Business Heads to Meet Monday

All Baird business owners are urged to attend a meeting at the American Legion building Monday night beginning at 8 p. m.

The purpose of the meeting is three-fold. First, the organization of the Baird Credit Association will be perfected. Officers and directors will be elected and general plans for the association will be adopted. Nearly all of Baird firms have joined the credit association and organization steps have been going forward nicely. The necessary form for the office files have been set up, data is coming in right along, and now the matter of electing officers should be done to complete the job.

Second of importance will be a general round table session where everyone will be given the opportunity to express himself as to what he thinks would be good for Baird. At the last meeting of business people a lot of things were gotten off the chest as it were and all in all that was a worthwhile meeting. You can gripe, belittle, praise, or quietly offer constructive suggestions.

Third, a discussion of the Trades Day will be held. Business people may tell how the plan has helped or hurt as the case might be. Suggestions for improvement will be in order. It is ordinarily true that, after a program has been going along for a month or two, certain changes can make the plan work for the good of the people. A vote of the majority at the meeting may result in whatever change is desired.

Crowd Likes Music In Baird on Saturday

Crowds that gather around the music players in Baird Streets every Saturday afternoon seem to thoroughly enjoy the program. The music comes to Baird now on Saturday, not only to purchase their supplies for the week, but to have a good time, meet their friends and enjoy a fine program.

Last Saturday the music was furnished by Marvin West of Lubbock, James Archer, of Cottonwood, Gene Wilcoxon of Cross Plains, George Sadler, Pat Sadler, Dolores Flores, C. T. Nordyke and E. P. (Pop) Whitaker. Pop Whitaker is in charge of the program and under his leadership the musical program is gradually getting better with larger attendance each week.

The musical program started with the Trades Day in Baird. It is believed that the Saturday music program will continue long after the Trades Day practice has been ended. All musicians are welcome to participate in this affair. There is no fee for anyone, it's all free.

Prospects Bright For Oil Field Five Miles North of Baird

Prospects are good for an oil field five miles north of Baird on the Jackson land, since a discovery was made by the Magnolia Petroleum Company there Wednesday night, at a total depth of 2,705 feet. A drillstem test was run on a section of the formation between 2699 and 2705 feet. Gas was detected at the surface in 9 minutes and oil flowed in 18 minutes. Other information connected with this discovery is unavailable at this early hour. Although prospects look good, especially at this depth, however, the true picture cannot be seen until the well is tested.

Magnolia has a permit to drill 4800 feet, and it is not known whether they will drill on through or move over and drill an off-set. In either event, considerable activity is predicted for this area and chances are bright for an oil field.

CALLAHAN TEST GETS OIL FLOW

A discovery well loomed in Callahan County six miles east of Abilene.

The Mid-Continent Petroleum Corp. No. 1 A. J. Stevenson, Section 3, Block 8, SP Survey, a projected 5,000-foot wildcat, encountered flowing oil on a drillstem test.

Tool was open an hour and 45 minutes. Gas appeared at the surface in four minutes. Oil flowed in an hour and 30 minutes. Recovery was 900 feet of fluid, of which 540 feet was clean oil, 180 feet was heavily oil and gas cut mud and 180 feet was salt water.

Operator ran pipe to total depth of 3,295 feet, and was waiting on cement Thursday.

THREE TESTS DUE IN CALLAHAN COUNTY

Three new wildcats are scheduled for Callahan county. Two locations have been spotted in the Baird area, while another location is near Cottonwood.

McCarthy & Coleman have spotted their No. 1 Hugh W. Ross one mile north of Baird. It will be 1,050 feet from the north and 330 feet from the east lines of BBB&C Survey 103. Contract depth is 2,800 feet with rotary.

The same firm has spotted its No. 1-A Hugh W. Ross one and one-fourth mile northwest of Baird. Drillsite is 1,550 feet from the north and 650 feet from the west lines of BBB&C Survey 103. It is slated for 1,600 feet with rotary.

J. Ross Clark II has spotted his No. 1 C. C. Joy. Location is one and one-half miles northwest of Cottonwood, 2,601 feet from the west and 330 feet from the south lines of Block 761, Jacob Trask Survey. It is contracted for 4,200 feet with rotary.

A wildcat failure in the county is Horace E. White, et al, No. 1 N. I. Williams, et al, Section 46, Lunatic Asylum Lands Survey, five miles southwest of Moran. It was plugged at 4,252 feet.

CALLAHAN TEST IS ANNOUNCED

Callahan County had a new wildcat location Saturday three miles southwest of Putnam.

It is to be the John R. Maroney, Jr., Dallas, No. 1 Arthur Beasley, 330 feet from the north and east lines of the southeast quarter of Section 26, D&D Survey.

Proposed depth is 4,100 feet with cable tools.

CHARLES ALTMAN SUSTAINS BROKEN LEG IN BALL GAME

Two Killed on Highway South of Baird Monday

Two people were killed in a wreck that occurred at the intersection of State Highway 36 and U. S. Highway 183, 12 miles south of Baird Monday about 8:30 o'clock.

The body of Mrs. Robert Donald McClanahan, 28, was taken by Wylie Funeral Home ambulance to Brady that afternoon from Baird. The body of William A. Berger, 35, of Austin was brought to Wylie Funeral Home and then to Missouri for interment.

Mrs. McClanahan's husband, a captain stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas, and her son, Robert Wood, about 3, injured in the crash were taken to the hospital by Wylie ambulance. Attendants at Callahan County Hospital said McClanahan's injuries were serious. He suffered a back injury, two fractured ribs, head lacerations and a fractured pelvis. The youngster, Robert, was treated for shock.

Highway Patrolman George Clark investigated the crash. Berger's car, a 1950 Ford was traveling westward on Highway 36 while the McClanahan car, a 1950 Oldsmobile, was traveling on Highway 183. The car's metal almost exactly where the center strippers cross and they skidded across the grassy right-of-way almost a hundred feet.

HAROLD RAY WILL NOT SERVE AS MAYOR

Since there has been considerable talk of writing in the name of Harold Ray for the office of mayor in today's election, Mr. Ray makes the following statement asking voters not to write in his name when they go to vote.

"If elected I can not serve as mayor. Please do not write my name in."

Harold Ray."

RED CROSS WORK AT EULA NEARING COMPLETION

The Red Cross finished registering disaster cases caused by the recent storm there, according to Hugh Ross, disaster chairman for Callahan county. Mr. Ross stated that some time will be required to bring the work to final completion due to the fact several homes will have to be repaired and one will be rebuilt. The Red Cross plans to spend about $3,500 on disaster sufferers in the Eula community, he stated. Miss Sylvia Gentry, disaster case worker, who has been on the job at Eula during the past week, left for Houston Wednesday after completing her task.

Murder Charge Filed Against Weatherford Man As Result of Death of George Weed

WEATHERFORD, June 25—Bert Lee Johnson, 22, of Weatherford will be charged Monday with murder in connection with the death early Sunday here of George W. Weed, 24, of Putnam, said Sheriff Louis Peoples.

Johnson had been accused earlier of assault with intent to murder, but since Weed's death the charge will be changed to murder, Sheriff Peoples explained.

Weed died in a Weatherford hospital at 5:30 a. m. Sunday of shotgun injuries suffered in a fight Friday night.

Bob Johnson, 59, father of Bert, was in a serious condition at his home as a result of the fight.

The Sheriff stated that the battle grew out of a dispute over the custody of a child, the five-year-old daughter of Bert Lee Johnson and the present Mrs. Weed, who were divorced several months ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson, the child's grandparents, have custody of the little girl.

Sheriff Peoples said Weed, accompanied by William T. Choate, 41 of Gorman, went to the Bob Johnson home Friday about 9 p. m., and that a fight over the child ensued.

He said Choate has been charged with assault with intent to murder in connection with injuries suffered in the battle by the elder Johnson. He stated that Mrs. Bob Johnson also was hurt.

Weed was an oilfield tool dresser and an Army veteran. He was born at Putnam Aug. 22, 1926.

His funeral is to be held at 3 p. m. Monday at the Scranton Baptist Church near Cisco, with Sister Fronia Blackwell, pastor of the Cisco Pentecostal Church, officiating.

Burial will be in the Scranton Cemetery with Wylie Funeral Home of Baird directing.

Survivors include Weed's wife, of Weatherford; one daughter, Sherra Ann of Weatherford; his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Weed, Putnam; five brothers, Chester Weed of Baird, Albert of Cisco, Doc of San Antonio, Carl and Porter of Putnam; three sisters, Mrs. Esther Abernathy, Moran; Mrs. Urae Holder, San Antonio; and Mrs. M. L. Rouse, Putnam.

'Just Round About

As we walked up and down the street * * * The chief topic of conversation was the matter of who to elect to the office of mayor of Baird in today's election. It seems that the whole town is very much concerned about the matter, and that is as it should be. The mayor of Baird is going to have a difficult job to do in keeping the wheels of progress turning now that the town is going forward. A growing town always suffers growing pains. Baird has never experienced such a feeling, and heretofore the city officials had their work cut out for them, so to speak. Maybe this is the reason the busy men of our town will not permit their names to be mentioned as a likely write-in candidate * * * After we reported in this column last week that folks were talking up a write-in campaign for Harold Ray, he comes forth through the Star this week to state "If elected I can not serve as mayor. Please do not write my name in" * * * What Baird needs now is for some loyal citizen to raise his head above the crowd and say he will lead us onward in the capacity of mayor. In times past it has been said that the city dads picked the candidates they favored, but now it is left entirely in the hands of the voters. Surely, the people will do right * * * Ranchmen who met along Baird sidewalks during the past few days have been predicting serious grass fires to occur this summer and fall. With the high grass covering this country at present, and the hot days already drying out the greenery, it won't be many days until it will burn at the drop of a match. There is some talk about the ranch people of the Baird area throwing in and buying a fire truck to be used to fight such fires. The Baird fireman have done a fine job of fighting grass fires in the past with the city equipment. There are two things wrong with this practice, even though everyone is anxious and willing to fight fire wherever they find it. First, the little fire truck is not built for the job of fighting grass fires. Second, when the truck leaves the city limits it leaves the town unprotected. This lack of protection includes the chances of a home or business house going up in smoke and the cancellation of insurance. Baird people want to help the ranchers and farmers in, every way possible, but there is a note of warning to those who may do what they can to help themselves * * * Roy Thornton brought several pounds of good home-made butter to town last Saturday * * * Baird people are about to be exposed to some pretty strong Bible lessons. The Baptist folks and the Church of Christ folks are announcing meetings to begin on July 9. With both of these big congregations holding meetings, we venture to say most of the people in Baird will be found at church during the next ten days or two weeks. We also predict that there won't be much mischief going on in this vicinity during that period * * * People are excited over the prospects of an oil field at the north edge of Baird. The well that was brought in on the Jackson lands five miles north of town yesterday, looks mighty favorable to extensive drilling activities here. We hear that the oil was discovered at about 2600 feet and that the well is expected to hold up.

The Old Fashion Garden Club will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. J. N. Harris. Mrs. Kathryn Childress of the Lone Star Gas Co. of Abilene, will be the guest speaker.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A GOOD LISTENER
Allen Jones

"A good listener is not only popular everywhere, but after a while he knows something." In other words, he knows twice as much as the one who "pops-off", because he knows all the "pop-off" knows and still retains his silent knowledge.

Jesus Christ was a good listener and taught with few words. Some people thought Jesus did not know much. There were those who said about Him: "How knoweth this man letters having never learned?" But when we go on with His few words of teaching we find that many were astonished at His teaching, for He taught as one having authority and not as the Scribes.

Many people who "pop-off" would know more if they would only read and be good listeners to Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. These books contain the few philosophical thoughts and teachings of Jesus Christ.

There are some people who think the other people are crazy and they know it all. In other words, they "pop-off" all the time and think those who listen are half-wits. (In fact, this is a curious world in which we live, but it is worthwhile if we listen to Jesus Christ instead of listening to the "pop-off.")

FIVE PEOPLE FROM BAIRD ENROLLED AT H. S. U.

Five people from Baird are among the 1,000 students enrolled at Hardin-Simmons university for the first term of the summer semester. Classes began May 31 and will end July 7.

The students from Baird are William Hilton Manning, Betty Lackey, J. C. Cook, Isadore Grimes, and Paul Shanks.

Dr. Robert A. Collins, director of the university summer school announced that approximately 300 of the registrants are working on their Masters degrees. A total of 328 veterans—more than in either the fall or spring semesters—are enrolled.

The second summer term will begin July 10, he said. The summer school schedule calls for two long terms of six weeks each and one short term of three weeks. Courses are being offered in 21 different fields of study, and special schools for band and choir will be held.

Manning, a veteran, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Manning. He is a senior at the university.

Mrs. Lackey, wife of Thomas Lackey, is a junior at the university. She is the former Betty Dungan.

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

Argue From Others' Point of View

HENRY STRAINERT, of Richmond, Indiana, once saved $13.80 by merely seeing the other fellow's point of view, and he says that that was better than earning the same amount for it gave him the satisfaction of knowing that he could handle a trying situation.

A friend who lived in the same house got two of Henry's shirts mixed with his own laundry. When the laundry was delivered this boy was out of town.

The delivery man demanded that Henry pay the entire bill of $15, or he couldn't have his two shirts. In vain Henry argued that he didn't want the other boy's laundry, that it could be held until the boy returned and paid his own bill. But Henry did want his own shirts. Naturally.

However, the man took the bundle of clothing back in its entirety to headquarters.

Henry thought it over that night after he went to bed. All of a sudden there came into his mind something he had once heard a successful salesman say about "talking from the other fellow's point of view."

The next day he went around to see the head of the laundry and found he had been advised of the shirt status. He said the delivery man was right; the bill must be paid before Henry could get his shirts.

Said Henry, "I see your point of view and I am sure I would feel as you do about it if I were in your place. Of course, you don't know that my friend will ever return for his laundry."

"Exactly," the laundryman agreed.

"And if he shouldn't you would be stuck with his clothing which you don't want."

"That's just the case," said the other man, "this isn't the first time such a thing has happened, you know."

"I'm sure of that," agreed Henry. "And as I say, I can't blame you however badly I need those shirts." He moved as if to go, saying, "I know my friend will return, I can only hope it will be this week."

At that the laundryman looked at him closely and said: "I'm sure you're telling the truth about your shirts and I'm going to take a chance on the other fellow coming back and paying his bill." Then he rang for one of the workers and told him to give Henry his shirts.

By LYTTLE HULL

WELL BEFORE the election of 1948, the American farmers had plenty of warning that if they helped elect Harry Truman they would regret it deeply.

Well, they not only helped elect him, they did elect him. He made them a lot of promises which common sense should have told them was just so much socialist bunk. They knew he was a professional politician brought up in the Pendergast school. They had been fooled many a time before by experts—and were still for the same old soft soap. Now they are beginning to get "theirs," while all the love is being made to the union boys who quit the New Deal bandwagon when they began to realize that the Taft-Hartley law which Mr. Truman had reviled was their only defense against the big union commissars who were enslaving them.

Socialism doesn't work, never has worked, and never will. It has been tried a hundred times and has destroyed as many empires as has war. They are toppling around us even as this is being written. The British empire is falling apart; France is on the skids; and it wouldn't take much of a shove to push Italy over. These three nations are trying out socialism. They will fail.

Americans must inform their government that they want to earn their own living in their own way and spend it in their own way, that they don't want the government to nurse them through life, that they prefer to pay for their own false teeth and wigs—and even their own doctor's bills.

It is probably too late to persuade Harry Truman that we want to live like men, but it is just the right time to begin figuring on some non-socialists for the 1952 elections and discussing their qualifications with our families and friends.

This country will have taken 20 years of New Deal by 1952. No other nation on earth could have lasted half that time. We cannot stand another four years and hope to escape the big bear which is impatiently awaiting our collapse.

'AIR CADET' STARS LEARN JET SQUADRON LANGUAGE

When Stephen McNally and Richard Long quartered with pilots of the United States Air Force to make Universal-International's "Air Cadet" at Randolph Field, Texas, and Williams Field Arizona, the acting pair had to learn an entire new language before they felt on an equal footing with the airmen.

"Air Cadet," which tells the dramatic story of the training of jet fighter pilots for Uncle Sam's air squadrons, opens Sunday and Monday at the Plaza Theatre.

The semi-documentary film also headlines Gail Russell, Alex Nicol, Rock Hudson, Charles Drake, Robert Arthur, James Best and Peggie Castle.

The problem was to become so adept at the use of the new language that the public, when viewing "Air Cadet" would feel that the actors were as real as the actual pilots and cadets who play important roles in the new film.

One cadet, upon reading the script, told Richard Long, "I see you're going to play a rock in this picture."

A rock, in flight vernacular is a hot pilot. The stars found out quickly too, that no flier ever crashes. He clobbers.

As far as the Air Force is concerned, the actors learned, the F-80 is known as a jet-propelled fighter craft. To the public it is known either as a shooting star or just plain Jet Fighter. To the cadets, however, the newest aircraft machine could be either a firecan, a stovepipe or a flame-thrower. And the pilots are designated as firecan jockeys.

The Hollywood players also discovered that a firecan jockey never comes in for a landing—he goes downstairs. He never buzzes a field or a barn, but goes out in the tullies. And his engine never dies, it merely has a flameout.

"Air Cadet," filmed on location with the complete co-operation of the United States Air Corps, was directed by Joseph Pevney and produced by Aaron Rosenberg.

Mrs. J. L. Ault returned home from Austin, where she attended a workshop for School Nurses at the University of Texas, for two weeks.

Mrs. Hunter taught school at Freeport while Mr. Fleming was superintendent there about fifteen years ago, and his visit was a rare pleasure.

Star Receives Book on Publication Laws

A new book containing Texas Publication Laws written and compiled by Price Daniel, Attorney General of Texas, has just been received by the Baird Star. The book was published after the 51st legislature passed the Mandatory Publication Act setting a penalty for failure of the part of office holders to publish required legal notices.

Rather than cause any of our officers embarrassment when they fail to follow the law on certain matters by not making proper publication of public notices, we obtained this book for them to use and learn what the law requires. Any of our officers of the city, county, water district, school district, or any other body, may use the book upon request. The book will be kept at the Star office where all may use it freely.

Written by the Attorney General of Texas, himself a newspaperman, the Texas Publication Laws was distributed by the Texas Press Association at five dollars per copy. If any of our officers would like to purchase their own copy they may do so by sending their order with five dollars to The Texas Press Association, Austin, Texas. For reference, however, we will be glad for you to use our's and save your money.

Rev. J. L. Carter and Gerald Dallas spent from Sunday until Wednesday in Dallas, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Alfred, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor, and Mrs. Carrie Hall.

DOC REDSHAW'S WEIGH

A SHORT STORY
BY JAY BLAINE

DOC REDSHAW was a good enough dentist but he had no faith in his fellow man, particularly tradesmen with whom he dealt. He was skeptical, suspicious and set in his views. That's why he got into trouble with Herb Stoneburn, the Blackpool village coal dealer, only Herb didn't know it.

At his home lunch one day, Doc's wife Polly asked him if he had ordered more coal as they were out of it. The weather was cooler and she wasn't feeling so well. A little warmth would do her good, she said.

"Yes, I tried, but Blue Moon coal is hard to get," answered Doc. "Briggs hasn't any and Jones Bros. say they can't get it. I won't have anything but Blue Moon. Nothing else is fit to burn in my furnace."

"Why not try Herb Stoneburn?" asked Polly.

"That shyster!" shouted Doc in a nasty tone. "I don't trust him, that's why."

"Oh, well, I suppose I can shiver a few days, if I don't die meantime," sniffed Polly.

That touched Doc, for he loved his wife. It broke his resolution as to Herb but he went to Blue Moon. He'd take a chance on Herb.

He telephoned the coal office. Herb himself answered.

"Got any Blue Moon?" demanded Doc.

"We got a little on hand. How much do you need?"

"I want two tons—no more, no less. Understand? I mean exactly that. Can you get it to me this afternoon?"

"I guess we can," answered Herb.

"Won't be anybody home," went on Doc, "but I'll leave the coal chute window open. Be sure, now, that the coal gets here."

The way Doc talked wasn't very nice—just a kind of growling.

But he kissed Polly goodbye and left, talking bitterly to himself.

When Doc came home that evening he went below to inspect his purchase. In less than a minute he was back upstairs with his face as black as the coal itself.

"What's the matter?" asked Polly.

"Matter?" he shouted. "I've been cheated. I ordered two tons and there ain't more than a ton there. That's what. He's a swindler, that Herb Stoneburn! Not a single lump must be burned until it's weighed up. Right after supper I'll see about it. That oily hypocrite can't get away with anything like that."

All through the meal Doc stormed and sputtered. He couldn't enjoy his victuals at all and Polly couldn't hers.

After supper Doc went below again. The only scales he could find was a set of old-fashioned steel-yards—a long steel bar balance contrivance—relic of another day. He'd shovel up a paillful of coal, then lift the load on the steel-yards and observe the weight. Then he'd set down the figures with a pencil on a paper on the wall.

It was slow work. Black clouds of dust enveloped him and set him coughing and sneezing. He sputtered and sweated. He took off his vest and necktie and hung them on a nail.

Meantime, neighbors had discovered what Doc was doing and gathered slyly to watch him through the basement window. Their remarks were not all complimentary to Doc.

It was long after midnight when Doc shoveled up the last bucketful and set down its weight. He was tired and grimy and all the bones of his body ached as he footed up the figures. But sure enough, there was a shortage—only thirty-five hundred pounds when there should have been four thousand. He'd been short-weighted a good quarter ton.

Doc's anger now changed to exaltation. With this proof he could now have Herb jailed.

He was so tired and sore that he couldn't get to sleep for a long time. Next day he would not only have Herb arrested, but he would tell him about it in advance.

In the morning Doc dragged his still aching form to the telephone. Herb himself answered.

"Herb," demanded Doc with voice trembling with suppressed anger. "Do you know that load of coal yesterday was five hundred pounds short? You—"

"That's right," answered Herb, pleasantly. "Didn't have quite enough on hand after all. Nobody at home to explain to, but sent what we had. Another car load came in during the night, and driver's on the way down with the rest of it right now. Just pay him when he gets there."

Doc deflated like a punctured tire.

"Polly," he called, "help me get back to bed."

Doc's back has been paining him ever since.

STARS AT OWN FUNERAL . . . John Gernhart, 71, Burlington, Colo., a bachelor without kin in his own generation, decided that if he were to get the kind of funeral he wanted he had better conduct it himself. He did so in national guard armory and thousands attended. After hymns and obituaries, he stored coffin in basement of his home and held reception for his pallbearers. Eradication Program for Mesquite Control Under Way in County

B. B. McPherson

For a good many years farmers and ranchers in Callahan County have watched encroachment of mesquite on open grassland. What "Old Timers" will tell you once was an open prairie, with only a few large mesquites dotting the terrain, is now dense thickets of mesquite. Where pastures are heavily infested with mesquite, farmers and ranchers have found that many of the most desirable grasses have almost or completely disappeared. The valleys and low lands that once produced an abundance of thick nutritious grasses, will now grow only during the winter and early spring while the mesquite is dormant. Authorities have found that mesquite take away much of the moisture and plant food needed to grow nutritious grasses for livestock. Since grazing livestock on grasses is recognized as the cheapest means of adding weight to livestock, farmers and ranchers whose ranges have become heavily infested with mesquite have been required to reduce the number of livestock or to resort to supplemental feeding. What caused this encroachment of mesquite upon grassland? Perhaps there are many answers to this question, and certainly there are many opinions. It is generally recognized that anything which tends to reduce the stand of desirable pasture plants affords an opportunity for undesirable plants to get started and take over. Prolonged droughts and over-grazing are two things which certainly tend to reduce the stand of desirable plants.

Now that our pastures are infested with mesquite, how are we to go about eliminating or controlling them? Several methods of eliminating mesquite have been employed in the past years, but generally speaking, these methods have been ineffective, or too expensive.

A new approach to the problem of controlling mesquite is being tried in Callahan County this year. This consists of spraying mesquite by airplane with the chemical 2,4,5-T. Much experimental work has been done on the control of mesquite by the Texas Experimental Substation No. 7, Spur, Texas. Largely through the efforts and work of Mr. C. E. Fisher, Superintendent of Substation No. 7, 2,4,5-T is now recommended as a means of controlling heavily infested areas of mesquite. Although the chemical control of mesquite by airplane spraying of 2,4,5-T is still more or less in the experimental stages, it appears to offer the most practical and economical method of control known to date. 2,4,5-T is mixed with diesel oil and water and is applied at the rate of four gallons of total solution per acre by airplanes equipped with spray booms. Airplanes are flown almost at tree top level when the chemical is being applied, in order to lessen the amount of drift, and to assure that as much of the spray as possible is deposited on the leaves of the mesquite. Experiments have shown that best results from 2,4,5-T are obtained when mesquite are sprayed from 40 to 90 days after the first leaves have appeared and when growing conditions have been favorable for a period of 30 days or more. Normally, leaves of mesquite sprayed with 2,4,5-T will begin to turn yellow within a week, and most of the trees will be completely defoliated within three weeks. In addition to the control of mesquite, nearly all annual weeds such as broomweed, sunflower, cocklebur, thistles, and many others are completely destroyed by 2,4,5-T. In the amounts used to control mesquite, 2,4,5-T is not harmful to livestock or to native grasses. This chemical, however, even in trace amounts, will damage highly susceptible crops like cotton, peanuts, truck crops, fruit trees, ornamental shrubs, and many others. For this reason, extreme caution must be exercised in the use of 2,4,5-T. Farmers and ranchers in Callahan County have sprayed about 11,000 acres of mesquite this year with 2,4,5-T. These people are not expecting any miracle because they know that 2,4,5-T is recommended as a control, and not as an elimination. However if the chemical is properly applied, farmers and ranchers who have sprayed may expect to receive up to a 98 percent top kill, and from 40 to 70 percent root kill. Retreatment five to ten years later to control sprout growth and seedlings should be planned. Grazing trials have shown that the control of mesquite has increased livestock gains from 17 to 43 percent. In addition, the ease of handling and caring for livestock on areas cleared of mesquite probably represents one of the greatest benefits to livestock raisers.

The total cost of spraying an acre of mesquite by airplane with 2,4,5-T is $3.31. The chemical costs $2.07 per acre, and the cost of mixing and spraying is $1.24 per acre. Under the 1951 PMA Program, assistance is offered for chemical control of mesquite by airplane spraying of 2,4,5-T at the rate of $1.75 per acre up to the individual farmer's or rancher's allowance. Thus, farmers or ranchers participating in the PMA Program may get mesquite sprayed for a net cost to them of $1.56 per acre.

Widespread interest in being shown in this new method of controlling mesquite and results will be closely watched. If the results are favorable, we may well be on our way to ridding good rangeland of the pesky mesquite.

Mrs. Leslie Rickerson and children, George and Betty Jane, left Thursday of last week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brose Oglesby, at Lubbock for ten days. Mr. Rickerson took his family to Lubbock and returned home Friday.

"EASY DOES IT"
BY HELEN HALE

VASES, BOTTLES AND DECANTERS which are so slender that they are difficult to clean may be washed by this simple method: Fasten a piece of sponge to a stick and push down in the container to cleanse.

Pots and pans which have food cooked or dried on them are easy to clean by placing water in them and covering tightly. Let come to a boil and cook for a few minutes. The steam created will help loosen food and make it easy to remove.

If your stove needs blacking, polish with vinegar, strong tea or turpentine. You may also use a small piece of alum for the job.

Discolored china is easy to whiten if you rub with a damp cloth dipped in baking soda or vinegar and salt. This is frequently enough to restore original whiteness.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Molded Ham Salad (Serves 8-10)
1 5-7 pound smoked picnic ham
1 tablespoon horseradish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
3 cups hot stock
3 bouillon cubes or meat concentrate
Cover meat with water. Cover; simmer until tender, from 3 to 4 hours. Cool in cooking water. Put through food chopper, using medium blade; measure 5 cups ham. Add horseradish and mustard. Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in hot stock; add bouillon cubes. Add meat mixture. Chill until firm in oiled 5" x 10" pan. Unmold and slice.

Faucets can be made to shine almost like new if you rub the fixture with a half lemon which has been squeezed of its juice. Polish with a soft, clean, dry cloth.

Black spots on silverware can be removed readily with a paste of whiting, free from grit and some olive oil. Polish lightly with a soft cloth.

Clean the percolator by filling with hot water. Add one tablespoon of powdered borax and the same amount of soap powder. Let the solution percolate a few minutes then wash and rinse off thoroughly.

Mr. and Mrs. George Foster and children spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Emmett Price, at Putnam.

Here is a believe it or not story; Sunday there was still hail in drifts south of Admiral at Warren Price's place and J. D. Cauthen's lease that fell the Sunday before. There might be some yet as some of the drifts were two and three feet deep and that's lots of ice. The hail did not reach as far as Admiral so the crops there were not damaged. Deep Creek was over the bannisters on both bridges south of Admiral. A lot of rain fell in that area and on south to the Rowden community where extensive damage was done.

ANALYSIS RESULTS ARE ANNOUNCED BY EXPERT

AUSTIN — Results of an analysis of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission were made public today.

The survey was made by Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson of Washington, D. C., by request of the Commission. According to the Executive Secretary, the Commission hopes to use the study as a means of advancing administration of game and fish affairs.

Ira N. Gabrielson formerly was Director of the Fish and Wildlife Service of the United States Department of the Interior. He is now President of the Wildlife Management Institute of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Gabrielson has devoted his whole life to the cause of conservation and is considered the greatest living authority on wildlife on the Continent.

The survey notes "the accentuated demand for fish and game and a continued decrease in the habitat to produce it" in Texas and adds:

"Texas is only now entering the phase of exploitation which long ago passed over older states and left its mark, some of which are permanent."

Dr. Gabrielson recommends steps to meet the challenge, observes the need for more revenue for wildlife projects and suggests that "all adults should be required to buy fishing or hunting licenses." He notes that the Commission "almost completely lacks the authority to manage the fish and wildlife resources according to the crop available each year" and observes that: "It is amazing that the Commission has accomplished as much as it has under this basic handicap."

FILM SETS NEW SLAPPING MARK

In what is believed to be something of a film record, actress Audrey Totter received seventeen resounding blows across her cheek for a dramatic highlight scene in Universal - International's "Under the Gun," Tuesday at the Plaza Theatre.

The blows were delivered by her co-star, Richard Conte, who, under orders from Director Ted Tetzlaff, pulled no punches when he delivered the stinging broadsides across the pretty face of his leading lady.

Although the scene will only last a few moments on the screen, a full day was given over to the filming of it in order to give Audrey at least fifteen minutes between each ordeal. It was photographed a total of twelve different times in order to cover the scene from all necessary angles.

"Under the Gun," a dramatic prison offering highlighting a unique prison break, was produced by Ralph Dietrich and features John McIntire, Sam Jaffe and Shepperd Strudwick.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Whitaker visited Mrs. Whitaker's sisters, Mrs. Lake Renfro and Mrs. Will Butnam, and family at Merkel Saturday and Sunday.

MITCHELLS ATTEND REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Mitchell spent Sunday attending the family reunion of Mrs. Mat Baker, of Olney. The reunion was held at Fort Belknap, near Graham. A picnic lunch was spread under a gigantic grape arbor, probably 150 feet square. The grape vines are reputed to have been planted by Confederate soldiers. Mrs. Baker, who is 90 years old, is the only living sister of Mr. Mitchell's mother.

During the afternoon, the group enjoyed singing together and violin and accordion music, accompanied by a piano in one of the Fort building, several of which are still intact, including a museum.

Members of the F. E. Mitchell family attending were Ann and Becky McElrath of Brooks Field; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Plummer and Mr. and Mrs. Denver Carlyle of Seymour.

DWIGHT W. MAYES TAKING NAVAL TRAINING COURSE

Undergoing a two-week reserve training course at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., is Dwight W. Mayes, seaman recruit, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ross of 341 West Second, Baird, Texas, and husband of Mrs. Mary Mayes of 2717 South Fifth, Abilene.

The training given reservists at the center closely parallels that given the regular recruit with certain exceptions, such as drilling.

The course, which ends June 30, stresses such subjects as signalling, aircraft recognition, and exercises on mock-up ship models.

Scheduled as part of the civil defence program of the United States, the course is offered to persons who will in turn teach home nursing in their own communities.

One of 12 intensive college training programs in the nation, the National Home Nursing Instructor Training Center at TSCW is directed by Miss Rebecca Pounds from the Midwest Area Office of the Red Cross in St. Louis. All instructors in the program are graduate nurses.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer Hughes and children, Brent and Ronnie, are visiting Mrs. Hughes parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ray, at Austin this week.

Making Poultry Pay
—THE DR. SALSBUARY'S WAY
Ridding birds of worms is easy when you follow regular worm control. Dr. Salsbury's Wormix is tops in such a program. And particularly useful now, while birds are out of doors. Wormix, fed in mash, eliminates cecal and large roundworms quickly, efficiently. Because it's palatable, birds eat it readily without interrupting feed consumption. Try Wormix in your flock!
