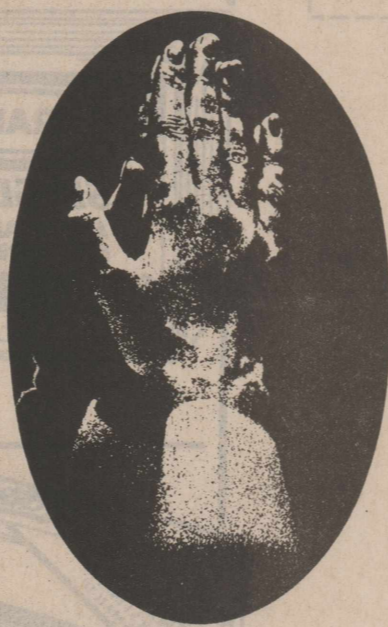

by Rev. Nowell Allen

Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

We walk by faith, not by sight. We faint not; but through our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day. For our light affliction which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory: while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal. An inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you.

MOONWALK: Michael Jackson Glove and All

Before I even opened Michael Jackson's supposedly revealing autobiography, Moonwalk, I already had my mind full of negative criticism to dish out in this column. But, I convinced myself to give the book a fair reading.

Almost three hundred pages later, I have one thing in mind: neither Jackson or Bill Cosby are literarily talented. They are, however, great storytellers, and Jackson uses a storyteller's voice in his book in an attempt to shed light on his personal life through the years of Jackson 5, Thriller, Bad and the future.

This book may be an autobiography, but it is far from a confession. Jackson never really gives an outright answer to suspicions surrounding his life. He claims he never had any plastic surgery except on his nose and to add a cleft chin. As for bleaching or peeling his skin to make him appear more white, Jackson replies by asking why should man alter what God gave him. That seems nice enough but does little except enhance the speculation that has always followed him. Perhaps he likes it this way. A mysterious lifestyle helps record sales.

But the 29-year-old Jackson has not always aroused as much attention. Twenty-five years ago, he joined his brothers in forming the Jackson 5 and took on the role as main singer. Jackson relates the hard work and time they spent accomplishing goal after goal, finally securing a deal with Motown that led them to the top of the charts.

He continues in describing his creative drive that led him to make his own album, Off the Wall, and later, pursue a full-time solo career after the Jacksons' final album, Victory, and tour in 1984.

In between those two excursions came the grabber. Selling some 40 million copies, Thriller, made Jackson known clear-round the world, but at the same time, removed him farther away as well.

Finally, he talks of his latest work, Bad, and ends the book by taking a stint at the podium. All through the book he gives his opinion on certain subjects, especially criticizing the press for their hounding of him and other celebrities. While at the podium, Jackson gives his reason for his work: the children. He proclaimed this earlier in a final statement to the press before the beginning of his recent world tour and mentions it again as the book closes.

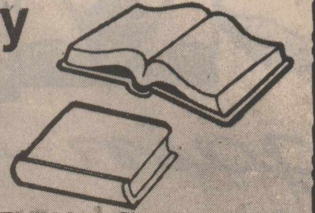

As I mentioned earlier, Jackson tells his story as if he were sitting across the table from you. Though it may sound more personal, in written form it causes unnecessary bumps and detours and takes some getting used to - about 200 pages worth - and by then the book's near completion.

And again this book will not serve as reference material. It is simply a conservative account that will provide just enough to wet the fans' thirst and keep 'em around for more...like the next album.

Sylvia Yuregas was first place winner of the 6 to 10-year-old reading group at CCPL this summer. She received a certificate for perfect attendance and reading 19 books from program chairman Lisa Wagoner.

NEW SUMMER HOURS

Monday - Friday, 9 a.m. to 12 p.m., 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

CHILDREN'S SUMMER PROGRAMS

Summer Story Hour ended for another year at the library Monday. Mrs. Lisa Wagoner, children's chairman, handed out certificates to nearly 110 children attending the summer programs. Winners of the summer reading contest, "Trailblazers, Stargazers", in the six to 10-year-old group were Sylvia Yuregas in first place, reading 19 books with perfect attendance each week, and Kristina Cantu and Loretta Stewart in a tie for second place, reading 14 books each.

In the three to five-year-old group, Yvonne Fay and Charlene Yuregas tied for first place, each reading 18 books with perfect attendance. There was also a tie for second place between Mida Fay, reading 16 books with perfect attendance, and Casey Miller reading 16 books.

Congratulations to our 1988 winners and to all the kids who enjoyed blazing new trails at the library this summer.

A big thank you goes out to Mrs. Lisa Wagoner for all her time and effort in making the story hour such a big success. Mrs. Wagoner is truly a "Friend of the Library" and of all the kids enriched this summer by her efforts. Thanks, Lisa.

sponsored by the Concho Valley Council of Governments in San Angelo. Under Public Law 97-300 authorizing the Job Training Partnership Act, programs are established to prepare youth and unskilled adults for entry into the labor force and to afford job training to those economically disadvantaged individuals facing serious barriers to employment. It is a federally funded program and is available to any employer willing to train young people.

The program has worked out very well for the library because extra help is needed in the summer with the children's programs. Polly and Amanda were both a big help with the kids and with all the different jobs in the library.

Thanks, Amanada and Polly.

Owen's family reunion in Barnhart

Descendants of Clint Owens Sr. and his wife, Ansa Belle Owens, gathered in Barnhart Saturday, July 2, for a family reunion. They met in the Barnhart Community Center with 140 people registered. A barbecue dinner was served and visiting was enjoyed by all.

The Clint Owens family traveled to the Barnhart area in a covered wagon in 1889 from Hamilton County.

The family settled on land about eight miles south of Barnhart where they raised 10 children, six sons and four daughters. The sons all ranched within a 100 mile vicinity of Barnhart. Bode G. Owens Sr. is the only one still living, and still lives in the house where he was born. The other sons were: Wilse Owens of Sheffield, Mitch Owens of Rankin, Tom Owens of Big Lake, Clint Owens Jr. of Sheffield and Bob Owens of San Angelo.

Daughters included Mrs. D. L. McAuley of Muskogee, OK, Mrs. T. E. Autrey of Alpine, Mrs. H. A.

Porter of Austin and Mrs. G. A. Sprague of San Angelo, all deceased.

In May of 1899, Wilse Owens married Tinie Miller of Ozona. Soon after the wedding they bought a ranch on Live Oak Creek in western Crockett County where their grandson, W.W. "Amos" Owens, and his wife live today. Wilse and Tinie had two sons, Jeff of Ozona, and Claude of Fort Stockton.

Descendants of Wilse and Tinie who attended the reunion were: Jeff and Laura Owens of Ozona, W.W. "Amos" and Jean Owens, James, Cindy and Dawson Owens, Bill, Linda Sue, Brandi and Chey-Anne Gage, Jim and Wanda Watts, Kay Watts and Russ Huckaby, all of Iraan, and Claude and Norene Owens of Fort Stockton.

The oldest family member attending was Mrs. Tom Owens, 93, of Big Lake, and the youngest were her great-grandchildren, two-month old twins of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Lide of Andrews.

Eight of the 10 families of the sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Owens Sr. were represented at the family reunion.
