Two THS Band Members Compete In State Meet

Two Tahoka High School band members competed in the Texas Solo and Ensemble Contest held in Austin on Saturday, June 1. Kathy Amador received a Division III (good) rating for her twirling solo. "A Division III rating at the state level is better than a Division I (superior) rating at the regional qualifying contest", said band director Stephen Morgan.

Eden Williams received a Division II (Excellent) rating for her twirling solo and qualified as a medalist at this year's TSSEC. "Not many students can compete at the state level and win a medal like Eden did," said Morgan. "That is very good for a sophomore!"

Altercations Keep Police In Tahoka, Wilson Busy

Police officers in Tahoka and Wilson investigated reports of altercations during the last week, with one of the incidents also resulting in property damage to the extent that any charges filed would be a felony.

Ruston Jennings of Austin reported his 1988 Ford Mustang was pounded by several black males wielding a steel bar following a confrontation between Jennings and two other persons with "five or six" persons in a car at Allsup's in Tahoka on Saturday night.

Damage to the car was estimated at $1357. Tahoka Police said suspects in the case were from out of town, and that investigation is continuing in the case.

In the same incident, the side mirror of a pickup owned by Joseph Paul Glisson of Lubbock reportedly was broken when someone in the group from out of town threw a beer bottle.

Wilson Police Dept. investigated a report early Saturday that three persons had been injured in an altercation at a party at a Wilson residence. No one was hospitalized, but a woman reportedly suffered a cut on the hand, and two young men reportedly were injured by an object or by the fists of a young Tahoka man named as a suspect.

The Wilson officer said when he arrived at the scene about 2:30 a.m. Saturday "30 to 35 people were out in the yard" at the residence. Later the Tahoka man was questioned and he denied being the aggressor in the incident. His story was corroborated by a companion who was present.

No charges were filed. Two persons pleaded guilty of felony charges, before District Judge George Hansard in Tahoka Tuesday.

Jimmy Castro, 25, of O'Donnell, pleaded guilty of felony possession of cocaine and was assessed a 10-year prison term, probated, plus a fine of $2,000 plus court costs and 60 days in county jail.

Robert Salazar Huerta, 27, of O'Donnell, was given a three-year probated sentence on a charge of felony driving while intoxicated, plus a fine of $1,000 plus costs and 10 days in county jail.

In jail during the week were four persons for DWI first offense, and one each for DWI subsequent offense, public intoxication plus application to revoke probation on DWI charges, DWI subsequent plus driving while license suspended plus application to revoke probation on DWI charges, possession of cocaine, issuance of bad check plus theft plus striking a fixed object while operating a motor vehicle.

Billy Tomlinson and Jolene Tomlinson, husband and wife team who have spent many hours of volunteer work as ambulance attendants with the Lynn County Emergency Medical Service, were named Man and Woman of the Year in Tahoka last Saturday evening as the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce had its first outdoor barbecue instead of an annual banquet.

Tomlinson's award was presented by Jim Solomon, mayor of Tahoka and a former recipient of the Man of the Year award. Mrs. Tomlinson's plaque was presented by Ann Roberts. Solomon and Mrs. Roberts each cited the sacrifices made by the Tomlinsons in service to their fellow citizens during the last year and for several years.

Park, and entertainment was provided by the Heart Beats and by a group of Lynn County 4-H members.

Chamberettes Planning Events For July 4th

Tahoka Chamberettes are planning activities for the annual July 4th celebration, which will be held this year at the county courthouse square on Thursday, July 4th.

The Chamberettes will meet in regular session Tuesday, June 11 at noon in the SPS Reddy Room to discuss the July 4th activities. All Chamberettes are encouraged to bring a sack lunch and join in the discussion. Anyone interested in planning the celebration is also invited to attend.

The celebration will include a ribbon-removing ceremony where participants may take down all the red, white, blue and yellow ribbons honoring the Gulf War soldiers, and will celebrate the end of the Gulf War.

Also, a special section will be roped off for those wishing to attend the Old Settlers Reunion, which, although it is not being sponsored by that committee, will still have a place set aside for those wishing to attend and visit with each other.

Also planned during the event will be local entertainment, and hot dogs and ice cream concessions. Anyone wishing to be a part of the entertainment should contact Judy Holden or Janie Isbell, chairpersons of the July 4th program.

This will be the last year for four years to have a July 4th program planned by Chamberettes, as the group voted to sponsor such an activity only when it fell on a Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday, due to the fact that so many people travel when it falls on a long weekend.

Suggestions and ideas for this year's celebration are welcome. Contact Mrs. Holden or Mrs. Isbell, or any Chamberette to give suggestions.

City Wants To Add Sweeper, Get Rid Of Some Old Buildings

The City of Tahoka, which has been without a street sweeper since the old sweeper quit working some time ago, is looking to establish some guidelines for bids on a new sweeper, hopefully to be received by the July meeting.

City council members Monday night authorized city manager Barry Pittman and councilmen Carl Reynolds and Dayton Parker to come up with specifications for new sweeper. The old one is inoperable and unfixable, Pittman said.

In other action at the regular meeting Monday, the council also discussed a possible school pedestrian zone with reduced speed limits on Lockwood, and considered four dilapidated buildings in residential areas of the city which the city would like to see torn down. The city will contact the owners of the buildings, who then may respond.

Present were Pittman and Mayor Jim Solomon and council members Parker, Reynolds, Jimmy Huckabey, Wayne Tekell and Mike Mensch, a newly-elected member.

Woodwork...

THE ATTACK of the Teenage Mutant Monster Vampire Bloodsuckers took place last Saturday at the T-Bar Golf Course near Tahoka, where billions of mosquitoes gleefully drained the life fluid out of all the people dumb enough to try to play games in the heart of the mosquito breeding ground.

No doubt there were similar attacks in back yards and other places in the city, and in other locations across the South Plains, following a good rain about a week earlier, but none of those attacks were as vicious or terrifying as the ones on the golf course. The difference, of course, was that I was personally involved in the golf course bite festival.

The mosquitoes were as large as flies. Their stingers were an inch long. Some of our shots were deflected into the rough by hitting big mosquitoes in the air. By mid-afternoon golfers who had managed to struggle through nine or more holes were lined up outside the hospital, awaiting transfusions.

We used lots of insect repellent, but this only helped for a few seconds. Soon the mosquitoes returned, with all their relatives, whom they had gone after, telling them, "Hey, come on over here with me. There're some juicy people spraying some really great-tasting stuff for us to use as sauce on our meals!"

Every time a mosquito was swatted and killed, it was replaced by six more. About 7,000 mosquitoes died, 189 from being swatted and the rest from over-indulging and from the incompatibility of drinking Type O and Type A blood.

Okay, so I am exaggerating. But not much. It really was the worst I have ever seen mosquitoes since one year in the early 70s in Plainview, when they finally had to use airplanes to spray the city for the pests.

"HARTBEATS" ENTERTAIN - An electric fiddling group called The Heartbeats played for the Chamber of Commerce picnic Saturday evening. At left is 9-year-old Jeyvon Hart, and other group members include an older brother, Aaron, and their mother.

Southwestern Bell's application proposes to obsolete residence Speed Calling 30 except for existing customers at their existing locations.

Most of the Company's residence customers in Texas who subscribe to one or more of the Custom Calling Service features will be affected by the proposed rate restructuring. It is expected that the proposed rate restructuring of Custom Calling Services will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.9 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. The restructuring will result in an increase in the Custom Calling Services rates for approximately 2.5 million residence customers and rate decreases for approximately 15,000 residence customers. Also, the obsolescence of the optional feature Speed Calling 30 will affect approximately 156,000 residence customers.

Out of the Woods

The wayward thoughts of Juanell (Wood) Jones

Did you ever wonder how airline companies determine just which people are eligible to get reduced-fare rates? As a recent low-fare passenger on a round-trip to Dallas, I believe I have figured it out.

What they do is determine how many of the passengers on the flight are absolute morons which nobody in their right mind would pay to sit beside, and sell just enough reduced-fare tickets to make those of us who are cheap-skates sit on either side of these people.

You thought when they checked the computer they were seeing how many seats were available on the flight, didn't you? You are so naive. What they are doing is calling up FBI character profiles on the ticketed passengers they already have, and if there are any left who aren't sitting beside a low-fare passenger, then you get your reduced fare, along with an assigned seat which the stewardesses check with a priority-one rating.

Basically, as I see it, there are five types of morons which qualify for reduced-rate seatmates. Just for the heck of it, and because this is a top-notch high quality newspaper, we'll code-name these morons Speaky, Dopey, Grumpy, Snorey and Hackey.

Speaky - First, you got your motor mouth moron, who tells you their family history clear back to the point of Columbus discovering America or the birth of Christ, whichever comes first, depending upon the length of your flight.

Usually, this is an older female type person, who is traveling to see her genius grandchildren who graduated from college when they were 10 years old, along with Doogie Howser. Now I don't have anything against old ladies, because, Lord willing, I'll be one some day, and God knows my grandchildren will be geniuses. However, I will try to refrain from telling complete strangers how little Johnny is doing with his science project.

Dopey - Then, you got your "duh" kind of person, who makes you wonder how they found the right gate at the airport to board the plane in the first place. Really, you wonder how they figured out which city they wanted to travel to. Maybe they just wandered in from the street and were herded on to the plane along with everybody else, thinking it was a free lunch line.

Grumpy - These people wouldn't be satisfied with the service if the Wright Brothers reincarnated came back to fly the airplane and the twelve disciples were the attendants. Their little whines about their drinks and their seats and their time schedule become full-fledged snarls by the end of the flight. Usually the stewardess herds them off the plane first with a pitchfork.

Snorey - I became acquainted with this category on my last trip to Dallas. This well-dressed older woman sat down in the seat to the left of me, said hello, and promptly closed her eyes for a snooze. At first I thought this was wonderful, because I already had a Speaky category woman on my right who was already driving me bonkers, and the plane hadn't even taken off yet.

Anyway, this well-heeled white-haired gentle looking lady snored nonstop like a freight train, with a consistent loud droning broken occasionally by an even louder combination hiccup-snooze. The granddaddy hiccup-snooze came when the plane touched down upon landing, scaring everybody for seven rows and causing the pilot to check the oil pressure, but not arousing the little lady from her sleep. She woke up just as the plane taxied in to the gate, whereupon she daintily gathered her things and departed.

Hackey - This last category is your basic cougher-hacker, who should be forced to wear a containment suit and gas mask when in public, and certainly on an airplane. They have a deep cough which comes up from their toes, builds from the knees, gathers strength in the chest, and explodes from their heads in a volcanic spew of germs which would disintegrate a lead pipe.

I say if they want to sit next to healthy people, then give them a NASA space suit when they board. If they won't put it on, take them out to the runway and shoot them. Or better yet, hand out water balloons to the other passengers, and let us have a little target practice on takeoff. They could raise the rates a little for this extra-curricular activity.

So there you have it. Be sure to ask your travel agent which category you will be seated next to on your next reduced-rate flight. They may pretend ignorance on this matter, but any experienced traveler won't be fooled for a minute. I was, but in a burst of generosity I am giving you the low-down so you can be prepared on your next flight. Enjoy the friendly skies.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for Directory Assistance Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for Directory Assistance Service.

To help recover its costs, the Company is proposing to increase the rates for Directory Assistance calls from $.30 to $.40 per call (after the three-call allowance). Southwestern Bell is proposing that there be no change in the number of free Directory Assistance calls allowed each month (currently three) and that customers who qualify for exemption of Directory Assistance charges because of visual or physical handicaps continue to be exempt from these charges. The company also proposes to begin charging $.25 per call for Directory Assistance from pay telephones.

If approved by the Commission, this proposed rate change for Directory Assistance will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.4 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. This proposed rate change would affect approximately 900,000 residence customers, approximately 155,000 business customers, approximately 500 private pay telephone owners and all customers who make Directory Assistance calls from public pay telephones.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 tele-typewriter for the deaf.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
MSC has asked us to join them and others in helping make Craig's dream come true. We are very pleased to be able to join in this effort.

Craig Shergold is a seven year old boy with an inoperative brain tumor. He has very little time left to live. It is his dream to be included in the Guinness Book of Records for receiving the largest number of Get Well cards by one individual.

Please send cards as soon as possible to:

To the Editor:

State Representative Mark Stiles of Beaumont introduced a bill (H.B. 2022) which is a slap in the face to those Texans who have chosen to live in the rural areas of our state. The bill, if passed, would allow emergency ambulances in counties of less than 20,000 population to be staffed by only one individual with minimum training. There are 254 counties in Texas, and of those, 150 of them have a population of less than 20,000. To those Texans who live in counties of greater population and believe this law will not affect you - think again! You probably do not spend your entire lives in one area nor do your families and friends. If you travel, you do not have to go very far before you find yourself passing through one of these counties.

Texas already has the lowest standards in the country for minimum ambulance staffing, requiring two personnel with only 40 hours of training. This bill, if made into law, would be a state and national embarrassment by reducing the standard to only one person. The sad part about this is that Mr. Stiles' bill sailed unopposed through the House on April 18. This shows a definite uncaring attitude on the part of our elected Representatives. As a long-time paramedic with a volunteer emergency medical service, I have no idea how only one person, is going to drive an ambulance and provide proper life-saving care of a patient at the same time. If this bill becomes law, EMS in Texas will be set back 30 years in a large portion of the state.

Everyone who reads this letter needs to contact his or her State Senator, as well as the office of the Governor and Lt. Governor, to show concern for our fellow Texans. Demand that your Senator vote No on this bill. It could literally make a difference between life and death.

Sincerely,
Tom Vaught, EMT Paramedic

Cratech Corporation Here Receives Energy Award

Cratech, Inc. of Tahoka has been awarded a $55,143 contract by the U.S. Department of Energy, U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm has announced.

The cost sharing award will cover Phase I development of a Biomass Fueled Integrated Gasifier/Gas Turbine Power Plant. According to Joe Craig, president of Cratech, the grant will be used to fund development of an energy conversion process for commercial use.

Cratech is an energy technology development corporation. "We will develop technologies that will allow people to economically convert renewable resources into useful forms of energy," says Craig.

Growing Turf in Shade Is Perennial Problem

Shade is desirable in the landscape, but is the number one problem in growing turf grass.

Many people just do not understand that grasses do not do as well in shade as they do in full sunlight. There are a lot of situations where you just can't grow grass in the environment that you have. Environmental changes caused by shade have a major effect on grass. Reduced light, less extreme temperatures, increased humidity, restricted air movement, competition from trees, increased disease problems and shallow root systems are all products of shade. Grass in shade has less ability to use nitrogen, less photosynthetic activity, less growth, less wear tolerance, more susceptibility to pre-emergent herbicides and less tolerance to cold.

To grow turf in the shade you must have a shade-tolerant grass. Bermuda grass and Buffalo grass have little shade tolerance. San Augustine is probably the most shade-tolerant warm season grass, followed closely by Centipede and Zoysia. Tall Fescue, a cool season grass, will grow in moderate to heavy shade where San Augustine fails.

Suggestions for growing grass in filtered shade:

1. Start with a grass variety suitable for shade.
2. Raise the mowing height.
3. Water deep and infrequently.
4. Apply nitrogen moderately in fall and spring.
5. Avoid high nitrogen applications in the summer.

In many heavily shaded areas, it is best to use ground cover plants or other landscape materials rather than wasting time and money trying to go against nature.

Renewable resources are non-fossil fuels which will be available as long as the sun continues to shine. The major renewable resources that can be used as energy sources are biomass, wind, solar thermal, solar electric, and hydropower, according to Craig.

"Each resource has its niche to fill, and although renewables are not the total answer to our energy needs, they are a significant part of the answer and are environmentally benign relative to other energy resources," added Craig.

He says that Cratech is focusing on biomass, which is anything that grows. "Trees are biomass. Cotton is biomass. Even garbage is composed mainly of biomass," says Craig. "It's interesting to note that all fossil fuels were at one time biomass."

Biomass that can be considered for an energy resource includes wood chips, sawdust, rice hulls, bagasse, corn stover, wheat straw, cotton gin trash, etc., according to the Cratech president. Even preprocessed garbage appears to be a usable energy resource.

To convert biomass resources to usable energy sources, biomass can be burned directly, converted to liquid fuels such as alcohol, decomposed into an oil, or converted to a fuel gas. Cratech's process converts the biomass to a burnable gas (somewhat similar to natural gas) which will then be used as fuel in a gas turbine (an example of a gas turbine is a jet engine). The gas turbine will turn a generator for producing electricity.

"Participating in the development of renewable energy sources is exciting," says Craig. "This renewable energy project is a fairly complex process which Cratech must make into a simple and economical commercial power plant."

Texas Cotton, Rice Producers Reminded Of Planting Changes

Jerry D. Harris, Chairman of the Texas State ASC Committee, reminds Texas cotton and rice producers that the rules for 1991 prevented planting for cotton and rice are different from previous years.

Producers now have the option of crediting the acreage they were prevented from planting to either prevented acreage of cotton or rice or they may choose to use the acreage as Conserving Use (CU) for payment acreage under the 50/92 provisions of the Food Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990.

Harris says, "If producers choose to credit the acreage as prevented planting for cotton or rice, the acreage may then be devoted to acreage of another crop which would be considered as ghost acres for program purposes. These prevented planted acres will not be eligible for any deficiency payment for 1991."

A new provision of the 1990 Farm Bill would allow producers who were prevented from planting cotton or rice because of drought, flood, other natural disaster, or other condition beyond the producers con-control to devote the acreage to CU for payment. This acreage must be planted to another crop for harvest. Cotton producers who choose this option would be eligible for the 10 cent per pound guarantee without regard to the 50 percent planting requirement if the sum of the prevented planting and actual planting totals at least 50 percent of the maximum payment acres for the farm.

Harris wishes to remind producers that if the acreage is planted to cotton or rice in order to qualify the acreage for crop insurance that the acreage would be considered as the crop to which it was planted and would not be eligible for the guaranteed deficiency payment under the 50/92 provisions.

Planted acreage of the crop which failed is eligible for deficiency, however, this would not be at the guaranteed rate.

The Texas State ASC Committee strongly recommends that producers contact their local ASCS County Office if they have any question concerning the prevented planting provisions of the 1990 Farm Bill.

Dan's Pickup Salvage & Accessories

Larry Dillon - Manager

For the best in pickup parts and accessories we suggest you trade with Dan's Pickup Salvage & Accessories located at FM 179 and Brownfield Hwy. in Wolforth, phone 866-2039. Many do not realize the value of a wrecking concern to the community. They will pay the highest price for your old worn pickup or one that has been in a wreck. Let them take it to their place of business where they will start working on it. Bolts and rivets are cut; good parts such as fenders, engines in running order, etc., are segregated and the rest placed on a scrap heap to be sold for junk. Many dollars may be saved in parts if purchased at Dan's Pickup Salvage & Accessories. All their employees are familiar with pickup trucks and are courteous and accommodating. In this Review we wish to take this opportunity to recommend this firm to the people of this community. See them for parts, or whenever you want to sell a pickup that is no longer in running condition.

Card Of Thanks

I would like to thank the members of the local VFW for the recognition they gave me on Memorial Day. The efforts I put out were for the men and women of Lynn County and all the others that went to war. I had lots of help from the Jaycees, the Chamberettes, the VFW and all the townspeople that felt the same concern and love I did. They also need to be remembered and told thank you. All of Lynn County did great in showing our loved ones how much we cared and the prayers that were given and still being given till everyone returns home. Thanks again.

Take Food Safety To The Grill
By Donna Peters

If you're planning a cookout, it's better to be food safe than sorry. Take food safety from the kitchen to the grill. Tips to help prevent food-borne illness include:

If meat or seafood is frozen, allow plenty of time for thawing in the refrigerator at 40 degrees or below. Never thaw meat on the kitchen counter at room temperature. Outer layers of the meat may reach a temperature that promotes bacteria growth before the inner layers are thawed.

If you marinate the food, do it in the refrigerator. Do not use leftover marinade as sauce on the cooked meat. Marinade may have picked up bacteria from the raw meat that could contaminate the cooked meat.

Be sure to wash with hot soapy water and sanitize cutting boards used with raw meat. Use different cutting boards for meats than for raw fruits or vegetables.

Once the meat has been placed on the grill, wash dirty dishes or utensils before using them again. Bacteria on dirty utensils can contaminate cooked meat. Cooking kills bacteria, but foods can be recontaminated.

Always wash your hands after working with raw meat or poultry. Handle raw foods and cooked foods separately. Use clean dish towels or potholders for handling cooked foods. Cook meats thoroughly to kill bacteria. If you like steak rare or medium rare, remember that all bacteria may not have been killed if the food was not cooked thoroughly.

After cooking, eat as soon as possible and refrigerate any leftovers.
