HORSE AND SADDLE STOLEN, STORE BURGLARIZED

Charlie Wade, a young, yellow negro, stout and healthy, is in the toils of the law. Anderson county officers came to Crockett Sunday, got Charlie and took him to the Anderson county jail. It is said that he is also wanted by the Montgomery county officers on a burglary charge. Charlie is under indictment at Palestine for burglary or theft and was out under bond when he came to Crockett. Getting married soon after arriving here, he decided to stay where he had won a home and take things "easy." He took too many things "easy." Another negro was the first to accuse him of theft, but the proof was lacking and the officers let him go. He next got into trouble with his wife, who threatened to have him arrested, and he retaliated by making ugly threats against his wife and the officers. Thursday night of last week Marvin Saxon's horse was stolen, a saddle was stolen from A. B. Hallmark, and Charlie Wade, whose movements the officers were watching, disappeared. On the same night Gilbert's store at Cut, six miles south of Crockett, was burglarized and many articles of value, mostly wearing apparel, were taken. The negro's disappearance caused suspicion to point to him and a description of him was telephoned down the line by the sheriff. Charlie was picked up by the officers at El Mina, a saw mill town in Walker county, and taken to the jail at Huntsville Friday. He had turned the horse loose and hidden the stolen goods and saddle, all of which were recovered. Sheriff Hale went to Huntsville, got his prisoner and returned to Crockett Saturday. The negro was turned over to the Anderson county officers Sunday and taken to Palestine, where district court is now in session.

Sweet Potato Association Assured.

Saturday at noon a telegram was sent to the Farm Bureau sweet potato growers' association, Dallas, Texas, saying: Houston county has gone over the top for the organization. At 4 p. m. the writer received a message of congratulation on the good work. This move means for Houston county a new money crop of large possibilities and we predict for it a huge success.

To R. R. (Dick) Morrison, our county agent, must be given special credit, for if it had not been for his untiring efforts and his knowledge of the ones who were producing potatoes this move would not have gone over.

We wish to thank the press of the county for their splendid publicity and co-operation and right here we wish to say that had more farmers been subscribers our acreage would have been double with the same amount of labor expended. You should take and read our county papers and air your views through them. We want all our Farm Bureau members to read the county papers.

We wish also to thank the banks of the county for their assistance given us and especially Mr. W. H. Mangum, Weldon; Mr. W. S. Mangum, Ratcliff, and Mr. Dan P. Craddock, Kennard. These boys are real county builders.

Our object is to establish curing plants at different points in the county to take care of the sweet potatoes for its members and put them in a condition to market when the prices are best.

Members will still be received in this organization with full voting power until the first of June. So if you have been overlooked, come in, write or phone, and we will furnish you with the contract, as all are really wanted in this great marketing plan.

S. M. Monzingo.

Mrs. Della Mangum.

Mrs. Della Susan Mangum, wife of George A. Mangum, died at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in a Houston hospital, where she had only recently gone for an operation. Mrs. Mangum was 39 years of age. She leaves the husband, George A. Mangum; a son, George A. Mangum Jr., and three daughters, Mary, Olga and Margaret, all of whom are young. She also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Clara Haller, Mrs. Frank Weir and Miss Thelma Sanders; also her mother, Mrs. J. I. Lanance. The remains were taken from the hospital at Houston to an undertaking establishment where, in the chapel, appropriate services were held by her former pastor in Crockett, Rev. L. L. Sams, now pastor of the Humble Baptist church. The deceased had long been a member of the Baptist church and was also a member of the Macabee lodge.

The remains reached Crockett Monday afternoon, but funeral services were postponed until Tuesday morning to await the arrival of relatives from other points. At 10 o'clock Tuesday morning appropriate funeral services were held by the Baptist pastor, Rev. A. S. Lee, and interment followed in the Crockett cemetery. Mrs. Mangum was a good Christian woman—a teacher in the Sunday school—whose kindly influence will be missed in religious circles as well as in the home-life of our people. Those bereaved have the fullest sympathy of the community.

Henry to Speak.

Hon. Robert L. Henry of Waco, candidate for the United States senate and former congressman from the Waco district, will speak at Crockett on Wednesday night of next week. All democrats, and especially the farmers, are asked to hear him.

Mrs. J. H. Smith, two children and a nephew, Joe LeGory, are visiting at Glen Rose.

STORE AND GOODS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Late Monday afternoon the store building occupied by the Thompson's and Mrs. J. P. Hail was severely damaged by fire and water. The first floor of the building was occupied in front by the Thompson's as a dry goods store, while toward the rear was the millinery department of Mrs. J. P. Hail. The Thompsons estimate their loss at about $15,000, partially covered by insurance. Mrs. Hail's loss on her millinery was almost total, with only small insurance. The building belongs to George W. Crook, whose loss is partially covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire is undecided, but the opinion seems to be that it was from defective electric wiring. After the store was closed for the day, fire was discovered upstairs in the rear of the building by people on the outside and the alarm was given. The local fire company arrived promptly and, breaking in the upstairs windows at the front of the building, soon subdued the flames. The upstairs was used as a storage department. Much damage was caused to the goods on the first floor by being carried out by the people who arrived before the flames were subdued.

Mrs. Smith's Hospitality.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith swung wide its doors two days last week to a number of out-of-town participants in the Kelly-Young wedding, among whom were Mr. George Kelly, bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kelly, parents of the groom, Mrs. Hurst and little daughter, Mary Yates Hurst, ring bearer, all of Longview; Mr. J. B. McClung by Dallas (best man), and Mrs. Pet Franks of Palestine.

On Tuesday evening at seven o'clock these guests, together with other members of the bridal party, were led by the hostess into the dining room of her pretty home, where covers for twelve were laid, and for one hour all were busy devouring the good things prepared for them, and so gracefully served by Misses Mary Frank Smith and Alta Stokes. The dining room, with its profusion of frosted lights, mounted in silver, presented a scene akin to fairyland, as we gazed upon huge clusters of "Easter" lilies, towering high above cut glass receptacles, here and there, throughout the room, lending added charm to the elaborate draperies of rose and gold, over a setting of heavy lace panels, while, in the center of the table, so brilliant with accessories of cut glass and silver, were miniature ducks, floating in a crystal pond, from which sprang several snow white lilies and ferns, reflecting their shadows in a handsome mirror beneath.

Besides the above house-guests, those who participated in the dinner were Misses Leita C. Young, Sara Mae Crook and Hattie Stokes of Crockett, Miss Margaret Kelley of Longview, Misses Mary Fay House and Becky George of Dallas. Dinner over, all repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young for a wedding rehearsal, after which they returned to the Smith home, bringing with them several young men of the town, and enjoyed a social hour or two before good-nights were said.

Refreshments consisted of delicious brick ice cream and home-made cake, both in the two-tone, pink and white, after which dainty mints in pink and white were passed.

All present were reluctant to say goodnight, having felt so welcome in the atmosphere of genuine hospitality that is ever present with this most estimable family. A Guest.

SOME NEWS OF THE CROCKETT OIL FIELD

Bailing is again in progress in the Porter well on the Austin farm. The lost strainer at the bottom of the hole has been sidetracked and another one put down by the side of it. It was sidetracked by excavating at the side of it and pushing it into the excavation. The packer was then reset and casing reset. Bailing was started on Wednesday of this week. As to how long it will take to bail the well depends on the water, and that is of unknown quantity. However, it is said that the well may come in as an oil well at any time.

The Porter Springs well is drilling between 1000 and 2000 feet, the Driskill and the Grape-land wells remain closed down and we have no report from the Weldon well.

Baseball at Palestine.

Palestine, May 24.—A big day is in store May 30 at Fair Park in Palestine for all baseball fans. The participants will be four clubs of Palestine boys who will play two games, the first game starting at 2:30 p. m.

This will be the opening day of a 16-game series to be played by the Palestine City League, all rules of amateur sport being strictly adhered to in order that no high school or college men who play will stand any chance whatever of disqualifying.

Owing to the fact that the players are restricted to Anderson county residents and that more than 75 young men are either regular or substitute players, interest in the affair is at high pitch already.

A parade will precede the game, in which the Palestine band, Boy Scouts and all Palestine society will participate.

Mrs. Jopling, who formerly lived in Crockett, gave a demonstration of Maxwell House coffee at the store of Arnold Brothers on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

It is the day of the "sweet girl graduate," God bless 'em!

NO FEDERAL AID FOR HOUSTON COUNTY

County Judge Nat Patton is in receipt of the following telegram from Congressman Clay Stone Briggs at Washington, under date of May 23, 1922. County Judge Patton and others have been making an effort to get cotton seed from the national government for the replanting of overflooded lands. The telegram follows:

"Extremely sorry to advise that appropriation committee of present republican congress has refused to grant any aid to flood sufferers and voted down resolution for relief in spite of appeals by me and other congressmen interested, showing the distress and need which prevails in the devastated flood region, as reported by you and others. As a result of adverse action of appropriation committee, prospect of federal aid is not encouraging. (Signed) "Clay Stone Briggs, M. C."

NEGRO BURNED AT THE STAKE

Conroe, Texas, May 20.—Joe Winters, negro, 25 years old, was burned at the stake in the court house yard Saturday afternoon. Thousands of persons, including women and children, witnessed the lynching.

Winters just before the match was touched to his oil saturated clothing admitted an assault upon a 14-year old white girl near Leonidas.

The burning of Winters followed a long chase with bloodhounds. Another negro was arrested late Friday and spirited away to Houston for safe keeping. Early Saturday morning the bloodhounds were put on the trail. Then it developed that Winters was the man wanted. The whole town closed up and people came from the entire countryside to join in the man hunt. Winters was caught at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon 5 miles east of Conroe. He was taken to Leonidas where the girl positively identified him. He was then brought to the court house square. Kindling was built up around him. Oil was thrown on to the heap and the fire started.

ROGER AND I.

Editor Courier:

All readers of literature touching the "Dumb Animal Kingdom" will recall Senator Vest's tribute to the loyalty and fidelity of a dog. It seems that two Missouri farmers had a difference and one shot the other's dog. Senator Vest was engaged to bring suit against the farmer who shot the other farmer's dog. The jury retired and deliberated and returned a verdict, giving the farmer whose dog was shot the sum of $500.00. In this connection I am requested to have republished a poem by Dr. Julian S. Cutler of Little Falls, N. Y., in "The Animal's Defender."

Well, Roger, my dear old doggie, they say that your race is run: And our daily tramps together up and down the fields are done; You're only a dog; old fellow, a dog, and you've had your day. But never a friend of all my friends has been truer than you always.

We've had glorious times together in the fields and pastures fair; In storm and sunny weather we have romped without a care; And however men have treated me, though foul or fair their deal, However many the friends that failed, I've found you true as steel.

That's right, my dear old fellow, look up with your knowing eye, And lick my hand with your loving tongue that never has told a lie: And don't be afraid, old doggie, if your time has come to go, For somewhere out in the great Unknown there's a place for you, I know.

Then don't you worry, old comrade, and don't you fear to die, For out in that fairer country I will find you by and by; And I'll stand by you old fellow, and our love will surely win. For never a heaven shall harbor me where they won't let Roger in.

When I reach the city glorious, behind the waiting "dark," Just come and stand outside the gate and wag your tail and bark.

I'll hear your voice and I'll know it, and I'll come to the gate and say: "St. Peter, that's my dog out there; you must let him come this way."

And then if the saint refuses I'll go to the One above And say: "Old Roger is at the gate with his heart brimful of love: And there isn't a shining angel of all the heavenly band Who ever lived a nobler life than he in the earthly land."

Then I know the gate will open and you will come frisking in, And we'll roam fair fields together in that country free from sin.

So never you mind, old Roger, if your time has come to go; You've been true to me, I'll be true to you; and the Lord is good, we know.

You are only a dog, old fellow, a dog, and you've had your day.

Well, I'm getting there myself, old boy, and I haven't long to stay.

But you've stood by me, old comrade, and I'm bound to stand by you;

So don't you worry, old Roger, for our love will pull us through.

Vest's tribute and Cutler's poem constitute a splendid defense of the dumb animals.

GAS PROBLEM IS ONE THAT GROWS

Fluid Distilled Today Contains Much That Used to Be Known as Kerosene.

Every motor car manufacturer is offering in his 1922 product what he considers an excellent device for getting the greatest possible power kick out of the kind of gas a car has to swallow these days.

The poor-gas problem is one which has grown with the motor industry. The first few "horseless carriages" puffed along on a fluid that was so violate under ordinary atmospheric conditions that it was readily combustible. Now that the use of cars has increased to the extent that we have forgotten the "horseless age," the tremendous increase in the demand for gasoline must be met by cutting lower into the crude oil.

Gasoline distilled today contains much that was known as high grade kerosene a few years ago. It is an indication of the progress made in cars that they hum over the hills on the fuel and sputter as little as they do

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too.

on cold days. That's where the "more miles a gallon" engineering is showing results.

Proper combustion, in addition to its results in acceleration and mileage, affects lubrication because unburned raw gasoline leaking into the crank case thins the oil.

A Worthy Ambition.

The ambition of the modern motor engineer is to introduce into the combustion chamber the most rapidly burning fuel possible. When the fuel enters in drops the external surface of the drop is exposed to the spark. It is necessary to evaporate the drops into a vapor before combustion is complete. If fuel can be reduced to a true gas, that is still better. Even with the best carburetor now obtainable the gasoline is only partly vaporized.

It would be simple to apply enough heat to make the fluid into a true gas, but another difficulty enters here. As the gas is heated it expands, it becomes "thinner," there is less power in a given volume, the combustion chamber is not getting as many heat units as it should.

Intake manifolds are being designed now to give just the right amount of heat to vaporize the last drop of gasoline without overheating the vapor. Heat usually is applied only to the liquid fuel. One of the two main methods used permits the liquid to touch a hot plate over which the vaporized fuel passes without coming into contact. Another series of hot spot devices uses a settling chamber into which the heavier particles drop to be heated.

Beset With Difficulties

Most hot devices consider another trait of the stubborn little drop of gasoline—clinging to the dry wall of the intake manifold and thus sneaking into the combustion chamber without being vaporized. The most popular way of off-setting that is to shape the intake manifold so that there is a sharp corner in the internal wall. The unsuspecting drop of gas creeps along the wall until it reaches the corner. There the rush of vaporized gas into the manifold gets a sweep at it. It is as if the gas drop had stepped around the edge of a skyscraper into a wind-storm and it is hurled off into space.

Applications of these general principles in this year's cars include a combination manifold and carburetor with dampers for regulating the supply of heat, a corrugated interior surface of a manifold heated from the exhaust, an intake passage surrounded almost entirely by the exhaust, a manifold arrangement controlled by a damper which shunts exhaust heat around the intake, thermostatic carburetor control, a "fuelizer" which heats gasoline and air from the carburetor and makes it enter the combustion chamber as a dry gas, and many other devices.

Those who have studied European affairs and the ever changing conditions of that country will not be surprised to see the pruning hooks and plowshares beaten again into swords. The way Germany and Russia are leaguering up together, and the feeling between France and Germany becoming more and more hostile, the future looks black and gloomy.

EDITORIALS BY COL. R. T. MILNER

What the Former A. & M. President Writes in the Rusk County News.

A BAD SITUATION.

Here is the situation, as Frank H. Simonds, the best informed of all European correspondents, sees it:

"Then there is Hungary. She has been reduced from a great State to a hopeless fragment. Never while the Danube flows to the sea will the Hungarians resign their claims to the old territory of the crown of St. Stephen. Any document, however solemn, will have no meaning for them if the opportunity comes to restore the old frontiers. But to prevent this Roumania, Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo Slavia have formed the little entente. By contrast, Italy fearful of the Slavs, has carried on an intrigue with Hungary, and Germany and Russia are reported to be seeking to include Hungary in the new Russo-German alliance.

"I shall not seek here to multiply the examples of the utter unwillingness of many of the nations in Europe to accept the present territorial distribution as final or more than the result of military defeat. But there is no way of adjusting this difference of opinion, because if you restored the situation of 1914, remake the map of Europe to suit those now dissatisfied, you would only transfer for dissatisfaction to the other camp and produce the conditions out of which the world war developed. There is no way under heaven by which you can establish a frontier which will be satisfactorily or even tolerable to both the Roumanians and the Maygar, the German and the Poles or the Czecho-Slovak, the Italian and Jugo Slav.

"Every Frenchman believes that when the hour is favorable, Germany will attack him. Every Pole knows that he must expect attack both from the German and the Russian. The Czech is menaced by German and Hungarian, the Roumanian by Russia, Hungarian and Bulgarian, the Jugo Slav by Hungarian, Bulgarian and Italian. In the face of the national sentiment of all the people of the east of Europe from the Baltic to the Black Sea, any guarantee of territorial integrity would be a joke, or worse, a palpable lie."

All these jibes, insinuations, and nags aimed at Neff because he has seen proper to ignore the Dallas gentlemen who would take the administration of public affairs away from the Governor and place it in their own hands, will not succeed. As we understand, Governor Neff has said that he is opposed to all secret organizations that violate laws under masks and robes, that he is not a member of any Ku Klux Klan, and that he is in favor of enforcing all laws. That he has permitted court decisions to stand, and has refused to open the doors of the penitentiary for the exit of criminals, as other Governors have done, we all know to be a fact.

stated by Thomas Jefferson are not seriously considered. There seems to be but one issue raised by some of the daily papers, and all the hopes of the Nation hang on that issue, they seem to think. Jefferson's test cannot be too often quoted: "Is he honest? Is he capable? Is he faithful?"

Let it be kept eternally in mind by our road builders that Bermuda grass is the only thing we have to keep the road beds from washing away. Right now is the time to attend to this important matter. It is not economy to neglect it, but it is a waste of the taxes of the people to throw up road beds and leave them bare of something to hold the dirt in place, and that part of the work must be done while there is moisture to grow and spread the grass.

The Democrats are divided on so many questions and are so much in need of a great leader, that the future is not as bright as a rainbow. They seem to base their hopes upon the possibility of a break in the Republican party before the next election. Some want McAdoo, some want Cox again, and many want a new deal altogether. In the meantime we will bet on Bryan being able to separate the monkey-made man from the man God made.

OLIVER Walking Cultivator

THERE are many features of the OLIVER WALKING CULTIVATOR which appeal strongly to the farmer, especially the larger ones who work hired labor. They are so simple anyone can adjust them, and so strong and durable the cost of upkeep is very small. The ease of control is produced by springs which counter balance the weight of the gangs against the weight of the tongue and making it easy to lift the gangs. These springs are so arranged that they give the gangs the proper suck under all soil conditions, making it unnecessary for the operator to ride handles. The weight is not thrown on the horses necks when the gangs are raised, because the wheels are placed far enough back of the arch to balance their weight; a perfect balance whether gangs are raised or lowered. Let us show you the complete OLIVER line.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Conference of Genoa Is Nearly Wrecked by Divergence Over Russian Plan.

Developments of last week almost if not quite put the Genoa conference on the rocks. More than that, they brought Great Britain and France to the verge of a rupture. At this writing the prospect is dark, for all except the soviet Russians, who appear to have maneuvered themselves into just the position they wanted.

Prodded by Tchitcherin and his colleagues to give a quick answer to the proposals of the Russians, the allies drew up terms which Lloyd George declared embodied the maximum that would be granted Russia and the minimum that would be demanded from her. Summarized, these were:

Russia recognizes her prewar debt.

The war debt will be recognized, but reduced.

Russia must restore foreign property or indemnify the owners for damage or confiscation.

Russia will be expected to take such judicial and other measures as will attract foreigners to Russia for business purposes.

France had yielded to the British on the matter of absolute restoration of confiscated property, at the insistence of Lloyd George, but forced an amendment forbidding property in Russia to be allocated to other persons than the former owners. To this Lloyd George appended this rider:

"If exploitation of property can only be carried out by its incorporation in a general group, the preceding arrangements will not apply."

France then signed, but Belgium absolutely refused to approve the proposition. Barthou hurried to Paris and Premier Poincare told him some things that had not come out at Genoa. Thereupon the French cabinet agreed unanimously to support Belgium and withdrew the assent to the proposals offered to Russia. This alone was enough to strain international relations, but the Paris press added to it by its explanation of the dispute over the property clause. It made the flat charge that the soviets were negotiating to transfer to English and Germans Frenchmen and Belgians, and oil field property that belongs to that Lloyd George added the above mentioned rider to further that scheme.

It did not seem probable, anyhow, that the Russians would accept the terms offered them. They were especially displeased with the fact that recognition of the soviet government was not included, and they did not like the article concerning foreign property restoration. There were other features that did not suit them, and they got into communication with Moscow, with the intimation that their answer might not be ready for some time.

The second plenary session of the conference was held Wednesday and a finance report was submitted containing 19 articles in the nature of recommendations without definite commitments. The main ones were:

Return of stability of currency.

A meeting in the near future of big central banks.

Re-establishment of the gold basis.

Balancing budgets.

Sir Lamington Worthington Evans, chairman of the finance committee, admitted that the proposals could not be carried out without the co-operation of the United States. Tchitcherin declared little could be accomplished by the finance commission because the subject of reparations was excluded, and then detailed a number of the proposals which he said Russia would not accept.

It is quite apparent that what the soviet government wishes is not a general agreement with Europe, but separate treaties with the powers, such as she already has with Germany. It probably could do this with Great Britain and Italy and the neutral nations, and probably with some other powers, and France and Belgium would be left in an uncomfortable position. And Russia will be able to lay on France the blame for the failure of the Genoa conference.

Soviet Russia's defiant attitude toward the world war was demonstrated in the May day doings at Moscow. Leon Trotzky, minister of war, reviewed 100,000 most excellently equipped and drilled soldiers, and in an address declared that Russia "will resist until her last drop of blood is shed any attempts of the capitalistic governments to enslave her."

France consented to sign the nonaggression pact proposed by Lloyd George on three conditions: That every European nation signed; that Russia agreed to recognize all her existing boundaries for ten years, and that France surrendered none of her rights to take action to enforce the Versailles treaty. The Russians rejected the second of these and the Germans the third.

Despite the hard working propagandists, the American administration shows no signs of willingness to take part at present in all these European negotiations. Its position concerning Russia was made clear by Secretary of State Hughes in his reply to a delegation of the Woman's International League for Peace and Freedom which asked him to advocate the immediate recognition of the soviet regime. Mr. Hughes told the women that recognition is in the control of those who dominate the affairs of Russia, and would be accorded only to a government competent to discharge its international relations and demonstrating a disposition to discharge them. He added that there are no legal obstacles to trade with Russia.

That France fully expects Germany to default on the reparations is indicated by a statement in Sketch of London, which says it has learned from a reliable French source that preparations are being made for immediate mobilization of the 1918 class of reserves, numbering about 150,000. Mr. Lloyd George gave up his plan for a meeting of the nations signatory to the Versailles treaty in Genoa to take up the matter of enforcing the German payments, but still hopes it may be held elsewhere. The French insist that no such meeting be held until after May 31.

GOV. NEFF'S ADDRESS TO THE EDITORS.

Governor Neff's address in Denton before the Texas Press association was a gratifying and explicit commitment in behalf of education, indicating a clear understanding of the requirements of all the State's educational interests. It ought to evoke a sympathetic response from the newspapers of Texas, which were represented in the governor's audience by scores of men of ability.

The cause of education has suffered all along by reason of the fact that school revenue laws are inadequate, subjecting this prime concern of the State to the haphazards of temporary conditions.

Experience reveals that in times of stress the cause of education is apt to suffer.

It also reveals that the State's educational interest sometimes suffer because other conditions unrelated to education drain the treasury.

Specific taxes should be levied for all institutions of higher learning so that their symmetrical development may never be interrupted by any treasury conditions, temporary or otherwise.

The Post has on more than one occasion stressed the need of a real educational survey of the State, one that will include every educational interest of public concern. It would be both economy and wisdom to have such survey if it were made by forward-looking and competent educators.

Then, with the specific tax that would relieve the whole school revenue problem from any contact whatsoever with other revenue exigencies of the State, we might be said to be on solid educational ground in Texas.

Governor Neff speaks the truth when he declares that all our provisions for schools are inadequate. It will be impossible to attain the efficiency of school administration and maintenances until the revenue basis is made ample and dependable. Satisfactory conditions will be impossible in any part of the system so long as the physical needs incident to a constantly increasing scholastic population are no kept apace of the demands upon them.

The newspapers of Texas could render no better service to the State than to join in a campaign to encourage public sentiment to a stronger insistence upon adequate support for education. If members of the next legislature go to Austin committed to a forward movement in behalf of education, the hurtful interruption of recent years will not be repeated.

There is a sentiment in Texas hostile to higher education that is dangerous to progress. It has grown up through misrepresentation and ignorance, not unmingled with common demagoguery. This must be dissipated through the inculcation of high educational ideals among the people and by convincing them of the universal benefits which flow out in a constant tide from all our educational institutions.

Prejudices against the University, the Agricultural college, the great institution at Denton and the normal colleges can be removed. It is not extravagant to say that each of them is from ten to twenty years behind in the matter of their physical demands, and the thousands more students would be in attendance if there were facilities to accommodate them.

As for the common schools, they need so much that it would appall the people if they really knew how much. Surely the work of bringing the system to the best standards in the country ought to command both the enthusiasm and pride of the citizenry.

Governor Neff is ready to go forward. After all, the chief responsibility for our lack of school moneys rests upon the people themselves. Neither the governor nor the legislature can go forward without the mandate of those who pay the taxes.—Houston Post.

TIME TO ADVERTISE.

After a ball starts to roll it will go a certain distance merely by reason of its own momentum.

The heavier and bigger it is the further it will roll. It may have been pretty hard to start it in the first place, but once you get it going a little push now and then will be all that is necessary.

If the ground is soft and rough you will have to push pretty rest hard. When you get to smooth places it will be easier.

The ball game of business is hard to move in hot weather. The ground is more or less sticky and there is a great deal of friction. Still, if you push hard enough, you can move it.

In the fall, when cool weather has made the road to trade easier and smoother, you will not have to push so hard unless you want the ball to go faster. If you do not push at all it will come to a standstill even on a sheet of glass.

Somebody has said: "The time to advertise is all the time."

If you do not advertise in the summer—if you do not push the ball at all—it will stop. If you do not advertise in the busy season, business will go on for a certain time at a slow rate of speed. But if you want to get over a good deal of ground on a short time, you had better push it along lively.

Somebody has said: "The time it along lively. The best thing to push it with is good, liberal newspaper advertising."

A peculiar thing about the road to business success is that it runs uphill—if you stop pushing your ball it will roll down.

There is no such thing as standing still.

We, as well as you, are sincerely desirous of seeing a return to normal prices during 1922. It is better for our business to stimulate more liberal buying on the part of the public at close prices than is to suffer a reduced volume of trade at larger profits.

Candidate for Re-election to the Legislature.

Hon. Chas. C. Rice announces himself a candidate for re-election to the office of representative, subject to the action of the democratic party in the coming primaries. This paper respectfully requests that you give careful attention to what Mr. Rice has to say:

Two years ago when making the race for representative, I pledged myself to certain legislation and I feel that I made good those pledges. As one of those pledges I stated that I was a friend of education and that I would do all in my power to improve the efficiency of our public school system by supporting proposed legislation coming before the house, and now I am glad to say that at all times and on all occasions I gave my influence, my support, my hand and my heart to the promotion of that cause. In particular, I will state that I favored the liberal appropriation granted by the last legislature for the aid of rural schools, which for reasons satisfactory to himself the governor saw fit to cut short. I also introduced and enacted into law a measure amending the compulsory education law in such a manner as to make the law apply to the blind and deaf and dumb which heretofore was not the case. I have never been unmindful of the fact that we cannot have good schools without good and efficient teachers, and that we cannot have good teachers unless they are adequately paid for their services. Knowing that the tax payers of this state expect nothing short of adequate school facilities for their children as one of the most essential and far-reaching benefits to be derived from taxation, I shall gladly renew my efforts in the behalf of education if I am given a second term of office as representative of the people of this county.

In making the race two years ago I stated that I was a friend of economy and efficiency, and to that end I supported all measures in the interest of economy so long as efficiency was not impaired. Along this line I supported all measures for the abolition and combination of certain departments, bureaus and commissions, when thought practical. I do not believe in the duplication of work, and if re-elected I shall favor all measures having for their purpose the lessening of overhead expenses, the elimination of friction and duplication, so long as the efficiency of the departments, bureaus and commissions is not destroyed. In the interest of economy I supported a measure to remedy the penitentiary evil and make the system more self-sustaining, and if re-elected I shall continue my efforts in the betterment of conditions in the prison system.

In the improvement of public roads, I hope to be permitted to renew my efforts to the end of calling for a more stringent law making provision for the laying out and working of public roads, for the building of bridges and for the utilizing of the fines, forfeitures and convict labor for these purposes.

If re-elected, I shall favor any constructive legislation to the end of molding and shaping the future prosperity of the human welfare of this state. I shall renew my efforts in the passage of a limitation law for bringing suits for the collection of delinquent taxes, in the improvement of public roads, public health, public morals, in the cutting of public expenditures, in the betterment of educational conditions, in the interest of economy and efficiency and in the behalf of law and order.

Miss Inez Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jones of Denton, and formerly of Crockett, was the editor of the Facts and Follies section of the Yucca. It is the general comment that this year's annual contains the best Facts and Follies section that has yet been put out. Miss Jones attended high school for four years in Crockett, and graduated in 1920. She is now a member of the junior class in the Normal College, and is prominent in the student activities, having been secretary and president respectively of the Lillie Bruce Dramatic Club, president of the Mary Arden Club and a member of the Y. SOCIETY EVENT

The outstanding social event of Crockett for several years past was the marriage on Wednesday, May 17th, at 1:30 p. m., of Mr. Geo. A. Kelly of Longview and Miss Leita Cuyus Young of Crockett at the residence of the bride's parents. The prominence of the families of the contracting parties made the uniting of this young couple a matter of much interest throughout the entire state of Texas, particularly so in the eastern portion.

The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kelly of Longview, and was born and reared there—having received his education at S. M. U., State University and the University of Cincinnati.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young of Crockett; a graduate of Crockett High School, going on with her education at Ward-Belmont and S. M. U., and is a member of "Pi Phi" Sorority. She is a young woman of rare attainments, unusually blest with beauty of face and form and character, a lovely voice and most winning personality. We have watched her grow from childhood to womanhood—like an exquisite bud—unfolding to full perfection, and her going leaves a feeling of sadness and loss to those hearts that are so full of hope for her happiness.

The wedding was one of exquisite simplicity, the beautiful, spacious home a fitting background for the floral adornment of smilax, lilies, roses, ferns and sweet peas. The ceremony was performed in the reception hall amid an environment of rare loveliness—stately white lilies, smilax and fern forming a simulated altar and background for the bridal party.

The living room was decorated with ferns and Dorothy Perkins roses and the dining room was lovely in an adornment of sweet peas and ferns.

The ceremony was preceded by a short musical program. Miss Margaret Kelly sang "At Dawning," a quartette composed of Mesdames A. M. DeCuir and Pinkney Hail, Mr. LeRoy Moore and Mr. Jack Beasley sang "The Bridal Chorus" from "The Rose Maid" opera, and Miss Clarite Elliott sang "Our Little Home."

Following this was the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, led by Mrs. Pinkney Hail and composed of Misses Totsie Foster, Sara Mack Crook, Bitsie Arledge, Hattie Stokes, Ruth Warfield and Lucy Roye Deupree of Crockett and Misses Becky George and Mary Fay House of Dallas. They wore orchid colored organdies, with hats to match, and carried colonial bouquets of sweet peas and maiden-hair fern, and presented a lovely picture as they came down the stairs singing—forming a double line at the altar. As they took their places the familiar strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. DeCuir announced the coming of the bride. Miss Margaret Kelly, sister of the groom and maid of honor, came first, exquisitely gowned in orchid crepe with hat in harmony, carrying a large arm bouquet of pink rose buds and ferns. Next came the little ring-bearer, Mary Yates Hurst of Longview, cousin of the groom, daintily dressed in white satin, tulle and orange blossoms. Then came the bride on the arm of her father, lovely indeed in her going-away costume of midnight blue poiret twill, with hat and accessories to match, wearing a corsage bouquet of pink buds, ferns and sweet peas. The groom and his attendant, Mr. J. B. McClung of Dallas, awaited her at the altar, where the beautiful ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Geo. W. Davis, uncle of the bride.

Following the ceremony and congratulations an informal reception was held, the bride's cake cut and a delicious ice course served. The happy couple left on the Sunshine Special for Galveston and other points, to be at home in Longview after June 1st.

The bride has been the honoree of so many charming hospitalities preceding the wedding that only brief mention can be made of them, though each was so prettily appointed they deserve more than passing notice. Miss Katie Barbee entertained with a morning bridge; Mrs. Cartwright with a bridge party in the afternoon; Mrs. Jack Beasley entertained with a kitchen shower—and this was no play affair. The guests were put to work hemming tea towels for the bride, the one who did the neatest work receiving an attractive award; Mrs. Geo. McLean was the winner, but Misses Ruth

Warfield and Bitsie Arledge deserve honorable mention. (Please take notice, boys!)

At the close of the contest "Stella," the presiding genius of the Beasley kitchen, came in with two large clothes baskets, piled high with every conceivable kind of kitchen utensil (only rolling pins being omitted) and placed them in front of the bride with the following verse: "Lassy Mercy, look here, what I brought you, Honey! I'd work my fingers to the bone to make yo' kitchen sunny." Delicious refreshments brought this happy affair to a close.

Mrs. F. G. Edmiston entertained with bridge and a recipe shower. Other hospitalities had as hostesses Mrs. Jim Smith, Mrs. Johnson Arledge, Mrs. Hallie Collins, Misses Lucia Painter, Sara Mack Crook (who featured a "wish shower"), Bitsie Arledge, Ruth Warfield and Clarite Elliott.
