DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS AND DEVELOPMENT OF BAILEY COUNTY AND THE GREAT MULESHOE COUNTRY

Scoop Sez

By J. M. FORBES

Joe Salem, the retired Sudan merchant, Muleshoe's good neighbor for 24 years, we admire He's retired all right but if you think that ended his usefulness, you are wrong.
Joe is Methodist church lay leader for this district. The church and its needs come first with him, then the United Nations; after these interests he enjoys his grandchildren and family, then his Rotary connections.
We need and have to have men like Joe. We are proud that now Joe can devote so much time to serving humanity, because he loves people, he loves them whether they live as next door neighbors or in Tibet. He's free to get about since selling his store, so in a year's time he rubs elbows, compares ideas, even prays with an enriching life, certainly he enriches the lives of those with whom he comes in contact.

Surprised us that some candidates for public office frankly offer for the place not only because they feel they can be of service, but that they think the duties and responsibilities of the office will broaden them, will extend their horizons. Some men get in a groove, so held to their business or occupation they don't have time to lift their heads, hear the sweet birds sing, contemplate the bright sunshine, or observe the stars at night.
Actually, they offer for public place, sometimes, to get back into the stream of life, the real swing of things, this writer has learned.

Jack Young, the young attorney, ought to be an officer in the Chamber of Commerce. His story about how he came to locate in Muleshoe and hang out his shingle here to practice law, sounds like CoFC talk.
Course you know Jack was raised up here, and his folks live here, but that was one reason why he and his wife were skeptical about locating here, home town boy, etc. Jack said they went about a lot, looking, finally settled on West Texas or the Gulf Coast.
Then they eliminated the Texas coast and started combing West Texas, only to find his home town, Muleshoe no less, was the best and most prosperous looking town. No reflection on any other town, it was just the facts, ma'am, so here they are.

The City Boys have figured out a pretty good paving proposition, we think, fair to all and recommending itself to this writer as good business.

They'll help residents pave the streets adjoining their property, and they'll spend as much money fixing up the older pavement as they do on the new paving. We all know we need more paving.
And it doesn't take a paving expert to see that our older pavement needs resurfacing. The recent snow left holes here and there but holes were beginning to appear in many places. Time to fix something is before it goes real bad, costs less that way.
The property owners, if the paving bond is voted, will get less expensive paving; they'll get an engineer's supervision and inspection of the job.

And their paving bill can be retired on time payments. This writer has paid for his paving at the home and in front of the business; and he is willing to vote this proposition to help others get out of the mud, out of the sand, and further to beautify their property and moreover to enhance its value.

Miss Redwine becomes bride of Doyle Henry in home ceremony Friday eve.

MR. AND MRS. DOYLE HENRY

Before a fireplace banked with white stock and white carnations, and flanked by huge baskets of stock and white carnations, Miss Marcia Dale Redwine became the bride of Doyle Glenn Henry last Friday evening, February 17, at 6:30.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Redwine, of Muleshoe, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Henry of the Progress Community.

Rev. E. K. Shepherd officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony, which was read in the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Henry, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pale blue creation of embossed tulle, fashioned with the long torso effect, scalloped neckline and cap sleeves. The flaring skirt was worn over crinolines to emphasize fullness. Her accessories were white, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations with blue streamers, atop a white Bible.

Miss Shirley Matthiesen was the bride's maid of honor. Her dress of lavender blue cotton satin, was also a full skirted, long torso creation. The bodice was designed with a low cut neckline and was sleeveless. Her accessories were black, and her corsage was of white carnations.

Bobby Black served the bridegroom as best man. Reception followed: At the reception which followed in the Henry home, honoring the couple, the three-tiered wedding cake, iced in blue and white, centered the table which was covered with a lovely white lace cloth over blue.

Noreta Harrison and June Freeman served the guests cake and punch.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry left immediately after the reception for a wedding trip to Carlshad, where they toured the Caverns, and other points in New Mexico. The bride is a junior student in Muleshoe high school, and Mr. Henry is a senior.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

At this time, with nearly two months of 1956 behind us, the supervisors thought it might be well to review with the members, plans for the new year. '56 has gotten off to a good start in conservation, with many cooperators applying and planning conservation measures. All the supervisors are well pleased with the district's planned progress to date.

Ahead of supervisors and members alike, in the new year, is a complete plan of operation drawn up by the supervisors and other cooperating agencies. This plan consists of many community and individual practices to conserve the soil for continued productivity and prosperity.

Major points of the plan are as follows: The teaching of soil plant and water conservation; providing the film to be obtained from the Conservation Society of America entitled "The Story of Land, Its Use and Misuse." To sponsor an essay contest for high school students and a land judging contest, and to encourage ministers to make annual soil conservation tours.

Other points are to further state associations by encouraging subscriptions to Soil and Water Magazine. Members of the high school F. F. A. and F. H. A. will be contacted to assist in the selling of subscriptions; Program plans will be made to encourage good participation in election of supervisors in October, and calendar of events for 1957 will be set up.

A steering committee will be set up to obtain information on a Special Edition of The Muleshoe Journal during Soil Conservation week. Plans will be made to attend the State Association meeting and to encourage others to attend.

Also the supervisors will promote interest in the Community District Tours, the Annual Soil Conservation District tours, and the formulation of the 1957 ASC program.

Plans are being made to attend the Parmer County S. C. D. banquets to erect highway signs on boundaries; to close books and audit; and to set up individual board members to be responsible for equipment.

"The Soil Conservation District movement is one of the greatest things in the economy and history of this nation."

A lady, age 62, came to the clinic with history of headaches and backaches. She also was suffering from hurting in arms, and legs; hurting in left side; constipation; and insomnia, or sleeplessness. After an examination, spinal X-rays were made, which revealed many dislocations of vertebrae in the cervical column. The Nerve Test Analysis determined the amount of nerve pressure leading to the affected regions of her body. The nerves were partially blocked or cut off. After taking a series of adjustments the causes of this lady's trouble were corrected as proved by post X-ray Spinal Analysis. She now enjoys health and happiness as stated in her last visit to the clinic for a checkup.

Expect to complete rural telephone lines next month

Construction of the rural telephone lines in this area will be completed in a short time, D. B. Lancaster, manager of the Five Area Telephone Cooperative said last week. He said the construction had progressed satisfactorily but that there were some delays due to the delivery of materials and weather conditions.

From the progress construction report there will be a total of 315 miles on the poles. No telephones have been installed yet, but service drops have been installed to 150 houses.

The five exchange buildings are complete and equipment has been completely installed in all the exchanges but one. Telephone numbers are not available yet, but mimeographed directories with proper dialing information and telephone numbers will be sent to subscribers at the proper time, Lancaster stated.

The manager further indicated that he thought that telephones would first be put in service some time the latter part of February or the first part of March.

Shivers proclaims Texas 4-H club week

Governor Allan Shivers has called attention to the scope and activities of the State's 4-H club organization through a special proclamation issued on February 6.

The Governor said, "There are now 121,055 4-H club members and more than 10,600 adult leaders engaged in work of the 4-H club program in Texas.

Officers named for Vegetable Council

Farmers, businessmen, and others interested in bringing organized production of fresh vegetables to the Plains met together at Plainview February 14, and brought into being the West Texas Vegetable Council, the first large-scale group of its type ever to appear in this part of the state.

Although the constitution and by-laws of the organization are now in the formative stage, it is no secret that the aim of the Council will be to bring about a survey of the possibilities of large-scale vegetable production in the region and to supervise the establishment of such.

Ronald Davis, Lezbuddie farmer, who first started the ball rolling on the effort, was elected temporary president of the organization.

Other officers, also on a temporary basis:

L. A. Marshall, Floydada, first vice-president; Don Anthony, Dumas, second vice-president; James O. Gordon, Plainview, secretary-treasurer.

The 35 members of the council present heard talks from several ag officials, including Dr. W. N. Williamson, assistant director of Extension Service, A&M College.

He stressed the need for a survey to determine the feasibility of such a move before production steps are taken.

The council also listened to Dr. John McNeely, marketing specialist from the A&M Experiment Station. He gave an optimistic note to the meeting by pointing out the increased growth of the fresh vegetable markets in this country due to diet changes, increasing population, the decline of "back yard" gardening, and other factors.

One of the major steps taken at the meeting was the issuance of a formal request to G. G. Gibson, director of the Extension Service, asking that assistance be given in making the preliminary survey, which the Council feels should be gotten underway as soon as possible.

Pledges of cooperation were obtained from Dr. George Elle, assistant dean of agriculture at Texas Tech, who said that all the facilities of that department would be available for the work; and a like expression of help from the agricultural department of West Texas College by Dr. R. M. Callihan, head of that department.

Work of the Council was divided into four categories, and committees named to proceed along those lines. Committees and their members are:

Survey — Gene Quest, Lubbock; R. G. Jones, Anton; Arno Struve, Abernathy.

Finance — Don Anthony, Dumas; Hosea Foster, Canyon; B. R. Evans, Tulla.

Organization — Gene McLaughlin, Ralls; Arlon Miller, Floydada; Herman B. Thornton, Lockney.

Educational and information — Nelson Welch, Friona; Arlin Hartzog, Bovina; E. O. Baker, Muleshoe; Don Williams, Farwell.

Until the organizational committee workers can draw up a constitution and by-laws, the Council will work informally on its goals. One phase of activity that will be speeded up in the near future is the contracting of town and areas generally within the irrigated High Plains that may be interested in such a movement, but which have not yet been worked with.

Upcoming bond elections

Two vitally important issues will soon face the voters of Bailey county and of Muleshoe in the bond elections for right of way for highway 84 and a $50,000 bond election to pave and resurface about half a hundred blocks of city streets.

Both issues will be voted on in the near future, and both will bear plenty of thought on the part of our citizenry.

The county wide election for voting $50,000 worth of bonds is for the purpose of buying right of way to widen about 10 miles of highway 84 to a four lane highway. The stretch is from Muleshoe city limits to the Lamb county line. The state Highway Department has already earmarked money for this purpose and if the county does not provide right of way, the money is apt to be allocated for work in another county where right of way has been provided.

Part of the bond money from the county election to be held March 12, will be used for farm to market road right of way and improvements and repairs.

Connected with the county bond election will be an election to vote on adding up to 30 cents ad valorem taxes for the purpose of maintaining and building county roads.

The city election on March 9 is to provide up to $50,000 in bonds for the purpose of paving about 40 blocks of city streets and for re-surfacing an approximately equal amount.

The city plans to pay 10 per cent of the cost, making the cost to the taxpayer about 25 per cent less than it would be otherwise.

Ask questions about both these issues, find out the facts to your own satisfaction, and then go to the polls and vote your convictions. Your voice is important in both these elections.

PARMER COUNTY Farm Bureau News

By RAYMOND EULER

Bruce Parr, Roy V. Miller and Les Bruns attended a meeting in Lubbock last Friday night, where presidents and secretaries of district two met to study execution of Farm Bureau policies, and review accomplishments to date.

Vice-president E. T. Ford, who is also chairman of membership work, announces that drive captains will take their wives to a meeting in the Friona Club House Monday night to make further plans for the membership drive, which begins Tuesday, March 6. Present to assist in the planning will be State Field Representative, O. K. Hoyle and District Field Representative, Joe Ed Sullivan.

It's easy to understand how hard it is for the average layman to understand what the proposed "Soll Bank" legislation is, and whether it will be better or worse than what we've had, if he reads all the different versions and opinions that have been written and spoken regarding it. The easiest subject of conversation is still the one that enumerates the various problems confronting farmers. Conversations usually slows down, or stops when the question is presented, "Now that you have repeated the well known problem, Planes, trucks and ski squads have been rushing mercy shipments of food, fuel and clothing to stricken areas throughout Europe.

what is the solution?" We are certainly hopeful that legislation will be forthcoming that will give immediate and long range relief in these matters. One optimistic feature, or incident that occurred, was the market increase of $2 per bale on cotton the day following the President's message on the proposed program. Anything that causes the open market to fluctuate upward, it seems, worthy of some serious consideration.

Farm Bureau Directors want us to repeat the standing invitation to any person desiring to do so, to attend any or all directors meetings, which are held in the night of each month. They extend a special invitation to new county residents to attend at least one of these meetings to become acquainted with the officers and directors and their method of administration.

Littlefield will integrate class rooms next year

LITTLEFIELD—Trustees of the Littlefield Independent School District Monday night voted to integrate classes for white and Negro pupils in the system effective at the beginning of the 1956-57 school term.

The vote was unanimous. The school board action climaxed a series of educational meetings held here during the past three weeks to acquaint school patrons with all phases of the integration problem.

White citizens who attended the meeting last Thursday night endorsed the policy of the board and paved the way for the decision to proceed with plans for integration.

The Littlefield School system, with a total of about 212 enrolled in Dunbar (Negro) School this year, is the first large school system on the South Plains to announce plans to carry out the Supreme Court mandate for integration in the public schools.

Schools at Farwell were integrated this year.

KOGHE SEES—
THROUGH A GLASS DARKLY

Of Gomer Cool says a tall stately girl is just a long lanky girl with money.

I've got to tell you about this love affair of mine. It concerns me and Babe Barbour's MG sports car. All my adult life I have admired the sleek racy lines of the MG, a little English made car. But through controlled fate, I had never ridden one until last week end. In a moment of weakness, Babe let the old grey haired editor actually drive his MG, not just ride in it.

Now, there is an experience. You sort of put the car on rather than get into it. It's so snug. We finally managed to get the steering wheel comfortably encoiled in our more than ample lap, and figured out the gear box changes and backed out of the driveway.

It is insidious how much fascination that thing has for me. I drove it around the block a couple of times, never getting out of second gear nor more than 25 miles per hour, and yet the feeling was of high, safe speed, and an exhilaration never before known to me riding in a vehicle.

When I went home I could talk of nothing else, and at this writing, I am still being eyes askance by the home folks who think I have finally flipped my ever

Today's Meditation

We Repent of Our Misdoings
Read Romans 12:14-21.

It was and always is "Yes" with Him. (II Cor. 1:19, Weymouth).

As I read over and over the Weymouth translation of this verse of Scripture, it began a quiet revolution in my attitude toward other people. This translation startlingly revealed to me how often it was "No" with me. In other words, my approach to other people was critical instead of being constructive.

So then I read again the record of the conversation that Jesus had. I was amazed to find that though He severely criticized a class, such as the Pharisees, there was an entire absence of condemnation in all He said to individuals. When the accusers of the woman taken in adultery melted away, He looked up and said to her, "Hath no man condemned thee? ... Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more." The more I read the New Testament, the more I realized that this was typical of His approach to individual persons.

It becomes apparent that if we would follow the Master, then we can no longer approach people in a negative and critical way, but only in the positive and constructive way that He did.

Take from us, O Master, the desire to condemn other folk. Give us eyes to see the good in everyone we meet. Help us to learn more of the depth of the prayer Thou hast taught us: "Our Father who art in heaven ... Amen."

SAND HILLS PHILOSOPHER WORRIED
OVER NEW PROPOSAL TO ELIMINATE
PAYING OF U. S. EMPLOYEES BY CHECK

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is needlessly worried over an idea this week, but he'd rather worry than work any day.

Dear editor:
I never have been afraid of a new idea, doesn't make any difference if most of the new ones aren't any improvement on the old ones, but I ran across one the other night that has me worried.

According to it, there's a move on to eliminate paying government employees by check.

Under the proposed system, say a man was working for the government. Instead of being issued a check every week, he'd just be given credit at the bank. This, they say, would eliminate the tremendous job of writing checks for millions of government workers each week, would eliminate long lines at the bank, etc.

I don't know about this. About the only time actually a lot of people have any money is the interval between the minute they get their pay check and the minute they deposit it at the bank, on account of they've already written enough checks to take it up. They're not depositing money, they're covering checks.

Also, if this system worked for government employees, it would not be long before it was expanded to private business, and it wouldn't be long before somebody thought of the wasted time in paying taxes by check. Just have the government, city, county, state or Federal, send a memorandum to the bank doeking the tax payer for taxes due, whether property or income, and when he got his bank statement at the end of the month he could find out how much the government's take was.

This idea could also be expanded to take in grocery stores, drygoods stores, filling stations, etc.

And sending out monthly bank statements could be eliminated, too. Just send out a yearly statement, and to further eliminate figures, the bank could adopt the same system schools now use, don't give exact grades, just say "Satisfactory" or "Unsatisfactory", which would indicate whether you were even or overdrawn.

As you can see, this thing can lead to the elimination of some of life's happiest moments. As far as I'm concerned, there's just not anything more pleasant than a check made out to me, one I can hold in my hand and look at.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

INCOME TAX FACTS NO. 5

TAX BENEFITS EASE PAIN OF SICKNESS

Nobody likes to be sick. But if there was sickness in your family during 1955, you may have some compensation tax-wise.

First there is the question of "sick pay". If you were absent from work due to injury or sickness and received payments from your employer (either sick benefits or regular pay) or his insurance company, these payments, within limits, are free of tax.

There are two limitations: First, the maximum amount is $100 per week, plus any amounts which came from your own contributions to the plan.

Second, unless the absence was for sickness during which you were hospitalized at least one day, or for an injury, the payments are not tax free until after the first 7 calendar days of absence.

If these payments are included in the wages shown on your withholding slips, you should subtract the proper amount from your income in the place provided on the first page of the tax return (Form 1040). Attach an explanation as described in the instructions. You are entitled to exclude this amount even if you do not itemize your deductions.

Apart from sick pay, you may have received payments covering medical expenses for yourself and your dependents. Don't include these in your income, but don't deduct the medical expenses covered by these payments either.

Medical Deductions
If you itemized your deductions, you may be able to save tax money by listing medical and dental expenses you paid for yourself and your dependents.

This year list your medical and dental expenses on a separate sheet, rather than on the form itself. Space is provided on the form for figuring the amount that is allowable as a deduction.

You are allowed a deduction for your medical expenses beyond 3% of your adjusted gross income. If you (or your husband or wife) were 65 or over at the end of the year, the 3% rule does not apply to your own medical expenses. It does apply to any medical expenses you pay for your dependents.

Your deduction is limited to a maximum amount for the year, as explained in the instructions. Medicines and drugs may be included in your medical expenses only to the extent they exceed 1% of your gross income.

Among the items to include in your list of medical expenses are fees of doctors, dentists, hospitals and nurses. List premiums for Blue Cross and other health, accident or hospitalization insurance, but remember you cannot deduct medical expenses paid or reimbursed by insurance.

Widows and Widowers
There are several provisions of special interest to widows and widowers:

1. You may file a joint return with a husband or wife who died during the tax year if no separate return is filed.

2. If you have not remarried and have in your household a dependent child or stepchild, you are entitled for the next two years to use the same tax computation (with income-splitting) as you would have been entitled to on a joint return.

3. When life insurance proceeds are taken as an annuity or in installments, widows and widowers are allowed $1,000 per year of tax-free payments in addition to the principal.

4. You may be entitled to retirement income credit if your deceased husband or wife would have qualified.

5. You may be entitled to a deduction for child care expenses.

The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

BABSON DISCUSSES—
WHERE TO LOCATE

Babson Park, Mass., Feb. 23 — During these cold winter months, I get many letters asking where to locate to get an easy living. Frankly, I do not know of any such locations.

EVERY STATE HAS ADVANTAGES

Every one of our 48 states and 3 territories has its advantages and disadvantages. The South is very attractive during the winter season; but its summers do not encourage ambition and progress. The Pacific Coast has a wonderful climate, but is becoming overpopulated by job seekers. New England leads in educational facilities; but it is handicapped by high-cost power and by its distance from both raw materials and markets.

The Central West appears to be the surest place to make a living; but it holds few speculative opportunities; — not so as does the Southwest, such as Texas. Two hardy young people with self-control could probably save money easiest in Alaska; while Washington, D. C. would be the most difficult place to lay up savings. Unfortunately, the saying "Easy come — easy go" applies to every part of our great country.

WHAT ABOUT BIG CITIES?

I advise young people not to settle in our biggest cities. This advice applies especially to large seaboard cities such as Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Los Angeles, and even San Francisco. Because of the automobile and the trek to the suburbs, these cities are going through changes which are difficult to forecast. Frankly, I believe young people make a mistake in settling therein.

The above advice is wholly apart from the possibility of the big cities being bombed in case of World War III. Although such a war is not now in sight, the best authorities seem to argue it is inevitable sometime. It, therefore, might be unwise now to buy property in one of these big seaboard cities or even in the immediate suburbs. In fact, as this belief becomes more general, just the fear of war could depress the prices of such property, even though this fear might also force higher wages. But, what would higher wages amount to if you should be bombed?

WHERE TO INVEST YOUR MONEY

Invest your money in other cities than those mentioned above. In short, I would not invest in the electric or gas companies of any of these big seaboard cities. It may be possible to protect certain of our interior big cities from bombs dropped by airplanes. The billions which we are spending on radar should be very helpful in this respect. No radar, however, has been invented that will detect an enemy submarine suddenly rising to the surface on a dark night 200 miles from New York City and prevent it from throwing an atomic missile into the heart of New York City.

Very few companies are now building new factories in these large seaboard cities; instead, many of them are building new factories in interior cities. The most desired locations are in centers with a population of less than 75,000, and even in cities and towns of 10,000 or less. All the above makes me bullish on the small cities and towns of our country. They will get new industries and larger populations, and will enjoy lower living costs. They have all the advantages of the big city, with none of the disadvantages.

STUDY ANNUAL REPORTS

Every company with securities listed on any stock exchange sends an attractive report each year to every stockholder—even the owner of only one share. This report shows where the company's plants or factories are located. If all or most of them are in any large city, this is rather risky, from the standpoint of war risks or labor costs, or from other points of view. I don't like to have "all my eggs in one basket."

In addition to reading the president's report, note the balance sheet and compare it with that of previous years. This means you should keep old reports as long as you hold the stock. Only in this way can you learn whether the company is reducing its debts or increasing it. I especially refer to bank loans and short-term note issues held by institutions. Long-term bond issues do not bother me, as the owners are scattered all over the country.

Sunday guests in the home of Mrs. Carrie Wilhite were her son, J. E. Wilhite and family, and Mrs. Ruby Aetkinson, her daughter, of Muleshoe, and an old school mate, Mrs. Maude Oden, of Amarillo.

To The People Of Bailey County

On March 12, 1956 you, the tax-paying voters of Bailey County will be called on to go to the polls and vote on two (2) propositions that should be of vital interest to everyone. Feeling that you should be well informed on these propositions, we, the Commissioners' Court desire to make the following explanatory statement:

About 18 months ago the Texas Highway Department submitted a proposal whereby they would spend $250,000 widening and four-laning U. S. Highway 84 from the Muleshoe City Limits east toward Sudan to the Lamb County Line, provided that Bailey County would secure and clear the right-of-way. It is estimated that this right-of-way would cost about $20,000 and the Court has not entered into a contract because the County does not have the money.

Recently several interested citizens requested the Commissioners' Court to take some action on it lest the Highway Department spend this $25,000 elsewhere. The Court therefore called the $50,000 bond election to determine whether or not the people want to pay the price necessary to obtaining the right-of-way.

Approximately $25,000 would be used on Highway 84 and the remaining $25,000 on Farm-to-Market roads only. This is designed to make the rural people feel that they would be participating in the Program as well as those in and around town. None of the money, if voted could be used for any purpose other than acquiring rights-of-way. It is not the policy of the Court to start buying right-of-way for Farm-to-Market roads, but this money would be used

W. W. Couch, Commissioner, Precinct No. 2.
R. R. Kindler, Commissioner, Precinct No. 3.
R. P. McCall, Commissioner, Precinct No. 4.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto signed my name officially and affixed the seal of the Commissioners' Court of Bailey County, Texas, this the 10th day of February, 1956, pursuant to authority given by law and the above order of the Commissioners' Court of said County.

GLEN WILLIAMS, County Judge, Bailey County, Texas.

AL GRIFFIN, County Clerk and Ex-officio Clerk of the Commissioners' Court of Bailey County, Texas. (Com. Cr. Seal) 7, 8, 9—3tc.

for clearing rights-of-way, such as moving REA Lines, telephone lines, fences and irrigation wells and for reimbursing land owners where they sustain excessive damages. It is thought that until needed, this money could be invested so that it would draw as much interest as it would be costing. Passage of this proposition would necessitate a tax increase of about six or seven cents per one hundred dollars ($100) valuation.

The other proposition, if voted, would authorize the County to levy a special road tax not to exceed 30 cents per one hundred dollars ($100) valuation, subject to homestead exemptions, to supplement the Road and Bridge Fund. This is a tax that once was collected by the State but since the State does not need it any more, the legislature, realizing that the County's expense of building and maintaining county roads is constantly becoming greater, made it possible for Counties to collect it if approved by popular vote of the people. The continuous growth of the County, necessitating the opening of more new roads, together with the increased cost of machinery, repairs, fuel and labor has made the cost of working the roads far greater than it was a few years ago. This tax rate could vary from nothing to 30 cents from year to year as the needs of the County might require and the money could be used only for the construction, maintenance and operation of Farm-to-Market and County roads.

We want to personally encourage you to study these propositions very carefully and then go to the polls and vote your convictions.

Increase yields of corn by planting adapted hybrids

Farmers who plant corn should set as their objective maximum production at the lowest possible cost per bushel. The planting of an adapted corn hybrid, says L. C. Coffey, associate extension agronomist, is a mighty important step toward achieving the objective.

Coffey reports that Texas farmers last year averaged 23.1 bushels of corn an acre, the highest average acre yield on record. Over the past 20 years the average has been approximately 16.5 bushels. Last year approximately 75 per cent of the acreage planted was seeded with hybrids.

However, he says, the late March 1955 freeze caused many farmers to go to their cribs for planting seed because the supply of adapted hybrids was exhausted. The results from planting second-generation hybrids or open-pollinated seed were good because of the excellent growing conditions but Coffey warns that such yields cannot be expected under more adverse conditions.

He says that neither second-generation hybrids nor open-pollinated varieties will produce yields comparable to adapted hybrids. Research studies and tests show that adapted hybrids produce from 35 to 75 per cent greater yields than the best open-pollinated varieties with even greater differences under poor conditions. Second-generation hybrid seed will produce about the same yields as open-pollinated varieties, says the agronomist.

Coffey advises farmers who plant corn to make their usual purchase of an adapted hybrid. "Don't," he adds, "Take a chance on harvesting less corn per acre in 1956 by planting seed which under normal growing conditions will not produce top yields." Corn breeders, over a period of years, have developed hybrids which are adapted to the different corn producing areas of the state and Coffey strongly recommends checking with the local county agent for information on the best hybrid for your area.

Atomic science enters fight on farm insects

The war on insects has come into the atomic age. An agriculture department official reports that atomic science is being used to combat the ability insects have to develop resistance to poisonous insecticides.

Radioactive tracers reveal how some insects are able to consume poisons and change them into relatively harmless chemicals inside their bodies. Entomologists say this will enable them to understand insects' biochemical defense and find new, effective poisons to use against species that have become resistant to present insecticides.

Radiation has already been put to effective use in many areas, and has been used to make certain insects commit race suicide. Dr. H. L. Haller of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service, says the paths of insects, even those beneath the soil or under the bark of trees, can be followed with Geiger counters. Radioactive tracers help reveal the migratory and overwintering habits of insects and aid in making accurate population counts, essential in planning control measures.

This type of "tracing" also makes possible more efficient methods of applying insecticides and modes of penetration can be studied. Insecticides can be traced as they are absorbed by plant materials, transduced into the tissues, and later transmitted to insects.

Short course for cotton ginners at A & M February 28

Texas cotton ginners are being given an opportunity to pick-up information which Howard W. Zuch, extension cotton gin specialist, says will help keep the quality of the state's number one crop high.

The 1956 Texas Cotton Ginning Short Course is scheduled for Harlingen on February 28-29 and is the first of a series of annual short courses to be sponsored by the Extension Service, Texas Cotton Ginners' Association and major cotton gin machinery manufacturers. The annual meetings will be held in a different section of the state each year in order to get maximum attendance.

Zuch says the short courses will take the place of the training meeting which has been held annually in Dallas.

The first day's program will be held at Richard's Restaurant, 1700 S. Highway 77 in Harlingen and will begin promptly at 9 a.m. Speakers will include top men in the fields of agronomy and agricultural and textile engineering. They will represent, says Zuch, the USDA Cotton Ginning Laboratory, USDA's Agricultural Engineering Research Branch, Texas Cotton Research Committee and the Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service of the Texas A. & M. College System.

On the second day, participants will go to selected gins in the area where engineers and personnel from the companies which furnished the machinery for the particular gin will discuss the use, care maintenance and general operation of the equipment. Manufacturers participating include the Continental Gin Company; Hardwick-Etter Company; Lumms Cotton Gin Company; John E. Mitchell Company and Murray Company of Texas.

Zuch says registration for the short course should be made through the Ginners' Association. There is no registering fee.

Thousands of laboratory-raised male screwworm flies, made sterile by exposure to gamma rays from radioactive cobalt, were released to mate with the wild population. Since the females only mate once, they were soon laying only non-fertile eggs. In short time the entire screwworm population of the island had disappeared.

Pork and beef top list of plentiful foods for March

Homemakers will find more than a dozen favorite foods on the March plentiful list. Pork, beef and broilers and fryers top the meat list. Supplies of all are heavier than a year ago with broilers and fryers up almost 50 percent.

Sharp increases in carryover more than offset production cutbacks and leaves the supplies of rice well above anticipated domestic and export demands.

Salable stocks of potatoes are about 17 percent above a year ago with heaviest supplies in the east and lightest in this area, says the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Fresh and processed grapefruit continue in heavy supply with the last crop report showing an increase of a million boxes over the previous month.

Canned and frozen cherries are in heavy supply with the prices below any recent year except 1950-51 season.

The date harvest was delayed because of weather and the crop is above the average.

Milk and other dairy products are on the March list. Milk production is at record levels with the flush spring season ahead.

Other foods include peanuts, canned tuna in oil, vegetable fats and oils, and pinto beans.

More publicity for Muleshoe

The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce is beginning to be aware of the vast opportunity it has for publicizing out town, the ready made gimmick of our name. We have, as has been said here many times, a perfect, ready-made device for publicizing our town in the odd name we have here.

The Chamber is now proposing that large life-size metal signs be erected on each highway leading into Muleshoe. The signs would be of a mule, painted to reflect light at night, and would carry our population figure as well as information about our civic clubs, where and when they meet, etc.

The idea is an excellent one, and should be carried out.

A few objections come to mind however. If the signs are made of metal it will be only a short time until small boys shoot them full of holes with .22 rifles, airguns and shot guns, and smaller boys make them targets for rock throwing contests. If they could be made of some more durable material they might stand a chance of lasting a little longer. But this is a small matter and we are sure it can be worked out.

More power to the Chamber for their fine idea and we hope it is carried out soon.

GREAT-GREAT GRANDMOTHER TO OBSERVE 20th BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Lo. A. Row, of 410 West
Forest, Roswell, N. M., mother of Mrs. J. M. King, of Muleshoe, will celebrate her 20th birthday next February 29, despite the fact that she has several descendants in the fifth generation.

If she were an ordinary mortal, she would be observing the eighty-fourth anniversary of her birth, but she is one of those rare beings whose birth-date comes only in Leap Year. From 1896 to 1904 she had no actual birthday, as 1900 was not a Leap year.

Mrs. Row has been ill for sev-hopes that some of her many friends and acquaintances here will remember her with greeting cards.
