

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.—Fitting together an acceptable constitutional revision package proved to be fully as thorny a job as the most pessimistic forecasters maintained.

Constitutional Convention delegates limped back to Austin this week to try again for a showdown two-thirds majority vote after rejecting 91-86 the initial submission proposal which they had stitched together piece-by-piece earlier.

Hang-ups ranged over a wide area—from the separate right-to-work proposition (which is bitterly opposed by organized labor) to internal provisions of the basic revision document.

Some persistent critics argued special interests had too big a hand in drafting the revision. Members of all factions disagreed over sections of the education article—including guaranteed equal opportunity and earmarked college building funds.

First approaches at compromise centered on efforts to eliminate some of the five "separate submission" items—that is, proposals not included in the basic revision.

$72 MILLION TEXAS SHARE—Texas received $72 million in federal revenue-sharing funds for the final quarter of fiscal 1974.

The state government's share is $24,260,347—the same as third quarter of fiscal '74.

Checks will go to all levels of government which are eligible for revenue-sharing funds. About $48 million will benefit cities, counties and other local units.

TEXAS DOMINANT—Texas still dominates the livestock industry on the basis of 1973 statistics.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said Texas last year produced more than twice as many cattle and calves as the second place state, Iowa—16,250,000 head, compared to Iowa's 7,660,000.

Sheep and lamb production in Texas also topped the nation, and Texas ranked among the nation's top 10 dairy cattle states. Hog production in the state totalled 1,050,000 head in 1973.

HEARINGS BEGIN—First of 14 Texas Water Quality Board hearings began in Fort Worth and Dallas last week in an effort to find a suitable way to dispose of toxic industrial wastes.

Testimony will also be taken in Beaumont, Port Arthur, Mexico, San Antonio, Pasadena, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, El Paso, Midland, Amarillo, Longview and Austin.

APPOINTMENTS—Gov. Dolph Briscoe appointed Jerry W. Woodcock of Gainesville district attorney of the 235th district replacing Jim J. Hatcher of Gainesville who resigned. The district includes Jack, Wise and Cooke counties.

Briscoe named Sister Austin Cusimano of Waco and David A. Garrett of San Antonio to the Advisory Hospital Council and reappointed four present members.

AG OPINIONS—Financial records and information on employees' salaries in a school district are subject to public disclosure, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:
• The public has a right to examine and duplicate lists of registered voters who participated in a school board election.

• Hospitals will not lose their tax-exempt status due to incidental operation of a blood bank for public charity where no rent is charged.

• Information provided by banks to local tax assessors—collectors identifying stock-owners and size and value of their holdings is public record.

• State employees must complete 15 or 20 years of employment to qualify for 10 and 14 hours vacation time for each month on the job. Sick leave can be accumulated without limitation.

• Surplus maintenance tax receipts of school districts and junior colleges may be pledged as payment for certificates of indebtedness under law, whether or not the tax election occurred before or after effective date of the act.

• How student service fees are to be charged is decision for governing boards of each institution of higher education.

COURTS SPEAK—The Third Court of Civil Appeals, upholding an Austin district court, said the Railroad Commission can force Lovaca Gathering Company to apportion gas to Austin, San Antonio and Lower Colorado River Authority in the public interest.

Courts can enjoin picketing by strikers only where there is violence or a threat to order, the Supreme Court held.

In other new cases, the High Court held:

• Denied right of a Dallas developer to build a high rise apartment building on Swiss Ave.

• The doctrine by which negligence can be shifted from one party to another applies only to commercial enterprises.

• Two San Antonio lawyers shouldn't be reprimanded by the State Bar for writing letters to a newspaper editor criticizing a district judge and each other.

• A contested 4,500 acres including a large part of Pleasure Island and part of Lake Sabine's bottom belong to Port Arthur (surface rights) and the state (mineral rights).

• Its May 29 decision that radio evangelist Lester Roloff can operate homes for teenagers 16 and over without a license will stand in spite of a challenge by Hill.

SHORT SNORTS
Alabama Gov. George Wallace is soliciting funds from Texans for the new "Wallace Campaign," and polling as to how voters would cast their ballots if 1972 presidential candidates (including himself) were running today.

A poll by a state representative showed legislators don't really want a special session on school finance and other matters, although many are calling for one publicly.

Attorney General Hill has been called on to write an opinion on whether Constitutional Convention delegates can legally draw reimbursement for chartering airplanes for official travel.

Four top candidates for House Speaker have spent nearly $100,000 in their quest for the magic 76 votes needed for election.

Secretary of State Mark White Jr. estimates up to a million names probably should be stricken from voter registration lists due to changes of address.

Nineteen minority business loans totalling $286,677 and 12 grants and contracts worth $1,419,605 were approved by the Texas Office of Minority Business Enterprise.

Highway Patrol Investigates Two Rural Accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated two accidents on rural highways in Bailey County during the month of June, 1974, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

persons killed and one person injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first six months of 1974 shows a total of 22 accidents resulting in three persons killed and eight persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for June, 1974, shows a total of 466 accidents resulting in 19 persons killed and 261 persons injured as compared to June, 1973, with 559 accidents resulting in 27 persons killed and 331 persons injured. This was 93 less accidents, eight less killed, and 70 less injured in 1974 at the same period of time.

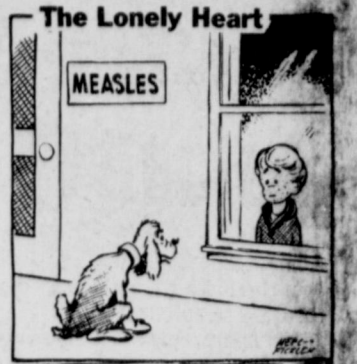

The 19 traffic deaths for the month of June, 1974, occurred in the following counties: three in Dallam; two each in Motley, and Potter; and one each in Hutchinson, Foard, Oldham, Sherman, Swisher, Wilbarger, Clay, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Palo Pinto and Yoakum.

CONGRESSMAN Bob Price 18th Congressional District

CONGRESSIONAL REFORM

The House Democrat Caucus is again using its new ex-officio power to dictate legislative policy -- this time on the issue of Congressional reform. The Caucus has told the majority members of the House Rules Committee to delay authority for House consideration of this proposal.

Personally, I do not favor every aspect of the reform proposal, but the issue of whether the House is going to act on the matter, or allow political maneuvering to block reform without debate or vote, is of overriding importance.

The reform proposal is the result of 14 months of consideration by the Select Committee on Committees. The Committee's proposal has been on the House calendar for more than two months, but cannot be considered without the approval of the House Rules Committee. The Democrat members of the Rules Committee have been directed by the House Democrat Caucus not to allow House action until the Caucus can subject the proposal to exhaustive review. Reform proponents contend the action by the Caucus is designed to kill the measure.

Recently, I joined with a number of my colleagues in sponsoring a resolution which, if passed, would force the Congressional Reform measure before the Congress for consideration and avoid the normal authority of the House Rules Committee which seems bound to the will of the Democrat Caucus.

The House Democrat Caucus is not an official Congressional committee but is an unofficial organization of all the members of the majority party in the House. Earlier, the Caucus voted to hold its members bound to the majority will of the Caucus itself. In the first exercise of this new power, the Caucus told Democrat members of the Rules Committee to grant authority for a vote to kill the oil depletion allowance retroactively. Now, in its second use of its new power, the Caucus is blocking Congressional reform.

Among the provision of the reform bill are: establishment of a permanent Committee on Small Business; abolishment of the House Committee on Internal Security; and prohibitions against dual committee assignments and "proxy" voting in committees by absent members.

I support the creation of the Committee on Small Business, but I oppose the abolition of the Internal Security Committee and the abolition of the practice of dual committee assignments. If this dual committee prohibition is passed, I would have to choose between my two current committee assignments: Agriculture and Armed Services.

The Livestock Loan Guarantee bill, which is the result of the bill I originated, is scheduled for House consideration this week. The bill, as amended in the House Agriculture Committee, would guarantee 80% of a loan, limit the guarantee to $350,000 per borrower, require repayment in three to five years, and allow the interest rate to be determined between the borrower and the lender. I would prefer a 90% guarantee, a longer repayment period and an established low interest rate to generate the volume of credit which the livestock industry actually needs.

The climate in the House seems to hold good prospects for passage of some type of legislation, but opposition is beginning to gather from big-city liberals. I hope that I will be able to expand the credit provisions, but the important thing is to insure that at least some kind of assistance to the hardstruck livestock industry is passed.

MEAT IMPORTS are coming down according to the third quarterly report recently issued by the Agriculture Department. The new estimate for meat imports during the third quarter of this year is 23% below the second quarterly estimate. USDA also reported that while U.S. commercial production of imports between two and three-to-one.

The Administration has been discouraging other nations from exporting beef to this country, Selective Service Office In Plainview Change Location

AUSTIN, Texas - Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, has announced the change in location of the Selective Service Area Office in Plainview from 118 East 7th Street to the Agriculture Building at 6th and Ash Streets in Plainview.

The registrar outside the Plainview office where young men may register is with Judge Glen Williams at the courthouse in Muleshoe.

If a young man cannot locate a registrar he may write this local board for forms and register by mail.

This area office serves Local Boards Nos. four and 45, which have been served from the older location for some time. Glantz indicated that the only change made in the Selective Service Operation in Plainview is the change of the location of the office.

There has been an extensive reorganization of the Selective Service System throughout the nation which has resulted in a reduction in force of personnel and in fewer Draft Board offices that remain open.

Glantz also reminds young men of their continuing duty to register with Selective Service at age 18, even though no one is actually being drafted into the Armed Forces of the United States currently.

Federal Law requires each male to register within a 60 day period, beginning 30 days before the young man's 18th birthday. Any Selective Service Registrant who has any question about his Selective Service File or about his current duties under the Law should contact the Area Office in Plainview at its new location in the Agriculture Building at 6th and Ash Streets.

red meats in the first five months of this year was up 6.3% from the same period last year, meat imports decreased 5.3% for the same comparison period.

I have urged the suspension of beef imports because every pound imported and consumed, is a pound which could have come from domestic stocks, and our domestic industry needs desperately to move beef in the marketplace. Imports and exports go hand-in-hand. We export in livestock products about half the dollar-volume of our beef imports; and our total farm exports out-value our farm and the Congressional pressure for a beef import embargo has helped our negotiators overseas to obtain some voluntary reductions in our beef imports.

Cotton Incorporated President To Visit

J. Dukes Wooters, President of Cotton, Inc., New York and seven top executives of the firm will be in Lubbock July 24, 1974 at the South Park Inn to present a program on the marketing and research programs of Cotton, Inc.

As an extra added attraction, a demonstration on belly dancing featuring the "dance of the seven veils" will be presented. The veils are of "all-cotton" material, of course. The program gets underway at 7:30 p.m. Cotton, Inc., with offices in Raleigh, N.C. and New York, is the dollar-per-bale program to which 98 per cent of all cotton farmers throughout the cotton producing states are contributing. The dollar-per-bale goes into research and marketing activities aimed at increasing cotton producer profits.

The program, which is open to the public at no charge, is sponsored locally by the District Women's Cotton Promotion Association, with representation in ten counties on the High Plains and Rolling Plains. According to Mrs. L.E. McDowell, publicity chairman of the women's group, the program is to give the West Texas cotton producer a better understanding of how the dollar-per-bale contributed to Cotton, Inc., is spent.

Hazards Of Growing Pinto Beans

Pinto beans have captured the spotlight with many High Plains farmers this year. Many of these people have never grown beans before and may not be aware of some of the hazards involved, according to Jim Valliant, research director at the High Plains Research Foundation, Halfway, Texas. Probably the most critical observation to be made concerns the first irrigation. Young pinto bean plants should not be allowed to suffer moisture stress. The first irrigation should be applied from 3 to 5 weeks after planting, dependent on available moisture. Even though the water-use rate during this period is only .08 inches per day, the relatively small root system must have moisture to avoid stress. "Another critical time to check for moisture content of the soil is when the plant begins to develop small shoots, or runners," said Valliant. "In fact, beans should be irrigated about every 12 to 20 days, depending on weather conditions, etc. until the crop approaches maturity." Harvest of the beans should begin when about 80% of the pods are yellow and mostly ripe. At no time should the moisture content of the beans be allowed to drop below 40% before the beans are undercut and windrowed.

Other information on pinto beans can be obtained from the 1973 Annual Research Report of the High Plains Research Foundation, or by contacting the Foundation, Olton Route, Plainview, Texas, 79072.

Crop Residues Good Alternate To Winter Wheat

An estimated two and a half million acres of irrigated corn and grain sorghum stubble should be considered along with winter wheat acreage for cattle grazing on the Texas High Plains, says John Shipley, agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Researchers at the North Plains Research Field at Etter have developed comparative beef gains for grazing crop residues during the fall and early winter months compared to irrigated wheat. These data were collected both with and without supplemental feeding. Shipley says.

Studies showed that stocker steers weighing 350 to 450 pounds gained 1.6 pounds per day when grazing out irrigated wheat from mid-November to mid-May. The stocking rate per acre was 1.5 animals from November to mid-March, then two animals per acre until graze-out. Shipley reports that the same weight steers only averaged 1.4 pounds per day on the winter wheat pasture from mid-November to early March, but when fed two pounds of milo per head per day, their average daily gain jumped to 1.7 pounds during that period. The scientist adds that the same weight cattle grazing irrigated wheat and corn or grain sorghum stubble on a one to one acreage ratio gained only 1.1 pounds per day without supplemental feed. Another test using corn stubble and grain sorghum stubble showed that when fed four pounds of 20 percent protein supplement mix per head per day, the cattle gained 1.3 and 1.6 pounds daily, respectively. Shipley figures that the 1.6 pounds gain from the grain sorghum stubble may have been higher than would normally be expected due to an exceptionally large amount of grain left in the field in 1972-73. In 1973-74 studies, the amount of supplement was varied at two, four and six pounds per head per day grazing out grain sorghum stubble from November 30 to January 17. Stocking rate was 2.5 animals per acre. There was no difference in average daily gains at the three different levels, Shipley says. The gain was 1.7 pounds per day.
