NOT FOR PEANUTS — Kakawate Road, which cuts through Blackwater Draw to Texas, and is named for the many circles of peanuts along the route, is in bad shape, and it will take more than peanuts to repair it.

The county commissioners, meeting this morning, reported they are sending their maintenance crew out today with trucks to haul caliche "fines" and fill the holes pounded out by traffic.

But the commissioners say that it will take much more than filling and packing the holes with these fines to get the road into shape. An entire new surface is needed, and the State Highway Department, which laid the original asphalt surface, says

CONGRESSMAN Bob Price

18th Congressional District

A significant portion of the economy of the 18th Congressional District is directly affected by the health of the beef producing industry, and nearly every consumer is interested in quality beef at reasonable prices.

A recent development affecting this industry is the proposed revision of the beef grading system by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, I suggested earlier that the system be revised to include the upper one-third of beef now graded "good" in the "choice" category by placing less emphasis upon maturity and enabling younger cattle with less fat to receive the higher grade. Technological changes in the cattle feeding industry now enable high eating quality at a younger and leaner age. Changes in the grading system could benefit consumers and producers by enabling an increased volume of tender beef to be marketed at reduced feeding costs.

The Department's proposal would enable slightly leaner beef to qualify for the top grades and establish a more restrictive "good" grade. It would also require that beef be graded for yield (percentage of retail cuts) as well as quality, and make the eating quality within each grade more uniform.

Grades are presently based primarily upon marbling (the flecks of fat within the lean), maturity (the age of the animal when slaughtered) and conformation (the shape of the carcass).

The major purposes changes may be summarized as follows: conformation would be eliminated as a determining factor and all carcasses would be graded for yield as well as quality; and in the "good" grade, the minimum marbling requirement will be increased for younger carcasses, narrowing the range by about one-third, while for other grades less marbling would be required for cattle under 30 months of age.

In general, increases in marbling improve the eating quality of beef, but increases in maturity have the opposite effect. Conformation does not affect eating quality but is used to indicate yield.

The proposed standards have been published in the Federal Register and USDA is receiving comment until Dec. 10. Comments may be submitted, in duplicate, to the Office of the Hearing Clerk, Room 112 Administration Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Hopefully this grade revision will achieve the desired goal of increased beef consumption at less cost. If so, it should benefit the cattle feeding industry and consumers as well.

CANADA AGAIN OPENED ITS DOORS TO BEEF IMPORTS although it still demands certification that the cattle have been raised without the use of the growth promotant DES. This action should provide U.S. cattle raisers and feeders with a broadened market.

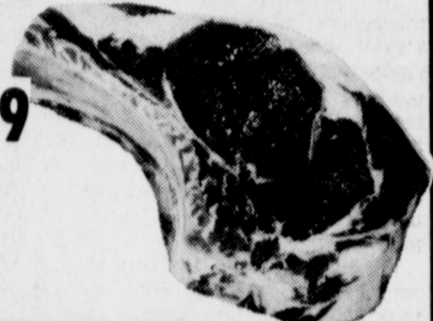

MEAT IMPORTS into the U.S. were down for July, 44% below July of last year and the lowest point since November, 1969. Most of this decline was due to reduced imports from New Zealand and Australia where USDA negotiators worked for voluntary reductions. The negotiators said pressure from myself and others in the Congress and the industry for a total ban on beef imports proved an effective tool in the negotiations.

that their obligation was only to lay the asphalt, and not to maintain it. The county commissioners have no asphalt handling equipment, so the prospects aren't good that anything will be done soon, or until the State Highway Department agrees to take the road over for maintenance.

The condition of the 13 miles of road in Roosevelt county is particularly galling to the Commissioners because of the excellent asphalt pavement that meets this road at the Texas line, and carries it nine miles to Muleshoe.

"It's a million-dollar road, built to carry trucks with five axles," said L.B. Harrison, in whose district the road lies. Possibly one problem in maintaining the Roosevelt County road is that heavy trucks have been using it in order to avoid the Port of Entry, and the Roosevelt County end wasn't built to handle these loads.

The present county commissioners calculate they have $49,000 invested in manpower, equipment, fuel and material to put the base course of caliche on the 13 miles. This doesn't include the greater cost of blading the right-of-way through the sandy country, which was done during the terms of previous commissioners.

The road is useful for persons commuting to and from Portales from Muleshoe for classes at ENMU, or for hauling peanuts and other farm products. But at the rate it is deteriorating, it is likely to leave a bad impression for everyone. There's simply no way to build a road "cheaply."

The council passed a resolution amending the budget for 1974-75. The budget amendment was adopted to facilitate the operation of additional and existing city facilities.

A resolution was passed continuing the present way of handling the City's insurance. Pool Insurance will receive 50 per cent and the other 50 per cent will be distributed among the other agencies in town which are Bobo Insurance, Henry Insurance, James Glaze Insurance, Black Insurance, Harmon-Field Agency and Casey Insurance.

The West Plains Memorial Hospital made a request to the council to close Avenue G from First Street west to the alley. This request will be brought up at a public hearing on October 16.

Mayor Alex Williams and City Manager Jim Rankin have been appointed to the Texas Municipal League Criminal Justice Committee. Clarence Christian and Rankin will attend a meeting in San Antonio of this committee.

Williams is also on the Texas Municipal League Legislative Committee on Community Development and his job there is to get the smaller city's viewpoint across to the legislature.

The council also voted to rescind the resolution setting a side watering days for Muleshoe residents. Citizens may now water lawns at any time since the acute drought situation is now over.

The City of Muleshoe will be sprayed for flies and mosquitoes sometime this week.

lipines he will continue under his present job with the Agriculture Department and make reports on the different things he learned while in the United States. He will help design and give recommendations for developing a seed processing plant in his native country for grain sorghum.

The main crops in the Philippines is rice for food, corn for livestock, and sugar, tobacco, pineapple and coconut for exports.

The country is hoping to grow enough grain sorghum in future years for export and also for cattle feeding. They are working on developing a way to grow three crops of grain sorghum in one year. This is possible in the Philippines since the temperature for a year ranges only from 70 to 90 degrees and they have excellent rainfall.

Bueno stated that he has enjoyed his stay in Muleshoe as the people here have made him feel at home and have taken the time to answer his questions. He was particularly interested in the big equipment used in farming here as in the Philippines the average farm is only five acres and all the farming is done with mules. He stated that, after observing farming here and over the United States, the High Plains of Texas has a vast potential for agriculture due to the good, fertile soil and irrigation.

and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission", Tok said.

"Our long-range projections call for additional generating capability in the mid-1980's; so, this development program fits right into our growth pattern and could very well be our introduction to nuclear power. We will, of course, have a conventional generating unit in service to meet our customer's needs, if that is necessary, but are enthusiastic about the prospects for the breeder unit being available," Tok said. General Atomic has been working on a Gas-Cooled Breeder Reactor for 13 years.

Support for the program has come from the Atomic Energy Commission and a GCFR Utility Committee comprised of 57 investor-owned utilities, 55 rural electric cooperatives and three European electric utilities. Included in the cooperatives participating in the program are the Rita Blanca Electric Cooperative, Dalhart; the Bailey County Electric Cooperative, Muleshoe; and the Tri-County Electric Cooperative, Hooker, Oklahoma.

Breeder reactors have the unique capability of producing more nuclear fuel material than they consume. Because of this potential to stretch nuclear fuel resources, breeders are regarded as an essential component of the long-range success of the nuclear power industry. In operation, the GCFR will produce nearly 1 1/2 times as much fuel material as it consumes.

RECIPE

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

If your family has a "sweet tooth," we have found that this Lemon Cake recipe makes a big hit at our house. The lemon juice and rind added to the cake blends with the frosting to give it just the right tangy lemon flavor.

Lemon Cake

- 1/4 c butter
- 1/2 c shortening
- 2 c sugar
- 3 eggs
- 3 c all-purpose flour
- 1/2 t salt
- 1/2 t soda
- 1 c buttermilk
- 1 t vanilla
- 1 t lemon juice
- 1 t lemon rind

Frosting

Melt 1/2 stick butter. Add 1 cup powdered sugar and juice of 1 lemon. Pour over cake while it is still hot.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

COLLEGE STATION—Cheese still tops the milk-production pyramid, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt reported this week.

Cheese, non-fat milk and butter supplies remain above last year's levels, although milk production continues its seasonal decline, according to the consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Peanuts are in ample supply, too -- even though the 1974 crop will be slightly smaller than last year's record crop," she added.

Fresh fruits in good supply at the most economical prices this week include oranges, bananas, nectarines, grapes, prunes and plums.

Economical vegetables are watermelon, cabbage, carrots and squash.

Also dry yellow onions, celery, cshaw, beets, collards, mustard and turnip greens.

At beef counters, Mrs. Clyatt said much of the meat supply is from grass-fed animals.

"This is good news for calorie-counting consumers because it means lean beef has less marbling, and there's less outside fat covering."

Pork values center on hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, end-cut loin roasts and chops.

"Fryer chickens are an excellent protein choice in most markets, and grade A, large-size eggs still offer the most quality and economy."

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: "real" beef cost is its cost per serving -- not cost per pound.

Example: ground beef and chuck roast are both $1.21 per pound. Ground beef makes four servings, while chuck roast makes two.

So, ground beef costs 28 cents per serving, while chuck roast costs 56 cents per serving -- although both cost the same per pound.

It never occurs to some that others have sense enough to manage their own affairs.

Mrs. Epperly's brother, Mr. Scott of Lubbock, and family came to see her Sunday. Also Odie came for a visit with them.

This little verse entitled "I Ask The Lord" means so much to me and I hope you who read it will find comfort and hope for your every need. "I ask the Lord to comfort me when things weren't going my way, he said to me, "I will comfort you, and lift your cares away I ask the Lord to wald with me, when darkness was all that I knew, He said to me, never be afraid, for I will see you through, I didn't ask for riches he gave me wealth untold, The moon, the stars, the sun, the sky, and game me eyes to behold, I thank the Lord for everything, and I count my bless-sings each day, He came to me when I needed him I only had to pray, and He'll come to you if you ask him to, He's only a prayer away." I hope you will find comfort of your every need in this little verse too, for our Lord and God is near when we need, and ask for his love and guidance each day as each day dawns.
