FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
W 2nd & Ave. G
James Todd, Minister
We give proper emphasis to the ordinances of the church in our public worship. We observe the Lord's Supper or Holy Communion each Sunday morning because the early church believed in the Lord's Day, the "first day of the week" as the day of commemorating the Resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ.
This day is not only a day of rest but it is a day of worship. The early church observed it as such and in keeping the day as one of memory of the resurrection of the Christ it cannot be done without remembering first his death on the Cross as portrayed in the table of Holy Communion.
We invite all of whatever faith and order who believe in the Christ to share with us in the fellowship of partaking of the emblems of the table as the Christ asked, "This do in remembrance of Me".
We are building a new church, but you will not be asked to donate any money.

What Followed Harnessing Of Atom Will Be Told In Series Of Articles

(The following is the first of a series of seven articles disclosing the highlights and sidelights which have accompanied the nation's development of atomic energy. Prepared at the Hanford atomic energy plant, the series will deal with the human things which followed in the wake of the first historic announcement that man had harnessed the atom. It will touch upon the things which lie ahead.)

General Electric News Bureau Hanford Atomic Plant

Seldom in American history have three neighboring villages seen such violent change as Hanford, White Bluff and Richland in southeastern Washington during the infancy of the Atomic Age.

One of the tiny communities billowed almost overnight into a sprawling boom town and quickly faded away and was lost to the desert wind and sand.

The second village was swallowed up, its value as a potential orchard center overshadowed by the need for an atomic energy plant site.

The third outlived the roaring boom period and since has grown into an unincorporated city of 27,000 persons, its future secure as a business and residential area for atomic plant personnel.

Deep inside the barricaded boundaries of the Hanford atomic energy project today lies the remnants of the town which once was given great promise of becoming a leading producer of orchard crops. The town was White Bluffs.

Once a small orchard community on the banks of the majestic Columbia, it since has been absorbed by the sprawling, bustling Hanford project. Now it is a crossroad in the center of a 600-square-mile government reservation where General Electric company operates the Hanford plutonium plant for the Atomic Energy Commission.

The town which gave its name to the Hanford project also was a quiet community of 300 persons before its selection as a site for the huge atomic energy plant turned it into one of the biggest boom towns the West has ever known.

More than 50,000 persons, comprising workers and their families, moved into the area early in 1943 to help construct giant plant facilities. They were people from all over the country, recruited from wartime labor markets to build the original Hanford works. When the job was completed, most of them moved on. Those who stayed behind to operate the atomic energy plant moved to little Richland village, some 25 miles away from the nearest plant area.

Today, the town of Hanford is a ghost town, its blacktopped streets and windwept wooden frame skeletons offering only slight evidence of its brawling past.

Richland, village of 250 persons which stood 30 miles downriver from Hanford and White Bluffs, survived its sister communities and the fickle prosperity of the era. It expanded and absorbed its new people until today it is one of the largest cities in Eastern Washington.

Because of the almost complete absence of facilities for caring for its increased population in the early days of the Hanford project, the responsibility of providing the necessities of a big town was placed with the plant contractor, in those days, E. I. du Pont de Nemours, prime contractor to the Army Engineers.

The essential activities of a municipality — police and fire protection, supplying the necessary utilities and recreational facilities — are now provided by the Community Service Section of GE. This group covers all normal departments of most cities in the nation; everything from public works and safety, to parks and library boards. In addition, it manages most of the town real estate rentals and operates the plant administrative area.

The communities of Hanford and White Bluffs now are chapters in American history, but Richland — a child of the Atomic Age — is making history as the nation's first atomic city.

Carrol M. Jones Reports On Korean Mission During First Leg Of Trip

(Editor's Note) Rev. Carrol M. Jones, pastor of the Progress Methodist Church, left Houston aboard the SS Sylvia Lykes, bound for Pusan, Korea. The ship on which he is traveling is carrying a cargo of farming supplies and livestock which have been donated by the people of Texas to the citizens of war torn Korea. The following is Jones' account of the first leg of the Texas Friendship For Korea mission.

Aboard the SS Sylvia Lykes, the middle of the Caribbean, Saturday, June 25, 4 p. m. — "Perhaps the people in and around Muleshoe would like to know something about how 'Texas Friendship For Korea' is doing now. The following is just a general picture of what has happened so far."

We sailed from the port of Houston slightly before midnight on Tuesday night, and passed by Galveston Harbor in the early mists of Wednesday and were on the high seas in an hour or so.

The weather has been fine. The sea was like glass for the first two days, but with steadily rising wind until today we are reaching for the handholds. It is thrilling to stand on the upper decks and watch the pitch of the bow and rigging, just as in the sea pictures. The weather has been delightfully cool since the wind has risen, but our speed has been checked considerably.

We are due in Panama Sunday evening around 10:00 p. m. We will probably go through the canal Monday and have the opportunity of washing down the stock with the fire hose from the freshwater lake that forms a part of the "Big Ditch".

The ship is carrying a full load with 908 head of livestock (119 goats, 196 sheep, 434 hogs, 137 cows and two MULES from MULESHOE), along with feed and other supplies. The animals were doing very well considering that some were sick when brought aboard. We lost one sick pig, and a calf that was born in the night. We still have a sick cow (she was sick when brought on board).

We turned up with only 14 cowboys when we were expecting 16, but we have it pretty well under control now by working only 10 to 12 hours a day. We started out by turning out at 4:30 a. m., working until breakfast at 7:30 with an hour off, working until 11:30 and in for dinner, then out again at 2:00 for cleaning pens and feeding again, in for supper at 5:30 and, finally for the last roundup from 7 until the SHEET DECORATING—Here is a room delightfully decorated with moonlight yellow sheets. The studio couch mattress is covered with a fitted sheet trimmed with green braid. starts were out. We had lots of alterations to make in the pens and watering troughs. We are through with most of that now, however, and there is a promise of being able to take it a little easier.

I am in charge of the cattle of the main afterdeck and the mules on the same deck are a special charge of mine. Kelih Armstrong from Floydada is my helper. We water by putting a great number of 2½ gallon buckets in the feed troughs and filling these with water from a handy set of hose. We feed by removing most of the buckets and carrying hay from the main stacks before and after. This is easy enough, but the cleaning is a little rougher. We have all the big cattle (bulls, large heifers, and a few grown cows). We don't get in the pens with this kind of stuff, most of them are full grown Brahmas and not too inclined toward our company. We therefore rake it out from in front and behind the pens, carry it to the nearest deck side and toss it over to the sharks. This would be easy enough on any farm around Muleshoe, but it is complicated by the maze of rigging and chains that hold the pens in place. Some places require that we get down on our hands and knees and snake through the cables that are covered with grease, tar, and sea grime. But we are having as much fun as a barrel of monkeys.

The ship accommodations are the best. I share a nice stateroom (No. 2 on the port side next to the Captain's) with the only other preacher aboard, a Baptist from Corsicana. We have a private bath, laundry facilities, eat in officer's mess, room service, etc.

The boys eat below in a dining hall to themselves and have the same food we have. We would gladly have eaten with them but the accommodations do not permit it.

After passing through Panama we will be 13 days to Honolulu where we will take on water and fuel again. The ship does not have distilling apparatus and must carry the full supply. We will have an opportunity for mail in Honolulu. We are not sure that we may go ashore. It may be that the tanker will meet us in the harbor and we will not so much as tie up. Regardless of this, however, we will be on our way to Pusan, Korea and about 14 to 15 days more at sea. We will not have an opportunity to mail letters until we reach Pusan. You will notice that our destination is Pusan rather than Inchon as we planned few weeks ago.

Today the weather is turned for the worse and the ship is rolling and pitching in a decided manner. The bow is rising and falling something like 30 to 40 feet at the present and spray is coming up on the second deck. The Captain says we are not likely to see any rougher weather at this time of the year. Of course this is not considered rough by seamen, and I had expected it to be much worse.

The "Cowboys" have devotions each morning just before going to work. We meet out on the deck for prayer and Scripture and brief comments. Brother Starkey and I have been in charge up to date, but we will share the responsibility with the others. Starkey, my cabin mate, will preach in the morning, Sunday. The crew will be invited to join us at that time.

My kindest regards to my friends and the people of Muleshoe.

shoe, especially to those who hoped to make this unusual venture of love and goodwill possible. I am sure that those who shared in this mission of mercy will never know how much it will mean as it is blessed by God and multiplied to the good of His cause in this world.

Very sincerely,
CARROL M. JONES

LAUNDRY TIPS

There's a lot being said — and done — these days about bathroom laundry combinations. What is more convenient than to have your washer and dryer where your soiled clothes and linens are stored between washings? When it comes to laundering shower curtains, it's only a matter of changing tubs. And that is what this column is about...

During the summer when your shower is working overtime keeping the family cool, plastic shower curtains are apt to lose their color and crispness. According to Marcia Mead, home service director for Whirlpool Corporation, these curtains can be successfully laundered and softened in an automatic washer. Fill washer tub with warm water and add twice the amount of water softener you usually use to condition the water. Set the timer for three minutes and complete cycle automatically. That's all there is to it!

Plastic is not absorbent so curtains may be hung immediately after they are removed from spin-dry cycle of washer. If you prefer, curtains may be dried in an automatic dryer providing temperature is under 120°. The delicate fabrics cycle of the Imperial electric dryer is perfect for this.

REVISION OF TEXAS SEED LAWS

Prospects are somewhat brighter now towards curtailing any further spread of two of Texas' primary crop-destroying noxious weeds.

The Texas Legislature in its recent session passed a measure making it unlawful to offer for sale any seed containing traces of nut grass or field bindweed.

Although nutgrass has been present in East Texas fields for many years, it's spread across the state has been alarming in the past 20 years. Field bindweed, virtually unknown in Texas 20 years ago, has crept into the state through interstate seed sales from Oklahoma and New Mexico. It has already rendered thousands of acres of once productive land practically useless.

The new seed provisions, amending the Texas Seed Act, also cut down the permissive presence of many other weeds in commercial seeds. These noxious weeds are divided into two groups: "Primary" and "Secondary." With exception of nutgrass and field bindweed which are totally prohibited, "Primary" weeds in excess of 100 weed seed per pound are barred from sale.

"Secondary" noxious weeds in excess of 200 weed seed per pound are prohibited from sale.

This means that presence in commercial seed of more than 100 seeds-per-pound of dodder, curled dock, blusweed, Canada thistle, or Johnson grass — all primary weeds — makes such seed unsalable. However, crops containing Johnson grass in excessive quantities may be sold when labeled "Pasture Mixture."

Secondary noxious weeds, or weeds that can be controlled by good cultural practice in spite of their objectionability, include such familiar species as Russian thistle, Bermuda grass, wild oats, wild onions and garlic, wild carrot, wild mustard, goat grass, puncturevine (goat hear), cocklebur, and wild radish. Their prohibition in excess of 200 weed seed per pound of commercial crop seed does not of course, entail prohibition of cultivation of any one for domestic purposes, such as the use of Bermuda grass as a lawn covering.

These new seed law provisions,

SPENT WEEKEND AT ROARING SPRINGS

now in effect, also provide that seed offered for sale must be tested every nine months, instead of once a year as required by previous statutes. This further tightening of Texas seed laws is aimed primarily at making Texas seed restrictions conform to those of surrounding states and to keep our crops free from unnecessary pollution.

Spot Oiling Of Johnson Grass Is 99% Effective

COLLEGE STATION, July 5 — Farmers can now get rid of Johnson grass completely without swinging a hoe.

Spot application of diesel and naphtha-type oil sprays is providing a practical answer to row crop control of Johnson grass. At College Station four treatments of such oils killed 99 per cent of all Johnson grass in cotton stands in one season. Four trips over a similar field with hand hoes eliminated only 44 per cent of the grass.

Homer E. Rea, agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station who has been working with the various Johnson grass killers, believes that successful spot oiling of Johnson grass is highly significant. "It does away with intensive hand labor methods which few farmers can afford these days", Rea said.

Varsol 1, Lightfoot 23, No-weed Oil, Lion 1 and Flit 38 are among commercial preparations to use. An ordinary knapsack sprayer applying a half and half mixture of one of these oils and diesel fuel will do the job, Rea explained. About one-third of a teaspoon of oil mixture on the stem near the base of each plant is sufficient for results. Best kills are obtained on young grass. Within hours after the initial treatment Johnson grass usually is shriveled and killed to ground level. To completely eradicate the roots and prevent later re-sprouting repeated oilings at intervals of seven to 10 days may be necessary. This usually means four to six treatments.

Rea has the cost of application figured at $14.10 an acre, counting oil and labor. The cost, of course, will vary with the amount of oil used and the intensity of Johnson grass infestation.

Today's Meditation

NEW BIRTH, NEW FREEDOM
Read II Corinthians 5:17-21.
Ye must be born again. (John 3:7.)

The most remarkable fact about Jesus' insistence that we must be born again is His assurance that we can be born again. It means new life. We can start all over again.

We have often been told that humanity is waiting for a revolutionary Christianity which will say that the world is evil and then change it. The school, the home, and even the church must be made over. All these must be redeemed by the spirit and power of Christ.

We need the kind of self-surrender, of new birth, that quickens the conscious, opens the heart to God's love, and leads the will to the purpose of God. None of these results will follow unless individuals give their hearts—that is, their love and loyalty—to God. Only God can change man in any deep, radical sense. We do not decide to change our personality and then, with the wave of a wand, presto, change it. We give God the chance to possess us and use us.

PRAYER

Father, we have too long followed the warped desires of our undisciplined minds and hearts. In our best moments we want to follow the way of Christ. Change us into His likeness by giving Thy direction and love this day. In His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
God is able to do what I cannot do for myself; I yield myself to Him.
— G. Ray Jordan (Ga.)

Rev. James Todd Says—

July Is Big Month For Accidents

Editor's Note: We asked Rev. James Todd, pastor of First Christian Church to give us and our readers the benefit of his experiences during a long and thoughtful life. He comes up this week with something that is fresh in our minds—Accidents that kill and maim. We think you will enjoy his writings from time to time.

By JAMES TODD
With our July 4th holiday behind us with its accompanying high death rate due to motor vehicle accidents and those in other public places frequented by holiday visitors, we may be inclined to believe with Johnnie, when the teacher asked him to give a sentence using the word "diadem", that "Those what cross the railroad crossings without lookin' di-a-dem sight quicker than those what stops, look, and lissen".

According to reports from the Statistical Bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and other like groups who study accidents and their heavy toll of human life our highest annual death rate due to accidents is to be found in the place of which John Howard Payne sang long years ago on a strange and foreign soil, "Be It Ever So Humble There Is No Place Like Home", and "Strange As It May Seem", or "Believe It Or Not" the highest rate is to be found in our present month of July. The lowest is during April and May, and springtime is the safest.

FALLS KILL MANY
Falls take first place in our annual toll of fatal accidents throughout the United States, and are the most important type of fatal accidents among the elderly of the home. There are more falls than all other forms of accidents combined. Men and women just do not seem to be able to remember to "watch your step". Falls cause about three times as many accidents every year as does automobile accidents, next in importance in the casualties among older persons.

Falls occur mostly in and about the home by falling down stairs, tripping over rugs and carpets, falling off or over chairs, falling in bath tubs due to stepping on soap that does not float. When these falls happen to younger persons they are not apt to terminate fatally, but with old age any sort of injury, including shock arising from fractures, dislocations, multiple contusions, ever lesser injuries often hasten death, even if not primary causes.

Elderly women are the more frequently victim than the elderly men, rating 85%. These groups who study accidents urge with much emphasis that home safety be taught in and by women's organizations. This is now being done by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Illinois, Pennsylvania, and North Carolina.

The majority of falls among elderly men and women would never occur if more care and forethought were exercised, and poor illumination, loose, broken, badly spaced treads, obstructions left on stairways, and highly polished floors with small rugs were eliminated.

Many of these fatal falls in and about the home are from windows by unsupervised youngsters placed in beds near windows, or the pre-school child who climbed some object near an open window.

Largest number of deaths from falls from windows are adults who sit with back outward while washing the window. They momentarily lose their balance when the window somehow becomes jammed and cannot be moved. Sometimes adults will even sit on a window box, for which their weight is too heavy, and down they go. Again a worn window frame, neglected and left unrepaired, will pull loose. All activities about the window, including hanging of curtains, hanging clothes out or taken in by those living in apartments, shaking rugs out of windows, should be done with the best of carefulness.

Burns is the second cause of fatal accidents in and about the home, women nearly twice that of men. With the increase in the number of women now smoking there is a corresponding increase in burns due to smoking in bed and falling asleep. Use of flammable liquids in the home in cleaning clothes and such like contribute to the death toll due to burns. Hot liquids pulled by little children from tables and stoves in the kitchen also take a heavy toll. The kitchen is considered the most unsafe room in the home. Bonfires out in the backyard are responsible for more deaths due to burns than are commonly realized.

Death due to poisoning claims around 1200 persons annually in the United States. The medicine cabinet is the leader in this. Members of the family get up during the night "half a sleep" and take substances of a poisonous nature by mistake. Children them". All articles in the medicine cabinet should be properly marked and placed where they cannot be mistakenly used.

Electric Shock Takes Toll

Electric shock takes a surprisingly large number of lives in many of our American homes, mostly from low voltage current. The cause are defective extension cords; particularly hazardous damp areas, such as cellars and yards. It is not clear many times whether these deaths are due to defective home appliances or to the cord.

Among the children deaths due to electric shock many times come as a result of the child in the bathtub touching the light socket or pulling an electric fan into the water. Water faucets charged with electricity by short circuit have been known to result in death from electric shock.

Accidental shooting in the home takes annually 2700 lives in the United States, and rates 6th place. More people are killed by accidental shooting in and around the home than out hunting. Pistols and revolvers account for half of these deaths, due to cleaning, dropping, or knocking or exhibiting while "unloaded". Children playing games of these victims of accidental shooting. All of these are due to one outstanding thing—carelessness in leaving firearms in dresser drawers, desk drawers, on the kitchen shelf, or back in the closet.

Much of this is all due to the subject to be discussed next week — "Accidents or Accident Proneness".

DANGEROUS BUT EFFECTIVE

Sodium Chlorate Will Be Used To Kill Bindweed In Muleshoe Area This Year

but effective chemical. Sodium Chlorate is used in the manufacture of explosives and is itself dangerous when improperly handled. We are quoting Kansas bulletin 366 issued last August, and considered by top authorities as the best publication on Bindweed Control in giving you the high points to consider in safe and successful use of Sodium Chlorate.

When dry clothing, vegetation or boards become wet with Sodium Chlorate solution and allowed to dry they may ignite from friction, sparks or heat from the sun. Dry applications are safer, but the dry powder should be applied to the soil infested with weeds and great care taken that no dry powder is allowed to be spilled in trouser cuffs, pick-up beds or around buildings. Dry powder will sooner or later come in contact with moisture and friction, spark or heat from the sun will ignite same.

Nine years of experiments in Kansas using eleven application dates each year proved that any time from June to November 1st, is satisfactory for using Sodium Chlorate. About 25% better results were obtained when treated October 1 to October 15 of this June to November period. The effectiveness of Sodium Chlorate depends upon sufficient moisture to leach the chemical into the soil so that roots are contacted and regrowth prevented. Too much rainfall or irrigation has been known to cause poor results.

Six pounds Sodium Chlorate per square rod in April or five pounds in October was the average in Kansas tests under dry-land conditions, but heavier rates usually gave better control.

Even when excessively high rates are used, it is always necessary to retreat the area in subsequent years to completely eradicate bindweed.

When October was used as first treatment, second treatment required only two to five pounds to completely eradicate bindweed. Retreatment should be delayed until fall of year or spring of second year. Sodium Chlorate was equally effective whether broadcast dry or applied as a spray. When considering the greater fire hazard, cost of machinery and labor involved in handling water it would seem more practical to apply dry and follow with approximately four inches of irrigation water.

A fifty gallon drum with top removed might be easily converted to a gravity sprinkler by allowing Sodium Chlorate and water mixture to pass out from bottom of barrel through a garden hose and sprinkler nozzle. This method would be best suited for fence rows, ditch banks and other places that would be hard to wet, by flooding with irrigation water.

A final and brief formula for success with Sodium Chlorate. Handle and store with the same respect you would accord gunpowder and use as a soil sterilant not as a burner of foliage. Treat the remaining bindweed again the following fall.

WATERING 4 MILLION ACRES

33,537 Irrigation Wells Counted Now In Plains Shallow Water Belt

COLLEGE STATION, July 5 — More than 4,000,000 acres of land on the High Plains of Texas. This and other facts are presented in the annual irrigation survey by R. V. Thurmond and Ralph L. Jones of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The reports, made yearly since 1919, shows the tremendous expansion of irrigation in the area. The first report showed more than 12,478 wells were being used to irrigate 1,711,000 acres on 9,025 farms. By May 1955, the number of irrigated farms stood at 17,099; the number of wells at 33,537 and the irrigated acreage at 4,017,530.

From May 1954, to May 1955, 5,554 wells were added and the acreage irrigated increased by 390,425. The greatest increase in the number of wells during the seven year period was the 6,268 added from May 1952 to May 1953. The increase in the area irrigated rose by 598,094 acres. Hale county with 3,700 wells is the leader in this category. These wells supply the water to irrigate 470,000 acres. The 3,000 wells in Swisher county supply the water for 480,000 acres. The report shows Hockley county with 3,550 wells; Lubbock with 3,300 and Lamb county with 2,800 to rank high in the area.

Butane is used on 15,447 wells while natural gas powers another 11,881 pumping plants. A majority of the wells, 24,779, had a pumping lift of more than 125 feet and 17,592 were shown with a pumping capacity of under 700 gallons per minute.

Grain sorghum, cotton, wheat, alfalfa and sudan for pasture, were the principal crops irrigated. According to the report, grain sorghum lead cotton in 1955 by almost 400,000 acres.

Thurmond says the report is compiled from figures submitted from the county agricultural
