Irrigated Crops Said Best In Years

Bugs Present Only

Small Problems

Area irrigated crops have been termed "the best crop in years, and if nothing too bad happens between now and harvest time, the largest yields in years will be harvested."

Optimistic farmers have kept their irrigation wells going since mid-April, although in some places, wells have been cut off during the past week because of moisture received in the area.

R.L. Scott, who lives approximately six miles west of Muleshoe said his crops are all fair. He said he had a lot of spider mites and worms in his field corn, but sprayed and they are under control at this time.

Scott said his grain sorghum is doing well and his cotton has been in the full-bloom stage for at least two weeks. The farmer said he had a number of large bolls now.

Two wells on the Scott farm have gone dry. Scott said both the wells were shallow water wells, depths of 90-120 feet, and he is in the process of lowering the wells at this time.

Greenbugs plagued the grain sorghum grown by John Gunter, who lives about three miles west of Muleshoe, but he said that spraying has the pesky bug controlled at this time. Gunter said his crops need rain, but generally they are in good shape at this time. He is growing corn and grain sorghum. His irrigation wells have posed no problems for him as yet, he added, although he hasn't turned them off since around April 15.

"The best thing about this year," said Gunter, "is that we should get good prices for all crops. The cattle market is still in good shape, despite the drought, and everything looks good at this time."

From three miles north of Muleshoe, Aubrey Heathington said he is growing corn on most of his irrigated land. He said he has approximately 30 acres of cotton in the Oklahoma Lane area. Heathington commented that his corn looks "pretty good" although he had to

General Rain

Tuesday Night

Dampens Area

Rains which began in the area around 10:30 p.m. Tuesday night, dumped up to one-half inch generally throughout the area before moving on southeast. Officially, .33 was recorded in Muleshoe, although accumulations to nearly an inch were unofficially recorded in and near Muleshoe.

South of Muleshoe, where dryland crops have suffered from no moisture, varying amounts from a trace to one-half inch were recorded.

At the Lewis Wayne Shafer farm, west of Muleshoe, a trace was recorded. Mrs. Shafer said there was just enough to settle the dust.

Mrs. Buck Ragsdale at Stegall said they received .2 of an inch and she said friends in the Maple area had received one-half inch.

At Baileyboro, the Raymond Gage Gin reported .3 and Robert Clauch at Bula said they received .4 inch of rain one and one-half miles west of the Bula School.

Roy Foster, seven miles west of Muleshoe, had .4 and Claud Gregory Jr. west of the Farmer's Co-op at Lazbuddie received one-half inch.

John Hubbard, two miles west and one-half mile north of Bula, said they received one-half inch rain and a woman nine miles north and seven miles east of Muleshoe said her rain gauge showed one and one-quarter inches of rain.

At Foster Fertilizer, three miles east of Lazbuddie, Demp Foster said they had .4 inch and rains to one-half inch were general in the Lazbuddie area.

2 New Coaches At Lazbuddie For Longhorns

Lazbuddie Independent School will have two new coaches this year. Pat Casey, coach, who successfully led the Lazbuddie Longhorns into the shadow of regional titles for several years, resigned this year. Replacing Coach Casey and his assistant, Coach Kelso, are Buddy Brock and Bob Evans. Brock comes to Lazbuddie from Sunray, where he was head track coach, assistant football coach and B-team girls' coach for the past two years.

A graduate of Wayland Baptist College, he attended the college from his home in Camas, Wash. Coach Brock and his wife, Carolyn, are the parents of two children, Bryan, age two and Christy, seven months. When asked about his plans for the Longhorns this fall, Coach Brock said simply, "Winning region."

He said Anton was expected to be the roughest team for the Longhorns to face in competition.

Assisting Brock will be Bob Evans, a native of Big Spring, who was coaching at Garden City before moving to Lazbuddie. He has coached at the Garden City (Tex.) school for the past four years. For three years, he has been head basketball coach, head track coach and assistant football coach. He and his wife, Peggy, are the parents of two children, Kristi, age three and Kimberly, age 11 months.

NEW COACHES AT LAZBUDDIE--Bob Evans, left, and Buddy Brock, are the two new coaches at the Lazbuddie School. Coach Pat Casey and his assistant, Tally Kelso, resigned at the end of the school year and moved away. The two new coaches expressed cautious optimism about the upcoming football season at the school and set their goal at "winning region."

Joint Session

Slated Friday

Anyone interested in helping with the new library building is asked and urged to attend a meeting Friday, October 30 at 8:30 p.m. at the Bailey County Electric Cooperative community room.

This announcement was jointly made by Joe Harbin, vice chairman of the Muleshoe Area Public Library Board and Mrs. L. B. Hall, president of the Friends of the Library. They said, "This is the year for everyone to become involved with their library. There is much work to be done, and there will be something for everyone to do. We urge each of you to plan to participate in some phase during the construction and opening of the new library facilities in Muleshoe."

The joint Library Board and Friends of the Library meeting has the goal of setting in motion plans for a busy fall and the completion of the new library building.

Contractor Jerry Gailey of Lubbock said barring adverse weather conditions or an unexpected shortage of building materials, the new library will be completed in late October or early November.

The duo said it will be necessary to order equipment for the new building in a short time. They said the executive boards of both FOL and the Library Board will meet prior to the public meeting at 7:30 p.m. for an important session.

Local Draft Board Reviews Regulations

Selective Service System Executive Secretary, Mrs. Harold Weyer, who manages Bailey, Cochran and Lamb Counties' local board at Muleshoe, says the current Congressional impasse over extending the induction authority has created a great uncertainty among area draft-age men.

Mrs. Weyer commented, "Selective Service Director Curtis Tarr has recently stressed the the jail Wednesday morning, when he became the victim of a jailbreak.

He had gone to the cellblock around 7:45 a. m. to release the jail trustee and pick up the food trays when he was confronted by Charles Lee Howard, 19. Howard jumped Martin from behind the trustee when he started out of the jail. Martin told law officers that Howard had a knife, with a blade, approximately two and a half inches long. The jail cook said the knife was either cloth or tape wrapped on the handle. Martin told officers that Howard was highly nervous and said, "I want out of here, or I'll kill you."

He added that he was forced to an east outside door of the jail where Howard held the knife on him and forced him to unlock it. Howard then locked Martin in the cellblock with the trustee and other prisoners. No other prisoners escaped with Howard. Office Deputy Mrs. Howard Splawn was unaware of the escape for several minutes. She said she then heard someone calling, "Irene, Irene," and did not recognize the voice as a prisoner's voice. When she went to the back to investigate, Mrs. Splawn said she saw Martin peeping out the small visitor's window in the cellblock. She released Martin and notified officers of the escape.

Howard had been placed in the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center jail late Monday afternoon following an order for him to be picked up for violation of probation. The Muleshoe native had been placed on four years probation on November 6, 1969 following his conviction of burglary and theft charges.

Apparently, Howard left the jail afoot and at prestime Wednesday, no trace of him had been noted by officers who continued their search for the prisoner.

Other contestants include Brenda Tiller, Joann Dobbins, Vowery Throckmorton, Linda Mason, Dellinda Henry, Karen Hamilton, Kathy Schuster and Renee Caldwell.

The pageant will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday, July 30 in the Muleshoe High School cafeteria. Joe Ed Sullivan of Plainview will be master of ceremonies.

importance of explaining to our draft-age men the high probability that draft calls will resume in the near future and that the current impasse in the Congress is not likely to affect any registrant's chance of being drafted.

"Our local board has been specifically instructed to continue to register and classify men, and to order for pre-induction physical examinations those young men who may be needed to fill draft calls through the coming months.

"Men with lottery numbers through 125 were eligible for induction in June in order to fill draft calls," said Mrs. Weyer. "Since then, the Defense Department has asked Selective Service to draft 16,000 men in July-August. This request is being held by Selective Service headquarters pending final Congressional action on the draft bill which is expected within several weeks.

"Those young men with relatively low lottery numbers, who are eligible for induction this year, particularly those with numbers below 175--the current processing ceiling--have a very good chance of being processed for induction after draft calls are restored," she added.

"Many young men," said Mrs. Weyer, "seem to think that the Selective Service Act has permanently expired and that they

CORN TASSELING IN HEALTHY GROWTH--One of the area's more popular newcomers, field corn, drinks in the irrigation water as it reaches for the sun. Most of the area corn is tasselating at this time, even with the relatively small amount of moisture received throughout the area. Many farmers are devoting more of their acreage to the field crop and report only a minor problem with spider mites and worms. As many of the farmers have sprayed with a systemic chemical potentially dangerous to humans, they ask that no corn be picked at random along the roads until you can be sure the corn is safe for human consumption.

13-Year Olds Lose District To Plainview

The 13-year old Babe Ruth All-Stars said the district championship play to Plainview Saturday afternoon with a score of 11-0.

First Baptist Plans To Host Laymen Mission

The First Baptist Church in Muleshoe will be host for a Lay Witness Mission beginning Friday, August 6 and continuing through Sunday, August 8, according to the pastor, D. C. DuBose.

A Lay Witness Mission is a weekend devoted to sharing personal experiences with Jesus Christ, he added. As the name indicates, it is laymen directed. "Coordinator for this endeavor will be Wayne Wilson of Ralls," added the minister. "He is a farmer who devotes part of his time in sharing his experiences with Jesus Christ. "By the way," he commented, "Mr. Wilson is the only farmer in Crosby County who works a team of mules in his farming operation. He feels a special qualification for working for Christ in Muleshoe."

Wilson will be assisted by a team of 40 adults and 20 youth from all walks of life and from several different churches. All of these are coming to Muleshoe at their own personal expense, added the Rev. DuBose, just to have an opportunity to share their experience with Christ.

He said "The First Baptist Church invites everyone to attend this weekend of spiritual emphasis and renewal."

do some spraying for spider mites and worms.
The farmer said bugs had posed only minor problems for him this year. On his dryland acreage in the Baileyboro area, in southwest Bailey County, Heathington said he planted only about 100 acres of cotton on his 500 acres there. There is a stand on approximately 30 acres, added Heathington, and this skippy acreage is in low spots where water collected after showers in that area.
With his alfalfa in the third cutting, Bill Jim St. Clair, said he had an 'excellent' crop this year. Also in excellent condition, added St. Clair, is his cotton crop, and he reported a few bolls.
Corn is a little off from last year, said St. Clair, and he has had to control bugs by spraying, but said there was no particular bug problem at this time.
He added that he is irrigating all the time, and has noticed no appreciable loss of water through water levels dropping. In the Lariat community, Robert Hunt said his corn and cotton both look 'real good' and he is irrigating all the time due to lack of adequate moisture from rain this year.

Hunt said, "The crops look better than they have in several years, and we have the potential to make the best cotton crop we have in a long time."
He added that he controlled spider mites, earworms and corn borers by limited spraying.
A vegetable producer, Byron Gwyn, said some of his vegetables this year look good and he is watering continuously. He is producing tomatoes, sweet corn, field corn, watermelons and cantaloupe.
Gwyn said that he thought his vegetables looked better than last year for the most part and he expected good yields, barring adverse weather conditions.

Draft...

probably will never be drafted. Some of them also think that the entire system has stopped. They are wrong since it is only the induction authority which has expired. They, therefore, may be unintentionally breaking the law by failing to register at age 18, by not keeping their local boards informed of their current address, or by failing to report, if ordered, for their pre-induction examinations.
Mrs. Wyr also stressed that local boards are continuing to consider CO, hardship, and student deferments and to take other classification actions. "Young men who had planned to submit requests for deferments or exemptions are encouraged to do so," she continued, "as the expiration of the induction authority does not affect our responsibility to classify young men."
Mrs. Wyr may be contacted at 117 East Avenue D, the office of local board number four, Muleshoe.

Swine Fever In Cuba Can Be Devastating

"The most devastating animal disease there is," according to animal health specialists, is loose in Cuba and could feasibly spread to the United States. The new disease, African swine fever, does not affect humans, but kills every pig it infects. This announcement came on the heels of a mass inoculation of horses in Texas and surrounding states in an attempt to combat Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) which has already killed more than 11,000 horses in Texas and Mexico.
The 'potential hazard' to the United States and Canada has been termed, "The most devastating animal disease there is, and it can wipe out the swine population of the United States as there is no vaccine against it."
An official for the Agriculture

Department in Washington said U. S. health officials are tightening their watch on ships and "anything that has touched Cuba" because of the swine disease on the island.
The animal health officials said the swine fever does not affect humans and is not normally transmitted by them, humans could carry the disease on shoes or clothing that has contacted infected animal or meat.
Dr. H. Q. Quibley, director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, said if the disease spread into Mexico - like the horse sleeping sickness (VEE) did - the United States could not keep it out.
"It's just a matter of a while before we have it," Sibley added, "We're surely going to get it." They said the only way to stop the swine fever is to destroy infected hogs and all the other hogs they have come into contact with.

Protective Equipment Is Stressed

"Farming is a hazardous business these days - physically hazardous, that is," according to William J. Fletcher, Agricultural Safety Engineer for the National Safety Council. Farmers face a variety of hazards - complicated machinery, livestock, heavy supplies and potent chemicals - and that is part of the reason why agriculture is the nation's third most dangerous industry. "Industry has long used personal protective equipment to minimize the loss of life, limb, time and money caused by accidents. And farmers can afford to do no less," say Fletcher.

Feet are particularly vulnerable to injury on the farm. They can be crushed by dropped or falling objects, stepped on by livestock, run over by farm vehicles and caught in machinery. Nails and other sharp objects can cause puncture wounds. Safety shoes with metal toeboxes and reinforced soles can minimize these injuries. Eye injuries are also common among farmers. Flying or protruding objects, chaff, dust and the like make eye protection essential. Safety glasses and goggles are needed but often overlooked in such work as cutting wire and cable, using hand drills, chipping concrete, removing nails from scrap lumber, shoveling material head-high, and other work in which particles of material or debris may fall into the eyes.

Prescription glasses and sunglasses should have nonsplintering, break-resistant lenses. Regular glasses made of optical quality glass can be heat-treated to make them shatter-resistant. When heat-treated glasses are fractured due to extreme stress or a powerful blow, they crumble into many small granules, as modern car windows do, instead of shattering into needle-like shafts that can do irreparable damage to eye tissue.

The use of pesticides and toxic chemicals on farms means that farmers must deal with yet another hazard. Respirators with proper filters offer excellent protection from these hazards and from extremely dusty surroundings. A self-contained breathing apparatus (SCUBA) is recommended for cleaning or maintaining manure tanks and silos. Personal protective equipment suitable for farm use is available from stores or catalogs throughout the country. Information is also available from your local safety council.

A hard-driving taximan ignored a red signal, threatened the traffic policeman's knees, missed the street island by an inch, and grazed a bus, all in one clash.

The policeman hailed him, then stroled over to the taxi, pulling a big handkerchief from his pocket en route.

"Listen cowboy," he growled. "On your way back I'll drop this and see if you can pick it up with your teeth."

U. S. Department of Agriculture officials have announced two changes in the procedures to be used in adjusting cotton yields for adverse weather conditions in 1971. Both are changes long sought by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and together they will mean additional producer income from cotton in 1972 and 1973 running into the millions of dollars.

USDA announced July 20 that County ASCS Committees this year will be authorized to use 90 percent as the maximum adjustment instead of the 80 percent in effect since 1965. This means farmers who fail to produce a yield equal to the farm "payment yield" because of drought, hail, flood or other natural disaster can have their actual yield adjusted up to 90 percent of the payment yield. The adjusted yield will then be plugged into the three-year average formula used to calculate the per acre yield on which the producer will be paid in 1972 and 1973. For a producer with a low yielding crop in 1971 who had a payment yield of 500 pounds per acre, the difference between an 80 percent and a 90 percent adjustment would be about $2.50 per acre in payments for both 1972 and 1973.

On July 23 PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson was told by a top USDA official in Washington that USDA this year was also altering the manner of administering the "Frick amendment." The so-called Frick amendment is that part of current law which states, in effect, that a producer's payment yield for the following year will not be reduced if his total production in any year equals or exceeds his "expected" production, or the number of total pounds on which he received payment.

This feature of the law helped some farmers to hold up their payment yields in 1970. But others, who lacked only a few pounds reaching their expected yield, received no benefit from it. For example a farmer with a 100 acre payment base allotment and a 500 pound payment yield would have an expected yield of 50,000 pounds. If in 1970 he planted 130 acres of cotton and made 385 pounds per acre, for a 50,050 pound total production, his payment yield for 1971 remained at 500 pounds per acre. But if his production was only 384 pounds per acre, for a total of 49,920 pounds, his payment yield for 1971 was reduced, probably to about 467 pounds.

If the same situation arises this year, the new ruling will permit the County ASCS Committee to assign the low-yielding farmer a payment yield for 1972 in accord with the percentage of his expected yield which he produced. In the example above, for instance, the 49,920 pounds produced is well over 99 percent of the 50,000 pounds expected yield, and the producer's payment yield for 1972 would remain at 500 pounds. If his production was only 95 percent of the expected yield, his payment yield for 1972 would be 95 percent of his 1971 payment yield, or 475 pounds per acre.

It is also understood the payment yield determined under this new interpretation of the Frick amendment will be the yield inserted in the three-year average calculation for payment yield in future years. Originally it was necessary for a farmer to make his expected yield every year in order to retain the higher yield adjustment.

PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, commenting on the changes, said "Both should make the determination of payment yields work more fairly for all producers, and we commend the Department for their action in removing the inequities." The report of the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service on 1970 acreage, yield and production of Texas cotton, just released, shows 1,762,350 bales (500 pounds gross) produced in the 25 High Plains counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. The 1970 total is up from 1,418,600 bales produced in 1969, constitutes just over 55 percent of the 3,198,000 bales grown in Texas, and about 17 percent of the 10.1 million bales harvested across the entire cotton belt.

The TCLRS report for 1970 shows an average yield per harvested acre on the Plains of 389 pounds, up from 349 pounds in 1969. Irrigated cotton in the area, of which there was 1,448,200 acres, yielded an average 458 pounds of lint per acre, while the 828,600 acres of non-irrigated cotton produced only 264 pounds per acre. Adverse weather conditions caused abandonment of 4.5 percent of the area's 2,277,200 planted acres, leaving 2,147,700 acres for harvest.

The U. S. Bureau of Census earlier reported the High Plains total production in "running" bales, as opposed to 500 pound bales, at 1,734,767 bales, and the State running bale total at 3,144,192 bales.

The ten top cotton producing counties in Texas were found on the High Plains in 1970. In the order of production volume, they were Lubbock, Dawson, Hockley, Hale, Lynn, Lamb, Crosby, Terry, Gaines and Floyd counties.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It has been brought to my attention that there might be some confusion as to how long I will be the Representative of the present 18th Congressional District.

The new re-districting legislation, as passed by the State Legislature, will change our present district boundaries but will not become effective until January 1, 1973. Therefore, as the duly elected Representative of the 18th District, I will, to the best of my ability, continue to represent the 18th District until January 1, 1973. I hope this clarifies any questions that anyone might have on this subject.

Sincerely,
Member of Congress

Disaster Role Of Physicians Is Explained

AUSTIN -- During hurricane season, June 1-Oct. 31, disaster is a real possibility along the Gulf Coast. However, disasters can happen anytime, anywhere, and to anyone.

Physicians face the specter of medical disasters, which means more casualties than local medical personnel and facilities can handle. Fortunately, such disasters are rare.

In a disaster situation, the physician on the scene can ask for and get almost any kind of help he needs according to an article in the July issue of Texas Medicine, official publication of the Texas Medical Association.

There are two problems: He must have a way to communicate, and he must know who to contact.

In every one of Texas natural disasters, communications have been the biggest problem. "Prepare for the day when telephones don't work" is good advice for every community. Interhospital radiocommunications should be established with links extending to neighboring towns. Free information and help in planning a radio network is available from the Communications Planning Unit of the Texas State Department of Health. With good planning, medical radiocommunications can serve the area constantly and routinely and if needed will be available in disaster.

Who should be called? In medical disasters, physicians first are advised to contact the District Director of Disaster Medical Care or his Alternate Director, or Department of Public Safety headquarters in Austin.

The state does have a plan for disaster relief, and the Commissioner of Health is responsible for its medical aspects. He appoints the District Directors and Alternates; they are private physicians who serve without pay to develop sound plans for providing medical care for casualties of any sort of medical disaster anywhere in their districts.

The state does not actually provide medical care. The Texas Medical Association and other groups have undertaken the delivery of professional services in disasters. Chaired by Charles R. Queen, M. D., of Edinburg, the TMA Committee on Disaster Medical Care works with private physicians, health care personnel in many different fields, and with full-time staff members of the Texas State Department of Health to insure that wherever disaster strikes, its victims will receive prompt and adequate medical care.

The physician on the scene who has a means of communication and knows where to get help usually receives any service he needs. The State Health Department's disaster organization has provided or arranged for all kinds of help in disaster situations. It can arrange for medical terms, extra hospital supplies and drugs, and even complete, 200-bed packaged disaster hospitals if necessary. Throughout the state, there are stockpiles of various types and amounts of medical supplies and equipment. Also, physicians and other concerned people have given their time and skill to insure that these resources will be available whenever and wherever they are needed.

USDA Beef Cattle Leader Visits Plains

Dr. Paul Putnam, Chief, Beef Cattle Research Branch, ARS, Washington, D.C., made a whirlwind visit of the High Plains Friday, July 23, to see first hand the cattle feeding industry and to review the cattle nutrition research being conducted by the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board and Texas A & M.

TGSPB Executive Director, Elbert Harp, expressed appreciation to Dr. Putnam for coming to West Texas. Harp stated, "We believe this is a milestone in our discussions with the USDA about the corn-sorghum nutritional value relationship."

Dr. Putnam has been charged by USDA to help determine the actual nutritional value of grain sorghum in relation to corn. This relationship influences the worldwide sales of grain sorghum, and sets the grain sorghum loan rate and price sub-40 million dollars more in government loans to the grain sorghum farmers.

port in relation to corn. For the 1971 feed grain program, USDA had set grain sorghum at 92% the value of corn. GSPA and TGSPB contended it should have been 95% or more which would have added approximately

The Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board has been sponsoring research work at the Swisher County Feedlot at Tullia, Texas, comparing grain sorghum nutrition to that of corn. Harp stated, "Preliminary results show that grain sorghum, in comparison to corn, is very favorable, in fact, it seems to be turning out better than we anticipated."

"Well," replied Sandy, "if I can get one side of the horse to go, the other will have to come with it."

GSPA and TGSPB had arranged an aerial tour of the feedlots and grain sorghum production fields.

In addition to the GSPA and TGSPB officials, Dr. L. S. "Bill" Pope, Associate Dean of Agriculture at Texas A&M University; Bob Bliss, manager of the Swisher County Feedlot, Tullia; Dr. Ray Henders, nutritionist for Producers Grain Corporation, Amarillo; Dr. Dale Zinn, head of the Animal Science Department, Texas Tech University, Lubbock; and Dr. Bob Albin, professor and animal nutritionist, Texas Tech, joined in the discussions and the tour with Dr. Putnam.

Congressman Price Gives Legislation

There were at least two developments of a positive nature here in Washington last week that I am pleased to report. The House sponsor of an amendment which would have placed a $20,000 limitation on farm payments agreed to withdrawal of the amendment from the Agriculture Appropriations bill. His move came after the Senate refused to go along with the change from the $55,000 limitation placed in the farm bill last year.

SMALL BUSINESS EMERGENCY LOANS
I was also notified last week that the Small Business Administration has changed its definition of businesses which are eligible for economic injury loans in a drought area.

Formerly, only feed, seed, and fertilizer businesses who were directly connected to farming and ranching were eligible for disaster loans. The SBA General Counsel has just issued an opinion, however, which states that such loans can be made "to any small business firm able to show substantial economic loss resulting from a natural disaster and located in an area covered by the emergency declaration of the Secretary of Agriculture with regard to Farmers Home Administration loans."

JOINT COMMITTEE ON ENVIRONMENT
The House adopted last week a bill identical to one I introduced at the beginning of this session of Congress to create a House-Senate Committee on the Environment. The new committee will have jurisdiction over environmental legislation which now goes to more than 10 committees in the House and Senate.

It is my hope that if the Senate agrees to creation of this new committee that it will attempt to achieve a balance between preserving the environment and economic needs.

VETERANS LEGISLATION
Two bills for the benefit of servicemen and veterans passed the House last week with little opposition. One of these bills would give the Veterans Administration additional authority to provide treatment and rehabilitation services to certain active duty and former members of the Armed Services who are addicted to drugs.

A second bill will give the Veterans Administration hospitals, the largest medical care

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discovers new horizons for environmentalists this week.

Dear editor:
For a while I was worried about some of the environmentalists, that is, the newcomers who got in late on the act, not the genuine ones who are on firm ground when they attack the pollution of rivers, lakes, oceans, parks, roadsides and the air we breathe.

But it's pretty hard to establish a permanent organization with a president and all against swordfish and corn flakes, so I was pleased when I read in a newspaper last night that a scientist has come up with a brand new one. It's automobile tires. Not the tires themselves, it's what goes with the rubber when it wears out.

According to him, 340,000 tons of rubber a year disappear into the air or somewhere as system in the country, closer ties with medical schools and other health service institutions.

tires go from new to threadbare on the streets and highways of America, not counting, I presume, that left by teenagers who dig out because I've seen their skid-marks still on the highway.

Now 340,000 tons on minute particles of rubber dumped into the atmosphere every year is something I hadn't thought about, but it sure opens up new horizons for environmentalists running out of something to point their finger at, some of whom were reduced to denouncing paper cups.

For example, take pigeon feathers. You ever figure up how many pounds of pigeon feathers float down through the air and clutter up the ground every year?

Or squirrel fur, that's bound to be a hazard to the lungs of fellow squirrels and other forest creatures as the tiny hairs float through the air, not to mention campers out in the woods hunting for a clear spot to dump their trash.

Or shoe leather, or the skin from barefooted people.

I could go on, but you can see the possibilities are unlimited for environmentalists

Stock-Loan Scandal Highlighted

By-- Bill Boykin
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. -- Investigations of stock loan scandals which have rocked the state for nearly seven months moved forward on three fronts during the past week.

* Travis County District Attorney Robert O. Smith announced plans to present to the grand jury here evidence compiled by Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin's staff.

Martin said evidence includes material pertaining to federal Securities and Exchange Commission allegations that large bank loans were extended to high state officials by the Sharpstown State Bank in 1969. Money went to stock purchases by officials at the time Sharpstown bank head Frank Sharp was trying to get deposit insurance legislation passed.

* Sharp was invited to testify within the next three weeks before a House General Investigating Committee.

Committee asked Sharp to talk about bills in which he was interested in 1969 "and other matters that may be pertinent concerning Sharpstown State Bank, the National Bankers Life Insurance Company and any relationship with public officials."

* Meanwhile, State Insurance Commissioner Clay Cotten turned over to district attorneys in Houston, Dallas and Austin results of his investigation of NBL.

Cotten said he feels insurance, embezzlement and conspiracy laws may have been overstepped but preferred to leave it up to prosecuting attorneys to decide if violations occurred. He offered names of five one-time NBL officers and directors prominently involved in his report.

Federal court at Houston set hearing this week to determine if a June 14 immunity order protecting Sharp from further prosecution or summons should be modified. Martin and Smith want to force him to testify before the Travis County grand jury hearing.

COURTS SPEAK--An Austin federal district judge upheld the local school district's desegregation plan calling for a minimum of crosstown pupil busing, holding against a federal government proposal for massive busing. Judge scored the federal government for its uncooperative attitude toward a compromise.

State Supreme Court rejected an appeal of A&M University employees who had paychecks stopped when it was discovered they were serving on the College Station city council.

In other decisions, High Court:

* Stuck by its original decision holding former president of Sharpstown State Bank was not negligent in failing to investigate bonds offered as security on a $470,000 loan.

* Turned down the appeal of a Dallas oilman's widow in a lawsuit over his estate brought by the man's five daughters by an earlier marriage.

* Upheld the will of multimillionaire Robert A. Welch's sister leaving $300,000 in Texas oil and gas property to the Welch Foundation.

* Held against an Alice woman seeking damages from drug companies which manufactured the anesthetic she claims partially paralyzed her following 1963 surgery.

* Reversed a lower court judgement and concluded the foreclosure of mortgage on the home of a Dallas couple who had paid $420 more than their schedule called for void.

* Rejected disputed evidence of a remarriage in Mexico and backed a Nueces County trial court finding that a Corpus Christi man owes nearly $24,000 in alimony to his former wife in Nevada.

LIVESTOCK DISEASES SPREAD -- As sleeping-sickness - like Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis continued to strike horses and some humans, threat of a new livestock malady loomed.

Outbreak of African hog fever in Cuba alarmed swine owners. Litter is almost invariably fatal, and there is no known vaccine. Ailment does not affect people, as does VEE (which is usually mild in humans).

More than 1,100 Texas horses are believed to have been killed by VEE and 1,500 others stricken. More than 6.6 million acres have been sprayed to kill disease-carrying mosquitoes.

AG OPINIONS--Texans under 21 may not serve on juries in Texas despite recently-lowered voting age to 18, Attorney General Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

* Texas Industrial Commission can open an extension office in Mexico City and pay salaries of employees there.

* Governor is without authority to negotiate open-end contracts for computer supplies for state agencies.

* County attorney of Cooke County will serve as 16th district court sits in Cooke County. District attorney of 235th district will serve that court in all counties where it functions.

* Law passed last May 26 sets maximum compensation for assistant county school superintendents in all counties.

* Renewal license issued by State Board of Hairdressers and Cosmetologist June 2-Aug. 29, 1971, expires Aug. 31, 1972. Applicant for Sept. 7, 1971, board examination must pay $15 filing fee with application and additional $5 license fee.

* SB 194 of last legislature repeals other acts on commercial drivers' license exemptions.

MEDICINE AID SYSTEM CHANGED -- On September 1 State Department of Public Welfare will begin making payments directly to pharmacists for drugs prescribed to Texas welfare recipients.

Under current system, allowance for drugs is included in monthly assistance checks. Legislature this year appropriated $1.9 million for new vendor drug program.

Welfare authorities believe the new system will provide improved prescribed medicine coverage and delay a cut in overall welfare payments for food, clothing and shelter.

However, some complained of welfare check cuts, since drug allotments no longer will go to recipients, and a few who get only payments for drugs will be taken off welfare rolls. Latter will be interviewed by Welfare Department to determine if they should still get cash aid.

APPOINTMENTS -- Gov. Preston Smith appointed Dr. Max C. Butler of Houston to State Board of Medical Examiners and re-appointed Dr. Albert B. Spires Jr. of Taylor, Dr. L. G. Ballard of Granbury and Dr. Howard O. Smith of Marlin.

Smith also announced these recent appointments:

* James D. Abrams of El Paso to State Air Control Board.

* Joe B. Burnett of Dallas as 44th district judge.

* J. Chrys Dougherty of Austin and Dr. Robert R. Lankford of Houston to the Submerged Lands Advisory Committee.

* Dr. Theodore Andreychuk of Lubbock and Dr. Ernest Barratt of Galveston and re-appointments of Dr. John I. Wheeler of Houston, Dr. Alvin John North of Dallas, Dr. George

Dry Weather Calls For Irrigation Skill

LUBBOCK--The hot, dry summer weather is demanding the most of the irrigation skills of cotton producers on the High Plains. With the demands for irrigation water increasing as the cotton crop approaches peak bloom, irrigation management and water distribution procedures hold the key to production success.

"One of the most critical items affecting good yields is the time required to irrigate the crop," points out Leon New, Area Irrigation Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "The crop should be irrigated at a controlled rate to avoid stress to the unirrigated portion and to keep from applying excessive water in dry soil."

By increasing the irrigating rate 20 to 25 percent with eight-hour sets instead of twelve-hour sets, yields were boosted in tests in Garza County. The number of furrows set were adjusted to apply two-and-a-half to three inches of water per acre from the combined well capacity of 250 gallons per minute. In the two-year tests, yields averaged 845 pounds per acre with the eight-hour sets and 770 pounds with the twelve-hour sets. The additional 75 pounds and $15 per acre came from the extra acre of cotton irrigated each day due to controlled application of irrigation water.

In solid planted cotton, the irrigating rate can often be increased 50 to 70 percent by applying water in alternate furrows, contends the irrigation specialist. Although more water is required in each furrow to maintain a desirable water advance rate, this method permits more timely irrigations. It is especially effective where irrigation water is limited.

In tests in Farmer County, yields were increased 28 pounds per acre with two alternate furrow summer irrigations. Only half as much water was applied than where every furrow was irrigated.

According to New, the alternate furrow method of irrigation also works well where irrigation water is more plentiful. Tests conducted in Lubbock County show that average yields can be maintained or even increased using this method. In 1969, yields averaged 711 pounds per acre from three alternate furrow irrigations compared to 715 pounds by watering every furrow. By irrigating each furrow four-and-a-half more inches of water were applied during the season and the yield value was $12 less per acre.

In skip-row planted cotton, the specialist recommends irrigating in the furrow between the cotton rather than in the skipped rows. In Garza County yields were increased 10 to 20 percent with this procedure and ranged from 24 to 82 pounds more per acre.

"Efficient irrigation practices can make a big difference in the production picture, especially in dry years such as this one," emphasizes New. "Crops will have a high water requirement this summer and producers should make every effort to get the water to them during the critical stages of growth. The demand for cotton looks good this year so that extra effort could pay some handsome dividends this fall."

SCHOOL DISTRICTS WARNED--At least 50 Texas school districts have been warned not to accept transfer students where the act would be interpreted as designed to impede desegregation or continue discrimination.

Dr. J. W. Edgar said districts were reminded of the April 20 Tyler federal court order forbidding transfers between districts where effect would be to interfere with integration or promote discriminatory treatment.

La Pryor, Uvalde and Carrizo Springs Independent School Districts were advised not to accept students from Crystal City (where Anglo parents apparently sought to move pupils out of Mexican-American dominated schools).

Del Rio school district was warned not to accept 729 transferees from San Felipe ISD which serves Laughlin Air Force Base. San Antonio ISD was notified it may be in violation of court order if it takes 316 transfer students from Edgewood ISD.

Edgar said state aid for transferees would have to be withheld, and accreditation or receiving districts would be in danger.

Grazing Small Grains Center Of Attention

BUSHLAND -- Grazing small grains will be the center of attention at a symposium scheduled for August 5 at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland.

The program begins at 1:30 p.m. and will feature scientists from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Texas A&M University along with a discussion of the practical aspects of grazing small grains by Martin Gossett, farmer and stockman from Dumas, Forage evaluation of small selecting new power plant locations. Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth was re-elected chairman of the Committee on Transportation of the Southern Area Council of State Governments.

Managing cropping for forage production and health problems of cattle grazing wheat will conclude the program, which is being jointly sponsored by the Center, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the Panhandle Economic Program and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Forage evaluation of small grains and irrigating wheat for forage and grain production will open the program. A presentation on how grazing affects soil compaction will follow, according to Dr. B. A. Stewart, director of the Center.

Farm safety week is observed every year to call attention to farm and home safety. This week, and every week, action must be taken to stop the needless loss of life and limb on our farms.

The announcement of a forthcoming visit to Mainland China by our President has brought forth much speculation in Washington as to the future of our diplomatic relationships not only with Red China but with our traditional allies as well.

I fervently hope that the President's visit to Peking will not result in a normalizing of relations with Peking on Peking's own inflexibly stated terms. Foreign policy actions on our part should be taken with full recognition of the past activities of the Chinese Communists. We must remember that the present government in Peking has demonstrated irrational attitudes in LUBBOCK -- The romantic spell cast by footlights and curtain calls has lured more than 50 students from across the state to this year's annual Texas Tech High School Theatre Workshop being conducted on the university campus through July 29.

Sponsored by Tech's Department of Speech and Theatre Arts, the two-week workshop which began Friday (July 16) is designed for high school sophomores and juniors, as well as outstanding freshmen of the 1970-71 school year.

According to workshop director Mrs. Noyce Burleson, the program includes study and practice in voice, diction, stage movement, acting, makeup, costumeing, stagecraft and lighting. Mrs. Burleson, a Texas Tech graduate, is a visiting instructor and director who teaches English and drama in Meadow public schools.

Students will produce four one-act plays to cap activities for the workshop. All four plays will be staged on consecutive nights, July 29 and 30, at Tech's University Theatre with admission set at $1 per person. The productions will begin both nights at 7 p.m. Plays scheduled include "Measures Taken" by Brecht, under guest direct Dick King from Lubbock High School; "The Lottery" directed by Pam Brown from Cooper High School; an act from "The Boyfriend" directed by guest director and choreographer Troy West of Texas Tech; and "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil" directed by Kerry Moore of Muleshoe High School.

Guest instructor in advanced acting and makeup for the workshop is G. W. Bailey, a widely known figure in Lubbock and Texas Tech theatre circles. Set director is Phil Weyland, and lighting director is Mike Makins.

counter-productive. Such action could well lead to failure of the Nixon Doctrine. It could result in the loss of military base rights in our Western Defense Perimeter. It could render the strategic concept of the perimeter worthless. It could force a withdrawal of our security line back to the West Coast, with Hawaii re-emerging as an outpost of mainland America. Such isolationism, I fear, might bring with it the loss of allies and foreign markets, a significant retrenchment of conventional military forces, and a total reliance upon nuclear defense without a viable conventional defense option.

As we consider the future of U. S. interests in the Western Pacific and Asia, I think it would be well for us to recall the experiences of the Free World in dealing with Communism in Europe. It is somewhat ironic that questions as to our future relations with China come upon us just as we are observing Captive Nations Week, in which we are reflecting upon the results of another type of Communism in Eastern Europe. This past week marked the 13th anniversary of Captive Nations Week. It is a time for remembering that Communism and individual freedom cannot survive together.

Russian Communism controls the lives of 100 million Europeans. It maintains its control through oppression as demonstrated in Czechoslovakia in 1968 and in Poland last year as well as scores of other less publicized incidents. But just as each of these events serves to demonstrate Communist oppression, it also demonstrates that the desire for freedom remains in the hearts of the peoples of the Captive Nations. The leaders of the West should not take any action which would lead to a stifling of these aspirations.

A policy of normalization of relations between the United States and the Communist world may, in the long run, heighten the chances of world conflict unless the United States makes it perfectly clear that it will not support under any circumstances the continuation of a policy of Communist enslavement in violation of fundamental human rights.

As we remember this in application to Eastern Europe, we must also keep this tenet in full view in our relations in the Western Pacific.

Not Always Man does not live by words alone, despite the fact that sometimes he has to eat them.

Water Inc. Will Sponsor Tour Water Project

Reservations for the Water, Inc., sponsored tour of California Water projects must be made by August 1. That's the word from the organization's executive director, Bill Clayton, who explained that the deadline was necessitated by the need to "firm-up" airline and hotel reservations.

Slated to begin on August 22, the tour group goes first to Sacramento for a briefing by California officials. From Sacramento, the entourage goes to Oroville Dam on the Feather River, then follows the California aqueduct south to the arid area southeast of Los Angeles. Plans call for two nights in Sacramento, and one each in Fresno and Bakersfield. Following the final day of touring on August 26, the tour group boards a jet airliner at Los Angeles for a night flight home.

All air travel will be aboard regularly scheduled jet flights. The trek through California will be on air conditioned buses. Cost of the trip which includes all transportation, all lodging and most of the meals is $300 per person. Reservations may be made by contacting the Water, Inc., offices at P.O. Box 367, Lubbock, Texas, Telephone 806-763-5271. Thant reiterates his intention to retire.

VEE Epidemic Concern Given By Mutscher

In the past 48 hours the Speaker's Office has been in contact with numerous ranchers, farmers, horsemen and members of state agencies concerned with the present epidemic of VEE (Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis). Due to the seriousness of the matter, as indicated by these individuals, I have written to all members of the Texas delegation to Congress expressing our concern.

It is my sincere hope that a concerted Federal-State effort will help eliminate this epidemic which not only threatens valuable animal life, but also human health.

In order to better coordinate efforts on the state level, I am appointing a committee of five members of the Texas House of Representatives to take whatever steps are necessary to work toward a solution of the problem.

This committee will be chaired by Representative Charles Jungmichel of La Grange. Other members are Representatives J. A. Garcia of Raymondville, R. B. McAlister of Lubbock, John Poerner of Hondo, Paul Silber of San Antonio and Bill Prenal of Bryan.

I will ask this committee to work with the Texas Department of Agriculture, the Texas Department of Health and any necessary Federal agencies in providing adequate serum to inoculate horses and in coordinating mosquito elimination programs. In addition I will ask the committee to act as a contact point for farmers, ranchers and horsemen and agencies of government so we might be able to keep an accurate account of the spread of the disease.

Library News

by Anne Camp

The Muleshoe Area Public Library has just received two unusually good books about the Indian people. The first is entitled Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee, by Dee Brown, and it has been on all the best-seller lists. It has been rated as one of the best documented accounts of the American Indian ever to be published and Dee Brown spent years researching and writing this important work. We are very happy to present this as the first of the Celia Matthiesen Memorial books, as a Southwestern collection.

The second book is entitled The Tall Candle by Rosalio Moises, written with the assistance of William Curry Holden, Dean Emeritus of Texas Tech Graduate School, and Jane Holden Kelley, author of archaeological books and professor of Archaeology. It is primarily Rosalio's personal story of a Yaqui Indian, the historical awareness and regard for accurate detail make this a very important contribution to the historical record of this tribe of Indians in the Southwest. The title of the book comes from the belief that Rosalio has that for everyone there is a candle burning in heaven and one lives until one's candle burns down - and his candle was tall.

Other recent arrivals include mysteries by popular authors such as Anne Maybury, Victoria Holt, Katherine Cookson and Phylliss Whitney, and some very good selections of fiction for young people.

There were 174 books for small fry donated this week by the Carl Bamerts, these will be added as processed. Also a large collection of books were given by Margaret Slemmons. The Summer Reading Club rolls right along, with circulation very high.

A candidate for the base-police force was taking a verbal exam.

"If you were alone in a patrol car and a gang of desperate criminals in another car was chasing you down Sherman Avenue at 60 miles an hour, what would you do?"

"Seventy," came the reply.

 COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

The announcement of a forthcoming visit to Mainland China by our President has brought forth much speculation in Washington as to the future of our diplomatic relationships not only with Red China but with our traditional allies as well.

I fervently hope that the President's visit to Peking will not result in a normalizing of relations with Peking on Peking's own inflexibly stated terms. Foreign policy actions on our part should be taken with full recognition of the past activities of the Chinese Communists. We must remember that the present government in Peking has demonstrated irrational attitudes in counter-productive. Such action could well lead to failure of the Nixon Doctrine. It could result in the loss of military base rights in our Western Defense Perimeter. It could render the strategic concept of the perimeter worthless. It could force a withdrawal of our security line back to the West Coast, with Hawaii re-emerging as an outpost of mainland America. Such isolationism, I fear, might bring with it the loss of allies and foreign markets, a significant retrenchment of conventional military forces, and a total reliance upon nuclear defense without a viable conventional defense option.

As we consider the future of U. S. interests in the Western Pacific and Asia, I think it would be well for us to recall the experiences of the Free World in dealing with Communism in Europe. It is somewhat ironic that questions as to our future relations with China come upon us just as we are observing Captive Nations Week, in which we are reflecting upon the results of another type of Communism in Eastern Europe.

This past week marked the 13th anniversary of Captive Nations Week. It is a time for remembering that Communism and individual freedom cannot survive together.

Russian Communism controls the lives of 100 million Europeans. It maintains its control through oppression as demonstrated in Czechoslovakia in 1968 and in Poland last year as well as scores of other less publicized incidents. But just as each of these events serves to demonstrate Communist oppression, it also demonstrates that the desire for freedom remains in the hearts of the peoples of the Captive Nations. The leaders of the West should not take any action which would lead to a stifling of these aspirations.

A policy of normalization of relations between the United States and the Communist world may, in the long run, heighten the chances of world conflict unless the United States makes it perfectly clear that it will not support under any circumstances the continuation of a policy of Communist enslavement in violation of fundamental human rights.

As we remember this in application to Eastern Europe, we must also keep this tenet in full view in our relations in the Western Pacific.

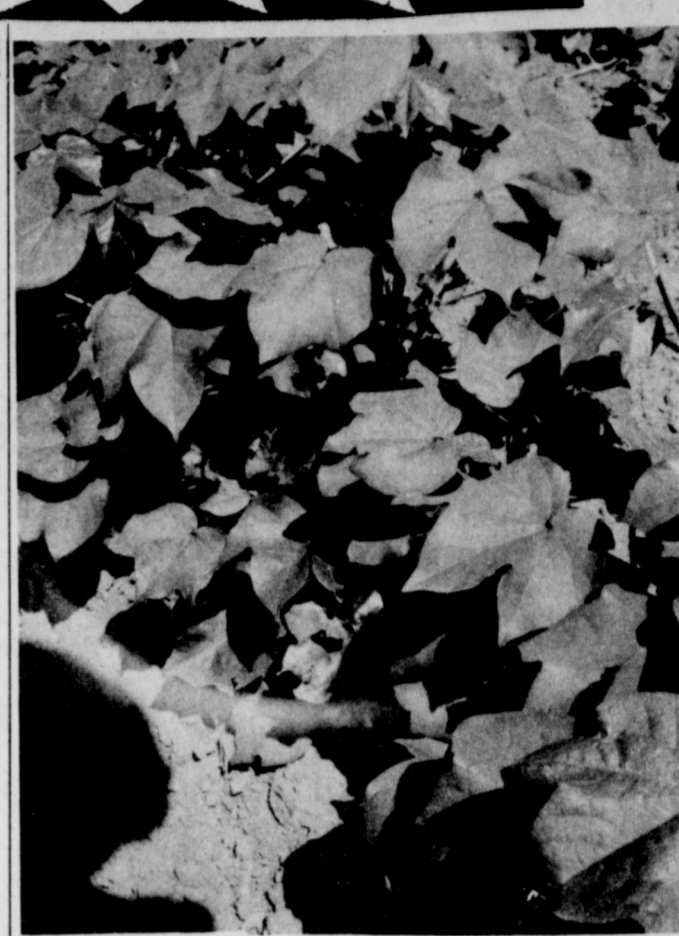

The pursuit of such a policy would leave the American influence in Asia and the Pacific at an unacceptably low level. With the United States no longer a viable alternative to Chinese Communism, our present friends and allies would be forced to either "go it alone" or make an accommodation with the dominant force in Asia. Such accommodations might well require the exclusion of the United States from fair treatment in the economic markets of the Pacific.

The United States could quickly become an economically isolated fortress as well as a militarily vulnerable one.

We need our Western Pacific Defense Perimeter and we need a viable Taiwan in order to preserve it. Taiwan is an essential link in our defense perimeter. It possesses a growing military importance as we de-escalate in Vietnam.

Rapprochement with Red China at the expense of the Republic of China would be
