

Odds AND Ends

(By E. I. The Elder)

Up to this time, folks, I have confined my remarks about the Rio Grande to the Big Bend portion of the River, and have not even undertaken to give you much data respecting even that portion of it except the Santa Elena Canyon alone. And last week I thought that I was going to leave the Rio Grande for awhile. But a little study of it has so intrigued me that I have decided to really give you some marvelous Odds and Ends about the stream. I am going to tell you something about both ends of it and a lot of odd, or at least remarkable, things that may be found between the two ends. In fact, among all the streams of America, the Rio Grande is unique in many respects. I consider it one of the most remarkable of American rivers.

In the first place, it rises up among the clouds. Only a few of the great rivers of America have such lofty beginnings. Its headwaters come right off the great Continental Divide among the towering mountains of southwestern Colorado. Its head spring or lake is almost directly beneath the Divide. Heretofore I have been describing to you some of the lofty peaks of the Big Bend area of Texas, one or two of them more than 8,000 feet high, several of them more than 7,000 feet. It is a land of marvelous mountain scenery. But the mountains of Colorado among which the Rio Grande rises are more than 5,000 feet higher above sea-level than any mountain in the Big Bend area. Pole Creek Mountain, just north of the head of the Rio Grande, towers to a height of 13,740 feet; and Rio Grande Pyramid, just south of the River's head, mounts upward to a height of 13,830 feet. The summits of both reach up into the regions of perpetual snow and oftentimes are hidden in the clouds. What ever snow melts on the south side of Pole Creek Mountain and on the north side of Rio Grande Pyramid flows down into the channel of the Rio Grande River.

Once in the uppermost channel of the Rio Grande, these waters for many miles come tumbling down over rapids and cataracts like some mad thing, hurrying eastward and northeastward for some distance, thence swerving a round to the southeast and finally south before leaving the state of Colorado and entering the state of New Mexico some 250 or 300 miles, as the channel crooks and turns, from the head of the stream. The River enters the state of New Mexico just west of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains and east of other Rocky Mountain ranges, rushes on down west of Taos, west of Santa Fe, right by Albuquerque, and on southward another hundred miles to the lake created by the great Elephant Butte Dam, and leaves the state of New Mexico just above El Paso to Brownsville, a distance of fully a thousand miles as the river bends and turns.

Many Lynn county people have crossed the Rio Grande repeatedly at different points in New Mexico and are reasonably familiar with the stream in that state. Many of them have gone out to Hot Springs near the big dam to bathe in their waters and to fish in the lake or in the waters below the lake. I have driven up the channel of the River from a point near Santa Fe to a point near Taos; and when I made the drive I was agreeably surprised at the great volume of water that was coming down the channel and also at the scenic aspects of the River, and the near-by mountains.

The great volume of water was especially surprising to me. That was one August, I believe, and the water was coming not from recent rains but from the melting snows on the mountains. Well, this water is largely impounded by the great Elephant Butte Dam. Much of it is used to irrigate the valley below the dam, even down to El Paso and to a point far below El Paso, so that we find that the annual flow of the river at El Paso is not nearly so large as it is at Albuquerque. This dam is one of the great dams of the United States, though there are two others much larger, and the lake has made possible one of the greatest irrigation projects in the whole country. Other irrigation projects immediately below El Paso also use large additional quantities of water from the Rio Grande. So, the amount of the water flow at El Paso, according to late statistics, is only 723,000 acre-feet per annum. The flow is further reduced by irrigation projects below the city so that the annual flow at Fort Quitman, almost a hundred miles downstream from El Paso, amounts to only 216,000 acre-feet. There irrigation practically stops; but the irrigation area has extended almost 200 miles below the Elephant Butte Dam and has converted many hundreds of thousands of acres of land into productive cotton fields. Some of it produces as much as two bales per acre. I have no statistics as to the number of bales produced in New Mexico in recent years but production in El Paso county, Texas, the past ten years has been running from 60,000 to 100,000 bales per annum. And El Paso county isn't much bigger than your fist since they cut Hudepeth county off from it.

Now, let's go down and talk about the other end of the Rio Grande a bit. We might start out by saying that the Rio Grande has converted two Texas counties in the lower valley into the garden spot of the world—into fruit orchards and vineyards that rival those of California and Florida; into truck gardens that furnish fresh vegetables to almost every city, village, and town in Texas, and countless car-loads of them every year to the cities of the North; into cotton fields, which are among the most productive in all the world. So far as I have been able to find out, they are surpassed only by the Delta of the Nile, whose 3,000,000 acres of alluvial soil produces annually from 1,000,000 to 1,300,000 bales of sea-island cotton; and by the Yazoo Delta in Mississippi, whose 2,000,000 acres plus produces annually about 1,500,000 bales of sea-island cotton—500-pound bales in each case. Cameron and Hidalgo counties in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, with a little more than 325,000 acres of land devoted to the raising of cotton, produce annually from 200,000 to 225,000 bales of cotton. And that has been done the past few years with a shortage of water for irrigation purposes. When the great Falcon Dam now under construction is completed not only will there be an ample sufficiency of water for the lands now devoted to cotton culture but also for a vast amount of additional acreage.

And that brings us around to another odd thing, another surprising revelation. I have often heard it said that the Rio Grande flows much more water in its upper course—in New Mexico above Elephant Butte Dam, to be specific—than it flows in its lower courses. But the available facts seem to prove the contrary.

I do not have any statistics as to the amount of water that passes down the River annually at Santa Fe, Albuquerque, or any other New Mexico point, but Texas statistics do show that the amount of water flowing down the Rio Grande along the border of this state increases rapidly and tremendously as one goes down the River.

Here are some figures that prove the point, taken from the Texas Almanac of 1949-50. The average amount of water passing down the River annually at lower Presidio, at the head of the Big Bend, for the past 29 years, is given as 1,490,000 acre-feet. An acre-foot of water, you will understand, is an amount of water that would cover an acre of land one foot deep.

At Johnson Ranch, which is near the southernmost tip of the Big Bend, the amount is given as 1,976,000 acre-feet; at Del Rio, just below the Big Bend, 3,132,000 acre-feet; at Eagle Pass, 3,496,000 acre-feet; at Laredo, 3,646,000 acre-feet; at Zapata, 4,206,000 acre-feet; at Rio Grande City, 5,082,000 acre-feet. And then the amount decreases rapidly from that point on to the Gulf because of the large amount of water taken from the stream annually for irrigation purposes from Rio Grande City down to Brownsville, the average flow into the Gulf at Brownsville for the past six years being 3,204,000 acre-feet but at Matamoras just across the River the average flow per annum for the past 29 years foots up to 4,229,000 acre-feet. That is explainable by the fact that during the first part of that comparatively long period very little water was taken from the River for irrigation purposes.

Comparing the flow of the river at Grande City with that of other streams, we find that the flow of the Brazos at Richmond near the Gulf had an average of 6,018,000 acre-feet for a period of 28 years and that the Trinity at Romayer in Luberty county, also near the Gulf, registered an average of 5,920,000 feet for a period of 23 years. The flow of the Colorado at Wharton for 14 years and at Columbus for 30 years was little more than half that of the Trinity in either case.

It will be seen that the flow of the Rio Grande above the irrigation district was not far below that of either the Brazos or the Trinity, from which streams practically no water at any point along their respective courses is used for irrigation purposes.

How does it happen then that the Lower Rio Grande Valley does not have a sufficiency of water? One reason is, of course, that much of the annual flow of the Lower Rio Grande is being diverted from the River for irrigation purposes. But perhaps the main reason is that most of the flood waters that come down the Rio Grande past Rio Grande City rush on down the stream into the Gulf and are lost for irrigation purposes. We have just had a striking example of that very thing.

The Falcon Dam now under construction some twenty miles above Rio Grande City will impound 3,300,000 acre-feet of these flood waters for irrigation purposes, it is said, which will greatly increase the acreage of the irrigation district below that point, and greatly increase production of cotton, fruits, and vegetables in that area. That dam, when finished, will be five miles long, three miles of it on the Mexican side of the River and 2 miles of it on the American side. The waters will be divided as nearly as possible in accordance with the number of irrigatable acres on the respective two sides of the River and the cost, it is agreed, will be likewise divided, the United States paying 58 percent of the cost and Mexico 42 percent. We predict that American capital will be used to develop the Mexican side of the River as well as the American side. In spite of the destructive freeze during the winter of 49-50, it would seem that the Lower Valley has ahead of it a most glorious future, agriculturally, horticulturally, and economically. Great prosperity for that area lies just around the corner.

But this is not all. When the Falcon Dam shall have been completed another great dam is to be built, by international agreement also, in some portion of the Big Bend area. It is to be a larger dam, or at least it is expected to impound a much larger amount of water, than the Falcon Dam. Its capacity, according to announcement heretofore made, is expected to be about 5,200,000 acre-feet of water. Its purpose also will be to conserve flood waters and to provide irrigation for other hundreds of thousands of acres of land. Construction of this dam is expected to begin in 1953 or 1954.

It has also been announced that following the completion of this dam still another one will be built somewhere down the River between these two. We have no information as to the location but probably down near Quemado or Eagle Pass. Surely it will be somewhere below the mouth of (Continued)

HOW DID YOU DO IT, COACH?

MITCHELL WILL MAKE A TOP-NOTCH SPLIT-T COACH FOR TECH. AS A SPLIT-T QUARTERBACK AT O.U. HE PILOTTED THE SOONERS TO THE SUGAR BOWL.

Two Tahoka Junior football teams defeated two Post teams in a double-header here Tuesday night, Tahoka Seventh Grade edging out Post 7 to 6, and the Tahoka Eighth Grade taking an impressive 19 to 0 victory.

The Junior teams were playing Seminole Juniors and Tahoka B team was playing Seminole B team here Thursday evening as The News went to press. Next Tuesday night, they will play the Brownfield Juniors in Brownfield.

Coach Tom Bartley's Seventh grade team was almost evenly matched by Coach Wayne Pipes' Post Seventh grade. Post scored in the second quarter, but failed on the conversion attempt by running the ball. Tahoka got the short kick-off on the 50, and scored on two plays. Little J. W. Stevens, on the first play, carried the ball 19 yards around right end. Then Odell Williams broke through the line and went 31 yards to score. Stevens ran the ball over for the extra point, which proved to be the margin of victory.

In the second game, Bartley's Eighth grade team had less trouble in subduing Coach "Bing" Bingham's team. Opening the game, Post received, couldn't go, and punted. Quarterback Gordon Smith took the punt on his own 39 and went 61 yards for pay dirt. The kick was no good. Late in the second quarter, Tahoka scored again, with Smith carrying over from the three. He carried the ball over for the conversion to make the halftime both the Pecos and the Devil's River, so as to impound the waters that come down those two streams.

If and when these planned projects are completed, the semi-desert lands through which the Rio Grande passes should become almost one continuous oasis from El Paso to Brownsville. With three major lakes between Presidio and the Gulf, and irrigation ditches everywhere up and down the valley, the highway along the River would doubtless become one of the busiest in the country, and one of the most scenic. Besides, fishing in the waters of the lakes and the River undoubtedly would soon become a great industry as well as a source of pleasure for thousands of people who love the sport. With numerous parks and pleasure resorts of various kinds, it would be a tourist paradise, unless they converted it into dens of wickedness, in which event, it would probably present marvelous opportunities for the work of the Minister, the Missionary, and the flaming Evangelist.

Is this too rosy a picture we are painting? It may be but I think not. If those dams are built and those irrigation projects are installed, I can but see a teeming population along the Rio Grande 25, 30 or 40 years from today. If you think I am crazy, just look what irrigation has already done for the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Our belief is that this Prosperity will move upstream, a long ways up-stream, and that in the course of time the Desert will be a-bloom with cotton blossoms and roses.

Lofty mountains, deep canyons, magnificent scenery, desert sands, sage brush, yucca, cacti, cattle, and cowboys; Indians, Mexicans, outlawry, somberos, six-shooters, rattle-snakes, and Gila monsters—that was the Rio Grande of the past.

These same lofty mountains, deep canyons, magnificent scenery, great artificial lakes, parks, recreation centers, irrigation canals, luxuriant cotton fields, truck gardens, orchards, vineyards, heavy trucks and pleasure cars rushing up and down the great international highways, numerous and prosperous towns, fine little cities, and a teeming population on both banks of the River—this is to be the Rio Grande of the future.

Many of you boys and girls will live to see it.

May our young people and our boys and girls of today prepare themselves educationally, morally, and spiritually to cope with the problems that these changes will bring, and also with the problems that the marvelous changes still taking place on these fertile Plains also will bring.

Will our young people meet these responsibilities creditably? I believe that they will. Great is the future of Texas.

Some Hunting Laws Change

AUSTIN.—The Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission reminded Texans of some extra law license provisions for the new hunting season.

One is that all Texans over 16 years of age, planning to hunt waterfowl, must have the $2 Federal duck stamp regardless of whether they hunt in their home area.

Under the new state combined hunting license law, Texans must have the $2.15 license to hunt small game beyond their home county. All those hunting deer or turkey must have the state license, excepting those who hunt on the property of their residence and those who are under 17 years of age.

Those hunting deer or turkey on their home property or excused by youth, must obtain an "Exempt" license which is similar to the regular licenses. They are issued without cost, bear the regular two deer tags but have the word "Exempt" lettered in red across their face.

Sale Of Feeds Shows Increase

COLLEGE STATION.—A record tonnage of commercial feeds was sold in Texas during the past fiscal year, according to F. D. Brock, director of the Feed Control Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

From September 1, 1950 to August 31, 1951, an estimated 3,853,600 tons of feed were sold in Texas. This was an increase of 617,250 tons over 1949-50 and 525,600 tons more than was sold in 1942-43, the previous record year.

Although the exact tonnages sold for the various classes of feed were not available, Brock emphasized that, for the waterfowl season beginning November 9, only exemptions for the $2 Federal fee are persons 16 years of age and under.

Reports from the approximately 2000 state license agencies indicate that a normal number of Texans have bought the combined hunting license, as well as the $1.65 statewide fishing license. A few dealers already have asked for new supplies.

livestock, poultry and so forth are not known, Brock said indications are that the largest increase occurred in the use of range feeds.

There are 888 active commercial feed firms doing business in Texas, 217 of which are located outside the state. These firms sell thousands of different feed formulations; several have registrations covering as many as 150 different products each.

These figures do not include farmers who are exempt under the law. Although farmers may process feed they grow, they are not required to register or tag it.

During 1950-51 the Feed Control Service sold 87,000,000 feed tags—each tag issued for an amount ranging from 5 to 125 pounds of feed.

Brock expects the tonnage of feed sold in Texas to decrease sharply during 1951-52 because of the large numbers of cattle now going to market. Sales of feed for poultry and swine probably will increase, Brock said.

S. N. NORWOOD FAMILY HAS REUNION HERE

Prices Raised On Adult Meals

Local school authorities have found it necessary to raise the price of lunches at the school cafeteria for adults from 25 to 35 cents, according to Supt. Otis Spears. The raise does not affect any school child, but adults only, including teachers, their wives or husbands, and visitors who frequently patronize the school lunch room. "We welcome visitors to the lunch room, either to inspect it or to partake of the meal, but we feel that in order to keep from losing money on each adult lunch, we must charge the actual cost, or

The seven children of Mr. S. N. Norwood met at the Samie Norwood home in Tahoka Saturday, September 22, for an all day reunion, and had a basket dinner. This was the first time they had all been together in several years. Those attending: Warren Norwood and son Earl of Keystone, Okla., James Norwood of Seymour; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nethleton and two children, Betty Lou and Roy Junior of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Norwood, Slaton; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Norwood, sons Troy and Bud, Welch; Mrs. Janie Pendleton and daughter Roberta of T-Bar; Mr. and Mrs. Sport Pendleton and son Jerry, Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hill, Jamie and Ronnie, of West Point; Mr. and Mrs. Loyda Pendleton, T-Bar; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Norwood and Janet of Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Samie Norwood and Margaret and Samie of Tahoka; Mrs. C. J. Renfro of Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Price Richey and Novell of Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Raymond entertained a group with a 42-party Friday night. Those present were Hazel and George Williamson, Myra and Jiggs Swann, Derrell and Laverne Ward, Frances and Arvon Holder and Ralph and Jessie Faye Kahlich. Brownies and coffee were served to the guests. Hazel Williamson got high score. Rev. George Dale preached again in the Baptist Church Sunday. A small crowd enjoyed the performance of the magician show featuring Roy Mayer at the school last week.

WILSON LUTHERANS ORGANIZE BROTHERHOOD

St. John's Lutheran Church, Wilson, has seen a new organization formed in its midst. The men of the church met for a chicken barbecue supper as they organized a men's organization which was named "The Brotherhood of the St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church of Wilson, Texas."

The new Brotherhood will have as its objective in its meeting a four-fold plan: Devotion, Education, Brotherhood Service, and Christian Fellowship. The organization will strive to cultivate better acquaintanceship of the men of the congregation. It will also seek to impress upon them the obligations of Christian Stewardship and will inspire them to assume larger responsibilities in the congregation.

The Tuesday after the second Sunday in each month has been chosen as the regular meeting night of the new organization. The officers elected by the Brotherhood are Edmond Maeker, president; Werner Schaffner, vice president; Roland Stagemoeller, secretary; and Elmo Schaffner, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Coursey visited Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Morris at Slide Supday. Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Sander visited her brother, Boyce Becker, who is in an Army hospital at El Paso over the week end.

LYDIA SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS HOLD MEETING

The Lydia Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church, met Tuesday night of this week in the home of Mrs. W. H. Kenley. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Kenley and Mrs. Mary Jo Miller.

Lenin is quoted as saying shortly before his demise: "We shall force the United States to spend itself into destruction." And we have thought all the time we were doing it voluntarily.

Plans for the new yearbooks, and redecorating the classroom were discussed, and committees were appointed by Mrs. Gwynelle Brookshire, president.

about 35 cents," Mr. Spears said. The raise for adults is made because of the cost of groceries, decrease in the amount of government commodities supplied the school, increase in quality of the meals served. Furthermore, the government reimburses the school 7 cents on each student lunch, while there is no such aid for adult lunches.

Gifts were exchanged, and refreshments served to Mesdames: Virginia McClintock, Gwen Akin, Jeanne McCord, Pat Oliver, Cody Fulford, Becky Thurman, Nan Adams, Gwynelle Brookshire, Jean Mashburn, Imogene Hines, Peggy Huey, Eloise Chamblee, Billie Harvick, the hostess, and a guest, Marilyn Carmack.

Following are the menus for next week: Monday: Toasted weiners and cheese, blackeyed peas, creamed potatoes, mixed salad, peach cobbler, milk, and bread. Tuesday: Brown beans, cabbage slaw, macaroni and tomatoes, corn bread, milk and mince meat cookies.

Ed Crowder has been ill with the flu the past week.

Wednesday: Roast and gravy, green beans, creamed potatoes, milk, hot rolls, and fruit salad.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Hancock visited Mrs. W. J. Hancock and Mrs. M. M. Murray Sunday.

Thursday: Soup, crackers, sandwich, chocolate cake, and milk.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Riddle visited their son, T. R. Riddle, in Tahoka Sunday evening.

Friday: Pork chops, gravy, peas, creamed potatoes, combination salad, milk, hot rolls, and sugar cookies.

Lila Faye Crowder is ill in Mercy Hospital at Slaton.

A number of women attended the Blanche Grove Circle of the W. M. S. held at Mrs. Pat Swann's Monday evening. Cake and punch were served the group.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dodson and son Lynn left Sunday, moving to North Shafter, Calif., where they will make their home.

Relatives who visited the John R. Gayle family the past week are: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Upshaw of Roby, Mrs. J. B. Linecum and Mr. Clifton Davenport of Holliday, Mrs. Mack Lyles and Nancy of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Richey and Norma of Meadow, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gayle, Butch, and Glenda of Bronco; and Rev. Elzie Gayle of Fort Worth.

The T. E. L. Adult Sunday School class enjoyed a social in the home of Mrs. Pat Swann last Thursday evening. Those present were: Mes. W. A. Baxley, Evans, R. Rhoades, Tadlock, H. B. Crosby, S. A. Cummings, Standefer, W. F. Raymond, and H. Hannas.

Social Security Man Is Coming

Gerald L. Schantz, Field Representative of the Lubbock Social Security office will be in Tahoka at the Post Office on Wednesday, October 3rd, at 9:00 a. m. to assist persons in Social Security matters.

Farm hands who work regularly are now building social security protection, just as workers in commerce and industry have been doing for years. The law now covers regular farm hands who work for one farm operator five months or more. These farm workers help pay for this insurance, of course, in the form of deductions from cash wages. These deductions pay for insurance benefits for the workers at age 65, and for their families in case of death. They will receive insurance, not charity. Farm operators and farm workers who do not already know about this new law should contact the Lubbock social security office.

The best season for planting the winter legume crop has arrived and moisture conditions are now favorable. Legume should be inoculated and the land fertilized before the seeding operation is performed.

Highly Rated Seminole Indians Surprised By Tahoka Bulldogs, Barely Get By With 7-7 Tie

Tommie Whorton Crowned Band Sweetheart At Halftime Ceremony

The fighting Tahoka Bulldogs of District 8-AA turned in a masterful performance in gaining a 7 to 7 tie with the highly regarded Seminole Indians from District 8-AA on Kelley Field here last Friday night. In fact, Tahoka outplayed the visitors all the way and would have won the game with a break or two.

The Bulldogs rolled up 14 first downs to the visitors 7. Tahoka maintained possession of the ball on 63 plays, while Seminole ran 41 plays. Tahoka had one penetration to the five yard line in addition to its touchdown and had what might have been a touchdown drive under way when the game ended with the ball in Tahoka's possession on the visitors' 22. The only time Seminole threatened at all was the time they scored. The visitors did work the ball to Tahoka's 39 yard line once in the fourth quarter, but the scrappy Bulldogs on one other occasion allowed them no closer than the Tahoka 48.

The first quarter was eventless, with Tahoka showing an edge with three first downs to the Indians' one, but near the end of the period, a Bulldog hopped on an Indian fumble on the latter's 40. Foster, Halamick, and Brookshire carried to the 9. The quarter ended there. With the wind in their face, Foster made 3, and then a bad pass from center put the ball back to the 20. On two plays, Brookshire and Halamick carried to the 5, but this was fourth down, and the ball went over. A few plays later, Seminole was on its 48 after recovering a Bulldog fumble. One play netted a yard; and on the next, Indian Halfback Paul Sublett took the ball around right end 51 yards for a touchdown. Halfback Brad Crawford's kick was good, making the score 7 to 0.

Halamick took the kickoff on the 10 and brought it back to the 45. Halamick, Brookshire, and Foster, with Wiley Curry putting in some fine blocking, carried the ball on three successive first downs to the Indian 14. From there, Brookshire took the ball around left end, with Lynn throwing a key block, for the Tahoka

Bulldog Mothers Honor Boys, Fathers, And Sweethearts

Tahoka Bulldog Mothers' Club last Friday night following the game with Seminole entertained members of the football squad, their girls, fathers, brothers and sisters, coaches, and a few friends in the school cafeteria.

A variety of sandwiches, pies, and drinks were served possibly 150 people.

The Bulldog Mothers gave the boys a chicken dinner following the Denver City game. They plan to entertain the boys following each home game.

Mothers of the boys are probably more interested in the success or failure of their boys than anyone else, and their encouragement and backing means a lot to the boys.

Most of the parents realize their boys are taking a chance on getting injured. On the other hand, most of them would rather have their boys receiving the physical training and character derived from football; and, they realize that when their boys are engaged in football they are not exposed so much to other temptations of a degrading nature. First, he does not have time to chase around too much at night, if he wanted to. Second, if he plays football, he must keep in top physical and mental condition. At the same time, he learns in the game to think fast, to consider and to get along with his fellow-players.

The above statements are made at the suggestion of a father of one of the Tahoka Bulldogs.

Frenship Edges Tahoka B-Team Thurs. Night 6-0

Thompson Tells Of Good Fishing

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Thompson returned Monday from a five-days trip up into the Ozarks of Arkansas, at and near Bentonville, to be exact.

Mr. Thompson declares that he encountered the most perfect fishing paradise up there that he has ever found anywhere. It was a little mountain lake where he found countless numbers of rainbow trout, and he says that he pulled them out just about as fast as he could throw his hook into the water. But there is a sinker tied on this story. There was a charge against him for every fish caught, and the fish bit so greedily that they soon had him "broke." He had to quit in self-defense.

Of all the fish stories we ever heard, that is about the strangest one.

A Wheeler county friend of the Thompsons accompanied them to Bentonville and they visited her kin folks.

Butter wraps, high grade vegetable parchment, 35c per 100. The News.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the people of Tahoka for their kindness and their many evidences of sympathy expressed in many ways upon the death of our beloved father, brother, and Uncle Jacob A. King. —All the children, Mrs. Zoe Lowrey, and all his Tahoka relatives.

Frenship's Class B team edged out the Tahoka B team in a game here Thursday night of last week by a 6 to 0 score.

Thursday night as The News went to press, Tahoka B team was playing the Seminole B team here. Tahoka Seventh and Eighth grade teams were also playing similar teams from Seminole.

Thursday night of next week, Tahoka B team plays the Wilson Class B team in Wilson. Other games scheduled are: Oct. 11, Cooper there; Oct. 18, Cooper here; Oct. 25, Seminole there.

B team games give the reserves and future lettermen an opportunity to play match games and to get valuable experience for the future, Coach Bill Haralson says.

The Tahoka B team so far has spent most of its time on defense against the Bulldogs A team, and had not worked on offense. They put up an excellent defense against the Frenship boys, and did not do so bad on offense either.

Among those seeing action against Frenship were: Kay Waldrip, J. B. Ables, Roswell Bartley, Richard Carter, Kenneth Earley, Garland Huddleston, Bobby Lehman, John Curry, Charley Schulz, Willie Lee, Duane McMillan, Don Reed, Jimmy Williams, Jimmy Bragg, Chester Watley, and I. V. J. Melton.

O'DONNELL EAGLES LOSE 13-7 TO COAHOMA ELEVEN

O'Donnell Eagles lost a heart-breaker to Coahoma 13 to 7 last Friday night at O'Donnell, when the visitors pushed over a last period touchdown.

The Eagles scored in the first quarter, when Halfback Kellas Davis smashed over from the two yard line, and Benny Clark kicked the extra point.

Coahoma scored in the second period on a 30 yard drive after an O'Donnell punt had gone for only 10 yards in the stiff north wind. The try for extra point was no good. Their second score came in the fourth quarter, and this time the visitors converted.

"It's Movie Time In Texas"

Joining with the more than 1500 motion picture theatres, the Wallace Theatres in Tahoka, this week begins the celebration of "It's Movie Time In Texas," a period in which the management will feature a series of special events as well as presenting the year's outstanding pictures.
 The entire movie industry is behind "It's Movie Time In Texas." These activities precede a similar nation-wide movie drive embracing as many as 16,000 additional theatres, which will not get under way until October.
 To focus attention on the theatres for the next few weeks, Hollywood will send out many famous stars on personal visits to various states. Nation-wide broadcasts featuring well known entertainers and special short subjects will point up the merits of the screen and the importance of the movie theatre in community life.
 The idea behind "It's Movie Time In Texas," which has been enthusiastically adopted by both New York and studio executives expanded into coast-to-coast proportions, originated with a well known Bonham, Texas theatre man, Col. H. A. Cole, chairman of the board of the Allied Theatre Owners of Texas conceived the thought of a project to marshal all theatre men, their employees and their families, into a movement to offer the public the finest of entertainment and to bring about a closer and friendlier relationship for the theatre with the community at large.

 Col. Cole's plan was promptly endorsed by R. J. O'Donnell, leader of the vast Paramount-Interstate interests and a top official of the show business. These two Texans joined forces to hold meetings in New York and Hollywood, where they were supported by the financial and artistic executives. What was originally a Texas campaign exploded into national proportions. All of the big studios promptly revised their plans. The finest productions, many of them in color, were set for release during the celebration of "It's Movie Time In Texas."

Five Enroll At McMurry College

ABILENE, Sept. 25.—Over 500 students, including four students from Tahoka, have enrolled at McMurry College for the fall term, according to Jerome Vanoy, registrar.
 Registration continues through Friday, Sept. 28, for both undergraduate and graduate students, though classes got underway on September 14.
 This is the first regular session that graduate courses leading to the professional degree, Master of Education, have been offered at McMurry.
 Glenn Ross Evans, Kenneth Weaver, Grace Marie Sharp, Jack Tunnell, and Katherine Roper have enrolled at McMurry for the fall term.
 Farmers are urged to take advantage of the moisture provided by recent rains and plant winter legumes. Fertilizing the land and inoculating the legume seed will materially increase the chances for the crop.
 The dairy cow needs a rest of from six to eight weeks between lactation periods. During this time, she should be fed well and given good care.

as follows:
FIRST TRACT: All of the Southwest one-fourth (SW¹/₄) of Section No. 426, Block 9, Cert. 401, issued to the EL & RRRR Company in Lynn County, Texas;
SECOND TRACT: Also the Southeast one-fourth (SE¹/₄) of Section 426, Block 9, Cert. 401 issued to the EL & RRRR Company and situated in Lynn County, Texas.
 The aggregate of said land and premises as described in TRACTS ONE AND TWO being the sum of 329 1/2 acres; said suit being a formal Trespass To Try Title and seeking to recover damages in the amount of $505.00, and said suit further containing a second count in which the plaintiffs allege title to the above and foregoing premises by reason of the three, five, ten and twenty-five year statutes of limitations, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.
 The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

CHILD GUIDANCE CLUB HAS PROGRAM ON POLIO

The Child Guidance Club met in the home of Mrs. C. W. Conway Monday night, Sept. 17, with 14 members present.
 Mrs. Everton Nevill was in charge of the program. She read for the club the article, "101 Questions and Answers on Polio."
 These are the questions most frequently asked about polio and the right answers. The article brought, in compact form, the latest and most authoritative information about the disease. It was prepared exclusively for Parents Magazine by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.
 The club will meet next Monday, October 1, at 7:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Elmo Jeter, with Mrs. David Weathers in charge of the program.

Whadda ya mean "Little Things?"

DROP the wrench, buddy! We can catch the little things that go wrong before they develop into major breakdowns—if you bring your equipment to us for service at regular intervals.
 We take care of countless truck troubles for wise haulers who count on us to keep their present carriers running smoothly. Our mechanics know all makes—it's second nature with them to watch for and correct the "ping" in an engine, or a steering shimmy.
 Checking trouble points often overlooked in ordinary service is part of our maintenance program. For our men know the "little things" are important to the life of a truck—even more important in these uncertain times.
 So make regular stops at our shop—save 3 ways: (1) cut down the possibility of costly repairs, (2) get better performance with less "down time," (3) get more years of service from the equipment you now own.

Tahoka's Fire Record Since 1923 Shows Loss Of Over Half Million

For the first time since 1944, Tahoka has earned 15 percent credit for its good fire record, according to a letter from Olin Culberson, secretary of the State Fireman's and Fire Marshals' association, to Tahoka Fire Chief J. W. Clinton. The 15 percent credit applies on 1951 insurance rates.

Mr. Culberson has worked up a complete record of Tahoka's premiums and losses since records were first kept in 1923. The data shows that, in 28 years, premiums totaling $622,107.13 have been paid by Tahoka property owners. Fire losses during this period have totaled over a half million dollars; to be exact, $592,548.04.

The following is the record:

score. James Foster placed a perfect place-kick between the uprights, and that tied the scoring at 7-7.

The half ended four plays later. The battle was not over, however. Neither team threatened in the third period, but early in the fourth Tahoka seemed to have had a drive started and was down to the Seminole 32 when two losses and a 15-yard penalty set the local boys back to midfield. A Seminole drive of three first downs in a row carried to the Tahoka 39, but two losses of 8 and 7 yards and a long pass knocked down in the nick of time by Bill Short ended the threat. Taking over on its own 46, Tahoka worked the ball to the Seminole 22 as the game ended.

The backfield looked great in this game, with plenty of drive and heads-up play. But it was the line that really deserves credit for a great game. The boys were charging fast, allowed the visitors little yardage on line-plays, and were constantly breaking through the Seminole line when the visitors were on offense. Center Wayne Tekell, Tackles Steve Slover, Billy Stice, Earl Bartley, and Jerry Sosebee, and Guards Don Help Keep Tahoka Clean!

Brice, Wayne Martin, John Foster, and Ends Bill Short, Joe Brooks, and Richard Havens did their jobs well.

All the boys have shown much improvement, and when they play ball the Bulldogs will not be easy pickings for any team they will meet.

Tahoka made 14 first downs; ran up 220 yards on running plays but lost 54 for a net of 166; passed 6 times, one complete for only 2 yards; punted three times for a 22 yard average; fumbled three times, one recovered by Seminole; and drew two penalties for a 20 yard total.

Seminole made 7 first downs; ran the ball for 171 yards, lost a total of 29, for a net of 142; two passes were incomplete; punted 4 times for a 21 yard average; lost the ball twice on as many fumbles; and drew four penalties for a total of 20 yards.

The game was played in a high, cold north wind, but none of the home crowd left until the game was over—and, then, they felt the tie was a moral victory. Halftime activities featured some fine shows by the Seminole and Tahoka bands and the crowning of the Tahoka band sweet-heart, Miss Tommie Whorton, who was escorted onto the field by Supt. Otis Spears and was crowned by Carroll Smith.

TRUETT SMITH NAMED ON STATE COMMITTEE
Truett B. Smith of Tahoka has been named a member of a "Committee on Unauthorized Practice of Law" by Cecil B. Burney of Corpus Christi, president of the State Bar of Texas. Meeting in Austin last Saturday, the committee discussed methods and means of protecting the public from the dangers of unauthorized practice of law by unlicensed persons. They voted to recommend to the State Bar board of directors the hiring of a full time attorney to prosecute flagrant cases of such practice in all areas of the state.
