Hell Rained With Fall of Big Blimp.

(BY C. E. MANLY.)

Chicago, July 22.—Yesterday evening just before 5 o'clock I was in an automobile with some friends on Michigan Boulevard, and we saw a silver colored "blimp" rise out of Grant Park. It headed its great nose at a sharp angle upward until it attained a height of perhaps a thousand feet, circled the lake a couple of times, then with the grace and majesty of an eagle soared toward the great "loop" district of Chicago. The balloon passed directly over us in the neighborhood of the Blackstone hotel. Less than two minutes afterward the thousands on the streets below who were watching it saw a tiny curl of smoke, then a spurt of flame—and then an explosion. Men could be seen leaping from the baskets, their parachutes opening. It was nearing the end of a beautiful summer day, and there was hardly the least breeze. The carriage of the balloon with its heavy engines and tanks of gasoline, started earthward at a terrific speed carrying with it a trail of flame which set fire to the parachutes of the men who had jumped. It was a horrible, awe-inspiring sight, and in less than a dozen seconds the blimp crashed through the skylight of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank, and littered hell on the dozens of employes.

Had this fiery engine of the flaming blimp fallen almost anywhere else in that section of the city the disaster would probably have been as great, for it is in the heart of skyscrapers, and the building of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank is only one story, having the appearance of a Greek Temple. There is a high dome and at the top a plate glass skylight. Directly on top of this skylight the blimp landed, crashing through to the rotunda below where a hundred clerks were hurrying to finish their day's work. The first warning was a great black shadow that swept across the skylight; then the crash; then the explosion of the gasoline tanks which threw flames to every part of the building, igniting the clothing of the shrieking terrified men and girls. The wreckage and falling debris crushed many beneath. It seemed that in an instant the marble temple became a furnace. Men and women with burning clothing

Henry M. Robinson has been appointed a member of the United States shipping board by President Wilson. He is in charge in Paris of our American marine affairs and substitutes for Edward N. rushed from the building, and some maimed, crawled through the fire screaming. Nine were killed outright in the bank building and 28 injured, many of whom may die. Three of the five men in the "blimp" went to their death. One, a newspaper representative, crashed through the top of the building with the wreckage. Immense crowds surged the streets of the disaster district for five hours.

Tuesday morning I went to the bank building. A score of policemen were keeping everyone out except those who had business therein. I succeeded in gaining entrance. On the inside a force of workmen were at work repairing the skylight. In the center of the building there was a mass of charred wreckage, not yet removed, charred and scorched desks. Large patches of plaster had been knocked off the columns by the falling debris.

But, the bank was doing business. None of the cages had been injured except the paint scorched off in spots. The tellers and clerks were at their places. Had it not been for the crowds, the police and the debris, there would not have been any indications that only a few hours before flaming, torturing death was there.

The "blimp" was owned by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company. An investigation is under way and somebody may be held responsible for this catastrophe. It is almost certain that laws will be framed prohibiting flights of balloons or airplanes over the city.

State Tax Rate Fixed at 75c; All Records Broken

Austin, Texas, July 24.—The State tax rate for this year is 75 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation and is a record breaker. It was fixed at that figure today by the State automatic tax board composed of the Governor, the Comptroller and State Treasurer, being divided as follows:

Ad valorem for general purposes, 35 cents. For school and free textbooks, 35 cents, for pensions, 5 cents.

The total fixed last year was 55 cents, being 30, 20 and 5 cents, respectively. The assessed values this year were estimated at $3,100,905,726 as against $3,022,861,802 last year. It was found that the 11-2 per cent gross receipts tax on oil would make a net increase of $700,000 to general revenue and $200,000 to the available school fund. It was calculated that the receipts from sources other than the State tax rate would be $5,060,684 as against $5,360,684 last year.

The 20-cent school tax last year netted $3,636,698. It will be 35 cents this year, for the first time, and 15 cents of it may be used to purchase free textbooks under the new law, although not all of that amount may be necessary.

Soldiers Farm Bills Will Soon Be Coming Up.

Washington, D. C. July—The next few weeks is a critical period for the thousands of returning soldiers, watchfully waiting for congressional action which will make it possible for them to acquire farm sites on easy terms and get to work helping the Government make these lands ready for occupancy and husbandry.

Chairman Sinnott of the Public Lands Committee, after extensive hearings on the Mondell bill, commonly known as the "soldiers settlement bill" which is the Interior Department measure, has announced that he expects to get action soon. In the meantime the soldiers themselves have drafted a bill which embodies the principles they hope to see worked out in this legislation. Their proposal has been presented to the House by Representative M. Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania, who has secured from Chairman Sinnott a promise that hearings will be granted to the soldiers and their friends to testify regarding the new proposition.

There are a half dozen other bills proposing land grants to soldiers, and reclamation and other public works to employ the men being demobilized, all of which will be considered with the idea in mind to find the best proposition for the soldiers and at the same time protect them, the Government and the public generally from the land grabbers.

The suave individuals who rob banks and buffalo nickle stores and earnestly devoting themselves to the filching of Liberty and War Savings stamps, making real competitors for the prey on their fellow by persuading them to sell War Savings stamps at less than they will bring at the post office.

Heavy Rains Fall Over La Salle This Week.

From every part of La Salle County comes reports of heavy rains this week. The rain came slow and most of it soaked into the ground as it fell. Beginning Sunday night and continuing at intervals throughout the week, the fall ranging from 1-4 to 3-4 of an inch each time. While of great benefit to the range, it was not particularly needed on the farms. Most all the farmers had time during the few days of sunshine we had to cut a good per cent of their cane and other feedstuff, but had not put it into shocks, and with so much rain the result is it will all be ruined.

The total precipitation for the week was 3.44 inches.

tion at a convention held recently called upon congress to enact legislation to protect bondholders against these raiders. This protection is suggested by making it a penitentiary offense to buy or sell Liberty Bonds or War Savings Stamps without the original buyers endorsement.

The bankers pointed out that the modern burglar is the War Savings stamp scalper who victimizes his fellow citizens who are not so well informed of the true value of these Government securities.

The Savings Division of the Treasury department already has provided protection by means of registration. A new ruling, now of force, permits registration at any postoffice. A plan for thorough identification has also been devised as a means of recovering stolen War Savings Stamps.

The Rhode Island legislature at its last session passed a law providing a fine of $1,000 or six months in jail for any person purchasing War Savings Stamps at a price less than that fixed by the Government. Other legislatures are expected to take similar action shortly.

Intervention Looms Declare Mexico Papers.

Mexico City, July 24—The constantly increasing space devoted by Mexican newspapers during the last few weeks to the relations between the United States and Mexico culminated Wednesday in an extra edition of El Universal carrying the seven column headline "Mexico and the United States." Underneath is another seven column headline in smaller type, saying "United States press affirms preparations continue for armed intervention; General Dickman chief of Southern Operations."

The body of the reading matter contains summaries of stories most of them taken from New York newspapers and sent by special correspondents or clipping bureaus, regarding recent incidents in Mexico involving Americans, such as the Cheyene affair at Tampico and the reported mobilization of large armed forces along the frontier.

Other stories tell of anti-Mexican cartoons appearing in American papers and of declarations with regard to Mexico made by Under-Secretary of State Polk and Major General Leonard Wood. Part of the extra is given over to a story printed in the New York World discounting the intervention stories.

Too Much Rain For Cotton.

The heavy rains which have been falling this week are of great injury to the cotton crop, causing the cotton to have a tendency to grow to stalk, and giving new life to the boll weevil. So far the destruction by the weevils in most sections is dry weather, but it will be doing a great deal of damage.

Baptist Church.

Cordial invitation to all to attend the regular services at the Baptist Church Sunday, 11 a. m. and 8:45 p. m. The pastor will tell at 11 o'clock services some of the interests at Palacios.

The bolshevik revolution helps to explain some of the Russian ballets.

When the world does settle down to peace and quiet, how it will enjoy the novelty!

Straw hats are higher than ever this year. Maybe last year's bird nest will have to do.

The fellow whose feet interfere has no business wearing white hose with his low shoes.

Turkey has lost Smyrna. Consequently, it can no longer use that place as a first-class rug.

The fellow with nerve will often gain success while the man with brains is still hunting for it.

But does the demand for competent stenographers exceed the demand for good-looking ones?

Germany's digestion, accustomed to many strange viands, cannot seem to adapt itself to crow.

The returned soldier who finds a woman holding down his old job might do well to marry her.

Europe now defines an "intellectual" as a person with an abiding contempt for plain common sense.

Men have been arrested for stealing $50,000 worth of government sugar. This is a sweet mess.

Others may hold the records for distance flight, but for altitude the cost of living has no competitor.

We're for Stefansson if he can make northern Canada produce anything except cold waves and blizzards.

The manner in which the United States avoids giving help to the Russian people is unfailingly adroit.

What has become of the fellow who used to carry three silver dollars in his pocket just to hear them jingle?

There are two types of schoolgirls nowadays, those who wear fine clothes and those who are good in their studies.

Rising to one's feet when the national anthem is played is rapidly becoming the first law of self-preservation.

It is no longer dollars to doughnuts, as the old saying had it, but dollars for doughnuts, and plenty of them, at that.

Marc Antony thought he was doing a great stunt to make the stones of Rome rise and mutiny. But there are others.

From the shrieks of disappointment one would imagine the German delegates went to Versailles expecting an ovation.

Glenn H. Curtiss speaks of the dirigible as an "aerial barge." That seems to be rather neat and quite descriptive.

That airman who made 457 consecutive loops in a single flight must have felt like a whirling dervish when he got through.

Higher carfare, higher shoes; tax on corsets, no more booze. Consumer kicking—getting worse; call the coroner, bring a hearse.

The truth is, a man hates to wear a last year's straw hat quite as much as does a woman. The difference is, he sometimes has to.

When we see how skillfully Armenia draws the United States into the mangle, we wonder why Armenia is always the loser in war.

In setting up a fire-screen of bolshevism to alarm the allies, Germany may find difficulty in putting it out when its necessity is gone.

There may be no more Liberty bond issues, but there will always be the bonds of matrimony and one may buy presents for the heroic groom and the lovely bride.

Our soldiers not only made the German war lords run, but they made all the world sit up and take notice of Uncle Sam as a military power when he is aroused.

Says a French chaplain: "We have 700,000 girls who will never have the chance to marry." This seems to depend on whether the American troops are brought home speedily.

Here and there, though, Germany got off easily, as, for instance, in the clause that stipulates she must deliver her coal to France. It doesn't say a word about making her carry it in.

According to various exponents, it is perfectly clear that it is solely what somebody else is doing that is responsible for the spread of bolshevism wherever it happens to be spreading.

Too many cooks spoil the broth, but a whole family can work profitably in a garden.

What a revelation in shabby suits of ancient vintage spring has forced upon us!

There is a shortage of cabbage but still there is enough, perhaps, to cover the corned beef.

Just at present German helmets and iron crosses are rather a drug on the souvenir market.

Modern science is so up to date that it insists on calling spring fever the sleeping sickness.

Spanish fiction is having a great run in America, which is all fed up on other kinds of fiction.

Optimism is the anticipation of clear skies tomorrow instead of bemoaning the clouds of yesterday.

With the official demise of "shell shock," the rasnals masquerading in khaki will find more thorns in their path.

That Germany does not like the peace terms goes without saying. We shouldn't be satisfied with them if the Huns were.

Men, poor devils, are reported to be patronizing the beauty parlors, but in the vast, sad majority of the cases it is too late.

The labor board has calculated that it costs $1,327 to rear a child to the age of sixteen. Even so, it is the best investment in the world.

War taxes are heavy, perhaps, but the money goes to Uncle Sam. In case of defeat it might have gone to an entirely different person.

A United States court has ruled that a Jew's harp is a musical instrument. Must have been the same one that ruled that turtles were insects.

An oyster produces 400,000 eggs annually, but of these only about 400 are any good. Be very careful about ordering oyster eggs in the shell.

Scientists now say that it takes three months for the body to recover from the effects of an attack of anger. Well, doesn't that depend on the size and musculature of the chap you get angry at?

There never was a dethroned giant in the world but who learned the bitter lesson that in the moment of disaster the sycophantic and hypocritical "one too" bunch of idolatrous slobberers were the first to quit him cold.

The new war tax on alarm clocks is 5 per cent. If the power to tax the power to destroy, personally we favor a tax on alarm clocks of 5000 per cent. Then if the worker sleep overtime, let him collect such overtime from his employer.

"NOTHING DOING" IN COTULLA

Kitchen Maids of Sultan of Morocco Entitled to Nether Garments of Expensive Stuff.

The sultan of Morocco was always an absolute monarch, and in that capacity the revenues of the country were his. There had never been a distinction between public funds and private funds—all belonged to the sultan. It was therefore no easy task to arrive at an agreement as to what were state and which private debts. Inextricably mixed had they been the past. There was, for instance, a bill for some hundreds of yards of very expensive and very fine crimson cloth. Naturally the protectorate authorities scheduled this among the private debts. The sultan protested. The cloth, he said, had been purchased for governmental purposes—in fact for the trousers of the imperial kitchen maids; for there are several hundred slave-women employed in preparing the palace food. The protectorate government refused to be responsible for the trousers of the imperial kitchen maids; for there are several hundred slave-women employed in preparing the palace food. FOLLOWED PATHS OF PEACE

Aborigines of Texas Unlike the Fierce Tribes of Other Sections of the Country.

Stone implements found in ancient workshops in Texas, antedating French, Spanish or American settlers, prove that the original settlers of this state were not like the fierce tribes encountered in modern times by the white settlers. Little is known about the aboriginal population of Texas, which lies between the Pueblo and mound builders' area, but Dr. J. Walter Fewkes, chief of the American bureau of ethnology, aided by Professor Pease of the University of Texas, have located some long-forgotten village sites.

Remarkable Chimpanzee Dies

A few weeks ago there died a chimpanzee who had spent the eight years of his life defying all rules laid down for the well being of chimpanzees. His name was Antony, and he was the only one of his tribe of monkeys who has ever managed to stand an English climate unmitigated by artificial heat. He came from the Congo in 1911, when he was very young and small. At that time he weighed 14 pounds, by last summer he was just six times as heavy. During the whole period of his civilized life he was kept in a brick building facing southwest and unheated, and he slept in straw without blankets. Chocolates and sweets—poison to ordinary chimpanzees—were the special treats of Antony's diet, and he had a less comprehensible fancy for beans.—Manchester Guardian.

The "Amen Corner"

The phrase "amen corner" is said to have originated in London, where, at the end of Paternoster row, the monks at one time finished their recitation of the "Pater Noster" as they went in procession on Corpus Christi day to St. Paul's cathedral. They began in Paternoster row with the Lord's prayer in Latin, continuing it to the end of the street, and then said "amen" at the corner of the row. As used in this country the phrase described the corner of a church where the elderly members sit and pronounce the word "amen" at intervals.

Fisherman's Mascot

A mascot to which deep-sea fishermen attach great importance is a tiny flat stone or bone found in the ear of plaice and other fish. The wear of one of these stones is supposed to be immune to the danger of drowning. It is easy to find these stones in the ears of fish, although they are no bigger than a split lentil. Anybody who cares to look for one and to examine it will see on its surface light and dark rings similar to those found on a larger scale in tree trunks. The number of rings tells the age of the fish, as a new ring appears each year.

REFLECTIONS BY THE WAY

Love your enemies—and you'll be eccentric.

If you can't understand it, it may be art or poetry.

Of course, the boys who went over are entitled to a come-back.

It has its recompense: The man who has no music in his soul is equally indifferent to a flat wheel.

Ideas are always best introduced into the system of a man hostile to them by means of capsules.

Astronomically—or gastronomically—speaking, the purpose of the great dipper must be to skim the milky way.

There is still "border" warfare. It is in the selection of new parlor wall paper when there are three grown girls in the family.

Our gratitude should go forth to the young doctor who keeps the beard—the most characteristic ornament of manhood—alive among the sons of men.

One obstruction to so many of our poets is that they are under the necessity of doing a day's work for their living before they can sit down to indite verse.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nervy wrecks," "rumbones," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headaches, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

STORK'S VISIT TO SCOTLAND

Record of Bird's Appearance in 1416 May Be Found in Chronicles of the Country.

The white stork of the continent of Europe, which is encouraged in most, and even protected in some, of the countries to which it resorts to breed, and round which much story and legend have gathered, has been known for centuries to be an occasional visitor to the British Isles, chiefly to Norfolk, but very rarely to Scotland, though it has never been known to nest or even attempt to do so in Britain.

However, a record of its having nested in Scotland appears in Goodall's edition of the "Schotchechonic." This work was begun by John Fordun, who died about 1384, and was continued by Walter Bower, the abbot of Inchcolm. It is in Bower's chronicles for 1416 that the story appears. The translation runs thus:

"In the year of our Lord, four hundred and sixteen, there died on the morrow of the birth of St. John the Baptist, Master James Bisset, prior of St. Andrew's. In this same year, a pair of storks came to Scotland and nested on top of the church of St. Giles of Edinburgh and dwelt there throughout a season of the year; but to what place they flew away thereafter no one knows."

Commenting on this, Lord Lagle Clarke says: "The church of St. Giles, on which the storks nested, was a new stone edifice commenced in 1387, to replace a former church destroyed in 1385, and some of it doubtless forms part of the cathedral of today."

Mark Twain on Conscience.

There is on record a conversation that Mark Twain had with Kipling, in which the former discoursed on the conscience. The story is told by Kipling. He reports Twain as saying: "A conscience is like a child. If you pet it and play with it and let it have everything that it wants it becomes spoiled and intrudes on all your amusements and most of your griefs. Treat your conscience as you would treat anything else. When it rebels spank it—be severe with it, prevent its coming to play with you at all hours, and you will secure a good conscience; that is to say, a properly trained one. A spoiled one simply destroys the pleasures of life. I think that I have reduced mine to order. At least I have not heard from it for some time. Perhaps I have killed it from severity. It's wrong to kill a child, but in spite of all I have said a conscience differs from a child in many ways. Perhaps it lives when it is dead."

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and sodium. It is the only salt to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Ingenious "Fake" Pistol.

A French inventor has recently placed on the market a "fake" pistol. This weapon, although in reality absolutely harmless, goes off with a very realistic crack when the trigger is pulled. It also makes a blinding flash calculated to scare any burglar.

Inventions of an even more complicated nature are constantly being heard of. A well-to-do gentleman living in Surrey has recently had his house and grounds fitted with an elaborate burglar trap. With this device a midnight marauder cannot approach near the house without setting a number of electric bells within a ring. And should the burglar not hear them and actually enter the building he would be caught in a vise by one of the many steel contraptions cunningly placed about.—London Tit-Bits.

NECESSARY TO KEEP BOOKS

About Accurate Accounts No Form of Business Can Be Successfully Carried On.

Accountancy, which is the science of systematizing business, has a history that runs back at least 4,000 years. Very early in the development of nations it was found that in commerce as well as in the affairs of state, systematic and careful account-keeping were indispensable. These systems were, at first, crude and laborious but they at least kept the finances of the nation and the marts of trade from being chaotic.

The invention of double entry bookkeeping early in the fifteenth century gave to the commerce of Europe an invaluable trade instrument, and one about which the great commercial enterprises of the later centuries could not have existed.

And so it has been down to the present time; there has been a parallel progress between the accomplishments of commerce and the science of accounting, and it is known to every man in business that the former could not exist without the latter. Even the most unbusinesslike people know this, and we can hardly imagine any one silly enough to attempt to carry on any kind of a business enterprise without keeping books.

Bookkeeping, as a formal subject of study, is taught in most of the public and private schools of this country, but it is only that form of bookkeeping that applies to the affairs of the merchant or the shopkeeper. The public has yet to learn that bookkeeping is quite as necessary to the prosperity of the workman, the salaried man, the farmer and the housekeeper as it is to the shopkeeper, the merchant or the manufacturer.—Exchange.

FLOWERS' HOURS OF SLEEP

That They Differ Is a Proof of the Adaptability of Everything in Nature.

That flowers sleep is evident to the most casual observer. The beautiful daisy opens at sunrise and closes at sunset, whence its name "day's eye." The morning glory opens its flower with the day. The "four o'clock" awakes at four o'clock in the morning, but closes its eyes in the middle of the day, and the dandelion is in full bloom only while there is strong light. The habit of some flowers is certainly curious, and furnishes one of the many instances which prove the singular adaptability of everything in nature. The reason is found in the method by which this class of flowers is fertilized, which is as follows:—

Many insects derive no advantage from being open by day; and, on the other hand, those which are fertilized by bees would gain nothing by being open at night. Nay, it would be disadvantageous, because it would render them liable to be robbed of their nectar and pollen by insects which are capable of fertilizing them. It is possible, then, that the closing of flowers may have reference to the habit of insects, and it may be observed, also, in support of this, that wind-fertilized flowers never sleep.

Blind Horses.

The manner in which blind horses get about without coming to more harm than they do is remarkable. They rarely, if ever, hit their heads against a fence or stone wall, and will sheer off when they come near one. It appears from careful observation that it is neither shade nor shelter which warns them of the danger. On an absolutely sunless and windless day their behavior is the same. Their olfactory nerves doubtless become very sensitive, for they will poke their heads downward in search of water fifty yards before they come to a stream crossing the roadway.

It cannot be an abnormally developed sense of hearing which leads them to do this, for they will act alike though the water be a stagnant pool. Men who have been blind for any great length of time develop somewhat similar instincts to blind horses.

"Catch the Dog!"

"Mrs. Howe was always thoughtful of animals. During the reign at 211 Beacon street of the little fox terrier Patch, it often fell to her lot to take him out to walk, and she felt this to be a grave responsibility.

"One day Patch ran away on Beacon street, and would not come when she called him. At this instant Doctor Holmes, passing, paused for a friendly greeting.

"'Mrs. Howe,' he said, 'I trust this fine morning—'

"'Catch the dog!' cried Mrs. Howe. One author flew one way, one the other; between them Patch was caught and brought in triumph home."—From the Life of Julia Ward Howe, by her daughters.

Women and Mice.

It is contended that woman's fear of mice arises from their being classed as vermin. The fact that rats carry disease and plague is not disputed. Mice may not be quite so dangerous. Their bites and scratches are trifling. But they carry disease and dirt, and a baby sleeping in a cradle, for instance, may suffer in consequence. Mothers have for ages been affected by this dread, and in seeking to protect their offspring from contact with mice have unconsciously, we are told, bred that feeling of nervousness which has provided the comic artist with his periodical picture.

PHILOSOPHER'S VIEW OF LIFE

Mr. Goslington Tells How Sight of Funeral Procession Brings Reflections That Uplift.

"As a rule," said Mr. Goslington, "I take a cheerful view. Perhaps when I get to be older I shall be more doleful, but it would be hard for me to be that way now. For as far as I've got life has been pretty good to me. I have had my little setbacks and now and then a real jolt, but on the whole my lot has been happy.

"True I have not accumulated a fortune, but I have had work to do and I have earned a living. I might say a comfortable living; and I have been blessed with good health. And so for me all nature smiles and men are friendly and the world is a pleasant place to live in; I take a cheerful view—as a rule.

"But I will admit that I do have spells, not of sheer despondency—I would not say that, but times when I am depressed, when things go wrong, when adverse happenings have all but discouraged me; times when I totally forget what we should in such days always remember, namely, that there never yet was a storm but cleared off some time, to leave everything bright and sunshiny as before; there are times, I say, when even I, usually so cheerful, am downcast.

"When thus oppressed I find great help in funeral processions.

"As the solemn cortege passes I cannot but reflect that I still have the one great priceless gift and blessing—life, with all its hopes and opportunities; and so, with all respect and sorrow for the dead, in this presence my own petty troubles vanish, the clouds roll back and the sun comes out clear and strong again.—New York Sun.

They are occurring every week in our midst. Can you afford to be disabled one month, two months or perhaps five years? What would your family do should a serious accident happen to you? ## VICTORY FAIR HELPS SWINE INDUSTRY

$5,500.00 IN PREMIUMS ANNOUNCED BY SECRETARY STRATTON OF STATE FAIR

Swine breeders will have every reason to feel that their industry has been given adequate attention by the Directors of the State Fair of Texas at the Victory Exposition, Secretary Stratton said a few days ago.

Premiums aggregating $5,500.00 have been offered. Enthusiasts predict that the swine industry in Texas will very soon rank among the chief money-making industries of the great Southwest. The State Fair of Texas is doing its part to hasten that day.

Many additional special prizes will be offered. Among them are the American Poland China Record Association Futurity, the Standard Poland China Record Association, the Futurity of the American Berkshire Association, the National Duroc-Jersey Record Association Futurity, and specials from the Armstrong Packing Company of Dallas, J. J. McLain of Anna, Texas, the American Tamworth Swine Record Association, the Chester White Swine Record Association, and the Flowerdale Farm of Dallas.

The American Duroc Association of Chicago is financing a promotion club show to be put on during the 1919 Victory Fair.

Entries are being made from all parts of the country. It will be a great show.

$25,000.00 BEING SPENT ON STATE FAIR GROUNDS

GROUND AND BUILDINGS SPICK AND SPAN FOR VICTORY EXPOSITION

A glimpse behind the scenes at the great State Fair of Texas was enjoyed by the writer recently in a trip over the grounds and buildings with Secretary W. H. Stratton.

First we visited the coliseum, where all was bustle and activity. Skilled workmen were busy constructing an entire new set of elaborate scenery. A new drop curtain has been painted by a well-known artist. It depicts "Victory," with soldiers marching through a Victory arch.

At the grand-stand, where the hippodrome, spectacular and pyrotechnic displays will be held, improvements are being made. About 1,000 loads of dirt are being placed, covered with gravel and macadam, so as to make a hard-surfaced walk in front of the stand. A double row of boxes, and a new band-stand are being added.

The race track is soon to be regraded for the auto races. The evacuation of Camp Dick has necessitated many repairs, alterations and improvements. The renovating will include a new coat of paint for all buildings on the grounds. A steel arch at the southern turn of Grandstand Drive is to be erected. The paint itself makes the buildings look fresh and attractive, seeming to beckon one to enter and view the wonders within the walls.

The eight buildings formerly used as barracks at Camp Dick are being remodeled for the Boys and Girls Educational Encampment, so as to provide commodious and comfortable quarters for the young folks.

SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED IN TEXAS COLLEGES

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS ENCAMPMENT AT VICTORY FAIR

The boys and girls of Texas will have greater representation than ever before, at the Victory Fair. Forty thousand boys and twenty thousand girls of the State of Texas are now competing for free entertainment there. This they are doing through their work in the Boys and Girls clubs, under the direction of the A. & M. College of Texas and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Plans are being made to house six hundred boys and three hundred and fifty girls in new commodious, comfortable quarters at the Victory Fair this fall, at the Educational Encampment.

The County Agents supervising their work report the boys are making great progress in raising corn and poultry, and the girls in poultry raising and home demonstration work.

Appreciating the vital importance of this work, scholarships in leading Texas colleges have been donated by several public-spirited Texas business concerns, as follows:

Titche-Goettinger Company, and the newly organized L. H. Lewis (Wholesale) Dry Goods Company, both of Dallas, each offer a scholarship to some girl club member, in the College of Industrial Arts at Denton.

Sears, Roebuck & Company of Texas, and T. B. Truitt (of Truitt's Improved Cottonseed) Ennis, Texas, each offer a scholarship to some boy club member, in the A. & M. College, or some of the Junior Colleges of Texas. Awards will be made to the young folks attending the Encampment at the Victory Fair.

CH DEPENDS ON ONESELF

happened to find a most entertaining old book in the free library—a dictionary of superstitions. It has three volumes, all crammed with the fears and beliefs of the human race. I set to sample some of them that apply to Monday, here are a few:

"If things commence to go wrong on Monday they will go wrong all the week, but if you have good luck on Monday you will keep it up."

"Pay no bills on Monday if you can help it."

(This is congenial advice and easily followed.)

"If you meet a cross-eyed person on Monday you will not have good luck till Thursday."

"If the sun sets clear Friday night it will rain before Monday night."

"It is a bad sign to lose a tooth on Monday."

(Yes, or a hand or a leg either, I should say.)

"If you lose your temper three times on Monday you will have a great family quarrel."

(This bit of sagacity has an excellent chance of being true, one would think. Still, there may be some men who could get away with three blow-outs and have no comeback.)

To add our own observation to the collected wisdom of the ages your Monday is neither more or less than what you choose to make it when you get out of bed in the morning. You can make it lucky or unlucky if you wish.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Ticklish, isn't it?

Is there a problem which, perhaps, is more likely to be answered some day than this one, which has been propounded to the bewilderment of scientists?

Suppose a pipe which would permit of the passage of a man's body were pierced through the earth from London to the Antipodes, and a man commenced to descend by means of a ladder running the length of the pipe. Naturally he would descend feet foremost. On reaching the center of the earth he would, on account of the revolution and formation of the globe presumably be going upwards until he emerged in the Antipodes.

Query: How can a ladder on which one is descending become a ladder on which one is ascending? And how could one go up a ladder feet foremost? Next, please!

Right Pivot.

A ducky was unloading horses and when he had the halter banks of six horses he started up the road toward camp and the stables. Just before entering camp the road turned sharply to the right; in fact, it made a right angle with its previous course.

At this point the ducky with his six halter banks experienced some difficulty in getting all the horses to make the turn and he was heard to shout: "Here, what's the matter with you all? Don't you all know how to make a turn to da right? Number one pivot! Pivot dar on de right."—Pittsburgh Courier-Telegraph.

Where is Teshchen?

This is the latest breakfast-table problem. Although the town has figured prominently in European history at various times for over a century, Lloyd George had to confess, when it was mentioned at the peace conference, that he did not know exactly where it was situated.

Nor was he alone in his lack of knowledge. It is doubtful if one person in fifty would be able to give you any information about the town.

And yet it was once the scene of a great peace conference—that of 1770 when Vergennes, the foreign minister of France, arranged the peace of Teshchen, thereby avoiding a great European war, and also, in all probability, securing the independence of the United States.

Delicate Mechanism

Despite its scope Swift & Company is a business of infinite details, requiring infinite attention.

Experienced men must know livestock buying with a knowledge of weight, price, the amount and quality of meat the live animals will yield.

Each manufacturing operation must be done with expert skill and scientific precision. A highly perishable product must be handled with speed and care to avoid loss.

Chemists, engineers, accountants, and other specialists are required to take care of our intricate problems.

Alert wisdom and judgment must be used in getting stocks of goods into the open channels of demand through our four hundred branch houses. Branch house organizations must show activity and energy to sell at the market in the face of acute competition from other large packers, and hundreds of small ones.

All these requirements of intelligence, loyalty, devotion to the task, are met in the personnel of Swift & Company. Yet the profit is only a fraction of a cent per pound with costs at minimum.

How can the workings of this delicate human mechanism be improved upon?

Do you believe that Government direction would add to our efficiency or improve the service rendered the producer and consumer?
