TDPS Estimates 48 To Die Over Weekend

AUSTIN -- Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today estimated that statewide traffic accidents over the Labor Day weekend will claim 48 lives. The Labor Day holiday, as set by the National Safety Council, is a 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday, September 1 to midnight Monday, September 4. At the close of the Labor Day period last year, a DPS tabulation showed that 41 persons died in 34 traffic accidents. Late deaths pushed the toll to 43 persons killed in 36 accidents. Speir said the DPS and local law enforcement agencies would be taking all possible steps to reduce the holiday death toll. A special "Operation Motorcade" will be in progress over the Labor Day weekend and

School Appreciation Luncheons Successful

The School Appreciation Luncheons were hosted last week by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture in cooperation with the Rotary, Lion's and Jaycee Clubs. The Lazbuddie School Appreciation Luncheon was held Thursday at noon in the Lazbuddie School cafeteria. Master of Ceremonies was Corky Green. Royce Clay, minister of the Muleshoe Church of Christ, gave the invocation and Lyndal Murray led the Pledge of Allegiance. Special speaker at the luncheon was Gil Lamb. Bailey County Eligible For EDA Assistance

The Economic Development Administration has informed Sen. John Tower that 18 Texas counties not now participating in the EDA programs are statistically eligible for assistance upon application by local officials. Bailey County is among the counties. Others are Cochran, Dawson, Floyd, Lynn, Motley, Fisher, Manard, Reeves, Terrell, Stephens, Edwards, Armstrong, Hansford, Lipscomb, Ford, Hudspeth and Presidio. The Economic Development Administration, an arm of the United States Department of Commerce, obtained authority under an amendment earlier this congress to the public works and Economic Development Act to qualify for designation as redevelopment areas any county which has suffered a decline in

On Friday night, August 25, the Bula School Appreciation Luncheon was held at 8:30 p.m. in the cafeteria at Bula. Thirty-one from Bula attended the luncheon and 15 from Muleshoe attended. Master of Ceremonies was Bob Finney. Spencer Beavers gave the invocation and Dee Clements led the Pledge of Allegiance. Special speaker for the evening was Ivan Woodard. R.A. Bradley, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture made the closing Comments. Superintendent James Sinclair introduced the Bula School personnel and gave the response. The Bula area recorded over three inches over the weekend plus some additional rain Monday night. Other parts of the county recorded one to two inches over the weekend with the city itself recording 1.10 officially. Late afternoon thunderstorms moved through the county Monday night dropping heavy rains in the west and north sections of the county. West of Muleshoe reports varied from one and a half inches to over two inches of rain falling in a short time from the fast moving storm system. No violent weather was reported during the rainy days here. Apparently the rain and cool, humid weather did not inflict any serious damage on the corn or cotton crops of the area. The moisture was beneficial to the dry land farmers, especially on the feed and grain crops.

Scabies Statement Is Issued In State

Effective September 1, 1972, the Texas Animal Health Commission will require all cattle, except slaughter cattle, originating from the states of Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas shipped into the state of Texas to be accompanied by a permit from the Texas Animal Health Commission, officially dipped for scabies (in toxaphene or lime and sulphur) under supervision of State or Federal employed personnel within ten days prior to shipment and be accompanied by an official health certificate certifying that herd of origin has been inspected and declared free of scabies or exposure thereto, reports Bob Henderson of Muleshoe, who is associated with the Texas Animal Health Commission as a livestock inspector. This permit may be obtained by calling the office of the Texas Animal Health Commission, Austin, Texas, Area Code 512-475-4111. An exception to this is that cattle will be allowed to be dipped upon arrival in this state in lieu of dipping prior to shipment. Upon arrival the cattle will be officially dipped for scabies in Toxaphene or lime and sulphur under supervision of State or Federal employed personnel. Information relative to

A cold front which moved through the Muleshoe area Saturday left three straight days of rainy, cool weather and varying amounts of rainfall in the county. Record breaking cool temperatures were recorded this week over the panhandle and South Plains areas. Overcast skies and the rainfall stopped the corn harvest temporarily the first of the week, but with clearing skies Tuesday, the harvest should be in full swing again. As of press time Wednesday, the weather was promising some more hot, sunning summer weather before the onset of autumn weather. The heaviest rains apparently fell in the southern and western parts of Bailey County over the weekend. The Bula area recorded over three inches over the weekend plus some additional rain Monday night. As for yields, the plains produced an area wide average of 121.7 bushels of corn per harvested acre, compared with the all-time high national average of 86.8 bushels. The growth of the cattle feeding industry along with the production contracting by a big corn processing plant at Dimmitt and by Frito-Lay Inc. have stimulated area interest in the crop. Muleshoe Bass Club To Meet

The Muleshoe Bass Club will meet Thursday night, August 31, at 8 p.m. in the XIT Steak House Blue room. There will be a 30 minute film on bass fishing at Lake Toledo Bend shown. All members and any interested fishermen are urged to attend. Plans will also be made for the September Bass Tournament.

OFFICE BROKEN INTO . . . The Llano Estacado Farmworkers of Texas, Inc. office and the Chicanos Unidos Composites office were both broken into sometime Sunday afternoon. The break-in was discovered about 8 p.m. Sunday night. The hall which had been decorated, was completely stripped of all decorations and posted documents in the Llano Estacado office were torn from the walls. The vandals apparently entered the building from a window on the east side of the building. They tore down the Mexican and American flags from the walls and also broke a locked door on one of the offices. Armando Acosta, a board member of the Llano Estacado Farmworkers of Texas, Inc. reported that the office is funded through a federal program and that the people who did the damage can be hurt as much as the people that it is trying to serve. The local law enforcement officers are still investigating the incident.

APPLICATIONS FOR FACTORY TAKEN . . . Clyde Hensley, center, president of Hensley-Russell, Inc., Charles Wickersham, manager of the Cameron Plant and temporary Muleshoe manager, and Lonnie Merriott, of the Texas Employment Commission office in Muleshoe, were in the city, Monday taking applications for workers in the factory which will open on Tuesday, September 5. Hensley reported that the factory will start with five experienced operators and add two a day until about 50 or 60 employees are working at the present location. He also reported that after four to six months when the factory will be at top production level, the plant here will be producing approximately 4,000 children's dresses per week with 50 machines operating. A large turnout was present Monday making applications at the Chamber of Commerce office.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON OWNERS, INC.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, on August 23, 24 and 25 served as local host to 13 cotton producers, ginners and Production Credit Association people from Arkansas and Louisiana as they made an extensive tour of High Plains farms and other agricultural establishments.

Sponsoring the tour were the Agricultural Council of West Memphis, Arkansas and Louisiana Cotton Producers Association, Lake Providence, Louisiana.

Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, said "We were delighted to have these cotton people in Lubbock and on the Plains as a means to promoting better understanding of problems in cotton production and with government programs as they affect these two important segments of the cotton belt."

The group arrived in Lubbock shortly after noon on August 23, visited the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech that afternoon and spent the evening in an informal discussion with cotton producer members of the PCG Executive Committee and others.

The following two-day schedule for the out-of-state producers included visits to Plains Cotton Cooperative, where they were shown that organization's automated instrument classing line and heard a discussion of PCCA's marketing procedures, Texas A&M Research and Extension Center to examine narrow-row cotton production and the equipment necessary to its success, J.D. Smith's dryland cotton and grain sorghum farm west of Littlefield, Ray Joe Riley's irrigated cotton and grain sorghum farm north of Springlake, the dry processing corn plant at Dimmitt, Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, Lubbock Feed Lot, the Roy Forkner gin in the Canyon community, the Don Anderson farm in Crosby County and White River Lake.

Ray Joe Riley is current PCG president. Smith, Forkner and Anderson are past presidents. Tour director was Cecil Williams, Executive Vice President of the Agricultural Council of Arkansas, which has a close working relationship with Louisiana Cotton Producers Association.

Others on the tour from Arkansas were Tom Murchison of Coy, who is president of the ACA, Bunn McCollum of Hughes, Harold Henry of Brinkley, Jodie Ellis of McCrory, John Currie of Willmot, Henry Morsheimer of Parkdale, Terry Dills of West Memphis, and Jack Rousick of Helena.

From Louisiana were Duke Barr of Oak Ridge, Al Prudhomme of Natchitoches, and B.U. Miller and Bob Rife, both of Ferriday.

Various members of the Arkansas-Louisiana delegation were heard to comment that the tour had been both interesting and educational, and to express their appreciation for the hospitality shown by PCG and others at their stops.

Experimental Dove Season To Provide Answers

AUSTIN -- Texas dovehunters with frostbite? Unheard of! Until this season, Texas dove hunters were more prone to heat prostration or rattlesnake bite.
 But recent action by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission split the mourning dove season, making a portion of it in September, and the remainder in January when the cold winds blow.

The North Zone season will be Sept. 1 through Oct. 14, 1972, and Jan. 6-21, 1973.

In the South Zone the season will be Sept. 23 through Nov. 5, 1972, and Jan. 6 through Jan. 21, 1973, except that in counties having an open season for white-winged doves, the open season for mourning doves ends Nov. 2 during the fall segment of the season.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists stress the split season is just an experiment to see if the late season will result in additional recreation without unduly increasing the overall harvest of doves. They will keep a close eye on the results to see if late dove hunting in Texas might affect the breeding populations of other states.

Hunters have long been interested in such a season because of the many doves present in Texas during the winter months, according to department officials.

Biologists called for the experimental season this year because they now have the means to evaluate the effects of a split season, whereas in the past sources of the information needed were not available.

COMBATTING DRUG ABUSE

One of our most critical domestic problems today is the epidemic of drug abuse. Drug abuse has become a Number One public enemy. It has spread from coast to coast. Once confined to our inner cities, drug abuse now is prevalent in our suburbs and is increasingly found in our rural communities.

Drug abuse is taking its greatest toll among the youth of our nation. It has infested our college campuses and is spreading to our high schools and, in far too many instances, even to our elementary schools.

Today, on the streets of America and in the hallways of our schools, a barbiturate capsule can be obtained for only a quarter. All too often other drugs are all too available. One youth, testifying before a Congressional committee, has said that it is easier now to obtain barbiturates than it is to purchase a pack of cigarettes.

Apparently, there is no sanctuary. I have talked with many parents, school authorities and community leaders. There is a growing awareness of the drug abuse problem and a growing determination to deal with it. But we must act swiftly and we must be totally committed. Half efforts are not going to defeat this enemy which is robbing us away the "scare stories" that damage our credibility with our young people after they learn only part of the truth. We need to provide our young people with all the facts that we can about drug abuse. Drug abuse is a real danger. If we can educate our society to those dangers, the potential number of addicts, I think, will be greatly diminished.

The Drug Abuse Law Enforcement Program is a major new federal law enforcement program aimed at street-level heroin pushers. The purpose of the program is to bring combined local, state and federal law enforcement pressure to bear on street-level heroin pushers. The program has been established in 33 target cities across the nation. Among those 33 target cities are four in Texas: Austin, San Antonio, Dallas and Houston.

In just three years, the number of arrests for federal narcotics violations have nearly doubled with the aid of this program. In the last year alone, federal narcotic agents seized twice as much drugs in illegal channels nationwide as in the previous year. The Drug Abuse Law Enforcement Program alone has been directly responsible for more than a thousand arrests and for the identification of some 3,000 drug pushers since January of this year. Under another program of our most valuable resource -- the productivity, the usefulness, the industry and the pride of the American people. I am committed to helping to turn back the tide of drug abuse. In the Senate, I support action to increase law enforcement efforts to keep illicit drugs out of the country and to keep drug pushers out of our neighborhoods. I have worked to expand our treatment and rehabilitation programs so that we can return over 500,000 heroin addicts and millions of amphetamine and barbiturate abusers to productive roles in our society free of addictive habits. Rehabilitation programs will be expensive; but if a significant percentage of current addicts can be returned to productive lives, we will reap a large return on our investment, both financially and socially. I have also supported expansion of our efforts to educate all Americans about the dangers of drug abuse. Drug abuse feeds on ignorance. We need to throw

 The U.S. Customs Bureau has increased the number of agents working on narcotic cases and further increases are planned. The Bureau has made some 8,000 arrests this year alone, of which some 60 percent have been along the U.S. border with Mexico.
 In the Senate, I have co-sponsored several bills designed to enable responsible agencies to more tightly control the manufacture and distribution of amphetamines and barbiturates. Prior to increased regulation, it was estimated that over half of the legitimate production of amphetamines ended up in the illicit drug market. More than a billion, and possible more than four billion, capsules were consumed without a doctor's prescription. Unfortunately, the effects, the availability and the low cost of barbiturates and amphetamines have made them extremely attractive as drugs of abuse. Additional regulation has significantly reduced the incidence at amphetamine abuse. I am now working to enact the necessary legislation to impose similar regulations on barbiturates.
 The Special Action Office on Drug Abuse and Prevention, set up by legislation I co-sponsored, has provided the federal funds necessary for Texas to develop a comprehensive format of programs for all sections of the State to provide a co-ordinate attack on drug abuse. This program is aiding, and will aid, the attack on drug abuse in many Texas cities.

Farmers Should Watch For Midge In Late Grain

Midge are increasing rapidly on late blooming sorghum fields. Growers are cautioned to watch these fields closely, since economic damage occurs when adult midge numbers exceed an average of two per head. First application should be made when 30-50% of heads have just begun to bloom. Repeat in 3-5 days if midge population warrants. The adult midge is orange-colored and resembles a fruit fly. The best way to check for midge is to place a fruit jar or plastic bag over the head of sorghum. The midge will fly to the top and can be easily counted. Check for the proper chemical from your local chemical dealer or aerial applicator.

Remember, this applies only to grain sorghum fields which are just beginning to bloom.

Communication Important For Happiness In Marriage

Some people believe that of all the millions of people in the world, two individuals are predestined for each other and will find supreme happiness in their union.

Others believe that providence has decreed a marriage for a purpose.

"The unscientific ideas about mate selection help us understand why many people are averse to finding in science an explanation of why people fall in love," said Texas A&M University family life education specialist Dorothy Taylor.

But, like all behavior, love and marriage are subject to observation and study, according to Miss Taylor.

The specialist said that some of the words used to describe marriages that seem to be working out well are difficult to pin down. One such word is "happiness."

"In common currency, happiness is a state of mind that carries a sense of pleasantness or excitement with it," the Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialist said. "There are two problems involved when we talk about the 'happy couple' or happiness in marriage." The first is: when is happiness real and when does it only seem real? And secondly, what makes a couple happy?

Happiness isn't the same as satisfaction or adjustment. Many couples seem to lack vitality in their relationship, but they appear and feel satisfied with it.

Other couples are quite dissatisfied with their spouse, but they're adjusted to the way things are, and wouldn't want to change.

But what is it that makes a couple happy?

"This question poses problems for investigators," Miss Taylor said. "The happier a couple is, the less they seem to stop and think about it. There may be a number of different and complicated formulas for the success that makes a couple happy."

"They depend on the partner's needs, abilities and ideals, and the combination of these that they work out in their relationship. The 'flavor' is easier to notice than the recipe that contributes to making it."

She said that communication is important. How can couples fulfill each other's needs or wants without knowing what these are, and without having the skill to find out? How can they decide together what to do, unless each can express differences about what each expects and how strongly each feels?

How can couples work out solutions to problems unless each can tell the other honestly what he feels he can or cannot do about them? Communication is at least a strong and necessary start for building a relationship.

But couples may refuse to communicate because one or both don't feel capable of answering the other's real needs. Andy they may be right. That's the risk in learning what another wants.

"Beyond communication lies also the question of what interests or common concerns couples really have for building a 'partnership,'" Miss Taylor said. "Since children are an assumed common interest, to what extent does each spouse share the interest, or feel that they have an investment in their children?"

Is there any interest in one another's work? Are any civic, religious or social interests shared? In any relationship, these interests may shift and a relationship can gain or lose vitality as couples move into new areas of interest.

"In marriage," Miss Taylor said, "a couple's happiness in some ways grows out of what's happening in their mutual interaction. Yet there isn't a relationship in which 'doing together' or being in step together can be taken for granted. Whatever happiness means, it comes from partnership in which both persons are active, whether they think about it or not."

When showering don't deprive yourself of the soothing effects of bath oil. Fill a squeeze bottle with your favorite bath oil and water and spray yourself generously at the end of your shower.

CACTUS GARDEN . . . White daisies are blooming in the cactus garden at the W.R. Sebring home. Mrs. Sebring said that the daisies came up from soil given her by a friend with a cactus plant. She said that most of the cactus plants came from around Muleshoe and the century plant from Portales. The century plant bloomed this summer after having been set out for only three years. The flowerbed near the house, which has been in bloom all summer has tube roses, flocks and other flowers in it. A bed of berbenias is located under the willow tree.

Calvary Church Sponsors Campaign Of The Twelve

Beginning September 3 in the Calvary Baptist Sunday School will be the "Campaign of the Twelve". Rev. Charles Harvey, pastor of the Church, describes this as a concentrated study of the Twelve Disciples of Jesus Christ. "Very little is mentioned about many of these disciples in normal Bible Study. For twelve consecutive weeks a detailed study will be made of each disciple," reports Rev. Harvey. To assist the student in learning and remembering each disciple, a memory prompter is presented to each one who attends this study. A gold charm bracelet is given to each girl or lady with a disciple's head being added each week as the study progresses. A gold key chain is presented to each boy and man with the same procedure followed as for the bracelet. The first Sunday each person will receive the key chain or bracelet and the first disciple head. Those attending will receive a disciple head each Sunday thereafter until twelve have been received.

Rev. Harvey urges all who are not presently engaged in a Sunday School to come and participate in "The Campaign of the Twelve". Participants do not have to be members of the Calvary Baptist Church. The only requirement is to be present.

STATE Capital NEWS
By BILL BOYKIN

AUSTIN, TEX. -- Lt. Governor-elect Bill Hobby called for an era of "getting together and working together to solve Texas' problems" at his fund raising dinner in Austin.

"We have been through some of the most turbulent campaigns in our recent history -- campaigns that left some wounds," he stressed.

"We need to see to it that those wounds heal without leaving scars."

"State governments are resuming their roles as vital members of the federal-state partnership," Hobby added. "Our federal system cannot work unless the states and the local governments perform their functions responsibly and effectively."

Hobby told the audience of Democratic leaders that Texas has something to give the nation -- simple virtues of courtesy and neighborliness.

He talked of the "new mood" now running at tidal proportions throughout the state, and said he believed the entire nation could find hope and an example here in Texas.

"Only history will record whether or not Texans invested the conscience, the commitment and the effort to create a humane and just society in our state," Hobby concluded. LABOR DAY DEATHS PREDICTED -- Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, estimates that statewide traffic accidents over the 78-hour Labor Day Weekend will claim 48 lives.

The Labor Day holiday, as designated by the National Safety Council, extends from 6 p.m. Friday, September 1, to midnight Monday, September 4.

At the close of the Labor Day period last year, a DPS tabulation revealed 41 persons had died in 34 traffic accidents in the state. Late deaths pushed the toll to 43 persons killed in 36 accidents.

Speir said the DPS and local law enforcement agencies will be taking all possible steps to reduce the holiday death toll. A special "Operation Motorcade" will be in progress over the Labor Day weekend and tabulations on rural and urban fatal accidents will be reported to the news media of Texas three times daily.

As is customary on major holidays, says Speir, all available highway patrolmen will be placed on duty throughout the state. They will make full use of radar and breath testing instruments in an effort to curtail the major cause of fatal accidents -- excessive speed and drunk driving.

Joining law enforcement officers in the effort to reduce loss of lives during the holiday period will be about 500 Texas National Guardsmen who will operate jeep patrols to assist motorists and to ride partners with DPS patrolmen.

The guardsmen, all volunteers, will concentrate their efforts in 107 Texas counties in far east, central and south Texas.

Speaking of "Operation Motorcade," Colonel Speir said, "these educational and enforcement programs will have an impact, but a great deal of the responsibility for accident reduction rests in the hands of individual Texans."

"I am appealing to all our citizens to join with us in saving lives by 'Driving Friendly,' both during the holiday and throughout the remainder of the year," the DPS director said.

GOALS FOR TEXAS CITIES -- More than 70 urban experts from across the state met in Austin recently to draft goals which will be used to determine programs the Texas Municipal League will provide Texas cities in the Seventies.

Founded in 1931, the Texas Municipal League now includes more than 720 cities in the state among its membership. Its functions are to disseminate information, inform mayors and other municipal leaders about important pending legislation and to train municipal officials.

Goals for the Seventies which will be widely disseminated among member cities in the state are expected to have "tremendous, long-reaching implications for the future of the cities of Texas," says former Dallas Mayor Erik Jonsson, chairman of the TML Committee of the Future.

Seguin Mayor Alfred Koebig, TML president, commented: "We know from experience that the usefulness of any institution is based largely on its ability to keep pace with present and emerging needs; and it is our hope that the Municipal League's goals-setting process will provide information and decisions so that work to solve urban problems can begin now rather than when the problems become acutely serious."

SIGNS OF THE TIMES -- Texas Highway Department has joined a nationwide symbol sign program to bring all highway signing into conformance with the so-called international sign program used in many other nations.

Richard Oliver, traffic engineer for the State Highway Department, recently reported to the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee that the more important regulatory signs such as "Yield," "Do Not Enter" and "Wrong Way" are now being installed at critical locations, while other signs are being changed over on a maintenance replacement basis.

He explained the target date for full compliance with the National Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices in January, 1977. Full compliance with the National Manual is expected to cost the State of Texas $6 million for sign installation over the five-year period. Other costs will include $4.5 million for conversion of highway markings and $250,000 for installation of traffic signals.

"A folder describing the signs and new pavement markings is in preparation," said Oliver.

AGING TARGET AREAS ESTABLISHED -- The Governor's Committee on Aging has approved 10 urban target areas for establishment of Area Agencies on Aging. Rural areas will be designated soon.

The Area Agencies on Aging will provide the governor's committee with planning for federal nutrition programs and related services, as well as additional programs for the elderly as they develop. Selected as target areas were the counties of Harris, Jefferson, Orange, Bexar, Dallas, Tarrant, Travis, El Paso, McLennan, Nueces, Hidalgo and Cameron. The areas were selected according to numbers of persons 65 and older, numbers of elderly below the poverty level and proportions of minority groups.

CAPITOL HIT BY STORM -- Tornado winds raked the state capitol grounds August 22 ripping several giant elm trees out of the ground, roots and all, and smashing several windows in the capitol building itself. Tourists were sent scurrying from the first floor rotunda of the building when shattered glass from windows in the dome, 260 feet above, came showering down along with a mini-deluge of rainwater.

Capitol employees had windows repaired and the rotunda cleaned of glass and water by the following day, but several days were required to clear debris from shattered trees from the capitol grounds. Fortunately, there were no injuries.

A NOTE FROM THE HUNTER -- Recent action by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission requires that any portion of the meat from a deer kill given to a fellow hunter must have a note signed by the hunter making the kill with his name, address, hunting license number and the date and location of the kill.

Game management officers believe the requirement will insure that deer are harvested legally and identified as such -- regardless of how many different people get the meat.

A BOWL OF RED, TEXAS STYLE -- Strange and wondrous odors -- some just strange -- will rise above the cooking pots of contestants at the Third Annual Republic of Texas Chilympiad festival in San Marcos, September 20 to October 1.

The chili cook-off is recognized as the official Texas competition by the Chili Appreciation Society International and the three-day event will determine a champ chili cooker to represent Texas at the world championship competition later this year.

This year's activities include an appearance by the Confederate Air Force, a Harlingen-based collection of World War II vintage aircraft. This year's Chilympiad is dedicated to the 25th anniversary of the United States Air Force.

SHORT SNORTS
Gov. Preston Smith has named Dr. Philip C. Johnson Jr.

of Waco and Frank L. Paschal Jr. of Fort Worth to the Radiation Advisory Board for six-year terms.

The Governor does not have the constitutional authority to transfer funds appropriated by the Legislature to another agency, Atty. Gen Crawford Martin has ruled.

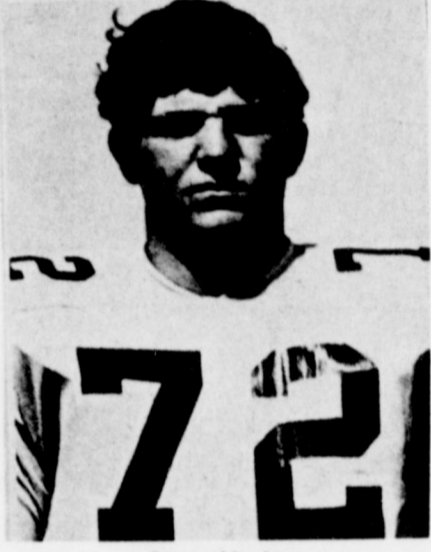

The trouble with people who insist that right must triumph is they can't agree on what is right.
