Cotton Harvest Virtually Complete

Cotton harvesting is virtually complete on the High Plains, according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of the USDA's Cotton Classing Office in Lubbock.

'Some gins still have cotton waiting to be ginned and samples are coming in slowly now,' he added.

The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa, and Levelland classed 100,000 samples during the week ending Friday, January 3. This brought the season's total to 942,000. On this same date last year the total was 2,023,000, Dickson said.

At Lubbock predominant grades this week were 42 and 52. Grade 42 accounted for 34 percent while grade 52 was assigned to 19 percent of the cotton samples. Thirty-four percent of these samples were reduced one grade because of bark. This is up from 29 percent the previous week.

The predominant staples were 30 and 31. Staple 30 amounted to 24 percent and staple 31 was 38 percent of the samples.

Micronaire readings in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9 accounted for 8 percent of the samples. This compares to 11 percent the week before. Micronaire readings below 3.5 accounted for the other 92 percent this week.

Prices quoted by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange for the most predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire range were: grade 42, staple 30-27.40, staple 31 - 28.40 cents per pound. For grade 52, staple 30 - 24.30, staple 31 - 25.10 cents per pound. Mixed lots of cotton brought 18.00 to 32.00 cents per pound.

Prices paid to farmers for their cottonseed ranged from $100 to $145 per ton.

Special guest entertainer at the Fort Worth Rodeo will be Miss Toni Ingraham, country music's newest song stylist from Las Vegas. Also, Mr. Rhythm, billed as the king of dancing horses, will perform at the rodeo.

Local Feedlots Request Waste Control Applications

Seven waste control order applications, including one request for an amendment, are scheduled for consideration at a Texas Water Quality Board public hearing to be held in Amarillo on January 7th. The hearing is to be in Conference Room C of the Municipal Building starting at 10:00 a.m.

Four of the requests are for new cattle feedlot permits, and one is a show cause hearing to determine whether to revoke, modify, or amend a permit already issued to Dimmitt Feed Yard, Inc. of Dimmitt.

The Phillips Petroleum Company of Borger is applying for an amendment to a waste control order for the proposed discharge of treated industrial wastewater consisting of process water and rainfall runoff water from the Plains Butadiene Plant located on State Highway 136 three miles west of Borger. The effluent is to be discharged into a natural drainage ditch, Hill Creek, and then into the Canadian River.

The City of Kress is making a request for the discharge of treated domestic sewage effluent from a municipal treatment plant located approximately a half mile southeast of the city in Swisher County.

The plant consists of an Imhoff tank, sludge drying beds, three oxidation ponds with a total surface area of approximately two and a half acres, and 15 acres on the east side of the plant will be used for disposal of the effluent by irrigation. There is to be no discharge to the surface waters of the state.

Delta Industries, Inc. of Stratford is asking for a permit for the discharge of a variable amount of treated industrial wastewater, consisting of wash water and domestic sewage, from a maintenance center located two and a half miles south of Stratford. The treated effluent is to be discharged into a retention pond and evaporated.

Delta operates tractor-trailer rigs for hauling grain and ammoniated rice hulls.

King Grain Company, Inc. and Bailey County Feeders, Inc., both of Muleshoe, are asking for waste control orders for feedlot operations.

The application by King Grain Company is for the control of a variable amount of process and rainfall runoff water containing wastes from a feedlot operation with a capacity for 17,000 cattle and 10,000 sheep. The feedlot is located just west of Muleshoe, and the wastewater is to be retained and utilized for irrigation.

Bailey County Feeders, Inc., operating a 6,000-head capacity feedlot two miles northwest of Muleshoe, is requesting a permit to retain process and rainfall runoff water and dispose of it by natural evaporation and the irrigation of 320 acres of adjoining farmland. Topography of the land and location of the feedlot prevents outside rainfall runoff from flowing through and across the 21 acres of feeding pens. Waste control facilities consist of three retention ponds.

Monty Boozer of Dimmitt is making application for a waste control order for a 2,000-head capacity feedlot located 10 miles west of Dimmitt. The feedlot has six pens, and rainfall runoff to the southwest across cultivated farmland to a playa lake located about one mile from the feedlot. Water is to be pumped from the lake and used for irrigation of 590 acres of farmland.

A permit for the control of rainfall runoff water containing wastes from a 1,600-head capacity feedlot is being sought by McCleskey Cattle Company of Dalhart in Hartley County.

Waste control facilities consist of a playa lake which drains six and a half acres of cattle feedlot pens and approximately 2,400 acres of native pastureland. Collected wastewater is to be disposed of by irrigation of the pastureland, and solid waste will be spread on the same acreage as a fertilizer and soil amendment.

The TWGB urges all interested parties to attend the hearing and present any relevant information for the record.

from the Indians.

To protect the wealth as it came in from the interior before it could be shipped to Spain, it had to be guarded. They built a large rock wall around the City with many cannon in strategic locations. Also a large fort, 'The Fort of Saint Philips' the largest and strongest in America. Thousands of slaves worked twenty seven years to build it. Heavy walls with large rooms, dark passages and long stairways to underground cellars are confounding and a little weird. Also lots of cannon. No enemy ever captured it, but they tried many times. The wealth was safe in 'The Fort of Saint Philips.'

The last great battle to take the Fort and its riches was in 1741. English Admiral Vernon with twenty four war ships and nine thousand soldiers sailed into the harbor. The twenty cannon destroyed some of the ships and he lost a lot of men. But Vernon went on, anchored his ships in the harbor, and after six days of siege against the Fort, went back to England soundly defeated.

Lawrence Washington, an officer in the Armada, was a half brother to George Washington. George named Mount Vernon after the Admiral.

The great fort is useless now, the world has passed it by. A few tourists visit it, but more are interested in the valuable emeralds that are mined in Colombia and are in all the stores. But the great Fort and the ancient City of Cartagena, with its proud history, and its old cannon everywhere were to me, just great.

PROCESSING ALFALFA. . . Protein Processors, located east of Muleshoe, is busy processing sun-cured alfalfa through the Muleshoe plant. Lucky Spurlock, plant superintendent, estimates that there is enough sun-cured alfalfa to last through the month of April. The picture shows a hay fork dropping alfalfa into a grinder. From there the alfalfa is moved to the plant to be processed into pellets. The plant will be 100 percent complete after the construction of elevators and a load out system. At full capacity, the plant requires 73 employees and at the present time 42 can handle the winter load. Protein Processors will start contracting 1975 alfalfa the latter part of April.

Editorials

Welfare Reform

Encouragement for those seeking to reform the nation's welfare laws came recently in the report of a panel of the Joint Economic Committee, a congressional group.

After a study of the various welfare programs now in operation; the study group suggested termination of aid to families with dependent children, the food stamp program, programs which bar aid to families headed by males, and others.

They would be replaced by a comprehensive program of tax credits and subsistence payments. The payments to be reduced by fifty cents for each dollar earned.

The goal in welfare reform is to end systems which discourage work and reward unemployment, and to encourage all to work.

Since, in general, the congressional group's findings and recommendations are very similar to the program proposed by HEW Secretary Casper Weinberger, the hope is that by 1977 (as proposed by the study group) a better, overall welfare system will be put into effect, one which encourages work and tends to keep families together.

Ford's Task

President Gerald Ford today faces a task few newly-arrived chief executives of this country have confronted. He takes the helm at a time when inflation and recession are major domestic crises. He faces a heavy opposition majority in both houses of Congress.

He sees U.S. military strength declining relatively. The U.S. trade balance, which former President Nixon righted with revaluations of the dollar, is again moving steadily into the heavy red.

The threat of war in the Middle East is very real; and this country cannot repeat its lifesaver performance of October, 1973, again (because of a shortage of tanks) in a new emergency. South Vietnam, for which so many Americans bled and died, is again being undermined.

Worst of all, from the long-term viewpoint, the world faces a food shortage which will mean starvation for millions unless population control (birth control) can be sold to backward nations and religious leaders who still fight control on sacred principle. Who needs that kind of job?

ON STRIP MINING

House-Senate conferees have broken a long deadlock and approved a bill to improve the first environmental controls on strip mining of the nation's coal.

The average now is 16.9 per cent.

NEW REMINDER

The Department of Transportation has established a new automobile safety belt reminder system to replace the interlock system banned by Congress. The new system consists of a visual "Fasten Seat Belt" signal.

FOOD COSTS RISES

Government statistics show that Americans are spending a greater percentage of their income on food than they did in recent years.

ON TRADE BILL

President Ford has urged that Congress pass the administration's long-pending trade bill this year or risk triggering a globaleconomic crisis.

When cleaning don't overlook the light bulbs. A dirty or dusty bulb can decrease its potential light by fifty per cent.

Check your shrubbery and the outside of your home and buildings for abandoned nests of wasps and other stinging insects. They are most likely filled with larvae.

You can make a handy, rainy day boot caddy by lining a large flat box with aluminum foil and placing it near the front door.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

What does a twenty year old married woman, who has one child, do to save her marriage?

I have been married three years and we got along fine together until we moved to Atlanta with his people.

He has never helped me with our child but he pretends to his people that I have not been teaching our child like he should be taught.

And now to try and show me up he beat the child in public.

And now when he gets upset with other people he takes it out on me.

I would like to go in business for myself but I haven't got the money.

What can I do as I am very unhappy?

M.--Ga.

Answer:

The first thing you should do is to get in a place away from his people.

A little child should never be beaten in public or in private. There are kind ways of teaching little children what to do and it takes a lot of patience.

As for going in business, I don't know what kind of business you are talking about but I certainly would not borrow that much money unless you are sure of paying it back. And the interest is usually so high that you may find yourself in a great deal of trouble later on if you can borrow it.

Handling Stressful Situations Effectively

COLLEGE STATION--Families are often faced with stressful situations for which they have no immediate solutions. Tension or stress may be the result of changes in the normal routine, illness or death, disagreement with a loved one and financial worries--even vacations and holiday seasons cause some tension for families.

"Facing the problem squarely and evaluating what is happening is the best way for families to cope effectively with a stressful situation," Irene Carrington, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, pointed out this week.

Part of a realistic evaluation is the ability to acknowledge and express ones feelings about the situation. It is also important to deal with what is currently happening, she said. "Blaming others for the problems or letting unresolved troubles haunt you can be detrimental and will only complicate the situation.

"Ignoring ones feelings or the situation isn't a satisfactory solution either," the specialist said.

"Deal with one problem at a time and consider all the different alternatives.

"Then decide what is the best possible solution for the stressful situation--and act on that decision. If necessary, seek the help of friends, relatives and community services. The reassuring love and support from someone who is concerned can be a great asset in a time of stress," she advised.

Miss Carrington suggested another guide for handling stress effectively is to plan for it in advance.

"Some changes in a person's life can be anticipated and prepared for--such as pregnancy, retirement, a move to another city or children leaving for college.

"Families can anticipate these changes and discuss their feelings and plans before the event occurs to reduce much of the tension and stress," she said.

Anybody for a slump, grunt, flummery or pan dowdy? These traditional New England desserts may sound funny today, but everyone can love those luscious concoctions of juicy fruits and hot biscuit toppings. In old-time cookery slumps and grunts were boiled, while flummeries and pan dowdies were baked. This modern-day version of a pan dowdy uses canned red tart cherries to delight both the traditionalists and modernists.

Handling Stressful Situations Effectively

COLLEGE STATION -- Families are often faced with stressful situations for which they have no immediate solutions. Tension or stress may be the result of changes in the normal routine, illness or death, disagreement with a loved one and financial worries--even vacations and holiday seasons cause some tension for families.

"Facing the problem squarely and evaluating what is happening is the best way for families to cope effectively with a stressful situation," Ilene Carrington, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, pointed out this week.

Part of a realistic evaluation is the ability to acknowledge and express ones feelings about the situation. It is also important to deal with what is currently happening, she said. "Blaming others for the problems or letting unresolved troubles haunt you can be detrimental and will only complicate the situation.

"Ignoring ones feelings or the situation isn't a satisfactory solution either," the specialist said.

"Deal with one problem at a time and consider all the different alternatives.

"Then decide what is the best possible solution for the stressful situation--and act on that decision. If necessary, seek the help of friends, relatives and community services. The reassuring love and support from someone who is concerned can be a great asset in a time of stress," she advised.

Miss Carrington suggested another guide for handling stress effectively is to plan for it in advance.

"Some changes in a person's life can be anticipated and prepared for--such as pregnancy, retirement, a move to another city or children leaving for college.

"Families can anticipate these changes and discuss their feelings and plans before the event occurs to reduce much of the tension and stress," she said.

THE SCIENTISTS TELL ME...

By Robert L. Haney, Science Writer
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

If You Eat, You're Involved in the Energy Crisis

A popular bumper sticker reads, "If you eat, you are involved in agriculture." An equally apt one could be "If you eat, you are involved in the energy crisis." Petroleum energy is essential for food production. It's converted into fertilizers and used for operating agricultural machinery, pumping irrigation water, processing raw food products and distributing the final food products.

In the past couple of years, Americans have started to feel the effects of worldwide food shortages. Food and feed grain surpluses disappeared and meat prices soared. Flour increased in price as did sugar, pinto beans, potatoes, rice, and nearly everything else we eat.

Widespread crop failures, or shortages in the world, caused increased demand for food at the same time petroleum prices were radically increased, which drove up food and fiber production costs. Added pressure on food supplies came from growing populations in most countries combined with an upgrading of diets in the developing countries that enjoy increased prosperity.

The result has been that we have all been forced to bid higher and higher prices for a share of the dwindling total supply of food. Many people in other countries, unable to pay the higher price of food, have been forced to eat less, or in many cases, starve.

Energy needs for Texas agricultural production are being studied by scientists with the Experiment Station. Their findings show that energy use for food production must increase even if maximum conservation measure are used. More food must be produced to meet demands of an increasing population, and this additional output will require more energy. According to station scientists Dr. Wayne LePori and Dr. C. G. Coble, conservation methods for agriculture have been identified which could reduce energy used for food production by about 15 percent. But such savings will not be enough to meet the needs to produce more food.

Their findings also show that more than half of the present energy used in Texas for food production, is used in the form of natural gas. This is the same fuel which is used for home heating and for generating about 98 percent of the electricity in Texas. Conserving this common pool of energy is essential to all of us. It's in

If enough food is to be produced, agriculture must have its energy supplies, and your conservation efforts will help assure this. It's obvious that if voluntary conservation measures do not stretch our supplies enough, compulsory measures along with allocations will be initiated.

Energy wasted now by running heaters or air conditioners at wasteful settings, or driving too fast, may exhaust future energy supplies and result in widespread hunger in the years to come.

The U. S. has been importing more and more petroleum to meet our demands since we are not producing enough in the U. S. More than a third of the petroleum we use is imported at a cost of billions of dollars each year. Texas has been exporting energy to the rest of the nation, but projections indicate that in about ten years, Texas won't produce enough to meet its own needs.

The interdependence of food production and availability of energy was evident in the study by TAES scientists, LePori says. Until new sources of energy can be found, everyone needs to be conservation conscious and follow those measures which stretch our common pool of energy.

Lieutenant Governor

One of the first matters to be considered by the 64th Legislature will be the need to increase state employee salaries in light of the growing cost of living. Much of the work in this direction has been led by the Texas Public Employees Association which I discussed, in this report, some time ago.

The TPEA has worked hard in behalf of a state employee pay increase to offset the growing cost of living. Although a Special Session of the Legislature was not called, Governor Briscoe has promised to submit pay increase legislation, as an emergency measure, to the 64th Legislature. This legislation would call for a 10% pay increase for all state employees and an increase in retirement benefits for all retired employees.

At my request, Senator Lloyd Doggett of Austin will prefile SB 1, containing the Governor's requests, so that it can be considered promptly. I support the speedy adoption of SB 1 by the 64th Legislature and hope that the benefits of this bill will be reflected in February pay checks.

Before Governor Briscoe announced his intentions with regard to a state employee pay increase, the Legislative Budget Board had made its recommendations. The LBB recommended a 17% salary increase for those public employees in Groups II-XII and a 13.6% increase for those in Groups XII-XXI for Fiscal Year '76. The LBB further recommended a 6.8% increase for all employees for Fiscal Year '77. These recommendations may, of course, be altered with the adoption of SB 1.

The prospects for improved benefits for state employees is not hindered by the knowledge that we have a projected budget surplus of $1.5 billion.

The TPEA will have a strong platform, including the pay issue, to present to the 64th Legislature. Judging from the association's past successes, I expect this platform will be given much attention.

The TPEA has adopted many new programs and innovations and has impressive projections for the future. It has initiated a regional system with nine regions drawn on geographic lines. The TPEA Board of Directors, now numbering 21, are to be elected by the regions.

The TPEA has made great progress in organizing chapters on our college and university campuses. These chapters will help to voice the needs of non-teaching staff members who have long needed a voice. There are currently 11 TPEA Chapters on 26 campuses and plans call for chapters on all 26 before the year is out.

Other innovations such as the newspaper tabloid scheme for the TPEA newsletter, plans to offer the newsletter every two weeks, the combination of standing committees in a streamlining effort, the revision of the guidebook, the proposed increase from three to five staff members in the field, and the setting up of political information subcommittees to host regular meetings at which members can visit with elected officials all demonstrate the vision of TPEA's leadership.

Tex Watson talks about Natural Gas for the Future

I'm pleased to report to our customers that Pioneer purchased more gas during 1974 than we used. This new gas will be available for future use, of course.

As you know, Pioneer is having to pay more for new gas than we've ever paid before. The competition for the gas produced in our area has never been so fierce. But the higher prices are resulting in lots of new exploration and production. I know of numerous wells which could not have been drilled at prices prevailing three years ago.

The increase in field prices means that our customers will have to pay more for the energy they use in their homes — gas and electricity — but, more important, it means he'll have the gas he needs.

All energy will cost more in the future but gas will remain your best energy buy.

The Consumer Alert

By John L. Hill Attorney General

AUSTIN--This is the time of year when many of us begin to think of putting our financial house in order, what with federal income tax filing time approaching and many local taxes due.

And it's often at this time that many of us realize our family records are in such a disorganized state that the job is going to be more difficult than it has to be. Necessary records may be lost or misplaced, scattered in several different locations, illogically grouped, or buried among unimportant papers.

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division Attorneys say that many consumer experts recommend reviewing your personal or family record-keeping system annually to determine if it is adequate, thus avoiding such a situation.

A review would include checking to be sure other family members or responsible persons know where records are kept and who legal and financial advisers are and how to react them. Each person should know how to contact the individual's or the family's attorney, banker, broker, insurance agent, employer, creditors, and debtors.

Reviewing the state of your records would also include determining which records are vital and should be protected, which are important but replaceable, and which can be thrown away to save space. A good rule of thumb might be to put what ever would be impossible, costly, or troublesome to replace in a safe place, such as a safety deposit box. Using such a guide, then, the following records normally would need to be protected.

Family birth and death certificates. Although these can be replaced, it might take several weeks to do so.

Marriage certificates, divorce or other legal papers relating to dissolution of marriage, adoption papers, citizenship records, service papers, and any other government or court-recorded document.

Wills or carbon copies of wills. If the original will is kept in the safe of the attorney who prepared it, one carbon copy should be in a safe place and another should be kept where it will be readily available.

Certificates for securities. These are non-negotiable until signed by the owner, but replacement involves cost and delay. If they are not kept by the broker, they should be stored in a safe place.

Government bonds. These can be replaced at no cost, but it can take several months. Papers showing proof of ownership, such as real estate deeds, other mortgage papers, important contracts, car titles, leases, notes, and any special papers such as patents and copyrights.

A detailed household inventory. This is a list of important items, their purchase dates, prices, descriptions (model numbers, brands, etc.), and often photographs. Such an inventory can be invaluable in making insurance claims after fires or burglaries and in assisting police recover any stolen items. Keep one copy in a safe place, one at home, and perhaps give one of your insurance company.

You would likely want to keep the following records handy as long as they are relevant, but in general they need not be kept in a safety deposit box or other special place: income tax returns, education and employment records, bank books, Social Security cards, guarantees, copies of insurance policies (copies are available from the company), and cancelled checks (copies are available at most banks).

Any cancelled checks or receipts that may be needed for income tax purposes or as proof of payment of consumer installment debts, however, should be readily available.

For assistance with a consumer problem, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or the local Better Business Bureau.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Wrong Victim

One winter's day, Art, a teenager, was amusing himself by hurling snowballs at passing cars. One snowball missed its target and struck a pedestrian across the street, injuring his eye. Could Art be held liable for assault and battery?

In a court hearing, his lawyer said no. "Art had no wrongful purpose toward this man," went the lawyer's argument. "Hitting him was purely accidental."

However, the court ordered Art to pay damages. The court invoked the doctrine of "transferred intent," by which an original wrongful intent—in this case, the desire to hit the passing car—was transferred to the accidental consequences.

This widely recognized doctrine is based on the law's reluctance to let a wrongdoer get off scot-free. It has even been applied in a case of mistaken identity. Thus:

A man sneaked up behind another man, thinking he was an old antagonist, and bashed him on the head. Actually, the victim happened to be a total stranger. But that didn't help the first man when he was haled into court afterward to face a damage claim. Applying the doctrine of transferred intent, the court had no trouble finding him liable.

On the other hand, the doctrine will not apply if there was no wrongful purpose in the first place.

Suppose, for instance, that a woman who is being chased by a mugger throws a rock in his direction. And suppose the rock misses the mugger and hits an innocent bystander.

Under these circumstances, the woman could not be held responsible for injury to the bystander, because she had acted in legitimate self defense. With no wrongful intent to begin with, there would be nothing that could be transferred into legal liability.

RECIPE

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

An old tradition of the South is that "Hopping John" eaten on New Year's Day will bring good luck. It's made of cow peas and rice, and on the first day of the year.

Hopping John

- 1 c raw cow peas (dried field peas)
- 4 c water
- 2 t salt
- 1 c raw rice
- 4 slices bacon
- 1 medium onion, chopped

Boil peas in salted water until tender. Add peas and 1 cup of the pea liquid to rice, add crisp bacon, grease and onion, which were cooked together. Put in rice steamer or double-boiler and cook for 1 hour until rice is thoroughly done.

Macaroni, Ham Au Gratin

- Cooked Macaroni
- Chopped cooked ham
- Medium white sauce
- Buttered bread crumbs
- Grated cheese

Put a layer of cooked macaroni in a greased baking dish, then a layer of ham and a layer of white sauce. Repeat the process. Cover top with grated cheese. Bake in an oven 375 degrees until thoroughly heated and browned.

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a short look at the new year this week.

Dear editor:

I had intended to fill this letter this week with my predictions for 1975 but gave up when I got through reading all the predictions by the experts. As I understand them, some say 1975 will be worse than 1974, some say better, and the rest have their fingers crossed. The one I liked best was the expert on television who squared his shoulders and said we'll be all right if we adopt a program that will stop a recession and whip inflation, but time ran out before he could say what the program is. Runner-up was the one who said the big automobile companies have got to stop making cars and switch to bicycles.

At the heart of our troubles most of them agreed, is oil and the way the Arab nations are pricing it so high they'll eventually own all the money in the world.

This is probably true and I have figured out why Arab oil is so high. I'll explain. Have you noticed that when an Arab leader appears on Television invariably he speaks English fluently? I got to checking into this and found that most of them got their higher education in America.

That's where the trouble started. American universities thought they were over here learning our culture when all the time they were learning how to charge for something somebody else can't get along without. They may have made good grades in American history but what they were fascinated with was seeing how companies can put a high price on sugar and get by with it, or how to buy meat cheap on the hoof and sell it high in the supermarket, or how to get $100 a day for hospital room.

They took one look at all the cars and filling stations over here and said, "There's no future in sand and camels; oil is where the money is."

What's Washington hung on? Why isn't it sending American farmers to study a while in Arab universities? Arabs have to eat, the same as we have to drive cars. Yours faithfully, J.A.

STATE CAPITAL
Highlights
AND Sidelights
 by Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — While the legislature is getting set for action and inaugural activities are being planned, Gov.
 Dolph Briscoe is faced with hundreds of important decisions on fitting the right men (and women) into jobs.
 Within the first two months of the year, he must make appointments or reappointments to about 600 board, agency and commission places where terms of members are expiring.
 Before 1975 is over, he will have placed more than 1,700 people in major and minor jobs.
 During his four-year term, he will make enough such appointments to "control" every appointive state agency.
 That is to say, the people he selects will be in a majority of seats on the regulatory, licensing and administrative bodies.
 Nearly all the gubernatorial appointments are subject to confirmation by the State Senate.
 Three University of Texas system board of regents members will come to the end of their present terms January 13. The most controversial of the three,
 Frank Erwin Jr. of Austin, has stated he does not seek another term. Jenkins Garrett of Fort Worth and Dan C. Williams of Dallas also face expiring terms.
 State Highway Commissioner D. C. Greer's term expires February 15. Briscoe has stated he will reappoint Joe Christie chairman of the State Insurance Board January 31.
 Other agencies with powers reaching into all segments of economic life of the state have vacancies coming up which Briscoe will fill early this year.

NEW PRIMARY PUSHED
 —A strong push for establishment of a Texas presidential preference primary in 1976 (and thereafter) is anticipated in the legislature
 this year.
 Some writers have sought to link it with the White House aspirations of U.S.
 Sen. Lloyd Bentsen. The senator is expected to announce his candidacy soon, and, of course, wants to make a strong showing in his home state. Opinion is divided as to whether he could win more delegates in a primary or the traditional convention system.
 At any rate, at least four legislators already have indicated they will offer bills to provide for selection of Texas presidential and vice presidential nominating delegates in a May primary.
 They feel the time is ripe to make the change, and note polls indicate support for preference primaries.

INVESTMENTS HURT
 —State investments in stock, like those of individuals, are taking a beating, at least on paper.
 If state-owned stocks in the major Texas investment funds had to be dumped at today's market values, losses could be half a billion dollars.
 However, the officials who manage these funds emphasize they are under no pressure to cash in the chips, and that they will ride out the market plunge without ill effects overall.

TOURISM STILL HEALTHY
 —There were fewer tourists in 1974, but those who came stayed longer, spent more and drove over Texas only slightly less extensively.
 Only 12 of 50 reporting tourist attractions actually had more business last year than the year before.
 More Texans vacationed within their home state in 1974, which helped offset the reduced number of out-of-state visitors.

AG OPINIONS — Contributions to the Austin Inaugural Committee for paying expenses of inauguration ceremonies are not subject to campaign reporting provisions of the election code, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.
 Hill's opinion concluded the persons or corporations who make them do not have to register as lobbyists either, unless their contributions were made "to influence legislation."
 On another recent opinion, Hill held Texas veterans are entitled to exemption from tuition and fees when enroll-

DANGEROUS PLANT EX-PANDING — Hydrilla, an aquatic plant capable of choking waterways, has been discovered in three locations in Texas.
 The plant was first found in Lake Livingston, later at the San Marcos fish hatchery on the San Marcos River and then in a Cameron County irrigation canal south of Los Fresnos.

SHORT SNORTS
 A legislative committee recommended establishment of a Commission on jail standards with authority to close sub-standard jails.
 Governor Briscoe reappointed B. F. Block of Amarillo and Murray D. McKinley Sr. of Pearland to the Texas Water Well Drillers
 Board, and named Tommy C.
 Bussell of Houston and James Taylor Virdell of Llano to the same board.
 Nearly 95 per cent of all housing units sold in Texas for under $15,000 are mobile homes.
 Establishment of a State Employees Personnel Agency received gubernatorial endorsement.
 Richard W. Hernandez of Houston and Lynn M. Moak

of Austin are new assistant state comptrollers for intergovernmental relations and program evaluation and research.

Long-Buried Book By Aide Riding With Stonewall Jackson Is Find

By Edward H. Sims

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- As a military historian to some degree myself, I say without reservation at the outset that Henry Kyd Douglas' book, "I Rode With Stonewall" released in November by Ballantine in paperback form) is the best Civil War book in years.

Douglas was a resident of Maryland when war clouds gathered, was practicing law in St. Louis at the outbreak. He had attended college in Pennsylvania and received a law degree at the University of Virginia. He was born at Shepherdstown, on the Virginia side of the Potomac and fought for the South. He thought slavery a curse but as a lawyer he had no doubt states had the right to secede from the Union. When Virginia seceded—in April of 1861—he came back from St. Louis and was assigned to the staff of General Thomas Jonathan Jackson.

His memoirs are fascinating because they give a rare inside picture of the men and events of the times. He personally knew well the countryside over which Jackson would operate during the war; he knew the prominent families of Virginia and Maryland and southern Pennsylvania.

He wrote his memoirs immediately after the war but didn't publish them. He re-wrote them in 1899. Yet they remained unpublished for another forty years. Finally a nephew moved to have them published on the eve of World War II; they were then published by the University of North Carolina press. They caused a sensation. Most Americans, however, have not yet had access to them. Fawcett Publications and now Ballantine have made them available in inexpensive, paperback form.

Douglas' fascinating story begins with the opening battle of the war, as a member of Stonewall Jackson's staff. He recalls how Jackson thought the South's opening victory at Manassas was bad for the new nation; it gave the South a sense of false security and greatly aroused the North. (Jackson's troops were decisive in that battle and it was at Manassas (First Bull Run) that he was given the nickname of "Stonewall" by General B.E. Bee of South Carolina—mortally wounded in the fight.)

Douglas knew all the colorful figures of the times—Turner Asby, who died at 34, Jeb Stuart, killed at 31, Stephen Ramseur at 27, John Pelham at 25, John Pegram at 23, Sandy Pendleton at 24, etc. He was with Jackson in the classic struggle at Chancellorsville when Jackson was killed by his own men by mistake.

What makes "I Rode With Stonewall" so valuable is that Douglas was able to describe these leaders, and many on the other side, with color, accuracy and perception—from personal experience.

Douglas knew the leading families of the day, was obviously a ladies' man, and his social experiences are a book in themselves. It is moving to read of the last winter of the war, with the Confederacy hard-pressed and its fight now hopeless—how the surviving greats almost all were being married. Many left widows within weeks or months.

Jackson's social events included such greats as General Robert E. Lee, whom he also describes. He was wounded and captured at Gettysburg, tells how well he was treated in a private home near there. He was a prisoner on Lake Erie that winter (1863-64), was later exchanged, and returned to fight again in the spring of 1864 in the confrontation between Grant and Lee

March Of Dimes

The annual fund-raising drive through the March of Dimes is now in progress. The worthiness of this cause cannot be doubted. It started when Franklin Delano Roosevelt was President of the United States, and has continued since then.

These drives resulted in the Salk and Sabin vaccines being developed through the support of the March of Dimes funds. Polio, since the development of the vaccines, has been almost controlled through vaccinations. The March of Dimes has branched out into many other activities besides polio, and much has been accomplished in the area of birth defects.

It should be noted that the March of Dimes is not a member of the United Fund, and is maintained independently of the drive conducted by the United Fund. This is the choice of the March of Dimes itself.

Year-End Crop Report Shows Cotton Down, Citrus Down, Sorghum Down, Soybeans Down; Corn, Pecans, Rice Increase.

AGRICULTURE 1974 will be remembered in a variety of ways, and for production of major crops the year will show declines, some significant ones in cotton, sorghum, soybeans, and citrus.

Texas, the number one cotton producing state in the nation, will show a decline in 1974 production of 1,873,000 bales compared to 1973. Yield is expected to show only a 280-pound average compared with a record 431 pound per acre in 1973.

Abandonment from all causes is expected to reach 800,000 acres, which is the largest abandonment since 1956. It is four times more acres lost than occurred in 1973.

Along with a cut in production came a cut in demand for the crop as well. Due to economic conditions generally, there was for most of the year little or no demand for cotton in spite of the decline in production. Reduced production usually means higher prices. Economists generally are hoping a turn-around for cotton may be in the second or third quarter of 1975.

SORGHUM PRODUCTION in Texas during 1974 is expected to be about 130,000,000 bushels less than 1973. Texas is the nation's leading state in sorghum production. Yield for 1974 is expected to average about five bushels per acre less than in 1973.

Although prices did show significant increases in 1974 for sorghum, producers were also hard hit by sharply rising costs of production. An increase in sorghum acreage is now expected in Texas in 1975 by most economists.

CITRUS PRODUCERS are also facing a downturn in production for 1974. The 1974-75 citrus crop is forecast at 13.3 million boxes by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This is 23 per cent below the production of the previous season.

Grapefruit production is expected to total 7,800,000 boxes, down 23 per cent from a year ago.

Early and mid-season oranges are forecast at 3,800,000 boxes, down 14 per cent from a year ago.

Valencia oranges are set at 1,900,000 boxes, down 21 per cent from a year ago.

SOYBEAN PRODUCTION in Texas is down 24 per cent from a year ago. Most of the state's soybean production is on the High Plains. Total production is now set at 6,500,000 bushels. Yield is expected to average 26 bushels per acre.

PEANUT PRODUCTION in Texas is apparently going to show a decline also from 1973, only it will be slight. Peanut production is estimated at 469,650,000 pounds for 1974 compared to 471,225,000 pounds in 1973.

On the brighter side in Texas crop production for 1974: Pecans are almost double from the 1973 level. The 1974 projection is 38,000,000 pounds compared to only 20,000,000 pounds in 1973.

Corn production will be up 15 per cent over 1973 in Texas. Yield is expected to average 90 bushels per acre with total production for this year now set at 69,750,000 bushels.

Rice production in 1974 is expected to be about 5,000,000 hundredweight above 1973 levels. Yield is expected to average 4,494 pounds per acre.

Weather conditions over most of the state at year's end shows moisture supply adequate. With good underground moisture, Texas farmers are hoping for a better crop yield in 1975.
