Money Spent Economically.
Money economically spent is not always judiciously spent. Why? Simply because cheap articles often require more money spent on it to keep it in repair than it would cost to purchase the best. The Mt. Pleasant Baptist church of Young county, has withalfully fired a preacher for "lying on the brethren." Commenting on this unusual occurrence the sanctimonious Baptist Standard says:

Young county is far removed from the "mad-dening world's ignominious strife" and in this pristine spot, where railroads and electric wires have not sent their blight and mildew, lying is still believed to be a sin for which even a Baptist preacher is unfrocked. We regret to mention it—in fact we say it with bated breath—the Young county Baptists are behind the times. It is painful to inform those simple-minded Christians that they have set a precedent which, if universally followed, will be as dynamite exploded where now peace reigns supreme. Let not this case be transmitted so that the example shall become epidemic. There are too many who think lying is evidence of talent and commendable diplomacy and for which a man is to be placated and honored, for the step inaugurated by the Mt. Pleasant church to be generally followed. Tell the news, but tell it gently, for verily the millennium is coming by way of Young county.

—THROCKMORTON FRIMS.

The above is a very humorously worded insult to the people of Young county, and especially to those of Mt. Pleasant church. We have heard nothing of the occurrence at this office.

Rev. G. M. Calhoun and family went to Graham Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Yancy visited Graham last Wednesday.

Bob McGlamery assaulted the writer for saying in a late LEADER that he didn't get his turkey, after hunting for two weeks. We tried to reason the matter with him, but he prevented that with a stick, about 5 feet long. At the end of the third week however he bagged his game. It was a very turkey though.

Messrs. Ardis, McGlamery and the writer accompanied by their wives went out on a fishing trip and of course we had a time. Bagged seven fine catfish and a "coon." It reminded the writer of by gone years to climb fifty or sixty feet after his "coonship" and he was amply rewarded for his trouble with a spirited battle in which our canine friend came out the victor. We came back Sunday evening and Roly DeLong said he was going to have us "churched," but he had sold a hat that day. Will Donnell had caught a fish and a whole lot of other meanness had been done and in the absence of a competent committee the matter went over.

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me as much relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—as occasion required, and always keep a bottle of it in my home. I believe I know a good thing when I get hold of it, and Pain Balm is the best I have ever met with. W. B. Denny, dairyman, New Lexington, Ohio. 50 cent bottles for sale by The R. G. Graham Drug Co.

While Mr. T. J. Richey, of Altoona, Mo., was traveling in Kansas he was taken violently ill with cholera morbus. He called at a drug store to get some medicine and the druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy so highly he concluded to try it. The result was immediate relief, and a few doses cured him completely. It is made for bowel complaint and nothing else. It never fails. For sale by The R. G. Graham Drug Co.

J. N. JOHNSTON, Editor.
The Teachers' Associate Editors.
Young County.

The thanks of every teacher in Young county should be given Mr. Graves for his great liberality in opening the columns of his paper to the furthering of the Summer Normal interest. When it comes to generosity though, where will you find such people as our own home Graham furnishes? Long may the grand good people live and may these objects they strive so earnestly for, be things read of long years from now as deeds done by men and women made grand and noble by these "big hearted" people of Graham. May peace and plenty come within her gates.

AN INTERESTED TEACHER.
LOOK HERE CITIZENS!
The Executive committee for the Summer Normal desires that every one who can will take boarders during the normal. The teachers of your school are working every day for the success of the normal and you will confer a great favor on them and the committee if you will inform either of them how many boarders you will take and at what price per month of 30 days. Let us hear from you at once.

What will it cost a teacher to attend the Summer Normal at Graham during the session beginning July 3rd and closing Aug. 3rd 1894.
A TEACHER.

This depends upon the amount you spend outside the normal course; your tuition will cost you $5.00 in advance and board will cost $10, $12.50, or $15. All your expenses need not exceed $25. This makes Graham the cheapest point for a normal in the state.

The course will include all the studies necessary for a teacher to gain a life certificate.

THE TEACHERS IN NORMAL.
Prof. J. K. Wester of Jackboro as conductor, J. N. Johnston, primary teacher. The committee will employ a teacher from each of the adjoining counties. The County Judges of said counties have been asked to recommend a competent teacher. We want men from these counties to work for the normal. If we can get the co-operation we need we expect to make our normal the best in this section of the state.

Every teacher, actual and prospective, who expects to attend the normal should write to Judge Timmons at once.

What are the advantages of a Summer Normal? It has been asked by many of our people living in Young county.

Such a school gives us the best teachers. It enables trustees to select live, energetic men and women for instructors without an increase of the cost to the children.

TWO MEDALS.
A certain merchant of Graham has offered two gold medals to the teachers passing the highest examination, either for a second or first grade certificate. This offer includes young teachers who have not taught more than one year, or young men and women who expect to teach. This should be an inducement for the young people of Young county to make their best efforts.

WHAT TO TEACH.
Education in its broadest sense is the training of the body, mind and soul. Nothing short of this is true education. The question; what to teach in order to produce this development, naturally arises. This question is receiving at present the most earnest investigation. A committee of ten appointed by the National Educational Association has just made its report and it is a very unsatisfactory report. Educators are united as to the truth of the definition given above, but very widely diverge when it comes to the means of securing the training of the body, mind and soul. Schools of athletic, courses of colleges and universities, and the creeds of religious denominations, put forth each its own method to reach the desired end, but the most rigid comparison and strictest analogy fail to develop any general law governing the various processes and methods. Occasionally a bright particular star rises in the educational world and for a brief space the old methods are swept away and some new "fad" usurps popular favor only to be cast aside when sober reflection comes again. The "Grube method" insanity; the object lesson craze; the outline and so called normal methods; the Cook county revolution; the "apperception" idiosyncrasy; the Psychology mystery; the non-essential cranks have at various times afflicted the educational world and some hold their own even up till this good hour. The conscientious educator investigating the subject becomes hopelessly lost amid its many intricacies and finally gives up in despair, adopts a common sense method

Burial Robes

For Ladies, Gents and Children. These robes have the following points to recommend them:

1st. They are easily adjusted, being "open backs."
2nd. They are neat in appearance, "being made by artists high up in the profession."
3rd. They are always ready, "no inconvenient delay."
4th. They are cheap, "costing no more than the material ordinarily would."

The celebrated Loomis patent adjustable satin slippers, white and black; one size will do for 2 or 3 sizes of feet, hence no danger of a misfit.

Coffins and caskets cheap, medium, fine. For shipping purposes we keep a polished oak casket. These are lined with a patent cement, hard and slick as glass. They have rubber gaskets and a patent cement flange which makes them absolutely air-tight. These are less than half the price of metalics. Coffins and apartments decolorized free of charge. Also, we have bleaching compounds, which prevents discoloration of the features.

and much to his astonishment makes a great success.

What to teach. Teach the pupils to be self reliant; to control his appetites; to master his evil propensities. Teach him how to study, how to exert his will power; how to search for knowledge; how to hold his attention fixed upon any subject under consideration until the subject is mastered.

Teach personal pride, honesty, firmness, determination and the power to stick to a thing until it is made a success. Teach him that the mental condition depends upon the physical; that the body governs all, and that the perfect man must be physically perfect.

ATTENTION.
Attention is the power the mind has to bring all its force to bear on one thing. It is one of the most important powers of the mind, although it is not a faculty as it produces no result of itself.

The mental current may be compared to a stream of water—it flows constantly. In revery or absence of attention it is like that stream flowing unrestrained down the mountain side and spreading over the meadow—it may be pleasant enough but does no work. When one wishes to put the stream to work he puts a dam across it and allows no place of escape except at the point where he puts the wheel.

So when we wish to put the mind to work we confine the mental force to one point of escape; if we do this completely the attention is said to be perfect—no force is lost. If not the power in part escapes, like water through a leaky dam.

It may be spontaneous—it is always so in the case of the child—as when something attracts us powerfully; or as in the case of revery or day dreaming, although the latter is sometimes called lack of attention. Or the attention may be voluntary as when one resolutely sets himself to the performance of a task.

Can we attend to more than one thing at a time? Many learned men have declared in the negative. They assert that in cases where the mind seems to attend to more than one thing, the fact is that the mind vibrates rapidly from one to the other, and they tell us that in cases of comparison that we can detect this vibratory movement.

In case of perfect attention the mind's forces are all brought to bear upon one thing, but experience shows that in imperfect attentions, the mental force is divided.

In the case of comparing, no conclusions could ever be reached, if, in the vibrations, only one of the objects was the point of attentions. The mind must have both before it, in order to decide.

The will has the power to direct the attentions, attention can be cultivated, and the success of the student will be almost proportional to that degree of cultivation.

This is equally true of the student in school, and the profound scholar. In order that a teacher be of any service to his pupils he must have the power to secure their attention. Attention of little children must accompany every successful mental effort.

There are two ways in which man may be led to give his attention: one is by attracting it so that he attends without effort; the other by inducing him to attend through sheer force of his will power.

The attention of the child can be gained in the first way only. It can be attracted and held for a short time, but his will is not strong enough to enable him to attend against his inclinations, nor after he has become weary. Nor can his attention be secured by frequent call for attention nor by authority.

Therefore the wise teacher will change the subject when he finds that the minds of his pupils are becoming weary; he will change the subject and thereby keep the attention of his class. Dr. Rosenkrantz says: To education, the conception of attention is the most important of all those derived from Psychology.

THE CLERK HAS YET trouble. Alex. Sandwith, you must take more exercise in the open—but perhaps it is better to die of liver trouble, after all.

THE duchess of Fife, it is said, is fond of going about incognito. So different from those members of the nobility accustomed to going about in hoc!

THE Nicaraguan government will withdraw the exequators of the American and British consuls at Managua, W. I., where they lived without luxuries before now.

RUSSELL SAGE thinks the rankest sort of discrimination is shown when he is asked to pay $25,000 for saving human life. For such noble deeds other people receive medals.

ACTOR COYNE of New York has been arrested for blackmailing a woman's eyes. Coyne may be a good actor. It is when he is his real self undisciplined that he becomes objectionable.

THE maintenance of life in Paris is very much complicated by the necessity of securing dynamite bombs. The restaurants seem to be distributing explosives with their meals.

A VERY small coon, who tips the beam at forty-eight pounds, has been arrested in New York city for holding up a 200-pound man. His probable defense will be that he was only kidding.

EVERYTHING comes to him who waits. The families of the frozen killed in the world's fair cold-storage have at last received the money subscribed for their relief by a generous public.

PROBABLY the state of Indiana has the right to seize and vaccinate all the frogs who venture within her border, but she can't be expected to perpetrate gentleness of leisure upon her until they are more fully advised just what the process involves. If they are incidentally to get a bath and a haircut, they want to know, it before it is too late.

At Hazelton, Pa., a fool joker of the Arab variety tipped a plank so to tumble another man into a stream. The operation was quite successful, but it did not spell the cartridges in the victim's pistol, and when he clambered upon the bank he proceeded to perpetrate a joke that sent the original joker to the hospital with a new and keener conception of humor.

MANKING in general, and the jing of Europe in particular, may add a lesson in the demonstration at Kosuth's burial, when a multitude knelt in reverence to the dead. The reason for it all is very plain. Kosuth was a man who strove to benefit his fellow-beings. Humanity went vantage for his wrongs, but it has the full measure of gratitude for his benefactions.

The scenery of Mr. Corbett's "gentleman Jack" has been attached to settle a bill. Can it be that the drama is suffering a slump and that Mr. Corbett's well known talents will need the assistance of Miss Madeline Pollard as leading lady? On the morning session a bill was introduced by request by Senator Peffer to dispose of life labor and discourage idle wealth in the District of Columbia. Referred to the committee on the District of Columbia, who also intend to take from the calendar his resolution for the appointment of a committee on communications (his Coxy committee), but the motion was lost 17 to 25.

MR. GLADSTONE's biographers will find their material in good shape. Every letter received by Mr. Gladstone during a public life which commenced in 1812, when he was first elected to the House of Commons, is preserved in boxes, stored in the Harleyford collars, which, with the dates written in large letters upon his lidenable him with short delay to turn up any letter of which he possesses the date and stands in need. For sixty years he has kept in memorandum books, noted every day with his own hands, the list of letters, and, since their introduction, of post-cards written by him.

MISS ADELIA C. WAITE, president of the Mary Washington Memorial association, has addressed a circular to the women of the United States, particularly to every woman whose name is Mary, asking for contributions to a fund to be employed in completing and properly maintaining the creditable monument being effected in the city of Fredericksburg, Va. In memory of Mary Washington, mother of that incomparable man who first foresaw the greatness of his country. The men have not contributed to the fund—and the contributions of men are not wanted. It is believed it will be the first case on record when a monument to a woman has been erected exclusively by women.

COURTS are called upon to late to enjoy anything that may be objectionable, and with all that deep respect for them that is part of American citizenship it must be conceded that they might as well veigh against the trade winds as against some things that they have solemnly forbidden. Had Joshua lived in these days, instead of requesting the sun to prolong business hours he would have sworn out writ of prohibition instructing it that setting would be an act punishable as contempt.

A LAWYER from the Isle of Jersey is looking for an heir to an estate. California things are different. There a lawyer, with an estate to settle could go to his front door with a shotgun and bag a dozen heirs every morning.

If the Hungarian sculptor, Kenti, will only execute a monument to Kosuth and the Hungarians in this country pay for its erection, New York will generously dedicate it as Gorkham's tribute to the great Hungarian patriot.

AN old-fashioned girl, marrying a man who had still the aroma of the county jail about him, having just committed a term for larceny, and her friends thought her nasty. It was a whole week before she sued for a divorce, and only after a long and slow process to consider her rather slow.

PRISONERS will have to rejoice aloud over his long lease of life. The public has no sympathy for him, and it is only because of the action of the court it is solely because of a desire to see absolute justice done.

THE HOUSE PASSING PRIVATE PENSION BILL.

"Never Mind Mr. Speaker, That Bill Can Be Laid Aside, the Old Lady Is Dead"—TARIF in the Senate—Details Not Known.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Twenty-one private pension bills passed, tell the story of the day's work in the house yesterday. The beneficiary of one of the bills is an old lady of 95, totally blind, the widow of a soldier of the war of 1812, and had died since her bill was reported from last Friday night's session. When it was read and about to be placed upon its passage Mr. Taylor of Indiana interrupted: "Never mind, Mr. Speaker," said he, "that bill can be laid aside; the old lady is dead." The members who had been chatting and laughing stopped thereupon. There was a moment of silence. The relief for which the old lady had been striving so long was at hand, but like many another congressional claim, it came too late; congress could no longer give her relief. The clerk paused and then went on reading the next bill. The remainder of yesterday was devoted to the consideration of private bills, but only one—to reimburse Hans Johnson and other members of the "New York" case—was disposed of, and it was re-committed for further investigation. One other bill was taken up to refer an Alabama contempt claim to the court of claims. With the session's expiration, however, on the ground that it would open the way to other cotton claims, aggregating $120,000,000, and was not voted on before the recess. The evening session was devoted to pension bills.

A Compromise Made.—WASHINGTON, April 26.—There is a rumor, very possibly a correct one, that the concession has been made to those senators opposing the income tax by limiting the tax to the amount which it shall be levied. In other words that this tax is to be levied from five to eight years. In the senate yesterday it developed that the income tax is not to be levied on the building associations whose association are co-operative and intended to build homes for the members of the association. It is also developed that the income committee have about thirty-nine amendments to be offered to the bill, but it did not spell the cartridges in the victim's pistol, and when he clambered upon the bank he proceeded to perpetrate a joke that sent the original joker to the hospital with a new and keener conception of humor.

MANKING in general, and the jing of Europe in particular, may add a lesson in the demonstration at Kosuth's burial, when a multitude knelt in reverence to the dead. The reason for it all is very plain. Kosuth was a man who strove to benefit his fellow-beings. Humanity went vantage for his wrongs, but it has the full measure of gratitude for his benefactions.

The scenery of Mr. Corbett's "gentleman Jack" has been attached to settle a bill. Can it be that the drama is suffering a slump and that Mr. Corbett's well known talents will need the assistance of Miss Madeline Pollard as leading lady? On the morning session a bill was introduced by request by Senator Peffer to dispose of life labor and discourage idle wealth in the District of Columbia. Referred to the committee on the District of Columbia, who also intend to take from the calendar his resolution for the appointment of a committee on communications (his Coxy committee), but the motion was lost 17 to 25.

MR. GLADSTONE's biographers will find their material in good shape. Every letter received by Mr. Gladstone during a public life which commenced in 1812, when he was first elected to the House of Commons, is preserved in boxes, stored in the Harleyford collars, which, with the dates written in large letters upon his lidenable him with short delay to turn up any letter of which he possesses the date and stands in need. For sixty years he has kept in memorandum books, noted every day with his own hands, the list of letters, and, since their introduction, of post-cards written by him.

MISS ADELIA C. WAITE, president of the Mary Washington Memorial association, has addressed a circular to the women of the United States, particularly to every woman whose name is Mary, asking for contributions to a fund to be employed in completing and properly maintaining the creditable monument being effected in the city of Fredericksburg, Va. In memory of Mary Washington, mother of that incomparable man who first foresaw the greatness of his country. The men have not contributed to the fund—and the contributions of men are not wanted. It is believed it will be the first case on record when a monument to a woman has been erected exclusively by women.

COURTS are called upon to late to enjoy anything that may be objectionable, and with all that deep respect for them that is part of American citizenship it must be conceded that they might as well veigh against the trade winds as against some things that they have solemnly forbidden. Had Joshua lived in these days, instead of requesting the sun to prolong business hours he would have sworn out writ of prohibition instructing it that setting would be an act punishable as contempt.

A LAWYER from the Isle of Jersey is looking for an heir to an estate. California things are different. There a lawyer, with an estate to settle could go to his front door with a shotgun and bag a dozen heirs every morning.

If the Hungarian sculptor, Kenti, will only execute a monument to Kosuth and the Hungarians in this country pay for its erection, New York will generously dedicate it as Gorkham's tribute to the great Hungarian patriot.

AN old-fashioned girl, marrying a man who had still the aroma of the county jail about him, having just committed a term for larceny, and her friends thought her nasty. It was a whole week before she sued for a divorce, and only after a long and slow process to consider her rather slow.

PRISONERS will have to rejoice aloud over his long lease of life. The public has no sympathy for him, and it is only because of the action of the court it is solely because of a desire to see absolute justice done.

LOUISIANA LYCHING.

NINE MEN STRUNG UP IN ONE WEEK.

James F. Vaughan Is Legally Hanged at Fayetteville, Ark., for Murder, while His Partner in the Crime Goes to the Penitentiary for Life.

TALLULAH, La., April 28.—Four more of the Boyce murderers were captured and lynched Thursday night, making eight in all who have been hung to eternity without trial, and nine men altogther in a week. The sheriff located Pomp Clayton and his two companions in the woods and summoning an extra posse caught them on a small farm together in the loft of a small crib behind the cabin of a negro. The sheriff deputized a party to take the prisoners to Tallulah, while he and a party started in search of Griffin, the another of the assassins. The small guard were overpowered after a short resistance near Tallulah and the four negroes were taken to Crescent place and hanged to trees at the point where the assassination of Boyce took place. The executions were conducted very quietly, the people knowing nothing about them until yesterday morning, when they were surprised to find the four assassins hanging near their jail here. There are seven negroes in jail here. They were taken to the place where they are held by all that the ones that the law does not hang will go to the penitentiary.

They Swing Him Up.—CHEROKEE, Kan., April 24.—Frank Haman, a coal miner, living with his family near the Schwab mines, two miles west of here, was killed by some colored Alabama coal miners and the leader of the murderers has just been lynched. Saturday night the colored man came to Haman's house for the purpose of robbery. Haman ran out to get help, but was shot in the throat. He ran about 150 yards and fell, where he was found dead on a sour later. Jeff Tuggle, a colored miner, was charged with the murder. He was caught at Weir City and brought here. A few minutes later Mrs. Haman, the dead man's wife, accompanied by a score or two of miners, arrived, and when the woman was taken before the prisoners she identified him instantly as one of the robbers. Before officers could get Tuggle away the mob captured him. They marched him with a rope around his neck about a half mile northwest of town and hanged him to a cottonwood tree.
