WHAT ABOUT COTTON?
Is there any future for cotton?
That question has been asked before in the long history of this fiber's service to mankind. It's being asked again.
There are an estimated 2.8 billion people in the world consuming an average of 6.7 pounds of cotton per person annually. They use more cotton than all fibers put together.
World population is increasing and living standards are rising. This points to vastly greater markets for fiber and a staggering potential for expanding cotton consumption.
Synthetic fiber, fiber substitutes, and foreign grown cotton are vying with the U.S. cotton industry for these markets. Price, quality, and promotion are the competitive challenges; and the U.S. industry is responding aggressively. Significant yield increases, lower manpower requirements, and improved fiber and textiles—results of research—make cotton more competitive price-wise and quality-wise. Scientists say they are just beginning to unlock doors to tremendous new improvements. Promotion that has advanced cotton to the fashion peak in this country is being copied in more and more foreign countries.
Cotton is dependable and versatile. It is competing aggressively. Its market potential is exciting indeed. Cotton's future is promising. This is encouraging to all who depend on cotton for a livelihood.

If you go for steak with that deep-brown, crusty coat and char flavor, here's how: Sear one side by lowering grill close to coals for 2 or 3 minutes, then raise grill to finish same side; turn steak, sear second side, again raise grill and complete the cooking. No matter what, serve your steaks sputtering hot! And with a generous pat of butter melting atop.

Texas Schools At Crossroads

AUSTIN—The public schools of Texas stand at the crossroads, V. W. Miller, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, said this week. "We either move forward to provide an educational program comparable to the best in the nation, or we accept the fact that Texas cannot afford better education for its children," Miller declared. Texans have said they want improvements in their schools, after a study involving more than 53,000 Texas citizens representing all 254 counties of the state, the State Hale-Aikin Committee recommended improvements in the public school program. In January, bills to carry out these recommendations were introduced in the regular session of the 56th Legislature. The session closed on May 12 with only two Hale-Aikin recommendations enacted into law. Texas now ranks 28th among the states in average salary paid its teachers. A beginning Texas teacher with a bachelor degree is now guaranteed a salary of $3,204 per year.

BRIMFUL

As the surging floodwaters rose, the residents of the small town sat on a hilltop and watched the muddy tide swirl into their homes. Suddenly hen-pecked Tom Thatcher tore off his coat and shoes and dove into the raging stream. The others shouted for him to stop, but with no effect. He swam determinedly to the second story of his home, which remained above water, and struggled inside.

When his friends had almost given him up, he reappeared, and swam back, falling exhausted on the dry land. As the others rushed to help him, his only words were, "Don't tell my wife." "But Tom, what happened?" someone asked. "Why did you take such a fool risk? You sure must have left something pretty valuable in your house." "No," Tom gasped. "I just remembered that I left the water running in the bathtub."

OUR STATE REPRESENTED ON NATIONAL BEEF COUNCIL

DENVER—The National Beef Council met recently here to map plans for an intensive promotional campaign to push beef sales at the retail market level. New officers were elected for the coming year. Harvey McDougal, Rio Vista, California, was named vice president; Jay Taylor, Amarillo, Texas, chairman, advisory committee; W. T. Bonner, Gainesville, Texas, vice president, south central region; R. A. Oisen, Ellsworth, Iowa, vice president, west central region; J. O. Pearce, Okeechobee, Florida, vice president, southeastern region; Mrs. DeWitt Mallory, Bradford, Vermont, vice president, New England region; Mrs. R. A. Burghart, Colorado Springs, director; Jack Milburn, Grass Range, Montana, director; and J. C. Hobert, Bettendorf, Iowa, director.

Don Bartlett, a Como (Mississippi) cattle producer and newly elected president of the Beef Council, said that all indications point to a large supply of beef on retail counters this fall and winter. The Beef Council, he pointed out, concerns itself with meat merchandising and beef promotion. The Council is a federated organization composed of cattle producers. Through the Council, the man who raises the live animal concerns himself with its ultimate sale for the table. The producer, Bartlett said, no longer is content to sit back and turn his product over to a handler to follow through on sales. The producer is interested in promoting his product to the consumer, and it is through promotional campaigns undertaken by the National Beef Council and State Beef Councils that this is being done. The areas in which the National Beef Council works to promote beef sales are direct approach to the consumer, enlisting help of allied industry, store promotions for retail meat dealers, and promotion of beef to the restaurant trade.

The hostess gifts were a beautiful white blanket and bath room set. Cake and punch were served the guests. Her wedding colors, green and white were carried out in the table decorations.

Reynolds Honored
H. A. Reynolds, who, with his family will move this summer, was named the honoree guest Monday night at a faculty and school board party in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Reynolds was presented a gold corsage as she entered the room. Later in the evening the couple was presented an electric blanket and colored sheets as a going away present.

The group played "42" and other games for recreation. Refreshments of cake, home made ice cream and coffee were served to 25 guests.

Hybrid Sorghums Gaining Ground in Texas

Texas farmers, leading the nation in the fast move to sorghum grain as a hybrid crop, are furthering this advance through growing acceptance of improved hybrid sorghum seed recently developed.

Seed dealers of hybrid strains of sorghum report Texas sales are up from 50 to 75 percent from the same period last year, indicating that hybrids have not only taken a foothold but that they are here to stay.

Farmers have learned that proven hybrids can increase their grain sorghum production often as much as 40 percent and have given quick acceptance to the scientific seed.

Last year, our state once again tallied a big "Texas First" by producing 44.4% of the Nation's sorghum grain—much of it from hybrid seed stock. Texas produced 273,066,000 bushels of the United States' 614,845,000 bushel total.

Certified hybrid sorghum seed are grown by independent Texas growers in accordance with the certified seed program of the Texas Department of Agriculture. The program involves continued inspection and observation for approval as certified seed and can yield a high return to the successful grower.

However, the certified seed program is not an easy proposition. It is, on the contrary, a highly scientific and comparatively expensive proposition which can quickly discourage the inexperienced or inefficient farmer.

The trend over the last two years has been for the smaller farmer to drop out of the certified grower program. From an initial number of about 200 in 1956, the list dropped to 161 growers of certified stock in 1958.

Planted acreage of certified seed also decreased sharply from the 1957 figure of 22,000 acres to only 13,344 acres certified by the TDA last year.

However, carryover stock accounted for the drop in 1958 certified seed production. A bumper crop in 1957 exceeded the demand for 1958 plantings. But as the popularity of hybrid sorghum continues to increase as it surely will, this trend will likely reverse itself.

Indications today show that a shortage of the popular varieties of hybrid sorghums could develop this year. But so far the supply and demand appear in good balance and another good season for Texas grain sorghums is in sight.

Parmer County Farm Bureau News

We made our first visit to the new Texas Farm Bureau offices in Waco last week. The office is nice and well arranged and efficiently operated, but we like Friona and Parmer county and this part of the country much better.

Joyce Osborn, who worked for you a year was kind enough to come in and run the office while we were gone, and did a real good job.

Roy Miller, who is serving as president since the resignation of Gilbert Kaitwasser, has been real busy lately. He was already chairman of the county FB wheat committee, and he arranged for a couple of meetings of his committee with wheat farmers of the county this week. We hope you attended one of them if you are a wheat farmer.

Everyone knows by now that wheat is in a pretty bad predicament surplus wise. Several groups have offered their solutions to the problem, but none of them have been accepted by congress. Farm Bureau's plan is being explained and discussed with a view to getting the people well enough informed that they can intelligently express their opinions on it to their representatives when the subject is up for consideration.

We would like to urge you, if you have not done so, to get all your children vaccinated against polio. Polio has been on the increase the past year, and so far this year. Records show that nearly all those stricken are those who have not been vaccinated against it.

Since the twenty years of research that produced the vaccine, it would seem a shame for your children to be stricken because you failed to take advantage of the preventive. If you are not over forty, or even if you are, you may as well take the shots too. The cost is negligible or nothing. If you cannot afford the regular charge, the county chapter will pay the bill, so don't delay.

Raymond Schueler, chairman, and others of the weed committee, met with C. W. Guthridge, engineering consultant of Santa Fe railroad officers in Amarillo last week. Mr. Guthridge called on Monday, stating that he would be in Friona Tuesday morning and that he would like to meet with representatives of the committee. All who could be reached by phone came.

Mr. Guthridge stated that the railroad is planning on obtaining their own equipment for treatment of bindweed on their right of ways. He asked that farmers of Parmer county be advised that if they would plot location of bindweed on the RR right of ways adjoining their farms, they would be treated. The farmer would, of course, be expected to treat the weeds extending to his property, too. The committee will be working out methods of plotting these weeds in the near future and letting you know about it.

Two wheat informational meetings were held in the county last week. One was at Hub community building Tuesday night and the other at the Legion Hall in Bovina Thursday night. Very few attended, but Roy V. Miller, chairman of the wheat committee hopes that the information gained by those present may be communicated to others. It is impossible to work intelligently on a solution unless the actual problem is known and understood to some extent.

Because time ran out, there will be no change in the procedure for filing on gas tax refunds on the state level this year. Farm Bureau's bill to make this an annual, simplified, un-notarized procedure, like the Federal Tax Refund process, was passed by the House last week and sent to the Senate. That was as far as it got because of a lapse of time.

EATS—The majority of U. S. Supreme Court Justices agreed that a health inspector may search a home without a warrant. According to a statement of Justice Douglas, who dissented in the decision, the amendment, which heretofore protected your home from official searches without a warrant of authorization, was intended to protect those possibly subject to criminal prosecution. That, of course, eliminates protection for the average citizen by the fourth amendment. What do you think of this?

Consider This: The thought of foolishness is sin; and the scorner is an abomination to men. Proverbs 24:9.

Fertilizer Use Discussed By Extension Expert

How can an individual farmer determine the right amount of fertilizer to use to obtain the most profit? This will depend on the soil type, climatic conditions expected, past management and the amount of capital the farmer has to invest, says William F. Bennett, extension soil chemist. Besides the yield increases, other factors which determine the rate of fertilizer to use are the cost of the fertilizer, price expected for the crop and the amount of capital available, he noted.

The most profitable rate of fertilizer to use will depend on the price expected for the crop. If prices appear to be good, more fertilizer can be used profitably. If prices are uncertain and apt to be low, fertilizer use would not be as profitable and less should be applied.

The costs of producing the crop also influence the most profitable rate of fertilizer to use, Bennett said. Certain fixed costs are associated with the growing of a crop. The land has to be plowed, seedbed prepared, seed purchased and planted, the crop cultivated, insects and diseases controlled and the crop harvested. These costs are fairly constant and can be estimated.

Fertilizer rates are not the most profitable just because maximum yields are reached, he said. From the standpoint of fertilizer use, it is desirable to stop fertilizing before maximum yields are obtained. For example, if 90 pounds of Nitrogen will increase the yield of corn to 109 bushels per acre compared with 87 bushels where no Nitrogen was used, but 120 pounds of Nitrogen will yield 112 bushels per acre, the 3 bushel yield increase would not offset the cost of the additional 30 pounds of Nitrogen.

If capital is limited, it would be advisable to fertilize at a rate short of maximum net profit. If capital is available, it is more profitable to fertilize at a rate which will give maximum net profit. Even though operating capital is limited, returns from fertilizer use would justify borrowing the funds needed, he concluded.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

The Texas Land Boom—How Long Will It Last?

Texas farm land prices have been booming for 10 years, and the six percent dollar-value increase shown from 1957 to 1958 indicates that the peak has not yet been reached.

What are the factors forcing a continued inflation of Texas land prices? A 25-county study to determine some of these factors was made last year, and the result was an interesting picture of what generally is happening in the Texas agricultural land market today.

The first and most obvious strengthening factor in the market both in Texas and elsewhere is the increasing population as opposed to the fixed amount of land available. This is a simple supply-demand situation which is intensified in our states because of its above-normal population increase.

Another major price-determining factor for land has to do with land characteristics, such as its fertility, soil texture, water supply, cover, wildlife and sub-surface minerals—such as oil. Most of these are agricultural characteristics, however, and the present market price of farm land generally is higher than can be justified by its value for crop or livestock production. For the answer as to why farm land prices art out of reason for farming purposes, most people concerned have named mineral activity. Mineral value in land for sale, however, is mostly speculative, because once minerals are found on a parcel of land production begins and the land involved is practically frozen in ownership and is removed from the land market.

Next to being mineral-rich, perhaps the most fetching quality of land on today's market has to do with its location. During the past two decades, improved urban working conditions and reduced working hours have made it possible for city and townsfolk to enter the farm land business. More than a few town dwellers have gone to the country in search of acreage and, a profitable sideline in farming. And, the closer in the land is and the better the roads getting to it, are, the more the newcomer is willing to pay for it.

Also on the location value side of the picture is the tremendous conversion of agricultural land into a real estate gold mine. This has been especially true in Texas where every city of any size has sprawled its housing developments and industries over pastures or cotton patches.

All these market improvement factors combine to make one other total factor: More and more land is becoming tightly held and taken off the market altogether, ever lessening the amount of land available to a greater number of people. So long as our economy is sound, it seems inevitable that the value of useful or potentially useful land has only one way to go—up.

Christian Science Services

The spiritual identity of the man of God's creating will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body".

Initial selections to be read from the Bible include these verses from Psalms (90:1, 2): "Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting, thou art God."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (280,25-30): "Rightly understood, instead of possessing a sentient material form, man has a sensationless body; and God, the Soul of man and of all existence, being perpetual in His own individuality, harmony, and immortality, imparts and perpetuates these qualities in man,—through Mind, not matter."

More Changes Seen For Rural Living

The old distinctions between farm and city are rapidly disappearing, said Reagan Brown, extension rural sociologist. Rural nonfarm people now outnumber farm people by a ratio of 5 to 3 and it appears certain that more nonfarm people will live in rural areas.

More than a third of farm operators work off their farms 100 days or more per year. In 1957, about 40 percent of net income of farm families was from nonfarm sources, he said.

Family operated farms will increase in size since technological improvements are by no means complete. Agriculture, said Brown, appears to be only in the middle of revolutionary changes both in size and capital structure. Larger farms mean larger investments, not only for land and buildings but for all the machinery and non-agricultural supplies needed in modern farm production. Based on present trends, investment per commercial farm by 1975 may amount to over $80,000 in 1958 dollars compared to a little less than $40,000 now, he said.

Various new financial devices may be worked out to meet the need, some based upon methods now common in industry. One development already underway is the use of land-purchase contracts under which the title of the land remains with the seller until all or a specific percentage of payments have been made. Commercial family farms will probably continue to be the dominant form of organization in American agriculture. Labor requirements have not increased with the size of farms except in some limited areas. For the bulk of farmers, efficient operation seems likely to require no greater labor force than has been needed in the past, he added.

Plastics Offer New Field For Vegetable Men

The use of plastic as a substitute for glass in greenhouse construction has reached the point that backyard operations may be encouraged. Clyde Singletery, extension horticulturist, says the smaller, intensive operators who grow vegetable transplants and product tomatoes out-of-season are particularly interested in the development.

The relative low cost of a plastic greenhouse can make a profitable enterprise for those interested in producing vegetables out-of-season. This is particularly true, says Singletery, because such vegetables usually find a ready market and move at satisfactory prices. He recommends that a small structure be used until the knowhow for handling volume production is acquired.

Because of the unusual number of requests for information on the plastic structures, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has just made available a new publication, MP-341, "Plastic Greenhouses for Growing Vegetables". Copies are available at the offices of local county agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

The publication covers such items as construction, including size, framing and the plastic cover, and heating and cooling system. Drawing and photographs are used to illustrate the important construction items.

Singletery believes that plastic greenhouses can be used very satisfactorily in Texas and that operators with the required managerial know how can develop a profitable enterprise on a small acreage and with a minimum investment. He emphasizes, however, the need for a person to acquire the needed managerial ability before getting into greenhouse production of vegetables on a big scale.

"THE MIGHTY MIDGET" THE WANT AD Will Do the Job for You

Chevy pickup pulls through "bottomless" pastures to keep stock fed!

At the Hall Bros. Dairy Farm, Montgomery, Ala., they say this 4-wheel drive Chevy will go anywhere to keep stock fed—even through hub-deep muck that makes it a fight all the way. And yet after a full year of it—no mechanical trouble of any kind!

on working until you say quit. Not before. We aren't claiming that every Chevrolet truck is turning out to be a miracle-worker and averaging 100,000 miles before a valve job. (Even though some are going 150,000!) You're sure to find, however, that you can't buy more truck dependability at any price. And that's borne out by the fact that more truck owners put their faith, and their payloads, in Chevrolets than in any other make. Take your load and schedule figures to your Chevrolet dealer. He'll specify the best way to handle both and save in the bargain.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

Now's the time—see your local authorized Chevrolet dealer for a real truck buy!

Look at the difference made by NEW JOHNSON GRASS CONTROL!

Pictured above is the Otto Steinberg Farm, Plainview, Texas. The cotton on the left received one application of ORTHO C-56 Johnson Grass Control plus one hoeing and three cultivations. The crop on the right received three hoeings and three cultivations but no ORTHO C-56 Johnson Grass Control.

Grower of the crops pictured above, Farm Manager Jim Williams, says: "ORTHO C-56 really did a job on Johnson grass in our cotton last year. One application saved us two hoeings. This year I plan to follow up the first treatment with two lighter dosages and eliminate hoeing completely."

ORTHO C-56 JOHNSON GRASS CONTROL — a new powerful oil spray additive!

When mixed with kerosene or fuel oil, ORTHO C-56 dissolves the waxy coating of the plant and aids penetration into the plant tissue. It has no systemic or residual effect, therefore eliminates danger of incurring soil sterility. Apply by spot treating method using Texas blade and jet gun, slide gun or gravity-flow sprayer. Ideal results obtained when applied during seedling stage, before young shoots are 6 inches tall. However, Johnson grass can be controlled in all stages of growth with ORTHO C-56.
