

BAIRD NOW HAS A REAL CREAMERY TO SERVE ITS PATRONS

After several weeks delay the organization of a local stock company has been completed and sufficient capital paid to assure the successful operation of the local creamery. A few months ago it became apparent that it was necessary to add additional capital to conduct the business as conditions justified. Local citizens were favorable towards organizing a stock company, buying the creamery and giving the people of Baird the best dairy products obtainable. After investigating the situation the Chamber of Commerce took up the proposition and assisted in working out the organization of the company. The result is that Baird now has a local industry that deserves the patronage of the entire citizenship of the town. The Baird Creamery Company is an organization financed, controlled and operated by local citizens, it is financially able to properly handle the business, sufficient equipment for present operations is owned by the company and as the business increases additional equipment will be installed. The directors of the organization are Joe Glover, L. L. Blackburn, W. S. Hinds, V. F. Jones and Ode Berry. Mr. Glover has been elected President and general manager, Mr. Blackburn, Vice Pres., and Mr. Hinds is Sec'y and Treas.

The people of Baird who are interested in the growth and progress of their town should always remember that their patronage is necessary for the successful operation of local industries. Demand Baird products and give those, who are trying to help build a bigger and better town, a chance.

STEAL YEARLING

Cattle thieving appears to be the quickest way to get some easy money, or it seemed that way to two men who stole a yearling from H. G. Ingram three miles southeast of Cottonwood, according to reports from that community on Wednesday night. Two unknown men drove up to the Ingram farm and driving around to his cow pen in a Dodge touring car with a trailer behind loading on a yearling that weighed about five hundred pounds, coming from on the main road toward Putnam, meeting Ode Johnston about three miles this side of Cottonwood in a wagon and in the ditch at the side of the road. Johnston offered aid, which was refused and this aroused his suspicion that the yearling may have been stolen. Going on to Cottonwood, where he reported the incident and deputy sheriff Jess Sparks was immediately notified and together with sheriff Hughes and deputy Peterson met at Putnam, where they took up chase, being about two or three hours behind the car which was trailed to Breckenridge, but lost trace of the men and but lost trace of the men and found the yearling tied in the bed of a creek near that city. The yearling was returned to the owner.—Putnam News.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Brightwell, and daughter, Miss Berna Louise, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McFarlane, have returned from a ten days trip to Galveston.

Miss Francis Vestal, who is the efficient assistant to Sec. James C. Ashbury, of the Baird Chamber of Commerce, is visiting friends in Big Spring this week.

Dr. W. M. York, accompanied by his wife and son, arrived in Baird Wednesday morning from their home in Huntington W. Va. Dr. York spent several months here last winter but called home in February on business matters. He expected to return to Baird within a few weeks, but winding up his business affairs there has kept him there the past six months. We welcome the doctor and his family.

On Thursday night of last week thieves entered the Ray Motor Co. by breaking the fastening on the rear door of the work shop and took $10.00 from the cash drawer and some few other articles. ### T. AND P. TO BUY WATER FROM CISCO

The Texas and Pacific railroad is making arrangements to secure water from Lake Cisco to augment the supplies available at Dothan and Baird. The water will be loaded into tank cars at the rack located just north of the freight station in Cisco and shipped to Baird for use in the locomotives of the road.

About 100,000 gallons daily will be required by the railroad. At Baird a supply for about 20 days is now on hand and a similar amount is available at Dothan. About 500,000 gallons daily is used at the division point for the locomotives.

Last summer the Texas and Pacific used 1,000 cars of water from Lake Cisco. About 10 cars daily will be required this summer. Use of the water from Cisco will begin within the next 15 or 20 days.

Cisco water, because of its low mineral content, has been found very satisfactory for use in locomotive boilers.

HIGHWAY CREW MAKE RECORD

C. M. Dunn, Maintenance Supt. in this district on State Highway No. 1 established what is believed to be a record, in putting on what is known as "seal topping." Last week under his supervision the 8.4 miles of Highway No. 1 from Clyde west to the Taylor county line was re-surfaced with the final topping in 26 working hours.

This final coat had never been applied to the road west of Clyde and now puts that part of the Highway in fine condition. Mr. Dunn has some excellent work in keeping the highways in his territory in proper condition and the above record adds to his accomplishments.

CHURCHES TO SET ASIDE NEW MONEY

Chicago—At the suggestion of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America church members throughout the country have been asked to dedicate out of the new currency recently issued by the United States government, the first new bill received by setting it aside for the mission work of the churches.

In many churches there will be a service for the dedication of the new money on Sunday, September 8. The Federal Council is also recommending that a timely message be given by the preachers of the country on the Christen use of material possessions.

The suggestion was originally made by Dr. Ralph A. Ward, executive secretary of the World service of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

NEW GAS LAW EXPLAINED

The State Comptroller's Department is now prepared to receive reports of exemptions from the new four-cent occupation tax on the sale of gasoline, according to an announcement by State Comptroller of Public Accounts Sam Houston Terrell. Gasoline used for any other purpose than that of propelling vehicles on public roads, streets and highways of Texas is exempt from taxation. Fuel used in farm tractors, stationary engines, aircraft and motor boats, therefore, is exempt.

However, the tax must be paid on ALL gasoline. Refunds will be made to those exempt. The tax is placed directly on wholesale distributors of gasoline at the rate of four cents per gallon, but the consumer eventually bears the burden of the tax. The new rate was in effect July 16th, having previously been two cents.

The new law does not make it easy for the consumer to secure refunds on exemptions. Comptroller Terrell has outlined the necessary procedure for the exempted consumer as follows:

1. The purchaser must fill out an invoice, at the time of the purchase, giving amount price, purpose, etc. The regular price is paid for the gas. Forms will be supplied by dealers and filling stations.
2. Before the 25th of the month following the month of purchase, the buyer must report to the Comptroller the number of gallons bought and the amount of refunds expected. Claims reported later than the 25th of the following month will not be honored.
3. On receiving the report, the Comptroller's Department will mail the claimant an affidavit-account form, on which will be recorded information as to the amount and use of gasoline purchased. This information must be sworn to before a notary public, and filed with the Comptroller not later than two months from the date of purchase. This document must be accompanied with filing fee of $1.00, which must be paid each time that a claim is filed. These fees will be used to enforce the law.
4. The claim will be investigated, and if considered valid, a State warrant will be issued for the refund. This warrant must be cashed within 60 days.
5. No refund shall be made where gasoline is used later than six months from purchase.

Persons believing themselves to be entitled to exemptions should write to Comptroller Sam Houston Terrell, Austin, Texas.

TO HAVE RODEO EACH MONTH

Putnam has staged several very successful Rodeos lately. The last one held on Saturday, July 13, was so well attended the crowd being estimated at 1800 people and the Putnam News says the business men of Putnam are so well pleased with the results that they will sponsor a Rodeo once each month.

This is done that the people who visit Putnam will be highly entertained, and to create a closer contact with the surrounding trade territory. The merchants of Putnam offer special money saving prices that can't be beaten in other towns on Saturdays, as well as the added inducement of the Saturday drawings and the rodeos, people are flocking to town every Saturday, rubbing elbows and shaking hands with friends, and enjoying the day thoroughly.

The Rodeo is held on the Square and some fancy riding, roping is to be seen. Cash prizes are given the winners in these events.

ELECTRICITY APPLICABLE TO 150 FARM USES SAYS A.S.A.E.

Electricity is applicable to 150 uses on the farm, according to the American Society of Agricultural Engineers in session recently at Dallas. The largest development so far has been in refrigeration incident to dairy and poultry products, the discussion brought out, but electric lights for household purposes and for trapping and killing insects are also coming widely into use on farms, with current also in growing use for poultry hatching and brooding. In seventeen states more than 10 per cent of the farm homes are connected with central power plants and more than 500,000 farm homes in America are using electricity, according to speakers at the session. In Texas slightly more than 1 per cent of the farm homes are being served from central plants, but the number has been growing at a very rapid rate over the past couple of years.

FORMER PASTOR VISITS IN BAIRD

Peebles, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church here, who is now pastor at Millport Ohio, where he has been for the past eight years, accompanied by Mrs. Peebles and their daughter, Ruth, now Mrs. Dozier, of Colorado, visited old friends in Baird Saturday and on Sunday night. Rev. Peebles preached to a large crowd at the Methodist church. All other churches cancelling their services for that night so all could attend Bro. Peebles was a pastor here for six years, where he and his family have many warm friends.

Rev. and Mrs. Peebles and Mrs. Dozier, were guests in the Earl Bell and R. L. Elliott homes while here. They have been visiting their daughter in Colorado for some time and will leave this week for their home in Ohio.

CLYDE SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

At a meeting of the trustees of Clyde Independence School District Monday night, July 15th, a petition presented by L. H. Tyler and others asking that the board order an election to vote $25,000.00 bonds for the purpose of rebuilding the school building which was destroyed by fire last week. The election was ordered to be held on Wednesday, August 7th. On this same date there will also be an election to vote on the proposition of a $1.00 tax on the $1000.00 valuation instead of the 86 cent tax now in effect.

The trustees and interested citizens are working out plans for a building to meet the needs of the school at a cost the district can afford to pay.

The $14,700.00 bonds now on the district will be retained. If the $25,000.00 issue carries that will make a total of $39,700.00 for the building and equipment. The equipment will cost approximately $7,000.00.

A building consisting of twelve class rooms, an auditorium, toilets, library, book room laboratory, office room and other features are contemplated.

GASSER GIVES EXTENSION IN MORAN FIELD

MORAN, July 23.—The Moran gas field received a mile extension this week when the Brook's No. 2 came in making 16,109,000 cubic feet of rich gas. The sand was drilled into at a depth of 2137 feet.

The Lone Star Gas company is developing this field, having four rigs running continuously. Six wells have been drilled, all big gasers, and most of them are producing some oil. The Brook's No. 2 is the largest gasser, however, is the biggest gas well drilled in previously made ten million feet of gas. The Brook's No. 2 is one mile east of the Elliott No. 1, drilled in last summer, and opens up a large tract of new territory, most of which is leased by the Lone Star company, or Chestnut & Smith.

LEASING IS ACTIVE

The Lone Star and other large companies are leasing land in that field, the Lone Star having a strip from the Elliott & Brooks leases to the Ibbex field. The Lone Star recently took over the Mody gasoline plant, where they extract the gasoline. The plant is located on Dyer lease.

The finding of the 2200 foot sand in that territory has created quite a bit of excitement in this field, as the other wells in that territory are found at 3200 and 3350 feet. The Moran sand is producing much more gas than the deeper sands, which makes the wells more attractive as the expense of drilling is smaller.

These wells are located in section 54, Stephens county, and are six miles due east of Moran.

Producing Long Time

The 2200 foot Moran sand was the first sand found in the Moran field, and some wells have been producing from that depth 15 or 16 years. The old Tarrant-Cloud well, one mile west of town, is still producing, and has produced more than one million barrels of oil during the 16 years of its life. The well was cleaned out two years ago and made 80 barrels per day. Other 2200 foot wells are producing gas and oil on all sides of town.

The Hicoek Production company has drilled several wells in the Moran field in the past year, drilling on the Henry and Charles Compton ranches nine miles north-east of Moran. This company recently took over the lease on the R. A. Elliott place and are clearing out a well on that property. The well was shot last week, and will make a nice producer from the 3200 foot depth.

IN this thrilling and beautiful romance of the great Klondike gold rush, Mr. Service has re-created in prose much of the vividness and charm of his poetry—his "Spell of the Yukon," "Songs of a Sourdough," etc. It is intense in its interest and compelling in its appeal.

Will Appear in Serial Installments

Romance of and in the Klondike

The poet has turned novelist. In clear and fascinating prose Robert W. Service tells the story of the Northland with no less felicity than he displayed in "The Spell of the Yukon," "Songs of a Sourdough," and other poems. Behind the text one still discerns the poet, working with materials of romance and adventure, even though the style is confined to straight narrative.

It is a love story of unusually compelling interest placed amid the wild scenes, the roughness, perils, courage and daring of the stampede of '98, that exhibition of gold-madness the like of which was never witnessed before and probably never will be again.

History by One Who Helped Make It

The author was in the thick of it all and his faithful account is that of one who participated, not an idle onlooker. He pictures the steamships with their polyglot, assorted, human cargoes, the rigors and tragedies of the rough-hewn trail, the trip by makeshift boats through unknown lakes and streams nearly to the shadow of the Arctic Circle; finally to the point that was Dawson, destined in a few weeks to be a mushroom metropolis—a capital of adventure and licentiousness—a place for the fruition or the burying of hopes, according as luck treated each argonaut.

The story centers at Dawson, during the several years of the excitement, with side trips and colorful adventures throughout the tributary regions and even beyond the Circle into the Arctic wastes. It is huge in its portrayal of the epic gamble wherein men and women staked their money, their health and even their lives in a chance that was 100 to 1, or more, against them.

Drama of Love on Nature's Stage

The love interest must of needs be great to measure up to the mighty setting, but Mr. Service has supplied it. Neither the hero nor the heroine are of conventional mold—the conventional types of romantic fiction would merely weaken the narrative; so the author has provided two lovers and a love story decidedly removed from ordinary, the heroine especially being of a type strangely psychological and uncommonly appealing.

Jackson, president of the state exposition. A new Livestock Coliseum with an arena 100 by 168 feet and a seating capacity of 6,000 is now under construction.

1913 CHEVROLET CAR STILL GOING GOOD

San Antonio, Texas, July 22.—A Chevrolet with a chassis built in 1913, a full year before the World War began, and a motor that was assembled when our doughboys were encamping back in 1917, is still in daily use at Goliad, Texas. It is called "Spark Plug" by its proud owner, Hugo Wilks, and of the millions of Chevrolets in use today on both hemispheres it is perhaps the oldest.

True, the 1929 Chevrolet with its smooth six cylinder motor can out-climb, out-speed and out-haul it. True, too, that "Spark Plug" appears a bit antediluvian when contrasted with the handsome new Fisher bodies of the 1929 Chevrolet. But "Spark Plug" can do plenty of climbing, speeding and hauling on its own account and is beyond question an outstanding example of a long-lived and dependable automobile.

On several occasions Wilks has hitched a trailer to "Spark Plug" and pulled a load of 2,000 pounds, plus 815 pounds which the trailer weighs, all the way to San Antonio, 125 miles distant.

Not long ago he piled it high with a 1515 pound load of cotton bales and drove it through a dry creek bed—a road which no other driver in the section would dare traverse in a modern car. Many times he has driven it with water up to the floor boards.

No hill in the section is too tough for "Spark Plug", and Wilks says that it is sufficiently economical, continuing to give as good as 20 miles to the gallon.

One objection, however, is lodged against it by Wilks and this is a friendly one. It is his complaint against the crowds which his car invariably attracts when he drives it into San Antonio.

"Spark Plug" had many owners—eight to be exact—before Wilks purchased it from the Voght Chevrolet Company of Schulenberg, Texas, nine years ago. For four years he got splendid service from the 1913 motor which might yet be engaged beneath the 1913 hood but for an accident which occurred five years ago.

At that time a 1917 Chevrolet owned by one Wilks' brothers caught fire and its chassis was destroyed. The motor was unharmed so it was decided to give "Spark Plug's" original motor a well deserved rest and substitute the newer one.

"Spark Plug's" total mileage is indeterminate. Since Wilks has it, three speedometers have been in use. One registered 75,000 miles, the second 60,000 and the present one has run up 15,000.

The total repair bill during Wilks' nine years ownership has been $150. In this connection, however, it might be stated that Wilks does all his own repairing. Recently 15 new rings were placed in the car and other minor adjustments made.

All of the Winkles are mechanically inclined and all prefer the Chevrolet. The father of "Spark Plug's" owner has had four Chevrolets. One of the brothers is still driving a 1917 model and another brother has a 1924 model.

A menagerie, showing more wild animals than any traveling unit of its kind in the world, will be one of the features of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus at the 1929 State Fair of Texas at Dallas.

A. M. Bourland, president of the WTCC took up his duties as Manager of the regional organization Monday upon his return from the motorcade. H. J. Adair heads the Publicity department and will have charge of the August issue of West Texas Today.

W. T. Johnson of San Antonio, producer of the rodeo has signed a contract to take his rodeo animals to New York following the State Fair.

THE BRIDGE OF SIGHS

Recently a very rich and nationally-known citizen was sentenced to serve a term in jail, and was finally placed there that justice might prevail over all. Just what the offense was, that brought this punishment, does not concern me particularly. Guilt must be assumed if proven beyond doubt. I did notice that the term of imprisonment was comparatively short.

Almost at the same time, a poor old washerwoman, living in a great city near me, was arrested "with the goods on her." She had, in her squalid apartment, something like a gallon of corn whiskey; she admitted dispensing this liquid from time to time, in order to ease the financial going; she was 81, and not able to turn out washing as in her younger years.

Recent enactments made hers an almost capital offense. The jurors, kind and heartfelt men, were puzzled; had this very old woman exerted her utmost strength, she could not have done much harm to anybody, by reason of her senility. But she was a violator of law, and knew she was doing wrong at the time. If I do not forget, she drew six months imprisonment.
She went to jail defiant.

A question as to the justice of the law arises, but it should not.
There is no extenuation in violation of law by rich or poor, young or old. The so-called crime wave is appalling; the law must be stern and prevail—or, fall down in its impotence. It must not fall down.
Age and condition are no excuse for crime. Ignorance and self-will are the causes of most violations of law. Even poverty does not justify a man or woman to rob, or to enter into unlawful commerce.

It never pays, even to violate an unreasonable law. Such laws are not done away with by that method. Enlightenment brings about better conditions, ignorance and crime never. I wish we could think of Americans as a happy law-abiding people. We can only realize this, when our people universally work for it.—Dr. John Joseph Gaines in Heart to Heart Talk.

BUILT FOR SAFETY

Modern automobiles, in all price classes, are being toward safer operation. Four-wheel brakes, nonshatterable glass and all-steel bodies give invaluable protection against serious accidents.

In this age of traffic congestion,
high speed and careless drivers that clutter the highways, no construction other than the best and safest should satisfy the wise motorist.

Clinton F. Berry, Vice president of the Union Trust Company of Detroit, Michigan, says:

That today is the day of unsurpassed opportunities! The old idea that an "opportunity" was a chance to buy as cheaply as possible and sell at the highest price obtainable, is fast going into the discard.

Today, the greatest opportunities exist for those who take something of service to mankind and develop it on such a scale that its cost is reduced and its price lowered, thereby making it available to an ever widening circle of users.
Such a reversal of concepts has widened our boundaries immeasurably. "Inevitable saturation points vanish into thin air; new and vastly improved ways of doing things reduce costs—but not wages; new inventions pass with amazing rapidity from the stage of luxury to that of necessity; cooperation is being found to be vastly more economical than senseless, cutthroat competition; the light of knowledge is found to be essential to scale the heights of achievement.

But, in the complex structure of our modern civilization, where dependence on the efforts of one another is essential and inevitable,
the eternal verities remain unchanged. The lasting nature of an opportunity or business depends more than ever before, upon confidence, integrity, truth and honest dealing. None can disregard these qualities with safety. An appearance of prosperity may be temporarily produced by ignoring them, but retribution will be sure—and on a greater scale than ever before, by reason of the nature of the forces we are now employing upon such immense scales.

Four Features Never Before Combined in Any Shoe

Here's welcome news for the man with an aching instep and for those who would prevent that ache. In the Friendly Grip shoe are four special features that are found in no other shoe, regardless of price. First, is the Friendly Grip itself. This acts as a caressing, strengthening hand on your instep and arch. The Friendly Grip is produced by the Comfort Curve and by a special Jarman steel arch support. Note how the Comfort Curve grips the instep firmly yet leaves ample room for the ball of the foot. And just as the Comfort Curve protects the instep so does the Jarman arch protect and preserve the arch.

Glance at the shoes you are wearing. You will see where the top fits around the ankle that both inner and outer sides are cut alike. Not so with the Friendly Grip. For in this shoe the outer side is cut lower than the inner so that the shoe may fit tight around the ankle without rubbing the ankle bone. This feature, the Comfort Cut, made on a combination last insures a snug, close fitting ankle.

Now, won't you take off one of your shoes? Feel right at the top of the back of your shoe. You notice that the top is soft leather and farther down it is stiff. That is because of the counter. Between the counter and the top you feel a seam. Rub your thumb and finger over it. Feel it! In the Friendly Grip THERE IS NO SEAM at this point. Nothing to make a lump that will rub your heel.

Historians say that several of Shakespeare's tragedies were not printed until the publication of the author's collected works after his death. Of Shakespeare's 37 plays 17 were printed separately in quar-

operation.

TEXAS WOMEN AMONG PRIZE WINNERS

Two Texas poultry raisers numbered among the winners in the $10,000 letter-writing contest conducted by the recently formed hatchery business organization which operates under the slogan "Hatchery Chicks For Greater Profits." They are Mrs. P. B. Callender, Port Neches, $25.00 and Mrs. Lucile Todd Harris, Quitman, $25.00.

Their essays were among the forty-one chosen as best from more than 40,000 submitted during the six months of the contest. Written on the subject "Why It Pays to Buy Chicks From A Hatchery," practically all of the essays relate stories of increased profits through use of hatchery chicks as compared with the old hen-hatched method.

Winners of the four big prizes were Mrs. Eloise Knox Niemyer, Clayton, Indiana, $5,000; Miss Agnes Glaser, Lincoln, Nebraska, $2,000; Mrs. G. G. Adair, Rutledge, Georgia, $1,000; and Mrs. Bertha Banker, Baldwin City Kansas, $5,000.

Hatcheries from almost every state in the Union are members of the organization which sponsors this contest. They promise profit producing chicks and fair business dealings with their customers. More than a thousand of outstanding hatcheries all over the country belong to this organization.

Tables Turn After 15 Years Trouble

"Sargon turned the tables for me after I had tried for 15 years to get well of stomach trouble. Now I am gaining every day. I went from 119 to 130 pounds in three weeks on just three bottles. That's pretty good for a man 62 years old."

"I suffered day and night for almost 15 years and spent many hard earned dollars for medicines, but none of them reached my case until I got Sargon. I felt weak and sick from morning until night. I would just drag myself around but now I feel years younger and can keep going all day. I eat anything I want and have no trace of stomach trouble, headaches or dizzy spells any more. "The Sargon Soft Mass Pills straightened out my liver and I no longer suffer from biliousness and constipation. It sure is great to be feeling like my old self again and I will always praise the Sargon treatment. There never was any medicine equal to it."

FARM POULTRY

PASTURING GEESSE ON CLEAN RANGE

As General Rule Fowls Are Given Freedom of Field.

The raising of geese has not been specialized like duck raising, for the reason that geese secure most of their food by grazing. For this reason, geese are raised on most farms in comparatively small flocks. These facts are the principal reasons why geese raising offers an opportunity for most farmers to add another source of income to their spring poultry raising.

Geese may be pastured at the rate of 60 head to an acre, but as a general rule they are given free range. This is satisfactory so long as they are not numerous. However, if a large flock of geese is pastured on the regular pasture the live stock will not relish the pasture on account of the goose manure on the grass. Ordinarily, a number of geese raised on any one farm are not numerous enough to cause any trouble from this source.

Geese do not require a great deal of attention. After the first two weeks they are able to look after themselves if given a good range. The principal food of geese is grass, supplemented by insects and other low forms of animal life. If suitable range is not accessible it is not advisable to go into geese raising.

Houses that will protect the geese from rains in summer and from snow, cold winds and dampness in winter are the only essentials from the housing standpoint. Low, open front sheds are often used for this purpose. Care should be taken to see that the interior of the house is dry at all times. Geese like to swim and they will exercise in the snow practically all day, but they should have dry places to roost or they will contract rheumatism. The floor of such houses should be of earth. They should be covered with straw and renewed often enough so that it will be dry. A thin coating of sand often proves helpful in keeping the house dry.

Geese mate more successfully after they are two years of age than when mated earlier. This is more true of the females than of the males. Occasionally yearling geese will produce fertile eggs, but they cannot be depended upon. Small, undersized geese should not be used for breeding purposes. On the other hand, extra large, coarse geese are not as satisfactory as those of full development, but not so coarse. With most breeds the gander will mate from three to four geese.

Ohio Station Advocates All-Mash Chick Ration

The rearing of chicks to maturity on all-mash ration is a rather new venture in poultry keeping, and we shall have to take the word of those who have tried it as to its value. This system has been developed and advocated by the Ohio agricultural experiment station, at Wooster, and is fully described in a bulletin issued by this station. They state that they have found the method successful on their experimental farm and equally so in the hands of other poultrymen of the state. Some other stations, where it has been tried, discount these claims somewhat. There is no question as to the attractiveness of the plan and the results at the Ohio station should be sufficient to give warrant for trying it out.

Those who have followed the teaching of poultry experts over a considerable period of years have learned that there is little that can be considered as absolutely fixed, even in the seeming fundamental principles of feeding and care. Revolutionary findings are apt at any time to upset long accepted practices. The all-mash ration should not have scratch grains added to it, since it combines in itself both the scratch and the mash and the addition of more scratch grain would unbalance it. That is, it would change the proportion of protein foods to the other ingredients and presumably lessen its value. An all-mash should be more coarsely ground than other mashes, to make it more palatable.

Electric Brooders Are Clean and Convenient

The New York experiment station found electric brooders very satisfactory except in extremely cold weather, when this type of heat did not warm up the space in the house away from the brooder. Like electric incubators, brooders heated by electricity are clean, easy to regulate and very convenient.

Individual farm light plants extend the advantages of this electrical equipment to farms which are not located on an electric "high line." Because many farm plants are equipped with both generator and battery power, the supply of current for the incubator or brooder is constant and reliable.

In Case of Roup

Should any of your flock begin to show symptoms of roup, no time should be lost in starting measures to prevent further spread. All houses, pens and runs should be thoroughly cleaned and sprayed with a strong solution of a good coal tar dip and disinfectant. Droppings, litter and trash of every description should be removed and burned. All unnecessary equipment of every kind should be removed from houses and yards and stored elsewhere.

Texas and Texans

By WILL H. MAYES

Pulling For Texas

In announcing the beginning of the publication of this column in the Mission Enterprise, Editor Moulton Cobb makes a statement that should appeal to every editor in Texas. Among other things he says:

"Though we are 300 miles from the center of population in this State, we are just as much Texans as are the people of McLennan or Dallas counties, and events of this State should be of vital interest to all."

For many years this columnist has been trying to impress Texas publishers that all Texas newspapers should pull together for the general good of the whole State. The immense size of the State tends to create division of interests and efforts, with each section pulling hard for its own locality and often knocking other parts of the State. This smaller communities until most Texans come to regard the real Texas as confined to their immediate horizons. No community can ever progress as it should whose citizens do not look beyond the community boundary; no State can develop whose people are not kept acquainted with its progress.

The newspaper that fails to keep its readers advised as to what is going on in a constructive way throughout the State, thereby encouraging its own people to undertake greater things, is missing the most valuable means for stimulating local enterprise. Most lessons of value are taught by example and comparison rather than by editorial precept.

"Texas and Texans" is a weekly column of comparative study of Texas progress, and if a few hundred Texas editors could but have the broad vision of Editor Cobb and the others who use it as a regular feature illustrating the worth while undertaking going on over all Texas, a Texas spirit would soon be inculcated that would redound to the good of all the State.

Pardon what may seem to be "boastfulness," but these statements are prompted by the desire of a lifetime to render a more valuable service to all Texas than can be done without the hearty co-operation of the press.

Political Rest Needed

Dabney White, veteran Tyler newspaper man, who loves his Texas better than he loves his politicians, says that he has recently completed a 20,000 mile trip through Texas and that the people everywhere are tired of the strife and discord that is being stirred up and kept at fever heat by politicians and are asking: "Can't we find some mature, conservative and practical leader somewhere in Texas who will permit the right-thinking people of Texas to elect him or her to fill the governor's chair for at least a season?"

Donley Wants Junior College

Donley County has started a movement to secure a junior college under the law recently passed by the legislature and hopes to be the first to comply with the requirements. Before many years there will be many such schools in Texas and most college students will take their freshman and sophomore courses near their homes, leaving the large State schools the work of advanced and graduate teaching.

Texas and Texans are wasting vast sums on education, and there is no greater problem confronting the State than the adjustment and unification of its educational system.

Arlington's Practical Method

The North Texas Agricultural College last fall established part-time co-operative commercial courses in which the student of "limited means" receives business training while taking college courses. Just why this experiment is confined, if it is, to students of limited means is not made clear nor is it stated why it is being tried only in commercial courses. The name of the school indicates that its major efforts should be in agriculture, and certainly agriculture affords a fine field for co-ordinating instruction with practical work.

Education that fails to combine instruction with practical life, whether in the elementary grades or in the universities, is about nine-tenths waste. The great reason why this is not general is that so few educators know anything at all about the practical side of life.

WHEN WE FOLLOW THE GYPSY TRAIL

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON

With the coming of warm weather, our love of the outdoors makes us receptive to the friendly call of the road, and the urge to take to the open is irresistible, if only for a few hours.

On such expeditions a few simple camping utensils and a well-stocked emergency shelf enable one to arrange delightful picnic meals on short notice. Foods may be prepared at home and carried in a small fireless cooker, or reheated over a campfire or small portable alcohol stove. A long-handled corn popper serves admirably as a broiler for bacon or steak, or to toast crackers or bread. Other useful utensils for camping are thermos bottles, coffee pot, can opener, corkscrew, sharp knife, long-handled spoon and cake turner.

Here are several delicious outdoor menus!

THE OLD VS. THE NEW IN VEGETABLE COOKERY

By CAROLINE B. KING
Culinary Expert and Lecturer on Domestic Sciences.

THE old-fashioned way of cooking vegetables was to immerse them in quantities of water and boil them madly for a longer time than was at all necessary. Then we poured off the surplus water with the minerals, salts and other qualities extracted from the vegetables, and served them with their tastelessness disguised by highly seasoned sauces.

Now we know that most vegetables, especially the delicate, sweet-juiced varieties, require little water in cooking, and also that over-cooking is ruinous both to their flavor and nutritional qualities. We have studied ways to develop both the flavor and food value of these wholesome products. We have discovered for one very important thing, that sugar in correct amounts added while cooking intensifies the flavor of both fresh and canned vegetables, and in all instances increases their value as a source of human energy.

Corn Pudding is a welcome dish on any table provided it is prepared with due regard for the fact that success depends entirely upon whether the mistress of the kitchen is able to bring out the natural sweetness of the chief ingredient.

To two cups of canned corn, add one canned pimiento and one small green pepper, shredded coarsely, half a small onion grated, two well-beaten eggs, two tablespoons of sugar, one teaspoon of salt, one quarter teaspoon of pepper and paprika, two tablespoons of flour, one teaspoon of baking powder, and one cup of milk. Mix all the ingredients together and add two tablespoons of melted butter. Turn into a well-buttered casserole, and bake covered, in a moderate oven, half an hour. Then remove the cover and bring to a delicate brown.

Baked Winter Squash—Wash the squash. Cut and remove seeds and pulp. Then cut the squash in squares and place in a pan containing a little water. Place in a moderate oven and bake until the pulp is soft, basting occasionally with a little hot water and butter. When nearly done sprinkle thickly with brown sugar and dot with butter. Finish baking and serve a square to each person.

Sauted Parsnips—Cook parsnips until tender in boiling water to which one-half teaspoon of salt and one teaspoon of sugar has been added. Drain and scrape off the skin. Cut in halves lengthwise and sprinkle with sugar. Sauté in hot drippings to a rich brown tint.

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL

There is a pleasure in the pathless woods, there is a rapture on the lonely shore, there is society where none intrudes, by the deep sea, and music in its rear, I love no man the less, but nature more, for from these our interviews, in which I steal from all I may be, or have been before, to mingle with the universe, and feel what I can never express, yet cannot all conceal. —Byron's "Child Harold."

Various Good Things

WHEN possible to obtain it, buy the unpolished rice, it is much more wholesome and better flavored. The wild rice grown in our northern marshes is an especial delicacy, but its price is prohibitive for general use.

Rice Delight.—Take one cupful of cooled rice, mix with one cupful of sugar. Drain a can of sliced or cubed pineapple from the liquor, using one cupful, add the rice with a little salt and fold in one cupful of heavy cream, whipped, sweetened and flavored. Garnish with strips of pineapple or the cubes rolled in chopped mint leaves.

Old-Fashioned Sponge Cake.—Take eight eggs, separate the whites and yolks. Beat the yolks 25 minutes, add one cupful of sugar, beating constantly, the grated rind of half a lemon with its juice, then fold in two cupfuls of four sifted five times before measuring; fold the stiffly beaten whites into the dough and bake in a moderate oven.

Strawberry Pie.—Bake a rich pastry shell on the bottom of a pan. Cool and fill with sliced strawberries well mixed with sugar and one-fourth cupful of orange juice, all well chilled before filling the pie. Top with whipped cream.

Snowballs.—Take one cupful each of sugar and butter, add one cupful of pasteurized cheese grated, one egg, two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice and four teaspoonfuls of baking powder with three and one-half cupfuls of flour. Roll in balls the size of a walnut and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) for fifteen minutes. Dip into icing and roll in coconut.

The pain of dispute exceeds by much its utility. All disputation makes the mind deaf, and when people are deaf I am dumb.—Jocelyn

One of These Three May Be Future Edison

The National Edison Scholarship contest, for the selection of a young man to be trained to succeed Edison as the world's greatest electrical wizard, is commanding nationwide interest. Among contestants are R. Burton Power of Salina, representing Kansas; Newton Felstein, representing the District of Columbia; John Osborn Reid, of East Orange, representing New Jersey.

The person they used to call the "tired business man" was only the tired husband after his emancipated wife had gotten his wind.—American Magazine.

Delaware
Delaware is the second smallest state in the Union. Its greatest length is less than 100 miles and greatest width less than 35. At one point it is only nine miles wide.

Ancient Chinese Toy
The tangram is an old Chinese toy of uncertain origin and history. It consists of seven flat pieces of card or thin wood. They are five triangles, a diamond and a square, which can be arranged in a great many forms.

Hats for the Presidents
More than one President's hat has been mentioned with his personality, and records show that only one Chief Executive—William Henry Harrison—was a hatless man. Some contend his death from pneumonia was due to this exposure.
