Coach Sewell inducted into THSCA Hall of Honor

by Gary Davis

Rip Sewell, Ozona's athletic director and present golf coach has had many honors over the years, but few can top the most recent. Sewell on Thursday, July 31, was inducted into the Texas High School Coaches Association Hall of Honor. Sewell, a member of THSCA for 34 years, joins a select group of individuals including "Bum" Phillips, Sonora's Jerry Hopkins, Emory Bellard, Brownwood's Gordon Wood, Pete Shotwell, and Raymond Berry, father of New England Patriots coach Raymond Berry.

Leon T. Sewell, known widely across the state of Texas as "Rip", has coached in the Texas public schools for 34 years. He began his lengthy career as a football coach at Wellman Junior High School in Wellman, Texas. He then coached for two years at Wellman High School and proceeded on to Plains High School in the Texas Panhandle where he coached five years and compiled a 38-13 record that boasted one district championship and two co-championships. Following Coach Sewell's stint at Plains, he headed south to the West Texas soil and the friendliness of Ozona. For eight years, Sewell led the Lions into battle and garnered two District crowns, two bi-district titles, two district co-championships, and the regional crown in 1976. In fifteen years, he assembled a record of 101 wins and only 53 losses.

Coach Sewell was also a winner during basketball season. He was the ringleader in the gymnasium for some 14 years with a career scorecard of 254 wins and 149 losses. While at Plains, Sewell's cowboys won five District championships, four bi-district titles, two regional crowns, finished fourth in the state tournament in 1958 and took the state's runner-up spot the following year in 1959.

In the spring, Sewell headed for the outdoors taking his talents to the track for eight years. In those eight years, Sewell's teams produced three district championships in four years at Plains High School.

As a student at Electra High School, he earned three varsity letters as quarterback. He was an all-state selection in basketball and received four letters as a two year regional qualifier in track. He continued his athletic ambitions and accomplishments at the University of Tulsa in Tulsa, Oklahoma. While there, Coach Sewell achieved four letters in basketball as a four year starter. He also won four letters in track and baseball. He led the Missouri Valley Conference in stolen bases in 1950 and was awarded two varsity letters.

According to the Hall of Honor selection committee's qualifications, anyone considered for Hall of Honor induction should have been an active member of the Texas High School Coaching Association for a minimum of 15 years. Nominees should have contributed something of themselves to the association as well as to the coaching profession. The 1986 selection committee was comprised of L. G. Wilson of Tulia, Jack Hays of West Columbia, Joe Means of Round Rock, and Gordon Wood of Brownwood.

Upon receiving the award, Sewell said that he could not have done what he has accomplished if it had not been for his wife, Ellen. The Sewells have four children, Karen, David, Kathy and Dan. Three of the four were in attendance at the Balfour luncheon at the Astrovillage Hotel in Houston. Also attending were Coach Sewell's brother and family, the Doc Sewells of Fort Stockton, and from Ozona, Jim Green, Pete Maldonado, David McWilliams, David Porter, Mark Duncan, Don Payne, Glen Graham, Gene Hood, Brant Myers, Jim Payne, Jim Williams, Walter Spiller, Rhonda Yarbrough, Charles Childress, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Davis, Gary and Copie.

Greg Shewood, outgoing THSCA president and master of ceremonies for the induction, said that no one was more deserving of the Hall of Honor than Rip Sewell. In his acceptance speech, which came from his heart, Sewell added, "It's a big award, almost bigger than I am, and I'm going to keep it."

Featured guest speaker for the noon banquet was Grant Teaff, head football coach at Baylor University.

In his address to the assemblage of some 400 coaches and guests, Teaff expressed the importance of motivation in coaching. He also pointed out the impact that each coach has on the lives of his players.

The induction of the honorees followed Teaff's speech. In addition to Sewell, the honorees included Buzzy Keith of El Campo, Texas. Keith graduated from Louise High School and attended Sam Houston State University. Keith was most instrumental in incorporating the two-team playoff plan in Texas, which enables the second place team in each district to advance in post-season play. Also inducted was Herbert Hoover Allen. Allen, a retired baseball coach from Klein High School served in the U. S. Army in Korea in 1950. Former Ballinger Coach, Robert F. (Pooch) Wright also was honored at the luncheon. Bob is now a professor at Texas A&M University. T.H. Johnson was the fifth man to be inducted. He was first introduced to coaching in 1925 and attended the first coaching school held in Texas which was conducted by Knute Rockne.

Athletic Supply of Odessa, Abilene, and Dallas was also on hand to award their own scholarship to a deserving Texas athlete. Chris Stacy of Carthage High School was the recipient of that award. Stacy plans to attend Panola College and later attend Texas A&M University where he will pursue a degree in engineering.

Football season coming up

By T. C. Tucker

Though the fast-approaching football season has caught a few off guard, the Ozona Lions coaches have been hard at work since Monday and are fired up about the prospects of this year's season.

"The induction of Coach Sewell into the Texas Coaches' Hall of Fame really put the icing on the cake," explained Head Coach Jim Green. Ozona was also represented well with Coach John Curry's nomination for 1987 all-star basketball coaches. Curry has a chance, among four others from his zone, to be elected as an all-star coach. The induction and nomination occurred at the coaching school in Houston last week which was attended by several from Ozona.

"It proved to be an excellent coaching school we attended during this time."

Green showed his optimism for the coming year, commenting on the increased number of boys out for football this year. Seventy-five boys, 23 more than the number two years ago, will be trying for the 30-35 spots for varsity.

Green is also pleased with the turn-out for summer workouts. "We had more freshmen showing up than the total number for the summer two years ago. That year's total was also topped by the number of girls we had showing up this summer."

Even though the Lions will not be out-sized tremendously as in past years, lack of size will still be their weakness. Ozona dropped down one class to District 6-AA, but the only real advantage Ozona gains will be size of numbers.

"It's the same old folks, but we'll be more competitive due to numbers," Green said. Numbers plus quickness and strength will be the plus factors for Ozona. Their tough schedule consists of playing five teams, three of them district opponents, who made it to the playoffs last year and lost few players.

The type of offense used by Ozona depends on the personnel of the team. Sam Hightower, Abel Lara, James Sanchez and Butch Gonzalez will provide excellent leadership as the team captains.

Hightower has the ability to throw as well as Sub Fierro and Roger Flores have the ability to catch. Veterans in the line include Donald Gutierrez and Abel Lara with help from Peter Shacklette and others.

"We look to get better every year," Green adds. "The kids are used to the system and ready to progress."

Boys' physicals are scheduled for August 6 at 3:00 p.m. at the field house at Lion Stadium.

The Lions will have their first scrimmage August 23 when they meet Fort Stockton. Sonora will be here for a scrimmage in Lion Stadium August 29.

The season will open in Ozona September 5 when the Lions host Eden. Other pre-district games include Wall there Sept. 12; Iraan here Sept. 19, McCamey there Sept. 26 and Greenwood here Oct. 3.

The first district game will be October 10 when Ozona travels to Forsan. The second district game is Oct. 17 in Eldorado followed by a home game Oct. 24 when Ozona hosts Reagan County.

Oct. 31 the Lions will play in Rankin. They will end their regular season at home November 7 against Stanton.

BOOSTER CLUB TO MEET

The Ozona Lions Booster Club will have the initial meeting for the upcoming year August 11 at 7:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

All parents who have children in high school and junior high school who will be participating in athletics are encouraged to attend.

Crockett County considered as site for detention center

Crockett County is being considered as the site for a 1.5 million dollar detention center according to Harry Sinclair of Midland. Sinclair was in Ozona last week laying the groundwork for meetings with Crockett Heights homeowners and the Chamber of Commerce on August 5 and the Commissioners' Court August 11.

The proposed facility would be located in the former radar base buildings behind Crockett Heights, said Sinclair. From 250 to as many as 400 minimum security federal prisoners could be housed at the center.

Local services would be used in all phases of the operation whenever possible according to Sinclair, who also plans to hire as many local employees as possible. Up to 60 employees would be needed if the facility ran at full capacity.

The location has already been inspected by an expert and deemed suitable for a detention center after renovation, said Sinclair, and a possible warden with 22 years of experience has been contacted.

Owners of the facility will not be able to contract with federal agencies until the center is completed and certified as meeting federal standards.

Further details of the project will be available after Mr. Sinclair speaks to local groups during the next two weeks.

Accidents claim lives

An accident 1.9 miles west of Ozona on I-10 July 29 claimed the life of Robert S. Salazar Jr. of Texas City. Salazar, age 24, was a passenger in a 1984 Ford driven by Cheryl Ferguson Salazar, also of Texas City.

Both occupants were thrown from the vehicle in the 5:00 p.m. accident.

The pickup was traveling east on I-10 when it ran off the left side of the road. The driver, age 21, overcorrected according to reports, and crossed both eastbound lanes before overturning on the right improved shoulder. The vehicle came to rest in the eastbound lane of traffic.

Salazar, a security guard in Texas City, was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Christine Davee at 5:26 p.m.

Cheryl Salazar was taken by Crockett County EMS to a San Angelo hospital for treatment of a fractured jaw and multiple contusions, lacerations and abrasions to the entire body.

DPS Trooper Richard Fernandez of Mertzon was the investigating officer.

Another one vehicle accident in Val Verde County claimed the driver at 3:30 p.m. July 29. The one vehicle rollover occurred 46.3 miles north of Comstock and .7 miles south of mile marker number two on 163.

Tressa Crawford was chosen queen of the 1986 Ozona Youth Rodeo. The Ozona High School senior is the daughter of Bill and Lovelle Crawford. See related story page 6.

The Word

The redemptive reach

By Rev. Ken Harrison

Flannery O'Connor, recognized as one of America's great writers, died in 1964, but her popularity continues high. She was something of an oddity among American writers, a literary success who wrote from an orthodox Catholic point of view. That Christian point of view, however, was far from pious or even obvious. Her stories were as blunt as she was, though far more harsh.

She wrote about people as she saw them, self-centered, misled, silly, sometimes brutal, often ignorant, crude, mean: ordinary people, who refused grace and remained unredeemed, getting into all sorts of devilment, and about people who struggle and finally accept grace.

In A Good Man is Hard to Find, a flighty, talkative grandmother leads her son, daughter-in-law and two grandchildren on a wild goose chase down a deserted dirt road to find a house she thinks she remembers having known as a young girl. The car crashes but they all clamber out. Soon a black car that looks like a hearse drives down the road carrying three men. The grandmother recognizes one of the men as a criminal called the Misfit, and she shrieks.

While his pals escort the rest of the family into the woods and the old woman hears pistol shots, the Misfit talks to her about Christ. He wishes he'd been there to see if Jesus raised the dead. If he'd seen it himself he would have known, and maybe turned out differently. As he goes on, the old woman "...saw the man's face twisted close to her own as if he were going to cry and she murmured, 'Why, you're one of my babies. You're one of my own children!'" As she reached out and touched him he "sprang back as if a snake had bitten him and shot her three times through the chest." (Flannery O'Connor, A Good Man is Hard to Find, in The Complete Stories, published by Farrar, Straus and Giroux, New York, 1984).

When you read that ending you wonder why O'Connor didn't end the story with the Misfit dropping the gun, realizing he is loved, and falling, sobbing into the grandmother's arms. The reason is, of course, that Flannery O'Connor writes about life as it is, and not about happy endings that we wish, sentimentally, would happen. If redemption is to be real, evil must be real. The moment of grace in the story is when the old woman forgets herself and reaches out in love to the Misfit, as she would to her own child. As Flannery O'Connor commented, "This moment of grace excites the devil to frenzy," so the Misfit recoils from the threat of grace and kills the old woman: as the people of his day did to Christ. Flannery O'Connor has caught a theological truth here, redemptive grace is the act of reaching out to other people. It is the act of extending one's self into the thick of human misery in order to offer a hand of support or mercy. The Youngsters ages three years through sixth grade enjoyed Vacation Bible School last week at Ozona United Methodist Church. A visit from ventriloquist Gary Davis and his friend Leroy and a hot dog supper followed classes two of the five nights.

Scriptures have it thus. At one end of the Bible, in Leviticus there is presented a type of redemptive grace in telling the Hebrews to reach down to the less fortunate: to the poor, sojourners (today we might call them drifters), servants, the deaf and blind. That act of outreach is grace in action, a grace that redeems. At the other end of the Bible, in Revelation, God is pictured as reaching down from heaven, redeeming the world with a new Jerusalem. Thus, redemptive grace comes through the acts of persons who are willing to risk themselves by reaching out to others, and through God, who in each moment risks rejection in reaching out to all.

Federal Land Bank lowers rates

The Federal Land Bank of Texas will lower its variable interest rates on August 1 to farmers and ranchers who finance with the bank.

Variable interest rates on farm and ranch loans will decrease to 11 percent and rural residence and farm-related business loans will decrease to 11.5 percent. According to Jack B. Smith Jr., president of the Federal Land Bank Association of Sonora, the reduction will save Texas farmers and ranchers almost $12.5 million in interest cost annually.

The Land Bank, which provides more than $2.5 billion in rural land financing, had been locked into an interest rate freeze for more than a year. The bank's board of directors first asked the Farm Credit Administration (FCA), its regulator in Washington, D.C., for an interest rate reduction in September 1985. The Texas board had asked for a 1 percent across-the-board decrease for the Federal Land Bank. However, FCA would not allow more than a one-half of one percent reduction at this time.

Smith noted that the Texas Land Bank was one of the first of 12 Federal Land Banks nationwide to get approval of overall interest rate reduction. He added that district banks wanting to lower interest rates must meet certain criterion set up by FCA.

"We are pleased that FCA has approved our request," Smith said. "For some time now, we have been looking for ways to give our borrowers some relief on the cost of their operations. We will continue to ask our regulator for even lower rates for our borrowers."

Smith said the Federal Land Bank of Texas will lower its rates even though the bank posted a loss for the first six months of the year.

"Because of aid required for other financially stressed Farm Credit Banks, our earnings dropped from a positive $12 million to a negative $17.2 million," Smith explained. "This was the result of a nationwide agreement that provides for capital infusion into system banks experiencing serious financial difficulties."

The Federal Land Bank of Texas and its 44 Federal Land Bank Associations provide credit to 30,000 of the state's farmers and ranchers.

Vary your exercise menu

"Too many people are becoming too specialized in their exercise," says Dr. Arnie Jensen, a physician at the Cooper Aerobics Clinic in Dallas.

For example, some people only jog; others only swim. But Jensen says that, to get your body in top form, it's much better to balance your fitness program with a variety of exercises, so you use different muscle groups. A balanced "menu" not only means better overall fitness, but helps prevent boredom, too.

For optimum fitness, Jensen says, you should do some kind of aerobic exercise, such as biking, swimming, brisk walking or jogging, up to four or five times a week, for a minimum of 20 to 30 minutes each time.

It's important to keep your body limber, too, the expert says. So, in addition to aerobic exercises, you also should do mild stretching exercises before or immediately after your aerobic workout. "The current thinking is that it may be best to do the stretching after aerobic exercise, when your muscles are warm," Jensen says. "You're less likely to injure yourself stretching at that point."

But to round out your exercise program, you should go beyond aerobics and stretching. Jensen recommends adding muscle-toning exercises two or three times a week. He suggests doing bent-knee sit-ups, push-ups, straight leg raises and chin-ups. Or, you can use free weights or weight machines.

Jensen says it's important to remember that exercise is only part of fitness. "We used to believe that you could get by with eating almost anything if you exercised. That's not true at all," he says. For best fitness, balance your exercise menu with a balanced diet.

TSGRA to sponsor "Make it with wool"

The beauty and versatility of wool will be the focus for the "Texas Make-It-Yourself With Wool" contest for 1986. The contest is sponsored annually by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Auxiliary, Texas Department of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council. Purpose of the annual contest is to encourage the use of wool in sewing, knitting and crocheting fashionable garments. It also offers young experts the opportunity to compete for prizes and win recognition.

District competition is held in eight areas of Texas during September and October. State competition will be Saturday, October 18, at the State Fair of Texas. Anyone may enter. Categories for competition are determined by age and include Preteen - ages 10-13; Junior - ages 14-16; Senior - ages 17-21; and Adults - over 21. The District III contest will be October 11 at the Sunset Mall in San Angelo.

For more information, call the County Extension Office at 392-2721. Entries must be submitted two weeks prior to competition.

Reagan, here?

Imposter joins parade

The annual rodeo parade had a surprise visit from a President Reagan look-alike Friday afternoon. Identity of the individual waving from a white, open top car has been a closely guarded secret, but insiders indicate that he was an Ozona businessman.

Donna Jo Patrick, 1985 Rodeo Queen, carried the Sesquicentennial flag in the parade followed by contestants Tressa Crawford, Lore Hohertz and Rita Rios.

A large group of horseback riders emphasized the rodeo aspect of the parade along with a small burro powered cart driven by John Cowen.

The 1986 cheerleaders added sparkle to the parade from the back of a 1954 Buick convertible owned by Richard Berry. Charles Sizemore's sparkling navy and cream 1949 Mercury pickup also added to the event.

Good old western music was played from the back of a Buttery Motor Company pickup by Max Schroeder and Chago Ybarra.

Grooming clinic for youth

An August 5 grooming clinic held at the County Library drew 16 junior high youth. Presenters for the clinic included: skin care by Helen Wall, Avon representative; make-up by Nancy Moore, Mary Kay representative; hairstyles, manicures and pedicures by Monica Schwartz and Cathy Duncan, Monica's beauticians; fashion books available, Louise Ledoux; and fall fashions and accessories, Rachel Hall. Fall fashions came from Small Fashions clothing store.

Youth attending the clinic included: Yvonne Harrison, Lisa Herring, Rosie Gonzales, Christy Porras, Veronica Mendoza, Gina Snyder, Erika Kenison, Julie Childress, Haley Carson, Rana Bridges, Robin Myers, Shelby Stuart, Martha Mayfield, Jeanie Cooper, Bonnie Martin and Tom Martin.

Pork-n beans or paintings....

Pecos River Crossing has it all

You can choose a can of pork and beans or a signed, limited edition western art print by a well known artist at the Pecos River Crossing store on Interstate Highway 10 west of Ozona.

Barely in Crockett County, the Pecos River Crossing is located just off Exit 328 at the intersection of I-10 and the river road on the east bank of the Pecos River, 35 miles west of Ozona and 8 miles from Sheffield.

The art gallery was added this year. The store is really a convenience store with the usual gas pumps outside, snack and picnic foods inside, as well as the other items one expects in similar stores.

The walls of the store are the difference. They are crowded with beautifully matted and framed prints of all sizes. Other prints, matted but unframed, stand in a box near the cashier's counter. The gallery also exhibits oils, watercolors and bronzes as well, although no bronzes are currently exhibited.

The food display shelves fade into the background and the store becomes an art gallery when one begins to really look at and see the art. Several well known artists' works are exhibited.

Some are limited edition prints signed by the artists. Others are unlimited prints. They are priced accordingly with a range from about $40 to $600 for framed prints.

"There are a lot of people who really appreciate the art," said Pat Gunn, wife of the Millsbaugh Corporation store manager, David Gunn. "You'd be amazed."

Most of the artwork on exhibit is supplied by the Fenton Whitehead Gallery of San Angelo on a rotating basis. "About the time we are starting to get tired of something, they take it away," Pat said.

"The unframed prints are very popular. We ship anywhere. We will change the mat or frame or sell just the print."

Pat cheerfully takes down a limited edition print from the wall to show the certificate on the back containing information about the artist and the particular print it accompanies.

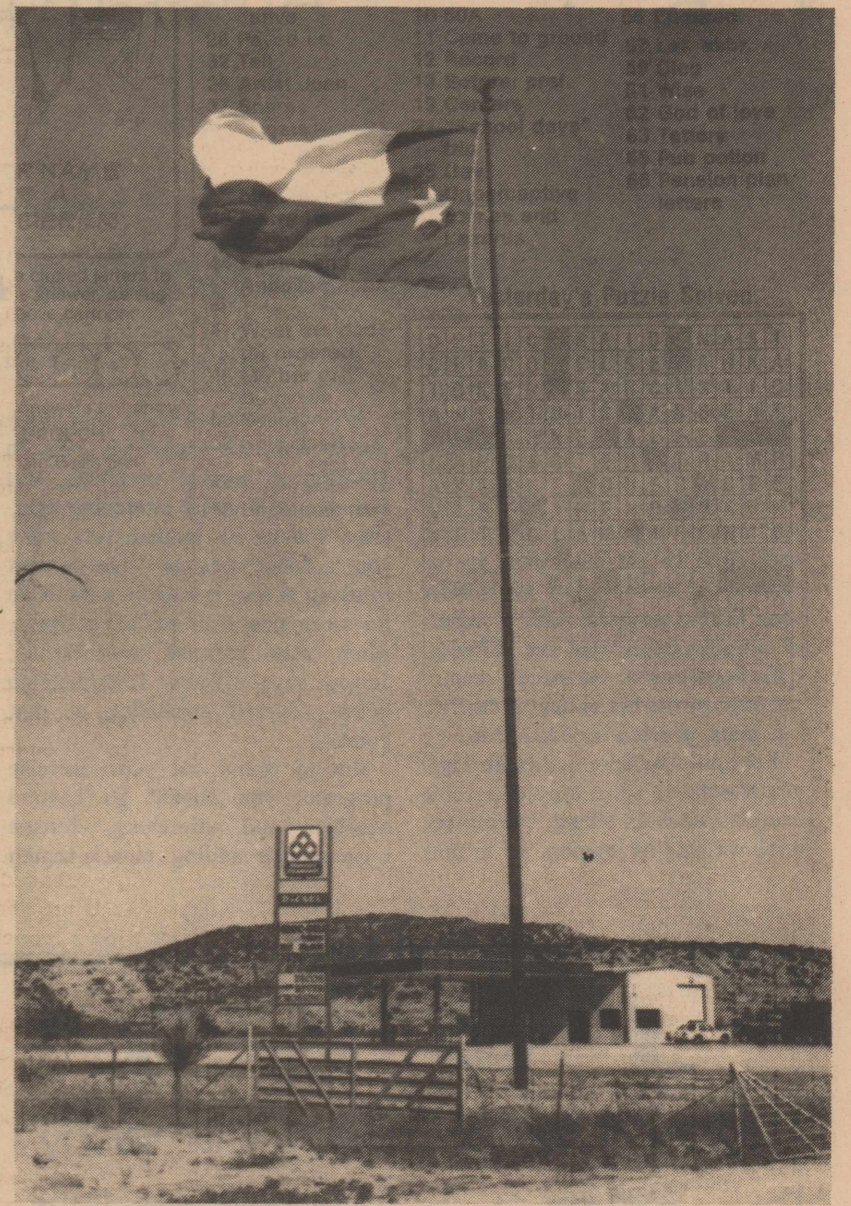

Artists currently represented in the gallery include G. Harvey, Peter Skirka, Betty Allison, and Clark Hulings.

"He's real famous in western art," Gunn said, referring to Hulings.

Others whose work is or was shown are Bama, an Indian artist, Molnar, and Bev Doolittle.

One of the best known to West Texans is Wayne Baize who presently lives in Ft. Davis. According to Gunn, Baize's favorite medium is pencil although he is now trying oils. He thought that he wasn't really an artist until he tried pencils. Several of Baize's prints are hung in the Pecos River Crossing gallery.

Baize will be exhibiting at the Crockett County Library in September.

Another artist whose name sparks recognition in aficionados of western art is Bev Doolittle. Her paintings contain something hidden in each which a casual glance will not reveal. The designs are strong with detailed realism. Doolittle has gained a national reputation and has her work hung in a number of museums and galleries.

"Her work is just beautiful," Pat Gunn said.

The afternoon store manager, Hal Harris, has become sufficiently inspired by the work displayed in the store that he has begun to sculpt also. His first work, a small bronze, is displayed behind the cashier's counter.

Oleta Westbrook is the morning manager of the store.

"Right now we're in the process of designing a restaurant," Gunn said.

"We hope it'll get off the ground early next year. We're trying to decide just where to put the restaurant."

The store-gallery sits by itself on the south side of I-10 with a RV park behind it and an enormous Texas flag flying in front.

The flag has been up since the middle of May and already seems to have become a landmark. "We've had to take it down three times since we put it up so we could repair it," Pat Gunn said, "and a lot of local people call or come by and want to know where it is."

The flag, weighing 60 pounds or more, requires real strength to raise. This task usually falls to David Gunn.

"But, we love it," said Pat, noting that the flag makes the surprise on the Pecos River easier to find.

Miss Probst to join world tour

Jennifer Probst received notification August 4 that she has been chosen as one of 110 young people to join an Up With People troupe in 1988. The perky blonde teenager auditioned in Sonora June 7 following a presentation of Up With People's "Beat of the Future" show.

The international cast and band members range in age from 18-25 and travel with the group for only one year.

Up With People presently has five groups performing all over the world. This is the fourth year Up With People has performed in the Superbowl.

The International Educational Cultural Organization of which Up With People is a part was formed 20 years ago by J. Blanton Belk. The original purpose was to transform the negative energy of the '60's into positive energy.

Jennifer was notified of her selection by Glen Shepherd, director of admissions and education for the organization.

"I'm so excited about being selected," said Jennifer. Her participation will allow Jennifer to be an ambassador not only for her community, but her state and nation as well.

The 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Probst will be a senior at Ozona High School this fall.

She is a third year member of the Front Line and will be head twirler for the second year. During a recent five week stay at Prude Ranch as a junior counselor, Jennifer taught twirling to campers.

An avid golfer, she has also spent one week of the summer at Texas Tech Golf Camp at the Extension Center in Junction. She has been a member of the varsity golf team since her freshman year, and received the Fighting Heart award for golf as a freshman and sophomore.

Last summer she was invited to participate in the Western Women's Golf Association National Tournament in Austin where she played against amateurs off the pro tour.

Paisano Encampment attracts locals

The 66th consecutive Paisano Baptist Encampment took place July 23-August 1 with several Ozonans attending part or all of the meeting. The encampment grounds are located halfway between Alpine and Marfa in the Davis Mountains.

Preachers for the one week meeting were Dr. Jesse C. Fletcher, president of Hardin-Simmons University, and Dr. Winfred Moore, pastor of First Baptist of Amarillo and the current president of the Texas Baptist Convention and immediate past vice-president of the Southern Baptist Convention.

According to Troy Williams, about 800 meals were served in the dining shed at most meals. Others went to Alpine or Marfa for meals or prepared meals in their individual cabins.

This was the first time the camp meeting ran Monday through Friday only. In the past, the camp began on Mondays and ran through the following Sunday afternoon.

Ozonans, past and present, who attended the camp meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carson, who arrived at the campsite Sunday morning accompanied by their granddaughters, from Snyder. They also took Stephanie Sutton and Julie Childress with them. Daughter Bonnie and her husband, Buddy Baldwin, joined the Carsons during the week.

Alice Baker and Carmen Sutton, Stephanie's mother, arrived Monday afternoon. They were joined by Alice's grandson, Fred Baker, and his wife, Kay, from Alpine.

First Baptist Church of Ozona pastor Jim Gray and wife, Kay, also arrived Monday. Their son and daughter, Steven and Linda, accompanied their parents. Carl Thurman traveled with the Grays.

Troy and Estelle Williams left for Paisano Sunday afternoon and took three of their grandchildren, Martha and Sarah Mayfield, and Slate Williams. Daughter-in-law Elaine Williams and her two sons, John and Tom Ben, joined them Monday. Larry Williams arrived later in the week.

Sandra Childress arrived Tuesday. Two former pastors of First Baptist Church of Ozona played prominent parts in the Paisano Encampment. Glen Edwards, current president of the encampment, served as pastor in Ozona from 1947 to 1949. Clyde Childress, who was pastor in Ozona from 1938-1944, is the executive vice-president of the encampment.

Ozonans attend trial seminar

Debbie Puckett, District Clerk, and Teri Williams, Court Administrator, attended a seminar on Trial Court Caseflow Management in Austin last week. The seminar was sponsored by the Office of Court Administration and the Texas Judicial Council. Judges, clerks and administrators from numerous counties throughout the state attended the seminar.

The purpose of the seminar was implementation of the Proposed Administrative Rules for Texas Trial Courts. These rules were completed by the Texas Supreme Courts and are subject to ratification by the Texas Legislature. The goal is the timely disposition of cases and implementation of a delay reduction program. The passage of these rules will make the courts responsible for the control of cases as they are filed until their disposition. Traditionally attorneys and litigants have assumed this role.

Monitoring systems, both manual and automated, were discussed at the seminar. Implementation of such a system will fall upon the court administrator with much of the burden carried by the District Clerk's Office.

As yet, the State has not volunteered financial help for the program. If the legislature is passed, the counties will be responsible for the personnel and/or the computer necessary for the program's success.

Ozona Veterinary Clinic offers pets to the public

Janet Wilson holds two Border Collie-Rottweiler cross puppies who need a home. Alberto Galindo, also pictured, assists Dr. Gary Vannoy at the clinic.

Local residents may not be aware of one of the unique services or, as some would say, the opportunities the Ozona Veterinary Clinic offers.

"We see puppies from the pound in San Angelo brought in for their shots while we have to put our local dogs to sleep," said Janet Wilson, receptionist at the clinic.

Many of the local dogs and cats brought to the clinic would make good pets according to Janet.

"Many people just don't know that we do that. Even if we don't have just exactly the animal someone is looking for, often we can match them with the pet of their choice within two weeks."

During July, 57 animals were destroyed at the clinic while the number in June was 66. Only one or two a month finds a home.

"Apparently people think that we find more homes for animals than we do," Wilson said. "Sometimes a litter of puppies or kittens is brought in. At other times, a pregnant female is brought in and has her babies in the clinic."

The county pays Dr. Gary Vannoy for three days room and board for the animals. Janet laughed when Dr. Vannoy revealed the time limitation and said that she imagines that he is losing money because he often keeps animals up to two weeks if they are adoptable.

There is no set time limit for the animals to be kept at the clinic. Sometimes an animal is sick or has been injured so it is not feasible to keep it at all. In the case of a litter, often two or three of the little ones are kept for a time in the hope that someone will want one or two.

A litter of seven fuzzy, black and tan puppies are presently in the clinic's menagerie. All are very friendly and eager to be someone's pet.

"They are going to be fairly large dogs and that is against them," Janet said. "Almost no one will take a puppy that is going to become a large dog." The puppies are a Border Collie-Rottweiler cross.

"I would guess that about 50% of the dogs we get once belonged to somebody," said Janet. "Many people just don't take pet adoption seriously. They or their kids are attracted to a cute puppy. They just don't think about the animal's full-grown size, the care of it, fectionate pet and wants to be one again.

A white female cat is contained in a cage with three kittens. The kittens are pure white with a faint blush of gray at the backs of their heads. They are very friendly.

"Unlike the SPCA or the Humane Society, we don't have a requirement that someone adopting a pet will promise to have it neutered or spayed," Janet said. "We do require that puppies or kittens receive their first shots before we let them go, however."

Kitten's vaccinations cost $10 for the first shots. When the animal is three months old it should be brought back for additional vaccinations.

The first vaccinations for a six or eight week old puppy cost $20. This cost includes deworming and vaccinations for six diseases. Puppies should be returned twice more for additional shots. The rabies vaccine is too strong for very young puppies and is the last to be administered.

Dr. Vannoy says that there is no way that people can be forced to bring their pets back for additional vaccinations.

"We have to put lots of dogs to sleep," Vannoy said. "We don't like it, but we don't apologize for it. People ask me 'What are you going to do with that dog there?' and I tell them. They think that's terrible and I tell them if they'll leave their phone number, I'll never put another dog to sleep."

"They never leave their numbers," he said.

But, according to Janet it's all worth it if you find a home for just one.

"It makes you want to try," she says.

Bird cage on square not fly by night

Street peddlers or not, Ozona responded with much interest to an unusual sales team on the town square for three days last week.

Sheila and Ron Liebschwager, representing Patsy's Bird Nest of San Angelo, brought a trailer on which was mounted a large wire cage containing some 400 birds of various kinds, colors and sizes.

They set up shop underneath a pecan tree on the south end of the square Thursday morning. Prices for birds ranged from $12 for a pair of parakeets to $1,200 for a large white Malaccan cockatoo. The Liebschwagers also had a plentiful supply of cages in varied sizes. More than 100 birds were sold during the three days.

"Patsy has been selling like this for about 18 months now," Sheila said. "Her husband, Wayne, bought her a pair of lovebirds for Valentine's Day several years ago, and it just grew from that."

Most of the Liebschwagers' birds are parakeets. "They are a good starter bird," Sheila said. "They make good pets for kids."

Tiny little finches, only a couple of inches from beak to tail, are good pets according to Sheila. "They are always busy, busy."

"Everybody loves a talking bird," Sheila said. The assortment offered by Patsy's Bird Nest includes mynah birds, parakeets, various parrots from the Amazon and Africa, as well as other exotic places.

"The African Gray, or Congo Gray, is the cadillac of talking birds," Sheila said. "His voice is the most human-like of all the talking birds."

A favorite with many who stopped to look was a large bird, white blushed with a pale orange. Sheila assures one that although the Malaccan cockatoo is a pet, he is for sale. His price tag is a hefty $1,200. This particular individual is very tame. Although at two years of age he is technically still a baby, the bird has an expected life span of 30 to 60 years.

The Liebschwagers brought their own pet bird to Ozona. Jody is a Double Yellowhead parrot from the Amazon. Only two and a half years old, Jody has a vocabulary of 85 to 100 words. "We don't work at teaching him," Sheila said. "He just picked it up from hearing conversation."

Although Jody's wings have been clipped, apparently the feathers have grown out a bit. Saturday morning he took an unexpected flight across the street, but allowed Ron to carry him back to his perch in the trailer.

All the large birds have been imported through Miami or California and have papers attesting to their good health.

"Birds aren't hard to care for," Sheila said. "They just need plenty of fresh water, fresh feed, and tender, loving care."

The Liebschwagers plan to visit Ozona at least once a month from now on.

"We're definitely not fly-by-nights," Ron said.

Patsy's Bird Nest sells birds from the corner of Knickerbocker and South Bryant in San Angelo.

Michiganders respond to aid request

A plea by the Crockett County Local Welfare Association for funds to continue emergency assistance received a response Tuesday from Madison Heights, Michigan. The secretary of the organization, Billy Mills, had requested donations for the depleted fund through local news media.

The following response was accompanied by a donation.

Dear Sheriff Billy Mills,

While spending the night in your charming city of Ozona, I read your local paper since I am a journalist.

As Christians, we could not help noticing the bad economic times our brothers and sisters are having now. Please accept this money in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to help some one in need. I trust that the good people of Crockett County elected a Christian man as sheriff, therefore, you realize that you are accountable to God how to deal with it. We trust the Lord in you.

This money contains the message to the people of Crockett County that we, in Michigan, went through bad times, too; but now they are over. We truly pray that yours will be over soon; just trust in the Lord by being patient and also be kind to one another. It will soon be over faster than you think.

My husband was laid off from Chrysler Corporation for four years. He delivered newspapers, etc. until it was over. Finally he was hired back at a better job than what he ended with. So, trust in the Lord!

Hebrews 11:1-3 "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. For by it the elders obtained a good testimony. By faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that the things which are seen were not made of things which are visible." (New King James Version)

Just remember that Jesus Christ is suffering with you and you are not alone.

Your friends,
Tom and Connie Schmelze,
Maria and John

Grass fires quelled

A grass fire on the Dempster Jones ranch July 30 burned about one-half acre before being extinguished by Ozona Fire Department volunteers. The grass fire began where welding was being done on a cattle guard with 100 gallons of water used.

Two trucks and the van were sent out on the 6:26 p.m. call. Firemen were back at the station at 7:30 p.m.

Two trucks rushed to the area of the V.F.W. Hall Monday night at 10:21 in response to a grass fire. Firemen were back at the station in seven minutes after using 50 gallons.

The incident was turned over to the Sheriff's Department for investigation.

EMS personnel train at Basic Life course

Three Ozona Emergency Medical Service personnel attended a Basic Trauma Life Support course July 18-19 at Conroe and two of these took part Saturday, Aug. 2, in a one-day EMS course in San Angelo.

John L. Henderson, Doug Meador, and Carol Hunnicutt participated in the BTL course which was the first time such a course has been offered in the state. It consisted of an intensive, two-day presentation of lectures and skill stations with participation limited to emergency medical technician-paramedics or at least special skills personnel.

The workshop dealt with in-field or pre-hospital care. The first day consisted of mostly lectures with some trauma skill stations. The second day was all skill station training where participants were required to assess situations and act accordingly. A third day of training in Advanced Life Support systems was offered. The Ozona pweaonnwl did not stay for this as participation was restricted to physicians concerned with emergency room care.

"It was most fantastic," said EMT Carol Hunnicutt, concerning her BTL training. "Dr. John Campbell who wrote the textbook was there and contributed to the course."

The objectives of the course were to teach correct sequence of evaluation, the techniques of resuscitation and stabilization, and to give participants enough practical training that they can perform these rapidly and efficiently.

After returning from Conroe, Carol Hunnicutt and John L. Henderson attended a one-day continuing education course in San Angelo sponsored by the Concho Valley Council of Government. Dr. Steve Boster, coordinator of EMS in San Angelo and emergency room physician at Shannon Hospital, directed the course. EMT's polished their skills in shock management and IV therapy at San Angelo.

About 20 EMS personnel from the area participated in the continuing education course.

Dr. Don Carlisle, Crockett County Health Officer, is the coordinator of EMS in Crockett County.
