Water, Inc. Begins Membership Push

Limits Extended At Council Meeting

The Muleshoe City Council met in regular session Tuesday, November 19, at the city hall.

The council passed a resolution authorizing the giving of notice of intention to issue Certificates of Obligation and consider offer for the purchase of $265,000 Certificates of Obligation.

The council will meet on December 17 to consider the passage of an ordinance authorizing the issuance of certificates of obligation of Muleshoe in an amount not to exceed $265,000 for the purpose of paying a portion of a contractual obligation to be incurred for the construction of public work, to-wit: improvements and extensions to the City's Waterworks System; such certificates of obligation to be payable from ad valorem taxes and the net revenues of the city's waterworks system.

The council also authorized the mayor and city manager to negotiate for the easements and property required for the 12 inch water line and the overhead storage tank.

An ordinance amending Article 1, Section 17-10 (water rates) of the city of Muleshoe Code of Ordinance, was passed.

Also passed was a land lease agreement with the AT&SF Railroad for traffic signal detector.

The corporate limits of the City of Muleshoe was extended by annexing the land located adjacent to the Richland Hills park owned by Myron Pool, Jr. and Ted Harrison. The land will be annexed in 30 days.

WTSU Band Plans 20 Mile March

The 240-piece West Texas State University Band will "make History" Saturday, November 23, when they march 20 miles from Canyon to Amarillo. Included in the band is David Seymore, a Muleshoe High School graduate.

The longest such march known for any band, their effort will qualify West Texas State for a listing in the Guinness 'Book of World Records' and hopefully raise enough money to send the Symphonic Band to California.

"We need approximately $20,000," noted director Gary Garner. The West Texas State group was selected from nationwide competitive tape auditions to be one of six bands to perform before the prestigious College Band Directors National Association Feb. 5 in Berkeley.

"This represents the association's recognition that the West Texas State University Symphonic Band is a top concert band," Garner said.

Garner said that each student will have to raise approximately $150, by seeking sponsors to pay any amount they wish per mile.

The estimated four-hour trip, beginning at 10 a.m., will culminate with a concert in Amarillo's Western Plaza Shopping Center.

Jaycees Hear Speak-Up Program

The Muleshoe Jaycees met at noon Monday with Monty Dollar, first vice-president, calling the meeting to order.

Butch Duncan gave the invocation, Ed Cox led the Pledge of Allegiance and Clarence Christian led the Jaycee Creed.

A guest at the meeting was Richard Kimbrough, assistant manager of Production Credit.

Butch Duncan reported on the Morton Extension. Their Charter Night Banquet will be held December 12.

Bill Russell reported on the Friona Work Forum. Eight Jaycees along with their wives attended the forum held Saturday night in Friona.

Charles Moraw reported on the Leadership in Action Program held last Saturday at Lubbock.

Ted Barnhill reported on the Thanksgiving Social that will

HOME GROWN CARROTS. Rev. Gene Davis, of Muleshoe, brought several carrots by the Journal Tuesday that he raised in his garden this year. All of the carrots pictured weighed about two pounds, with one of the carrots weighing better than two and a half pounds. Rev. Davis reported that he planted the carrots in May. His garden was fertilized with decomposed cotton burrs this year. He said that even though the carrots were gigantic in size they were still tender and edible.

Food Stamp Allotments To Increase In January

Food stamp allotment for a family of four will increase on January 1 from $150 to $154 based on August food price statistics, according to an announcement today by Under Secretary of Agriculture J. Phil Campbell.

The Food Stamp Act, as amended by the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 (Public Law 93-86), requires that coupon allotments be adjusted semiannually to reflect changes in the prices of food as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Allotment adjustments are based on the cost of the Department of Agriculture

(USDA) economy food plan as it is computed from Bureau of Labor Statistics food prices. The law requiring semiannual adjustments specified that the January 1974 adjustment reflect changes in food prices through August 1973. A similar procedure was used for the July 1974 adjustment and is being used for the January 1975 increase in the value of the coupon allotment, which is based on the cost of the economy food plan in August 1974.

Cost of the economy food plan for August was $153.40 for a family of four with school children. Accordingly, USDA will raise the value of the coupon allotment from $150 to $154 for a family of four and make appropriate adjustments for other household sizes. The maximum income eligibility standard for the four person household will increase from $500 to $513.

The following tables giving coupon allotments, income eligibility standards and purchase requirements for all household sizes in the 48 contiguous states and the District of Columbia are scheduled for publication in the Federal Register of Monday,

Piggly Wiggly Wages WIN Price Hold

Effective Sunday, November 17, 1974 all Piggly Wiggly supermarkets in Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma operated by Shop Rite Foods, Inc., will begin waging their WIN, "Whip Inflation Now" campaign to hold down prices for the benefit of the consumer.

Major complaints from consumers in regard to food prices have been that many times the prices on items throughout the supermarkets will be changed and raised several times before the consumer has a chance to make the initial purchase.

Under the WIN program being put into effect by Piggly Wiggly, once a price is marked on an item and placed on the shelves for sale, it will not be raised in price. The only time a price change will take place on a shelf stocked item will be if the price goes lower than originally marked.

This program being introduced to the food consumer

Wheat Symposium Set For November 21

Economics will be the key issue when Texas wheat producers get together for a symposium on the economics of wheat production and marketing here Nov. 21, according to county Extension Agent Spenser Tankley.

The occasion gets underway with registration at 9:00 a.m. at the Holiday Inn in Wichita Falls, lasting until 4:00 p.m. Sponsors cooperating in the symposium are the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas Wheat Producers Association (TWPA), Panhandle Economic Program (PEP), South Plains Development Program (SPD), and Rolling Plains Economic Program (RPEP).

The symposium precedes the 24th annual meeting of TWPA which convenes the next day, Friday, Nov. 22, says Tankley.

Keynote speaker for the Thursday event will be Dr. J.M. Sproull, Extension economist from College Station. His topic is "The Challenge of the New Economics of Production."

Next on the program is a panel discussion on fertility alternatives for peak production. Five panel members will cover such aspects as efficient usage of commercial fertilizer, production management practices, summer fallow and rotation, legumes in rotation, and feedlot manure.

Appearing on the panel will be Lowell Cure, Baylor county extension agent; Dr. Dale Lovelace, Extension area agronomist of Vernon; David Williams of Dundee; Howard Henderson of Burkburnett; and Joe Parker, Jr. of Byers.

Rounding out the morning session is another panel discussion-this one on wheat production problems. Briefings on insects, disease, weeds, and varieties will be given by Emory Borings, Extension area entomologist of Vernon; Norman McCoy, Extension area pathologist from Renner; Dale Lovelace; and Keith Lahr, with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Vernon.

Bill Nelson, Executive Vice-President of TWPA, gets the afternoon session underway with a talk on "The Challenge of the New Economics of Marketing."

Charles Ball, Executive Vice President of Texas Cattle Feeders Association, is scheduled to bring wheat producers and guests up to date on the fed cattle situation.

Keeping to the theme of economics, three Extension specialists will round out the day's program with 10-minute briefings on economic factors affecting the 1975 decisions about wheat production.

Dr. Roland Smith, grain marketing specialist from College Station, will provide a price outlook for the next year. Following him will be Dr. Ernest Davis, livestock marketing spe-

Organization Finds Water Solutions

Workers in the 1974 Water, Inc., Membership Drive have launched an intensive new membership campaign in Bailey county. The effort is a part of an area-wide membership drive and is aimed at swelling the regional organization's membership by more than 1,200.

"The theme of this year's membership drive, 'Action Today for Water Tomorrow,' is more than an empty phrase," said Jess P. Winn who heads up the campaign in the local area. "Although we in Water, Inc., are doing all that is possible to speed up implementation of the project to import water into the area, the fact remains that a long lead time is required, and that if we wait until our wells run dry, it could be too late," he said.

Water, Inc., activities include work with state and federal agencies, coordination of efforts with other water organizations and public education. Its finances are derived entirely from membership dues. Its membership represents a cross-section of the area it serves (West Texas and Eastern New Mexico) and its activities are directed toward solving future water problems for the entire area.

Working with Jess Winn in the local area are: Gil Lamb-Muleshoe-(806) 272-4284; 272-4491, M. D. Gunstream, Muleshoe (806) 272-4515; 272-4709, John Fuston - Muleshoe - (806) 272-3319; 272-3967, Ted Barnhill-Muleshoe-(806) 272-4515, B.E. Loyd-Muleshoe-(806) 272-4561; 272-4450, Jeff Smith-Muleshoe-(806) 272-4561, Frank Ellis-Muleshoe-(806) 272-4574; 272-3207, Don Harmon-Muleshoe-(806) 272-4521, Larry Hall - Muleshoe - (806) 272-4536; 272-4749, Gay H. Walden-Sudan-(806) 227-3401, J.D. Smith - Sudan - (806) 946-2775, 946-2777 and Doug Foster.

Water, Inc. is a unique organization, a membership-supported, non-profit entity concerning itself with finding solutions to the long-range water supply problems of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. Its uniqueness stems from the amalgamation of all common cause. Water, Inc., is concerned with the future water needs of all-agriculture, municipalities and industry.

Water, Inc. was formally organized on May 24, 1967. The organization was the result of concerted effort of the 12 incorporators who has chartered the non-profit organization the week previously. Both the charter and the by-laws set out Water, Inc. goals, principal among them the importation of supplemental water into the area from out-of-state sources, the creation of public interest in and development of public support for water resources development and conservation projects and to promote, conduct and participate in studies, surveys and research programs for the importation, distribution, reclamation, re-use, utilization and the storage of water and to make such programs available to the public.

No possible source of supplemental water has been excluded from consideration, however, emphasis has been on the Mississippi River system, principally because detailed federal studies have pinpointed a surplus there. Those same federal studies indicated that under procedures being used at the time of the studies, such an import project would not be economically justified. But, even as results of the studies were being disclosed, those study procedures were being modified. Even today, those procedures have not been finally established, but from all indications, they will, when adopted, reverse those previous "economic" findings.

Water, Inc. was instrumental in assuring that importation of water to West Texas and Eastern New Mexico was included in the "Texas Water Plan." Such inclusion makes importation an official stance of state water agencies.

Water, Inc. is representative of the area it serves. It is

Construction Begins On Highway 214

Boswell and Crafton, Inc., Contractor, has begun reconstruction work on the first section of State Highway 214 from the Bailey County Line, north to Clays Corner. Work will include the reconstruction of the grading, structures, flexible base, and asphalt surfacing to a 26 ft. travelway with 9 ft. paved shoulders.

The traveling public is urged to use caution while driving in the construction area, as several detours will be used.

Also, speed zones and warning signs should be obeyed for the safety of both the public and construction workmen.

is in conjunction with the WIN campaign urged by President Ford in an effort to halt the climbing inflation of food prices. Piggly Wiggly will continue to offer a series of weekly specials as they have in the past. Under the WIN program, sale prices will remain in effect during the course of the sale week. Once the sale has lapsed, the price of the item will return to the regular retail prices as listed before the sale began. According to Shop Rite Food management, the company is determined to help the consumer, "now", in the fight against rising prices. It is the goal of Piggly Wiggly to help halt the continuous climbing of food prices and to aid the consumer in holding down prices. Under the WIN program if the price of the item goes beyond what is marked on the item when placed on the shelves for sale by Piggly Wiggly, the price of the item will not be raised.

Four Rural Accidents Investigated

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated four accidents on rural highways in Bailey County during the month of October, 1974, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area. These crashes resulted in no persons killed and no persons injured. The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first ten months of 1974 shows a total of 43 accidents resulting in three persons killed and 12 persons injured. The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for October, 1974, shows a total of 502 accidents resulting in 19 persons killed and 215 persons injured as compared to October, 1973, with 664 accidents resulting in 31 persons killed and 377 persons injured. This was 162 less accidents, 12 less killed, and 162 less injured in 1974 at the same period of time.

Editorial

Some millions of American males--along with more than a few females--are taking to the woods this month, firearms in hand, in search of live targets. These are the hunters among us. The Texas Medical Association has a note of caution for those who are planning a fall safari into the fields and woods in search of deer and other game. Know what you're firing at before you pull the trigger. The hunter who blazes away rapidly at everything that moves is a highly dangerous animal. His quarry might well be another hunter. The wise Texas hunter will be wearing a "hunter orange" vest or, at the very least, a cap made in this glowing bright fluorescent color. The color sends a glowing signal to other hunters, but goes unnoticed by color-distinguishing motion, sound, or scent. Each year several hunters return from fall outings via hearse. Many others return with a load of bird shot or a rifle bullet to be dug out by a doctor. Behind almost every hunting accident is one cause; carelessness. Never cross over or through a fence or climb a tree with a loaded gun. It might fall and discharge. Don't shoot at a hard, flat surface. Glancing bullets can carry long distances. Even a small bore rifle has considerable range. Know where your bullet will stop before pulling the trigger. Keep guns away from children. Never leave a weapon unattended without unloading it. Store guns and ammunition beyond the reach of youngsters, preferably under lock and key. Always carry a gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle if you stumble. Keep the safety catch on until ready to shoot. Be sure the barrel is clear of mud, snow or other obstructions. A clogged barrel may burst. Leave your liquor bottle at camp, and wait until you're through with the day's hunting and the guns are unloaded to take that first drink. And don't overdo it. You want to have a clear head for the next day's hunt.

Water, Inc. Launches Drive

Water, Inc., is launching its annual drive for members. After a leadership rally in Lubbock, more than 300 workers will begin talking with their friends and neighbors about joining in the action that will ultimately culminate in importation of supplemental water to the High Plains of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Directing the membership campaign this year is Lloyd Calhoun, Hobbs, Calhoun, a Water, Inc., director, set the goal of the campaign at 1,200 new members, a goal that would result in a total membership of more than 3,000. More than 5,000 persons have participated in Water, Inc., membership since the organization's inception in 1967.

"Water, Inc., must be active today if we are to have water tomorrow," Calhoun said. "We have made great strides since our beginnings seven years ago," he said, "but ultimate success is directly dependent upon strong membership support, both financially and through moral support."

Water, Inc., officials are guardedly optimistic that federal criteria for evaluating projects such as the import plan, will be finalized during the coming year, clearing the way for early implementation.

"The United States and indeed the world, is headed for a food and fiber crisis of major proportions unless an all-out effort is made to increase agriculture production," said Geo. W. McCleskey, Water, Inc., president. "We are convinced that the area we serve is the best suited in the nation for increased production," he said, "and we must see to it that those who are in decision-making positions share our convictions. This really, is the work Water, Inc., is about."

IMPORT WATER COULD AID SECONDARY RECOVERY

When considering water importation to the High Plains, one can immediately visualize the benefits to the region, nation and world from increasing food and fiber production. Other beneficial aspects of water importation, possibly not as dramatic as feeding a hungry world, are often overlooked. One such aspect, which came to the forefront during the energy crisis, is the use of water in secondary recovery of crude oil.

A study of the economic benefits from the use of water in secondary oil recovery was conducted at Water, Inc. and presented to the West Texas Water Resources Subcommittee on September 27. The study concluded that the use of water in secondary recovery of crude oil may very well be the highest revenue producing use of a small portion of the water.

Swann

In the year 2020, an estimated 95 percent of the oil produced on the High Plains of Texas will be through secondary recovery operations. This oil production, which would require only 3.7 percent of the average annual water delivery to the Texas High Plains as set out in the Bureau of Reclamation study, would yield direct benefits to the producers of $824 million. These direct benefits are almost one-half of the total quantified benefits of the Bureau's study. The direct, indirect and induced economic benefits to the state from the 137 million barrels of oil produced through secondary recovery in the year 2020 would total $3.3 billion at an oil price of $10 per barrel or $19 thousand per acre-foot of water used.

The interviews conducted in the study indicate the oil producers can well afford to pay 100 percent of the per unit cost of water imported to the Texas High Plains. Many producers are now paying more for fresh water than the Bureau of Reclamation's estimated cost per acre-foot of imported water. Future import studies should include secondary oil production consideration.

CLAYTON LAUDS UNITY AMONG STATE AGENCIES

Texas House Speaker-Apparent Bill Clayton of Springlake, a former executive director of Water, Inc., told the Texas Water Conference that things never looked better for water resource development than during the next session of the state legislature. The reference was to the stepped-up activities of all facets of state government.

Clayton noted that for the first time in recent history, the governor's office, the lieutenant governor's office and the water agencies were working in unity. Although he didn't say it, he could have added that the next speaker of the House of Representatives is in accord with all water development related activities.

A quick look at the various offices referred to demonstrates that unity.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who has just been elected to a new term, this one for four years, has pulled no punches insofar as the water import project is concerned. Just over a year ago, the governor named a Water Task Force, and at its first meeting emphasized that water importation should be of the highest priority. The Water Task Force has been charged to develop a comprehensive water development program for the governor. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, who has also just been reelected, has named four regional water advisory committees to study problems and needs of their respective regions of the state with an eye toward recommending needed legislation to solve those problems and meet those needs. Lt. Gov. Hobby has pledged the cooperation of the Advisory committees with Gov. Briscoe's Water Task Force.

The agency charged with carrying out water projects, the Texas Water Development Board, includes water importation in its plans. The Board's executive director, Harry Burleigh, recently wrote that it is time to move importation back to the front burner.

Water, Inc., has pledged its support and assistance to each of the above in carrying out their objectives, and Water, Inc., works on a day to day basis with each.

It is no wonder Water, Inc., leaders are optimistic about the future for water importation into West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

IMPORT STUDY IS STEP FORWARD

Much has been written and much said about the Bureau of Reclamation and Corps of Engineers study of a representative West Texas-Eastern New Mexico Water Import Plan. Although in most every respect save one, the study painted a favorable picture, and Water, Inc., officials have dubbed the study a major step forward in the quest for adequate future water.

On the positive side, the study found that a supplemental water supply will be required for the High Plains area, that excess water during certain months of the year is available in the lower Mississippi River system and that from an engineering standpoint, facilities could be constructed to deliver some six million acre-feet of water to the High Plains each year.

The single disconcerting finding was "the importation alternative cannot be economically or financially justified using present procedures." Such a statement would appear to the layman to be a "kiss of death" for any project. It is not, however, as harsh as it sounds at first blush. The key to the statement above is "under present procedures." Even as the study report was being made, those "procedures" were being revamped, and, as a matter-of-fact, are still under revision. Known as "Principles and Standards for Evaluating Water and Land Related Projects," those procedures will not be "set in concrete" by Congress until about mid-1975. All indications point to revised criteria that will be a boost to the economic feasibility of the West Texas-Eastern New Mexico Import Project.

"Whether we eventually import water from the Mississippi River or from some other source, realistic evaluation criteria is of prime importance," said Duncan Ellison, Water, Inc., executive director. "We must continue to work closely with federal agencies to the end that the new criteria will fairly present a cost-benefit ratio."

Under "present procedures" used in the initial study, only those benefits representing the difference between dryland and irrigated agriculture were allowed in calculations. To be realistic, those calculations must include secondary and tertiary as well as primary benefits.

Show-Down Battles Coming In Football

This appears to be the swan song for the 1974 college football season. Always hate to see it end, it's been another exciting season, but a real tough one on crystal ball gazers. Can't remember a year when our Top Twenty Teams were treated so rudely well after week... or when "personel" in the group changed so often. But interesting!

And the annual show-down battles won't be put off any longer. They're either this Saturday or on the very abbreviated schedule for next week. Nebraska- Oklahoma, Southern California-U.C.L.A., Michigan-Ohio State, Alabama-Auburn, Texas A&M-Texas, Oklahoma- Oklahoma State, Notre Dame-Southern California, and Harvard-Yale and Army-Navy.

Our last year's national champion, Oklahoma, faces two difficult Saturdays, first Nebraska and then Oklahoma State. The Sooners, needing a double win in order to take undisputed possession of the Big 8 title, are favored over Nebraska by 12 points and over Oklahoma State on the 30th by

As it has for so many years, the U.C.L.A.-Southern Cal game will again decide Rose Bowl host and the Pacific 8 champion. And it's hard to pick anyone else except the Trojans. So we won't: Southern Cal to win the battle for the roses, whipping the Bruins by nine.

Thanks to a delightful pick-

US Agriculture Affects World Production

COLLEGE STATION—What goes up must come down, or so the story goes. And that's how the agricultural situation shapes up. Led by declines in agricultural production in the United States, world production of food and fiber will be down during the current fiscal year after record levels a year ago.

"A decline in grain production will be the main reason for this world situation although livestock and cotton production are expected to be up slightly," points out Charles Baker, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In the United States grain and cotton production will be down sharply while livestock production will generally hold steady. Due to the record production levels, crop prices for 1974 should average 31 percent higher than in 1973. But livestock prices will average 6 percent lower. Prices received for all farm products in the U.S. are expected to average about 8 percent higher than last year, notes Baker.

However, he hastens to point out that the net farm income in the U.S. is expected to decrease just over $5 billion from the record $32.3 billion of last year, due mainly to an expected $12 billion increase in production expenses.

"Although cash receipts will be up about $7.5 billion in the U.S., it's another story in Texas," says Baker. "Cash receipts are expected to be they were not picked for the Rose Bowl last year. Ohio State, because of the controversial loss to Michigan State, The Buckeyes will win by five points. Alabama... they're going to take it all in the Southeast Conference again this year, defeating Auburn in their annual "Battle of Alabama" by 14 points. It's going to take a tremendous effort by the Tigers to upset the Tide. That game is next week.

The other headliner - also November 30th on the West Coast - will be the annual struggle between Southern Cal and Notre Dame. The Irish, headed for the Orange Bowl, may lose their second game. They're four-point underdogs to the Trojans.

down more than $1.5 billion from the record $6.5 billion of last year. Almost all of that drop is due to price declines in the livestock industry.

Taking a look at the expert situation, the economist points out that the total volume of agricultural exports may decline as much as 25 percent during the current fiscal year. This is due mainly to anticipated declines in exports of wheat, feedgrains and cotton. The total value of U.S. agricultural exports is expected to be about $20 billion compared to the record level of $21.3 billion last year.

Where does all this leave the farmer and the consumer? The average increase in prices to the farmer for food products will be only 5.5 percent while the increase in the farm-retail spread will be 21 percent higher than last year. Consequently, the consumer will face about a 15 percent average increase in the overall food bill although this is one percent less than last year.

USDA Adds Coumaphor For Scabies Dips

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has added coumaphor, a chemical compound, to the list of dips permitted by the Department for treatment of psoroptic cattle scabies.

Other permitted dips are heated lime sulphur and toxaphene. Officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) said that trials using coumaphors—known commercially as Co-Ral—have resulted in the successful elimination of cattle scabies on infested animals. Previously, the compound had been used successfully against Cattle Fever Ticks. Its use against cattle scabies was approved by Environmental Protection Agency on October 4.

Coum-phos is an organophosphorus compound which breaks down rapidly and therefore has less effect on the environment, that chlorinated hydrocarbons. Also because of its degradability the chemical has the additional advantage that animals treated with it need not be withheld from slaughter. Animal health officials said this feature is of particular significance to the beef industry since it will reduce the cost of scabies outbreaks.

The Consumer Alert

By John L. Hill Attorney General

AUSTIN. . . Traditionally, the season from Thanksgiving through the New Year is a busy air travel time. Many people fly to be with relatives or friends for the holidays, students fly home over the winter break, some folks fly off for a skiing vacation or for a vacation in the sun.

Few air travelers will be aware when they purchase their plane tickets that they are taking part in a consumer transaction, however. In fact, though, they are contracting to purchase a product or service from the airline, and as a party to such a contract they have certain rights and responsibilities.

The Civic Aeronautics Board is the federal regulatory agency for all U.S. certificated airlines providing interstate domestic, overseas, or international service, and for foreign airline service within the U.S. The Texas Aeronautics Commission is the agency dealing with air travel in this state. It certifies all interstate carriers, in addition to providing airport construction grants and conducting flight safety training programs. The Attorney General's Transportation Division represents the Aeronautics Commission in legal matters.

Both the CAB and TAC along with our Transportation and Consumer Protection Divisions, point out these rights for the air traveler; knowing in advance what service to expect, what the cheapest available fare is, what services are covered by a more expensive fare, what restrictions or conditions apply to a fare, and what extra charges may have to be paid to get certain in-flight services.

Additionally, and very importantly, a consumer has a right to know what the airline's liability is for lost or damaged baggage and for compensation if the airline has oversold its capacity.

The passenger's own responsibilities include making reservations only for those flights he plans to take, abiding by airline regulations, and reporting promptly and accurately any problems.

Possible areas of consumer confusion about air travel include extra charges and "bumping" of passengers.

"Extra charges. . . You must pay the fare that's in effect on the day you fly, so if you bought a ticket in advance and fares increased in the time after your purchase, you would have to pay an additional charge before boarding. . . If prices dropped, however, you would get a refund. If you are flying on a special reduced fare, perhaps an excursion rate, and you fail to comply with requirements such as returning by a certain date, you may have to pay the cost of a regular fare."

"Other customary extra charges are made in some ticket categories for inflight movies, stereo headsets, and alcoholic beverages. . . Bumping. . . Some airlines oversell their flights, assuming there will be cancellations. If there are none, some passengers with confirmed reservations may be "bumped."

If you have a confirmed seat reserved, if you are denied boarding, and if the airline cannot book you on another flight that will arrive at your destination within two hours of your original flight on domestic trips or four hours for international trips, you may be eligible for denied boarding compensation.

To be eligible, you must have a properly confirmed reservation and you must comply with airline check-in time requirements. If you are bumped, you should stay in the check-in area until you receive a mandatory written explanation of CAB provisions regarding your rights and your compensation (usually in the form of a coupon) equal to the cost of your fare. The CAB rule requiring such payment does not apply to foreign, interstate, or Alaska carriers, or to air taxis, however.

The airline must compensate you within 24 hours. If it does not, you have 90 days to file a claim. Don't delay if this happens, since the airlines keep tickets records for only three months.

Of course, it is far better not to get bumped at all. To avoid the problem, get to the airport early to have plenty of time for check-in and finding your gate. Be sure to determine the length of time it takes to get to the airport if you are in a strange city.

If you need help or information with a consumer problem involving air travel, consult the Texas Aeronautics Commission or the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division. Future columns will explore other aspects of the airline-consumer relationship.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has a suggestion for the Arab nations this week, although we're not sure how many of them read this paper.

Dear Editor: As I understand it, the Arab countries, recognizing a good thing when they see it, are really piling up the money with their high-priced oil sales.

In fact, they're building up so much cash-on-hand, billions and billions of it, that they're having trouble figuring out what to invest it in, since they apparently have no interest in helping some of their own people wandering around the desert with a handful of sheep.

Anyway, according to an article I read yesterday they're studying the problem, if you want to call wondering where to invest a gob of money a problem, and it is reported they're interested in buying up foreign business, maybe a bank here and there, a few auto plants, Sear & Roebuck, things like that.

They haven't asked me for it but I have a suggestion for them. They ought to be looking further on down the road. There's going to come a time when they'll be out of the saddle. Their oil will play out or the United States or some other oil-short country will figure out a way to get along without Arab oil, by developing new scores of energy or leaning how to use more coal or by drilling for oil all over the ocean, across Alaska and necessary in the heart of downtown Lubbock.

So what the Arab countries ought to be doing, against the day when the hayride is over, is cutting down on their long cars and private airplanes and putting their money in savings and loans. In the meantime, the oil-short countries are suppose to conserve all the energy and other natural resources they can, and as soon as football season is over they plan to. I intend to do my part and am considering giving up toothpicks to save wood.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Farm-facts

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture John C. White, Commissioner

Brucellosis, Again... New Regulation Proposed... Remember Beef Clubs? ... Feed Grains Dwindle

HARRISON, HASKELL, Hill and Hunt Counties have joined Grayson and Leon Counties on the list facing additional brucellosis testing before shipping beef and dairy breeding cattle, according to the USDA. Grayson and Leon had previously been on the list. However, Jefferson and Navarro Counties have been restored to the modified-certified status. Brucellosis regulations are administered by the Federal and State governments. The regulations require that cattle in counties not modified-certified be tested and found free of brucellosis within the preceding 30 days before they are shipped; and the herd from which such cattle came must also have been tested and found free of disease within the past year. Texas Animal Health Commission is the cooperating Texas agency in the brucellosis program.

ANOTHER PROPOSAL that may, if adopted, affect Texans has been made by the USDA. It would require custom slaughterers and processors of meat and poultry to register with the USDA. Those are the slaughterers and processors who slaughter and process meat and poultry brought to them and which is for use solely by the person who brings them in and by his family. Custom operations are not required to have full-time inspection but are subject to federal sanitation and labeling requirements. The new proposal would require registration of each owner of a custom operation and each establishment he owns. Those who want to comment on the proposal should send duplicate copies to the Hearing Clerk, USDA, Washington, D. C. 20250 before May 2, 1975. Copies of the proposal may be obtained by writing APHIS, Room 1166-S, USDA, Washington, D. C. 20250.

OLDTIMERS can recall that beef clubs used to be common in rural communities. Several families would form the club and would take turns each month in butchering a calf or other animal. The meat would then be divided among the family members. The Texas Department of Agriculture used to be active in helping organize beef clubs, or Baby Beef Clubs. This was in the early days of TDA. (It came into existence in 1907.) And Baby Beef Clubs fitted in with the Farmers' Institutes program which used to be a responsibility of TDA. However, that was in the days before refrigerators and deep freezers, when it was difficult to save meat more than a few days in the summer time. There would be a greater food shortage today if it were not for refrigerators and deep freezers, and, probably, there would be less cattle stealing today if there were no deep freezers.

TEXAS CROP and Livestock Reporting Service has come up with some interesting figures on four feed grain stocks that are of the most value to Texas: corn, oats, barley and sorghum. The Service states that grain sorghum stocks are down to 20 million bushels, 19 per cent below a year ago. A decrease of six million bushels was noted in off-farm stocks but farm-held stocks were almost more than twice what they were a year ago. Wheat stocks in all positions are estimated at 60 million bushels, which is 31 per cent below a year ago. There are an estimated 10,200,000 bushels of corn, and that is more than three times last year's reserves. Farm-held corn was slightly less than a year ago, but off-farm stocks accounted for the increase. There were an estimated 10.7 million bushels of oats, compared to 22.5 million last year; and barley stocks are estimated at 477 thousand bushels, compared to 1,693,000 bushels a year ago. In the nation, stocks of sorghum, corn, oats, and barley are estimated at 33.7 million tons, 25 per cent less than a year ago.
