Hot, dry weather during July is beginning to take its toll of Lynn county crops for this year as most early dryland maize is burning badly and dryland cotton is beginning to suffer over most of the county.

Light showers fell Wednesday afternoon, only .15 inch in Tahoka, but were not sufficient to do any material good.

Prospects have been very promising until the past week, but rain is needed very quickly to produce a good crop and soaking rains seldom come in August.

In view of the 35 percent reduction in acreage forced by Government controls, coupled with lowered prices for farm products and increased wages, Lynn county economy stands to suffer heavily even if a bumper crop were to be produced this year.

However recent showers have helped greatly in parts of the Dixie, Wilson, Grassland, and Draw communities and in some other limited areas.

Temperatures all during July have almost every day run above the 95 degree mark with the average daily high temperature at almost 97 degrees and the average daily low at nearly 70 degrees.

Irrigation farmers have been running wells around the clock, and prospects are excellent in most irrigated fields. Lynn county has about 80,000 acres of irrigated cotton normally, but the acreage may be less this year because of the control program.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2:00 p. m. in First Methodist Church with the pastor, Rev. Hugh Daniel, officiating, assisted by Rev. Aubrey White of Idalou. Burial followed in Tahoka Cemetery under direction of White Funeral Home.

Ora Pauline Knight was born at Naples on Nov. 22, 1892, moved to Eastland with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Knight, and was married there on August 4, 1914, to Marion M. Boyd.

The Boyds first came to Tahoka in 1919 to live a while, moved away, and later moved here in 1941 from Amarillo to stay. She had clerked in local stores, and was well known by many people. She had long been a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors include her husband; two sons, William K. Boyd of Grand Prairie and Major Bobby K. Boyd of Charlottesville, Va.; one daughter, Mrs. D. N. Hanson of Fort Worth; two sisters, Mrs. Ollie Carson of Charlottesville, Va., and Mrs. J. E. (Leota) Knight of Tahoka; one brother, K. F. Knight of San Angelo; and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2:00 p. m. in First Methodist Church with the pastor, Rev. Hugh Daniel, officiating, assisted by Rev. Aubrey White of Idalou. Burial followed in Tahoka Cemetery under direction of White Funeral Home.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

A new business precept has been forged. It is to the effect that if one is losing money on an operation, one should not raise prices for fear that somebody can take the business away from you.

This is the position the U.S. Post Office is taking on the proposed legislation to raise parcel post rates and at the same time permit larger and heavier packages to be carried by parcel post between first class post offices.

The postal people feel if they could raise parcel post rates on an average of about 8 cents per parcel, and also handle bigger packages than presently allowed between first class post offices which roughly means any community of at least 100,000 population, they could generate enough revenues from the added business to cut into the deficit. The nation's independent business proprietors, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, oppose this move by a majority of 59 per cent.

But the interesting part of the entire situation is the fact that the post office commissioner carrying out this move, the testimony shows that even with the proposed increases, the loss on handling catalogs will be an estimated $5,679,000, which will be partially offset by the increase in parcel post rates.

Now, of course, the catalog of the big mail order houses is advertising, so what the post office is really doing is subsidizing their advertising.

When questioned why not raise the rates on catalogs so that they can be handled without a loss, the postal people say they are afraid if they did so that the business of distributing them would go to private enterprises who might be able to do the job, at a profit, for less than the post office costs. Thus, the postal service does not want to lose the business, even if it is business handled at a loss.

This is somewhat of a switch on the old saw "I lose a little on every sale, but the volume makes up the difference."

In addition, the postal people fear that higher rates on catalogs would put a damper on mail order business, and cut into parcel post business.

Thus, once again there is illustrated the difference between government and business thinking. While it is laudable for any government agency to seek solutions to the problem of operating at a loss, there is a far greater consideration.

For after all, the needs of the local communities are vital. It is the business community on the nation's Main Streets that largely support the schools, the police and fire departments and the other essentials.

Thus, seeking ways to increase the inroads on Main Street by distant mail order houses, while perhaps beneficial to post office revenues, is not being fair to local business or local communities.

This is something that every community should consider.

Lynn County Soil Conservation District News

Market supplies of native and improved grass seed are still inadequate. Demand for grass seed is certain to grow as more low-producing cropland is seeded permanently to grass and as grasses are used more in the regular cropping systems on farms and reseeded rangeland, says Blake Lovelace, Soil Conservation Service Technician.

Experience shows that producing grass seed under cultivation preferably under irrigation is both practical and profitable. This has proven the only way to produce adequate and dependable supplies. Under dryland or irrigated conditions grass for seed production offers good promise as a cash crop in the Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Producing, harvesting, and processing grass seed are not simple operations. They require as much skill as similar steps in managing cotton and other farm crops. Experience in each of the management steps often means the difference between success and failure in producing seeds. In particular, special attention should be given to: (1) selecting areas suitable for producing seed, (2) determining seed fill, (3) selecting and adjusting harvesting equipment, and (4) timing harvesting operations.

Local Soil Conservation Service technicians will be happy to help you in planning a grass seed production program or experienced growers such as Melvin Wuensch

Welding Short Course Planned

An oxy-acetylene welding short course for adult farmers will be held August 1-4 under the sponsorship of the Tahoka High School Vocational Agriculture Department, according to Lester Adams, teacher of vocational agriculture.

Charles H. Yeates, welding specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Agricultural Engineering at Texas A&M College, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Mr. Yeates holds a B.S. degree from Texas A&M University in Agricultural Education. He taught vocational agriculture and farm shop for a period of 15 years. He also taught automobile mechanics, electricity, electrical and acetylene welding and wood working in the Jasper County vocational school. He has had two years experience as a draftsman, and two years experience as a welder.

"Many oxy-acetylene welding short courses in various parts of the state have been taught by Mr. Yeates and all have met with outstanding success," according to Hulon Harris, area supervisor of vocational agriculture, Big Spring. Arrangements for the adult education shortcourse in welding and in other fields are made through Mr. Harris' office.

The short course at Tahoka is scheduled to begin August 1 at 8:30 in the vocational agriculture building. Other meetings in the series of four will be held August 2, 3 and 4. During the dates the short course is in progress, Mr. Yeates will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Lester Adams.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call the teacher of vocational agriculture, Mr. Adams. An entry fee of $10.00 will be charged. Oxy-acetylene welding short course certificates are to be presented to each enrollee who attends all the training sessions.

Mr. Yeates stated that the short course will be adjusted to wishes and interests of farmers enrolled but that he expects to cover such subjects as safety in oxy-acetylene welding, factors controlled by the operator in oxy-acetylene welding, choosing adjusting torch flames, types of welding rods, preparation of joints, distortion, cutting and hardsurfacing.

can be of help to anyone interested in grass seed production, says Lovelace.

Joe D. Unfred Heads Lynn County's Drive For Agricultural Hall of Fame

Joe D. Unfred of New Home has been named county chairman in the Texas campaign to build a Texas Pavilion at the Agricultural Hall of Fame at Bonner Springs, Kansas.

The county campaign is one of more than 200 such campaigns planned throughout Texas this summer.

Honorary state chairman is Governor John Connally, who launched the Texas drive in May with a statement and proclamation strongly supporting the national agricultural center.

State co-chairmen are Harold H. Hogue, prominent wheat rancher from Dalhart, and Charles G. Scruggs, editor of The Progressive Farmer, Dallas.

Mr. Scruggs said, "The Agricultural Hall of Fame and National Center is the only institution in the country which is devoted to memorializing the greatness of American agriculture since pioneer days." He explained the National Center is administered by a board of volunteer agricultural and business leaders drawn from every state in the Union and that the center is a private, non-profit, tax-exempt corporation having no government support.

Comprising 275 acres of rolling farm land at one of the highest points in Eastern Kansas, the Agricultural Hall of Fame today has assets of more than $700,000.

An exhibit hall of 9,500 square feet with an administrative wing of 3,000 square feet were opened to the public last June. A second building will soon be under way which will have more than 18,000 square feet of exhibit area and will be the largest of its kind in the world given over exclusively to the exhibit of antique farm power machines.

One of the more popular attractions at the Agricultural Center, according to Fred Leighton, administrator, is "Old Tex," a 2000-lb. Longhorn given by the Light Ranch of Cotulla, Tex.

Ten more buildings are projected in the $6 million enterprise expected to take up to five years to complete.

The Texas goal is $400,000. The Texas Pavilion will represent a gift from the citizens of Texas to all the American people. Plans for the pavilion and its location on the grounds will be supervised by the Texas Council of the Agricultural Hall of Fame. The Council is composed of 29 farmers, ranchers and agri-business leaders from throughout the state. The building is expected to provide facilities for conferences of agriculturally related organizations from throughout the country. Also included will be an auditorium.

Funds to launch the Agricultural Hall of Fame have been received from more than 20 states. Kansas and Missouri contributed the largest share to initial purchases of land and construction of buildings.

(By Mrs. Edmund Wilke)

Have you been to the mountains this summer? Just about every other person that I have talked to lately has either been to the mountains or planning to go in the very near future. Wouldn't it be nice to be there right now? If you have been, call and tell me all about it so I can share it with your friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Gravel from Slaton and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vernon from Lubbock were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong, Peggy and Virginia and little granddaughter from Brownfield visited with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Becker on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong are the parents of Mrs. Gilbert Becker.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lee Lange and four children from Austin visited with Edmund and Yours Truly on Friday. They were on their way to the mountains in Colorado and New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Havis have just returned from a visit through parts of Colorado and New Mexico. Two places that they visited in particular were Meeker, Colo., and Ruidoso, N. M. Mrs. Havis reported that in places in Colorado they need rain very bad and that it is very hot.

The Southland Methodist revival will begin this coming Sunday, July 31, at 8:00 p. m. Rev. Hugh Daniel from Tahoka will be the guest speaker. This revival will last one week and everyone is invited to come. There will be two revivals going on the same week at different times. The Baptist Church will also be having their revival. They will be held at different times, so you can attend both if you would like.

The Methodist revival is being held at the Graham Chapel Church this week, having started Sunday night and will end on this coming Sunday, July 31. Rev. Max Browning from Wilson is the guest preacher. Everyone is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Oats and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bixom from Slaton visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hargrove on Sunday.

Mrs. John Gaskalla and daughter Mary Jo from Columbus, Ohio, were luncheon guests on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Mason. Mrs. Gaskalla and daughter were on their way to Abilene. This is the first time these two families had seen each other in eight years.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mason went to Brownfield on Wednesday to pick up their daughter, Mickey, who had been visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Rowden, for several days. Pam and Jan Rowden returned home with the Masons and spent several days visiting with different relatives here in Southland. They returned to their home in Brownfield on Saturday.

The cheerleaders of Southland School are at Texas Tech this week attending the Cheerleading School. They are staying on the campus and the school lasts from Sunday afternoon until this coming Friday. The three girls attending from here are Libby Sales, head cheerleader, Karen Melcher, and Dayneen Dunn. Guess these girls will come back home with a lot of new ideas, and a bunch of new "yells".

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dunn visited with Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Collingsworth and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lovelace at Cooper.

The Southland graduating class of 1931 held their class reunion on Sunday in the school cafeteria. This class has been having these reunions every five years for quite some time. There were 38 guests there for the pot-luck dinner and around 50 people in all called during the day. In 1931 there were 12 graduating seniors and yesterday (Sunday) there were seven of them at the reunion. They were: Winifred Booher, Ruth (Fields) and Pete Crawford, Dale Spence, Hazel Gregory Craft, Alene Gray Onstott and Ruby Ellis.

Speaking of class reunions—the 1941 class will be having their's on August 7. Don't forget this important date. It will be held at the Slaton American Legion building, beginning in the morning with lunch at 1:00 p. m. and during the afternoon until every one leaves. See you there!

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winterrowd, Dahlona, Breonne, and Jerry have just returned from a week's stay at beautiful Lake Whitney and Fort Worth. At Lake Whitney, they visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gresham and in Fort Worth they visited with Mrs. Francis Lightfoot, and with a brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Lightfoot. On the way back they stopped at Possum Kingdom Lake for a short time. While at Lake Whitney they enjoyed a nice fish fry.

Sunday guests in our home were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Becker, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McMinn, Mr. and Mrs. James Riney and Cathy, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Zieschange. Also visiting for a short time was Miss Martha Blodgett.

Poverty Program Set Up Explained

Willis Gresham, young Lamesa attorney, brought the second of two successive programs on the Poverty Program as being operated through local Community Action Committees at Tahoka Rotary Club last Thursday.

The speaker declared Lamesa first went into the program with some misgivings, but he is now sold on the program in spite of abuses and the fact that he does not agree with all phases.

Under the set-up, each community may form its own committee of citizens who decide the projects to accept or reject. Federal government furnishes 90 percent of the funds. The local community furnishes 10 percent, which may include building rent, supplies, etc. Lamesa received an initial grant of $8,000 to set up the program. An administrator's salary is paid by the government.

In conducting a survey of Dawson county, the local committee found 30 percent of its families were in poverty, making $3,000 or less a year, and 50 percent making less than $4,000 a year.

From this group come most of the school drop-outs, crime, juvenile delinquency, and incidence of disease.

Therefore, the Dawson county group decided to join the poverty program in an effort to improve the literacy and well-being of those willing to work but not able to get jobs because of lack of proper training.

He said they were surprised to learn many day laborers could not drive a tractor or truck. He thought training these people for employment would add to the community income and improve the general economy.

First program initiated was the Head Start program to teach children of pre-school age to speak English before entering school.

Second, is the Neighborhood Youth Corps to train young people to do such things as run tractors and trucks and care for them.

Cotton Diseases Are Showing Up

Lubbock—Heavy infestations of Verticillium wilt have shown up early in some cotton on the heavier soils of the South Plains, reports Dr. Earl Minton, plant pathologist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center, north of here.

Verticillium normally begins to manifest itself on some cotton in the area about this time each year, but he said the infestation appears unusually widespread in parts of Lubbock, Lamb, Hale, Floyd and Crosby Counties.

The disease is caused by soil borne fungi that tend to thrive under cool, moist soil conditions.

The Agricultural Research Service pathologist said bacterial blight or angular leaf spot also appears to be causing more than normal damage throughout the South Plains this year.

Control methods for the two diseases are limited, although Extension Service Pathologist Dr. Robert Berry says some cultural practices can help to reduce losses from them.

Minton said he has seen one field which was 30 percent infested with Verticillium wilt. Infestations this great are normally not prevalent until September.

Early symptoms of "Vert" are chlorosis or yellowing of the leaves. Minton said the yellowing tends to occur on lower leaves first and gradually works up to the top of the plant.

He credits the early season development of Verticillium wilt to cool, wet soil and cool nights during June. These environmental conditions allowed the disease to get a headstart, he said.

Cultural practices which Berry and Minton say can help to retard the wilt are as follows:

Avoid deep cultivation. It prunes roots and allows easy entry for the fungi and it can stunt the plants making them more susceptible to the disease.

Balance fertility and water. Excessive nitrogen appears to increase the disease and too much irrigation provides cool, wet soil where the fungi thrive.

Strive to maintain highest possible soil temperatures. Alternate row irrigation can help, Minton says. Skip-row planting and planting on-the-bed will tend to reduce infestations because they help to raise soil temperature.

Crop rotations using small grains and grain sorghum normally reduce the incidence of infestation, Minton said, although one heavily infested field found this year had been in grain sorghum for two years.

Bacterial blight or angular leaf spot first appears as small, water soaked areas on leaves. Minton said this part of the leaf will turn brownish-black and the surrounding tissue will turn yellow.

Hot dry weather tends to retard bacterial blight infestations, he said.

The best known method for control of both "Vert" and bacterial blight would be to plant a variety resistant to the diseases, according to the research pathologist.

Minton, Berry and Dr. Levon Ray, cotton breeder at the South Plains Center, recently issued a report on a test measuring the Verticillium wilt and bacterial blight resistance of 64 cotton varieties.

Most commercially available stormproof varieties were found to be susceptible to Verticillium wilt, Minton said, but Auburn M and Gregg 25 V were judged slightly tolerant.

Acala 1517 V, a long staple variety, yielded 705 pounds of lint per acre—the highest yield of the commercially available cotton varieties in the test.

The performance of several experimental lines was outstanding both in yield and fiber qualities, Minton said.

The study was conducted on Olton loam soil which, since 1960, has been managed with the intent of establishing and maintaining a high incidence of Verticillium wilt.

Results of the work indicate cotton varieties are being developed which will produce high yields of good quality fiber under conditions of severe Verticillium wilt and bacterial blight infestations.

Dr. Ray has released several of these lines to cotton breeders, but it will probably be at least two years before they will be available in large quantities.

GRASSLAND NEWS

(Mrs. O. H. Hoover)

Whew, ain't it hot! It's a good time to go on a diet—it's too hot to cook. Wish we could get a good rain. Let's try putting an extra dollar in the collection plate.

I am going fishing for a few days. Of course, I will bring some big ones back—keep your fingers crossed.

Mrs. Max Browning, wife of the Methodist pastor at Grassland, was complimented with a shower in the home of Mrs. E. A. Thomas Tuesday afternoon and was presented with a money tree. There were 13 guests present.

Rev. and Mrs. Jess Young, former pastor of the Methodist Church in Grassland, spent the day with Mrs. Grace Thomas and helped her celebrate her birthday. Rev. Young has the same birthday.

Other guests were Mrs. Thomas' daughter, Betty Grace Hall and granddaughter, Tommie Hall, and Rev. Young's mother, Mrs. Coker. Mrs. Cressie Hood of Claude visited Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Turner last week. Mrs. Hood is Mr. Turner's sister.

A group of ladies, friends of Granny Walker, surprised her on her 80th birthday with a party. She received many beautiful gifts and had such a nice time. What a lovely thing to do for a little old lady.

Mrs. Edith Inklebarger visited her sister, Mrs. Hoover a while Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Ada Oden and Mrs. Blanche Gray visited Mrs. Hoover Wednesday evening.

Lucille Walker visited Mrs. J. E. Yates and Letha Porterfield Wednesday morning.

We extend our sincere sympathy to the family of Mrs. L. P. Baker in their great loss. She, with her girls have given many hours of pleasure to the people with their singing.

Brad, seven-year-old son of Kenneth and Sonja Huffaker, was operated on last Friday as something was wrong with his kidneys. He is not doing too well—we wish him a speedy recovery.

There was an automobile accident in front of the W. C. Bush residence Friday about 11:00 a.m. Mrs. Mattie Sue Hardin, driver of the car and Mrs. Ruth Hardin of Coleman were injured. Both are elderly ladies and were bruised and badly shaken up. They were going to spend a few days with Mrs. C. C. Jones and had driven up from Coleman. Mrs. Hardin is the late Callie Jones' sister. PRINIER'S INK LINGS
 THANK HILL

Ken Durham, Tahoka native now a teacher in LeTourneau College at Longview, recently sent us a copy of a long front page editorial by Carl Estes of the Longview Morning Journal which expresses our sentiments so well we're reprinting it:

Reaping the Whirlwind
 "Survivor of Mass Murder Describes Crime to Police."
 "National Guard Patrols Chicago Riot Area with Orders to Shoot to Kill."
 "Chicago Negro Riots Linked to KING'S STAFF ORGANIZERS."
 Shades of Al Capone! By comparison with these times, Al and his henchmen were a bunch of Sunday School boys. The Windy City is really blowing up a storm Chicago—always a city in which the underworld influence was a prime factor, a metropolis which traditionally has given sanctuary to the criminal element—is finally reaping the whirlwind.

Present and past city administrations have used the Negro and other minority groups as a means of perpetuating themselves in office and it is primarily their blame, today, that it is not safe for a woman to walk the streets of that city.

What happened in Harlem and in Watts, what is happening in Chicago mark this as the "long hot summer" in which racial tensions can reach the explosion point.

We have little sympathy for the political bosses of these areas. What is happening to their communities is the result of shortsightedness and exploitation, of deprivation and intimidation.

The sorry spectacle of past and present Chicago city administrations leads one to believe that it might be a wholesome thing if Mayor Daley and all his cohorts, together with the rest of the majority population in that city were to be driven into Lake Michigan. The bath might do them good.

This does not mean that we carry a brief for Martin Luther King. He is primarily an opportunist. He preaches "non-violence" but he leaves the blood of his people in his foot prints.

He reminds us of the little feist dog that, barking and nipping at other dogs' tails, gets them to fighting. Then, while they're pulling fur from each other, he takes off without a scratch.

There is an old saying that we "sow the wind and reap the whirlwind" and there is another that "one's chickens always come back home to roost."

It is happening in the East, North and West today, and we here in the South cannot help feeling that it is long overdue.

Two years ago, when Freedom Riders were stranded in Montgomery, Alabama, on their trouble-making trip through the South, little Bobby Kennedy, then attorney-general of the United States, got on the phone and ordered bus officials to get the buses moving.

Where is Bobby now? He's just back from Rhodesia, where he undertook to tell the government of that country how it should solve its racial problems.

In the confrontation with Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, Attorney-General Nicholas de B. Katzenbach (cat's back) got his fur up, his back arched and his tail high in order to get a Negro into college. Katzenbach established himself as "the Great Black Father with a white skin."

In Mississippi, FBI agents and federal marshals were ordered out to integrate a state university. Gen. Edwin Walker, a patriotic United States Army General (retired), was whisked away to an insane hospital by the "federals" because he happened to be on the campus and his views on integration did not match Katzenbach's. It is to laugh!

Again in Alabama, when the

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"
 BY C. WILSON HARDER

For many years attention has been focused on the plight of the poor of India. Stories of starvation have been given great prominence.

In fact, billions have been taken from American taxpayers to help feed the hungry of India. But there has been little, if any mention, of why it was necessary to have hungry Indians.

It has remained for C. W. Harder, Senator Frank Lausche, Ohio, to pin the reason for starvation on the Indian politicians.

In a land as ancient as India, food, stuffs cannot be grown without fertilizer. In fact, centuries of cultivation have sapped the soil. The American International Oil Co. for many years, the Senator reports, has been ready with plans, and willing to invest some $50 million dollars in a modern chemical fertilizer plant in India.

But for years the Indian government kept this project, so badly needed, from starting. The reason was that under its policy of socialism, the government would not let the fertilizer plant be built unless it would be managed by the Indian government bureaucrats.

Obviously, no responsible management of any company is going to invest $50 million dollars of the stockholders' money in a plant and turn it over for operation by bureaucrats of any nation.

And thus, the matter stood

Charlie Company Writes Homemakers Thanks For Gifts

Recently the O'Donnell Young Homemakers sponsored a drive to collect Kool-Aid for the Charlie Company in Viet Nam. The Young Homemakers would like to share this letter with you which was received from the company's commanding officer.

O'Donnell Young Homemakers Mrs. Harold Brumit, Chairman Route 1 O'Donnell, Texas Dear Homemakers,

It is my privilege to express the thanks of Charlie Company to your fine organization for the Kool-Aid which arrived today. It is a very appropriate gift as the men mix the Kool-Aid in their canteens to cover up the taste of the purification tablets.

At the present time, Charlie Company is deployed along Highway 14 south of Pleiku which puts us 30 miles east of the Cambodian border. The men are in extremely high spirits and even though our thoughts are mostly of home, we realize our responsibilities here in Vietnam.

Inclosed is a 1st Air Cavalry Division patch and a "Garry Owen" crest. The 7th Cavalry was at one time commanded by General George Custer and we are all proud of the accomplishments of the battalion from that famous day in 1876 until present. "Garry Owen" is the title of an old cavalry charge and was General Custer's favorite. For this reason the battalion has adopted "Garry Owen" as its slogan and we hope to fight with as much courage and skill as those before us.

Let me once again express the company's thanks for your gift. It means a lot to the men to be thought of by the good citizens back home.

Sincerely yours,

The Army Commendation Medal was presented 1st Sgt. Armond C. Beaty of B-43 for meritorious service while assigned as Intelligence NCO of the 4th Bn. (Mech) 20th Inf., Ft. Clayton, CO.

A veteran of 17 years service, Sgt. Beaty entered the Army from Corning, Calif. He lives with his wife, Wanda and three children on post at Fort Ord, Calif.

Beaty is the son-in-law of Mrs. W. T. Hill, 1718 North Fourth. His wife, Wanda, was formerly employed as a nurse to Dr. Emil Prohl at Tahoka Clinic.

The President of the United States should be addressed as Mr. President or Sir.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says, "Law enforcement today is being degraded, purposely in many instances, by the widespread and indiscriminate use of the term 'police brutality.'" the highway of a sovereign state, Katzenbach's men were there.

In Louisiana, Georgia, as well as Alabama and Mississippi, state and local officials have been ordered by federal courts to "extend protection" to protest marchers. Federal power has ridden herd on local government.

The ardent spokesmen for civil rights have always included men and women churchmen and laity, from faraway places — the New England States, Midwest, Far West.

They have appeared in parade, sanctimoniously singing freedom songs, bedding down with Negroes, and generally giving the Southern people hell for "mistreating" the Negro.

Where were these ardent people?—where was Katzenbach?—where was Little Bobby?—during Harlem and Watts? Where are they today when rioting, rapes and mass murder rock Chicago—eight young student nurses slaughtered in their own dormitory?

Why hasn't Daley been enjoined from interfering with the Negro riots? Southern officials have been so restrained.

Are there different laws and rules for North and South? It seems so. Civil rights legislation was all right, so long as the North was exempted. Now with a housing section which would apply to the North, there is plenty of opposition. They are squealing like so many pigs caught under iron gates.

In the steel-price issue little more than a year ago, FBI agents raided homes of steel executives in the middle of the night and made them produce company records. Labor unions have struck—right now, five major air lines are down because of a strike—but has a labor hall been raided by federals?

All in all, Chicago is just the current example of expediency and exploitation. People in the North, East and West have been trying a long time to tell the South how to live.

Today, they are getting a dose of their own medicine. We fervently hope that the results of the mass murders, rioting and lawlessness will be at least as much as they have sought to impose upon the South.

The self-righteous North will find all this a bitter pill to swallow.

But, having sat on the sidelines and voiced their approval while Southern areas were overrun by racial agitators from other parts of the nation, Chicago and other Northern cities are going to find that the corral gate swings both ways.

Right now, it has opened on them and they have only themselves to blame if they wind up in a patch of briars and cactus, or in Lake Michigan.

Why not put Mayor Daley and "King" King in a boat without any oars and shove 'em out into Lake Michigan, anyhow? The country would be a darn sight better off so far as we are concerned.

Carl L. Estes

Martin White passes on a bit of verse he picked up from Gur Ford, Portales potato grower:

"I notice when a fellow dies, no matter what he's been—some saintly chap or one perhaps whose life is stained with sin—his friends forget the bitter words they spoke but yesterday, and now think up a multitude of pretty things to say.

"Perhaps when I am laid to rest, someone will bring to light some noble deed or kindly act long buried out of sight—but, if it's all the same to you, my friends, just give me, instead, the business while I'm living, the knocking when I'm dead."

Mrs. Earl Morris Writes About Trip

Mrs. Earl Morris of Sinton accompanied a daughter and son-in-law, J. L. and Elizabeth Gary and two granddaughters, Marjorie and Pam Miesler on a fishing trip to Boyd Creek last week.

Following is an account of her trip:

A sister of Mrs. Morris, Mrs. W. A. Gunn, has a fish house furnished with everything—a fisherman's paradise, and on the creek she has a barge with chairs one can sit in and fish. She entertains her fishing guests here.

But "you're truly" by having lived on these plains some 60 years, isn't much of a fisherman—in the disgust of this sister who fairly lived on the creek.

The rest of the gang fished with Morelle, but the "moon" wasn't right (I always wondered how the fish knew when I don't) and they didn't have too much luck. But we were served a fish dinner from the deep freeze which we enjoyed very much with cornbread.

By noon Tuesday the Garys decided to go on further down into Texas, leaving the teenage girls and we three older women. Well, everything was going great until about 3:30 a. m. when I was suddenly awakened by Morelle bawling: "There's a skunk in the kitchen, where is my gun?" She is a crack shot too, but Mr. Skunk, who had been suspiciously busy with a sock of garbage went back out through the hole in the screen he had made to get in and got away. But Morelle left some traps set in the yard with garbage around, said she would go back and check on these, a little later on Mr. Skunk.

The girls had quite a bit of excitement and will have plenty to tell their friends in Dallas.

That afternoon, with some regrets, we took off to Angelo and had a visit with another sister, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Sanders, their daughter, Billy Jane and her three children. Billy is still laying brick; Sadie still plays cards with the "girls".

After a short visit to Morelle's apartment we caught the bus to Sinton. It will take these girls

All-Stars Take Second Place

Tahoka Little League all-stars took second place in the Area IV tournament held in Post last Friday and Saturday and brought home a trophy and each boy received a Little League pin.

The team took O'Donnell Friday night 2-0 by playing almost perfect ball but then took the "willies" when they met Lamesa Saturday night and lost 15-5. Lamesa advanced to the District Tournament at Lubbock this week end.

Lubbock will be the site of the State play-offs this year.

In the O'Donnell game, Tahoka was aided by 13 O'Donnell errors, but collected 12 hits to produce the 20 runs. Rayford Gage drove in 11 runs with three home runs and a double, while Pitcher Jeff Atwell handcuffed O'Donnell on only two hits.

Tahoka played almost flawless ball and committed only one error.

But, Saturday night against Lamesa, disaster started early for Tahoka as Lamesa scored the first two men at bat on two fielding errors and two throwing errors. This was only a sample, as Lamesa tallied four more runs in the second inning on three walks, a hit batter, an error, and a two base hit. In two innings at bat, Lamesa had six runs on two hits.

Tahoka, fighting back, scored two runs in the bottom of the second on a base on balls to Jeff Atwell and a home run by Ladd Roberts. Tahoka scored again in the bottom of the third on a walk to Burleson and singles by Green and Atwell. Score 6 to 3 at end of three innings.

Dunagan Scores "Ace" At Golf Club

Irvin Dunagan Monday afternoon scored a hole-in-one, "a shot in a million," on the No. 3 hole at T-Bar Country Club. He used a 6-iron shooting into the wind on the short up-hill 127-yard hole.

He was playing with George and Michael Glenn and Thomas Jolly at the time. But, he says he's fearful one man won't believe his tale. He had been playing earlier with his pastor, Rev. Jim Turner, and not doing too well.

Ten years ago, Dunagan had scored a hole-in-one on the then new course but on the 193-yard No. 7 hole.

Dunagan thinks Glenn is good luck to him, for Glenn was in the group in 1956 when he made the hole-in-one, as was Jack A. Robinson and Jake Jacobs.

Mrs. Eloise Griffin, T-Bar club secretary, is sending in Dunagan's certificate for approval by the Hole-In-One Club.
