Bond Election Interest Grows

$950,000 Issue Faces County Vote

In an effort to ward off the possible loss of one or more of the three Muleshoe doctors practicing at this time, and to secure additional doctors, in addition to acquiring modern up-to-date hospital facilities and equipment, an election has been set for Saturday, May 16.

The election was called during a regular meeting of the Provisional Directors of the Bailey County Hospital District last week. The election will be to decide the formation of a Bailey County Hospital District and voter approval for a $950,000 bond issue for building and equipping a new hospital in Bailey County. The local bond issue would be matched by a Hill-Burton grant.

In 1969, the Texas Legislature passed a bill which would allow the Bailey County Hospital District to exist. This was done in the event funds for building a hospital could not be obtained through other agencies and following more than two years of study and checking, the hospital district seemed to be the only way possible to secure the needed facility for the county.

The provisional directors and interested individuals had checked the possibility of obtaining funds from Housing and Urban Development (HUD) but that possible door was closed when the federal government changed their policy and eliminated the chance of obtaining funds from that particular government agency.

It was deemed necessary to build a new hospital to eliminate some of the problems in the existing hospital and add more comprehensive and modern equipment.

Providing some of the incentive for a new facility include having intensive care rooms, recovery rooms, eliminating narrow corridors and rooms too small to provide effective working room.

Provided would be a tax structure to pay off the bond issue. The directors set the tax rate at 50 cents per $100 valuation on a $32,000,000 assessment in compliance with a ruling by the attorney general. The hospital district would be a separate taxing entity, with all assessments and collections being handled by a tax collector for the hospital district.

Absentee voting is slated to begin on April 27 and will conclude on May 12. Absentee ballots may be obtained at the office of County Clerk Hazel

At presstime Wednesday, John Woodard, who was injured in an automobile accident on Sunday night, April 5, was still receiving treatment at Lubbock Methodist Hospital.

Vietnam Veteran Muleshoe Speaker

Holding his audience spellbound, Captain James Pitts of the Army Information Service from Fort Bliss, told of his tour in Vietnam as he lived it, in 1969. Capt. Pitts spoke to a group at an open meeting of Ben Richardson Post 403 of the American Legion in Muleshoe Monday night. Around 35 people attended the meeting and watched slides and heard a narration of the country which is Vietnam and the people who inhabit Vietnam.

Jerrell Ottwell, commander of the Muleshoe American Legion, introduced Capt. Pitts after Morris Nowlin, Veterans Service Officer, introduced special guests from Lubbock. The Lubbock visitors were Mrs. Morris Moyers, 19th District President of the Auxiliary of the American Legion; Morris Moyers, George S. Berry Post 575 Commander of Lubbock and Florence Highsmith, Post Adjutant of the George Berry Post 575 of Lubbock.

Using no written notes, the captain told of Vietnam and the Vietnam War as he and the men in his command in a tank division lived it during his year

Voting Boxes Unchanged For May 2 Primary

Democratic County Chairman Harvey Bass said that through the May 2 primary, voting boxes are unchanged.

The chairman commented that although persons may live inside the precinct boundary lines as restricted on January 19, they will vote in the same box as they have in past elections.

For instance, although they may be voting for Commissioner in precinct four under the new precinct boundary lines, they will vote in Box One-A if that is the box they always voted in.

Persons who formerly voted in Box One will continue to vote in Box One at the courthouse even if they now reside in Precinct Two.

Voting boxes will be: One, courthouse; One-A, old city hall building; Two, West Camp Baptist Church; Three, Three Way School; Four, Bula School and Five, Needmore community building.

Bass said he has maps of the new boundary lines for both the City of Muleshoe and the entire county and will explain voting procedures to anyone who will stop by his store requesting such information.

in the war torn country. "I am not here to sell Vietnam to you," he began, "Nor am I here to sell the Army to you, I am here to tell you of the country where I served from January 1969 to January 1970."

Using slides which portrayed the first sight of the Vietnamese coast on arrival, through bunkers, barracks, makeshift showers, mess halls, tank rays and general Vietnamese life, Captain Pitts narrated his story.

He showed slides of the varied Vietnamese landscape, from rather dry, dusty brush-riden plains to sheer mountains, rivers, sampans, and modern war-

Area Clean-up To Continue Through April

Due to inclement weather which hampered clean-up operations around Muleshoe for the first two weeks of the campaign, Chairman Mrs. Buck Johnson has announced that the campaign will continue through the month of April.

Friday, March 20, was opening day of the clean-up campaign and it was originally to conclude on Saturday, April 11. Mrs. Johnson said many service and civic organizations have been working on the campaign and plan to continue through this month.

Neighborhood committee chairmen have been named and they will contact individual home owners asking their cooperation during the campaign.

Muleshoe area residents - young and old - are invited to come to an area-wide "Pops" concert to be given in the Muleshoe High School Auditorium Sunday, April 19, at 3:30 p.m.

Performing will be the Amarrillo Symphony orchestra under the direction of Dr. Thomas Dowd Hoshstad.

Arthur Fiedler has commended the well-known Panhandle orchestra as "The best community orchestra in the country", so it certainly will be worth the short drive to Muleshoe for an outstanding area cultural event of the season, sponsors add.

Locally, tickets may be obtained from the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce. Prices are $2 for adults and $1.50 for students. There are no reserved seat tickets; they are being sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

The sparkling program just announced to delight all ages will include popular Broadway show tunes such as Love Theme from "Romeo and Juliet", Rodgers-Bennett's "South Pacific", Britten's "Matinee Musical" as well as the lovely Waltz of the Flowers from "Nutcracker Suite" by Tchaikowsky. ### Three Way Welcomed A Former Student

"Each place I lived was home, and still is," and with those words the New York Jets' wide receiver Don Maynard, received the welcome of his former classmates and neighbors at Three Way Saturday night.

Maynard reminisced with more than 200 people who attended the athletic banquet at the Three Way School Saturday night, and proved that he remembered as he called various persons in the attentive audience by their name during his informal talk.

In his 13th year as a professional football player, the last 10 for the Jets, Maynard spoke of his young life in the Stegall-Three Way community and philosophized a bit on how he became "the local boy who did good."

"A word which can be spelled 27 different ways, and can be said in many more ways can make all the difference in the world in a young person's life," he emphasized, as he told of his wife and his own daughter, 11 and eight year old son. "The word is 'love' and that word and action is missing or lacking in much of the school

Extensive Program Conducted Locally

Drive around through the business district in Muleshoe and wander in and out of a few of the various business and professional establishments. You will be surprised at the vast amount of remodeling being done in many places.

First National Bank is in the process of remodeling the inside of the bank, said President M. D. Gunstream. Included in the program is repainting the inside walls, new carpet, including in the lobby area, new furniture and new drapes.

Joe Pat Wagon of White's Cashway Grocery said their remodeling program includes updating fixtures, shelving and display areas. New checking stands have been installed, and a general improvement through painting and paneling walls, improvements to the office and a new outside sign.

Recently completed is a remodeling and renovating operation at St. Clair's Department Store. Walls were paneled, fixtures were antiqued, new displays added, a check-out stand was centrally located and rebuilt.

More inside space has been added to L and H Grocery said operator, Ogle Lorraine. The front was enlarged, new check-out stand added, a newly tiled floor, new gondola trim on the outside and added parking on the west side of the store.

Floyd Rutherford, operator of Central Texaco, said an extensive renovation operation is being conducted at the service station. Included is remodeling both inside and outside the station. New floors and bays are being installed, with rock trim being added to the outside in several locations and a new roof has been added to the station. Paint will be a light green and black.

City Council Agenda Light For Meeting

The Muleshoe City Council met Tuesday morning and had a relatively light agenda facing them. Mayor Pro-tem Alex Williams presided in the absence of Mayor Irvin St. Clair. Councilmen present for the meeting were Kenneth Heathington, Lyndal Murray and Frank Ellis. Others attending were City Manager Albert Field, City Secretary June Smallwood and Cleta Williams.

Park improvements were discussed with Field being given the authority to go ahead and apply for federal matching funds for improving the new city park. Payment for travel expenses was approved for Rev. Walter Bartholf, park and recreation board chairman, and payment to David Jones for drawing the master plan for the park was also approved.

Breakins; Vandalism Keep Officers Busy

Vandals and burglars had a field day (or night) in the county over the weekend as several places were "hit" Friday and Saturday nights in Muleshoe and the Circleback community.

Sheriff Dee Clements said first reports of weekend mishaps came in Saturday morning.

Gore Grocery of Circleback reported an attempted burglary. A spokesman for the grocery said a person or persons knocked part of a side-wall out of the store then went to the front and knocked a panel out of the chainlocked door. When they entered the store an alarm was tripped, so the prospective burglars left emptyhanded.

While investigating the grocery damage, Sheriff Clements received a call of a tractor being shot up four miles south and a mile east of Circleback. Jerry Ray reported a tractor cab was shot up, headlights shot out and dirt in the radiator and diesel tank. A large crescent wrench was missing from the tractor.

Members of the sheriff's office and city police department spent a major part of Sunday investigating three instances of burglary and vandalism in Muleshoe.

Howard's Fruit Market on East American Blvd. reported that someone had entered the store through a side window over the vegetable display case. Taken by the intruders were 10 pounds of hot sausage; two slabs of bacon; one ten pound piece of bologna; five pounds of pressed ham; five pounds of square cheese; three sticks of summer sausage; several packages of cut cheese and feel." Maynard, on a serious vein, urged people to look at themselves in the mirror and take a survey and explained that he is a proponent of the fact "you get out of life what you put into it."

Maynard spoke feelingly of his wife, children and his mother, and told how much they had meant in his life, encouraging people to put more of themselves into life "as you don't get anywhere without a little bit of sacrifice."

Ranging from humorous when talking about his life with the Jets, to serious, as he told of his convictions, Maynard captured an attentive audience throughout the evening.

Maynard attended Three Way School during his junior high school years. While attending school at Three Way, he started wearing number '13' on his football jersey, the number he still wears as a member of the Jets.

Preceding his informal talk, he showed a film of the highlights of the 1968 season with the Jets.

Three Way Superintendent Dan Rankin gave the invocation to begin the banquet and Rhonda Dupler extended the welcome to special guests. A local group, The Melodyaires, entertained during the meal and Three Way Coach Bud Gray introduced Maynard.

Following a question and answer session, Maynard stayed after the banquet to renew acquaintances with people he had known for many years.

ter purification plants, such as one pictured at Saigon were discussed. Palm leaf thatched roof hovels to high rise modern homes in the Saigon area showed the widespread lives of the Vietnamese people.

American innovations such as water purification in villages, schools and sanitation were shown.

The informative program was not along the fighting war and bloody lines, although it was covered briefly. The captain showed slides and played a tape of radio conversations during a brief skirmish by his tank command. He explained the difficulty in spotting Viet Cong, who he explained were Vietnamese who lived in South Vietnam and were members of the communist party. He said they had identification papers and worked during the day. At night, they infiltrated military installations and village homes, spreading their terrorism across South Vietnam. The NVA (North Vietnam Army) wear uniforms and are easy to recognize, he emphasized.

Capt. Pitts conducted a question and answer session following the general narration and aptly fielded all questions asked. He knew most of the answers, but in the few instances where he did not know the answer, he said he did not know.

know. One notable thing brought out during the question and answer session was the fact that the Vietnam war has no defined front lines. He said the war is a guerrilla type war with small groups hitting and running.

The captain has three other scheduled appearances in Muleshoe this month. Today, Thursday, he will speak over KMUL Radio at 11 a.m. and will talk to the Muleshoe Jenny Tops at 7:30 p.m. On April 28, he will address Llano Estacado Civic Club.

Apparently using the roof to gain entry through an air conditioning duct, intruders entered Cobbs Department Store sometime Saturday night, and although nothing was found to be missing, heavy damage was inflicted through vandalism.

Deputy Sheriff Pete Black said assistant manager of Cobbs, Tommy Black, found the damage shortly after 3 p.m. Sunday and reported it to officers.

Damaged were glass display shelves and display counters. Broken figurines littered the floor of the establishment and shoe polish, aftershave lotion and nail polish was distributed indiscriminately over shelves, clothing, pillows and bed linen in the store. Mannequins were knocked down and most of the damage was in the men and boy's section of the store reported the deputy.

Western Auto was entered through a back door sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning, but nothing was reported to be missing.

Investigation is continuing by city and county officers with no arrests as yet but several suspects have been questioned in the incidents.

The Texas State Health Department has provided the vaccine for the school children and the Bailey County Health Department and Muleshoe Clubs and civic organizations have provided the necessary vaccine for the pre-schoolers as a contribution.

Although the shots will be given free, a contribution box will be set up at each clinic site for those wishing to contribute toward the $1.40 cost for pre-schoolers.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.—State Welfare costs may go up sharply next year if Congress passes a new medical bill.

State Senate Committee on Welfare reform heard estimates that Medicaid amendments alone will require at least $25.9 million in additional state outlays during the coming biennium.

Burton G. Hackney, State Welfare Commissioner, predicts President Nixon's Family Assistance Plan of legislation might cost Texas a minimum of $22 million more each year and double the number of children on state aid rolls.

Senate committee heard estimates that Medicaid changes will add more than $6.2 million to the state's obligations for the present biennium.

While welfare officials are now optimistic over being able to continue present program levels until the next legislative sessions, they will, at best, be in debt $13.5 million come January. That's the amount Gov. Preston Smith transferred to welfare from medical school construction funds to head off the scheduled April 1 cut in payments to the needy.

If rough estimates presented the committee are correct, the legislature will be looking at an increase of $70 million for new programs during the next fiscal period—not to mention another $20 million "catch-up" money carrying over from the current biennium.

If Congress places mental retardation under new limitations for inpatient services, the state could end up with another $9 million a year in new obligations, plus $8.2 million in unexpected expenses for the present fiscal period.

SCHOOL FUND
Largest single piece of income for the Texas permanent school fund, $139 million, has been assured. After 11 months of discussion, School Land Board accepted a unitization agreement on the huge new sulphur deposit found in Culberson County by the Duval Corporation of Houston. Deposit is the second largest in the world. It contains 81 million long tons of sulphur. Agreement involves the drilling of 6,000 wells.

High bids on public school land oil and gas leases totaled $3.1 million, representing an average of $36.84 an acre. Twenty-two per cent of the acreage sold was in El Paso and Hudspeath counties. Land lying in Loving and Ward counties brought a bid of $120,006, topping all others.

Second highest bid of $113,040 was on a 1,440-acre tract of submerged coastal lands in Jefferson County.

Third highest was $110,053 for 411 acres in Reeves County. Receipts from the sale boosted the permanent school fund to $839.6 million, for total increase of nearly 86 per cent in last decade.

Drinking 'Fun' Kills

How long does the fun last? The Texas Safety Association says: Not long—if you drive too soon after drinking alcoholic beverages.

The more alcohol there is in the blood, the longer you must wait until you can drive safely. On the average, it takes one hour for each bottle of beer or each ounce of whiskey to be eliminated by the body.

Even if you seem to be able to hold your liquor—your driving ability is greatly impaired during this period.

"How did the Smith wedding go off?"
"Fine, until the parson asked the bride if she'd obey her husband."
"What happened then?"
"She replied, 'Do you think I'm crazy?' and the groom who was in a sort of daze, replied, 'I do.'"

The Gilley family cooked up a surprise dinner and birthday party for their mother, who lives at 108 E. Avenue E., Saturday, the 11th was her birthday.

From four states on a finely timed schedule, they converged on her Muleshoe home with gifts and love offerings. Mrs. Gilley said her only son, from Iuka, Kansas, arrived earlier than the others. He parked his car within sight of her home, waited until the others drove up, and joined the group to greet her when she opened the door.

Two daughters, unable to make the trip, called her. They are Mrs. Joyce Goss of Duncan, Okla., and Mrs. Eva Vanmehelen of Detroit, Mich.

"The table was laden with food of every kind, and even a large birthday cake," she said. "Such a birthday. So nice."

Homemaker Dinner

Frosting was applied to Mrs. Billy Williams' cake, Friday evening, and 94 others got to lick the spoon. She was acclaimed "Conservation Homemaker of the Year" and a buffet dinner in Fellowship Hall, First United Methodist Church. A plaque award will remind her of the event in the future. Plaques also were given to Mrs. Eugene Shaw and Mrs. Albert Davis. They are "outstanding members" for 1970, of the Muleshoe and Progress H.D. clubs.

A lot of ingredients and skillful blending by Mrs. Williams, brought her to that table. Her contest recipe is: 1. a complete account of ways she practiced conservation for herself and family; 2. leadership and community life; 3. health and recreation; 4. home management; 5. clothing; 6. food; and 7. farm and ranch conservation.

The sample convinced the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation Service, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Fort Worth Press, sponsors of the contest with Home Demonstration clubs, that Mrs. Williams is Bailey County's best for 1970.

Sherman Inman, Chairman of the Conservation Board, presented her award, Mrs. C. L. Taylor, Bailey County Home Demonstration Agent, gave awards to Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Albert Davis served as Mistress of Ceremonies; Ernest Ramm, the Invocation; Henry Stoneham, Area Manager of the Soil Conservation District, the welcome speech; Judge Don Cihak responded; guests were introduced by Mrs. George Gross, THDA Chairman for Bailey County; Glen Williams spoke on changing times. 4-H girls assisted in serving.

Among guests invited were Bailey County Commissioners' Court, with the Matt Dudleys and Loyd Stephens attending. Others present were club member families, and soil conservationists.

Rev. H.D. Hunter directed a combo playing through the dinner. Mrs. C.W. Stallings of

Mrs. Billy Williams and Sherman Inman

Bovina was vocal soloist, Mrs. W. T. Watson played piano for the group. W. T. Watson, steel guitar, Bobby Burris, electric guitar, with Hunter doubling on bass fiddle and standard guitar. Menu was provided by Progress and Muleshoe H. D. Clubs, with 4-H girls assisting in serving.

From The Journal's Files

30 Years Ago

Former Muleshoe girl sees Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt riding together in the same car - 37 years ago. "Read all about it!" as newsboys used to yell, while selling papers on the streets. Thursday, March 23, 1933 The Muleshoe Journal

"Mrs. J.C. Weaver of this place is in receipt of a letter from her daughter in Richmond, Va., who attended the inauguration of President Roosevelt in Washington on March 4th. The letter gives a quite vivid description of the day in Washington, and is being reproduced here, as follows:

3412 Park Ave., Richmond, Va. March 14, 1933 Dear Mother:

Carmine took her car to Washington, so we toured up in real style -- a twelve-cylinder automobile, a liveried chauffeur and a radio to give us all the news and music as we slid along at 60 miles an hour, over the historic highway past Washington's home, and along the broad, smooth Potomac.

....I have never seen such a nice crowd. I did not see a disagreeable person, nor a drunk the whole time. Saw lots of bottles passed, but no one disorderly.

NOTE - J.C. Weaver operated a tire repair shop, according to Spencer Beavers.

"Ask C.F. Moeller how he likes cotton biscuits; but be prepared to run when you do. Friend wife fed them to him for April fool feast."

"Jess Bartley says leaning forward in a car will save considerable gas on a long trip;

The most wonderful thing to me was the way every sound was picked up and recorded. Those at home listening in on their radios even heard the commands that were given to the airplanes. All the sounds were picked up by a huge touring car rigged up with a broadcasting apparatus.

....We saw Mrs. Wilson - she rode down to the ceremonies with Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Hoover.

....Franklin D. Roosevelt is very clever, and I believe he will save and make over this country.

Love,
Helen Weaver Harlan"

FRIDAY NIGHT SOCIAL

"Members of the Senior Epworth League, Methodist church, enjoyed a social Friday night of last week at the home of Miss Mary Frances Willis, Misses Twila Farrell and Hazel Nelson, hostesses, and Mr. and Mrs. Trostle, chaperones.

A wide variety of games furnished the diversion and a-musing entertainment for the evening, refreshments of fruit and candy suckers being served. # Those attending were: Miss Melzine Rocky, Edna Lee Schubert, Marvalyn Soles, Florence Soles, Sibyl Hunter, Ode Lee Stirling, Mary Holt, Twila Ferrell, Bettie and Hazel Nelson, Carrie Agnes Lee, Chrystal Kennedy, Mary Frances Willis, and Jim Burkhead, Cecil Spence, Claud Wilem, Francis Gilbreath, Dee Brown, Arnold Atkinson, Clyde Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Trostle."

HARD TIMES FASHIONS

"A depression to the average West Texas girl means when times get so hard its necessary to be married in the same clothes she has been wearing on Sunday."

There must be better ways to spend one's time than watching the film "Woodstock" which is rated "R" and restricted for all 17 years of age and under.

The film concerns a rock festival (supposedly aimed at saving America's soul) that took place last August. The orgy (lasting three days) was held on a 600-acre farm near Bethel, New York.

The movie was made for entertainment, but one questions the entertainment idea--when half-a-million young people are crowded together for three days of music, drug taking, dirt and the worst of sanitary conditions--filmed in optical effects, split screens, superimpositions, etc.

The entertainers were there mingling with the crowd, but managed to do their "thing." Some of these were Joan Baez, Country Joe and the Fish, Nash & Young, John Sebastian and others of the way-out, long-haired, hippy-type entertainers.

but Walter Witte insists, why try to save gas?"

1200 ELM TREES

"There were 1,200 Chinese elm trees distributed here last Saturday under direction of the local Kiwanis Club and through the courtesy of Mrs. J.C. Waver and R. L. Brown, committee members of the beautification squadron. The trees were obtained through the generosity of the Whiteside Nursery, Lubbock, costing only about two cents each, the price of digging, and paid for with R.F.C. money.

These trees well planted and properly watered and cared for during the next few years will work a great transformation toward beautifying the homes and school campuses where they go, adding much to the attraction of this prairie country."

Rev. Jack Boyett of Trinity Baptist Church, Amarillo, since 1966, Sutton attended Hardin Simmons University, and graduated from Southwestern Baptist Theology Seminary in Fort Worth.

The public is invited, according to Reg. Huggins, Program includes a men's breakfast, Monday, April 20, 6 a.m.; between four and 12 years, Monday, April 20, 7 p.m.; Sunday School at 9:45 a.m., Worship at 10:55 a.m., with Training Union, 6:30 p.m. All evening services will be at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday - Friday, with morning services at 10 a.m.

A goal of 300 in Sunday is intended.

Dear Father: Her Father

If your son-in-law is a social idiot, your daughter has found a lifetime mate. But I doubt it. He may find her exciting and unusual for a while, but a young man with his intelligence bound to wake up in which case your "little red wagon" will have to conform or you will have to put out the welcome mat.

Dear Amy: I have a boyfriend and a girlfriend and they are both brother and sister. When I visit their house which is a considerable distance away, my girlfriend wants me to go for a walk with her, but my boyfriend wants me to stay with him.

If I please one, the other feels hurt. The same thing happens when they visit their aunt next door to me. I do not know what to do to keep peace with them.

Dear Nancy: People who really care about you would put their own feelings and desires aside to keep every-one happy rather than just them.

Address all letters to: AMY ADAMS c/o THIS NEWSPAPER For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HIPPIE WIFE HAVING HER HEYDAY

Dear Amy: Not too long ago my daughter (one of today's young intellectuals with a Masters Degree) married a young, brilliant lawyer. Needless to say, I breathed a sigh of relief and comforted myself in the knowledge that at last she would settle down and put aside her notions and ideas which have had me unsettled for 4 years.

Unfortunately though, she has influenced her husband, and in 4 short months, he has developed a split personality. By day he is a commanding legal personality in his firm, but by night, he changes to hippie-style clothes and frequents all the odd-ball places in his town. Even in our conversations I have noticed that the rationale of the anti-establishment group has crept into his thinking and I wonder what detrimental effect this will have on his practice and more important, his goals in life.

Instead of joining his circle of peers and helping him in making a name for himself by being active in those areas that would be most beneficial to him, she has become a digressing influence . . . and he is following. I feel it is unfair to this young man, but I am powerless to do anything. Have you any suggestions?

Dear Donna: I'm sick of being a tiger. I do lots of work. A person naturally develops muscles climbing hills and rot like that. Therefore some of my girlfriends use me as a "threat" such as: "You touch me and I'll have Donna pound on you". Consequently I'm a big, bad wolf and kids are afraid to be friends with me even though I'm only 5 feet tall.

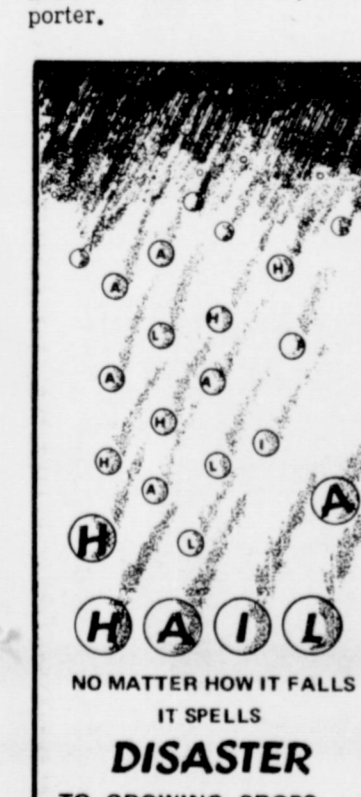

Dear Donna: There's not too much you can do with your mother. She either likes what she is doing or she has to like what she's doing because she can't get anybody else to do it. By the way, where's your father?

The boy next door: If you really don't like him, tell him exactly what you told me . . . that is if you're sure that in a few months from now you won't change your mind.

You may have developed some pretty good looking muscles tossing that hay around, but you have to learn how to separate your work life from your social life, and you must advise your friends that while you may be very strong around the farm, you are very much a girl and you want to be treated as such.

Dear Nancy: People who really care about you would put their own feelings and desires aside to keep every-one happy rather than just them. Address all letters to: AMY ADAMS c/o THIS NEWSPAPER For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Withdrawals Threatened

The recent flareup of widespread fighting in all parts of South Vietnam, with weekly casualties jumping to their highest figure in many months, plus the delicacy of situations in Laos and Cambodia, is threatening to slow Vietnam troop withdrawals.

U.S. Army commanders in Vietnam reportedly now feel troop withdrawals should not proceed according to pre-arranged schedule in Washington unless withdrawals are support troops only. From a figure 532,000 in June of 1969, U.S. strength dropped to 509,000 last August, to 472,000 in December and to 434,000 as of this month. But U.S. units still confront the major enemy forces.

In the recent flareup of fighting several South Vietnamese units suffered heavily. This raised the question whether Saigon's army is ready to take on the main responsibility of defending the country against the enemy's best. For months U.S. policy has been to avoid major fighting when possible but some U.S. commanders feel such a policy enables the enemy to move about freely and to organize more easily and that, in the end, will cost more lives, though it undoubtedly produced a relative lull.

The President is thus faced with a new situation which threatens his withdrawal policy to an extent; he reportedly will accept the risks of continued withdrawals but they are growing.

LABOR RELATIONS AND GOVERNMENT

A look at your daily newspaper will quite readily convince you that we must take a new approach to labor relations in this nation. On any given day this past week, four major labor stories were competing for our attention.

A rash of teamster strikes was causing lay-offs for thousands of workers in other industries.

Congress was wrestling with legislation in the home of heading off a nationwide rail strike. The Federal Aviation Agency was still dealing with a "sick-out" staged by the Professional Air Traffic Controllers.

And the government was laboring to settle a dispute which had earlier caused severe disruption of our mail service. If ever there was clear evidence of the failure of four decades of labor policy, the news of 1970 is providing it.

After four decades of approaching labor problems on a piecemeal basis, I believe it is time to begin searching for a rational answer which is fair and just and which can be applied equally and without favor to both management and labor. Breakdowns in collective bargaining negotiations, especially in our transportation industries, often affect not only the workers and managers directly involved, but also many thousands of other workers in associated or dependent industries.

Not unnaturally, we seek a culprit. We tend to direct our suspicions toward management and toward labor. But we should not forget a third party which increasingly shows up at the bargaining table nowadays. That third party is government. We must determine whether the presence of the federal government and its policies since the 1930's are in some significant measure to be blamed for our present and persistent labor relations problems. I believe that they are.

Governmental policies have actually served to alert both management and labor to the fact that arbitrators and public opinion are likely to take a middle ground between the two bargaining positions. Each disputant therefore is encouraged to establish a more extreme position in an effort to influence the final determination in his own direction. Since the parties expect to have to split the difference eventually, it is to the advantage of each to widen the difference at the outset.

The result is the deterioration of the bargaining process; increased government intervention, and longer and more devastating work stoppage.

To avoid these results, government should, to the greatest extent possible, maintain a hands off stance during the negotiating process.

In an attempt to reduce the influence of the federal government in negotiations affecting the railroad and airline industries, the current Administration has proposed legislation which would draw upon our experience under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The provisions of this Act encourage free collective bargaining to a much greater extent than do the provisions of the existing Railway Labor Act. Because Taft-Hartley requires a court injunction to halt a strike or lockout, it is more difficult to invoke than are the provisions of the Railway Labor Act. The board of inquiry which can be established by the President under Taft-Hartley is incapable of proposing a compromise settlement as is now possible under the Railway Labor Act. Under Taft-Hartley, neither party is tempted to delay an agreement in the hope that a federal board recommendation will strengthen its hand. Finally, the standard for judging whether a threatened work stoppage justifies government intervention is stricter under Taft-Hartley than under the Railway Labor Act.

The Administration has proposed that in the final analysis the President be given three options to encourage settlement.

One option would be a simple extension of time to enable the parties to reach agreement. This would be useful if settlement appeared close at hand. A second option would empower the President to require essential services be continued in order to alleviate a danger to national health or safety, but would allow the main work stoppage to continue for up to six months.

Finally, the President could invoke a procedure known as "final offer selection" in which each party would submit one or two final offers to the Secretary of Labor. Then, if no agreement is reached within five days, a three-member body chosen by the disputants would select one of the final offers as a binding settlement. Thus, the disputants would compete to suggest the most reasonable settlement in the hope that theirs would be selected.

If this approach proved satisfactory in the railroad and airline industries, subsequent legislation could expand it to other industries as well.

This approach seems to me to provide the greatest flexibility for settlement and would serve to significantly reduce government influence in the vast majority of labor disputes.

Dear Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:

Spring is in the air and isn't it nice? Now, I wonder how nice this same air is going to be when summer enters.

I am one resident, out of many, who lives in the Lenau Addition and can truthfully say I enjoy living over there. However, in the summer, I would almost trade places with any one. The reason being -- air pollution.

Now please don't misunderstand me, I am as much for all the industry in the Muleshoe area as any one and would love to see the city get some more, but not if said industry refuses to do anything to prevent destroying the clean air in the summer time.

Yes, I am speaking of the Alfalfa Dehydrating Plant. If you should be one of us living in the Lenau Addition, you know why I am complaining now. If not, just let me tell you in on a little secret, its TERRIBLE! The smoke settles on your clothes, your furniture, your walls, your drapes, to say nothing of what you must be breathing. Your children can't play outside without simply getting BLACK from soot. It sticks to anything and everything. Summer time is a time to get outside, to have cook-outs and work in the yard. Last summer, on the average of 5 days a week, you didn't bother to stick your head out, let alone try a family cookout or some out-door fun, it was simply impossible to breath and wasn't very much better on the inside if you were running your air conditioner and who wasn't?

Any one not living in the Northeast part of town can't get very much "up in the air" so to speak, over the air pollution but I can almost make a bet that if we should be blessed with a long summer and a breeze out of the East, Northeast, we might hear quite a few complaints. Especially from the merchants when they begin to see their merchandise getting a film of black soot all over it.

I realize that to put a filter in the plant would mean cutting down on production and it would also slow down the running of the machinery, thus, making it hard on our area's largest industry - the farmers. What I am wondering is, would it be possible for the plant to put a taller smoke-stack on and maybe this would help get it up high enough for the wind to carry it up over the town and keep it from settling all over "us."

Thank you for letting me have my say.

Dear Editor:

I want to thank you for the assistance you have given the Avalanche-Journal Spelling Bee in your county. It would be impossible to carry out such a contest without the cooperation of persons like you in the areas outlying Lubbock.

We were so happy to meet the smart, neat appearing student you sent to the Regional contest to represent your county. As only two of the contestants were eighth graders, we hope to see many of the same persons back at next year's Bee. We hope this year's county winners will continue their study of words and will interest other students in your county to enter the Bee next year.

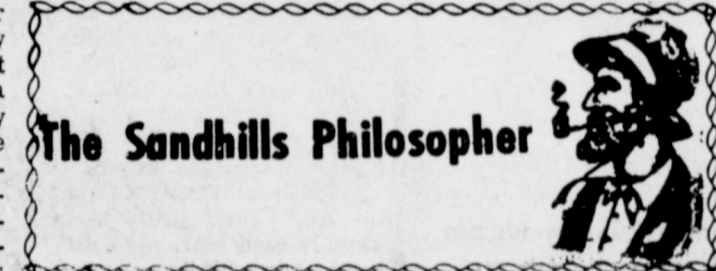

If there have been mistakes made that we can correct, or if we have overlooked some important phase of the contest, will you please share your suggestions with us?

Thanks again and I will look forward to working with you again next year.

Yours truly,

LOAN TO EGYPT

Washington - The World Bank granted a $26-million, interest-free loan to the United Arab Republic recently. This is the first such loan in 11 years. It was considered a sign of confidence in the Egyptian economy.

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has found out about this new term, ecology, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

I know that talking about the farm problem these days in the midst of city problems, world problems and planetary pollution is about like trying to get a specialist on in-grown toenails on the same program with a panel of heart transplant specialists, but according to some articles I've been reading lately in every newspaper that turns up out here on this Johnson grass farm, somebody ought to be paying attention to it.

It's on account of the balance of nature.

As all these articles have been pointing out, it is necessary to keep an ecological balance on this earth if we want to keep it tuned up and running right. Every species has its part to play in the total balance of nature.

Well now as everybody knows, farmers, who used to constitute 70 per cent of the population, have now dwindled to around eight per cent and the figure is still going down. This ought to concern people, but in the cry to protect nature's balance have you heard one word said about preserving farmers?

You mean to say it isn't as important to keep farmers on earth as it is mountain lions, bald eagles and whooping cranes?

The ecologists are right, we've got to keep nature in balance, no telling the horror otherwise, but some of them ought to get concerned about the disappearing farmer.

As you well know, man fooled around and got careless years and years ago and let the dinosaurs become extinct, and everybody knows the world has never been the same since.

I'm warning you, people may think it doesn't make any difference, may even find it impossible to name a single farmer the world couldn't get along without, may claim that losing him is no more important to ecology than throwing one beer can out your car window is to pollution, but you let them all disappear, let this become a farmer-less world, and eventually you'll notice the difference.

If nature didn't have some purpose for farmers, why were they created? You can ask the same question about editors.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Dear Editor:

Am writing you about a problem existing in our Muleshoe School System that concerns all of the students, yours, mine and everybody's. This problem has resulted in our sports program hitting bottom and I do mean bottom. Back several years ago we had a winning 7th and 8th grade football team. They had a good season with about 30 boys out. Eleven of the boys played and everybody said, "Wait until they are in high school." But by the time they were freshmen, only 15 turned out and since most of the eleven starters had moved or were scholastically ineligible we had a poor team. I say that because the other 15 lost their incentive to represent their school.

This also goes for basketball because in the hey-day of the big stars, who moved before going into high school, we had a good 7th and 8th grade basketball team. Since four of the five played had moved and the others got tired of sitting on the bench, we ended up with only 10 boys out this year on the varsity team.

I believe if we gave our children a chance to play and learn the fundamentals, instead of demanding from our Junior High coaches a winning team every year that we would have a top sports program.

I know all of this to be true because the boys played together in the 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades and look at our record when they were seniors this year. They can look back on the 7th grade and the 8th grade records with pride. Why can't they do the same with the last year when they were finishing their education?

Give our students, regardless of race, color, creed or whether Daddy is on the school board, city commission or county commission a chance to participate in sports or any other school activity.

Then we must be proud of our children and back them and the school. I feel if we give our children a pat on the back, we won't have to kick them in the pants by laying bets that Muleshoe would not score a touchdown. Get behind these children and give them a chance.

We have some of the best boys and girls in the world but let's do our part to help. Name withheld by Request.

Dear Editor,

The 14th District P.T.A.'s and the local P. T. A.'s want to say "Thank you" for your help and support of our Spring Conference.

I have heard others report that they cannot get the news to publicize some of these meetings. We consider ourselves very lucky here in Muleshoe to have the cooperation of our local newspaper.

We also want to thank all the local merchants who bought ads and made it possible to have such a good display.

Thank you,

Mrs. Walter M. Bartholand
Mrs. Buck Johnson,
Chairmen for Local Publicity 14th District Conference.

Court Lauded For Dismissal Of O'Hair Suit

Congressman George Bush today applauded the action of the Supreme Court in dismissing the petition of Madalyn O'Hair to prevent astronauts from exercising freedom of religion during space flights. In noting the Court's decision Bush said, "I commend the action of the court in turning down Mrs. O'Hair's petition."

"I recently introduced a resolution supporting our astronauts' right to expression of faith while engaged in space flights. They are entitled to this freedom. To deny them otherwise would be to violate the free speech provision of the first amendment of the Constitution."

"I think it has clearly been recognized that the exercise of religious freedom by our astronauts has been a meaningful step forward in promoting better world understanding and brotherhood."

"Thus I think the Court acted most wisely in rejecting Mrs. O'Hair's petition."

Tax Man Sam Sez

WHEN WILL I GET MY REFUND?

It's a pretty good guess that the Taxpayer Service Representatives at the Internal Revenue Service could give you an accurate date even if they had completely lost their calendar. The questions have changed this past week from "How do I get an extension to delay filing my income tax return?" to "When do I get my refund?"

The Taxpayer Service Representatives have a good answer for you on "When do I get my refund?"--As you would guess, the answer is "It depends." If you filed your return before April 1 and made no errors to hold up the processing, the chances are good that you will have to wait about six weeks for that refund check if one is due. If you filed as a member of the 11:59 p.m. April 15 club, your chances for having an error that will delay your refund are real good. If you have an error, you will get your refund about six weeks after Internal Revenue has got back the correct information from you and had a chance to correct the errors. How long this will be is probably indefinite. If you did manage to join the 11:59 p.m. April 15 club, and still escape without an error, getting your refund will take a little bit longer than for the taxpayers who filed earlier. Be assured that you can't drop by and pick up the refund on April 16 or 17. IRS hasn't quite got all of the returns out of the mail bag by this time.

Business In Your Home?

One way to fatten the family budget is to set up a business in your own home. However, the neighbors might not look kindly upon such an enterprise. Assuming that your property has a deed restriction, limiting it to residential use, would you be able to go ahead anyhow?

If the business is on a substantial scale, you ordinarily could not get away with it. For example:

A man and wife opened a chicken dinner restaurant in the living room of their home. When a neighbor haled them into court, they told the judge:

"We are still using the place as our residence. That continues to be its primary function."

Nevertheless, the court ordered them to discontinue the restaurant. The judge said a venture of such magnitude could not fairly be reconciled with the basic purpose of keeping the neighborhood residential in character.

But if the commercial intrusion is only minor, it may well be tolerated. Thus, another court held it was all right for a woman to give occasional singing lessons during daylight hours, even though her home was supposed to be used for residential purposes only.

Of course, the particular wording of the deed restriction may make all the difference. For instance, the restriction might simply say that "no trade or business" shall be allowed on the premises.

This phrase was held to prohibit a home-based beauty shop, even though of modest size. But it was held not to prohibit a doctor from seeing patients in the back room of his house. The court said the doctor's activity was neither a "trade" nor a "business" but rather a profession.

In still another case, the deed restriction did have a specific clause allowing use of the property for a "medical office." Under this wording, could a veterinarian use his home for a cat hospital? A court ruled that he could not. The judge said the difference between a medical office and a cat hospital was just too plain to be ignored.

The Touch System

Smith and Brown were discussing their families.

"How is your son, Jim, doing at college?" queried Smith suddenly.

"Okay," replied Brown, "he recently completed a course in journalism."

"You don't say," exclaimed Smith. "Does he write for money?"

"Yes, indeed," was the quick reply. "I hear from him at least once a week."

WHAT'S HE DOING? Dick Rambo of Arizona State is vaulting, with fiberglass pole, and photo was made from directly under bar in new Salt Palace, Salt Lake City.

According to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, there is danger that cotton producers, in their necessary concern for passage of a cotton program that will permit the production of cotton for a profit over the next few years, may slight or even overlook the equally urgent need for long range planning.

Johnson asks "In 1975 or 1980 will the volume of our cotton markets still be going down hill, even in a world of fast expanding fiber consumption? Will the price we are able to extract from the market for cotton still be far below production costs?"

If the answer to these questions is to be yes, Johnson believes, "then we can take small comfort in whatever success we may enjoy in our 1970 legislative efforts, because we will soon be going right back to Congress asking for permission to live."

The current government program for cotton expires with the 1970 crop, and extreme difficulty is being encountered in gaining Administration and Congressional support for a new law that will keep cotton growers in the field and out of the bread line. And all agree that passage of beneficial farm programs in the future will become progressively closer to an impossibility.

The answer, according to Johnson, is to begin now with the development of merchandising techniques and research projects that will get the industry off its back and back on its feet.

While praising the start made in this direction by the present Cotton Producers Institute (dollar-a-bale) program, he says "Something more is definitely needed to counteract the strong marketing programs of man-made fibers."

As recently as 1966 it was predicted that test-tube fibers would take 52 percent of the textile fiber market by 1970. But the prediction fell short. With product research and seldom-equalled salesmanship, the man-made makers have captured not 52 percent but 56.4 percent of the market. Cotton consumption, instead of growing, has declined from 52.7 percent in 1965 to 40 percent of the market in 1969.

Now, man-made fiber makers are saying they'll have two-thirds of the total fiber market by 1975. And that prediction, too, may fall short of actuality unless cotton makes a comeback.

Johnson believes the answer to cotton's return lies in product development and salesmanship -- development of products with definite, saleable characteristics, then the application of the same sales techniques that have made millions for Du Pont, Celanese and other synthetic manufacturers. "But it can't be done with $10 million a year," he says. "It will take at least three times that much to begin with, and probably more later as research and promotion programs begin to pay off in increased sales and increased cotton prices."

The Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations (TACO), of which PCG is a prominent member, for over a year now has been pushing for an expansion of research and promotion funds for cotton. The drive is to get worded into the farm program now being developed to provide in the neighborhood of $30 million for a comprehensive, producer-controlled program.

Johnson notes that all of the TACO group, including all of the cotton producer associations in Texas, are fully aware that the first objective of the upcoming cotton program is to provide the income to permit continued cotton production, but says "The future will look much brighter if the means to an effective merchandising program can be provided as well."

TWO FOR THE MONEY

Pioneer brand corn hybrids are setting the yield pace wherever corn is grown in Texas. Here are two Pioneer varieties you can count on for this area. 511A is a high-yield, prolific type that's dependable and disease-resistant. An outstanding performer for grain or silage. 3306 is another record breaker that really responds to modern farming practices—high fertility levels, high plant population, and narrow rows. If you're after maximum yield—for grain or silage—pick up the seed you need right away from your Pioneer dealer.
