Group Sets Clean-Up Campaign

Civic Organizations To Lead Campaign

Promising a united effort which will lead from beer cans and unsightly entrances into our town to orderly business houses and pleasant residential area, eighteen enthusiastic civic workers gathered Monday evening at Muleshoe State Bank community room to lay plans for a "Clean-Up Campaign."

The meeting was called by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, under the leadership of Mrs. Gid Howell. Jerry Hutton, Chamber Manager, presided and offered suggestions gleaned by contacting other towns where successful clean-up campaigns have been promoted.

Hutton urged the group to carry the campaign an award winning status in the Governor's Committee Achievement contest for "Texas Communities Tomorrow", for communities of 12,000 or less. The challenge was accepted, "Muleshoe is going after this award and you can have a part in it".

Mrs. Roald Johnson was elected to head the group, Mrs. Marlin Mills as secretary, and publicity co-chairman were Gil Lamb and Mrs. Ralph Douglas.

Time for the campaign was set as from "The first day of Spring (March 21) to April 11," with April 4 and April 11 designated as special days for concerted effort.

The various clubs represented in the community betterment effort will be vying against the others and the club judged to have contributed the

1970-71 Officers Named For FOL

In action announced this week, Muleshoe Area's Friends of the Library elected officers and board members for the coming year.

Executive committee members for the 1970-1971 year include Mrs. Larry Hall, president, Jay Harbin, first vice-president; Mrs. Joe Costen, second vice-president; Mrs. Herbert Sowder, recording secretary; Mrs. Jim Small, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jim Shafer, treasurer; and Bill Loyd, Robert Hooten, Don Chahk, Mrs. D.C. DuBose, Mrs. Horace Hutton and Mrs. Jack Young.

Pending passage of the 1969 Health-Education and Welfare bill now in US House and Senate committees and federal appropriation to the Texas State Library under the national Library Services Act, matching funds have been approved by the State Library for construction of a new library building here. In September 1968 a $40,000 bond issue was approved by voters for library construction. Application for matching funds was made in October 1968.

The local FOL acts in cooperation with the trustees and librarian, serving as a liaison between the community and the trustees and library staff. FOL provides direct financial assistance to the local library and helps sponsor service programs to promote library development. Members of FOL - anyone interested in promoting the library - have been instrumental in local library development prior to moving the library from courthouse to present Ash Street library and in the four-county bookmobile program, since its inception in 1964.

The Muleshoe Area Public Library Board met Tuesday afternoon and named three new members to the Library Board. Names will be released following confirmation by the Muleshoe City Council, according to an announcement by Dave Sudduth.

Sudduth also reported that the board had adopted a library budget for the coming fiscal year. Budget details will also be announced after it is submitted to the City Council for approval.

Neal B. Dillman, superintendent of the Muleshoe Schools, encourages every citizen to visit one or all of the Muleshoe Schools during the week of March 2-6, Public Schools Week.

Tom Jinks and Fred Mardis invite everyone to attend Open Houses, Monday, March 2 from 7 to 9 p.m., at the Muleshoe High School and Muleshoe Junior High School respectively.

The Science Fairs will be held in conjunction with the Open Houses. "Over two hundred science projects will be on display in the entrance of the Junior High gym," Mr. Mardis relates.

Bill Taylor and Milton Oyler, principals of Mary DeShazo and Richland Hills Schools announce that Open Houses will be held in their respective schools on Tuesday, March 3, from 7 to 9 p.m. and that the Science Fairs will also be at this time.

"All parents and friends are invited to visit anytime during the week but a special effort is being made on these particular evenings," said the school administrators.

"Unless a people are educated and enlightened, it is idle to expect the continuance of Civil liberty or the capacity of self government." Declaration of Independence, March 2, 1836.

"116 years ago, Texas Schools began a climb that today makes them some of the finest in the nation. This year, March 2nd through 6th, parents, relatives, and friends of students are urged to visit a public school to see first hand the strides that Texas public education has made.

"Texas Masons have been largely responsible for the recognition granted Texas Public Schools. Masonic Lodges throughout Texas have been active since the early 1800's in achieving education for everyone in the state. Today, Masonic Lodges are the force behind the action in promoting Texas Public Schools' Week.

"But the Masons can only initiate. Your support is essential and will be appreciated; if you're a parent, friend, or relative of a student, show your interest in him and his school. You're invited to Texas Public Schools Week at the school nearest you March 2nd through 6th," concluded Dillman.

is a major cattle producing country.

He commented that Indonesia is actually 13,000 separate islands where 200 different languages are spoken. According to the veterinarian, Indonesia obtained its independence in 1945 after 300 years of Dutch occupation.

During the years of Dutch occupation, there were no native landowners, and following their independence, the islands were divided into plots or acreages of land equally among the island residents. Although the cattle production on the islands is the major industry, the islanders raise several crops, chiefly rice. Other grain crops produced are corn or maize, grain sorghum, wheat and soybeans. Corn has become the favored crop, being the second crop grown after rice.

In Indonesia, according to Ranah, food is the first thing considered for land, and then the land is utilized commercially. He added that Indonesia has 28,000,000 cows in the eastern part, with the consumers living in western Indonesia. Their land is much overgrazed, and he has studies processes in the U.S. that he hopes to use partially to help alleviate the overgrazing problem in his country.

A committee was appointed to meet with City officials, with Clarence Christian to serve as chairman; Mrs. Roald Johnson, Mrs. Creston Faver and R.A. Bradley.

is belief in God, and 90 percent of the population is Moslem; second is democracy and third is social justice; fourth is nationality and Ranah did not relate the fifth principle.

He said he is Balinese and his wife is Japanese. When asked how his children would be raised, in what religion as he is Hindu and his wife is Moslem, he said they would not be restricted as long as they believe in God. He and his wife have three sons, ages seven, five and four.

He said "We try our best to do the best we can in our country," and added that since achieving independence, Indonesian government is based on the democratic principle, with a president. He said there are 25 provinces since New Guinea became part of the country of Indonesia on September 1, 1969.

The veterinarian was most observant during the show and asked many questions concerning the various cattle operations. He indicated much interest in the swine show and closely watched the show swine and inquired as to what breed and other pertinent information.

He leaves Plainview on February 28 for Hawaii where he will stay for a week, then will go to Japan and the Philippines before returning to his home on the Island of Bali.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.--A sharp cut in welfare and medical assistance payments, to be effective April 1, was announced by the State Board of Public Welfare.

Board said the unprecedented increase in assistance rolls, the decrease in federal medical aid funds and the constitutional spending ceiling required an average $11 a month cut in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program and a 20 percent slash in medical aid.

Board member Louis R. Sarazan of Ft. Worth said there is no alternative.

Sarazan and board member W. Kendall Baker of Houston warned that further cuts may be in the offing before the end of the fiscal period next year.

Board ordered the lowering of AFDC payments from 75 percent to 66 percent of budget needs. Average AFDC family now draws $120.37 a month. Reduction would reduce this to $109.54.

Earliest and loudest protest came from Texas nursing home operators who claimed medical aid outlay shrinkage would put 95 percent of them out of business.

Texas Nursing Home Association termed the situation of "crisis" proportions and urged Gov. Preston Smith to take immediate action to summon lawmakers into special session for emergency appropriations.

Texas Medical Association charged the federal government has "promised more than it can deliver" in the health care area and is, in effect, asking providers of services to take a loss.

LAND PROGRAM FOLDS

Texas' 20-year-old veterans land program has folded. Through it more than 41,000 Texas veterans had purchased under low-interest, long-term-pay provisions. It was a victim of high interest rates.

Veterans land board said that since the prime interest rate has been raised to eight and scientific manner of working are the major points stressed in the rule.

Committee deleted from its rules a proposal that beachcombers and arrowhead hunters would have to get state permits. They will, however, be required to make reports on their discoveries. Explorers would be required to stop work immediately once a permit is cancelled.

First permit went to the lower Plains Archeological Society for a salvage project at Big Spring, West Texas State University has agreed to sponsor the project.

APPOINTMENTS

Marvin Shurbert of Petersburg was named chairman of Texas Water Development Board by Governor Smith.

Smith also announced these recent appointments:

COLLEGE MONEY

Coordinating Board, Texas

College and University System has voted to cut back on requests for increased higher education funds.

Board adopted a four percent faculty salary increase for the 1972-73 biennium. But this was below the 7.9 percent increase recommended by the Board's staff and the 8.1 percent increase requested by the institutions.

Staff asked for $206.3 million more for state senior colleges over the biennium, apart from salary increases. Board approved $166.8 million in additional funds.

STATE KINDERGARTEN

Texas Education Agency has begun working out the details of setting up state-supported kindergarten programs in all Texas public schools. Last Legislature authorized implementation of the program in a stall-step approach over the next seven years, with under privileged children having first chance.

TEA said the major problem is finding 1,500 kindergarten teachers for the 1970-71 school year and 7,000 teachers by 1977-78. They estimate it will cost the state $10 million the first year to implement the program.

JOB PROJECT LAUNCHED

New public service careers projects seeks to open job opportunities in government to disadvantaged Texans and upgrade skills of state employees.

Governor Smith asked 12 key state agencies to cooperate, emphasizing a mutual policy of non-discrimination regardless of racial backgrounds or sex.

U.S. Department of Labor training funds are sought for Texas.

Smith expressed concern that over one fourth of the state's employees are separated from their jobs each year, while the positions remain vacant for months and half a million Texans seek work opportunities.

Texas Soybean Association To Meet Soon

"Maximizing soybean income through the use of new practices and improved quality and marketing" is the theme for the third annual meeting of the Texas Soybean Association.

R.J. Hodges, Extension agronomist at Texas A&M University, said the meeting will be held at the Hale County Agricultural Center, Plainview, February 24. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. and the call to order will come an hour later. W.B. Tilson of Plainview is president of the association.

Soybean research and production specialists from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service will present information which should be of interest to every soybean grower in Texas, Hodges said.

John Seibert, Extension grain marketing specialist, will discuss the "Economic Outlook for Soybeans." Dr. Raymond Brigham from the Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock will outline "Soybean Research in Texas" and "Weed Control" is the subject for Dr. Allen Wiese from the USDA's Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland.

Leon New, area irrigation specialist and James H. Valentine, area soil chemist, both from Lubbock and the Extension Service, will present latest findings on irrigating and fertilizing soybeans. Before the noon break, Dr. Douglas Owen from the High Plains Research Foundation, Halfway, will speak on "Russian Sunflowers--Soybeans" Competition." Owen traveled in Russia during last summer and will discuss many of his first-hand observations.

At 1 p.m., Executive Vice President Chet Randolph, American Soybean Association, Hudson, Iowa, will address the group. Hodges said, Randolph is one of the nation's best informed industry leaders and will tell it like it is.

Following the Randolph address, Carl M. Carter, associate Extension agronomist, Plainview, will show a film, "Run for the Money" which illustrates how to prevent harvesting losses. Adjournment will follow the annual business meeting.

Muleshoe, Texas

Unless a recent decision is reversed, a goodly number of cotton farmers in 15 Texas counties, 10 of them on the High Plains, are going to be hopping mad at the U.S. Department of Agriculture. And rightly so.

USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service last November gave these farmers official notice of their projected yields for cotton -- the number of pounds on which they'd receive price support payments in 1970 at the rate of 16.8 cents per pound.

Now, based on a decision made in College Station February 10, the State ASCS Committee says it will tell these farmers the November notice was in error and that their projected yields for 1970 will have to be reduced.

Involved will be some, but not all farmers in Bailey, Briscoe, Cochran, Crosby, Floyd, Gaines, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock and Terry counties on the Plains. Other counties that will get hurt are Kent, Runnels, San Patricio, Tom Green and Wilbarger.

To a farmer with a 100 acre domestic allotment, a reduction of his projected yield by 100 pounds per acre means a reduction of his income by $16.80 per acre or a total of $1,680.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. is roundly protesting the action directly to State and Federal officials of ASCS and through Congressman George Mahon, Senator John Tower and others in Washington, Congressmen Mahon, Bob Price and Bob Poage are known to be taking an active interest in the matter. PCG is also looking into the possibility there may be grounds for legal action by affected farmers to recover damages.

Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, points out that cotton farmers since 1965 have based many of their plans for the succeeding year on the income they could expect from price support payments, figured from projected yield notices mailed to them in the Fall. They have learned to look on their "PY notices" as no less than a firm commitment from the Secretary of Agriculture that they could depend on a payment equal to the assigned projected yield times their domestic allotment times the rate of payment for that year.

And, since never before had the Secretary broken faith with them, many of the farmers involved have doubtless figured the amount of their cotton payment income for 1970, based on the projected yield assigned in November of 1969, and have committed that expected income through various types of contractual arrangements. And, unlike USDA, these are commitments the farmer can't back out on.

Virtually all have by now made arrangements at the bank or elsewhere for production loans. Loans that will have to be repaid this Fall whether or not USDA lives up to its commitments.

Some, no doubt, have made rental contracts with landlords that call for a cash payment for each acre of land to be farmed. These landlords, if they haven't already been paid, will want their money before the year is out.

Others have either bought or leased cotton acreage from other farmers, depending on their cotton payment to help offset the cost of the lease or the price paid for the allotment.

These leases or purchases of allotments had to be completed by December 31 of 1969, and the terms of the contracts signed will have to be met whether USDA makes payments on the projected yield USDA decides later would be "more equitable."

Also, allotments are bought and leased by the pound. A farmer with a 500 pound projected yield has to buy two acres of allotment from a farm with a 250 pound yield in order to get one acre. But if the situation is reversed and the farm to which cotton acres are to be transferred has a lower projected yield, there is no adjustment. The leasing or buying farmer in this case, in effect, has to pay for 500 pounds to get 250 pounds, or one acre.

Consider the case of the farmer who paid 8 cents per pound on a 100 acre allotment. If both farmers have a 500 pound projected yield, he will be paying $40 per acre for his additional cotton acreage. But if USDA, after the lease is completed, decides to lower from 500 pounds to 250 pounds the projected yield on the farm to which the acreage is being transferred, then the lessee gets only 50 acres instead of the 100 acres he contracted to pay for. Put another way, the lessee winds up paying not 8 cents but 16 cents per pound for the cotton allotment he agreed to lease.

ASCS gives a couple of reasons for the pending reduction of projected yields. One has to do with a revised procedure for appealing projected yields for farmers who were completely hauled out or suffered a total crop loss from some other disaster in one or more of the years 1966, 1967 or 1968.

The new regulation permits these farmers to substitute their 1970 projected yield for the year in which the crop was lost in computing their three year actual yield average. The change was good, it made projected yields more realistic. But it left some counties with insufficient pounds to make the required adjustments.

Secondly, the State ASCS Committee says county ASCS offices in some instances failed to withhold enough pounds in reserve for making adjustments for those farmers who were able to prove a yield higher than that assigned by the Committee.

The entire procedure for arriving at projected yields has always been somewhat complicated. And it hasn't always been easy to administer in a way that would be equitable to all counties and all farmers. Nevertheless, projected yields are a part of the law under which farmers have been operating since 1965.

But now the State Committee is saying in some counties where there is not enough poundage to cover "projected" yields, that the farmer is to be given his "actual" yield for 1966, 1967 and 1968.

Sugar Beet Nitrogen 'Critical'

The 1969 sugar beet harvest has been disappointing in many respects with one of the primary problems being low sugar percentage. Disease and climatic factors along with excessive nitrogen rates are considered largely responsible for this low sugar content.

Climatic conditions including excessive rainfall such as occurred last fall are beyond the control of the producer. On the other hand, diseases can be effectively controlled and fertilizer use practices that are in line with the crop's requirement can be largely controlled through a carefully planned and managed fertilizer program.

Sugar beets continue to take up nitrogen from the soil as long as they are growing when available nitrogen is present in the root zone, points out Jim Valentine, area soil chemist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. If nitrogen is present in appreciable amounts as the crop is maturing, the root grows, new leaves develop and the sugar produced in the leaves is used with the nitrogen in the growth process. Nitrogen must become deficient in the plant before a significant amount of sugar can be stored in the root.

One of the factors affecting high nitrogen levels in the soil at the time of maturity is the application of too much nitrogen in the rotation previous to or just preceding the beet crop. The incorporation of high rates of residue or manure can also be responsible for releasing available nitrogen late in the season just when it isn't needed. For this reason growing beets after alfalfa is not desirable.

Excessive nitrogen cannot be offset by adding increased rates of phosphorus or potassium to achieve a "balanced" nutrient situation, adds Valentine. Beets absorb only a certain amount of phosphorus and potassium but continue to feed excessively on nitrogen.

Near the end of the 1969 growing season the Extension Service, working with the Soil Conservation Service in Deaf Smith County, collected soil samples in depth increments to 36 inches. Nitrate values determined in the Extension Soil Testing Laboratory in Lubbock were found to be negatively correlated with the percent sugar in most of the 15 study sites. In other words, sites having the higher soil nitrate values produced the lowest percent sugar.

Valentine stresses that this preliminary study offers no basis for recommending nitrogen rates for the 1970 crop. However, where nitrate accumulation is detected by soil tests, the 1970 rate of nitrogen should be reduced or in some instances possibly omitted. Accumulations in isolated cases may warrant selection of another production site.

Research on fertilizer rates has been conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station each year since 1964. However, due in part to the various rotation systems and previous fertilizer programs, insufficient data does not permit the Extension Soil Testing Laboratory to make nitrogen rate recommendations with confidence. This work continues.

While excessive nitrogen rates are to be avoided, rates should be sufficient for adequate tonnage with a desirable percent sugar. Proper adjustment of fertilizer in the rotation can result in a crop with a satisfactory sugar content and high tonnage of the mutual benefit of both the grower and the processing company.

Valentine concluded by saying that a soil test for nitrate and phosphorus can be a very useful guide for making fertilizer use decisions for sugar beets although soil test values have not been nearly so well correlated with the sugar beet as they have for other field crops.

New Camaro. Feb. 26th.

We've never announced a car at this time before. But then nobody's ever announced a car like this before.

Super Hugger

If it were an ordinary sportster, we'd have introduced it at the ordinary time. Instead, we took the time to build a whole new Camaro.

We started with a sleek new shape and a low road-hugging stance.

And added more hood. A faster fastback. Wider doors. And new deeply contoured bucket seats.

The instrument panel wraps around you. With enough dials to make you think you're piloting a 747.

There are four transmissions. And six power plants up to the Turbo-Jet 396 V8 that you can order.

Pick the one that best suits your driving. Then go pick on an open road.

And make it one with plenty of twisting turns. Because Camaro has a remarkable new suspension. And standard front disc brakes for a leech-like grip on the road.

New Camaro. The Super Hugger.

Other sportsters always feared it might come to this.

And they were right. Only their timing was wrong.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

LAZBUDDIE SCHOOLS LONGHORN STAMPEDE

By Mike Casey

The South Plains College Dome was the sight of the 5-B basketball playoff between Hart and Lazbuddie February 13. Lazbuddie and Hart were forced into a playoff because of their identical district records (9-1).

Lazbuddie won the contest 44-41 and as the score indicates the winners didn't have an easy time of it. Although Lazbuddie led the entire game, Hart outscored Lazbuddie in every quarter except the first. At half-time Lazbuddie was out in front 28-21 and at the end of the first quarter it was 11-3. Midway through the third quarter Lazbuddie found itself in foul trouble and found it wise to stall the ball on Hart. The decision proved to be correct because at the end of the game two Lazbuddie players had four fouls and three players had three fouls. Derrell Matthews and Mike Casey captured high-point honors for Lazbuddie as each picked up 11 points. Monte Barnes was the second leading scorer for the winners, picking up 10 points. Leading Hart's scorers were Ricky Farris with 14 and Jim Averitt with 13.

Three Way will be Lazbuddie's opponent for the Bi-district game which will be played March 2 in the South Plains College Dome. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

On February 17, Lazbuddie traveled to Farwell to take on the Farwell Steers in a practice game. Farwell is champion of district 3-A and is a powerhouse in class A basketball year after year. They have defeated many AA and AAA teams throughout the season. They were defeated by a score of 44-43. This was the least number of points Farwell had been held to all year and they were behind throughout the entire game. Monte Barnes led the Longhorn attack with 19 points and Charles Lee was second with 10 points. Dean Stovall and Gene Sheets were credited with 12 points for the Steers.

The next practice game for the Horns was with the Booker Kiowas. The Longhorns and Kiowas battled at Dumas and it was the Longhorns that came away with a victory. Lazbuddie won 44-38. Gail Morris put 13 points through the hoop to lead Lazbuddie scorers. Charles Lee picked up 11 points and Monte Barnes 10 to help with the win. James McQuitty collected 11 points to lead Book-er.

Basketball-The Delayed Game

by Pat Casey

There is one phase of Basketball that the average fan doesn't comprehend, and that is the delayed game or sometimes referred to as a stall. Actually a good Delayed Game can be the best offensive weapon a team has, if the scoring opportunity is installed. It takes a fine player to run the Delayed Game.

Advantages of the Delayed Game:

1. Your players in foul trouble are less apt to draw another if they control the ball.
2. The pressure is on your opponent and they might draw that 4th or 5th foul that changes their style of play.
3. It forces a team that is strictly a zone team to come out and play you man to man. Quite often they play very poor man to man defense. An example of this was in our play off game with Hart. They came out and picked us up man to man, but in trying to match our speed they had to bench a 6'6" boy as he couldn't keep up with our 6'2" boy. This in turn helped us when they did get the ball as the 6'6" boy had taken alot of rebounds and his 5'11" replacement couldn't compete with us on the boards.
4. With the defense scattered all over the floor, the chance of a lay-up is most likely.
5. It demoralizes the fast, run and shoot team. The slow pace simply ruins their timing. Their excuse for a poor performance, is usually "We just didn't shoot as well as we did last night when we won 98-70."

"Our Farwell game was an example of this. If we had run and shot with them, they would have beaten us badly. Instead we won 44-43.

6. It builds confidence in your boys and they feel they have an ace in the hole if things are getting tough.

7. If a team is going to double our score, I'd rather get beaten 2-1 than 100-50.

Disadvantages of the Delayed Game:

1. Fans would rather see the ball shot more often and from outside.
  2. It doesn't allow as much personal glory.
  3. If a team happens to be missing their free shots after making their opponents foul in order to get the ball, they will get beat.
- It all adds up to this: Make them play our game and win 44-43 or play their game of run and shoot and get beat by 30 points. I prefer to win.

Tax Man Sam Sez

February 22 is not only the birthday of the Father of our Country, it is also the midpoint between January 1 and April 15. Although many taxpayers have taken advantage of the 52 days before February 22 to file their 1969 income tax return, at least 30 percent--and probably 1/3--won't take advantage of at least 50 of the 52 days between February 22 and April 15. There are far too many taxpayers who cost themselves money by crowding the income tax filing deadline and then forgetting many of their deductions as well as making other errors in their last minute rush to beat the deadline.

If you didn't celebrate George's birthday with your income tax filing chore behind you, it will pay to take advantage of the many figuring days you have left, rather than joining the 11:59 p.m. club on April 15. Internal Revenue will appreciate not having to correct those last minute errors you would make and you will enjoy keeping the money you didn't owe.

George Bush Speaks On Federal Spending

It is interesting to note that some pressure groups who want to increase federal spending argue that we must take funds out of the defense budget and apply them to domestic programs. They claim too much is being spent on the war and not enough on cures for our social ills at home.

The fact of the matter is, however, that the 1971 budget President Nixon submitted to Congress this week reveals a glaring error in this attitude. In point of fact, the military has already been cut and there isn't much left which can be safely reduced.

The 1971 Defense budget proposed this week is down $5.8 billion while all other federal outlays have increased by $8.6 billion. This fact alone is enough to belie the erroneous and frequently used charge that defense spending continues to rise while domestic programs are starved.

It is very significant, I think, that defense spending as a percentage of the overall budget has been going down rather dramatically over the last several years. At the same time, the percentage of the budget allocated for human resources has been dramatically on the increase. In 1961, the percent-

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reports on a new discovery this week.

People are always saying "history will record so and so," forgetting that history is mostly what some self-appointed historians claim it is, but nonetheless I got to speculating the other day on what history will record as the most important event in the past 10 years.

Landing on the moon? Discovering pollution? Anti-ballistic missiles? Airplanes that hold 500 people? Color television? Discovering some vaccine we haven't even heard about yet?

As outstanding as these things are, they won't compare with something I read on page 14 in a newspaper last night.

According to it, a manufacturer has perfected and is now offering for sale men's socks guaranteed to last a lifetime. That's right. He says he guarantees they'll never wear out and if they do he'll replace them with a new pair free. He guarantees them against everything except losing them in the laundry or having them pulled off the clothes line by a playful dog.

Now I haven't seen any of these socks and can't vouch for them but it's the idea that appeals to me.

It never had occurred to me before, but say the average man or boy wears out a dozen pairs of socks a year. With a hundred million makes in this country, that's 12 hundred million pairs, or 24 hundred million socks thrown away each year. No small item of pollution in itself.

But in addition to the anti-pollution side effects, it's a giant stride in the right direction. In this modern society of ours things don't last long enough. Everything wears out too soon. Think of the huge amounts of money the world can save if some day not only socks can be handed down from father to son but also shirts, suits, automobile tires, guided missiles, paved highways, television tubes, water faucets, hydrogen bombs and all those other things man is always tinkering with and producing new models of, when any of them ought to last forever.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.
