MISS L. VIRGINIA SMITH.

The following interesting sketch of Miss L. Virginia Smith, the gifted and amiable author of the Southern Ladies' Book, is taken from the Newport Daily News. A collection of her Poems will soon appear in volume form.

"Several of our lady readers who are delighted with the writings of our friend and poet authoress, Miss L. Virginia Smith, have requested us to give some little account and description of her, so that they may form an opinion of the personal appearance of the young lady, who, in so short a space of time, has justly earned a distinguished and enviable reputation. We will comply with these requests, and give them a minute description as we can."

She is a native of Virginia, and was educated in Pennsylvania; during the last three years or so, she has resided in Memphis, Tennessee. She is about 20 years of age; is rather below the medium height, and finely formed. She has an expansive forehead, delicately arched and finished eyes, large blue eyes, though soft and liquid; a smiling keen and delicate feelings; rosy cheeks adorned with beautiful dimples and a mouth of exquisite moulding. Her hair is dark brown, which she wears in curla, which are very becoming, and give her a girlish appearance. She is considered very handsome. She possesses easy and graceful manners, and charming conversational powers. She rarely ever speaks of her writings, even to her most intimate friends—others and great difficulty in inducing her to allude to them under any circumstances—this, let us add, is an invariably characteristic of true genius. In society she is gay, sprightly, witty, and full of fun. Her speech is accurate and slow enough to be always clear and comprehensive; her voice is low, soft, and sweet, falling on the ear gently, and awakening in the heart emotions of tenderness and purity. She possesses great pride and self-respect, and elevation of sentiment and dignity of character. The best evidence of her personal influence is found in the fact that those who know her most intimately are her greatest admirers—and when they read her poetry, see in it, beautiful as it is in itself, all the inspiration of the amiable woman. She exhibits few if any of the eccentricities of genius; she is delicate and feminine, with nothing harsh or rude to diminish the beauty and loveliness of her character. Those who are most intimate with her say that it is impossible to close the heart against her; she wins her way into it without effort, and when once there, rules it with gentle sway, which is supreme.

Such is the brief sketch of the character and appearance of Virginia Smith. Below we give a sweet little poem, which speaks for itself, which she sent us a short time since, and which forms an appropriate close of this notice, and shows her to be almost alone in this wide, wide world."

ONE, OR TWO.

Are we two, my love?—
One of two, or are you—
A smiling, stately pair,
Little laughter-loving Lill?

Lies the faded "Star and Steel,"

To the more, and even more,

Don't you think, sweet Zingarella,

These our spirits are but one?

Brilliant blushing, shall we trust them

Into brightings, and—true?

Or the only name them

Loving May and smiling June?

Like the sunshine and the shower

That in flashing jewels run

Through our golden April hour,

So our spirits are but one?

You to me is like the sun,

Of the birdling's clear warbler,

And the smiling stately pair,

Little laughter-loving Lill?

Lies the faded "Star and Steel,"

To the more, and even more,

Don't you think, sweet Zingarella,

These our spirits are but one?

THE BULLETIN.

JOHN HENRY BROWN, EDITOR.

INDIANOLA, TEXAS.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1852.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR DEAR READER.

The annual return of this Holiday, was duly observed in this place, and passed off very pleasantly. Several dinner parties were given, and entertainments of various kinds at the hotels and coffee-houses. It was our pleasure to be a guest at one at the Planter's, where Judge Varnell was holding forth with his wonted fluid wit, good humor and hospitality. At McCulloch's, also, we called in at a juvenile dinner party, given by the little Misses Lawrence in room No. 1. There were present 14 girls and 13 boys, besides several ladies and gentlemen. Such a sight would have softened the heart of any benevolent extant. So much of juvenile beauty, in person and behavior, surrounding a table decked in appropriate and very profuse and tasteful style, was calculated to awaken reflections in one's mind. Beholding the sprightly and youthful groups, assembled on such an occasion, in the morning of life, before sin and corruption had an abiding place in the heart, when all was innocent and purity, the mind wandered back to other days, when the trials and cares of life were unknown and unanticipated—when all in the future was bright and glorious—when all around was but one day of childhood rejoicing. Then the reflection arose, that these little ones, now so joyful, must ere long enter upon the arena of practical life—meet the vicissitudes, endure the toils, enjoy the blessings and surmount the difficulties in the way to manhood, and so soon stand where we now stand—causing mingled emotions of grief and pleasure. Alas! and how many of them will be nipp'd in the bud and laid in their last resting place! Who among them will become the controlling spirits of another period—the merchants, lawyers, physicians, the jurists and statesmen of the land! Who will be blessings and prop to their now fond parents in after years, or who will precede them to the tomb? Then the solemn responsibilities of the parents towards the budding flowers, come to view; the effect of their early training for weal or woe; the extent of their power, if wisely directed, to lead the juvenile mind and heart in the path of soberness, virtue and truth; to prepare their offspring for the duties of after life, of men and women, in a land of freedom. These were solemn reflections; but relieved by the unexceptionable deportment and good breeding of the children, manifesting already the fruits of wise and early training. Long may the little ones live to remember the pleasant gathering, and re-assemble on similar occasions.

We invite the attention of land holders, and others to the card of John S. Menefee, in this paper. We have known Judge Menefee well for fourteen years, and can recommend him as an honorable and reliable man, well fitted by long residence and intelligent investigation, for the business he solicits. Among other recommendations, he possesses that of being a patriotic citizen, and now bears upon his person the marks of seven arrow wounds inflicted by a Comanche Indian, and in his house may be seen the arrows themselves.

The Laurel House.—We are informed that the Light House, at Pass Cavallo, will be lit up on New Year's eve.

ED We publish to-day the Deputy U. S. Marshal's statement of the arrest of Capt. Dawson of Palestine, for the satisfaction of the friends of that gentleman, and as an act of justice to Gen. Augustus Jones, late a distinguished citizen of Missouri.

At Home.—We have the pleasure to say that our junior, Mr. Brady, with his new bride, arrived at home by the Louisville in good health. Before this goes to press, our senior will have left on a short visit to his friends above.

Courts.—Seouxon.—Henry Beaumont, Esq., was elected Surveyor of Calhoun county on the 20th December.

Joseph M. Camp was at the time elected Justice of the Peace for the Indiana practice.

ED The Probate Court met in this place on Monday last, the Hon. J. Beaumont presiding.

The Seaway.—A gentleman of Indiana gathered a bush of green pens from his garden on Christmas day. In another garden in town, there are fig trees full of fruit now in a ripening state. This, however, is unusual even in this climate.

Arrival of the Mexico.—The steamship Mexico, Capt. Price, arrived at Powder Horn on Tuesday, bringing dates from N. Orleans up to the 23d.

The Seaway Day.—Perseverance and Louisiana took over beef cattle from the lower wharf on their last outward trip; also cotton and pecans.

Gen. Russ.—It is generally believed President Pierce will tender a cabinet appointment to our distinguished Senator, Clark. None is more worthy.

Texas Butter.—We are credibly informed that one lady in this County, this year sold over eight hundred dollars worth butter. We are now using butter made in Mass. and find it perfectly sweet and pure. It seems strange that when good butter always finds a ready market here, in summer at 15 to 20 cents and in winter at 25 cents, that the farmers do not pay more attention to its production for market. In Kentucky butter sells for 10 cents, yet it is a large article of trade. Texas can produce as good an article as any other State, if it is properly managed.

Capt. McClellan, the engineer who is to survey Matagorda Bay, arrived by the Louisiana.

ED Col. Cox, who was lately shot in a saloon at Gonzales, is dead.

Graham's Magazine for January is upon our table, filled with original matter.

ED A seaman on board of the schooner J. G. McNeil had his leg broken at the lower wharf on Sunday last.

ED We regret to learn by the Galveston Civilian, that its editor, the Hon. H. Stuart, is confined by indisposition.

Jewelry.—Mr. L. H. Woods is now opening for the Masonic Hall, Indianapolis, a fine assortment of jewelry. Call and see.

CHRISTMAS.

The annual return of this Holiday, was duly observed in this place, and passed off very pleasantly. Several dinner parties were given, and entertainments of various kinds at the hotels and coffee-houses. It was our pleasure to be a guest at one at the Planter's, where Judge Varnell was holding forth with his wonted fluid wit, good humor and hospitality. Beholding the sprightly and youthful groups, assembled on such an occasion, in the morning of life, before sin and corruption had an abiding place in the heart, when all was innocent and purity, the mind wandered back to other days, when the trials and cares of life were unknown and unanticipated—when all in the future was bright and glorious—when all around was but one day of childhood rejoicing.

How is it?—The San Antonio and Austin papers announce that Gen. Smith, commander of this department, has been superseded by Gen. H. Harney. We learn from other sources that the change is only temporary, during Gen. Smith's visit to Washington City. Who is right?

New Paper.—Dr. John S. Ford, editor of the American, and Mr. Lancaster late of the Texas Ranger, (which was consumed by fire at Washington,) propose publishing a paper at Austin, to be called the "Texas Ranger." Dr. Ford was twice a member of the Texian Congress, afterwards editor of the Texas Democrat, Captain of a Rafting company, and more recently, Colonel of the revolutionary forces of Caravajal. He is considered a ready and forcible writer, favorable to improvements in general, the 27th November and was taken two small towns.

Revolution in Tabasco.—Advice from Tabasco to the 21st state that a revolution has broken out, that two battles have been fought, and 400 Mexican soldiers killed. The revolutionists captured two small towns.

Covington.—The Senate has passed a bill providing for the completion of the survey of the Rio Grande.

The Kentucky contested election case was recently debated.

A dispute from Washington, on the 14th, states that, in the debate on the Tariff, Mr. Jones of Pennsylvania opposed any reduction, stating that although there is now a surplus in the Treasury, such would not long be the case, as there is a probability of war with France, which nation is backed by Russia, and that both are preparing to dispute with us the ground that no European nation shall gain a footing on the continent of America.

Baltimore.—Dec. 17th.—Col. King still continues unable to preside in the Senate. A lady's parson fell from the Senate gallery on the head of Senator Pratt, seriously injuring him.

ED We notice with pleasure among late emigrants arriving here, Col. John Shirkey, of Virginia, and Mr. W. R. of Kentucky.—The Col. moved 800 miles by land to Memphis, thence by water to Indianola, having a large number of negroes, horses, wagons and farming implements, and met with not a single accident on the way. He is setting 5 miles below Victoria and will prove, from all accounts, a valuable citizen. Mr. W. R. Southern and many other valuable emigrants have also lately arrived from Kentucky, some of whom are prepared to carry on agricultural operations on an extensive scale. We learn from reliable sources that large numbers are now moving from old Kentucky to Texas. We bid all such welcome. Formerly the number of persons coming from that State was comparatively small.

ED We notice in the Corpus Christi Valley, a handsome compliment paid to Mr. Richard Chisholm, of Clinton, generally better known among the old b'ys as "Uncle Dick," occasioned by a recent visit of his to Corpus. We endorse all that is said of him—that he cast the first cannon ball used by the patriots in the Texian revolution, &c. All old Texans know Uncle Dick and love him; but he has one hard joke to bear. He was once surrounded and captured by 20 Indians, who were about to despatch him, without judge, counsel or jury. An old chief rode up and was struck with the remarkable features of the prisoner. "Great God," said he, "what an ugly man, let him go home and take care of his wife and children." "Thank you, captain," said Uncle Dick, and said he, I — left.

ED The San Antonio Ledger of a late date, refers to Commodore Moore as authority for saying that Salaria is the best harbor on this bay. This, we think, is an error. Commodore Moore says, (in his letter to Dr. Levi Jones, in March, 1848,) that La Salle possesses greater advantages for a commercial city than any point on Matagorda Bay. The harbor of La Salle and that in front of Powder Horn bayou is substantially one and the same.

ED The funeral obsequies in New Orleans in honor of Calhoun, Clay and Webster, were conducted on a scale of magnificence never before reached on such an occasion in that city. Orations were delivered by Judge McClellan, C. Rossell and others.

"I have just received two gallons of rye gut whiskey, a barrel of flour, killed a bed and a hog, and will a turkey and a deer be for night, and to-morrow we're going to tumble into Christmas right up in a hurry. Hurrah for Texas and the Bullock."

The Old Fellow.—We have just received a humorous letter from an esteemed subscriber on the Cleto, Texas county, dated Dec. 24th, in which he says:

"Several years ago, the shipping of Matagorda Bay, amounted to an arrival of a small schooner from New Orleans, about once in six to eight weeks. Now we have two steamships per week from New Orleans, ten or fifteen vessels in the lumber trade with Mobile, Pensacola, Biloxi and Atakapa, and as many more in the New York trade, and this is but a fortunate of what is will be in three years."

Thank you, Major, for your wishes, and our best wishes for a good time with you through the holidays. Feast and grow fat on the bounties of the land, but when you drink whiskey at all, stick to old Bourbon or Monongahela, according to custom in the "old country." The article received by you is one admirable only from sheer necessity, which no doubt existed in this case, for like old mother H. in Missouri, you never take any unless you are sick or want it!

To Mr. Da Costa, the attentive clerk of the Mexico, we are under a new obligation for his favors.

Journal.—Mr. L. H. Woods is now opening for the Masonic Hall, Indianapolis, a fine assortment of jewelry. Call and see.

BATTLE OF MIER.—Christmas day was the tenth anniversary of the surrender of the brave men of Mier, after one of the best fought battles of modern times. Those poor fellows saw indescribable hardships, were designated, by drawing the black bean, and every tenth man shot. The others remained prisoners 22 months, and then released, but how thinned in number. Starvation in the mountains, forced marches on foot, the lack of clothes, exposure, abuse and disease had reduced them almost a third. The survivors are scattered hither and yonder; but whenever we clasp the hand of a Mier prisoner, we are reminded of noble deeds of daring in by-gone days, when courage, freedom and truth, were borne down by the strong arm of ignorance, tyranny and superstition—when the just were crushed by the unjust. Long live the Emperor's marriage is postponed till May.

Polish Movement.—An eminent Polish General has addressed a letter to Louis Napoleon, on the 2d inst, and acknowledged the honor in a speech, in the course of which he said:

LIMA, NAPOLEON EMPEROR.
New York, Dec. 17th.—Louis Napoleon was proclaimed Emperor on the 2d inst, and acknowledged the honor in a speech, in the course of which he said:

"While I hold the title of Napoleon III, I not only acknowledge the Government that have preceded me, but I inherit in manner that which they did, good or bad. My reign does not date from 1815, but from this very moment. Receive my oath that I will spare nothing to secure the prosperity of the country, and while maintaining peace, will make no concession of the honor and dignity of France."

VICEROY OF ALGERIA.—It is settled that Jerome Bonaparte is to be the Viceroy of Algeria.

ENGLAND.—The Chancellor's budget, in which he proposes many reductions in rates, meets with general approval.

FROM TURK'S ISLAND.—An arrival from Turk's Island brings dates from the place to the 30th of November. At that date there were about 280,000 bushels of salt unsold. Prices 14 1/2c. per bushel. After the 1st of January an export duty of one cent per bushel will be levied on all Dutch salt.

The American Legion.—The American Legion sailed on the 1st Nov. for Alexandria, with two men in irons, for mutiny on board. The British brig Avon was wrecked at Salt Key, on the 27th November and was total loss.

I am the legal Administrator of that estate, and shall prosecute any and all persons offending in the premises. JOHN HENRY BROWN, Adm'r. Indianapolis, Dec. 20, 1852. [41] 1p.

To Stock Raisers and Shippers.
THE undersigned have the pleasure to announce that their new and magnificent Wharf, at Powder Horn Bayou, is now completed, so that the largest steamers and all vessels entering Matagorda Bay can at all times receive and discharge freight up to it without trouble, delay, expense, and damage of lighting. They have constructed in connection with it, a large and convenient pier for shipping live stock, the railroad car running into it, by which cattle, horses, mules or sheep can be shipped on to the vessels at the wharf with safety, speed, and great convenience. Vessels now abundant within one and two miles of the wharf.

BALDRIDGE, SPARKS & CO. Indianapolis, Dec. 20, 1852. [41] 1p.

Administrator's Notice.
The undersigned has been appointed by the County Court of Calhoun county, Administrator of the estate of Augustus Brown, deceased. All persons indebted to said estate are required to make immediate payment to the undersigned; and those having claims against the estate will present them duly sworn to according to law, for allowance. JOHN HENRY BROWN, Adm'r. Indianapolis, Dec. 20, 1852. [41] 1p.

Cash Notice.
I HAVE determined from this day forward not to accept any sum worth of goods on credit. I am very desirous of closing my books and would earnestly request those indebted to me to come forward and pay over their bills or settle them by now.

General for prompt payment, and will strictly adhere to the terms of the same. I keep a general account of groceries and Western Produce, Dry Goods, Hats, Boots, Shoes, newly made Clothing, &c., Wholesale & Retail.
