Gas bill advances to House

WASHINGTON (AP) - An emergency measure that would give President Carter authority to ration scarce supplies of natural gas could become law today.

The Senate approved the natural gas bill 91 to 2 Monday night and sent to the House, where leaders were hoping to bring it to a vote and send it to the President's desk today.

The Senate fought off attempts to amend the measure and approved it in nearly the same form the President equested last Wednesday

It would give Carter the authority to most because of abnormally cold weather and would free some gas from federal price controls through

Aug. 1.
House leaders were said to be considering taking up the Senatepassed bill today instead of their own version. The House version, approved 21 to 17 by the Commerce Committee on Monday, includes an amendment setting a new price limit for gas bought from the unregulated intrastate market during the emergency period

The committee sent the bill to the floor under a procedure that bars

further amendments and requires a two-thirds vote by House members.

Some congressional leaders fear that if the House approves the committee version, then a day or two will be lost before the bill can be sent to the President while the different versions are reconciled, possibly by a House-Senate conference committee.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., said that House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill suggested to him that if the Senate amendments - as it did - then the

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., the chief House sponsor of the bill, said he felt that Congress could still get the bill to Carter this week if the House votes on its own version. In any event, Dingell said he does not believe the House committee amendment substantially alters the thrust of the legislation.

The amendment would put a ceiling on the price that interstate pipelines could pay for the more-expensive gas in intrastate markets - gas now

Schultze says size of rebate may increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national cold wave may cost Americans up to $5 billion in additional heating bills and that could make it necessary for President Carter to increase his proposal of a $50-per-person tax rebate, says the top White House economic adviser. Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, told Carter and his Cabinet on Monday that the weather is hitting the public in the pocketbook like "a federal excise tax.

Consumers will pay at least $2 billion extra in fuel costs to stave off the winter's extreme cold, and possibly as much as $5 billion if the abnormally frigid weather is prolonged, he said.

Schultze held open the possibility of increasing tax rebates if the winter worsens. But he told reporters, "at this stage the package still looks right, but obviously we will have to keep flexible.'

Carter sent his two-year, $31.2billion economic stimulus program to Congress on Monday, saying it would 'set the stage for substantial growth in the years ahead." The bulk of this year's $15.5-billion program would go to allot the $50 rebates to virtually all Americans this year at a cost of $11.4 billion.

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal was called before the House Appropriations Committee today to answer questions about Carter's plan.

One economic forecasting firm is warning that if the cold wave continues, it might wipe out nearly all of

Michael K. Egans, president of Chase Econometrics Associates, said Monday that if abnormally cold weather continues through March. consumers would be forced to pay $8 billion in added heating bills for the first and second quarters, and $7 billion in extra food costs to cover higher prices caused by weatherdamaged crops.

That would be "a dead loss to the economy and represent a $15 billion decline in aggregate national income," he said.

The energy crunch may intensify pressure on Congress to increase or alter the Carter stimulus package, which includes permanent business and individual tax cuts of $2.4 billion and $1.7 billion for public works and jobs programs this year. The allotment for the jobs portion would rise to $7.6 billion next year.

AFL-CIO President George Meany wants Congress to reject Carter's "timid approach" to stimulating the economy. The AFL-CIO is lobbying for its own one-year, $30 billion stimulus proposal weighted toward jobs. It would include $10 billion for public works and no tax rebates.

Meany, in testimony prepared for the House Public Works Committee today, said Carter's plan would generate only 142,000 jobs directly, while the AFL-CIO proposal would produce 700,000 direct on-site jobs, plus 350,000 to 700,000 more jobs in supply industries.

But Carter warned in sending his plan to Congress: "To force more the effect of Carter's first-year money, faster, into the system would economic stimulation program of risk poor administration.

Quest for Texas' fuel could prove fruitless

If a bill to ease the natural gas shortage in nonproducing states becomes law, interstate pipeline representatives can be expected to attempt to purchase Texas natural gas - but indications are they may not be successful.

The bill, passed by the Senate Monday and to be considered by the House today, would allow interstate pipelines to purchase intrastate gas at a price competitive with existing intrastate prices, Ron Smith, legislative counsel on energy affairs to U.S. Sen. John Tower, said.

But there is no provision requiring the intrastate pipelines to sell the gas, he said. An amendment which would have added such a requirement was defeated on the Senate Monday.

Smith said he does not expect such a provision to be added in the House. Under the bill, the President would have the authority to allocate supplies of interstate gas, but not intrastate gas, Smith said. The President could, however, order an intrastate pipeline to transport gas between two interstate pipelines if necessary or order the intrastate pipeline to construct an extension to transport the gas, Smith

He said he does not believe those who seek to buy Texas gas under the new law will have much success. "It's been a cold winter in Texas and in all the producing states. They're not likely to find very much (gas available)," he said.

Although the Senate bill contains no price ceiling on what the interstate pipelines could pay for gas during the period covered, the President would be able to determine provisions of the contract "including fair and equitable prices," Smith said

He said the President plans to set a flexible ceiling of between $2 and $2.25 per thousand cubic feet, about the price of gas within producing states. (The present interstate ceiling is $1.44

Midland cafe owner, 79, dies after illness

Mrs. Agnes Fitzsimmons, 79, a longtime Midland cafe owner, died this morning in a Midland hospital after an illness.

Rosary will be read at 7 p.m. Wednesday at Newnie W. Ellis Chapel. Funeral mass will be at 11 a.m. Thursday in St. Ann's Catholic Church, with the Rev. Adolph Kaler, officiating. Burial will be in St. Patrick's Cemetery in Eau Clair, Wis., directed by Prock Funeral Home.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons was born May 16, 1897, in Eau Clair and moved to Waukegan, Ill., in 1918. From there she moved to Wichita Falls and then to Olney, where she began her cafe business. She moved from Olney in 1935 to Midland, where she opened Agnes' Cafe, which she operated until she retired from active business in 1975.

Her first cafe here was located in the 100 block of West Wall Street. The business later was moved to a site on South Baird Street near where the Federal Building now is located. When the Federal Building was erected, Mrs. Fitzsimmons moved her cafe to a drive-in type restaurant at the corner of Wall Street and Andrews Highway, where it remained until she retired

Mrs. Fitzsimmons was the recipient of the Midland Exchange Club's Golden Award for 1965.

"Agnes has become a legend in her lifetime," District Judge Perry D. Pickett said in presenting the award

"Occasionally in the course of human events a person comes along with a genuine compassion for the lonely, for the forgotten, for the poor, and for the distressed and for the handicapped," Pickett said.

Pickett added that Mrs. Fitzsimmons took an active interest in Alcoholics Anonymous and hired many handicapped persons and probationers from his district court. In 1965, Mrs. Fitzsmimmons financed the construction of the steel and masonry entrance to the Midland Pet Cemetery. She had extensive real estate holdings in Midland.

Construction to begin on new private school

By LINDA SCHAFFRINA

Construction will begin this week on a building to house a new private school in Midland.

Oaklawn Park Baptist Church is making plans to open a school for grades kindergarten through 10 or 12 in the fall of 1977, the Rev. David Piearcy, pastor, said.

The school will be housed in an addition to the church at 3001 N. A St., Mr. Piearcy said.

The curriculum at the school will be "accelerated Christian education." Instruction will be individualized with students learning at their own pace, he said.

"Everything is going to be taught from a Christian standpoint, whether it be science or math or the creation of the earth," Mr. Piearcy said.

Teaching manners and "dress standards such as I had when I was coming up in the public schools" will be a part of the school's policy, he

A 1970 graduate of Midland High School, he atteded The University of Texas of the Permian Basin prior to becoming a law enforcement officer. he will be a highway patrolman in Fabens, located southeast of El Paso.

Morality and patriotism will be stressed, he said.

Planning for the school started in October, when Mr. Piearcy came to Midland. He said the prospect of implementation of an elementary school desegregation plan did not influence the planning.

"I'm sure the desegregation plan will give us a boost but that's not our purpose," he said.

administrator for the school will be chosen this month. Tuition rates have not been determined.

Classes set for macrame

The Midland Parks and Recreation Department will offer two classes in macrame, one for persons age 11 through 18, and another for adults, in the parks department gym at 300 Baldwin St.

The youth class will have four Monday sessions from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., starting Feb. 7. The adult class will also meet Mondays from 7 p.m. to

The youth class is for the beginner and will include basic knotting techniques and macrame jewelry, while the adult course will involve advanced techniques and creative

The fees are $5 for youth and $7 for adults. Registrations are at Midland Parks and Recreation office.

ODESSA - A record spring enrollment has been set at Odessa College, with 3,649 students enrolled.

Late registration ended Friday for the term that began Jan. 12 and will end May 14.

The old record was set last spring when more than 3,500 students registered.

Nash said he does not know exactly what effect the legislation would have on Pioneer's operation but he believes it will have little effect so long as a requirement to sell to interstate customers is not included.

Smith said there are several provisions to the bill which would affect natural gas producers. These deal with contract provisions which would impede implementation of the supply for our customers but we just have an 11-year supply," Nash said.

It would make compliance to presidential allocation of gas a defense in breach of contract suits, Smith said

It also would void so-called "Lovaca clauses" which prohibit intrastate pipelines from selling gas to interstate pipelines, he said.

Another provision of the bill attempts to make inoperative the "socalled 'most favored nations' provisions" in contracts which automatically increase the price to the producer when the purchasing pipeline or another pipeline in the area pays higher prices, he said. That provision of the bill would prevent Texas prices from rising as a result of emergency purchases by interstate customers at substantially higher prices, Smith said.

Texas International Airlines will begin a half-price flight to Dallas-Fort Worth tonight.

The Civil Aeronautics Board approved the reduced fare flights Monday.

Passengers on the 7:25 p.m. flight to D-FW will be able to travel coach class for $24 one-way under the new fare schedule. A return flight from D-FW to Midland Regional Air Terminal at 8:30 a.m. also will have the $24 oneway fare available to coach passengers.

The reduced fare flights are a 12month experiment approved by the CAB to see if the lower prices will increase traffic on flights that previously carried few passengers.

The Midland-to-D-FW flight will be available each day except Saturday, a company spokesman said.

Other half-fare flights approved by the CAB include TI flights between Albuquerque and Los Angeles, Austin and D-FW, Denver and Salt Lake City and Houston and New Orleans.

Mondale vows Japanese aid

TOKYO (AP) - Vice President Walter F. Mondale ended his 10-day, 22,000-mile fact-finding trip to Western Europe and Japan today, vowing the United States "will remain an Asian Pacific power."

Mondale told a news conference he emphasized to Prime Minister Takeo Fukuda that the Carter administration "does not intend to turn its back on Asia."

"Our alliance with Japan remains central to our policy in this vast and important part of the world," the vice president said. "We will preserve a balanced and flexible military strength in the Pacific, and we will continue our interest in Southeast

Mondale left for Washington after a third meeting with Fukuda during which they discussed trade matters and President Carter's campaign pledge to withdraw the 33,000 U.S. ground troops in South Korea.

The troops will be pulled out only after "close consultation and cooperation with Japan and South Korea." said Mondale. He added that no timetable has been set.

Meanwhile, a former Japane. e cabinet member, Chuji Kunno, returned from a visit to North Korea and reported that North Korean President Kim Il Sung considered Carter's talk of troop withdrawal 'heartening." Kunno said Kim also proposed that the United States and North Korea convert the Korean armistice agreement to a peace agreement and suggested opening a dialogue to improve relations

"In all aspects I think this trip has been a success and I feel very good about it," Mondale said of his 10-day tour to Brussels, Bonn, West Berlin, Rome, London, Paris and Tokyo.

The trip has been "very helpful in establishing immediately and dramatically the close cooperative relationships we need with our friends," he told the news conference.

He said his meetings with leaders of America's allies had "gone far ... toward developing a consensus on what will be involved" at the third summit conference of major non-Communist industrial nations, to be held in the spring.

The meeting, expected in May or June in Europe, will bring together Carter and the government chiefs of Japan, West Germany, Britain, France, Italy and Canada.

Citizens for the Republic, based in Santa Monica. Calif., is being founded with campaign funds left over from Reagan's unsuccessful quest for the Republican presidential nomination.

With a substantial bankroll, Reagan at the helm, and his campaign chieftains deciding where the money goes, the new organization will be significant in shaping the course of the GOP.

Organizational papers filed with the Federal Election Commission list Reagan as the chairman of Citizens for the Republic, and Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada as chairman of its steering committee.

Laxalt was chairman of Citizens for Reagan, the presidential campaign committee for the former vehicle for a presidential campaign in 1980, for California governor. Under federal election laws, the Reagan or for a candidate he and his allies want ld Reagan organization simply changed its name and function, and now can invest its funds in the campaigns of 1978 candidates chosen by its leaders.

Lyn Nofziger, a Reagan campaign aide now serving as executive director of Citizens for the Republic, said the money will be used only in behalf of Republicans. "We intend to be a Republican WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration assured Congress today that the President's tax-cut and job-creation plan can boost the economy without aggravating inflation.

"We do not expect it to cause any significant increase in the rate of inflation," Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal told the House Appropriations Committee That assurance was one side of the two-part message delivered by Blumenthal, Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and Bert Lance, director of the Office of Management and Budget. The other part was a caution that any significant increase in the size of the $31.2-billion, twoyear economic package would invite waste and Blumenthal said the administration is not expecting a big bulge in inflation because "the present high unemployment rate and the substantial unused industrial capacity — still approaching 20 per cent indicate inflation may increase later this year but not because of the Carter program. Because retail food prices rose comparatively little last year and cold weather is destroying new crops, there may be significant increases in food prices, he said

On the other side of Capitol Hill, Senate Republicans put the finishing touches on their own economic proposal - featuring permanent individual tax cuts instead of the $50-per-person instant rebates proposed by Carter.

The cost of the GOP plan, measured in revenue lost by the government, would be somewhat less than the price tag of the Carter proposal. But Republicans say their plan would mean more jobs for Americans and a sustained bolstering of the economy instead of the one-shot stimulus sought by Carter. Carter formally handed his plan to Congress on Monday, calling it a realistic way to deal with unemployment without worsening inflation. The centerpiece of Carter's program is $11.4 billion worth of tax rebates and special payments to Social Security beneficiaries, at the rate of $50 each for most Americans. The aim is to get that money into the spending stream as quickly as possible

Private sector task

The Washington-based Council of State Chambers of Commerce has urged the Carter administration to place less enphasis on the creation of jobs by the federal government and more on stimulating the growth of jobs in the private sector.

This seems to be the general feeling in Texas, and it is encouraging to note that the highly respected Council of State Chambers is of like opinion.

With greater emphasis given to removing disincintives to job-creating capital investment, namely the lack of confidence on the part of business as well as the bias against investment in the tax laws, the council said receipts would be greater and both outlays and the deficit would be less.

These points were made in an analysis of the Ford budget for 1978 and amendments anticipated from President Jimmy Carter. The analysis was written by Eugene F. Rinta, director of research, and distributed to the 32-member state and regional chambers of commerce, as well as to members of Congress.

Rinta, seeing no likelihood that tax reductions similar to the Ford proposals will be enacted this year, said receipts in 1978 should be materially higher than the $393 billion budget estimate and may exceed $400 billion.

On the other hand, he pointed out, the 1978 outlay effect of the Carter economic stimulus proposals will be to add several billions. Still more billions will be added by the likely failure of President Carter to recommend or Congress to approve any significant part of the $12.4 billion outlay reductions proposed in the Ford budget for 1978.

As a result, Rinta concluded that outlays in 1978 can be expected to exceed the $440 billion budget estimate by as much as $15 billion and possibly more. He anticipated a deficit in the 1978 budget in the area of $55 billion. In the present 1977 budget Rinta estimated the deficit at $62-65 billion.

Rinta found that the most striking fact about the change in federal spending priorities over the 10-year period since 1968 is the rapid growth of direct benefits to individuals, either in cash or in kind, and the relative decline in defense spending. In three categories where most of the outlays involve direct benefits to individuals, that is, health, income security, and veterans services and benefits, increased expenditures in the 1968-73 period totaled $53.5 billion, or 71 per cent of the total net spending increase in all functioning categories during this period.

In the 1973-78 period these same three direct benefit categories account for $101.6 billion of increased spending. This is 52 per cent of the total outlays increase in all budget categories during the five years since 1973.

As a proportion of total spending, Rinta said domestic nondefense program outlays have risen from 46.9 per cent in 1968 to 60.9 per cent in 1973 and a budgeted 65.1 per cent in 1978.

The three direct benefit categories of health, income security, and veterans services and benefits accounted for 27.3 per cent of total budget outlays in 1968, 39.9 per cent in 1973, and account for 45 per cent of the total 1978 budget.

In comparison, national defense expenditures declined from 43.1 per cent of total spending in 1968 to 29 per cent in 1973 and, although increased substantially since 1973, the budgeted 1978 defense outlays represent only 24.6 per cent of the budget.

Weather paranoia and results thereof

WASHINGTON — People who talk about the weather are now getting paranoid about it. They keep looking at the TV weather maps and they aren't laughing any more at the jolly men and women who are bringing them bad weather news.

I know this for a fact. I was sitting in the living room with Seltzer and the weatherman said, "Well, I guess you folks out there are wondering when it's going to warm up. Would you believe things are going to get worse before they get better?"

"I'll kill the SOB," Seltzer said, as he made a move toward the screen.

I stopped him. "It's not his fault that the news is bad."

"Why does he have to grin when he's telling it? Cronkite doesn't grin when he tells you about an Amtrak train derailing in New Jersey."

The weatherman was standing up in front of a screen.

"Let's take a look at the satellite map. This white stuff here means it is cloudy all over the eastern part of the United States which means freezing temperatures, snow, sleet and icy winds. Over here in Southern Calif., where there are no white spots, it means they're having sunny weather with temperatures in the 80s."

"He's a sadist," Seltzer says." He gets his kicks, pointing to white spots on satellite maps."

"It's his job," I said. "He doesn't like the white spots any more than you do."

The weatherman continued. "Or-

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Nixon's tax audit was blocked

By JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — The story can now be told how the White House, even after the Watergate coverup had been fully exposed, continued to use Watergate tactics in an attempt to block a 1974 audit of Richard Nixon's tax returns.

Despite the White House intervention, the Internal Revenue Service went ahead with the audit. But the charges against Nixon were strangely limited to simple negligence. A fraud penalty not only would have forced him out of office months earlier but would have cost him an extra $148,080.97 in back taxes.

Outgoing Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald Alexander acknowledged that the White House pressured him in 1974 to quash the Nixon tax audit. He was joined by then-Treasury Secy. George Shultz in resisting the White House pressure, Alexander told us.

We checked with Shultz, who confirmed Alexander's account. "We all wanted to do the right thing," Shultz recalled. Neither would discuss the details of the White House intervention. Alexander said only that he expected to be fired for refusing to stop the audit. Both agreed that the political pressure ended when Gerald Ford became president.

A year earlier, the Internal Revenue Service delicately audited Nixon's tax returns and found them to be in perfect order. But press exposes and a congressional investigation persuaded the IRS to conduct a second audit in 1974.

This revealed that Nixon had deeded one-third of his vice presidential papers, developed at the taxpayers' expense, back to the taxpayers. In return for this gift, he claimed a $576.000 tax deduction

There was one hitch; the law permitting tax deductions for personal papers had expired. But White House aide Edward Morgan got around this obstacle by illegally backdating the gift.

It was a clear case of fraud, which normally would have been brought

It was a clear case of fraud, which normally would have been brought against the errant taxpayer. But Taxpayer Nixon claimed he was unaware of the backdating.

The two attorneys who prepared the fraudulent returns, Herbert Kalnbach and Frank DeMarco, swore they explained the tax figures carefully to Nixon. They spent about 30 minutes on April 10, 1970, going over the returns with him. Nixon carefully checked each page before signing the forms, they testified. For that matter, he had started out his law career as a tax attorney.

Nixon's tax documents also show that he took a personal interest in claiming every possible deduction. He contended, according to the documents, that "a public man does very little of a personal nature." Therefore, he instructed his aides to count all entertainment and gifts as "business" deductions.

But the fraud charges were brought against the unfortunate Morgan, who pleaded guilty. Nixon was merely nailed for negligence. He paid an assessment of $284,706.16 for back taxes for the years 1970 to '71 and 1971 to '72. The IRS informed him that he also owed another $148,080.97 in back taxes for 1969. But the 1969 assessment didn't really have to be paid because the statute of limitations had run out.

On April 3, 1974, Nixon solemnly promised to pay up all his back taxes, including the 1969 bill. Yet he still hasn't paid the $148,080.97.

Inside sources tell us that the former president should have been charged with fraud. They suspect the White House pressure, though it failed to block the tax audit, may have led to downgrading the fraud charge. Both Alexander and Shultz insisted, however, that they resisted all White House political pressure.

Footnote: We have been unable to get any conment from Richard Nixon.

KOREANS vs. CUBANS — Pentagon officials once discussed shipping South Korean troops to Angola to counter the Cuban forces, who backed the triumphant pro-Soviet faction.

Intelligence reports claimed that Fidel Castro had sent his Cuban troops to Angola to advance Soviet influence. According to the reports, the Soviets completely financed and directed the Cuban operation.

Some Pentagon officials suggested that the United States could play the same game and recommended ferrying over South Korean troops to fight the Cubans. The South Koreans proved in Vietnam that they are fierce jungle fighters.

At the lower levels, there is still talk of using South Koreans in Africa if the Soviets continue to import Cubans to fight for them.

Intelligence reports indicate, meanwhile, that the Cubans have failed to defeat Jonas Savignbi's non-Communist guerrillas in Angola. The Cubans reportedly are concentrating their strength in the key centers. They have made themselves unpopular, it is also reported, by stealing food from

The guerrillas have been able to use the "Cuban occupation," therefore, as a battlecry. In many ways, Angola is turning into Fidel Castro's Vietnam.

"Aha!" Seltzer shouted. "It's Canada again. How long are we going to take that stuff from Canada? Why don't we tell 'em 'one more cold front from you people and we nuke Ottawa."

"It isn't really Canada's fault. The front probably originated in the Arctic and just passed through Canada." "Why does Canada let it pass through?" Seltzer asked. "Tell me

The weather man was still talking.

"I knew it," shouted Seltzer. "The South is sending all its bad weather north. The people down there don't care any more about us than the Canadians."

"The South is suffering, too," I said.
"Good. If they want to originate cold fronts they have it coming to them."

We turned back to the weatherman.

"But what we really have to be concerned about is this low-pressure system over here of warm air meeting this high-pressure system over here of cold air whih could cause precipitation of up to two feet of snow."

Seltzer threw his shoe at the screen.
The weatherman chuckled. "So be prepared to put on your long underwear and your galoshes and if you can start your car up, you'll have better luck than I did this morning."

Had Henry Kissinger lurked in the back of the room, his ears would have burned.

The theme assumes the end of detente, a large assumption. But perhaps the 18 organizations which sponsored this powwow want detente to end. Among the sponsors were the AFL-CIO Executive Council, the American Legion, B'nai Brith and the Catholic War Veterans.

There is a strong current of opposition to the new relationships between the United States and the Soviet Union, detente if you will, wrought by Nixon-Kissinger-Ford in the past eight years. The euphoria of Nixon's initiatives, which helped re-elect him in fateful 1972, has long passed. The Soviet Union is increasingly challenged as to its motives in detente and in the Helsinki accords as well.

while nearly all of the 22 internationally recognized experts on U.S.-Soviet relations took a dismal view of detente, the conference managers were sensible enough to allow some exceptions to be made. After all, there is sanity in the nation that a nuclear war between the two superpowers must be avoided, and that detente might help prevent such a catastrophe.

Jeremy J. Stone was one dissident backer of detente, and he made the observation that "a substantial measure of good relations with powers that have thousands of missiles pointed at us is simple, good sense." Stone believes that perserverance and patience on the part of the United States can work out antagonisms between the super strategic weapons advantages.

But Stone, who is director of the Federation of American Scientists, realistically points out there are Soviet officials who believe detente is only a way station to the eventual defeat of capitalism by socialism, and others who see detente as an exercise in hard-bargaining in order to gain

He also believes that American attempts to force the Soviets to allow more freedom at home are foolish, because such efforts "only strengthen the Soviet impulses toward xenophobic vigilance, internal repression and large defense budgets."

William Colby, former CIA director, argues for detente and a continuation of the SALT talks, providing there is an American commitment to use intelligence to make sure the Soviets live up to their agreements.

"Inspections of their various weapons systems is critical," Colby

said, "and our own intelligence ac-

technical and electronic surveillance but clandestine work as well."

For the most part, though, the

for the most part, though, the featured experts regard detente as a useless, even dangerous, exercise. Britain's Geoffrey Pattie, secretary of the Conservative Party's Defense Committee, declared that world peace will suffer "when the United States starts to fall back and disengage," and he hailed Vice President Walter Mondale's "robust undertaking" in Brussels, meaning Mondale's hawkish commitment to NATO.

Pattie, an authentic Tory, said it is senseless for the West to provide grain and know-how to shield the Russian people from their rulers' incompetence. "Little Red Riding Hood may have been eaten by the wolf," he quipped, "but there is no evidence that she cooked his lunch and paid off his debts before being consumed."

Pepsi-Cola caught hell from Joseph T. Power, president of the Plasterers and Cement Masons Union, for its barter arrangements with Soviets. Sen. Jessie Helms got up and told of his resolution to grant U.S. citizenship to Russian dissident, Alexander Solzhenitsyn, and also cut loose at Carter's amnesty for draft-

Vladimir Maximov, an exiled Russian who edits an anti-Communist paper in Paris, accused a "well-meaning graduate of Harvard" (Kissinger) with creating a "one-sided detente" which can cause "an atmosphere of political hopelessness in the enslaved countries."

Eulogies flow for comedian

LOS ANGELES (AP) - With the future of the popular television series in doubt, actor Jack Albertson urged friends at the funeral of co-star Freddie Prinze not to "mourn his death, rather let us celebrate his life ...

Those emotion-choked words ended a eulogy Monday by Albertson, who appeared in the "Chico and the Man" television series that brought the 22year-old comedian fame. Prinze died Saturday, 33 hours after putting a bullet through his head.

Doors to work slammed in U.S.

By The Associated Press

Winter kept its frigid grasp on the Northeast and Midwest today, and a state of emergency was declared in Buffalo, N.Y., where 12 persons have died in the worst storm in the city's history. An estimated 75 deaths have been blamed on the bitter weather across the nation.

The natural gas shortage caused by freezing weather kept many schools, factories and businesses closed, leaving up to 1.5 million workers off the

Buffalo Mayor Stanley Makowski issued the emergency declaration for his city at 5:30 a.m. CST, banning all but essential vehicular traffic in the city to enable federal and state crews to clear the streets, still clogged by abandoned autos and drifting snow. The forecast included the possibility of several more inches of snow for Buffalo today and wind gusts as high as 40 miles per hour. But the winds were expected to drop to 10 to 20 m.p.h. by tonight.

Makowski said only vehicles carry ing necessary medicine, food, or fuel will be allowed to travel. Violators will be arrested and prosecuted and will be subject to fines and imprisonment, he said.

At least 11 states - including New York - had already ordered emergency measures to deal with the weather and energy crisis.

The federal energy legislation would give Carter authority to divert natural gas to areas where it's most needed and would free some natural gas from federal price controls through Aug. 1.

Industry has been hit the hardest by the gas shortage, and officials in Ohio and Indiana expressed fears of more workers being laid off amid a deepening shortage.

Indiana Employment Security Division Director John F. Coppes said a new cutback announced Monday by the Northern Indiana Public Service Co. could mean layoffs for 100,000. Gov. Otis R. Bowen estimates 50,000-60,000 state residents are out of work and 3,100 firms have been affected by curtailments. Narthern Indiana announced cutbacks to 2,500 more firms

Try for two bites rather than one

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

For success at the bridge table recall the lessons of your childhood. When you can't get the whole apple, settle for a bite; but never settle for one bite if you can get two. Believe it or not, there's a bridge hand to prove all this deep philosophy.

East took the ace of spades and returned a spade to the queen. Now New York expert Harold Feldheim saw that he needed five tricks in clubs and diamonds combined

If declarer lost a finesse to the queen of diamonds, the enemy would knock out the spades on gaining the lead with the ace of clubs. For much the same reason South couldn't afford to lose a trick to the jack of clubs. TRIES BOTH SUITS

Feldheim decided to try for two bites rather than just one. He would cash the king and ace of diamonds in the hope that the queen would drop. If it didn't, he would lead a low club from dummy and make some kind of play for three club tricks.

It was a good idea and had the supreme merit of working. The queen of diamonds did drop, and Feldheim took five diamonds and could then comfortably develop clubs for a total of 11 tricks. When the hand was played in the recent North American tournament in Pittsburgh, many declarers went down by settling for the single bite of a diamond finesse DAILY QUESTION Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-A10873: H-Q102: D-Q9; C-A96. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three spades. This forcing bid promises strong trump support (at least Q-x-x-x) with 13 to 16 points (counting distribution as well as high cards). You have 12 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton and should also count an extra point for length in partner's bid

Mondale told a news conference he emphasized to Prime Minister Takeo Fukuda that the Carter administration "does not intend to turn its back on Asia."

"Our alliance with Japan remains central to our policy in this vast and important part of the world," the vice president said. "We will preserve a balanced and flexible military strength in the Pacific, and we will continue our interest in Southeast

Mondale left for Washington after a third meeting with Fukuda during which they discussed trade matters and President Carter's campaign pledge to withdraw the 33,000 U.S. ground troops in South Korea.

The troops will be pulled out only after "close consultation and cooperation with Japan and South Korea," said Mondale. He added that no timetable has been set.

Meanwhile, a former Japane. e cabinet member, Chuji Kunno, returned from a visit to North Korea and reported that North Korean President Kim Il Sung considered Carter's talk of troop withdrawal "heartening." Kunno said Kim also proposed that the United States and North Korea convert the Korean armistice agreement to a peace agreement and suggested opening a dialogue to improve relations.

"In all aspects I think this trip has been a success and I feel very good about it," Mondale said of his 10-day tour to Brussels, Bonn, West Berlin, Rome, London, Paris and Tokyo.

The trip has been "very helpful in establishing immediately and dramatically the close cooperative relationships we need with our friends," he told the news conference.

He said his meetings with leaders of America's allies had "gone far ... toward developing a consensus on what will be involved" at the third summit conference of major non-Communist industrial nations, to be held in the spring.

The meeting, expected in May or June in Europe, will bring together Carter and the government chiefs of Japan, West Germany, Britain, France, Italy and Canada. Although the first two such summits - in France in 1975 and Puerto Rico last year - were confined to financial and economic matters, Mondale's conversations on his trip made clear that political subjects would also be discussed at the next one.

Longet given time to serve sentence

The Los Angeles Times

ASPEN, Colo. - Claudine Longet was placed on two years' probation Monday and ordered to jail for 30 days "at a time of her choosing" in the shooting death last year of professional skiing champion Vladimir (Spider) Sabich.

She was found guilty of misdemeanor negligent homicide by a District Court jury here two weeks ago. Judge George Lohr said he was permitting her to choose the time she will spend in jail so she can make sure her three children have proper care in her absence. But he said it must be served on consecutive days within the next seven months.

He said he rejected straight probation for Miss Longet, a slightly-built French singer and actress and ex-wife of singer Andy Williams, because that would have "unduly deprecated the seriousness of the offense and undermined respect for the tax cuts

By JIM LUTHER

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate Republicans are calling for an economic-stimulus program that features permanent individual tax cuts instead of the $50-per-person instant rebates proposed by President

The cost of the GOP plan, measured in revenue lost by the government, would be somewhat less than the $31.2 billion two-year price tag on the Carter proposal. And Republicans say their plan would mean more jobs for Americans and a sustained bolstering of the economy instead of the oneshot stimulus sought by Carte Final details of the package were to be considered today by the conference of the 38 Senate Republicans, even as Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal was testifying before the House Appropriations Committee about Carter's plan.

Carter formally handed his plan to Congress on Monday, calling it a realistic way to deal with unemployment without worsening inflation.

The centerpiece of Carter's program is $11.4 billion worth of tax rebates and special payments to Social Security beneficiaries, at the rate of $50 each for most Americans. The aim is to get that money into the spending stream as quickly as possible

Many conservatives oppose the rebate because of its cost, insisting that much of the money is likely to end up in savings accounts with little immediate impact on the economy. Organized labor says the money could be better spent in job-creating

A key provision in the Republicans' tax cut for individuals is expected to be an increased personal exemption. The GOP has made several efforts in the past three years to raise the exemption from the current $750 to $1,000. Democrats have said such a plan would mean more, proportionately, to wealthy

The Washington-based Council of State Chambers of Commerce has urged the Carter administration to place less enphasis on the creation of jobs by the federal government and more on stimulating the growth of jobs in the private sector.

This seems to be the general feeling in Texas, and it is encouraging to note that the highly respected Council of State Chambers is of like opinion.

With greater emphasis given to removing disincintives to jobcreating capital investment, namely the lack of confidence on the part of business as well as the bias against investment in the tax laws, the council said receipts would be greater and both outlays and the deficit would be less.

These points were made in an analysis of the Ford budget for 1978 and amendments anticipated from President Jimmy Carter. The analysis was written by Eugene F. Rinta, director of research, and distributed to the 32-member state and regional chambers of commerce, as well as to members of Congress.

Rinta, seeing no likelihood that tax reductions similar to the Ford proposals will be enacted this year, said receipts in 1978 should be materially higher than the $393 billion budget estimate and may exceed $400 billion.

On the other hand, he pointed out, the 1978 outlay effect of the Carter economic stimulus proposals will be to add several billions. Still more billions will be added by the likely failure of President Carter to recommend or Congress to approve any significant part of the $12.4 billion outlay reductions proposed in the Ford budget for 1978.

As a result, Rinta concluded that outlays in 1978 can be expected to exceed the $440 billion budget estimate by as much as $15 billion and possibly more. He anticipated a deficit in the 1978 budget in the area of $55 billion. In the present 1977 budget Rinta estimated the deficit at $62-65

Rinta found that the most striking fact about the change in federal spending priorities over the 10-year period since 1968 is the rapid growth of direct benefits to individuals, either in cash or in kind, and the relative decline in defense spending. In three categories where most of the

outlays involve direct benefits to individuals, that is, health, income security, and veterans services and benefits, increased expenditures in the 1968-73 period totaled $53.5 billion, or 71 per cent of the total net spending increase in all functioning categories

during this period.

In the 1973-78 period these same three direct benefit categories account for $101.6 billion of increased spending. This is 52 per cent of the total outlays increase in all budget categories during the five years since 1973.

As a proportion of total spending, Rinta said domestic nondefense program outlays have risen from 46.9 per cent in 1968 to 60.9 per cent in 1973 and a budgeted 65.1 per cent in 1978.

The three direct benefit categories of health, income security, and veterans services and benefits accounted for 27.3 per cent of total budget outlays in 1968, 39.9 per cent in 1973, and account for 45 per cent of the total 1978 budget.

In comparison, national defense expenditures declined from 43.1 per cent of total spending in 1968 to 29 per cent in 1973 and, although increased substantially since 1973, the budgeted 1978 defense outlays represent only 24.6 per cent of the budget.

ART BUCHWALD Weather paranoia and results thereof

WASHINGTON — People who talk about the weather are now getting paranoid about it. They keep looking at the TV weather maps and they aren't laughing any more at the jolly men and women who are bringing them bad weather news.

I know this for a fact. I was sitting in the living room with Seltzer and the weatherman said, "Well, I guess you folks out there are wondering when it's going to warm up. Would you believe things are going to get worse before they get better?" "I'll kill the SOB," Seltzer said, as he made a move toward the screen. I stopped him. "It's not his fault that the news is bad."

"Why does he have to grin when he's telling it? Cronkite doesn't grin when he tells you about an Amtrak train derailing in New Jersey. The weatherman was standing up in front of a screen. "Let's take a look at the satellite map. This white stuff here means it is cloudy all over the eastern part of the United States which means freezing temperatures, snow, sleet and icy winds. Over here in Southern Calif., where there are no white spots, it means they're having sunny weather with temperatures in the 80s. "He's a sadist," Seltzer says." He gets his kicks, pointing to white spots on satellite maps.'

"It's his job," I said. "He doesn't like the white spots any more than you

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Nixon's tax audit was blocked

By JACK ANDERSON and LES

WASHINGTON - The story can now be told how the White House. even after the Watergate coverup had been fully exposed, continued to use Watergate tactics in an attempt to block a 1974 audit of Richard Nixon's tax returns.

Despite the White House intervention, the Internal Revenue Service went ahead with the audit. But the charges against Nixo strangely limited to simple negligence. A fraud penalty not only would have forced him out of office months earlier but would have cost him an extra $148,080.97 in back taxes.

Outgoing Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald Alexander acknowledged that the White House pressured him in 1974 to quash the Nixon tax audit. He was joined by then-Treasury Secy. George Shultz in resisting the White House pressure, Alexander told us.

We checked with Shultz, who confirmed Alexander's account. "We all wanted to do the right thing,' Shultz recalled. Neither would discuss the details of the White House intervention. Alexander said only that he expected to be fired for refusing to stop the audit. Both agreed that the political pressure ended when Gerald Ford became president. A year earlier, the Internal Revenue Service delicately audited Nixon's tax returns and found them to be in perfect order. But press exposes and a congressional investigation persuaded the IRS to conduct a second audit in 1974.

This revealed that Nixon had deeded one-third of his vice presidential papers, developed at the taxpayers' expense, back to the taxpayers. In return for this gift, he claimed a $576,000 tax deduction.

There was one hitch; the law permitting tax deductions for personal papers had expired. But White House aide Edward Morgan got around this obstacle by illegally backdating the

It was a clear case of fraud, which against the errant taxpayer. But Taxpayer Nixon claimed he was unaware of the backdating.

The two attorneys who prepared the fraudulent returns, Herbert Kalnbach and Frank DeMarco, swore they explained the tax figures carefully to Nixon. They spent about 30 minutes on April 10, 1970, going over the returns with him. Nixon carefully checked each page before signing the forms, they testified. For that matter, he had started out his law career as a tax attorney Nixon's tax documents also show that he took a personal interest in claiming every possible deduction. He contended, according to the documents, that "a public man does very little of a personal nature.' Therefore, he instructed his aides to count all entertainment and gifts as 'business'' deductions. But the fraud charges were brought against the unfortunate Morgan, who pleaded guilty. Nixon was merely nailed for negligence. He paid an assessment of $284,706.16 for back taxes for the years 1970 to '71 and 1971 to '72. The IRS informed him that he

Inside sources tell us that the former president should have been charged with fraud. They suspect the White House pressure, though it failed to block the tax audit may have led to downgrading the fraud charge. Both Alexander and Shultz insisted. however, that they resisted all White House political pressure.

KOREANS vs. CUBANS - Pentagon officials once discussed shipping South Korean troops to Angola to counter the Cuban forces, who backed the triumphant pro-Soviet faction.

Intelligence reports claimed that Fidel Castro had sent his Cuban troops to Angola to advance Soviet influence. According to the reports, the Soviets conpletely financed and directed the Cuban operation.

Some Pentagon officials suggested that the United States could play the same game and recommended ferrying over South Korean troops to fight the Cubans. The South Koreans proved in Vietnam that they are fierce jungle fighters. At the lower levels, there is still talk of using South Koreans in Africa if the Soviets continue to import Cubans to fight for them.

Intelligence reports indicate, meanwhile, that the Cubans have failed to defeat Jonas Savimbi's non-Communist guerrillas in Angola. The Cubans reportedly are concentrating their strength in the key centers. They have made themselves unpopular, it is also reported, by stealing food from the villagers.

The guerrillas have been able to use the "Cuban occupation," therefore, as a battlecry. In many ways, Angola is turning into Fidel Castro's Viet-

Session questions how world will be after detente Crozier, who made the astounding

WASHINGTON - With Kremlin watchers pondering what the Carter Administration will do about Soviet relations, the right-leaning American Council for World Freedom put on a conference here last week questioning how the world would be after detente Had Henry Kissinger lurked in the back of the room, his ears would have burned.

The theme assumes the end of detente, a large assumption. But perhaps the 18 organizations which sponsored this powwow want detente to end. Among the sponsors were the AFL-CIO Executive Council, the American Legion, B'nai Brith and the Catholic War Veterans.

There is a strong current of opposition to the new relationships between the United States and the Soviet Union, detente if you will, wrought by Nixon-Kissinger-Ford in the past eight years. The euphoria of Nixon's initiatives, which helped re-elect him in fateful 1972, has long passed. The Soviet Union is increasingly challenged as to its motives in detente and in the Helsinki accords as well.

While nearly all of the 22 internationally recognized experts on U.S.-Soviet relations took a dismal view of detente, the conference managers were sensible enough to allow some exceptions to be made. After all, there is sanity in the nation that a nuclear war between the two superpowers must be avoided, and that detente might help prevent such a catastrophe Jeremy J. Stone was one dissident backer of detente, and he made the observation that "a substantial measure of good relations with powers that have thousands of missiles pointed at us is simple, good sense." Stone believes that perserverance and patience on the part of the United States can work out antagonisms between the super powers.

But Stone, who is director of the Federation of American Scientists, realistically points out there are Soviet officials who believe detente is only a way station to the eventual defeat of capitalism by socialism, and others who see detente as an exercise in hard-bargaining in order to gain strategic weapons advantages.

He also believes that American attempts to force the Soviets to allow more freedom at home are foolish, because such efforts "only strengthen the Soviet impulses toward xenophobic vigilance, internal repression and large defense budgets.'

William Colby, former CIA director, argues for detente and a continuation of the SALT talks, providing there is an American commitment to use intelligence to make sure the Soviets live up to their agreements. "Inspections of their various

tivities should include not just technical and electronic surveillance but clandestine work as well.' For the most part, though, the featured experts regard detente as a useless, even dangerous, exercise. Britain's Geoffrey Pattie, secretary of the Conservative Party's Defense Committee, declared that world peace will suffer "when the United States starts to fall back and disengage," and he hailed Vice President Walter Mondale's "robust undertaking" in Brussels, meaning Mondale's hawkish commitment to

Pattie, an authentic Tory, said it is senseless for the West to provide grain and know-how to shield the Russian people from their rulers' incompetence. "Little Red Riding Hood may have been eaten by the wolf?" he quipped, "but there is no evidence that she cooked his lunch and paid off his debts before being consumed."

Pepsi-Cola caught hell from Joseph T. Power, president of the Plasterers and Cement Masons Union, for its barter arrangements with Soviets. Sen. Jessie Helms got up and told of his resolution to grant U.S. citizenship to Russian dissident, Alexander Solzhenitsyn, and also cut loose at Carter's amnesty for draftdodgers.

Vladimir Maximov, an exiled Russian who edits an anti-Communist paper in Paris, accused a "wellmeaning graduate of Harvard" (Kissinger) with creating a "one-sided detente" which can cause "an atmosphere of political hopelessness in the enslaved countries.

Then there was the Britisher, Brian

Nader wants apology from Dixon

Nader countered that "He owes me and his chief, President Carter, and many other Americans an apology. And he will give me one.'

The National Association of Arab-Americans said it was preparing a formal protest for delivery to the White House today.

Dixon's remarks were made in a question-and-answer session with a technical committee of the Grocery Manufacturers Association of America. The meeting, attended by about 50 people, was held at a hotel in nearby Arlington, Va., Jan. 17 to discuss consumer issues and the industry's dealings with regulatory agencies, including the FTC.

Dixon acknowledged to The Associated Press that "I made some remark, and I don't imagine I said anything complimentary about Mr. Nader. He's never said anything complimentary about me." The AP learned of the incident through participants at the business meeting. They asked not to be iden-

Dixon, 63, has been an FTC member since the early 1960s. He and Nader have been steady foes. Nader issued a report in 1969 which attacked Dixon's role, saying the FTC was lethargic, pro-business, wasteful and insensitive to consumer needs.

BRIDGE

Try for two bites rather than one

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

For success at the bridge table recall the lessons of your childhood. When you can't get the whole apple, settle for a bite; but never settle for one bite if you can get two. Believe it or not, there's a bridge hand to prove all this deep philosophy.

East took the ace of spades and returned a spade to the queen. Now New York expert Harold Feldheim saw that he needed five tricks in clubs and diamonds combined

If declarer lost a finesse to the queen of diamonds, the enemy would knock out the spades on gaining the lead with the ace of clubs. For much the same reason South couldn't afford to lose a trick to the jack of clubs. TRIES BOTH SUITS

Feldheim decided to try for two bites rather than just one. He would cash the king and ace of diamonds in the hope that the queen would drop. If it didn't, he would lead a low club from dummy and make some kind of play for three club tricks.

It was a good idea and had the supreme merit of working. The queen of diamonds did drop, and Feldheim took five diamonds and could then comfortably develop clubs for a total of 11 tricks.

When the hand was played in the recent North American tournament in Pittsburgh, many declarers went down by settling for the single bite of a diamond finesse DAILY QUESTION

Gas bill advances to House

WASHINGTON (AP) - An emergency measure that would give President Carter authority to ration scarce supplies of natural gas could become law today.

The Senate approved the natural gas bill 91 to 2 Monday night and sent it to the House, where leaders were hoping to bring it to a vote and send it to the President's desk today.

The Senate fought off attempts to amend the measure and approved it in nearly the same form the President requested last Wednesday.

It would give Carter the authority to divert gas to areas that need it the most because of abnormally cold weather and would free some gas from federal price controls through

House leaders were said to be considering taking up the Senatepassed bill today instead of their own version. The House version, approved 21 to 17 by the Commerce Committee on Monday, includes an amendment setting a new price limit for gas bought from the unregulated inemergency period.

The committee sent the bill to the floor under a procedure that bars further amendments and requires a two-thirds vote by House members. Some congressional leaders fear that if the House approves the committee version, then a day or two will be lost before the bill can be sent to the President while the different versions are reconciled, possibly by a House-Senate conference committee. Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., said that House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill suggested to him that if the Senate approved Carter's bill without major amendments — as it did — then the House might go along with the Senate version

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., the chief House sponsor of the bill, said he felt that Congress could still get the bill to Carter this week if the House votes on its own version. In any event, Dingell said he does not believe the House committee amendment substantially alters the thrust of the

WASHINGTON (AP) - The national cold wave may cost Americans up to $5 billion in additional heating bills and that could make it necessary for President Carter to increase his proposal of a $50-per-person tax rebate, says the top White House economic adviser.

Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, told Carter and his Cabinet on Monday that the weather is hitting the public in the pocketbook like "a federal excise tax.

Consumers will pay at least $2 billion extra in fuel costs to stave off the winter's extreme cold, and possibly as much as $5 billion if the abnormally frigid weather is prolonged, he said. Schultze held open the possibility of increasing tax rebates if the winter worsens. But he told reporters, "at this stage the package still looks right, but obviously we will have to keep flexible."

Carter sent his two-year, $31.2billion economic stimulus program to Congress on Monday, saying it would 'set the stage for substantial growth in the years ahead." The bulk of this year's $15.5-billion program would go to allot the $50 rebates to virtually all Americans this year at a cost of $11.4 billion.

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal was called before the House Appropriations Committee today to answer questions about

Carter's plan. One economic forecasting firm is warning that if the cold wave con tinues, it might wipe out nearly all of the effect of Carter's first-year

Michael K. Egans, president of Chase Econometrics Associates, said Monday that if abnormally cold weather continues through March, consumers would be forced to pay $8 billion in added heating bills for the first and second quarters, and $7 billion in extra food costs to cover higher prices caused by weatherdamaged crops.

That would be "a dead loss to the economy and represent a $15 billion decline in aggregate national in-

The energy crunch may intensify pressure on Congress to increase or · alter the Carter stimulus package. which includes permanent business and individual tax cuts of $2.4 billion and $1.7 billion for public works and jobs programs this year. The allotment for the jobs portion would rise to $7.6 billion next year.

AFL-CIO President George Meany wants Congress to reject Carter's 'timid approach'' to stimulating the economy. The AFL-CIO is lobbying for its own one-year, $30 billion stimulus proposal weighted toward jobs. It would include $10 billion for public works and no tax rebates.

Meany, in testimony prepared for the House Public Works Committee today, said Carter's plan would generate only 142,000 jobs directly, while the AFL-CIO proposal would produce 700,000 direct on-site jobs, plus 350,000 to 700,000 more jobs in supply industries.

Doors to work slammed on 1.5 million Americans

By The Associated Press

Frigid temperatures persisted in most of the Midwest and Northeast today as thousands of factories closed by the drain on natural gas supplies remained shut but some schools in at least one state planned to reopen.

The bitter cold has left more than 75 persons dead and forced up to 1.5 million workers out of work after factories and businesses were closed to conserve heating fuel. At least 11 states ordered emergency measures to deal with the weather and energy Industry has been hit the hardest by the shortage of natural gas.

In Ohio one million workers have been laid off. And an unemployment claims office spokesman in Columbus said he was bracing for a 500 per cent increase in applications.

The federal government said Monday that the unusual demand for unemployment compensation due to weather-layoffs will put added pressure on state unemployment funds that are $3.6 billion in debt.

In Florida, meanwhile, Agriculture Secretary Robert Bergland said Monday that $30 million in federal funds will be made available to growers and displaced workers in 35

FPC study forecast emergency

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two years ago the staff of the Federal Power Commission urged the preparation of plans for mandatory natural gas conservation and allocation to cope with exactly the kind of emergency the nation now faces.

The warning went unheeded and today the United States still has no comprehensive plan for allocating scarce gas supplies or for managing the current crisis, which has idled an estimated 1.5 million workers. The FPC report, titled "A Realistic

Construction to begin on new private school

By LINDA SCHAFFRINA

Construction will begin this week on a building to house a new private school in Midland.

Oaklawn Park Baptist Church is making plans to open a school for grades kindergarten through 10 or 12 in the fall of 1977, the Rev. David Piearcy, pastor, said.

The school will be housed in an addition to the church at 3001 N. A St., Mr. Piearcy said.

The curriculum at the school will be "accelerated Christian education." Instruction will be individualized with students learning at their own pace.

"Everything is going to be taught from a Christian standpoint, whether it be science or math or the creation of the earth," Mr. Piearcy said.

Teaching manners and "dress standards such as I had when I was coming up in the public schools" will be a part of the school's policy, he

SAMMY M. PRIETO, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prieto, 101 W. Nobles Ave., graduated Jan. 21 from Department of Public Safety Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. A 1970 graduate of Midland High School, he attended The University of Texas of the Permian Basin prior to becoming a law enforcement officer. He will be a highway patrolman in Fabens, located southeast of El Paso.

Morality and patriotism will be stressed, he said.

Planning for the school started in October, when Mr. Piearcy came to Midland. He said the prespect of implementation of an elementary school desegregation plan did not influence the planning.

"I'm sure the desegregation plan will give us a boost but that's not our purpose," he said.

Impose," he said.
Mr. Piercy said the a name and an diministrator for the school will be a manual be described.

Borger woman in hospital administrator for the school will be chosen this month. Tuition rates have not been determined.

Classes set tor macrame

The Midland Parks and Recreation Department will offer two classes in macrame, one for persons age 11 through 18, and another for adults, in the parks department gym at 300

The youth class will have four Monday sessions from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., starting Feb. 7. The adult class will also meet Mondays from 7 p.m. to

The youth class is for the beginner nd will include basic knotting and will include basic knotting techniques and macrame jewelry, while the adult course will involve advanced techniques and creative schools and about half of the 1,000 parochial schools burn fuels other than natural gas.

The fees are $5 for youth and $7 for adults. Registrations are at Midland finance drive with mailings this week Parks and Recreation office.

Schools that heat with natural gas will be reviewed district-by-district by the state and the utilities, Gov.

Milton Shapp said Monday. However, businesses employing 90,000 workers remained closed

Even as the bitter winter loosened its grip Monday on Ohio to let temperatures hover in the teens throughout most of the state, the gas cutbacks were expected to keep an estimated 500,000 factory workers and 150,000 teachers out of work.

About two-thirds of Ohio's school systems will close for varying periods of time because of the gas shortages. Special programs in newspapers and over broadcast facilities were being prepared so students can continue their education at home.

Major Ohio industry using natural gas was halted Monday as Columbia Gas of Ohio Co., the state's largest gas utility, ordered severe cutbacks except to residences and small businesses.

Another state utility had already ordered the same cutbacks, a third continued supplying minimal gas to only some industries and businesses and a fourth was holding industrial customers at maintenance levels.

In Wisconsin the cold weather began to ease somewhat, and the Wisconsin Gas. Co. has allowed 1,780 of is industry and public building customers to resume burning natural

However, the natural gas shortage in New York is affecting the lives of three-quarters of a million people, keeping them out of work or out of school. This is expected to last at least through the week

More than 1,000 schools that heat with gas are closed, giving about 500,000 pupils an unexpected winter vacation. And Gov. Hugh Carey estimated Monday that 2,145 industrial plants and commercial businesses have shut down in the face of inadequate gas supply.

TI begins lower fares

Texas International Airlines will begin a half-price flight to Dallas-Fort

The Civil Aeronautics Board approved the reduced fare flights Monday

Passengers on the 7:25 p.m. flight to D-FW will be able to travel coach class for $24 one-way under the new fare schedule. A return flight from D-FW to Midland Regional Air Terminal at 8:30 a.m. will also have the $24 oneway fare available to coach passengers.

The reduced fare flights are a 12month experiment approved by the CAB to see if the lower prices will increase traffic on flights that previously carried few passengers. The Midland-to-D-FW flight will be available each day except Saturday, a company spokesman said.

Other half-fare flights approved by the CAB include TI flights between Albuquerque and Los Angeles, Austin and D-FW, Denver and Salt Lake City and Houston and New Orleans.

There is no provision in the bill that requires intrastate pipeline companies to sell natural gas to interstate pipelines.

The President could only divert gas from low-priority users on interstate pipelines to high-priority users including homes, hospitals, schools and small businessses - elsewhere. Low-priority use includes heating for

Texas consumers win as House. sends back bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The wind in the House just wasn't blowing right Monday for a bill curtailing new consumer protection powers given state attorneys general last year by Congress.

Rep. Charles Evans, D-Fort Worth, saw which way the wind was coming from Monday and won an 87-53 vote to send back to committee the first bill to reach the House calendar this session.

The bill would take away Atty. Gen. John Hill's new authority to file anti-trust suits in federal court and collect triple damages for consumer victims of price-fixing conspiracies.

Hill actively opposed the bill, as did the Texas Consumer Association and Common Cause.

There were groans and guffaws when Evans said he wanted the bill recommitted to the House Judicial Affairs Committee because it didn't receive enough testimony and because of the criticism of the haste with which it was passed to the floor last Tuesday.
"Perhaps the bill did move a little bit quick," he

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, objected to recommitting, a good sign that opponents of the bill had the votes to kill it

"I came to debate the issue and let the chips fall where they may," the bearded black man said.

When Rep. Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, suggested that Hill and the suddenly mobilized AFL-CIO should have an opportunity to testify against the bill in committee. Washington said:

"Are you saying that Charlie (Evans) didn't give it a fair hearing?'

Evans later insisted to reporters he wanted Hill to have his say, even though Hill presented testimony through an assistant last week

Asked if the reports that he didn't have the votes to pass the bill persuaded him to pull the bill down, Evans said, "That's one of the elements. I didn't want my bill killed.

A conservative who said he opposed the bill later explained why he voted to recommit.

'I might be in the same position myself," he said. "You might have a bill you don't want to get killed?" he was asked.

"Damn right. Gov. Dolph Briscoe sent the legislature a message giving emergency status to legislation that would earmark some $550 million in taxes, mainly on automobile-related products, to highway construc-

The designation means the bills probably will be considered sooner than they would without it.

'As we all know, by 1980 all available revenue for the state highway system will be needed for maintenance, with no funds for new construction or for upgrading obsolete roads and bridges. Furthermore, we will run out of sufficient funds to match federal funds for the state system," his message said

"Affirmative action resulting in a long range solution to this problem is absolutely essential." he said. The House version of his bill already is out of committee and ready for debate.

Solon to try for state funding of farmer schools

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Rep. Andrew Baker, D-Galveston, says he'll introduce a bill next week calling for full state funding of the Foundation School Program in a move to aid Texas farmers and ran-

Texas Farmers Union officials Monday unveiled a plan calling for total state financing even if the proposal requires major new taxes.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who has said he'll veto any proposal for new or added taxes, has recommended that the state pay 90 per cent of the school operations, with local sources remaining responsible for 10 per

"I don't think it (Briscoe's plan) helps farmers and ranchers enough, even though the governor is a rancher himself." said Baker.

'We've got to get some relief for the agriculture and ranch people." said Baker, who added that the farmers and ranchers are bearing the brunt of 'escalating' local school taxes.

The TFU's proposal would allow local enrichment of school programs, thus continuing local taxes. The measure, however, would have the state finance all of the foundation program, which sets minimum standards for such things as teacher pay and teacher-pupil ratios.

The state presently picks up 75 per cent of the program, with the rest coming from local tax revenue. In unveiling the farmer organization's plan. TFU President Jay Naman said his group had studied Briscoe's proposal, but felt it and other proposals "are lacking in one way or another. When asked about the cost of the farmer group's plan, Naman said, "We're talking about $900 Naman said the state should first look to its budget surplus to finance the proposal.

If that surplus cannot be used or doesn't exist in future years, the farmer group recommended that the state impose a one cent per gallon tax on all refinery products produced in Texas, increase the severance tax on oil and gas, levy a tax on both intrastate and interstate pipelines and tax minerals such as coal and uranium

"Our figures show that if these steps were followed, the state would have more than enough to expand its share of education." said Naman. "In fact, some statistics reveal that even one or two proposals by themselves could cover the costs.

Yarbrough predicts long term on bench

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Don Yarbrough, target of disbarment action by the State Bar of Texas, says he expects to be on the high court 'until I am old and gray

He also said many of his troubles result from what his wife calls "the oak tree syndrome," an inability to compromise or dismiss trifles.

Yarbrough addressed the Austin professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, The Society of Professional Journalists on Monday

Asked if he would resign from the court if disbarred, Yarbrough said: "If I am supposed to be on the supreme court I am going to be on the supreme court. . . . There is not anybody down here who his going to be able to pry me off. I think I am going to be on the supreme court till f am old and gray.

Youth fitness continues to lag

Dear Dr. Solomon: I remember that quite a while back there was great concern about our young peo-ple's lack of physical fitness. It didn't really concern me much then, but now it does-because I haves two young children who are growing up. Do you know if there has been any progress recently? - Melaine E.

Dear Melanie: There doesn't seen to have been any progress to speak of during the last decade. Results last year in the Youth Fitness Test, taken by 12 million girls and boys aged 10 to 17, were almost identical to what they were in 1965. There are six parts to the test: situps (to measure abdoninal strength); standing long jump (leg power); 50-yard dash (speed); 30-foot shuttle run (agility); 600-yard run-walk (endurance); and chinning (arm strength).

The only noticeable improvement was among girls, who had a little more endurance than 10 years

Back in the 50s, studies showed that American boys and girls were in much poorer physical shape than European youth-contrary to what a lot of people thought. Then came a big drive by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and other organizations, and annual test scores showed good progress from 1958 to 1965.

There is no evidence, incidentally, that the 1965-1975 level would be difficult to improve on. Schools with vigorous programs of physical educa-tion do much better. The truth is simply that too many people-young as well as old-do not exercise enough in this country. Maybe we should rely less on cars and elevators.

Dear Dr. Solomon: What's Dysmenorrhea? I've just been to see a gynecologist for the first time, and that's what he told my mother I had. Is it bad? I was so embarrassed that I didn't want to ask-I just wanted to get out of there .- Judy N.

Dear Judy: Dysnenorrhea simply means painful menstrual periods! You could have saved yourself a lot of worry by asking the doctor right away.

It's most common among teen-agers like you, and young wonen up to around 22 years of age. Usually, it disappears after the first pregnancy. Rarely, it's associated with pelvic disorders like inflamnations or congestion, in which case the underlying cause must be treated for the pain to disappear. Fortunately, nothing like that seems to be involved in your case. So just make the best of it for the next few years. Remember that it's a condition that afflicts so many young women, it could almost be regarded as 'normal," and don't add unnecessary worry to the discomfort of your cramps.

DEAR ABBY Man wants second chance, but woman holds all the aces

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 31-year-old single man. I started seeing a 19-year-old waitress, and we got serious. She said she was on the Pill, but somehow she turned up pregnant. I promised to marry her, but I kept putting it off until it was too late for her to get an abortion, so she had the baby. I admit I gave her a hard time, saying I wasn't sure the baby was mine. We ended up in a big fight, and she told me to get lost.

Well, she had a boy, and now he's 13 months old and she won't let me come near her or the baby. She even refused child support from me, saying she wants nothing to do with me.

I have taken Jesus Christ as my personal Savior and am truly sorry for my past mistakes. All I want is a second chance. Can I force her legally to let me be a father to my son? Or doesn't a father have any legal rights?—A CHANGED MAN

Don't blame vour age for poor hearing

Chicago, Ill. - A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

True, all hearing problems are not alike . . . and some cannot be helped, but many can. Send for this non-operating model now. Wear it in the privac of your own home to see how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept.5892, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

Franklin Roosevelt's secretary, I often dined informally with him and Mrs. Roosevelt, and was appalled to see Eleanor mop up her plate with a piece of bread on her fork!

I finally got up the nerve to ask her if that was correct, and shortly afterward in her column, "My Day," the following appeared: "Not only is it all right to mop up everything on one's plate with a piece of bread, that's the best part of the meal."

So now you can recommend sopping up every bit of gravy on one's plate.-ROLAND HILL

Buffalo more than Ohio family

By DAVID OVED BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - The Parker family of Youngstown, Ohio, didn't bargain on Buffalo's worst blizzard in history when they pulled into town last week for what they thought would be a two-day stay.

They arrived Thursday, planned to leave Saturday, but became separated and stranded on Friday when the storm hit and paralyzed the area under snowdrifts as high as 14 feet. On Monday, Jim Parker said: "I think we'll stay another day. At least we're together.'

The city was just beginning to dig out from the storm, which left thousands laid off from jobs, at least seven persons frozen to death in their cars, and 59 persons arraigned on charges of looting stores. Parker, a 34-year-old tooling engineer at General Motors' Lordstown, Ohio, plant, drove into Buffalo with his wife Barbara and sons Jimmy and Jason and checked into a midtown motel.

He went downtown Friday to the federal building to take an examination to upgrade his amateur radio license. But when he was half-finished with the test, an official told everyone to go home because the building was closing. The blizzard had moved in off Lake Erie. "I got blown across a bannister trying to get out to retreated to the building, where they amused themselves monitoring radio bands and trying to discover if there was a way out of the city. They slept that night on tables and floors, but abandoned the building Saturday when food ran out.

"The wind had died down to 40 miles per hour and we decided to leave," he said. Parker said he and several others got as far as a cheap hotel, where ladies of the evening from a nearby pickup strip accosted them in the corridors. He said the band of weary travelers he was with decided to play poker.

LONDON - Two years ago a Western world worried by its growing dependence on Arab oil thought it saw a ray of hope in nuclear power, which, the Organization for Cooperation and Development predicted, would expand rapidly. By 1985, the OECD said, nuclear energy would provide the equivalent of 15 million barrels of oil a day, more than all of Western Europe now imports.

Just last week OECD gave its patrons, the rich West and Japan, the bad news. By 1985 nuclear power is now expected to supply only the equivalent of little more than 9 million barrels a day, a staggering drop of nearly 40 per cent.

What has happened in two short years? OECD begins its list of explanations this way:

"The continual markdown of nuclear expansion results from resistance to nuclear energy by conservationists and environmentalists.

A key policy urged to expand energy supply is "moderation of environmental requirements of new energy development, particularly coal and nuclear power.

The report reflects thinking in the nuclear-power establishment of OECD member governments. So it probably exaggerates the importance of the nuclear opposition while simultaneously ignoring its political

John Surrey of the Science Policy Research Unit at Sussex University has made the most thorough study yet compiled of the resistance to nuclear power. He is convinced that "nearly all the cutback would have taken place anyway" for economic reasons. 'The opposition was the icing on the cake that contributed to increased capital costs," Surrey says. Like other students of the nuclear slowdown, Surrey believes that the more modest growth now foreseen in Western economies coupled with an inflationary buildup of financing and construction costs - both due in considerable measure to the big jump in oil prices since 1973 - have been far more important than citizen opposition in curbing the plants.

But the OECD has put its finger on a central point. There has been a big climbdown in plans for nuclear expansion, and determined groups of citizens have played some part in this. The opposition has taken dramatic form in France and West Germany, two nations, that, like Japan, bet heavily on nuclear power to escape the Arab oil company yoke.

-At Brokdorf, West Germany, last fall, 600 security guards turned tear gas, water cannons and dogs on several thousand demonstrators trying to halt the building of a plant on a site surrounded by a moat and a 10foot-high concrete wall topped by barbed wire.

-The governor of North Rhine-Westphalia, West Germany's most industrialized state, has refused to license any more nuclear plants until the problem of their radioactive wastes is solved. Dump your "atomic excrements" somewhere else, he declared.

-At least three nuclear installations in France were bombed in 1975. The government there has cut back from 40 to 25 or 30 the number of plants it expects to order by 1980.

There is no evidence, however, of a widespread public demand to halt nuclear power. Its opponents lost a half dozen referenda in the United States last year. But where the opposition forms, as economist Surrey has observed, it is acute and often Four rural communities in France held votes on nuclear plants in 1975. Three, largely well off and stable, voted against. But a fourth, in an area where worked-out iron mines had left a residue of high unemployment, approved the building under Sir Brian Flowers recently delivered a terrifying report on the dangers from plutonium economy, one that uses nuclear plants breeding large quantities of the poisonous, explosive man-made element.

Flowers foresaw the possibility of accident on a catastrophic scale, terrorists stealing the stuff of which bomby are made, a clampdown on civil liberties to protect plants from theft or saboteurs, plutonium in the hands of a Col. Muammar Qaddafi or an Idi Amin.

The report created barely a ripple. A call for a "mass" demonstration in Trafalgar Square brought out only a few hundred, and on a Saturday, too.

Britain has not ordered a new nuclear plant since 1969, because its sluggish economy does not need one. This lack of visibility has muted the

Sweden is frequently cited as an example of a nation that has voted against nuclear power. The facts, in that land of hard-headed materialists. are otherwise

It is correct that Thorbjorn Falldin, campaigning on a pledge not only to stop but roll back nuclear plants, is now premier. But for the first time in 12 years his party's share of the vote dropped, and three-quarters of the Swedes votes for parties favoring nuclear expansion.

Falldin, in office, has had to junk his pledge. He has charged one reactor and approved building of others, although he says they will not be turned on until their safety is

Despite this mixed picture, the nuclear foes can claim considerable success. They can do so even in the fact of well substantiated claims that the nuclear industry so far as a better safety record than most.

A study for the old U.S. Atomic Energy Commission calculated that the worst imaginable reactor accident could cause 3,300 deaths and injure or poison 45,000. But this was said to be likely to happen only once in 1 billion years of operation. The low probability, however, may still sound unconvincing to those at the site where a new plant is going up.

More recently citizens and politicians have begun to worry about atomic garbage, the wastes that must be buried for thousands of years before their radioactivity dies out. In West Germany the waste has been buried in salt caverns in Lower Saxony that are said to be geologically stable this time as a point of contention among social, environmental and economic forces. In addition, the islands have retained a legacy of military importance, particularly as the Department of Defense continues to lose its footing on the Pacific perimeter. The superport proposal, the result of a linkup of U.S., Japanese and Iranian interests, has been developed without congressional scrutiny or discussion by the Japanese Diet, although both governments are deeply involved in the project. Details of the proposal have emerged publicly over the last several months due to the efforts of the scientific community and environmental groups, who question the benefit of imposing a mammoth industrial scheme on the archipelago and its 14,000 people.

The Trust Territory is administered the U.S. Department under a U.N. charter until the Micronesians determine their own future status. The Department of the Interior, which promoted the superport project under the Ford administration, could block it, but the Palauans themselves eventually will have the final say on whether the complex is to be built.

Here we are again, your Roving Rebel Youth Center Reporters, ready to tell you all about the latest that's happening around the campus.

HOT OFF THE PRESS! NHS Valentines will be on sale next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. The-prices this year will be carnations $1, written telegrams-25 cents, and singing telegrams-$1. Orders will be taken during third period and both lunches. Start pinching pennies so you can dig in your pocket and buy an NHS valentine.
One and one, that's the latest! Our Tennis team beat Big Spring by the score of 14-4 last Saturday. Our Rebs are back in the race and are hot and running. Their next meet was scheduled today against Odessa High. We don't know the score but we know the Rebs were ready to come out on top. Also they will play Cooper this Saturday at Abilene at 10 a.m. Good luck and make it 18-Luv!

Our boys golf team teed off to a second place in the San Angelo Invitational. Our Rebs won Friday but came in second Saturday. Billy Sitton and Steve Wise won the two-man team low ball with 136. That's really swingin it, Rebs!

Our girls golf team will swing into action Wednesday as they leave for a tournament in San Antonio. They will make their appearance back in Midland Friday. Our girls have been working hard and we know they'll go far!! Over the past weekend, our Red-Eyed Rebels were involved in the Midland College Invitational at the COM Building, where they placed fourth in over all competition. Their next meet is the TISCA Championship at Austin. Dive into another victory! With your help, Rebelettes, Dixie will shine on Friday in the Lee gym when the roundballers play

Abilene Cooper. Be in full uniform, except hats, in the bleachers at 7:30. This is an important game so if you want to be in Honor Squad or be an officer, you better be there. This is a MORE points bulletin. See ya Wednesday morning at Squad Meetings at 7:45!

Tisket a Tasket, we missed it by only one basket last week as our Rebels took a hard fall against the Midland Bulldogs 65-63. They came bouncing back Friday night as they Busted the Odessa Bronchos 90-62. Our Rebel Roundballers will dribble on to another victory as they play San Angelo there tonight. Friday night, the Rebs will play Cooper here. Be on hand to support our Rebs. To get things rollin there will be a Pep Rally, Friday at 2:35 in the

This past weekend our speech and debate teams won "Real Big." Lee acquired 1,200 sweepstake points, which was the most. Just to show how well the Rebs did the next highest points wre 400. Besides the sweepstakes trophy we also brought back 2nd and 3rd. Individual points go to Poetry Intrep.-Pat Hardy, 3rd; humorous Intrep.—Craig Stanford 4th. informative speaking, Jim Reiter 3rd, Laura Snell 2nd; persuasive speaking. Steve Mullins 2nd. Pat Harris 1st; duet acting, Greg McCabe and Vicki Ballew 2nd, David Kloessel and Kelly Westerman 1st. The team for the readers theatre brought back a The team includes David Kloessel, Kelly Westerman, Craig Stanford, Vicki Ballew, Pat Hardy, B.J. Dickson, Holly Badger and Brent McClure. Best individual speaking awards went to Kelly Westerman 3rd, and David Kloessel 2nd.

In debate the team of novice Mike Cummins and Kathleen Mann tied with Ginger McCarthy and Pat Harris for 4th. Judy George and Teresa Scardino placed 3rd, Mike Shaunessy and Jim Reiter 2nd. For the championship, Jill Hawley and Tricia Munson tied for third with Ron Laurence and Kevin Brower. Danny Evatt and Laura Snell placed 2nd, James debate speaker awards given and all three went to Lee. James Snell received third and Danny Evatt. 2nd and Steve Mullins, 1st The next tournament will be Saturday. It will be for debate only

All Aboard! After a heavy discussion, a decision was made. The theme for the Senior Girls Party is "Railroad." All interested Senior Girls will meet again at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Y.C. 'The things which our friends do with and for us. form a portion of our lives; for they strenghten and advance our personality." (J. W. von Goethe)

Have a Great week Mica, Janis, and Deehona P.S. Coming next month!! On March 14, the third Annual Youth Center's fund raising project will be held in the Lee High Additorium. As it has been in the past, this year's program is TOPS - Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass. Mark your calen-

LONDON - Two years ago a Western world worried by its growing dependence on Arab oil thought it saw a ray of hope in nuclear power, which, the Organization for Cooperation and Development predicted, would expand rapidly. By 1985, the OECD said, nuclear energy would provide the equivalent of 15 million barrels of oil a day, more than all of Western Europe

Just last week OECD gave its patrons, the rich West and Japan, the bad news. By 1985 nuclear power is now expected to supply only the equivalent of little more than 9 million barrels a day, a staggering drop of nearly 40 per cent.

What has happened in two short years? OECD begins its list of explanations this way

"The continual markdown of nuclear expansion results from resistance to nuclear energy by conservationists and environmentalists...

A key policy urged to expand energy supply is "moderation of environmental requirements of new energy development, particularly coal and nuclear power."

The report reflects thinking in the nuclear-power establishment of OECD member governments. So it probably exaggerates the importance of the nuclear opposition while simultaneously ignoring its political John Surrey of the Science Policy Research Unit at Sussex University has made the most thorough study yet compiled of the resistance to nuclear power. He is convinced that "nearly all the cutback would have taken place anyway" for economic reasons. 'The opposition was the icing on the cake that contributed to increased capital costs," Surrey says. Like other students of the nuclear slowdown, Surrey believes that the more modest growth now foreseen in Western economies coupled with an inflationary buildup of financing and construction costs - both due in considerable measure to the big jump in oil prices since 1973 — have been far more important than citizen opposition in curbing the plants.

But the OECD has put its finger on a central point. There has been a big climbdown in plans for nuclear expansion, and determined groups of citizens have played some part in this.

The opposition has taken dramatic form in France and West Germany, two nations, that, like Japan, bet heavily on nuclear power to escape the Arab oil company yoke.

-At Brokdorf, West Germany, last fall, 600 security guards turned tear gas, water cannons and dogs on several thousand demonstrators trying to halt the building of a plant on a site surrounded by a moat and a 10foot-high concrete wall topped by barbed wire.

-The governor of North Rhine-Westphalia, West Germany's most industrialized state, has refused to license any more nuclear plants until the problem of their radioactive wastes is solved. Dump your "atomic excrements" somewhere else, he declared.

-At least three nuclear installations in France were bombed in 1975. The government there has cut back from 40 to 25 or 30 the number of plants it expects to order by 1980.

There is no evidence, however, of a widespread public demand to halt nuclear power. Its opponents lost a half dozen referenda in the United States last year. But where the opposition forms, as economist Surrey has observed, it is acute and often

Four rural communities in France held votes on nuclear plants in 1975. Three, largely well off and stable. voted against. But a fourth, in an area where worked-out iron mines had left a residue of high unemployment. approved the building.

In Britain a royal commission delivered a terrifying report on the dangers from plutonium economy, one that uses nuclear plants breeding large quantities of the poisonous, explosive man-made element.

Flowers foresaw the possibility of accident on a catastrophic scale, terrorists stealing the stuff of which bomby are made, a clampdown on civil liberties to protect plants from theft or saboteurs, plutonium in the hands of a Col. Muammar Qaddafi or an Idi Amin

The report created barely a ripple. A call for a "mass" demonstration in Trafalgar Square brought out only a few hundred, and on a Saturday, too.

Fusselman gas flows

BTA Oil Producers, Midland, No. 1 7607 JV-P Orla, one-mile north outpost to dual Atoka and Fusselman gas production in the Chapman, Deep field of Reeves County, flowed 7.1 million cubic feet of gas per day, along with nine barrels of water in 20 hours, from the Fusselman.

The flow was through a 1-inch choke and perforations at 15,731 -15,740 feet. Testing continued.

Ector probe yields oil

Union Texas Petroleum Corp. Midland, No. 2-29 Fasken, location southeast stepout to 10,300 Atoka area of the Fasken field in Northeast Ector County, recovered oil on a drillstem test in an unidentified section. Tool was open 23,4 hours on the test taken from 8,390-8,451 feet. There was a two to three-foot gas flare on a 1/6inch choke. Recovery was 700 feet of free oil and 168 feet of heavily oil- and gas-cut mud, plus .06 of a cubic foot of gas and 750 cubic centimeters of 36gravity oil from the sample chamber. Operator was preparing to drill

Loving test gauges gas

Mahoning Gas Unit, Loving County explorer, seven miles northwest of dual Ellenburger and Silurian gas production in the Evetts field, flowed gas at the daily rate of 9.4 million cubic feet per day for 11/2 hour.

The flow was through a 22-64-inch choke and unidentified perforations at 20,040-20,148 feet, natural. Testing continued.

Earlier, it tested through Ellenburger perforations at 22,464-23,191 feet, which had been acidized with 15.000 gallons, making only water.

Drilled to 23,303 feet, it has a 5-inch liner hung from 15,498-23,299 feet. It had been temporarily plugged back to

Western Texas gains ground

Western Texas College increased its Western Junior College Conference lead to two games by defeating New Mexico Junior College, 82-66, at Snyder as Lawrence Butler set the pace with 21 points.

Midland College, however, remained tied for second when Frank Phillips College bumped Amarillo College, 63-57, while Frank Hobson's 16 points paced Clarendon to a 73-69 win over South Plains. Tyrone Dixon scored 20 and Dan Rucker 18 for SPC.

Chaps run into ambush as Hawks hold grudge

BY TED BATTLES R-T Sports Editor

BIG SPRING - Midland College's Chaparrals knew it wouldn't be easy, so you couldn't really call it an ambush. Still, the Chaps, who had reeled off three straight wins, weren't prepared for a team that played like it had been nursing a grudge for almost two months.

Howard College's Hawks got the Chaparrals down early and never really let the Tall City team up in posting an 89-80 Western Junior College Conference victory before a capacity crowd in the cramped playing quarters of HC gym Monday night.

SPORTS

Midland managed to forge into the lead just once, a basket by Ron Jones to start the final half giving the Chaps a 43-42 edge.

IT MAY have been the worst thing the visitors, who came into the game sharing second place, could have

It only seemed to remind the revenge-bent Hawks that they had frittered away a six-point lead in the final two minutes of a previous meeting at Midland and lost 82-80 on a shot at the buzzer.

The inhospitable hosts immediately went on a scoring rampage led by Mike Little and Russell Sublett and the next time the Chaps looked up it was 62-47 with 12:30 left in the game. The closest Midland came after that was 74-66 with just over five minutes

The defeat dropped MC to 16-6 for the season, but, more importantly, left the Chaps 7-4 in WJCC play. The Hawks chipped away a game in the standings by raising their record to 6-4 to trail MC by just one game.

THE HAWKS made the most of a 42-34 edge in rebounds, but the big difference Monday was the addition of Russell Sublett, an agile 6-5 sharpshooter from Houston Kashmere picked up at mid-term.

Sublett supplied a 24-point wallop to the Hawks' offense which along with a 17-point kick from Paul Cathey, 15 from Mike Little, 11 from Reggie Leffal and 10 from Eugene Williams was too much fire power for Midland to handle.

Alvin Mayes canned 15 points for MC while Tommy Parks, 13, Jeff Jackson, 12, and Sim Nickerson, 12, also scored in double figures.

MIDLAND'S CAUSE wasn't aided any when 6-5 Jackson Pace picked up two quick fouls as Howard sprinted to an early 14-2 lead and was lifted. Thereafter, every time the sophomore from Lubbock Monterey stuck his nose on the court, he picked up another foul and really saw very little action before fouling out with 3:32 left in the game.

Just how little is indicated by the three points Pace finished with, although bringing a 16.0 average into the game.

Midland hit on 37 of 77 field attempts while Howard connected on 36 of 67. The Hawks piled up their winning margin at the free throw line with 17 of 26 to 6 of 14 for Midland.

THE CHAPS converted just one of five charity opportunities in the final half and didn't come face-to-face with a one-and-one situation until the final five minutes in the second half.

Leffall, Cathey, Lowell Walker and 6-9 Joe Cooper gave Howard its rebounding edge. Six-six Jackson pulled down 11 rebounds to top the next with eight, all in the first half. The Chaps return to Midland to play Frank Phillips College Thursday night at 7:30 p.m.

DESPITE A disasterous start, Midland rallied from a 19-8 deficit as Parks hit a jumper and then Mayes. having one of his best nights, reeled off five straight points before Cooper countered for HC Ricky Hudgins stuffed a Parks feed and Parks drilled home an 18-footer and Midland trailed 21-19.

Howard again raced off to a 36-25 advantage with three baskets by Sublett and three by Williams fueling

But the Chaps rallied again with Jackson jamming in a rebound, Nickerson registering at the end of a fast break, Parks striking from the corner and Jackson scoring again

Chaps. Six-six Clifford Taylor was from underneath before HC retaliated.

> TWO MORE baskets by Nickerson and a free throw by Parks left MC down 42-41 at half, but there was no slowing down the Hawks, who hit 18 of 30 in the final half to keep MC at arm's length in the final 20 minutes.

College cage poll revamped

By The Associated Press

In a week of upsets, the No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4 teams in last week's Associated Press Top 20 college basketball poll lost and the No. 1 team just barely averted the same fate.

No. 2 Michigan was upset 99-87 by Northwestern and fell to No. 7. Thirdplace Alabama dropped an 87-65 decision to Kentucky and dropped to eighth, while No. 4 North Carolina lost 67-66 to Wake Forest and 93-73 to Clemson, skidding to 13th.

SAN FRANCISCO, after trailing Santa Clara by 16 points, beat the Broncos 71-70 on a shot by Chubby Cox with two seconds remaining. The Dons, 21-0, had defeated Santa Clara 74-68 earlier in the week and remained No. 1.

UCLA, now 16-2, were the big winners of the week, vaulting from eighth to second. The Bruins edged Notre Dame 70-65 before routing Southern Cal 77-59 and Tennessee 103-89.

Kentucky, 14-2, sixth a week ago, beat Mississippi 100-73 before upsetting Alabama and jumped from sixth Nevada-Las Vegas, 16-1, did not play, but moved up from fifth to WAKE FOREST, 16-2, beat North Carolina and Appalachian State 83-73, vaulting five spots from 10th to fifth. San Francisco garnered 50 of first-place votes, with UCLA getting three and Kentucky, Nevada-Las Vegas and Minnesota one each from a national panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Marquette beat DePaul 85-64, moving up from ninth to sixth.

Michigan beat Ohio State 92-81 and Wisconsin 69-64 before losing to Northwestern and plunging five places. Alabama beat Georgia 78-74 in overtime, before being upset by Kentucky. Louisville, 15-2, humbled Long Island University 107-68, edged Dayton 76-71 and defeated Rhode Island 105-87, moving up two spots to MINNESOTA, 15-1, leaped three places to 10th, beating Big Ten Conference rivals Michigan State 75-70, Indiana 79-60 and Ohio State 77-67.

Tennessee beat Mississippi State 68-59 before losing to UCLA Sunday on national television and fell from No. 7 Cincinnati beat Wichita State and Duquesne, and remained 12th. North Carolina, after losing to both Wake Forest and Clemson, were the big losers of the week, plummeting from No. 4 to 13th.

Arkansas, 17-1, inched up a spot to 14th, defeating Southwest Conference rivals Texas A&M 72-58, SMU 77-59 and Baylor 68-59.

PROVIDENCE beat Canisius 86-69 but was forced to go to overtime before prevaling over Niagara 71-63. The Friars dropped a notch to 15th. Clemson, by virtue of its victory over North Carolina, jumped three spots to No. 16. Syracuse, 16-2, beat Buffalo and Temple, and remained 17th. Purdue beat Wisconsin and Illinois and held Arizona lost to Wyoming and fell three spots to 19. Detroit, 16-1, cracked the Top 20, rounding out the poll at No. 20.

Memphis State was the lone team to drop out of the Top 20.

Alabama, which lost to Kentucky last Saturday, recovered against Vanderbilt even though leading scorer Reginald King managed entry four points.

"We were tired, our feelings were hurt and we were sore," said Tide Coach C.M. Newton. "Some writers had counted us out of the race with 10 games to go. A victory like this helps our morale

Rickey Brown had 17 points as seven 'Bama players hit for double Center Robert Miller and forward Mike Jones accounted for 21 points apiece in Cincinnati's victory over Memphis State. Bearcats' Coach Gale Catlett called a time out with just two seconds left in the game and his team leading by eight points, causing Memphis State Coach Wayne Yates to wonder: "What kind of strategy do you plan then? He just wanted to rub it in.

To which Catlett replied: "I called the time out for spite. Yates had been acting up all night."

The largest crowd in Indiana State history-10,102-showed up at Terre Haute and saw Larry Byrd score 40 points as the Sycamores beat Illinois

"The first 199 games came pretty tough, too," said Lambert of Southern Illinois' close call against 2-14 St. Louis. A balanced scoring effort by SIU saw five men hit for double figures, led by Mike Glenn's 15 points.

Duke took command against Duquesne in the second half after leading by just five points at intermission. The Blue Devils scored the last 13 points of the game.

Al Lopez tops Hall entries

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - "This really completes everything," Al Lopez said of being named to baseball's Hall of Fame for his managerial talents which twice loosened a 16-year American League domination by the New York Yankees.

Lopez, now 68, was named to the Hall Monday along with the late Amos Rusie, a turn-of-thecentury pitcher, and shortstop Joe Sewell. The only clubs able to stop the feared Yankees' pennant drives between 1949 and 1964 were Lopez' 1954 Cleveland Indians and his 1959

Chicago White Sox. Both clubs lost in the World Series, however. The New York Giants, led by Willie Mays, swept Cleveland in four games and Los Angeles took the White Sox in six games. The Indians' failure is that one that really hurt. "That was a real big disap-pointment," recalled Lopez. "Boy, we had a great club. We just couldn't do anything right. We had won 111 ball games that year, lost only 43." Lopez had what he considers "the best-balanced pitching staff I ever saw," led by Bob Lemon, Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Bob Feller
