New Activity In Oil Exploration In Lynn County

For the past several weeks, Lynn county has been a hot spot in oil lease activities, and it now appears certain that at least one and possibly two or three other test wells will be drilled here in the immediate future.

Announcement is expected momentarily of a location staked two miles north of New Home, on the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 113, block 12, ELA-FERRER Co. Survey, the land of the late S. A. Allsup. It is rumored that the well will be drilled by Stanolind, the lease block being that of Honolulu.

Honolulu also has a block in the vicinity of Tahoka Lake on which it is rumored a well will be drilled.

Other spreads have been leased in the T-Bar area, in the Joe Bailey area, and still others to the south and east all the way down into Borden county.

R. H. (Jim) Cantrell, Colorado City independent operator, is reported to have finished a block of approximately 17,000 acres in southeast Lynn and northwest Borden county. Two wells are reported in prospect for that area, and possibly one further back this way.

Representatives of three drilling crews were in Tahoka this week hunting houses and apartments.

A. R. Hensley Of Draw Is Dead

A. R. Hensley, 64, a native of Burleson county and a resident of Lynn county for the past 27 years, died in the Lubbock General Hospital at 12:50 o'clock Tuesday morning of uremic poisoning developing from a malignant disease from which he had been suffering for months. He had spent several weeks in the hospital recently but had been home for some weeks Sunday his condition grew critical again and he was taken back to the hospital early Monday morning.

Funeral services were conducted at the Draw Methodist Church at 4:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Jesse E. Young, the pastor, and the body was interred in the cemetery near that place, with a great concourse of relatives and friends in attendance.

Surviving are the wife and three sons, Graham, Zan, and Pat Hensley and three grandchildren, all of Draw. Also surviving are the mother, Mrs. S. A. Hensley of Call, situated near Beaumont, two brothers and four sisters. The brothers are John Hensley of Donna and Oran Hensley of Corpus Christi; the sisters, Mrs. Jessie Bankston of Christman, Burleson county, Mrs. Lena Wright of Brooks county, Mrs. Birdie Huddleston and Mrs. H. C. Darden both of Call.

Born in Burleson county on April 23, 1879, Mr. Hensley was reared in that section of the state and was married at Rockdale in Milam county to Miss Omega Graham on March 21, 1906.

He and family came to Lynn county in December 1916, and settled near Draw, where they have resided ever since. He taught two years at Redwine, one at Draw, and one at Berry Flat, and served six years as postmaster at Draw. He also had a prominent part in procuring the R. E. A. project in this county and in the organization of the Lyntegar Electric Cooperative. Many years ago he became a member of the Church of Christ but at Draw had been under the watch-care of the Methodist Church since its organization.

A valuable and highly respected citizen, he leaves many friends who will greatly miss him.

COUSIN KILLED IN ITALY

J. L. Nevill has been informed that a cousin, Capt. Ben W. Nevill, 34, of Greenville, was killed in action in Italy on October 24.

Though Capt. Nevill was not known here, his father, B. G. Nevill of Dallas, visited here in the J. L. Nevill home a few months ago.

Wendell Wilke, 1940 Republican presidential candidate is visiting Houston, San Antonio, Dallas and Fort Worth this week to confer with party leaders, make a series of speeches, and feel the political pulse of the state. The former Democrat, though in bad grace with many of the old-line Republicans, appears to have a good chance of winning the nomination again.

Baptists Planning Aid for Colleges

Rev. A. C. Hardin and E. I. Hill of Tahoka and Rev. W. H. Jackson of Wilson attended a meeting of the Board of District Nine, the executive body of the Baptists of many Plains and Caprock counties, held at Wayland College in Plainview Monday to consider plans for launching in this area a great campaign for funds with which to endow Baptist colleges and universities in Texas, this body being concerned particularly with the campaign as it applies to Wayland College.

It is proposed that $2,000,000 be raised over a period of a few years for the endowment of these institutions, of which $75,000 is to be allocated to Wayland. It is hoped ultimately to raise half a million or more for Wayland College alone.

In the afternoon, they also attended a meeting of committee members previously appointed to gather and compile data for a history to be written of the Baptists of the entire Plains area. Committee members for the Brownfield Association thus far announced include E. I. Hill, Truett Smith, and Mrs. Garland Pennington, president of the Associational W. M. U., all of Tahoka, and Mrs. Lonnie Lumsden of Wilson, president of the W. M. U. for district No. 9 embracing eight associations.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Jesse E. Young, the pastor, and the body was interred in the cemetery near that place, with a great concourse of relatives and friends in attendance.

Rev. J. M. Hals Is Tahoka Visitor

Rev. J. M. Hals, pastor of the Brownfield Baptist Church for five years and the owner of some property near Edith in Lynn county, was a visitor here Monday.

Rev. Hals says he will have been with the Magnolia Avenue Baptist Church at Beaumont eight years on January 1. During that time, the church has had a remarkable growth, 1,000 members having been received, 500 by baptism. The $30,000 church building erected six years ago, will be free of debt on Dec. 1, four years ahead of schedule.

Rev. Hals held a meeting at Edith last summer. He has many friends in this county who will be glad to know of his remarkable success at Beaumont.

RECREATION TRAINING SCHOOL IS HELD HERE

Misses Inez Rainey and Katherine Henry, Midway 4-H Club president and exhibit chairman, held a recreational training school Saturday afternoon in the district court room. This followed the regular annual meeting of the Lynn county home demonstration council, which was also attended by representatives of all the clubs in the county except one. Council, also, received a report of the splendid exhibit shown by the Midway Girls' 4-H club on Achievement Day last Friday, Nov. 13. Mrs. Fred McGinty is sponsor of the Midway girls club.

Cpl James Foster Writes From Italy

Cpl. James A. Foster writes his foster-mother, Mrs. L. P. Craft that he is in Italy, a fact she already knew—almost.

The letter follows, in part: "At last the restrictions on my correspondence have been partially lifted and I am allowed to write something besides my wish for the close of the war. There remains, however, a denial to mention definite regions, cities, etc., except very remotely, so you can expect my letters to be rather vague in places. "Nevertheless, you are aware of (Cont'd. on last page)

Capt. E. H. Boullion Visiting In Tahoka

Capt. and Mrs. E. H. Boullion and their son, Aviation Cadet Elbert Boullion Jr., are here this week visiting friends.

He is one of the few men from Tahoka who saw service in World War I who again offered his services a year or two ago, and was given a commission. He was an officer in World War I. Elbert Jr. is a student in A. and M. College of Texas, but recently was selected for Naval Aviation cadet training and expects to begin training almost any day.

The Boullions were in the grocery business in Tahoka about 18 years. Mrs. Boullion was reared here, and they, therefore, have many friends in Lynn county who were glad to see them again.

Tuesday night, J. B. Reese's 1937 Ford coupe was stolen from the streets of Tahoka, driven to O'Donnell, and when the steering gear became locked, this car was abandoned by the thief. A short time later an O'Donnell car was reported stolen.

The News Is Read Around The World

The Lynn County News is read by boys in the Armed Service around the world.

But to the J. W. Poff family of Wilson goes some kind of a record. That family receives four copies of the Lynn County News.

One copy goes to the parents at Wilson. One copy goes to T/Sgt. Doyle Poff of the Army Air Corps at Savannah, Georgia. Another copy goes to Pfc. Johnnie W. Poff, who is with the Marines somewhere in the Southwest Pacific. And still another copy goes to 1st Lt. Clarence Poff, of the U. S. Army Engineers, stationed in North Africa.

O'Donnell Lady Buried Monday

Mrs. Leona Barfield Gatlin, 48, wife of W. L. Gatlin, died of tuberculosis at her temporary residence in a tourist park in O'Donnell at about 7:00 o'clock Sunday morning.

Funeral services were conducted in the Assembly of God church in O'Donnell at about 3:00 o'clock Monday afternoon by Rev. Charley Peak Sr., pastor of the church, and the remains were laid to rest in the O'Donnell cemetery under the direction of the Harris Funeral Home of Tahoka.

Surviving are the husband, W. L. Gatlin, two daughters and a son. The daughters are Mrs. Ruby Mae (Voda) George and Ray Sylvia Gatlin, 5, and the son is Wynne Gatlin, 16, all of O'Donnell.

The family has lived in O'Donnell only a few months, however, having moved out from Mabank, Kaufman county, in July of this year.

Mrs. Gatlin was born on May 6, 1895, in Henderson county. She was married to W. L. Gatlin on April 22, 1914, in Cherokee county. About three years ago she contracted tuberculosis, and in the summer or fall of 1942 she entered the tuberculosis sanatorium at Sanatorium, Tom Green county, and remained in that institution as a patient for nine months. Leaving the sanatorium in May of this year, the family came to O'Donnell in July in the hope of prolonging her life, but to little avail.

Mrs. Gatlin was a devoted member of the Church of the Assembly of God.

THANKSGIVING

The people of Lynn county have many things for which to be thankful at this thanksgiving time, although the world is torn with strife and war and nearly every home has some one or more members away from home with the Armed Forces.

We should be thankful that we are winning this war with a minimum loss of life; that we can buy war bonds and stamps and contribute to the Red Cross and the United War Fund; that we have raised a big crop and received a good price for it, harvesting that crop in record-breaking time; that, in spite of the higher cost of living, we have money in the bank; that we have the highest class of citizens in the world; that we have no labor troubles; that we have no honky-tonks, slums, and riff-raff; that we have fine churches and schools and civic institutions and homes; that, though restrained a bit by war-necessity, we still have free speech, free enterprise, and freedom to worship according to the dictates of our conscience.

For these things and for many others Lynn county people should be thankful. And we should give thanks to the Lord today and every day for our lot in the world!

POST-WAR TAHOKA

Last Thursday three Tahoka citizens spoke at the Rotary club on three related subjects that Tahoka might do something about now in preparation for the day when this world conflict is finished. We refer to the talks by Leo Jackson on the physical development of our young folks, Rev. A. C. Hardin on spiritual needs, and Happy Smith on recreational needs.

And these talks all boil down to one great problem—the development of our young folks morally, spiritually and physically—a need that neither the church, school or home can meet fully, but one on which all agencies co-operating can do a fine piece of work.

Schools long ago found that young folks kept busy at work and play never gave trouble, but that idleness led to trouble.

Among other things in the way of wholesome recreation and entertainment for the young folks, Happy Smith proposes a summer recreational program, carried on in the city park, possibly, where there would be supervised play, contests, choruses, dramatizations, talks, and such like for young and old during the summer months when many of the young folks have nothing to do but roam the streets, drive up and down the highways, and make or hunt their own entertainment, which many times is not so wholesome. He thinks the usual after-war crime wave would thus be lessened to some extent, the young folks—and older folks, too—would receive recreation, training, and education, and this community and all Lynn county could make the project one that would pay big dividends.

Many Rotarians expressed enthusiasm over the ideas of these men. We think they have the right ideas on building citizens. Such programs should be backed by the entire town and county.

Some members of Congress became greatly perturbed last week about the alleged shortage of the whiskey supply. They were charging or intimating that the big distillers had entered into a conspiracy to hoard whiskey and hold it off the market in order to be able to sell it at exorbitant prices. In other words they were charging that the liquor interests were double-crossing and gypping their customers, of whom these Congressmen were which, presumably. They were threatening to have a thorough investigation. There may be something to the charge. The big whiskey concerns have been playing up their "patriotism" in their big newspaper and magazine advertising lately by explaining that they may have to limit the supply of liquor to be sold any one customer on account of the fact that they were busy making alcohol for war purposes. The effect if not the design was to cause people to purchase their whiskey while they could get it. It looked all the time like a trick to increase their sales. And now their own friends and customers are charging them with perfidy. We have always maintained that the liquor interests at all times and everywhere are a corrupt bunch, and it was a sad day for our country when they were again placed in the driver's seat and authorized to crack their whip. But if they get to driving too high and handsome they will have a crash sometime somewhere down the road.

T. W. MONTGOMERY WRITES FROM PACIFIC

Mrs. J. R. Montgomery reports that they had a letter recently from her husband's brother, T. W. Montgomery, a former teacher in this county, who is now a Seabee out somewhere on an island in the Southwest Pacific. He has been in the foreign service about nine months and has seen some exciting times. Mrs. Montgomery says, with a good many visits from the enemy.

She quotes from his letter as follows: "We look for a silver lining and are facing the end of the rainbow, we think, which is home. No wonder the poet produced the lyric, 'Home, Sweet Home.' He probably was away from home when he wrote it. There is only one thing that will heal and security to this uneasy and disturbed attitude of the world, and that is the Cause the decent world is striving for. The game is unimportant, but the outcome as we can see it will be the torchlight of the world. Only time and patience and continued sacrifices will yield this immortal prize."

Advice Is Given On Buying Baby Chicks

Rush business that hatcheries had last season will probably be repeated this coming season, reported T. H. Seay, Agriculture teacher. To avoid difficulty in securing the number and quality of chicks desired, the poultry man should make his order as far ahead of delivery date as possible.

Before making an order a few precautions that may largely determine the success of a proposed poultry enterprise should be observed very carefully, said T. H. Seay. First, buy chicks as close to home as possible. If the kind or breed of chicks wanted cannot be secured in this locality, try not to go outside the state to make the purchase. The kind of poultry that will do best on the farm in this area can be found in Texas, continued T. H. Seay.

Some causes for baby chick losses can be completely eliminated by proper buying. For example, no chicks should be lost from pullorum disease. Chicks should be bought from flocks that have been properly tested for this disease under an effective private testing program or under the National Poultry Improvement Plan.

Most hatcheries have strict minimum qualifications that they meet before chicks are sold. Nevertheless, a buyer should check his source of chicks closely in order to insure the delivery of quality birds. If a buyer has no means of making a check on sources that provide the particular kind of fowl he wants, he might want to order from hatcheries that are in the Poultry Improvement Plan program since these businesses are regularly checked by a State Inspector.

The items for which a hatchery or breeder should be checked, states Seay, include the freedom from pullorum disease, the production of the flock, the weight of the eggs, size of the hens, breeding characteristics of the hens, and if possible, the performance of some birds previously bought from that source.

Keep The Heat On Hitler! Don't Waste It at Home... Use Less Natural Gas

Your government is striving to meet a grave wartime shortage of vital fuels, including natural gas. Every man, woman and child, at home or place of business, is asked to voluntarily conserve the use of natural gas.

Use what you must, but save all you can!

This is a serious request. Uncle Sam, fighting a bloody war, is in dead earnest about this. Compared with the sacrifices of our fighting men, saving fuel at home is not a difficult sacrifice. You will help, won't you?

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP

1. Do not heat unused rooms.
2. Do not heat garages.
3. Keep home temperatures as low as possible.
4. Reduce temperatures to 55 degrees at night and when away from home.
5. Keep heating equipment in top-notch condition.
6. Use less hot water. Repair leaky faucets.
7. Save gas in other ways you can think of.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart Cowan and J. O. Tinsley closed a deal Saturday night whereby J. O. becomes owner of the Victory Cafe north of the First National Bank.
Mr. and Mrs. Cowan have operated the business for the past 13 years during which they have served literally thousands and thousands of people. Tinsley also has had considerable cafe experience, recently selling his cafe to Boyd Driver.
Bart says he started out on the farm in Lynn county and hopes to go back to farming. He is said to be the first baby born here after Lynn county was organized.

The county agent J. C. Smith explained how to fill out the records. The county agent also made a short talk on demonstrations for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hanes were called to Lubbock last week and by the serious illness of her father, Lee Jones, who is visiting another daughter there. He was much improved this week.

Larkin Weathers, who has been at Hobbs the past three years was here Monday visiting relatives and friends.

METHODISTS ATTEND DISTRICT MEET

A group of Tahoka Methodists and some from other churches in the county attended the Lubbock District Harvest Day meeting held in the First Methodist Church in Lubbock Tuesday.
Dr. Harold Cooke, president of McMurry College, Dr. Carter, Conference Missionary secretary, and Dr. Bartak, while in Czechoslovakian missionary, were speakers of the morning.
Dr. Bartak, while in Czechoslovakia was interned by the Germans and was held in a German concentration camp for a number of years. His address therefore was intensely interesting.
In a business session held in the afternoon, annual reports were given.
The group attending from Tahoka consisted of Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Nichols and Mesdames W. E. Anglin, C. A. Thomas, A. I. Thomas, R. H. Gibson, Calloway Huffaker, Fred Bucy, C. G. Franks, E. R. Edwards, R. W. Fenton Sr., and H. E. Mather.

Last week's O'Donnell Index-Press reports that J. E. Nance, formerly of Tahoka, has bought the 160-acre H. B. Stanfield farm at Mesquite, Borden county, to add to his 300-acre farm.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Mr. T. W. Preston, teacher of character education, presented a lecture on "Finding One's Self" Tuesday, Nov. 23, when he was introduced to the students of Tahoka high school by Rev. A. E. Brown. The program opened with the students singing America, led by Rev. Brown.

Mr. Preston, a resident of Dallas, has traveled throughout the entire state of Texas, lecturing to high school students. This was his third appearance in Tahoka.

HOLD SOCIAL

About 64 Home Economics girls and Agriculture boys met for a social hour in the Grade School gym last Thursday night, Nov. 18.

The first part of the meeting was used for business purposes. The Home Ec girls made plans for the next meeting. Ruth Huffaker, Dona Sue Milliken, Mary Jo Anderson, and Marcellene Stephens are on the recreation committee. Mary Adamson, Dolores Nowlin and Cleads Shoemaker will have charge of the refreshments.

The Agriculture boys had a very important meeting, discussing the initiation of the Green Hands.

After the business meetings, the Agriculture boys entertained the girls with a party and refreshments were served.

The Home Economics girls will have charge of the next meeting.

PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK

This time it's not guess who. You all know who, from her feet, way up to the top of her head. And it's a long way up. She's a typical loud-mouthed Junior and proud of it. In our estimation she tops the crop where run and sense of humor reside, and has a swell habit of making everyone like her. After all this you should know it's Johnnie (Smittle) Anderson.

Freshman News

SENIORS HOLD FIRST CLASS EVENT

A picnic at the roadside park Friday night was the Senior's first class event of the year.

There was much "raising of eyebrows" when a truck filled with high school students rode down the streets with only one destination in mind.

The picnic was a tremendous success with everyone whooping and having a lot of fun. We feel that if all the events are as successful as this, it will be the happiest school year that the Seniors have ever enjoyed.

This an' That . . .

The answer to why so many girls can hardly creep around is that the Sub-Debs have started themselves a football team and have been practicing on the field. Skinned knees, sprained wrists and colorful bruises all over the arms and legs seem to be what the well-dressed young lady is wearing. Donna Sue Milliken is the champion tackler. Ask Irwin Lehman.

We can't decide whether there are more people running around the T. H. S. halls with their arms in slings or minus their appendix.

Report cards were handed out Tuesday accompanied by much weeping and wailing. But at least we know the worst now, and won't have to worry about the grades over the Thanksgiving holidays.

LAMESA WINS

The Tahoka Bulldogs were defeated by Lamesa Nov. 17. The Bulldogs would have won had it not been for Lady Luck. She frowned on them. They had three touchdowns called back and one safety. The Lamesa team ran up 25 points while the Bulldogs got only 2 that counted. The B team is playing the Lubbock Cowhands at Lubbock this Wednesday.

EIGHTH GRADE LOSES

Tahoka's eighth grade Junior team played Lamesa's Junior team Wednesday, Nov. 17 at Lamesa. H. C. Harter made a touchdown in the last three minutes of the game, making the final score 19 to 7 in favor of Lamesa.

Sophomore News

The Sophomore class is very glad that they won first place in pre-ticket sale for "Dora Dean." We plan to keep this good work up.

We're nosy, we know it, we can't help it, and don't want to. 'Cause if we couldn't dig into personals, then who could? So, another idea has struck our brain cells and this is it! Ninety-nine out of 100 people do no like their given names, and if asked, they will usually tell you what their name would be had they had the privilege of naming themselves.

Dot Applewhite prefers Magnolia June Stovall to the present label. But who wouldn't. Macky Fenton grins when you yell "Benny." James Brookshire would give anything in this world to be called Randolph Buckingham, while Charlene Buey adores Sena Ethel. Clara Foye Nordyke seems acceptable to the name Donie, and Mrs. Mason, instead of Emily Lois, would have been Emily Josephine. D. L. Carmack spreads a grin all over her; Johnnie Anderson would this day be called Smittle, and Jerry Connolly would carry the title Murray! Fern Pennington kinda likes Mrs. L. J. C. Womack. Maxine Hardin would have been called Annie Mack, while Nan Weathers would have snapped up the chance to be named Charlotte Hepzibah. Faye Johnson started out as Sonny, while Imogene Hargett dreams of the day she can be called Hinkle! Mrs. Adams prefers Caramella Joan to Annie Pearl. Clyde Paddy would have his name changed to Leo Van Buren, and Bill Woods hasn't the strength to think of another name, so he will just be number one.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Commercial club met in room 38 Wednesday, Nov. 17, with the president in charge.

After a brief business session, Ruth Huffaker read "The History of Record Keeping," which was very interesting.

At the meeting of Nov. 3, Ethella Dollins and Joretta Smith discussed the advantages of attending a business college.

FLAG SERVICE HELD AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Beautiful and impressive was the brief flag service at the Baptist Church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock hour just preceding the sermon.

High up on the wall just back of the choir had been mounted already a service flag bearing 75 stars, one of them being a gold star, honoring the 74 members of the Church or Sunday School or both now in the service of our country, and the gold star honoring Odean Millman, a member of the Church who lost his life a few months ago while on a training flight out of Laughlin Field, Del Rio, when for some unknown reason his plane crashed against a hillside.

To the strains of appropriate music, two youths came marching down the aisles bearing two beautiful silken flags. H. L. McMillan the United States flag and Frankie Stuart the Christian flag. These they planted on the choir platform on either side of the pulpit, gave the salute and pledge, and then the congregation sang America and remained standing with bowed heads while the pastor led the prayer for our country and the men and women in its service and for the church and the triumph of righteousness everywhere over the forces of evil.

One thing that added to the impressiveness of the occasion was the element of surprise that entered into it, for most of the congregation had no advance information that such a service was coming.

BAPTIST W. M. S.

In a business session Monday afternoon at the Baptist Church, Mrs. J. W. Goodell presided over a business session after a devotional brought by Mrs. E. I. Hill. Reports were heard from standing committees and plans outlined for visiting on the fifth Monday.

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving

The fact that this is a war-torn day is added reason for us pausing a moment to give thanks . . . thanks for our boys who are willing to fight for this great nation of home-loving people . . . thanks for this democratic form of government . . . thanks for the bountiful crops . . . thanks for a thousand things that we have . . . that our boys may come back to . . . prosperity and happiness such as no other nation on this globe knows. Last, but not least, we pay tribute to our noble fighting men who will preserve such traditions as Thanksgiving Day.

Here, beneath these alien stars, in this foreign place,
Thinking of home, I see my mother's face.

Clear as in a picture I recall
Just how a year ago I leaned against the kitchen wall,
Talking, while she basted the turkey brown . . .

And even now, so real I almost answer "coming,"
I hear her quick heels clicking down the hall,
And the sound of her voice calling us all to dinner.

Thinking of home,
I hear my father singing beside me in the village
choir,
His deep bass ringing, like the slow-swinging tolling
Of a solemn bell.

Where my father was, there was no lack of anything.
Always, about our house, an autumn plenty, a harvest peace
As though, despite each winter's ice and snow,
The increase gathered in our barns and bins
Would never cease.

Thinking of home,
I remember how, Thanksgiving eve,

Frost and rain conspired to work all night;
And in the morning greeted our sleepy eyes
With the glitter and surprise
Of a world comprised of sun and ice.

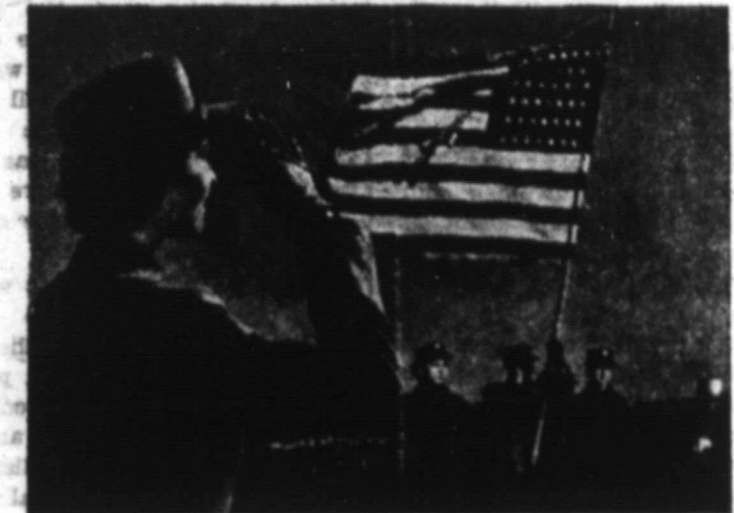

Thinking of home, I think of her,
The warmth of her lips on mine;
And I remember, in that November we walked together
Down endless avenues of light!

Thinking of home, of America,
These things are home to me . . .

The right of a man to a job, and his right to be his own boss.
The right of a man to think, and his right to speak his thoughts.
The right of a man to worship, and his right to love and hope.
The right of a man to a future, and his right to a just reward.

To us out here, these things are home.
We want to find them there, unchanged,
When we come back.
That's what we're fighting for.

Lt. Chas. Townes, 45th Postal Officer, Gives Soldiers' Observations of Italy

Lt. Chas. Townes, postal officer of the "Fightin' Forty-Fifth," reared in Tahoka and former clerk in the local post office, writes the following interesting letter from Italy, in which he gives his observations of the country, people, and effects of the war:

I'm in Italy! I knew it all the time; the Germans knew it all the time (we heard them announce it over the radio); in fact, everybody has been knowing it for a long time. However, we couldn't say it in our letters until today (October 19).

That is the reason that my letters have been so full of bologna about the weather, business, our food, our morale, etc. Boy, it's plenty difficult to write a decent letter when you cannot even mention where you are, what you are doing, or what you have seen. Of course, I must refrain from all subjects of military significance; but I can at least tell about the people, their habits, their homes, their attitudes towards the Americans, and many other things that were taboo until today.

The country is much more civilized and beautiful than was the case in Sicily. There are lots of large mountains over here, but I have not seen any to compare with those skyscrapers in Sicily. There was some of the roughest terrain in Sicily that I have ever seen. Much more of the land is in cultivation over here. All kinds of fruit are raised. Tobacco fields are a common sight; and I have been in and about several tobacco warehouses, in fact, I had the APO set up in a large tobacco warehouse about two weeks ago. There was a large room next to where we worked our mail, and that room was filled with huge hogheads of tobacco. The smell of the tobacco was very pleasant. The whole experience was new to me. More about the tobacco plantation later.

Before I came overseas, I read newspaper accounts of the unbelievable devastation caused by bombing raids; and I always thought until I saw the results of air raids that the newspaper accounts were more interesting than accurate. I have changed my mind, now! I have seen cities laid completely in waste, railroad depots demolished, trains blown all to pieces, bridges wiped out from buttress to buttress, large buildings reduced to rubble, and tremendous holes knocked out of the ground by bombs which missed their target.

If the Italians want to have towns of the same names that they had before the war, they will just have to build new towns by those names, because some of these cities and towns are literally blown all to hell.

The people in the U. S. can have no conception of how fortunate they are to reside in a country which has never been subjected to artillery fire and to bombing. Think of your mental reactions if you were awakened by the shrill scream of an air raid siren, and you had to jump out of bed and run to an air raid shelter; then, after the alert was over, suppose you went back to where your home had been and found only a large mass of debris. Debris is the right word, too. Those bombs can certainly make homes untenable. Lots of the bombs were dropped by our planes before Italy threw in the towel, and some of them have been dropped since we have been trying to push the Germans back into their holes. Their planes and ours have wreaked havoc and destruction wherever they have dropped those volatile eggs. I hope this paragraph gets by the censor. You have no doubt read the same thing in the papers back home, but I want to emphasize their accounts of bombing raids.

When we first landed in Italy I can't give you the exact date, but I think you have a good idea, anyhow, our feelings were very different from our thoughts and feelings experienced just before the invasion of Sicily. This time, we knew from experience about what to expect, and our confidence in our ability to take care of the situation was much more pronounced than on the eve of the Sicilian campaign. At that time we did not know what to expect, how we would react, whether we were well enough trained to cope with the enemy, and whether the enemy was sitting there waiting for us. There were a good many nervous people on that ship, I can assure you.

This time, we knew that we were better than anything the enemy could offer (we had read the newspaper clipping from U. S. papers), and we felt thoroughly confident of our ability to outsmart and outfight those Tedesco (Italian for Germans). Of course, I realize how foolish it might sound for the postal officer who has never been all the way up to the front lines (but, by golly, he has been uncomfortably close) to be writing of the mental reactions of a bunch of fighting men on their way up to meet the enemy; however, you can just kind of feel the way the men think about the situation. I think our Division has some of the best trained officers and men of any division in the World. Our Commanding General has the respect and admiration of every man in the whole Division.

To get back to the more pleasant side of the situation, I'll tell you about our stay at the tobacco plantation. The fellow who owns the plantation is one of the wealthiest men in that section of the country. He has large vineyards, orchards and feed crops and stock and poultry in addition to his tobacco fields. He gave us complete run of his vineyards and orchards. His grapes were excellent. He had a great wine press and a large wine cellar. The Germans had stolen about 2000 bottles of his best wine, and his regard for them was very low, to say the least. His wine is as good as any I have ever tasted, but you know that I am not a connoisseur.

Our position as honored guests of the old man's entire family was brought about by the fact that one of the corporals in the postal section is the son of Italian born parents. The corporal can speak Italian like a native, and I wouldn't sell him for love or money—anyway, not for money. The old man invited the corporal and me to eat with him every day. I ate one meal each day with him as long as we remained on his premises. He had such lavish spreads that I could not eat over one meal a day there for fear of foundering myself. Let me tell you about those meals.

When we first enter and sit down, the old gentleman would give us a paper thin slice of delicious smoked ham as an appetizer. Three food receptacles were placed in front of each person attending the meal. The top receptacle was a bowl of the same diameter as two regular sized dinner plates beneath it. First, came the spaghetti (or macaroni—he changed each meal). One of the ladies of the house would bring in a tremendous bowl shaped crock containing three or four gallons of spaghetti. She would dip the spaghetti out of the crock with a dipper (a spoon wouldn't hold enough to suit her); and, despite all protests and pleadings of "Basta" (enough), she would fill that large bowl in front of us with spaghetti. The spaghetti was the best that I have ever eaten. It had native tomato sauces cooked with it, and finely grated cheese was served in a side dish to be added according to the taste of the individual diners. All that spaghetti and cheese was more than enough for an ordinary meal, but that was only the beginning. The Italians would eat their spaghetti and be waiting for the second course long before we Americans could finish off all or part of ours. After we had leaned back and said "Basta", the waitress would return and remove the spaghetti bowl.

Then, she would bring out the second course. It usually consisted of turkey, chicken, veal cutlets, or veal loaf. The veal was strongly flavored with garlic and pepper, and it was delicious. The chicken and turkey were flavored with some kind of tomato sauce which gave it a flavor unlike that to which I am accustomed. The chicken and turkey were as tender as any I have ever eaten, and words cannot express our enjoyment of that Italian-cooked poultry. For side dishes, we would usually have fried potatoes cooked with home grown olive oil (or oil from home grown olives, if you want to get technical), cooked peppers, or a spinach-like vegetable flavored with grape vinegar. The last course consisted of grapes, pears, and apples.

The whole meal was altogether too much to be eaten at one sitting, but we do it. My stomach would actually hurt it would be so full after I had dined with the old gentleman. He wouldn't take "No" for an answer. He would heap food on our plates until we just knew that we couldn't eat all of it, but somehow or other, we managed to eat the greater portion of it. I'll never forget those meals.

The women do not eat with the men. They eat in the kitchen and are not seen except when they come in to bring the food for the masculine diners.

Lt. Col. Askew, the Division Quartermaster, and his assistant Major McGee, came over to eat with us on two occasions. Those fellows are personal friends of mine, since my APO crew and I have been eating with the Q. M. Co. for about three months, now; so I asked the tobacco king if it would be all right to bring the Colonel and Major over to eat. He was delighted that the Colonel wanted to eat with him and insisted that I bring him over at every opportunity. Since our leaving his place, we have returned for one meal with the old gentleman; and we plan to go back again in the near future. Major McGee brought the old fellow a big can of coffee, and the old fellow would have been no more proud of a Buick sedan than he was of that can of coffee. He said that they had drunk no coffee for four years.

The people over here, especially the women, do not have enough shoes to go around. Women of all ages go barefoot, and I certainly feel sorry for them. I am sure they have "Sunday shoes" which they wear on special occasions, but they go barefoot during the week. Lots of the men do the same thing

How many miles older is your car this week?

"Every mile you drive makes it more important than ever to Care for your Car for your Country"

IF TIRE AND GASOLINE RATIONING were removed tomorrow, no victory-minded American would permit himself one single mile of unnecessary automobile driving!

Let the truth of this fact sink in. Even if gasoline and tires were plentiful, cars are not. There will be no new cars for the duration. And every mile you drive, today and tomorrow and the day after, is an irreplaceable withdrawal from the Nation's bank of total transportation miles.

That is why your Uncle Sam is talking like a Dutch uncle when he tells you to care for your car for your country. You must protect and even pamper your car to coax every last bit of mileage from its aging engine and chassis.

Phillips 66 Service Wardens are pledged to do their utmost to perform all services which will improve the efficiency of your car and lengthen its life. Remember, the car which is driven this winter with tires unchecked... with battery un-inspected... with friction points unlubricated... may literally be running at the expense of the Nation's war effort.

The Phillips 66 Service Warden is waiting at every Phillips 66 Service Station, ready and anxious to do his part to help you "Guard America's Mileage." Drive in soon for complete Service-Warden Service at the Orange and Black 66 Shield... sign of famous Phillips 66 Gasoline and Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

The weather grows colder with each passing week, and I dread to think what is in store for the people when the ground is covered with ice and snow.

These women over here are the hardest workers that I have ever seen. They are fine looking and strong specimens of femininity. As a rule, they appear to be much more healthy than the men. That fact may be accounted for by the little amount of work done by the men.

One day I saw a full grown, healthy, young man sitting in a small cart, and the cart was being pulled by a little girl about 13 years of age. Why, I'd have shot that bum if it weren't so much trouble to clean my pistol! The women carry tremendous loads on their heads. They carry everything on their heads, and we soldiers stand amazed to see them walk by with tubs of water, tubs of clothes, long pieces of lumber, boxes of apples or grapes.

bales of hay, or sacks of feed, balanced on their heads. They don't even use their hands to balance the loads. I wouldn't have believed a woman could carry such tremendous loads on her head if I hadn't seen it with my own bonnie brown eyes. It's positively amazing.

More later.
Mrs. Taylor White of Odessa, formerly of Tahoka, has moved to Austin to make her home.

We Are Thankful...

WE ARE AMERICANS!

As we gather this Thanksgiving in homes and churches throughout the Nation, we will join in reverent acknowledgment to God for the many blessings He has so mercifully granted us as individuals and as a Nation.

We will likewise become aware of our resemblance to our forefathers, who in 1621 observed the first American THANKSGIVING and who like ourselves were forced to fight for their freedom, even as they gave thanks for it.

We will, also, on this Thanksgiving Day, renew our spiritual strength, re-light our faith in the American Way of Life, and reaffirm our determination to win the final and complete victory!

EXTRA SALARY GIVEN THOSE JOINING WOMEN'S ARMY

Lubbock Army Air Field, Nov. 24.—After hearing a WAC recruitment talk before the Kiwanis Club of Big Spring, R. L. Tollett, president of the Cosden Refinery, placed the following notice on his company bulletin board:

"Any employee enlisting in the Women's Army Corps will do so with best wishes of the management, and her salary will be continued for one month after she takes leave of her duties. If she wishes to interview the local recruiting officer, arrangements will be made for her to be relieved from duty during business hours."

GARNOLIA 4-H BOYS ENTERTAINED BY GIRLS

Mrs. G. E. Fleming, Garnolia Girl's 4-H Club sponsor, gave the 4-H club girls a party Friday night, Nov. 12. The 4-H club boys were guests.

Barnyard, grape-hunting, and other games were played. Refreshments of cocoa and cake were served to 44 4-H club boys and girls.

Pvt. and Mrs. Sherman S. Davis from Garden City, Kansas left Thursday of last week after visiting in the home of his mother, Mrs. E. S. Davis.

SOUTHLAND POSTMASTER WRITES FROM ENGLAND

Mrs. Marvin Truelock, acting postmaster at Southland, has sent to The News for publication a letter which she recently received from J. R. King, Southland postmaster, who is now doing military service in England. The letter follows:

"Dear Mrs. Truelock: Thanks very much for your Christmas greeting which I received yesterday. It made very good time getting over here. It was nice of you to send it. "How is everything going there by this time? It seems a long time since I left there. Very soon I will have a year put in on foreign soil and it has been a rather long year to me, uneventful in most respects—a lot of hard work. Of course we do a lot of looking and a little ducking occasionally, just enough to break the monotony. Jerry's very obliging in that manner.

"How is Marvin? Extend to him my best regards. How are Shorty and Fred? I hope they are enjoying the best of luck, wherever they are. I suppose I'm getting along as good as could be expected in the Army—have a couple of ribbons—one for being over here and the other for being a good boy. They are pretty liberal with their ribbons—the only war I have seen so far has been kinda like looking at the moon. Of course the moon looks awfully close at times. Perhaps the next year will move a lot faster than the past one has. We all hope and think so anyway.

"I have been fortunate in getting a chance to see a lot of England since I have been over here. I have visited a lot of places that I used to read about, such as Scotland Yard, Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle, Tower of London, London Bridge, Big Ben, the Houses of Parliament, Eton College, Stratford-on-Avon, Coventry, Edinburgh Castle, Kenilworth Castle, Warwick Castle, Loch Lomond, St. Andrews Golf Course—played golf there—and so many other places too numerous to mention I really think I could enjoy studying English history now, which I used to detest in school.

"Guess I had better ring off before I have the censor pulling his hair out. "I hope this finds the Post Office paying you well and that you are having no difficulties at all with it. Extend my kindest personal regards to my many friends there. Yours truly, J. R. King."

MIDWAY 4-H CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The Midway 4-H Club met at 11:45 last Friday and elected officers. John Henry was elected president; George Rainey, vice-president; Carl McClintock, secretary-treasurer; Bill Draper, reporter; and Raymond Williams, parliamentarian.—Reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jester and children, formerly of New Lynn but now of Loraine, were here on Monday en route to Howe, Okla., after receiving a message that her father, Will Fortenberry, about 73, had dropped dead at his home there. E. D. Crouch, brother-in-law of Mr. Jester, went as far as Amarillo with them.

Scorn Overweight Motor Oil this Winter of War

"The Lighter the oil the better"... Discover how very light, by changing to Winter OIL-PLATING

Have you ever been a new papa? Have you ever had to enlarge the hole in the nipple of baby's bottle? The hot milk, just about as fluid as anything, barely comes through. Far "skinnier" than small holes in nipples are many of the oil spaces in your car's engine. That's still true after it is middle-aged or beyond. Any oil...any oil...has a hard enough time coming through and spreading all around. Overweight oil—easily thickened by cold—is far worse. The lightest oil your engine can use this season is rightest. And you can know that light oil will more than stand the gaff when it

Dread Engine Acid Fought by OIL-PLATING
Normal combustion always leaves acids inside of your engine when it stops. Formerly it seldom stood idle long. Soon mileage and speed heated your engine enough to oust acids. But nowadays rationing may force long rests, while corrosive acids gnaw. To combat corrosion, metals are plated. You combat acid corrosion with your engine OIL-PLATED.

"In regard to my personal actions since landing that memorable time, suffice to say that I have combined work and play in order to avoid becoming a dull boy. The novelty of another strange country is still fresh, and my opportunities to view Italy as a tourist are not as rare as one would think. Certainly, I would much rather have entered the continent in a more agreeable role, but the picture wasn't painted for convenience of individuals. Even so, many a globe-trotter of past seasons would be astounded to hear of Italian sights to be seen today.

"This country is exactly as the world atlas depicts: mountainous, fertile, and wild. Because of the type of terrain predominant here, rural people, especially, have adjusted themselves accordingly. The mountains on which they live are terraced methodically and cultivated with identically the same crops which thrive so splendidly in the valleys. Fruit and vegetables appear as the chief Italian crops, not to omit nuts, with an abundant variety being grown. (I haven't missed eating a couple of apples a day since we arrived.) The roads and highways are in general very poor, unimproved affairs, although the best traveled highways reveal signs of careful construction, but habitual neglect. In many places, one discovers traces of the Old Roman
