DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS SINCE LAST REPORT.

Disposition of Cases on the Criminal Docket Since Last Report—Some Convictions and Sentences.

The grand jury took recess Saturday until Wednesday of this week, when it will again meet and finish its work.

The case on trial in the district court as the Courier went to press last week was that of the state against John Pugh for murder. Pugh was charged with killing Constable Bobbitt at Weches. The case went to trial Monday morning and on Friday morning the jury brought in a verdict of five years in the penitentiary.

Disposition of other cases on the criminal docket since last report is as follows:

Albert Stewart, forgery and passing a forced instrument; dismissed on motion of the district attorney.

Henry Strickland, murder; continued by consent. This case was transferred from another county.

Firm Davis, theft of hogs; continued by consent.

Cloyd High, burglary in the nighttime; continued by consent and during good behavior.

Frank Ellis, murder; dismissed on motion of the district attorney.

J. W. Manning, W. A. Manning and George Manning, assault to murder; case went to trial Friday morning and on Saturday afternoon jury brought in verdict of not guilty.

Dave Hopkins, assault with intent to murder; continued by consent.

Jess Sheffield, assault with intent to rape; continued by consent.

Shink Hicks, perjury; dismissed on motion of district attorney.

Will Robertson, selling intoxicating liquors; verdict of jury two years in penitentiary; time waived and sentence passed.

I. H. Starks, selling intoxicating liquors; verdict of jury three years in penitentiary; time waived and sentence passed.

Caleb Carey, selling intoxicating liquors; verdict of jury two years in the penitentiary; time waived and sentence passed.

Walter McCelvey, selling intoxicating liquors; verdict of jury two years in penitentiary.

J. F. Small, murder; continued by consent.

Jack Johnson, murder; case called for trial Monday morning and jury secured Monday afternoon. Jack Johnson is a negro and is being tried for the killing of Milton Jones, another negro, in the Daniel neighborhood last October. The negroes were gambling when the row came up. Milton Jones struck Jack Johnson with his fist and Jack reached for his pistol. When Milton saw Jack reaching for his pistol he got up and started to run off, but Jack shot him in the back as he ran, the bullet going through and coming out in front, according to the state's witnesses. The jury brought in a verdict Tuesday afternoon of five years in penitentiary.

Terrific Hail Storm.

Following closely behind the hail storm that overswept a part of the county lying north of Lovelady a week before, a like storm of terrific proportions swept over Crockett and vicinity late Friday afternoon. Windows were smashed, roofs pounded to pieces, trees shorn of their foliage and some livestock killed. Pigs and calves unable to find shelter were killed and teams ran away, adding destruction as they went. Fortunately, no human lives were lost. There was some wind, but the principal damage was from the hail stones, which were large and heavy enough to beat down tree limbs and penetrate hard roofs. The storm came from the west and bore to the southeast. It was about four miles wide and its path extended from Oakland on the west to a point south of Kennard on the east. Gardens, fruit trees and all crops were ruined in its path. Gardens and corn are now being replanted.

If you eat something which disagrees with you, don't let it work its own way through. It's a slow process and makes you feel bad. Get rid of it quickly by taking a dose of Herbine. It drives out impurities in the stomach and bowels and you feel better immediately. Price 50c. Sold by Decuir-Bishop Drug Co.

CLARK LEADS THE DEMOCRATS AND TAFT THE REPUBLICANS.

This Party Fight Is "Anybody's Battle" Up to Present Time—New York Herald's Impartial Poll.

New York, April 20.—Since the last installment of the New York Herald's impartial and country-wide poll was published, Mr. Roosevelt has made marked gains in his fight to obtain the republican presidential nomination. While there seems not the slightest doubt that President Taft will have a majority of the 1,078 votes in the convention, Mr. Roosevelt is gradually creeping up on him, and the Taft managers make no secret of the fact that they are somewhat disconcerted.

Roosevelt victory at the primaries in Pennsylvania—held a week ago yesterday—in Nebraska and Oregon, bring the total number of delegates already elected favorable to Mr. Roosevelt up to 201, which is 339 short of a majority. Mr. Taft during the week just ended obtained forty-nine delegates, bringing his total up to 381, or 159 short of a majority.

CLARK LEADS DEMOCRATS.

On the democratic side Speaker Clark still retains an easy lead, and there is evidence that sentiment for him in states where primaries or conventions have not been held is rapidly spreading. He has a total of 149 delegates, as against 118 for Governor Wilson, 24 for Representative Underwood, 30 for Governor Marshall and 4 for Governor Harmon.

The democratic fight is "anybody's battle" up to the present time. Inquiries by special correspondents indicate that the Wilson boom has reached its height. A fair conclusion from a study of exhaustive reports is that Governor Wilson is still the popular favorite, but that Speaker Clark is gaining on him. The name of Mayor Gaynor constantly appears in the gossip concerning a possible dark horse. Friends of Governor Wilson who have been traveling through the country declare that he is certain to be the nominee. Managers for Speaker Clark assert that his boom is spreading in all directions and that the honor of leading the democracy in this all-important year will fall on him. Certain it is that the fight is a lively one.

Story Told by Daniels of Order and Heroism.

New York, April 18.—One of the most connected stories of the disaster was told by Robert W. Daniels of Philadelphia. Mr. Daniels is the junior partner in the banking firm of Shellard, Smith, Daniels & Co., and is a great grandson of Edmund Randolph. Only last summer he was in the fire that destroyed the Carlton hotel in London, in which he saved a man's life and he himself was 37 minutes on window ledge. Mr. Daniels said the weather was perfectly calm.

He was asked first if there was any talk of shooting. He said that there had been several shots fired in the air, probably to frighten the steerage passengers who attempted to rush the lifeboats. He didn't know of anybody who had been shot.

WAS NO APPREHENSION.

"When the ship struck," said Mr.

Daniels, "no one among the passengers seemed to feel the slightest apprehension of danger. In fact, the officers assured them there was no danger. I was in my room at the time the ship first struck and there was hardly a perceptible shock. I went out on deck, looked about, but everything seemed all right and I went back, took off my clothes and went to bed. It must have been almost two hours before word was sent through the ship for everybody to put on life belts. This was about half past twelve, as near as I can remember it.

"I had undressed and I rushed up stairs with nothing on but my bath robe. Everybody about had strapped on a life belt. It was perhaps an hour and forty-five minutes more we stood about before the ship sank. The lights went out an hour and a half after she started sinking.

"I think there was no perceptible shock. I understood that she had ripped her portside on the iceberg from stem to stern.

NO SIGN OF CONFUSION.

"There was perfect order. People were standing about with life belts on. Women were being helped into lifeboats and there was no sign of any confusion. All the time the water was gradually creeping up. There was no sensation except that you could see the surface of the water getting nearer to you."

There was a report that Mr. Daniels had saved the life of a woman, but this he denied.

"I kept watching the water gradually coming up to where I was. I was on a deck which was the top promenade deck. I managed to stay there until the deck was flush with the water."

THE FATE OF ASTOR.

"Did anybody get hysterical?" was asked.

"Not until the boats got away," he replied. "But then—my God! to listen to the screams that I heard for the next four or five hours was a terrible experience. Why, we brought in on the Carpathia sixteen widows, each of whom was under 22 years of age."

"When dawn broke there were thirty of us on the raft."

"How many were saved?" was asked of Mr. Daniels.

"There were exactly 720 on the Carpathia."

"Did you see anything of Colonel Astor?"

"The last I saw of Colonel Astor he was standing by the rail with Walter M. Clark, Senator Clark's nephew. I understand that Colonel Astor had his wife put in a boat and assured her that he would follow after her."

Mrs. A. L. Van Ankenbauer, 3216 Marshall St., Little Rock, Ark., a descendant of one of our finest southern colonial families, writes: "I suffered greatly with kidney trouble, had severe pains across my back, and felt altogether miserable. After taking Foley Kidney Pills for a few days the pains left me and now I have no kidney trouble. In fact, Foley Kidney Pills have cured me completely." I. W. Sweet.

"Our baby cries for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. T. B. Kendrick, Rasaca, Ga. "It is the best cough remedy on the market for coughs, colds and croup." For sale by all dealers.

WENT TO DEATH RATHER THAN DESERT HUSBAND.

Mrs. Isidor Straus Refused to Leave Despite Pleadings as the Boat Settled in Last Plunge.

New York, April 18.—Colonel Archibald Gracie, U. S. A., the last man saved, went down with the vessel but was picked up. He was met tonight by his daughter who had arrived from Washington and his son-in-law, Paul P. Fabricus. Colonel Gracie told a remarkable story of personal hardship and denied emphatically the report that there had been any panic on board. He praised in the highest terms the behavior of both the passengers and crew and paid a high tribute to the heroism of the women passengers.

"Mrs. Isidor Straus," he said, "went to her death because she would not desert her husband. Although he pleaded with her to take her place in the boat she steadfastly refused and when the ship settled at the head the two were engulfed by the wave that swept over the wreck."

HOW GRACIE WAS SAVED.

Colonel Gracie told of how he was driven to the topmost deck when the ship settled and was the sole survivor after the wave that swept her just before her final plunge had passed.

"I jumped with the wave," said he, "just as I often have jumped with the breakers at the seashore. By great good fortune I managed to grasp the brass railing on the deck above and I hung on by might and main. When the ship lunged down I was forced to go and I was swirled around and around for what seemed to be an interminable time. Eventually I came to the surface to find the sea a mass of tangled wreckage."

"Luckily I was unhurt and casting about managed to seize a wooden grating floating nearby. When I had recovered my breath I discovered a larger canvas and cork-like raft, which had floated up. A man whose name I did not learn was struggling toward it from wreckage. I cast off and helped him to get on the raft, and we then began the work of rescuing those who had jumped into the sea and were floundering in the water."

OTHER UNFORTUNATES DROWNED.

"When dawn broke there were thirty of us on the raft. Standing knee deep in the icy water and afraid to move lest the cranky craft be overturned. Several unfortunates, benumbed and half dead, besought us to save them, and one or two made an effort to reach us, but we had to warn them away. Had we made any effort to save them we might all have perished."

"The hours that elapsed before we were picked up by the Carpathia were the longest and most terrible that I ever spent. Practically without any sensation of feeling because of the icy water, we were almost dropping from fatigue. We were afraid to turn around to see whether we were seen by passing craft and when some one who was facing astern passed the word that something that looked like a steamer was coming up one of the men became hysterical under the strain. The rest of us, too, were nearing the breaking point."

Crystal Wedding Celebration.

One of the great social features of the season was the reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Wootters on Friday evening, celebrating their Crystal anniversary. The home was beautifully decorated throughout with crystal effects. The dining room attracting special attention with its crystalized garlands, and brilliant with the glow of electric bulbs. The dining table was elegant with its crystal appointments. In the center a lake surrounded by white flowers, white tapers and glistening snow made a scene much admired. In the drawing room, hall and library the same crystal effect was carried out. Under the arch hung the wedding bell as fifteen years ago and the bride wore her wedding gown. Down the stairs slowly descended the wedding party, to the strains of Mendelssohn's. First came the ribbon bearers, Messrs. T. D. Craddock, Jr., and Harry Painter, Jr., and Misses Janet Craddock and Lucia Painter, and formed the aisle for the flower girls and the bride and groom, who took their place under the wedding bell. Mr. J. H. Painter stepped up in front of the couple and read the following ceremony:

"Dearly Beloved: We are gathered here this evening for the purpose of marvelling at the wonderful endurance of this man and this woman, who, after fifteen years of constant turmoil and strife, vicissitudes and fighting, show no signs of wear or tare, and are still able to stand and walk. This wedded state is a wonderful state presided over by one whom the bachelors call a 'queen,' and the married men a 'tyrant.' This is a dangerous state, and every man entering it must learn to dodge bill collectors in town and his wife at home, work early and late, and learn to sleep while his wife is talking. Every woman entering this state must accustom herself to deliver a lecture to the man each night, and to lie constantly about the good qualities of her husband to the neighbors, and now I demand of you both as you value your future married welfare to lie all evening to this assemblage telling them how good each of you have been to the other, how much you have each enjoyed your married life, how swiftly the time has passed since your marriage regardless of the lack of truth in any of the statements. Now,

You will always plant the garden seed
 And also go to mill.
 Now, can you promise all these things?
 If so, just say "I will."
 Now please consider that this knot is very tightly tied.
 Come on folks and kiss the groom and shake hands with the bride.
 A reception followed the ceremony. Musical numbers were rendered throughout the evening. Punch was served in the hall by Miss Judith Arledge.
 The beautiful hand-painted wedding register was kept by Mrs. Berta Wootters. The hostess was assisted in the dining room by Messdames Crook, Arledge, Smith and Painter. Brick cream, cake and minto were served. Tiny crystal wedding bells were souvenirs to the guests. In the reception hall upstairs was a handsome display of gifts sent in by friends, showing the high esteem in which the couple are held. This was a collection of many handsome cut glass pieces, and also some silver, linen and china.

The New Standard Mower

The Only Mowing Machine that carries the cutter bar on the drive wheels instead of dragging it on the ground.

Buy the Mower that's Easy on Your Horses

We've solved the draft and the handling problems. You can mow all day with a 4½, 5 ft. or a 6 ft. New Standard, and it will be as easy for your horses as though you were plowing corn and a lot easier for you. It is absolutely all right. It is light draft because the weight is carried on the wheels—no neck weight, no side draft, no sledging of the cutter bar.

WE WANT TO SEND YOU SOME PROOFS

of New Standard superiority. You ought to know how the New Standard distributes the strain, about the roller bearings, about the continuous knife-bar bearing, about how the mower is thrown out of gear when the cutter bar is folded up, etc. Our book explains everything. Write for it today, and ask also for book in which to keep your farm accounts.

"Will you take this woman by your side
 For worse, or else for better,
 To have to hold, to love her hard,
 If not, you can not keep her.
 Will you let her have her way,
 Consult her many wishes,
 Make the fires up every day
 And help her wash the dishes.
 Will you give her all the mon
 Her little purse can pack
 And when she gives you up some head,
 You'll never answer back.
 Will you comfort and support her
 Thro' all her pains and ills,
 If you can promise all these things,
 Just say, again, "I will."
 TO THE WOMAN.
 Now, do you take this man to be your pard,
 For better or for worse.
 You will darn his sox and mend his clothes
 And never rob his purse.
 You'll keep his house both clean and neat,
 And always keep your temper sweet.
 You'll give him three hot meals a day,
 And never hand him bills to pay.
 You'll make the living if he has
 Some other things he wants to do,
 And when he comes in tired at night,
 You'll brush his clothes and shine his shoes.
 Whenever he wants to smoke and read
 You'll make the kids be still.

The Farmers and Stockmen of Houston County

Can save thousands of dollars each year, that is now being paid out to Missouri and other states for mules and horses, by breeding their mares to first-class jacks and stallions.

I have selected Crockett as one of the coming breeding sections of Texas, and have located at the Fair Grounds two of the very highest bred stallions to be found in any state in the United States, both of which are standard and registered and both of them grand individuals, and you must see them to appreciate them.

I also have two of the very highest bred jacks and both are fine individuals. Call and see them at the Fair Grounds any "old time," as it is always a pleasure to show them. I am going to breed this stock only to a limited number of mares, as I expect to race both horses this summer, so I will appreciate the favor if you will book your mares just as early as possible. I will be pleased to furnish terms and breeding on application. These horses not only produce fancy show horses, but they produce early and extreme speed. The jacks produce fine-styled mules.

I will pay $25 for the best colt from each of these horses and jacks and $25 for the second best, to be decided each year at the Houston County Fair. Yours very truly,

C. T. HUNTER.

FEW LIVES WERE SAVED FROM THE HUNGRY OCEAN.

Faint Hope Remains That Others Than Those on Carpathia Will Be Saved.

New York, April 16.—That the final roll of the rescued from the Titanic disaster had practically been made was the impression that grew almost into conviction last night as the hours wore on without the revision of lists adding measurably to the total of survivors. Of definite news of the disaster the night added little. Down the Atlantic coast, fog enveloped in many places, as the reports showed, crept the Cunarder Carpathia bearing on her the 868 lives that had been snatched from the waters when the Titanic's life boats, laden to their limit, one by one, made their way from the giant liner as it became known that she was soon to take her final plunge.

But although the rescue ship was reported within wireless range of the Sable Island station at a comparatively early hour and ever wireless ear was waiting to catch the snap of a receiver which might mean that the great secret of the liner's death was about to be given up, midnight came and went and the night began to grow old—and still the word had not been spoken.

Carefully compiling the available lists, the record of the named survivors of the disaster stands significantly thus:

Men, 79; women, 233; children 16. Total, 328.

Of the remaining 540 known survivors it is estimated that not more than 100 were seamen, required to man the boats. This would leave approximately 440 and in the ordinary proportions of women and children in the steerage, where the passengers in the Titanic's care numbered 710, it seems probable that the greater part of these 440 were women and their little ones.

HEROISM OF CREW AND PASSENGERS.

Nothing could show more plainly the heroism of the crew and the men passengers who stood by the doomed ship, facing practically inevitable death and sent the women and children away in the life boats. Some would have to be left; that was a certainty. Hundreds, in fact, were left. But to all appearance the men who were left stayed behind deliberately, calmly stepping aside to let the weaker ones, those to whom they owed protection, take their way to safety.

"Sinking by the head. Have cleared boats and filled them with women and children."

This was the final message these brave men sent the world; for it was directly afterward that their wireless signals sputtered and then stopped altogether. The picture inevitably that presents itself in view of what is known is men like John Jacob Astor, master of scores of millions; Benjamin Guggenheim of the famous family of bankers; Isador Straus, a merchant prince; William T. Stead, veteran journalist; Major Archibald Butt, soldier; Washington Roebling, noted engineer—of any or all of these men stepping aside and bravely, gallantly remaining to die that the place he otherwise might have filled, could perhaps be taken by some sabot-shod, shawl-enshrouded illiterate and penniless peasant woman of Europe.

MEN REMAINED TO DIE.

Thus the stream of women with toddling infants or babies in arms, perhaps most of them soon to be widowed filed up from the cabins and over the side and away to life. The men—by far the greater part of them—remained to die, millionaire and peasant and man of middle class alike, bravely, it must have been, sharing each others fate and going down to a common grave.

A Bit of History That Can Be Applied to Merchandising

It is said of the late Captain Barr, of yachting fame, that in the first race for the famous cup he so far outclassed his English rival that the English yacht was virtually not in the race. After the finish the captain had an interview with the late Queen Victoria, and after his description of the race the queen said: "Captain, tell me who was second." The gallant captain replied: "There was no second, your majesty."

So it is with Daniel & Burton in value giving and in service. Our stock is general and we are ever on the alert to keep it fresh with the newest ideas in HIGH CLASSED MERCHANDISE at the lowest possible price at which meritorious goods can be purchased.

We have an excellent line of ladies' ready-to-wear dresses, waists and skirts—styled on essentially youthful lines, replete with grace and beauty. We invite the careful attention of our lady friends to the above.

And our gentlemen friends will please remember that the Kirschbaum clothes are all strictly hand tailored, all wool and the dyes are acid test. They are made to fit—both your person and your purse.

STEAMER TITANIC WENT DOWN WITH BAND PLAYING. Survivors Give Details, for First Time, of the Sinking of the Largest Ship Afloat.

New York, April 18.—How the White Star liner Titanic, the largest ship afloat, sank off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland last Monday morning, carrying to their death 1,601 of the 2,304 persons aboard, was told to the world in all its awful details for the first time tonight with the arrival in New York of the Cunard liner Carpathia, bearing the exhausted survivors of the catastrophe.

Of the great facts that stand out from the account of the tragedy, these are the most salient:

The death list has been increased rather than decreased. Six persons died after being rescued. The list of prominent persons lost stand as previously reported.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

Practically every woman and child, with the exception of those who refused to leave their husbands, were saved. The survivors of the lifeboats saw the lights on the stricken vessel glimmer to the last, heard her band playing and saw the doomed hundreds on her deck and heard their groans and cries when the vessel sank.

Accounts vary as to the extent of the disorder on board. Not only was the Titanic tearing through the night to her doom, with every ounce of steam crowded on, but she was under orders from the general offices of the line to make all the speed of which she was capable. This was the statement made tonight by J. H. Moody, a quartermaster of the vessel and helmsman on the night of the disaster. He said the ship was making twenty-one knots an hour and the officers were striving to live up to the orders to smash the record.

"PORT YOUR HELM."

It was close to midnight," said Moody, "and I was on the bridge with the second officer, who was in command. Suddenly he shouted, 'Port your helm.' I did so, but it was too late. We struck the submerged portion of the berg."

Of the many accounts given by the passengers, most of them agreed that the shock when the Titanic struck the ice-berg, although ripping her great sides like a giant can opener, did not greatly jar the entire vessel, for the blow was a glancing one along her side. The accounts also agree that when the passengers were taken off on the lifeboats there were no serious panics and that many desired to remain on board the Titanic, believing her unsinkable."

The most distressing stories are those giving the experiences of the passengers in lifeboats. These tell not only of their own suffering, but give the harrowing details of how they saw the great hulk of the Titanic break in two and then plunge to the bottom. As this awful spectacle was witnessed by the groups of survivors in the boats, they plainly saw many of those whom they had just left behind leaping from the decks into the water.

A Mother's Care.

A careful mother will not give her child a medicine without knowing it is pure, contains no opiates, and has healing and curative qualities. Such a medicine is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, and affections of the throat, chest and lungs. Best and safest for children and grown persons. Contains no opiates. I. W. Sweet.

The Bank Ad Writer.

Much crisp counsel comes from advertisements. Probably because men who buy space study its economical use most diligently. Surely in the field of investment the ad writers have somewhat the better of the regular authors. There are half a dozen or so of them who can thrust at you bits of sound saving and investing gospel so energetically that you can't help absorbing some of it. Let me cite here the argument of an advertisement writer for a Southern bank. It is headed "Laziness."

If a man could earn $3 a day, but staid in the house and refused to earn a cent, you would call him lazy and good-for-nothing, wouldn't you?

Yet many persons will let their dollars lie idle, although they have a definite earning power. They are allowing them to be lazy. Put your dollars to work. Make them help you earn a living.

We give them a position at a good salary. We will pay you 4 per cent for small or large amounts—keep your money safe and compound the 4 per cent interest on the first of each January, April, July and October.

Thousands of financial institutions in this country can do as well as the one which pays the salary of the young man who wrote that. Many will pay more—many, unfortunately, that ought not to pay more. The writer knew that, and went on to explain why 4 per cent on deposits was a fair return for the bank to pay.

"We are not taking advantage of patrons when we pay them 4 per cent of their money, but, on the contrary, are acting rightly by them because we are unable to pay more and be the safe, strong bank that would inspire them to deposit. We are able to pay 4 per cent only because we are in a progressive manufacturing center, where there is always a demand for money with safety.

"If this were not true and we could not be absolutely safe while paying 4 per cent, we would reduce the rate of interest paid to 3 per cent, or pay no interest at all; rather than jeopardize the safety of the institution."

Frankness, sincerity and a human way of making its appeal will win for a bank or an investment house patronage that is worth having.—John M. Oskison.

J. G. Hall, writing from Castroville, Texas, says: "I am only too glad to speak of the never-failing curative qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I have used it in my family for the last twenty years and in cases of colds, coughs, and lagrippe, it has never yet disappointed." I. W. Sweet.

When you feel Lazy, Stretchy, Half Sick, Blue and Out of Sorts, look to the Liver; it is Torpid.

HERBINE

Is the Remedy You Need.

It is an invigorating tonic for a torpid liver. The first dose brings improvement, a few days use puts the liver in fine vigorous condition. Herbine also extends its restorative influence to the stomach and bowels. It helps digestion and food assimilation, purifies the bowels and brings back the habit of regular daily bowel-movements. When the stomach, liver and bowels are active, bilious impurities no longer obstruct functional processes, the result of which is renewed energy, mental activity and cheerful spirits.

MAINTENANCE THE IMPORTANT THING.

Supervisor Potts of the A. & M. College Tells How to Maintain Sand-Clay Roads in East Texas.

Following is an extract from a talk on the subject of building and maintaining good sand-clay roads in Houston county made by Mr. Potts, the A. & M. College's road expert, to the citizens' meeting at the court house in Crockett on the evening of April 4:

In constructing your roads, first study the location of your roads. Your roads, in order to be of the benefit that they should, must be in the right location and in the best location for the service that they are to give; in other words, put the roads where they should be. The next thing to do is to get rid of all of the trees and stumps. You can not build good roads with a lot of trees and stumps in the limits of the portion graded for the road. Farmers might as well try to farm with out his plows and other implements of farming—it would be just as easy for him to do that as for you to try to build good roads without first removing all of the trees and stumps after you have located your roads. You can not run good, up-to-date machinery over your roads with them full of stumps and trees. Now, in reference to the graded portion of the road. The graded portion of the road ought to be at least thirty feet from the ditch on the one side to the ditch on the other side, and the ditch should be about five or six feet in width. There are two things that must be watched in reference to the keeping up of your roads. One is to get the water off of the land adjacent to the road and to keep it off of the road, and the next thing is in doing this to be careful and not let the water wash off the road and everything with it while you are getting the water off. The washing power of water varies with the square of its velocity; that is to say, if you double the velocity of the water, it will move four times the amount of particles as before you doubled the velocity. The velocity depends on two things—the slope in the ditch and the shape of the ditch. You must guard against the shape of the ditch. We have an old adage which says, "Ditch the side ditches." The road can not be compelled to drain the water of all of the adjacent country in a way different from the natural ways of drainage peculiar to those particular parts of the land. Some times it is well to run your road in the way that the natural drainage runs, but this will not always be the best plan to adopt, and in cases generally it is best to cross the natural trend of the drainage with your road. After you have done this, then it is up to you to either get this water across the road without washing your ditches and your road both off, or else build a kind of secondary ditch. One way to get around this is to use two ditches on each side of your road. In order to do this, you will have to have a right-of-way about eighty feet wide. In reference to ditching the side ditches, the reason for this is to get rid of the water on the land adjacent to the road so that in draining this adjacent land the water will not wash your road away. I have done the best I could, in the short time that I have had to do so, to give you a few of the main practical points in reference to the building and maintaining of your roads.

There is no reason why we can not have satisfactory roads in East Texas at economical prices. You have an excellent clay and a very good sand, and the cost of these roads should not be more than one thousand dollars per mile, and the cost will range between four hundred dollars and one thousand dollars per mile. Another thing, quit putting in those wooden structures, but put in good concrete culverts and bridges. No matter what sort of roads you build, how you build them, or what they cost you, you might just as well make up your mind right now on the very start that you will have to stay with them and keep them up. For instance, your roads would have been improved one thousand per cent, if you had just dragged your roads after the rain. A poor road well maintained is much better than a supposed-to-be fine road poorly maintained. One good way to "drag" your road is with what is commonly known as the "split-log drag." Every county has its road overseers, whose duty it is to look after roads in his precinct, summon out men to work the roads and in every way possible to keep the roads in his precinct in good condition. Now, why does not the county provide each of its overseers with one of these split-log drags. These drags would not cost the county over four dollars a piece, equipped in every respect. These drags should be about twelve feet long, and the whole business, chain and all, would not cost the county more than four dollars each—well, say five dollars each—it would not cost more than five dollars each, I know. After the rain is the time to use these drags, when the land is a little too wet to plough. You see the overseers, after the first rain, could say to A: "You take this drag and go over the road today," and A gets two and one-half days credit for that day's work dragging the roads in his precinct. Then the overseer will say to the next man on his list, B: "It is your turn at dragging the roads," and B gets two and one-half day's credit for that day's work dragging the roads, and so on down the list. You see, this plan is perfectly practicable. There is absolutely nothing in the way to prevent this plan being put into execution if the proper interest is taken in the matter. If you will do this and get the county to furnish each overseer in the county with one of these home-made split-log drags—and, say you have two hundred overseers (I haven't the least idea how many overseers you have in this county), at the very maximum cost of five dollars, that would be one thousand dollars. If in two year's time they have not been worth every cent of twenty-five thousand dollars to your county, I will buy and take over the whole "batch" of split-log drags off of the county's hands. You can not over-estimate or exaggerate the value of good sand-clay roads, or of the split-log drag for maintaining these roads after you have once installed same.

ANSWER IT HONESTLY.

Are the Statements of Crockett Citizens Not More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers?

This is a vital question. It is fraught with interest to Crockett.

It permits of only one answer. It cannot be evaded or ignored. A Crockett citizen speaks here. Speaks for the welfare of Crockett. A citizen's statement is reliable. An utter stranger's doubtful. Home proof is the best proof. Mrs. M. A. Mitliff, Crockett, Texas says: "I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for I have received splendid results from their use. I had distressing backaches, headaches and other symptoms of kidney complaint. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from Sweet's drug store and they brought splendid relief." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Election Notice.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Crockett, in regular session assembled, that a special election be and the same is hereby ordered held at the court house in the city of Crockett on the second Saturday in May, A. D. 1912, the same being the 11th day of May, A. D. 1912, for the purpose of electing a mayor and two aldermen, whose term of office will expire on April 1, 1914, and one alderman to fill out the unexpired term of Alderman J. E. Monk, resigned, whose term expires on April 1, 1913; that due and legal notice of such election be given, and that James Langston be and is hereby appointed manager of said election.

Passed in regular session on this the 8th day of April, A. D. 1912.

F. A. Wootsey, a railroad man running between Dallas and Jackson, Texas, sent in the following: "I was down with kidney trouble and rheumatism and had backache all the time, until I was almost tired of living. The first bottle of Foley Kidney Pills I took helped me so much that I kept on with them until I was thoroughly cured. I also gave them to my little boy for bed wetting, and it stopped that altogether and he is now well." I. W. Sweet.

Be Happy!

Happy the girl, or woman, who has never suffered from any of the diseases of womanhood! Or, if she has been a sufferer, happy is she if she has learned of the wonderful benefits of Cardui, the woman's tonic!

Cardui is a gentle, tonic remedy, for women's ailments. It is a natural medicine—safe, harmless, purely vegetable. It has been in successful use for more than 50 years. It has cured thousands. It should do the same for you.

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Mary Neely, of Denver, Tenn., says, "I think there is no tonic on earth, as good as Cardui. I used it with the very best results. I had backache and nearly everything a woman could suffer with, until I took Cardui. Now, I feel better than I have for two years. I shall always recommend Cardui to other suffering women. I can't praise it too highly. As a medicine for weak, tired, worn-out women, Cardui is safe and reliable. Try it, today.

High Paint

Paint is higher than ever before since the great improvement of making paint in works with all the facilities—think of a painter mixing and grinding by hand!

Good paint is still cheap; poor paint isn't cheap at any price.

The advance is only $5 on the whole job; it would cost you that to wait a year. A 10-gallon job this year would be a 11-gallon job next year; besides the risk.

Everybody knows that paint has gone up. Not everybody knows that his job has gone up a paltry $5.

Reckon the costs.

Attention, Democrats.

This is to give notice that the democratic convention for beat No. 2 will be held at the Airdome, one block east of the public square, and will meet promptly at 2 o'clock p. m., Saturday, May 4. This beat takes in all of Crockett voting precinct lying south of the San Antonio road. Please remember the day, hour and place.

J. W. Madden, Chairman.

On Wednesday afternoon, April 17, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Hallmark, near Crockett, occurred the marriage of Miss Cecelia Alma Hallmark to Mr. Thomas Avery Hays. The bridegroom is bookkeeper at the oil mill. He has resided in this city about two years and has made many friends since coming here from west Texas. His bride was born and reared near here and is popular. Mr. and Mrs. Hays will make their home in this city and have gone to housekeeping.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Edmiston entertained quite a number of their friends on Wednesday evening of last week with a "42" party. There were fifteen tables and four guests to the table. Throughout the game the men played as partners against the women, and it is needless to say that the latter came out the victors. At the ending of the game brick cream with cake was served. Mrs. Edmiston was assisted by Misses Annie Stokes, Judith Arledge, Etta Hail, Hallie Aldrich and Caroline Peyton. The evening was enlivened with a musical program and immensely enjoyed. The miniature umbrellas stuck in the ice cream were folded and kept for souvenirs by the guests.

Methodist Revival.

The revival is on at the Methodist church and both morning and evening services are being held. Rev. W. H. Vance of Lufkin arrived the first of the week and is doing the preaching. The pastor began the meetings Sunday. The sermons are good and so is the music. If you go once you will go again and your only regret will be that you did not go sooner.

Nat Allbright for County Clerk.

Nat E. Allbright announces for county clerk. Mr. Allbright is known to many of Houston county's voters, having formerly filled the office of county clerk. They know him as courteous and obliging, always painstaking and prompt in his official duties. He has lived in Houston county a long time and his conduct has always been that of a good democrat. He will appreciate your vote.

To the Public.

We, the undersigned druggists, have been forced to discontinue the sale of cigars, tobacco and sundries on Sunday, and take this means of informing the public and asking their cooperation in this respect. We also wish to add that, inasmuch as we have been signalled out as violators of the law, we desire that the citizenship of Crockett help us in having all other stores in this city and the entire county observe this law so that it shall be binding on all alike. Respectfully,

Decuir-Bishop Drug Co.,

McLean Drug Co.,

Call for Precinct Conventions.

In the call for democratic precinct conventions as published in the Courier last week, the voting box at Tyer's Store was unintentionally omitted. The chairman at that box is J. N. Tyer and the box is entitled to one delegate. All voting precincts are to hold conventions on Saturday, May 4, to elect delegates to the county convention to be held on Tuesday, May 7, at Crockett. At the county convention delegates will be elected to the state convention which will elect delegates to the national convention for the purpose of nominating democratic candidates for president and vice president.

That is the Question.

Are you satisfied with the style, fit and finish of your clothes? If you trade with us you certainly are, because we guarantee satisfaction. Our tailoring gives you advanced styles. Money for Road Work Now Ready.

J. W. Young, handling the road bond proposition for the Crockett and Grapeland road districts, informed the Courier Wednesday morning that the money for the road bonds was now ready to be paid over by the purchasers. He had just received this information. The bonds are to mature in forty years, but the purchasers give the vendors the option of taking them up in twenty-five years. As soon as the preliminaries can be arranged road construction will begin.

Houston County Contestants.

The secretary of the Texas Industrial Congress has given out for publication a list, by counties, of the contestants entered in competition for the $10,000 in cash prizes offered by the congress for the best results secured in the state this year in the production of corn, cotton, kaffir corn and milo maize. Following are the names of the Houston county contestants: Cecil Lamar Butler, Lovelady; Guy Richards, Augusta; Clinton Cannon, Crockett; W. R.

Skidmore, LaTexo; Curtis E. Wilson, Howard Sanders and Vernon Sanders, Lovelady; Arthur Thomas, Glenn Burton and Lillie M. Bowman, Crockett; John Necha, Jr., Lovelady; Harold Beeson, Crockett; Herman Moore, Ignac Janek, Jr., Ludnula Janek, Adolph Krenek, Isidor Krenek and Edward Krenek, Lovelady; John F. Mayhar and Thomas Self, Crockett; Annie Janek and Joe Shupak, Lovelady; Dave Thompson, Crockett; Homer Tyler, Grapeland; Charlie Skalicky, Lovelady; Mac Hooks and Frank E. Foster, Crockett; Robert E. Stafford, Daly.

House Burned.

The residence of R. C. Stokes on Grace street burned on Wednesday night of last week. The origin of the fire is unknown, as the flames were under strong headway when discovered. This house is beyond the water limit and therefore beyond the aid of the fire company, but some of the furnishings were saved by being carried out. It was a large house and made a big fire, but at no time were other houses endangered. The Courier has been unable to ascertain the exact loss or amount of insurance, but we understand that the property was well insured.

Republican Precinct Conventions.

In compliance with the election law, the republican qualified voters of Houston county are herewith called to meet in precinct conventions on May 4, 1912, in their justice precincts, at the places of convening court in said justice precincts, to elect delegates to a county convention to be held in the city of Crockett on May 7, 1912. Said county convention is called to elect delegates to the district conventions and to the state convention which convenes in Fort Worth, Texas, May 28, 1912. Each precinct may elect as many as eight delegates, but the conventional vote is fixed at a basis of one.

S. M. Bruce, Acting Chairman.

A. Foy, Secretary.

Champion Checker Player Was Here.

Captain F. B. Fishburne of Columbia, S. C., the recognized champion checker player of the southern states, spent a couple of days last week in Crockett as the guest of James Langston. His visit was a surprise to most of the local talent, and when the entertainment took on blindfold and simultaneous features many were astonished, as the captain performs equally as well without seeing the board and men as he does with his eyes open. He went through the last southern tourney without losing so much as a single game and contested fifteen boards at Houston once simultaneous, and in the forty-seven games contested succeeded in winning forty and drawing seven without the loss of a single game.

Mr. Fishburne was much pleased with Crockett and the reception accorded him and promised to return next summer.

Attention, Republicans.

To the republican voters of Houston county: By virtue of the authority in me vested by law, I hereby call a meeting of the voters of each voting precinct of Houston county to be held on Saturday, May 4, 1912, at the respective voting boxes for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to be held in Crockett on Tuesday, May 7, 1912, for the purpose of electing delegates to the state and congressional conventions, who will elect delegates to the national convention, who will nominate republican candidates for president and vice-president.

No one but republicans who have paid their poll tax will be allowed to vote. The chairman and secretary will sign the credentials of the delegates elected and deliver the same to one elected who will be sure to attend the county convention, or forward same to me by mail at once.

C. A. Clinton,
County Chairman.

A. D. Bowman, Secretary.

Post Oak.

Editor Courier:

I think we have had plenty of rain for awhile. The farmers are all behind with their work.

Health is very good at present.

Prof. J. H. Lockey closed out his school Friday afternoon very nicely and returned to his home in Belott Saturday, where he has other employment awaiting him. Everybody seemed to be well pleased who patronized the school all the way through, and we regretted very much to see him leave. The children who attended the school dearly loved their teacher. Prof. Lockey awarded prizes for the best boy and girl in school and prizes for the best boy and girl in the fourth grade. Miss Myrtie Mae Rains took the prize for being the best girl in conduct and Master Dee Blair took the prize for being the best boy. Master Beasley Rains took the prize for being the best boy in the fourth grade studies.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Blair gave a singing in honor of Prof. Lockey, April 13 (Saturday night). Every one seemed to enjoy themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. J. Rains gave a musical entertainment in honor of the school children and Prof. Lockey. Miss Myrtie Mae Rains and Mr. Edgar Needham served cake and coffee. The time for them to go home came all too soon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morrison entertained the school children and Prof. Lockey Wednesday night. All seemed to enjoy themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barnes and children of Pine Grove visited Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Blair Sunday.

Mr. Edgar Needham was transacting business in Crockett Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Blair entertained their friends with a singing Sunday afternoon. A duet was rendered by Misses Myrtie Mae Rains and Alma Blair, which was much enjoyed by all.

Third Case in Same Family.

This morning it was reported to the city health officer that Mrs. Jones, mother of Mrs. O. L. Race, had meningitis. Mrs. Jones lives with Mr. Otto Race and family, 506

Coronaca. Some several days ago a child in this family developed meningitis, then the mother was stricken last week. This makes the third case in this family.—Palestine Herald.

Advice for Senator Bailey.

Senator Bailey will come to Texas as soon as congress adjourns, or earlier, and make speeches for Harmon for president. He would better go to some other state where the people do not know how to vote and instruct them.—East Texas Register.
