Burglars Take Valuable Items From Rural Home

Burglars who struck the Curtis Gickhorn home 3 miles west of Wilson just off FM 211 in mid-afternoon Tuesday took items valued well over $2,000, Lynn County sheriff's officers said.

The home was unoccupied between 3 and 4 p.m. when the burglars kicked in a door between the garage and house and stole a 19-inch RCA color TV, a Sony Betamax recorder, Hitachi stereo system, Tappan microwave, several rifles and a pistol.

Officers are looking for an older model white Ford cargo van, short wheelbase, which had been seen in the area. A Crime Line reward of $400 has been set up for information leading to clearing the case.

The sheriff's office investigated the shooting death early Wednesday of an O'Donnell man. Bart Anthony Reynolds, 29, died of a .22 caliber wound. Justice of the Peace Ben Morrison of O'Donnell ruled the cause of death as a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Funeral services for Reynolds were pending Wednesday at Branon Funeral Home in Lamesa.

Daniel Barrera, 18, of O'Donnell, has been charged with forgery in regard to a check for $201.50 on the account of E.H. Conrad of O'Donnell. The check was passed at Ince Oil Co. store let the Russians blow us all to (pieces) whenever the notion suits them.

His survey didn't actually put it like that, but you get the drift.

I would have appreciated the letter more if it had skipped all the rhetoric about programs, dire threats from the liberals, etc., and simply said, "Dear Mr. Wood. We need more money to fight the stinking left-wing weirdos. Send what you can."

MANY OF US struggle through most days hitting on one cylinder and carrying out our tasks half-heartedly, sure in our own minds that if we ever get one job finished, someone will try to get us to do something else we don't want to do.

What we need (and I need it as much as anyone) is to remember to be energetic and enthusiastic. Ralph Waldo Emerson is credited with offering this good advice to all of us:

"Enthusiasm is one of the most powerful engines of success. When you do a thing, do it with all your might. Put your whole soul into it. Stamp it with your own personality. Be active, be energetic, be enthusiastic and faithful, and you will accomplish your object. Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm."

Elevator Issue Concerns County

Lynn County Commissioners, faced on one hand with a federal mandate to install an elevator and make other changes to accommodate handicapped persons, and on the other hand with a state historical commission reluctance to approve an elevator installation in the most logical place, Monday voted to employ an attorney to deal with the historical commission in the matter.

Commissioners explained that a representative of the Texas Historical Commission recently rejected the county's suggested location for an elevator and made his own recommendation of a location which would take out three of the existing offices in the courthouse. The state commission's viewpoint recently in such matters usually has been that no physical changes can be made which will affect the appearance of an historical landmark.

County commissioners Monday also approved payment of $1,023 to Lubbock County for three months space at the Lubbock Youth Center.

The group also voted to post rules and regulations regarding use of the Lynn County Show Barn.

Present were Judge J.F. Brandon and commissioners Bart Anderson, Eldon Gattis, Boyd Barnes and J.T. Miller.

Schools, Cities Elect Officials

Voting was light in O'Donnell and New Home, but turnouts at the polls were good in Tahoka and Wilson Saturday as the county's school districts and cities elected officials, with most races contested.

In a seven-person race for two places on the Tahoka School Board, incumbent Robert (Bones) Smith and Nedra Young were elected. Mrs. Young led the ticket with 205 votes and Smith had 181. Two other candidates ran close in the race. Other vote totals were Gerald Huffaker, 176 votes; Billy Davis, 159; Linda Spruiell 87; Donna Willis 39 and Ray Morales Sr., 12 votes.

Four persons were on the ballot for two places on the Tahoka City Council, and incumbent Dalton Wood and new candidate Jim M. Thomas were elected. Wood had 251 votes, Thomas had 190. Both of the other candidates also ran well, with incumbent W.O. Wharton getting 176 and Leonard Dunn 162.

Jim Solomon, running unopposed for the post of mayor to succeed longtime Mayor Meldon Leslie, who did not seek re-election, was elected mayor with 303 votes. Dub Gurley had 19 write-in votes for mayor.

At Wilson, city councilman Jackie Bishop was elected mayor succeeding Don Morton, who did not run. Bishop had 96 votes to 7 for Jay Ross.

Charlene Webb, with 61 votes, and Lonnie Paul Donald, with 54 votes, were elected to the City Council. Other candidates for the two positions were John Guzman, who received 39 votes, and Ray Crispin, who received 36.

Incumbents Tommy Bednarz and Ray Ehlers were re-elected to the Wilson school board, getting 106 and 92 votes respectively. Other candidates were Deborah Webb, 59 votes, Gary Russell Moore, 43, and Don Schneider, 36.

Dwayne Smith and Kay James, both incumbents, were re-elected to the New Home school board, as James had 70 and Smith 61 votes. Lonette Smith had 40 votes.

There were no contests in the New Home city election. Thirty votes were cast, with Mayor Clifton Clem and councilmen Freddie Kieth and LeRoy Nettles elected.

Four city aldermen were elected in a light turnout at O'Donnell. David Smith had 101 votes, Billy Edwards 100, Tommy Woolam 99 and Bobby Knight 45 to win the posts, as Melvyn Dutton had 37 votes. Knight and Dutton were running for the remainder of an unexpired term, and the other three incumbents were unopposed.

Weldon Bessire and Jimmy Popnoe were re-elected to the O'Donnell school board, with 145 and 135 votes respectively. Alton Cook had 20 votes.

Elected to the Lynn County Hospital board of directors without opposition were Leland White, Nick Summitt, Donald Dawes and Jesse Dorman.

White had 704 votes, Dorman 690, Dawes 660 and Summitt 702.

Area Students On TT Honor Lists

Area students qualified for the president's and dean's honor rolls at Texas Tech University during the 1984 fall semester. To make the President's Honor List a student must earn a perfect 4.0 grade point average while enrolled in 12 or more semester hours of classwork. For the Dean's Honor List, a student must finish 12 or more semester hours with a grade-point average of 3.5 or above.

Students making the President's List were Timothy Bednarz of Wilson and Rance House of Tahoka. On the Dean's List were Lisa Steinhauser of Wilson, Ira White of Tahoka and Dana Poer of Rt. 4, Tahoka.

New Mayor, Council Members Installed

Jim Solomon was sworn in Monday night as new mayor of Tahoka, the first new mayor for the city since 1961. Also sworn in by outgoing Mayor Meldon Leslie were new city councilmen Jim M. Thomas and councilman Dalton Wood, who was re-elected.

After the new mayor and councilmen were sworn in, Leslie left the meeting, and turned the head chair over to Solomon, who remarked after he took the seat that "it almost seems like a sacrilege for someone else to sit up here."

Solomon outlined some of his goals and plans for the city to the council, and named Richard White as mayor pro-tem, a job which Solomon held.

The council then appointed Nicky Summitt to serve out the remaining year of Solomon's scheduled term as councilman.

The council voted approval of a six-month budget, an unusual time frame for budgeting made necessary by a recent decision of the council to change the fiscal year to begin in October. Because no taxes (other than delinquent taxes) will be collected in that period, the six-month budget appears to be a huge deficit, but City Manager Carl Reynolds explained that the city already has about $30,000 left to apply on the six-month budget, and that the city normally borrows about that much more on a temporary basis just before tax bills are sent out each year.

The budget calls for projected income of $80,342 and expenses of $137,660.

Present were the two mayors and councilmen Thomas, Wood, White and Tom Cooper.

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

I GOT A LETTER from Ronald Reagan the other day, although I sort of have my doubts that he knows he sent it. He wants me to send him some money, so I guess this is his answer to balancing the budget. I haven't sent him any, but I admit to being a bit sympathetic to anybody who has to live in Washington and try to get around in that town.

I never did get all the letter read; it was several pages long. I did learn from the length of the letter that Ronnie is no better than Reader's Digest and all those other people who send you letters wanting things, usually disguised in such phrases as "You may already have won 42 zillion dollars, so tear off your 'Yes' sticker and send it back to us and we'll send back 10 prints of sunflowers that you'll wonder how you ever did without..."

What irritates me most about all these mailouts is that they never get to the point. You can read them for 30 minutes and you still have a hard time figuring out what they want. The president's letter included a survey which I never returned, because like most such surveys they are written in such a way you really have no alternative:

Check one of the following statements: () I support spending more money for military buildup; or () I would rather

MANAGING YOUR MONEY

Having It All: Managing Affluence in the 1980s

If your household income added up to $50,000 or more last year, you may be surprised to learn you're an affluent American. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, affluence begins at the $50,000 income level, and more than 7.5 million households—about one in every twelve nationwide—qualify.

Real affluence, according to financial experts, is more than what you earn. It's also what you own, and how you manage your financial affairs. People who have high incomes but spend every penny never accumulate any of the wealth that enables others, who may actually earn less, to pay fewer taxes, to travel, buy second homes, retire comfortably or do the things we associate with an affluent lifestyle.

The way to achieve real affluence is to develop a sound financial road map. The first step is getting a grip on your assets, ideally consolidating them.

Quilt Donated For Auction

BY GENE WISDOM

Most of us can remember cold winter nights squeezed under the warmth of a half-dozen of grandmother's colorful, handmade quilts. Since the invention of central heat and electric blankets, the necessity of quilting has been relegated to the status of hobby and now to art form, celebrated in county fairs and bazaars.

Eva Dorman of Tahoka has been quilting since she was a teenager helping her mother provide the necessities for chilly West Texas winters. For the last 12 years, however, quilting has become for her a hobby. Eva has made more than a hundred quilts during this time, mostly for her children, grandchildren and friends. Her quilts have won numerous ribbons at county fairs and art shows, including "Best of the Show" award at the 1984 Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock.

Eva and husband Calvin are long-time residents of Lynn County. They farmed for 54 years in the T-Bar community before retiring six years ago and moving to Tahoka. In January they celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. They have both been strong supporters of their community. For several years Eva has donated her work to the O'Donnell United Methodist Church annual bazaar. The past six years she had donated quilts to the Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary's annual Fun and Food Fest.

This year Eva will donate a queen-size "Lone Star" quilt, finished in brown tones. The Fun and Food Fest will be held Saturday, April 20 from 4 to 9 p.m. in the Lynn County show barn. Admission to the fair is 50 cents, with each ticket holder eligible for numerous door prizes.

Co-chairpersons of the festival are Nadine Dunlap and Bennie Carter. Other committees are: booths, Lucille Smith and Sue Shaver; donations, Judy Holden and Ann Roberts; door prizes, Jennette Owens and Grace Hufaker; special donations, Larry and Sue Hagood; blood drive, Kelly Voyles; entertainment, Weesie Carroll; publicity, Dean Bartley and Dot Roberts; children's entertainment, Rebecca Ingle and Tahoka junior high pep squad.

Interested persons are invited to make donations or to have donations picked up by calling Judy Holden or Ann Roberts.

Cotton Today

Import Action Requested: The National Cotton Council has officially requested Secretary of Agriculture John Block to begin proceedings under Section 22 of the Agricultural Act to prevent cotton product imports from further reducing domestic cotton consumption and interfering with the government cotton program.

In view of the crisis situation, the Council also asked for emergency action under the law.

Council President Samuel B. Hollis told the Secretary that dramatic increases in penetration of the U.S. market by cotton product imports has reduced the annual domestic consumption of U.S. cotton by well over a million bales since 1980. This lower demand in relation to supply has meant lower prices to farmers and sharply reduced income, Hollis stated.

Imports now account for 37 percent of retail cotton consumption, compared with 22 percent 5 years ago. Last year alone they escalated 29 percent. These imports have caused losses to farmers estimated at $2.6 billion and far higher costs of government cotton programs since 1980, he added.

Section 22 provides that when the Secretary has reason to believe that imports are interfering with a government farm program or causing reduced consumption of a commodity covered by a farm program, he is to inform the President.

If the President agrees, he directs the International Trade Commission to investigate and make recommendations. If the President agrees with its findings, he must impose import quotas or fees to correct the situation.

Commenting on the action, Hollis said, "We have an extremely strong case, and we hope and believe that the Secretary will agree with us when he has time to study the facts".

COTTON NETWORK BEING EXPLORED: The feasibility of a computer information network to help cotton growers, ginners, and other industry segments increase efficiency and achieve cost reductions is being studied by a committee of the Oscar Johnston Cotton Foundation.

Frank M. Mitchener Jr., Sumner, Miss., cotton producer and president of the Foundation, heads the committee. Members include representatives from every cotton industry segment, supplier firms, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Staffing for the project is provided by the National Cotton Council.

"Our aim is to determine if a computer communications network would help industry segments to become more efficient and lower costs," Mitchener said.

"We simply must make progress in these two areas if our industry is to achieve another vital objective -- that of becoming the low-cost producer of cotton and cotton textiles in the world," he explained.

Three basic uses for the network are being examined -- electronic document transfer, information retrieval, and crop management modeling.

Electronic document transfer would allow subscribers to exchange cotton documents faster and at a lower cost than that for paper documents.

"A cotton grower could receive classing information and warehouse receipts faster than in the past, for example," Mitchener said.

"This would not be a marketing system," he stated, "Cotton would continue to be

"We grew Deltapine SR 383 specifically for the A.C.G. cotton pool because of its reputation for high strength. It consistently miked premium in this low mike year. We will definitely grow Deltapine SR 383 again in 1985."

EDDIE & STEVE VERETT, Ralls, Texas

"I contracted my Deltapine SR 383 for 150 points over market price. The average selling price was 49¢ per pound. My other cotton varieties averaged only 37¢ to 42¢ per pound. My Deltapine SR 383 out-yielded my other varieties by about 1/2 bale per acre. Deltapine SR 383 made cotton while the other varieties grew more stalk."

RICKY HUMPHREYS, Sudan, Texas

"Deltapine SR 383 is terrific cotton! We have consistently paid the farmer a higher price for Deltapine SR 383 lint cotton."

bought and sold just as it is today. The only difference would be the means by which the collateral instrument and other documents are transferred."

The information retrieval function would enable subscribers to gain quick access to a wide variety of information relating to cotton.

The third feature would make available for the farmer's use a crop management optimization model. As a management tool, it has the potential of significantly lowering growers' production costs, Mitchener explained.

He reported that a survey by the National Cotton Council late last year indicated that 22 percent of cotton producers across the Cotton Belt now have computer systems. Another 10 percent said they intend to acquire systems in 1985.

Mitchener said a pilot project showed the basic elements for a network system do work. Research is now centered on the design, economic, and legal aspects of a network operation.

If those studies indicate the concept is feasible, the planning committee could recommend that a cotton information network be implemented, he explained.

"We would anticipate submitting the proposal to both the Oscar Johnston Cotton Foundation trustees and the National Cotton Council board of directors for approval before the network is made operational," Mitchener said.

Sugar King

This new feature is very high in seed count; 22,000-26,000 per pound. It also emerges fast in cool ground conditions and has sweet leaves and stalks. Sugar King makes premium hay or ensilage and works well for a fall or winter graze out. The stalks stay soft and sweet after frost. Another good quality is its drought tolerance.

Sugar King is economical to plant as it has about 300,000 more seed per 50# than standard hybrids.

Bundle King IV

A fast growing sweet sorghum hybrid which has extremely sweet stalks and is very leafy. Makes premium quality hay, bundles or ensilage and has a minimum volunteer problem if left to maturity. Works well for a fall or winter graze-out, as cattle like the soft, sweet stalks and leaves after frost. Makes 20%-40% more tonnage than open-pollinated varieties in the same maturity range. Grows 7-8 feet tall under good conditions, yet is very drought tolerant. Bundle King IV has good emergence in cool soil temperatures.

Sugar Red

As the name implies, Sugar Red is a vigorous sweet sorghum hybrid using Early Sumac (red top cane) as one of the parents. Fast growing and very leafy, Sugar Red makes a very sweet and palatable forage plus 20%-40% more tonnage than common open-pollinated varieties. Sugar Red is very drought tolerant yet gets 7-9 feet tall under good conditions. Sugar Red is partially sterile and works well in a winter graze-out program with a minimum of volunteer plants the following year.

Grogan On Most Wanted List

At 24 years of age, Matthew Grogan is mighty young to be attracting so much attention from Texas law enforcement agencies.

Grogan is wanted in Brazos County on charges of escape and is wanted in Austin on charges of aggravated robbery. Investigators in Temple would also like to talk to him.

But then, problems with the law aren't new to the Goldsboro, North Carolina native. Several years ago he was wounded by a Lee County Sheriff's deputy.

Grogan's latest troubles began on June 4, 1982, when two men tried to rob Julie's Place Restaurant in College Station. One of the employees slipped away from the robbers and called police.

Within minutes police responded and arrested Grogan as he ran from the restaurant. A second suspect fled the area and was not apprehended.

After being questioned by the College Station Police Department, Grogan was taken to the 272nd District Courthouse for a hearing. A short time later Grogan managed to escape. He has been a fugitive ever since.

Grogan is described as a white male, 5-10, 150 pounds, with blonde hair and hazel eyes. He has a scar on the right forearm.

When he was arrested in College Station, Grogan listed his address as Kyle, Texas.

Brazos County Sheriff's Deputy Charles Owen says Grogan should be considered "armed and dangerous."

Anyone with information about Grogan's whereabouts is asked to call the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council toll-free, 1-800-252-8477 or their local Crime Stoppers program. In all cases, callers do not have to reveal their identities.

MATTHEW GROGAN

Highway Maintenance Is Costly

The winter of 1984-1985 will be remembered as one of the worst as far as damage to state maintained highways in West Texas. Officials with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (SDHPT) said today that winter road damage will total almost $3 million dollars for the 17-county Lubbock area. That's about twice the 1983-84 winter damage. "This winter wasn't as bad weather-wise, but it sure is going to cost a lot more", said J.W. Gooch, Maintenance Supervisor for the Lubbock office of the SDHPT. "The problem is that our overall road conditions are getting worse and worse each year. The roads are affected more now by the bad weather than they were years ago." Gooch said road maintenance has suffered over the years due to a lack of funds. "What happens during the cold weather is that moisture gets into the cracks of a highway. Then the moisture expands as it freezes and that can really tear up a road." Gooch said the two counties hit the worst by winter damage this year are Dawson and Terry Counties. So far, over $1 million dollars has been spent in the 17-county region due to bad weather during December, January and February. Highway officials estimate it will take another $1.8 million just to get the roads back into the same shape they were before the winter damage. The whole situation has Gooch looking forward to spring and warmer weather. "It's safe to say that highway maintenance workers don't like snow and ice," he said. "Our 293 maintenance employees put in over 15-thousand hours of overtime between the first of December and the end of February."

CANCER: The Good News - Part 3

Prevention Is Best 'Cure'

The majority of cancers could be prevented if only each person cared enough to practice healthier habits.

Scientists say as many as 80 percent of all cancers are the result of lifestyle factors people can control but too often ignore.

Smoking, improper diets, excessive sunlight, some occupational hazards and assorted environmental agents all are implicated in many of the 100-plus malignant diseases called cancer. Combinations of these bad habits over long periods boost an individual's chances for cancer manyfold.

Studies show smoking now causes more than 30 percent of all cancer deaths and costs nearly $30 billion in medical care in the United States alone.

"What a waste, particularly since we know how to prevent these and could do so for a fraction of what's being spent on treating them," laments Dr. David T. Carr, chief of pulmonary diseases at the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute at Houston.

Dr. Carr contends the epidemic of lung cancer "is the worst medical disaster we face today." Approximately 140,000 new cases are expected this year, making it the most prevalent type affecting men and women.

Only about 10 percent of lung cancer patients live for five years or longer after diagnosis, although several recent reports demonstrate improved survival for one particular type. Unfortunately, the bleak outlook for most lung cancer patients drags down the overall cure rate for all malignancies, Dr. Carr says.

Cigarette smoking and use of other tobacco products also contribute to cancers of the mouth, pharynx, esophagus, pancreas and bladder. Smokers have higher rates of heart attacks, strokes, and chronic lung ailments.

"Many people erroneously think it won't do any good for them to quit if they've been smoking for a long time. The fact is, regardless of how long someone has smoked, the risks for serious medical problems begin to decrease almost immediately after cessation," Dr. Carr says.

Getting smokers to stop is only part of the prevention story. The other half involves convincing young people not to ever start this deadly habit.

Adolescents and teens may not appreciate the dangers of developing cancer in later life, but they can understand that smoking causes a type of drug addiction, bad breath and yellow stains on hands and teeth. Research shows most smokers are "hooked" after just three or four packs of cigarettes. In addition to the addictive factors, the nicotine is a powerful, poisonous stimulant which immediately affects the brain and central nervous system, then later slows digestion and reduces blood circulation.

The combination of smoking and heavy alcohol use or exposure to some occupational risks can increase greatly the chances of cancer.

The role of dietary factors has taken on increasing importance in recent years to the point where many medical specialists say 35 percent or more of all cancers appear to be related to what we eat.

High-fat diets are associated with much greater risks for colon and breast cancers, in particular, while consuming more fiber-containing foods along with those rich in vitamins A and C appear to protect against certain cancers," explains Dr. Guy R. Newell, chairman of the Department of Cancer Prevention at M.D. Anderson.

The incidence of colon and rectal cancers is second only to lung cancers among all Americans. Breast cancer will affect almost one out of 10 women in the United States. Other risk factors associated with these common types include a family history of colorectal and breast cancers.

The National Academy of Sciences' National Research Council acknowledged the increasing importance of diet and cancer when it made these recommendations:

- *Reduce consumption of total fats to 30 percent or less daily dietary intake by eating fewer fatty meats, whole-milk dairy products and butter.

- *Increase high-fiber foods like whole-grain cereals, bran products, sunflower seeds and brown rice.

- *Eat plenty of vegetables and fruits with high Vitamin A and C contents, such as dark green and deep yellow vegetables along with those in the cabbage family and citrus fruits like oranges and grapefruits.

- *Avoid virtually all salt-cured, smoked and salt-pickled foods like bacon, sausages, smoked fish and ham.

- *Practice moderation when drinking alcoholic beverages, especially if you smoke.

Studies are in progress in several medical centers to see if giving extra doses of some synthetic vitamins may boost protection against certain cancers. But Dr. Newell warns against anyone taking huge doses of vitamins because excessive vitamin A can cause liver damage and too much vitamin C may cause serious bone marrow changes.

The relationship between excessive sunlight and skin cancer has been well documented for years.

Texans and others living in warm climates need to take special precautions against too much sun, including wearing protective clothing and hats during the hottest part of the day and using sunscreen or sun-blocking products while swimming or participating in other outdoor activities. The skin also should be protected from high winds and prolonged exposure to frost and snow. Individuals with fair complexions are most vulnerable to skin cancers.

Common sense habits help make skin cancer the easiest cancer to prevent. The vast majority of skin cancers are highly curable. One exception is malignant melanoma, a type of skin cancer that usually starts from a mole-like growth and can spread quickly. That's why any obvious change in warts or moles ought to be checked promptly to improve the chances for successful treatments.

People also should take steps to minimize contact with pesticides, chemicals in the workplace and unnecessary X-rays.

Timely tips on how to quit smoking and other prevention actions can be obtained by calling the Texas Cancer Information Service toll-free at 1-80-4-CANCER.

Selecting Software For Family Record Keeping

A computer can be a wizard at financial recordkeeping if it gets a lot of help from you. Depending on the software program, a computer can do most anything from balancing your checkbook to drawing up a financial plan. But getting to that point requires your time and effort to learn how to use the software and then to faithfully record your data each month.

Time spent analyzing your software options before buying may have long term consequences. Begin by reviewing your current method of record-keeping. What records do you want to maintain over a period of time and what new information would you like to have available? Would you like to monitor spending patterns to determine strategies for attaining future financial goals?

Investigate the "how to's" of a recordkeeping software package. Tutorials will lead you through sample procedures and make mastering the program much easier. Check to see if the software manual is easy to follow and understand in case you need help. Or is there a toll-free "800" number to call for assistance?

How quickly and easily can you make entries and corrections? Will you make entries in one format and then have to change to another mode to view your statement?

Whatever software package you choose, it should save you time in the long run and make it easier to keep your financial affairs in order.

Information Program Tells Taxpayers How To Get Tax Relief

A statewide effort is underway to inform Texas property owners of their rights, remedies and responsibilities as taxpayers, according to Ron Patterson, executive director of the State Property Tax Board (STPB).

"The first priority for property owners is to file renditions and apply for tax relief before May 1 this year," Patterson said. Taxpayers should file all exemption applications and property rendition forms with the central appraisal district office.

A rendition is a report a property owner makes which lists the taxable property he owned or managed on Jan. 1, 1985. A rendition also gives a taxpayer the opportunity to record his own opinion of his property's value.

"By rendering a value for his property, the owner makes the appraisal district responsible for notifying him if the district places a higher value on the property," Patterson pointed out.

Certain property owners must render their property. "Anyone who owns or manages income-producing personal property on Jan. 1 is required by state law to file a rendition statement with the appropriate appraisal district," Patterson said.

Special rendition procedures exist for property on which an exemption applicable on Jan. 1 ends during the tax year. In such a case, the person who owns or acquires the property when the exemption ends must render the property for taxation within 30 days.

The chief appraiser may also require rendition of other taxable property upon notice to the property owner or manager. Rendition forms are available from appraisal district offices.

For homeowners, tax relief is usually in the form of exemptions. "An exemption lowers tax payments by deducting part of a property's value from taxation," Patterson explained. Homestead exemptions are available for all qualified homeowners, and additional exemptions are available for disabled veterans and for those aged 65 or over. Elderly homeowners who apply for the over-65 homestead exemption also get a cap, or ceiling, on taxes they pay to the school district.

"Likewise," Patterson continued, "farmers and ranchers who qualify may have their land taxed on its productive value instead of its market value, which also results in a lower tax bill." Productivity valuation comes in two forms, often referred to by the section of the Texas Constitution that provides them: open-space or "1-d-1" valuation and agricultural or "1-d" valuation.

Property owners who last year received homestead exemptions, disabled veterans' exemptions and open-space land (1-d-1) valuation need not reapply in 1985, unless the chief appraiser requests a new application to confirm the owner's current qualification.

Applications must be filed in 1985, Patterson said, by property owners who have not previously received tax relief on their present homesteads or land.

State law also requires farmers and ranchers to apply each year in all appraisal districts for agricultural use (1-d) valuation.

Patterson noted that people whose property is in more than one county appraisal district have an additional responsibility.

These property owners may have to file for exemptions and productivity valuation in each appraisal district in which their property is located. Failure to do so could result in one or more taxing units taxing the property on its full market value.

"We urge all property owners to become familiar with the tax process, to file renditions and to apply for all exemptions or other tax relief to which they are entitled," Patterson concluded.

In parts of India, people once married trees to each other, with great ceremonies and feasting.

Crystal City's Taxes Highest

Local property taxes were highest in Crystal City and lowest in Brenham in 1983-84 according to the Texas Research League, an Austin-based public policy research group. The average tax on all types of taxable property was 2.3% of market value (selling price) in Crystal City but only 0.7 of 1% in Brenham.

For a single-family house that would sell for $80,000, the highest tax was $1,935 in Pasadena and the lowest was a $251 tax bill in Dumas. Homestead exemptions cut the tax in Dumas to $220 and Sweetwater was highest with $1,601. Additional exemptions for homeowners aged 65 or over reduced the property tax bill to $1,425 in Sweetwater and to $105 in Dumas.

No Lynn County cities or school districts were included in the survey by the Austin group.

Weekly Health Tip

DAYTON PARKER

CHARCOAL GRILL
Are charcoal grilled meats a possible cause of cancer? Research at Purdue University shows that meats cooked over charcoal causes fat to drip onto the hot coals and induce 'flareups' - chemical formations that are carried back up to the meat by the flames, smoke, or air. These flare-up chemicals (PAH) are known to cause cancer in test animals. When grilling meat, wait until the coals are ash-covered; never place the meat too close to the coals; use a drip pan under the meat to catch the fat, keeping the coals slightly to one side.

To the citizens of this school district and community, I say thank you for your vote of trust and confidence that you placed in me in last Saturday's election for Tahoka School Board Trustee.

I will do my very best to help make decisions that will be of the best interest to our children and all of us, and that will promote better education and understanding.

I would like to ask for your help, cooperation and continued support as I strive to perform these duties, as I know I have a lot to learn.

Thank you,
