'KraZy dAZe' On August 14-15-16 Feature Unusual Entertainment

Muleshoe residents will join local merchants next week in one of the most unusual events ever to be held here, when "Krazy Daze" are observed beginning August 14 and continuing through August 16. "Krazy Daze", is frankly a fun time in Muleshoe, featuring ridiculous costumes, odd-ball sales in local stores and a crazy costume contest to be climaxed with the awarding of prizes Saturday afternoon.

"Krazy Daze" is a summertime promotion, and local merchants will take advantage of the event to go all out to sell back to school clothing and supplies, as well as other merchandise.

And some of the sales will be most unusual, according to advance notices by several merchants. Strange prices, odd items, and just plain ridiculous prices will be featured by merchants who are planning "Krazy Daze" sales.

One of the most outstanding features of the three day event is that local residents and sales people are being asked to dress in the most unusual and ridiculous costumes they can dream up. A team of three secret judges will be roaming the streets during the three days, and will award prizes to the craziest costume wearers at final judging to be held Saturday at 3:30 p.m. on the C&H Chevrolet used car lot on Main street.

The avowed purpose of Krazy Daze is to promote a friendly spirit among local people, to bring some fun into everyone's lives, and to encourage trading in Muleshoe.

PLAINS ESTIMATED 1,900,000 . . .

Bailey County Cotton Crop Estimated At 80,000 Bales For Record Yields

Almost ideal cotton growing conditions since planting time on the Texas High Plains have led agricultural authorities to estimate production of the 1958 cotton crop will be the largest in history in this area.

The August 1 crop estimate officially was made at approximately 1,900,000 bales by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. This is by far the largest production ever forecast on the High Plains and it is being forecast on much less acreage than has been planted in previous years, one official pointed out.

The 1,900,000 total was reached after officials talked to county agents, ginners, farmers and others in each county. Individual county estimates were gathered from each of the 23 counties and

Request Survey For Residential Mail Delivery

A request was filed Wednesday by Postmaster Arnold Alcorn, for a survey to institute residential mail delivery service in Muleshoe at an early date.

The survey is expected to be conducted by the district postoffice department, and if enough patrons indicate a desire for residential mail service, it will be started in Muleshoe.

Alcorn said that this is the second survey to be made here since the local office attained first class status. In the previous survey, only about 300 patrons returned questionnaires that were mailed to more than 1,000 addresses.

The postmaster also urged residents to check their house numbers to see if they are correct, and to begin having their mail sent with their street and house number as well as their postoffice box number.

When residential service is begun, those letters having street and house numbers on them will materially speed up the dispatch of mail to be delivered by carrier.

Alcorn also urged patrons to return their questionnaires as quickly as possible after they are received, in order that the residential delivery may be started as soon as possible.

FIVE AREA MANAGER PROMISES . . .

Lazbuddie Needmore Exchanges On Toll Free Service By End Of Year

Extended area (toll-free) telephone service between telephone subscribers in Muleshoe and those on the Lazbuddie and Needmore exchanges, is expected to be a reality shortly after Christmas of this year, D. B. Lancaster, manager of Five Area Telephone Cooperative, Inc., of Muleshoe, told Mayor W. T. Bovell this week in a letter.

Lancaster, in writing the letter stated he thought the Mayor would be interested in the progress being made to secure extended area service to the two exchanges, by Five Area Telephone personnel.

"We plan to have extended area service from Lazbuddie and Needmore into Muleshoe shortly after Christmas of this year", Lancaster's letter stated. "This depends on delivery of equipment which is now promised the first part of December. If we can better the delivery date, then we probably can improve the time that we will be able to have free telephone service from Muleshoe to Lazbuddie and Needmore."

But, Lancaster pointed out that the area west of Muleshoe does not look quite so good, although Five Area officials believe they have made some progress and have many of the problems worked out.

A survey completed in May showed 61 people signing up for service in that area. There are 28 subscribers now being served by General Telephone Co. lines, who will be served by Five Area, making a starting total of 89 telephone subscribers when the service is ready to begin.

Five Area officials feel that at the end of five years of operation they will have about 114 subscribers on the line serving the area west of Muleshoe.

Due to the large number of subscribers, an exchange building is being planned for 2 1/2 miles south of Lariat to serve the area.

Although exact boundaries for the area to be served by General and Five Area have not been settled, such a settlement is expected within the next month.

Lancaster concludes his letter with: "If the delivery of required materials and equipment does not exceed 12 months and we do not disagree on method of extended area service, we can expect to have the area west of Muleshoe with telephone service as planned some time during the third quarter of 1959".

Improved Mail Service To Follow Increase Postage Rates In Nation

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today he is taking steps to provide further improvements in the mail service as the new postage rates became effective August 1.

Summerfield said he is issuing instructions in The Postal Bulletin to the nation's postmasters to begin immediate surveys to determine whether:

Essential window service in post offices should be made available earlier and/or later in the day than now.

There are enough collections of mail daily from street letter boxes, as well as from branches and stations, to insure maximum speed on local deliveries and the most efficient use of out-going transportation for out-of-town mail.

The surveys are to be completed in 90 days, and postmasters are being directed to submit requests for urgent needs to Regional Directors, who are to give the fastest possible consideration to such requests. Also, consistent with funds available, modern equipment for collection, handling, and distribution of mail will be installed wherever possible.

"I want the new postage rates, which are certainly long overdue, to signal the beginning of the greatest period of postal progress in American history", Postmaster General Summerfield commented. Meanwhile, he noted the Post Office is already putting into effect several improvements coincident with the new rates.

For example, new postal rate law enables the Department to forward all mail with insufficient postage, and collect postage due at the other end. This eliminates the many delays of the old system under which "short paid" mail often was returned to the sender.

Other improvements include acceptance of additional materials for the blind forwarded by law free of postage, and acceptance of small parcels weighing up to 16 ounces (instead of 8 ounces) at the low cost third class postage rates.

At the same time, the Postmaster General listed the new rate changes which most Americans will be concerned with. These relatively simple changes include the following: First class letter are 4c an ounce instead of 3c. Air mail letters 7c an ounce instead of 6c. Post and postal cards 3c each instead of 2c. Air mail post and postal cards 5c each instead of 4c. First class letters to Canada and Mexico are also 4c an ounce and air mail 7c an ounce.

A TRIBUTE . . . TO THE FARMER

From the soil comes the sustenance of the world. From the hard working man who tills the soil comes the fruits of Nature in bountiful array. God loves the Farmer, someone has said, because he is in such close communion with the good earth. He plows it. He plants it. He worries over it. And lo, then his smiling fields are lush and abundant with tassels, tomatoes and all the things we eat. Fat cows and porkers give us milk and meat. And Mrs. Farmer has chickens and turkeys for the market. Without the Farmer there would be no life or living. Let's salute his sun up to sunset existence . . . and be grateful for his bounty!

Safe 'n Sound

by Lee Pool

No one is immune from accidents, and as amazing as it may seem, the home is where most accidents occur. Approximately 5 million persons are killed or injured in their homes each year. Older people have the most accidents, and are usually of a more serious and costly nature. However, no one is immune. We have a fine Accident Hospital policy that is available to everybody up to 80 years of age. Just imagine how quickly a hospitalized person would buy this Accident Hospital policy. Parmer County Farm Bureau News

by Raymond Euler

We don't know the outcome of the farm bill in the house as yet. The Senate passed it with only eleven dissenting votes last week when Senator Johnson brought it up for vote with over a thousand telegrams from Texas farmers urging its passage in his brief case. The telegrams were the result of Farm Bureau efforts to get them out by the farmers who helped draft the basic portions of the bill in 1957 state and National Conventions.

Even though it was reportedly quite obvious that some senators are not particularly interested in what the bulk of the farmers want, it is also quite evident that when that same group of farmers make their wants known in an organized manner, they can get results. Over twenty of the telegrams to Senator Johnson were from Parmer County Farm Bureau leaders, under their personal signatures. Congressman Walter Rogers received about the same number last week, urging that the bill not be stymied or improperly amended before getting House passage.

A spokesman for grain sorghum producers had bemoaned passage of the bill because it did not put sorghums under acreage control. We don't believe many producers in this area wanted that provision, though. It will be good if a little higher floor is put under them however, if the support is left to the desecration of the Secretary of Agriculture. The interpretation we have received would provide a pretty good price, (something above $2) under the Senate bill as passed, however. President Gilbert Kaltwasser and VP Jack Patterson were instrumental in getting farmers of this area alerted at the time telegrams were needed.

Harry Hamilton, chairman of the legislative and resolutions committee is making plans for a meeting to draft proposed resolutions for 1958, to be voted upon at the county convention in October. If you have suggestions, tell Hamilton, any member of the board, or bring them in to the office. We will see that they get the proper consideration and give your fellow members an opportunity to vote on them.

Hugh Blaylock, area chairman for Christian Rural Overseas Program, (CROP), is making plans for getting more grain sorghum from the county into the program this fall. Over twenty to one is the ratio of shipment for your contribution.

Fabrics of man-made fibers rate high in popularity with today's homemakers. Their so-called easy-to-care-for qualities are in great demand. But unless you read the labels and interpret them as the manufacturer intended, you may be expecting too much from some of the fabrics.

Here are interpretations from manufacturers of labeling terms often used with reference to these fabrics:

Wrinkle-resistance, a term often used, should not be confused with wrinkle-proof. Manufacturers remind us that no fabric is wrinkle-proof.

There is a difference permanently and durably pleated fabrics. Nylon can be permanently pleated. Fabrics of orlon and dacron can be durably pleated. Manufacturers tell us that after 10 to 15 washings, it is best to take garments of orlon and dacron to cleaners for re-pleating. Pleated garments of these fabrics will require more careful handling and will perhaps be more expensive in the long run.

Altering nylon fabrics may present some problems. Once creases and pleats are set in 100 percent nylon they are very hard to remove. In buying a dress where alterations will be needed, choose the larger size. It is easier to take in seams than to let them out.

Fabrics of man-made fibers are often labeled as moth-resistant. However, manufacturers remind us that moths are attracted to some dyes or finishes on the fabric and to some blended fabrics. For example, if dacron is blended with wool, the moths will be attracted, as always, to wool.

Directions for pressing are often misinterpreted. Most man-made fibers require little pressing—if they are drip-dried. They must be ironed as usual if they are wrung or twisted after rinsing.

Check the label or tag to determine washability of the fabric. If the garment is not labeled washable, or if the shoulder pads or finishes of the garment are not washable, have it dry cleaned.

A final reminder—When buying fabrics or blended fibers, always read the labels for percentages of fibers used. The predominating fiber will largely determine the wearing qualities and care of the fabric.

Perspiration Stains In Dark Cottons

The fresher the stain, the better your chance for removing it. Pressing a dress that is even slightly stained may set the stain and cause more discoloration. First try washing the stain thoroughly in warm water, rubbing soap or synthetic detergent well into the stain. If the fabric had discolored, try sponging a fresh stain with a little water solution; for older stains try a bleach solution. If the stain is still there, try a solution of 1 part household ammonia to 4 parts water. Rub the solution into the stain. If the stain is still there, try a solution of 1 part household ammonia to 4 parts water. Rub the solution into the stain.

little ammonia and water. This may help restore the color. Rinse thoroughly.

Save any tags on ready-to-wear and yard goods and read carefully. Some cottons carry a label stating that the dye is fast to perspiration. Other labels give facts about both the fabric and its finishes that will be helpful when you need to remove a stain at home.

Expanding Grain Production Creates Need For Additional Storage Space

Expanding grain production in West Texas has created a problem that in turn promises to expand the storage business, two Texas Tech agriculture researchers report.

A wet winter and promising high grain yields, greater application of fertilizer and improved seeds all have forced a need for greater storage facilities, Prof. Ira Williams, and Asst. Prof. Ray Billingsley, say in the July issue of West Texas Today.

"Twenty-eight towns have just completed forty grain storage units averaging 500,000 bushels", they write.

Pointing out that storage is the key to more profit for farmers with cash grain for sale, they state that storage—now at a premium in West Texas—must be provided either on the farm or commercially, if an organized market is to exist for grain.

Their statistics show that the value of grain crops produced in West Texas has jumped from just above $90 million in 1951 to in excess of $150 million in 1957. "As long as this trend contin-

Weekly Cotton Insect Report

Rains fell throughout the area during the past week. While only showers fell across the southern counties, good rains fell in most other localities. The added moisture improved the outlook for cotton which has an excellent set of fruit. Little insect trouble was reported.

Fleashoppers were present on cotton in most fields. While medium infestations were reported on scattered plantings in Hockley and Lynn counties, populations were generally light. The heavy fruit set indicates little damage by the insect.

Bollworm activity increased somewhat in the southern part of the area. In most fields infestations were not sufficient to require control. Insecticides were applied to scattered plantings where populations were somewhat heavier. The worms were reported in light infestations in most fields in other localities.

Cabbage loopers were present in most fields but populations were light in most instances. While occasional plantings had light egg populations, both eggs and loopers were scarce, even where heavier infestations had been observed earlier.

Aphids and false chinch bugs were reported on cotton in scattered fields. Such infestations were not reported as sufficient to seriously damage cotton.

APHIDS AND FALSE CHINCH BUGS were reported on cotton in scattered fields. Such infestations were not reported as sufficient to seriously damage cotton.

Horticulturist Gives Tips For Top Posies In Fall Garden Contests

Gardeners who want to produce prize winning blooms for the fall flower shows on the South Plains should be fertilizing the plants now, advises Ed Zukauckas, Texas Tech horticulturist.

Pointing to Tech's Fall Horticulture Festival as the date to shoot for—Oct. 18-19—he suggests using a complete fertilizer compound with all necessary ingredients for long stems and large blooms.

"Most plants in this area", he said, "respond very well to nitrogen fertilizer. But we have to consider how much the soil has already been fertilized, watered and the type of plants we wish to produce before adding more nutrients."

Also consider how much you've watered and how much natural rainfall there's been when planning a fertilizing program, he said. Recent heavy rains leach or wash down a good deal of the nitrogen and potassium that has been put on flower beds.

At the same time don't over fertilize plants that have a low or moderate nutrient demand like gladiolas, he warns.

"This is a good time to fertilize chrysanthemums. They are best fertilized from early to mid-August during the early part of bud development", Zukauckas said. He also advises against "pinching" the mum plants much longer.

The chrysanthemum trial beds at Tech have been lightly fertilized with a 16-20-0 a number of times, he stated, by scattering the fertilizer down the furrows. The mums at Tech were planted on ridges.

"Recent rains have given us ample justification for having planted the mums on the ridge rows", he said. The trial field was recently heavily irrigated. Then more than two inches of rain fell on it. Water was still standing in the rows two days later.

"We expect some yellowing of plants at the lower end of the field, but most of the plants have good aeration on the ridges", he added.

The Tech horticulturists noted that after heavy watering and recent rains, local gardeners may see some of their plants turn a lighter green or yellow resulting from the lack of oxygen in the soil.

"While 'wet feet' is one possible cause of yellow plants, this may be overcome by letting the soil dry out before more water is applied", he said.

Other common causes of yellowing in plants are severe insect infestation, virus infestations and stem rot.

"Spider mites—only a fraction of the size of a pin head—cause plants to take on a sandy appearance and may be controlled with insecticides containing kelthane as an active ingredient", he advised.

Time is drawing near to cut-back hybrid tea roses that may produce for fall showing.

"To plan rose flowers for exhibition, the shoots should be trimmed back about five to seven weeks before show-time to get that 'show-stopper rose'", he said.

Tech's Fall Horticulture Festival is being sponsored by the student Horticultural Club and the standard system of judging will be used. Eight classes of chrysanthemums, five classes of roses and ten of dahlias are entry possibilities. Eight classes of annuals are listed and five classes of bulb flowers.

Other equipment that is highly successful in this practice is "stubble mulch" sweeps. These are about 32" wide and run just under the surface, killing vegetation but leaving the residue on top. Sam Hopper has bought a set which he will use on all residues. The Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District also has a set of these sweeps.

Mike Fite Returns From Camp Loaded With Honors From Six Weeks Activity

(From the Olton Enterprise)
Eleven year old Mike Fite came home with a lot of honors tucked in his belt! Mike and Rusty Sherman have returned from Camp Stewart, near Kerrville, where they spent six weeks. Mike lived in cabin 21, known as the House of Mikes, because four of the seven boys in the cabin were named Mike.

The son of Dr. and Mrs. Jim Fite of Muleshoe, Mike came home with two first places, two third places, and an honorable mention in swimming the medley relay, free style and track relay.

He was awarded diplomas by the Camp Archery Association for qualifying as a junior bowman, junior yeoman and yeoman. He qualified by shooting 30 bullseye arrows at 20 yards to become a junior bowman.

The camp also gave Mike a good chance to complete his Tenderfoot and half his second class Boy Scout requirements. Mike was a member of the "Sizzling Six", the camp band, and was named twice as high point man in his cabin. He participated in track events; shot-put and broad jump, tennis, canoeing, basketball, and leathercraft.

He was a player on the Cubs baseball team, playing in the outfield. And he also found time to pitch for the Midget training team. And if that wasn't enough, Mike received a neckerchief for completing five hikes in the six weeks he was at camp.

Vegetable Men Ask Legislation For Research Program
Cautioning that opposition can be expected to a proposal for an 80-acre vegetable research program, State Representative Jesse M. Osborn, told a group of vegetable men, county agents and others meeting at Littlefield Thursday that money for the project is already available but must be switched from other less important projects.

A proposal was discussed to get legislative support for the establishment of an 80-acre vegetable research program at the Lubbock Experiment Station, and was made by the Texas High Plains Vegetable Growers Council president Kenneth Probasco. The plan got favorable reaction earlier, but officials pointed out that a legislative appropriation of $25,000 annually will be needed to run the program.

Probasco told the group Thursday night that the research program could be started on 15 or 20 acres to promote the vegetable industry on the High Plains.

Value Of Saving Told By Speaker

"Money Management" was the subject of an address before the Rotary Club Tuesday by Art Lara, Amarillo life insurance man. He was introduced by Lee Pool, pinch hitting for Myron Pool, who had arranged the program.

Mr. Lara stressed the value of saving money. He said that in the average, of 100 persons reaching age 65, only 4 will not have to work for a living; 28 will have to work; 62 will not be able to work and will depend on others for their support.

"If a person deliberately set out to be a failure, he scarcely could have done it better," he remarked. Lack of habit of savings many times prevents a parent from sending his child to college. Less than 30 percent of high school graduates attend college, although statistics prove absolutely the superior earning capacity of those with a college education.

Then, lack of savings in reserve often makes it impossible for a person to take advantage of opportunities which occasionally present themselves; and a cash reserve enables one to buy for cash and save interest and carrying charges. "The matter of saving is a problem which we all face," he said, "and few of us are doing anything about that problem."

Miss Vicki Ruth Walker of Pittsburg, Pa., is visiting in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Walker.

She was nineteen years old, the daughter of an Amsterdam Avenue butcher in New York. Her name was Gertrude Ederle. And she was the first woman ever to swim the English Channel.

She battled against the tricky tides in the cold water of the Channel for more than fourteen hours—and she made it. Her time of 14 hours, 31 minutes, was better than any man who had crossed before her, and overnight she became America's hero. When she returned to New York she was met by an official yacht, airplanes and Fire Department band. She paraded through a gigantic ticker tape welcome, and was greeted by Mayor Walker in New York.

Gertrude Ederle never capitalized on her sudden fame. She retired to a quiet life. For her the quiet life had a special meaning. For Gertrude's hearing had been permanently damaged by the terrible battering of the waves. Remember the year? Enduring performance over the long pull wasn't reserved for swimmers in those days. A man buying a car wanted a get a lot of service out of it... and he bought from a dealer who could give him that service. The year was 1926.

We're auto service specialists, with the finest mechanics and the most up-to-date equipment to give you expert service. So whether you're in the market for a new car, or trying to get the best from your present one, thru dependable service, you can rely on—

from "extra" food made possible with my food freezer!"
says Mrs. Marvin Shurbet, PETERSBURG, TEXAS

"When I am away from home, my family always finds good meals in the freezer. It is so easy for them — just unwrap, heat and eat."

What housewife can always measure exactly how much of each food her family will eat? Even the most exacting woman will occasionally have vegetables, meats and desserts "leftover." It's a shame to throw good food away and no one really likes to do that. Well, Mrs. Shurbet has solved that problem. Here's what she says, "When I cook more than my family eats at a meal, I put remaining servings on foil, divided plates, seal in SARAN WRAP, and store in my food freezer. If additional portions are needed to make complete dinners, I simply add them from various meals."
