The members of McMurry College's May Term Government Probe - Study group returned to Abilene on May 26 after spending three weeks in Washington, D.C. The purpose of the trip was to see, study and evaluate the operations of the Federal Government in regards to the executive, judicial and legislative branches. ## Clayton Honored On 'Speaker's Day'

AUSTIN--In a break with tradition, Speaker Bill Clayton has requested all gifts and contributions usually given to the Speaker and his family on Speaker's Day be given to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch and Girlstown, U.S.A. in Whiteface.

During past sessions, House members and friends have honored the leadership of the Speaker during a session by giving presents. This year Speaker's Day activities May 26 were geared toward recognizing the cooperation and work of members and House employees as well as the Speaker.

Clayton said contributions to the charity organizations are still being donated, and he plans to make a formal presentation of the money after the session. He has reiterated his call for contributions, encouraging any persons who still might be interested to contribute.

Five receptions were scheduled on Speaker's Day honoring House members, employees and the Capitol news media. Included in the day's activities was a House floor ceremony in which Clayton was presented with a scroll signed by House members and two framed batiks from House employees.

Thirteen former Speakers also congregated to honor Clayton. They were seated on the podium behind the Speaker during the formal House ceremony.

Coaches Set Softball Game Saturday

Recently the minor league coaches of the Muleshoe Little League challenged the major league coaches to a softball game, and the challenge was accepted. The game will be played this Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. at the City Softball Park, and the public is encouraged to attend. No admission will be charged, but donations will be accepted.

Players on the minor league team will include: Eugene Shaw, John Neil Agee, R. G. Bennett III, Don Dillard, Edward Orozco, Wayne Gregory, Joe Tarter, Ronald Elliott, Kenneth King, Charles Ball, and Ricky King. Players on the major league team will include Butch Vandiver, Frank Torres, Robert Orozco, Rocky Flores, Joe Orozco, Terry Field, Lupe Quiroz, Scotty Windham, Raymond Cabrera, Evaristo Sanchez, Billy Balderas, Ruben Gonzales, Hector Posadas, and Wayne Moore.

All Little League players and their parents are urged to attend and cheer for their own coach while reminding him of all the expert advice he has been giving his players all season.

Muleshoe Little League is "under the lights" again. Repairs to the lighting system were completed Saturday and games are now being played at the normal times: First game at 6:00 p.m., Second game at 8:00 p.m.

Recent donations to the fund were from Mrs. Keith Bray, Tommy Sisemore, C. E. Wells, Mrs. Allene Bell, Buford Hunt, Howard Watson, Bud Barber, Mrs. R. L. Hobbs, Mrs. C. J.

Feagley, Mrs. Glenn Lust, James and Dianne Brown, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Redwine, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinkson and many others who donated anonymously. The officers and workers in little league, as well as the players, are very grateful to all who have been so generous with donations and purchases of shampoo. Due to the excellent response to the Little League's plea for assistance, the lighting repairs can be paid for without putting the organization in debt. Everyone in the area is urged to come out and see a little league game soon.

Entries Received In Little Miss Contest

The Muleshoe Jaycee-Ettes will be sponsoring a "Little Miss Firecracker" Contest during the month of June. The winner or winners will be announced in the Bailey County Journal and on KMUL Radio on June 29.

The contest is open to any girl between the ages of three and five years of age who resides in Bailey County. A Jaycee-Ette spokesman reports that if there are enough entries in each age group, contestants will be judged separately and a winner will be named for each age group. If there are not enough entries in each age group, there will be only one winner.

The rules of the contest state that the contestants will be judged on a picture no larger than 5x7 inches and no smaller than 2x3 inches. Pictures cannot be returned. The entry fee will be $1.00 per child. The entry deadline is June 23. Judge for the contest will be Mrs. C. E. Simmons of Plainview, the mother of five children.

that will be a long time being told.

"When the session began, I knew there were doubts across the state because of the diverse ideologies and political philosophies in the Legislature. The question was whether we could accomplish much for Texas. I'm proud to say that we've passed legislation that people thought would be impossible. You've worked together as a team regardless of your ideologies.

"You've worked long and hard. I doubt there's been any Legislature to this point in history that has had the workload this session has had. More than 2,300 House bills alone have been introduced this session, along with the 1,500 Senate bills. I wish the citizens of this state could follow your trail on a couple of your legislative days to see how much interest and desire you have to see the people of this great state get a fair shake."

Speaker Clayton was born in Olney, Texas on September 11, 1928 and since 1931 has lived in Springlake, Texas where he was graduated from Springlake High School and where he presently resides. After high school he continued his education at Texas A&M University from which he was graduated with Bachelor of Science degree in agricultural economics.

Clayton is widely known for his ability in a number of business enterprises including farming, ranching, and banking interests in Lamb County as well as several other business investments.

He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1962 by

Farm Bureau Wants Action Rescinded

Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka has asked the U.S. Department of Agriculture to rescind the May 23 action on cotton loans and extend the loan period on the 1974 crop from 10 months to 18 months.

"This would allow our cotton producers to work that cotton onto the market and not be forced to compete with Commodity Credit Corporation inventories," Chaloupka said in a message to Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz.

Chaloupka made the request following Friday's announcement by USDA that the loan period would not be extended. Many outstanding loans on the 1974 cotton crop are coming due June 1, the state farm leader said.

"The USDA decision not to extend the loan period is a great disappointment to Texas cotton producers," the Farm Bureau leader said. "The cotton industry faces continued disaster if some measure of assistance is not provided."

Chaloupka said the loan program has given producers an alternative to taking great losses in the marketplace in recent months.

first asked the CCC in March for an extension of the loan period, saying at the time that recovery of domestic and foreign markets for cotton was unlikely before June.

Chaloupka said CCC President Clayton Yeutter's reply at the time indicated that future conditions would dictate the course of action.

"The spot market for cotton has already responded by breaking significantly lower," the state farm leader told Butz. He reminded the Agriculture Secretary that federal regulations permit CCC to extend the time of repayment or to carry the loans in a past-due status.

Cold Turkey

WASHINGTON--Irresponsible meddling by Congress in foreign affairs could cost the United States the support of a vital ally, with drastic consequences for the entire Free World.

A foreign policy calamity potentially more severe than the catastrophe in Southeast Asia is brewing along the "soft underbelly" of Western Europe.

All along the sunny Mediterranean Southern Flank of NATO, the strategic position of the Western Alliance is crumbling. If present trends are not soon reversed, our Sixth Fleet will be left "flapping in the breeze" without a Mediterranean port in which it would be welcome.

The most publicized blow to NATO has come from Portugal, where the Communists are slowly but surely consolidating their power. American bases in the Portuguese-owned Azores are an important part of our antisubmarine defense network, and made possible the resupply of Israel during the Yom Kippur War.

Events in Portugal are being closely watched in Spain, where the death or resignation of General Franco could spark a similar political upheaval.

France already has withdrawn from the command structure of NATO.

Italy is going through yet another of its innumerable governmental and fiscal crises.

Greece has thrown the Sixth Fleet from its home port in Athens, and withdrawn from NATO because of our refusal to take their side in the explosive Cyprus situation.

And now Congress, by precipitously and discriminatorily cutting off military aid, may succeed in driving from NATO the other disputant in the Cyprus conflict and our most loyal and valuable ally in the Mediterranean--Turkey.

The Turks fought side by side with us in Korea, and have remained steadfast friends ever since. Their friendship has been extremely valuable, for Turkey's strategic position is without parallel. Turkey borders on the Soviet Union. It borders on Syria. It borders on Iraq. The Turks control the vital straits of the Dardanelles, the narrow sea passage through which Soviet warships must pass to reach the Mediterranean.

But Congress seems prepared to discard this valuable friend, to drive Turkey into the camp of the radical Moslems, to in effect mortgage the security of the Free World for the sake of placating some ethnic emotions in the U.S. Congress has dabbled too much in the formation and implementation of foreign policy, which is properly the province of the Executive Branch. This meddling must stop.

FOR RELEASE UPON RECEIPT

AUSTIN--Article VIII of the proposed constitutional revision to be voted on November 4 deals with public finance.

It provides that all real and tangible personal property be taxed on the basis of market value.

State ad valorem taxes are prohibited except for two cents per $100 valuation for the State Building Fund and 10 cents per $100 valuation for higher education.

A new provision would require uniform standards and procedures for appraisal of property. These appraisals would be made by the counties according to standards established by the Legislature.

It would require the Legislature to provide separate formulas for appraising farm and ranch land, and would allow lawmakers to provide similar formulas for timberland.

This new article would continue the provisions for residential homestead exemptions and other exemptions from ad valorem taxes.

A new facet of the finance article would allow taxpayers to pay ad valorem taxes under protest and sue for a refund in district court.

The article would continue the dedication of three-fourths of the revenue from motor fuel taxes for highways and one-fourth of the fuel tax and state occupation taxes to the Available School Fund.

The new finance article would prohibit the state going into debt unless it is approved by two-thirds of the membership of both houses of the Legislature and by the voters in a statewide election.

It would define state debt to include bonds that obligate the general credit of the state or which are payable from tax revenue, tuition, fees, or other charges of state colleges and agencies. Only bonds that would be paid solely from the revenue of the project to be financed would not be included in the definition.

The article would continue the state pay-as-you-go requirement that appropriations remain within the revenue estimated to be available for the fiscal year. It would permit—as does the present Constitution—appropriations in excess of estimated revenue only in case of dire public necessity, subject to four-fifths approval of both houses of the Legislature.

The finance proposal would require that public money and credit be used only for public purposes. The present Constitution prohibits grants or loans to individuals, associations, or corporations except for purposes specifically stated in several provisions. One of these provisions that has been deleted allows the use of state money for assistance to needy persons but limits the total amount to $80 million.

Another new feature of the finance article would prohibit sales taxes on agricultural machinery, parts, fertilizer, feed or seeds, prescription drugs or medicine, and food except food sold in restaurants.

Income Verification Mandatory In Food Stamp Program

All income received by food stamp recipients must be verified if it is expected to be received during the certification period or is meant for use during the certification period. This includes total salary and wages, gifts or awards for maintenance and bonuses paid as income (such as the crop bonus commonly given by farmers).

Charges are occasionally made that employers do not report total wages paid to employees, particularly the crop bonus. However, local welfare officials are somewhat skeptical of these reports. Both the employee and employer commit criminal offenses when income is intentionally reported incorrectly to obtain benefits or increase benefits from the food stamp program. Local officials feel it is not likely an employer would conspire with his employees to defraud the government. Employers simply have nothing to gain when their criminal responsibility is taken into consideration. The employer commits a criminal offense when he intentionally signs a false income verification statement. The provisions are contained in The Penal Code of Texas, Section 32.32, subsection b.

It is recognized that some abuse is possible in any program. Consequently, an investigation unit has been created by the State Department of Public Welfare. This unit is composed primarily of former police officers who are familiar with investigative responsibilities and the proper legal procedures. If you have knowledge of any attempts to defraud the government, you should report it immediately

That Vacation

This is the time of year to remind yourself a summer vacation can be as tiring as any event of the year—and as dangerous.

The energy crunch, thankfully, has lessened the death toll on our highways but in many states the June and July fatalities begin to rise again.

Aside from the danger of accidents, congestion, hot weather, rushing to and from holiday choices can wear out a family quickly—and make mom and dad happy summer comes but once a year.

Summer can be great fun—if one can escape the heat. And escaping it might mean planning this year to avoid the rush, long trips, fast schedules, congested highways, cities, and activities in the middle of the day. If you can do all that, you're almost certain to enjoy the sunny days and warm temperatures of the summer of '75.

Meeks, Ferrill Exchange Vows

In a double ring ceremony, Miss Regina Gail Meeks and Richard Allen Ferrill were united in marriage at 4 p.m. Saturday, May 17. The garden of Mrs. Esther Meeks, Susan, grandmother of the bride, provided the setting. Sam Stanton, a minister of the San Antonio Olmos Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, performed the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Warren J. Meeks of Muleshoe, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Ferrill of Britton, Michigan.

Decorations in the garden consisted of hanging baskets filled with pink flowers and greenery. The aisle was marked by pink candles and hurricane globes held by black wrought iron standards.

Under a lattice covered alcove guests were registered from a table covered with a pink floor length cloth overlaid with white Spanish lace. Decorations on the table included the guest book and a vase holding pink rose buds. Presiding at the guest table was Mrs. Jack Tiffin, Earth.

Musical selections, chosen by the bride, were played by Mrs. James Hartline, Earth, pianist for the occasion.

The bride, presented in marriage by her father, was adorned in a white formal length gown of reembroidered cotton designed and fashioned by the bride and her mother. The bodice featured a fitted midriff with a scoop neckline. Accenting the neck the bride wore a single strand of pearls presented her by the groom's mother. The slightly puffed sleeves were edged with reembroidered lace. The gently gathered skirt fell softly from the bodice ending in a deep flounce ruffle. The bride wore a picture hat designed and fashioned by her grandmother, Mrs. Florence Simmons of Coleman, Texas. The hat, covered in tulle with a waist length veil, featured small embroidered flowers on the crown and brim, matching the flowers on the dress. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations, pink and white pom-pom mums, babies' breath and white ribbon.

Maid of honor was Miss Sherry Lowery, Earth. She wore a formal length dress of pink dotted Swiss embroidered in deeper pink rose buds and green leaves. The dress was styled with an empire waist, scoop neck, and slightly gathered skirt with a deep ruffle. She wore a pink garden hat trimmed with pink satin ribbon. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations, pink mums, and pink ribbon.

Daniel Torres, Ida, Michigan, served the groom as best man. Ushers were Fred Meeks, brother of the bride; Douglas Lowe, Dundee, Michigan, Fred Martinez, Martin Polanco, Jerry Gonzales all of Littlefield, Zan Moore, Lubbock and Rob Stanton, San Antonio.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Meeks wore a formal length gown of pink polyester with a cowl neckline accented with a matching jacket. A white carnation corsage and white accessories completed her attire.

Mrs. Ferrill chose a formal length gown of soft pink and white lace with a slightly flared skirt and short sleeves. She wore a white carnation corsage and white accessories. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the enclosed patio.

The bride's table featured a table runner of white Spanish lace over pink. Five Mexican candles in wooden holders made up the centerpiece. Other focal points were the two-tiered square wedding cake decorated with varying shades of pink chrysanthemums and pink punch served from a crystal punch bowl.

A variety of dainty sandwiches were served from a round table covered with a pink floor length cloth centered with a single pink Mexican candle. Coffee was served on a wooden cart from a gold coffee urn.

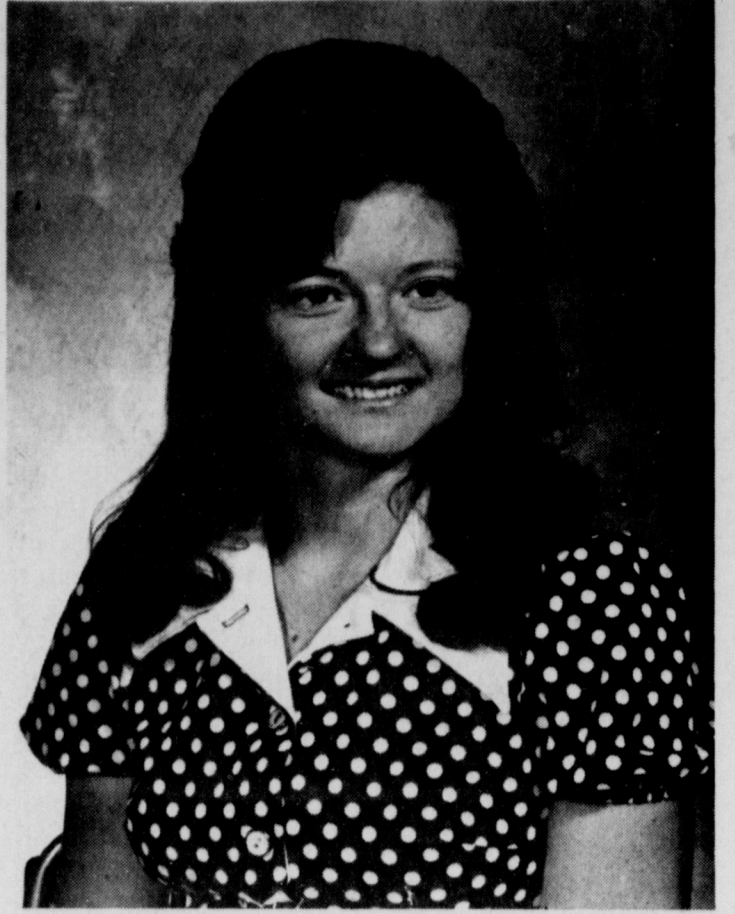

Members of the house party were Becky Campbell, Littlefield, cousin of the bride, Sharla Lowery, Littlefield, Stacey Stanton, San Antonio, Patricia Mills, Lubbock; and Lori Hartline, Brenda Tandy, Sherry Tyler, and Michelle Graves all of Muleshoe.

For travel the bride chose a pink crepe sleeveless dress accented by a pink eyelet waist length jacket. White accessories, a pink hat, and a corsage of white carnations completed the ensemble.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Springlake-Earth High School.

The groom is a 1970 graduate of Dundee High School in Michigan. He is presently employed by Mighty Distributing System of West Texas in Littlefield.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio the couple will be home at 1319 West 3rd Street in Littlefield.

Vernon of Muleshoe announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Nelda Jo to John Luttrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Luttrell of Farmington, N. M. ## New Fabric Design College Station---Watch for "engineered" prints, they're making fashion news, Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist, advised.

This is one of the newest fashionable fabric designs. The term "engineered" refers to a large bordered design, usually scenic, that moves around the total body, the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, explained.

"Predominately popular in T shirts, shirts and tops, sleeves are also engineered into the total design.

"Currently sold primarily in ready-to-wear markets, homesewers can create engineered designs with careful planning from border print fabrics," she said.

Is Honey More Nutritious Than Other Sugars

College Station---Honey is often touted as "much better for you" than other sugars. But is it really?

Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist, said that honey is actually no more practical that sugar as a source for adequate daily intake of necessary nutrients.

"A tablespoon of honey provides more calories and carbohydrates than the same amount of granulated, powdered or brown sugar.

"It has less calcium, phosphorus and iron than brown sugar. Honey contains minimal amounts of thiamin, riboflavin and ascorbic acid," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

She explained that there are only small differences in the amounts of vitamins and minerals in honey and other sugars.

Honey is invert sugar formed by an enzyme from nectar gathered by bees. It's composed of different kinds of sugars, including dextrose, sucrose, le-never be worn by another child," she explained. Even soft-soled foot protection such as socks, booties, or footed-pajamas can restrict a baby's foot growth if they are too short or tight, according to this specialist.

"A baby's feet grow rapidly in size, though full development takes years. So it's best to check the baby's or toddler's shoes once a month to make sure they haven't been outgrown," Miss Vanderpoorten advised.

Use Cosmetics Safely

COLLEGE STATION--Regulations governing other advertising also govern cosmetics, according to Margret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist. "Cosmetics contribute greatly to appearance and morale -- that's their purpose. But the effects are temporary," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, pointed out.

Firms that advertise falsely -- promising permanent rejuvenation -- may be penalized and forced to retract any false ideas presented to the public.

The Federal Trade Commission enforces the regulation concerning advertising and will receive complaints from consumers if the manufacturer doesn't give satisfaction when asked to uphold its claims, the specialist said. "Another concern is safety of aerosol products. Considerations are the ingredients used, frequency and nature of use, susceptibility to misuse, and the safety of containers. "No immediate regulations are expected, but consumers should remember that aerosol containers hold a great deal of pressure and will explode if overheated."

Miss Vanderpoorten reported that soon all cosmetics will be labeled with a list of ingredients, except for flavors and fragrances. This will help consumers with allergies.

"Cosmetic manufacturers need to know about any defective product or adverse reactions from using a product."

She said that consumer complaints about use should be written directly to the company, and "send the product back for testing," she advised.

Cosmetic products can be dangerous if misused. Always wash hands before using any cosmetics -- especially those being applied to the face.

The specialist noted other safety rules to remember.

--Read the label carefully and follow directions.

--To determine possible allergic reaction to a product, test it on the inside forearm for 24 hours. If a reaction occurs, don't use the product.

--If any cosmetic causes redness, burning, or other irritation, stop using it immediately.

--Report any adverse effects to the manufacturer.

--Don't let children play with cosmetics.

--Be especially careful to avoid damaging the eyes when using eye cosmetics.

Baby's First Shoes

COLLEGE STATION--Many mothers may wonder just exactly when a baby needs his first pair of shoes.

Margret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist, pointed out that hard soled shoes aren't really needed until a baby is truly walking.

"Shoes for the crawler or just - learning - to - stand baby should be primarily for protection from hard floors," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

"One of the most important facts to remember is never to hand down shoes from one child to another -- even if the shoes look new. After a shoe has been worn, it conforms to the shape of the original wearer's foot, and that's why it should

Faster Grocery Check-Out Method

College Station--Space Age technology has come to the supermarket in the form of that small rectangle of thick and thin bars and spaces on food package labels, Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, noted this week.

"This Universal Product Code (UPC) indicates manufacturer, price and other identifying characteristics of the food product," she explained.

What about its use in the supermarket? At the checkout counter, the UPC can be read by an electronic cash register hooked up to a computer. Instantly the consumer will have a register tape indicating price and description of items purchased.

This computerized check-out will provide consumers fast service and accurate and detailed records of food purchased.

"But one disadvantage is that supermarkets may decide not to price mark food products for consumers since the computer picks up the symbol price.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The 64th regular session of the Legislature wound down with a few bangs and several whimpers this week.

In five months of activity, it considered legislation touching almost every segment of the state's economic and social life.

Despite criticism, the session did turn out legislation of far-reaching importance. Even before final last-minute decisions on a $12 billion record budget, school finance reform and utilities regulation, the session chalked up these accomplishments:

—Article-by-article constitutional revision, set for a statewide election November 4.

—Approval of Health Maintenance Organizations, a new form of fixed-fee health care coverage, and two medical malpractice insurance bills.

—Provision for issuing certificates of need for hospital facilities and reorganization of the State Board of Health.

—Adoption of a permanent voter registration bill and a measure to authorize primary election finance.

—Passage of a nine-counties House of Representatives bill which will assure single-member districts for the counties.

—Establishment of a 1976 presidential preference primary.

—Agreement on a "rape victims' bill" to aid in prosecution of sex crimes.

Bonds Approved

A proposed constitutional amendment to raise the ceiling on state water development bonds from $400 million to $800 million will be voted on in November, 1976.

The resolution contains a prohibition on use of money to import Mississippi River water. A $35 million limit is also ordered for individual projects which are not part of a statewide water plan.

A bill to authorize issuing all or part of the new bonds will be put off until the 1977 Legislature convenes.

Redistricting Passed

A bill providing single-member House of Representatives districts for nine Texas counties survived a Senate filibuster and was sent to the governor.

It applies to Travis, Jefferson, McLennan, Tarrant, Lubbock, Nueces, Galveston, El Paso and Hidalgo counties.

All the counties except Galveston and Hidalgo were covered by a 1974 court order (later delayed) decreeing single-member districts.

Revenue Raising

Comptroller Bob Bullock, who raised his state revenue estimate more than $200 million, said he may boost it still another $200 million due to President Ford's oil program.

Bullock urged the legislature to adopt a one-year budget and give him a chance to draw a sharper sight on tax income.

He said Ford's $1 a barrel oil import tariff proposal and recommendations to remove price ceilings from "old oil" (domestic crude oil produced at 1972 levels) would certainly bring further hikes in state taxes unless rejected by congress. Oil is taxed at market value by the state.

Court Speaks

The State Supreme Court declined to order dismissal of a lawsuit which resulted in removal of Archer Parr as Duval County judge.

In other action, the High Court declined to reconsider its earlier ruling that the Texas Railroad Commission could not set aside natural gas contracts. Two months ago, the Court held the agency was not required to apportion gas in Lo-Vaca Gathering Company's lines to help Austin and San Antonio meet a shortage.

The Supreme Court refused to cancel an order of an Austin district judge banning publication of names of jurors in a murder trial until the case goes to the jury. An appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court is promised.

A lower court award of $11,422 damages to an injured Houston Oilers defensive lineman was upheld by the Supreme Court.

A.G. Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill, in an opinion requested by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, held Richmond Mayor Hilmar Moore is not barred by law from serving as both mayor and a State Board of Public Welfare member.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A person held after arrest on a governor's warrant is not entitled to bail. Dallas agencies can furnish information on juveniles to a private data bank if the youngsters are not identified.

A school teacher cannot also hold the office of justice of the peace.

A bill which would allow students and military personnel to select their place of residence for purposes of eligibility to vote is constitutional.

Awards Received

Six Texas businesses received the Governor's 1974 Industrial Expansion Award.

Recipients of the award were Mooney Aircraft Corp., Kerrville; Amoco Chemical Corp., Alvin; Timex Corp., Abilene; G&H Casting Corp., Slaton; Inca Metal Products Corp., Lewisville and Mr. Fine, Athens.

Governor Briscoe credited the firms with "fighting the recession in the best way possible—with aggressive expansion and civic responsibility." Texas Industrial Commission selected winners based on nominations by chambers of commerce and industrial foundations.

Short Snorts

A new voter registration law will require all Texas voters to re-register between November 5 and March 1, 1976.

The governor has signed into law that bill banning smoking in many public places. It takes effect in September.

Decline in advance contracting for cotton crops reflects slumping demand, Agriculture Commissioner John White warned.

Recent spring storms caused an estimated $15 million in insured damage, according to Insurance Commissioner Joe Christie.

First City National Bank of Houston was successful bidder on the recent $15 million Water Development Board "clean water" bond issue.

4-H Provides Practical Experiences

College Station—Practical experiences in production, marketing and animal nutrition are a great part of 4-H agriculture projects. But so are group interaction and personal satisfaction, points out Yvonne Garcia, 4-H and youth specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

During 1973-74 more than 70,000 4-H boys and girls in Texas participated in agricultural and related projects.

4-H youth, in talking about their project experiences, point to certain learning aspects and relationships.

Eddie Perkins of Johnson County recalls, "One of my earliest 4-H memories is coming to the fair to bring my older brothers' and sisters' calves. It was so much fun for a small boy to roll and jump in the straw that was put down for bedding."

"Later, when I was finally a 4-H member, I brought my own calves to the show. I met several new friends, and, as the years passed, it was fun to renew these friendships over and over again. I never had a Grand Champion, but these memories and experiences are my banner and trophy."

The excitement of winning can be an exciting as well as a maturing learning experience, too, as Jacquelyn Langford of Parmer County discovered.

"Having the Grand Champion of the show is a dream come true, and it's a scene I've relived more than once. All my beef cattle projects have really meant a lot to me. But the experiences I've had—getting over my shyness, learning to speak before crowds, relating to others—I wouldn't trade for anything in the whole world."

While these young agriculturalists may one day become knowledgeable professionals, they will also be equipped with life-long skills developed through decision-making opportunities and leadership experiences, contends Garcia.

WALLACE MEDALLIONS MONTGOMERY, ALA. — Gov. George C. Wallace reports that royalties from the sale of Wallace medallions to campaign contributors are used to defray the cost of his high medical bills incurred by an assassin's bullet.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK
State Comptroller

Austin—When we talk about energy in Texas we are talking about oil. And when we talk about oil we are talking about big money in state taxes.

But despite oil's importance to Texas, the future and the fortunes of our oil tax revenue depends on the actions and situations at the national and international levels.

This is why President Ford's energy programs—and whatever the Congress does about them—will have a drastic effect on our state treasury.

In the first place, the President has announced that effective June 1 he was putting a $1 a barrel import tax on all foreign oil coming into America. Congress gave him authority last year to order such import taxes up to $3 a barrel. He levied $1 of the $3 in February.

The net result of raising the price of imported oil $1 a barrel is to raise the price of oil produced in the United States also. The result of price increases is an increase in tax revenue because Texas' oil production tax is figured at 4.6 per cent of the oil's market price.

Based on price increases we saw when the first dollar's worth of import tax was put on in February, we estimate that the new increase will bring in an additional $32.5 million in tax money—above the $1.1 billion oil production taxes will produce in the next two years.

But there is a chance Congress will override the President's plan. Therefore, Texas can't bank on this money until Congress has its say.

The President also wants Congress to phase out price controls on what we call "old oil." This is just a name—and not a very good one—given to the amounts of oil produced by each producer in 1972. Today oil produced up to the 1972 level is under a federal price ceiling of $5.25 a barrel. Oil produced above the 1972 level is considered "new oil" and is not under price controls. It now sells for about $11 a barrel.

Obviously, if the $5.25 price ceiling is removed—altogether or by phases—the price will rise and as it does the revenue from the 4.6 per cent tax will increase.

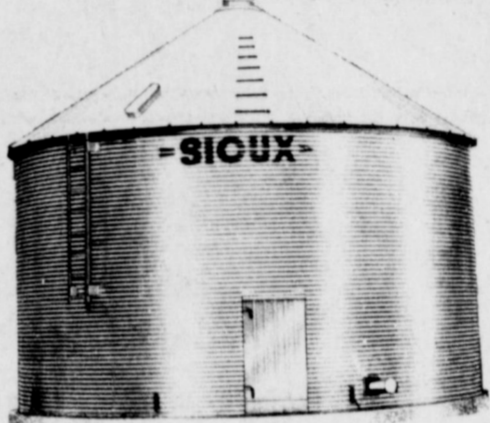

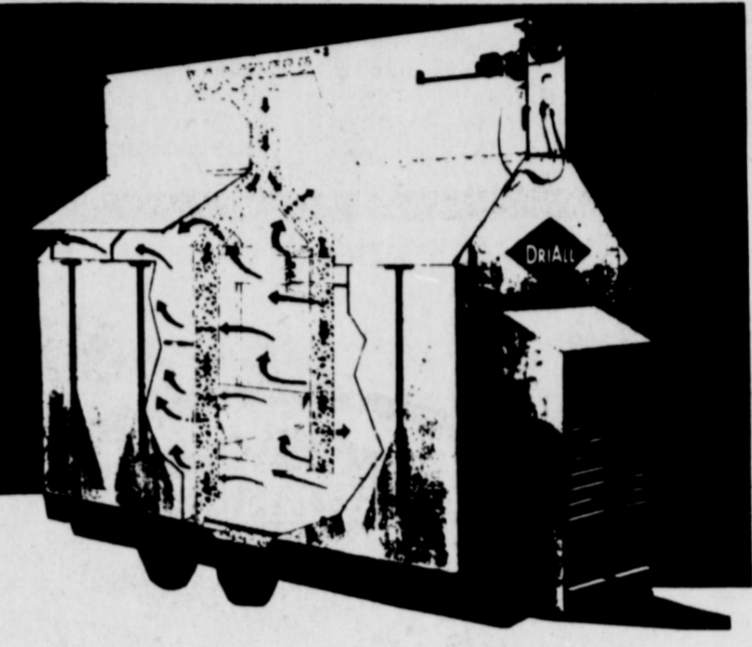

We estimate that taking off the price lid would bring about a fantastic tax revenue increase of between $175 million and $225 million because about 60 per cent of the oil produced in Texas is under the price control. But again, it may be several months before Congress finally acts on this and we know where we stand. Whatever gains we get from whatever federal action is taken comes too late for use on this year's budget. By early next year the picture will be in focus and if we had annual budget sessions of the Legislature the money could be used then.

The large plenum chamber combined with high airflow per bushel and correct fuel combustion ensures even heat distribution and evenly dried grain throughout the drier. Even distribution plus even heat plus even unloading equals uniform drying at highest capacity and at lowest cost.

AUTOMATIC FEED
All units are equipped for automatic loading. The bin switches let the drier fill automatically from truck, wagon or well storage.

DISTRIBUTING SYSTEM
Uniform drying is assured by this adjustable system which distributes the grain evenly over the full length of the drier and keeps "fines" from piling up at the inlet end that cause uneven drying.

TOTALLY ENCLOSED
Weather-tight and front enclosure reduce recirculation, increase drying capacity, and abate air pollution. The roof saves you valuable down time in case of rain or snow.

SAFE VAPORIZER
In DriAll models using LP Gas, low temperature vaporizers are safely located in the plenum chamber away from flame, as contrasted to short tube systems that are located directly in the flame that can be potential fire hazards.

SIMPLE CONTROLS
Easy-to-read temperature limit, flame-out, loss of airflow, and thermostat temperature controls provide quick, effortless control.

FRONT ENCLOSURE
Reduces the noise level and provides operator safety, as well as reduces recirculation of the air to increase drier efficiency.

AIRFOIL FAN
Specially designed fan delivers correct airflow for uniform, high speed drying. Blades can be factory set for various power sources.

INDUSTRIAL BURNER
Heavy-duty burner especially designed for each model provides proper combustion and heat distribution. Optional diversion unit can be added at any time.

POWER OPTION
Either power take-off (PTO) or Electric Drive may be selected for any DriAll model.

GRAIN FLOW
Straight 12 inch grain columns expose an equal amount of grain on each side to proper heat and airflow to give high quality, uniform drying. Grain moves slowly down the columns and passes into the cooling section where it completes drying the grain and equalizes. Grain leaving the cooling section is cooled to near outside air temperatures.

INSULATED DECK
The deck that separates the chambers is insulated for more efficient heating and cooling.

METERING AND UNLOADING
Straight aluminum metering rolls meter the grain positively and accurately and are designed to prevent jamming. The oversize auger turns slowly to gently move the grain to a central unloading point at the rear for ease of handling.

MOISTURE CONTROL AID
Because of reduced recirculation, proper airflow and even heat distribution a DriAll unit needs only one moisture control sensor. This control helps keep grain dried to a set moisture level and takes the worry out of drying.

THE SCIENTISTS TELL ME ...

By Robert L. Haney, Science Writer
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

Redesigned Cancer Drugs May Increase Effectiveness

Many cancer drugs exist that can kill or arrest the spread of cancerous cells. But none of these drugs can be considered a satisfactory cure for cancer.

The main drawbacks of most of the drugs presently used in chemotherapy (treatment with chemicals) are threefold: they kill many normal cells, and they are ineffective against resting cancer cells. In addition, the cancerous cells eventually develop a resistance to the drugs.

"While there is no cancer drug without undesired toxicity, some drugs could be redesigned to exist in a harmless storage form that could be distributed throughout the body," says Dr. Joseph Nagyvary, a professor of nucleotide chemistry in the Department of Biochemistry and Biophysics, The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas A&M University.

"These redesigned drugs would be able to easily pass through the walls of all cells and become active mainly when in the presence of abnormal, growing tissue," Nagyvary stated.

"Notice I say abnormal. The approach my group is investigating is expected to work on not only cancerous tissue, but also it is being studied for problems of allergy, psoriasis and brain tissue.

At present, problems with all of these involve some of the most resistant cells of the body.

"Biological studies on allergy, effect on the brain and on psoriasis will be performed in collaboration with Dr. A. Szentivanyi (Tampa, Florida) and Dr. W. Klemm (Texas A&M University).

"Texans will be pleased to know that while the initial research of the team I head was supported by the Experiment Station and Texas A&M, our present research is strongly supported by federal grants.

"Our involvement in development of new drugs, which was begun in 1968, has received the attention and financial support of the National Institutes of Health.

Results and projects developed here at Texas A&M have been recognized and adopted by some prominent research institutions.

"Drugs can do their thing good or bad only in tissues where they are absorbed. The same drug can be invigorating or intoxicating, depending on the site and manner of its administration. Much effort is spent nowadays on regulating or modulating the delivery (logistics) of drugs to selected tissues.

Some of the best drugs, such as aspirin and penicillin, were the result of accidental discoveries, but the modern scientist likes to rely on rational approaches. There are several obvious areas for achieving a better utilization of drugs. The TAMU group is zeroing in on better penetration of tissues by a certain class of drugs called nucleotide anti-metabolites.

"These compounds were unable to penetrate cellular membranes because of their electric charge which, on the other hand, is required for biological activity. The rationale underlying our strategy was suggested by the behavior of organophosphate insecticides which are neutral molecules and possess superior penetration."

Logically, Nagyvary and his colleagues transformed one of the important cellular agents, so called cAMP, into a neutral phosphate. It is known that cAMP not only regulates the growth and shape of cells, it is also involved in diseases such as psoriasis, asthma, diabetes, hypoglycemia and even in aging.

Yet, when injected, cAMP does little good for reasons of poor absorption through cell walls. But after modification in neutral form, it exhibits some of the desired activities and it seems even to stimulate the nervous system, which is the toughest target to penetrate.

Other advantages of using the neutral organophosphate form of drugs, according to Nagyvary, are that it can be considered a good storage form, from which the active agent is released only slowly with a longer period of action and less toxicity. The application of the same principle to cancer drugs will lead to the development of better efficiency in the treatment of resistant tumors, which otherwise do not respond to chemotherapy.

Nagyvary emphasizes that his group does only the initial part of drug development, including chemical design, studies of biochemical mechanisms of action, and simple small animal studies. Research hospitals take care of the further applications to human diseases. Nagyvary feels much credit should go to those responsible for advocating the new line of research activity. He singles out the work of Dr. R. K. Gohis and Dr. R. G. Gillen.

These findings of the TAES team were presented on May 19 at Buffalo, New York, before the Sixteenth Annual Medicinal Chemistry Symposium.

In 1968, Nagyvary's students initiated biological testing of an anti-leukemic agent which was further developed and modified in Japan and is on its way to becoming the best single agent against human leukemia.

There are new horizons, which bring new excitement and challenges, such as the stimulation of the brain and the rejuvenation of cells and organs. Research of such fundamental interest and wide scope is bound to benefit plant, animal and human health.

ON INDOCHINA

MOSCOW—Leonid Brezhnev said that he hoped the end of the wars in Indochina would lead to a further relaxation of tensions between the Soviet Union and the United States.

James R. Schlesinger, Defense Secretary: "Our involvement (in Vietnam) was not purposeless. It was intended to assist a small nation to preserve its independence in the face of external attack."

Edward M. Kennedy, Senator (D-Mass): "U.S. aid should be provided to the war's victims in Indochina in a diplomacy of reconciliation and normalization."

Muleshoe Journal, Thursday, May 5, 1975, Page 7

Joseph A. Karth, Congressman (D-Minn), on proposed gasoline tax increases: "I doubt this will produce the end result we are looking for of conserving gasoline."

Mike Mansfield, Senate Democrat Leader: "I think it's time we get away from this World War II syndrome and recognize the world for what it is and act accordingly."

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

The weight of current evidence slightly favors a "gradual improvement" in cotton markets over the near-term, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice-President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and a number of factors point to substantially better markets over the next few years.

These were conclusions drawn by the High Plains cotton producer organization executive in a talk before the Board of Directors of the Texas Cotton Ginners Association at a meeting May 29 at Lubbock's South Park Inn.

"Based on the information we have been able to gather over the past week," Johnson said, "it is improbable that U.S. cotton plantings in 1975 will reach the 9.9 million acres indicated by USDA's March 1 planting intentions survey." Acreage is more likely to be around 9 million or a little above, Johnson stated.

Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas, plagued by excess rainfall during the planting season, are three of the states where cotton acreage may fall well below earlier expectations. In Mississippi, for example, where USDA on March 1 projected 1.2 million acres, informed sources now report that the total will be no more than 900,000 and could be somewhat less. Should Mississippi's cotton fall below 900,000 acres, it would be the smallest acreage in that state since 1866.

Along with low acreage Johnson cited generally late crops and far from ideal weather conditions to date as further indications that U.S. cotton production in 1975 may fall a million bales or more below an expected domestic and export combined offtake of around 10 million bales.

The projected 6 million bale carryover on August 1 of this year and currently slack demand would rule against a strong or sudden upsurge in prices this fall or early 1976, he continued, "but more unfavorable weather and/or a pickup in textile demand could change that picture very quickly."

On demand for textile products, Johnson said there are indications of an upturn, "but these are not yet firm enough nor convincing enough to put mills into any sustained buying mood."

For his long-range bullishness on Texas cotton, Johnson leans heavily on the movement of textile producing capacity to Texas and the Southwest.

"We are now at the point of significant industry development, particularly in the area of open-end spinning," he said, "and this will strengthen the position of Texas cotton both here and in the rest of the world."

Also on the plus side for cotton markets of the future, he cited the new cotton products coming on stream from research efforts of Cotton Incorporated and the feedstock price and supply problems of the manmade fiber industry.

Who'll Be First? ... Here's The Address ... Roasting Ears, Sorghum, Corn, Watermelons.

June means a lot of things to a lot of people, and to the cotton industry, June is the month for the first bale of 1975 cotton to be ginned. The bale is produced in the Lower Rio Grande Valley during the month of June. And while Valley farmers are waiting for the first bale of cotton, other cotton farmers throughout the state are planting their 1975 crop.

Cotton farmers are also looking for signs to better days for cotton. And some cotton industry spokesmen are seeing rays of hope ahead. For example, they point to reduced cotton acreages in this nation and abroad, which they say will lower the projections of carryover for cotton. But the best sign is the economic recovery.

Some economists believe the recession has bottomed out, and that the economy—including cotton—will begin showing improvements during the latter part of this year.

The textile industry has been especially hard hit by the recession, but indications are that better and brighter things are in store in the coming months.

Meanwhile, cotton planting for the state is now more than 50 per cent completed which compares favorably with last year's schedule. Some fields, as usual, will have to be replanted due to hail and floods.

Cotton acres in Texas this year are expected to be down a million from 1974 plantings.

ABC's Of Bicycle Safety

College Station---Economic and health benefits from bicycling have increased the number of riders lately.

So it's more important than ever to remember that Always Be Careful is the ABC of bicycle safety, reminded Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist.

"Bicycling shouldn't be a game of chance, nor should the ride end in the hospital emergency room if bicycle safety rules are observed," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

More than 15 per cent of bike accidents are caused by mechanical and structural problems. This makes it important for the rider to observe safety rules—but it's also his responsibility to ride a safe bike, she said.

Bicycles come in different sizes, just like people. --Sidewalk bikes are for beginners (children) and may have training wheels to steady the child's balance.

--A middle-weight bicycle has one or two speeds, balloon tires and coaster brakes. It offers stability and strength for everyday riding.

--High-rise bicycles usually have high-rise handlebars, banana seats and are small in size. High-rise bikes are fun and easy to handle, but are hard to pedal long distances.

--Lightweight bikes have more gears, complex parts and hand brakes. They're easy to ride over hills and long distances.

--Adult-size tricycles are three-wheeled bikes with balloon tires, coaster brakes and no gears.

"Riders should select a bicycle that fits them in size, transportation needs and riding skills," Miss Taylor said.

Safety features to check are reflectors on back and front and on wheels; lights for night riding; pedals with treads; no protruding or sharp points that snag clothing. Also hand and foot brakes that hold; wheels that do not wobble; and bike parts such as spokes, chain, handlebar grips, brake pads and cables that are in good, not worn, condition. Special care should be taken to avoid long coats, loose-legged pants or blinding caps when riding. Stunting on bicycles or failing to observe traffic rules are poor riding habits, she said.

of cattle are infected with the disease. Federal authorities are now embarked on a program to eradicate the disease as soon as practical.

A report from the Texas Animal Health Commission revealed recently that brucellosis infection in the state was at a level of around three per cent in herds tested.

Indemnity payments are offered to assist livestock producers in financial relief from losses caused by brucellosis-infected cattle. Because of lack of information on reporting forms, some indemnity payments are running behind schedule.

If you need information as to how to apply for indemnity payments or the procedures you need to follow, you can get the correct information by contacting the above address or telephone number.

JUNE IS ALSO A TIME to enjoy fresh produce from Texas farms. It's roasting ear time in the southern part of the state. In the Coastal Bend, watermelon and tomato harvest are underway. Cantaloupes, honeydew melons and bell peppers are also being harvested in the Valley.

Peach harvest activity continues in the state, too. Hail and high winds caused some damage in Central Texas. Peach harvest is set to begin in the Cross-Timbers area.

Pecan set is reported good throughout most of the state. Many producers are busy controlling casebearers.

In field crops, corn planting is completed throughout the state. Sorghum planting is more than three-fourths finished.

Peanut seeding is nearing the 50 per cent completion mark. Rice planting is also completed. Soybean planting is just getting underway. In most of the soybean territory for Texas (the northern High Plains), fields have been too wet to plant.

Wheat harvest continues in South Texas, and it is ready to commence in Central Texas as well as other parts of the state.

Texas Poultry Receipts Down

College Station---The Texas poultry industry suffered a drop of more than $30 million in cash receipts last year compared to 1973 levels. The drop was expected as cash receipts from poultry fell throughout the United States, according to a poultry marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Cash receipts from broilers, turkeys and eggs declined," says Dr. David B. Mellor, "due mainly to decreased production of eggs and sharply lower turkey prices. Broiler numbers were up but prices were off slightly."

Total cash receipts from poultry production were at the $304 million level compared to $335 in 1973. Texas still ranks sixth in the nation in poultry cash receipts as the high returns of 1973 fell in almost every state.

"Cash receipts from eggs dropped $8.5 million from 1973 to 1974," notes the specialist with the Texas A&M University System, "as egg production was cut back 220 million, a drop of almost 9 per cent. The average price of eggs increased just over two cents per dozen compared to 1973." Mellor says that slightly larger production of broilers and slightly lower prices resulted in a $5.7 million drop in cash receipts in 1974.

Turkey production was down slightly from 1973 but the price drop at the farm level from 40 cents a pound to 31 cents per pound was the big influence on the drop in cash receipts, Mellor points out. Cash receipts from turkeys fell by almost $16 million.

"Poultry production is expected to remain under pressure during 1975 due to high feed costs and continued large supplies of beef," adds Mellor.

COAST GUARD DOG

CHARLESTON, S. C. -- Boatswain's Mate 3C, Robert Midnight, U. S. Coast Guard, received a formal order to report aboard the cutter Cape Morgan and conduct himself in a "dog-like manner." Midnight is a large black labrador who wandered onto the base and was cared for by seaman.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—With the approach of the swimming and sunning season, many persons trying on last year's bathing suits are unhappy about their physical condition.

Health spas and companies selling weight reduction aids are quick to capitalize on the desire to get back into shape for summer. Advertisements are appearing in many publications for special devices or products or exercise programs that will help you "shed inches and pounds in time for your vacation."

But our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division lawyers caution persons who suddenly decide to "do something" about their condition to be careful.

Always consult your physician before embarking on an exercise program or new diet. Both your physician and your common sense will likely tell you that you should increase your activity slowly and gradually. This is especially true if you are dieting along with an exercise program.

But our attorneys also caution consumers to be careful if they intend to sign up with a health spa for an exercise program, or if they plan to try some of the advertised diet aids.

The main thing to remember, say our attorneys, is that no exercise or diet is going to work without some effort on your part. Many persons hope to find some "secret formula" that will kill their appetites and allow them to lose weight without hunger pangs. Or they search for a health spa that promises to trim off inches and tighten muscles "with absolutely no effort by you."

Consumers who look for such miracles could fall for the false, misleading, or deceptive sales practices used by some businesses. For example, our Consumer Protection attorneys recently obtained a permanent court injunction against a weight reduction firm. The six-week program the firm was recommending to consumers involved daily injections of human chorionic gonadotropin, a hormone derived from the urine of pregnant women.

Persons who signed up for the program also were put on a 500 calorie per day diet, a very strict diet that if followed would cause most persons to lose weight without injections of any kind. Under the court order, the firm must stop representing that the hormone injections can reduce weight or that they prevent hunger pangs or other discomfort while on the diet.

Consumers should also check carefully before signing up for "special summer rates" being offered at some health spas. Sometimes the low price is just bait to get you to the spa, where you will be urged to sign a higher-priced long-term contract. In some cases, the "special rate" is the same as the usual rate.

Keep these things in mind when considering a health spa contract. You should find out exactly what you will get, how much it will cost, and how long the program will last. Check facilities and equipment, and find out if they are available for use at all times. Talk with others who have signed contracts there. Be sure not to sign a contract with a firm that hasn't opened yet. If possible, enroll for a trial period to see if you like the program and personnel. And find out in advance if you can cancel if you move, become ill, or just change your mind.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

An experiment in pre-paid medical insurance among migrant families in Laredo may provide information on which a national insurance program can be adopted.

The Laredo plan, now in its third year, has been expanded to include 700 families--some 4,500 persons--who are now moving out across the country following the crops. In its first year in 1973 only 100 families were covered, but the number was increased to 450 families this year.

The plight of the migrant has been told many times. Life of the modern-day gypsies is characterized by lack of social and educational attainments, and lack of medical care.

The Comprehensive Health Care Plan is a mechanism designed to utilize both the public and private health care sector in making a spectrum of medical care services available to the transients on their travels around the country.

Laredo was first selected as a special study area because of a big migrant project already underway and the enthusiasm of the Laredo-Webb County Health Department.

The original project was proposed by officials in the Health, Education and Welfare regional office in Dallas. Answers were being sought to several questions regarding pre-paid medical care. It was suggested by the HEW office that 100 families be given complete medical and hospitalization services to determine the costs, actuarial figures, utilization patterns and other information.

"This was a new approach to migrant health care," says Jose L. Gonzalez, administrator of the Laredo Health Department and project director.

Gonzalez discussed the matter with the late Dr. Leo Cigarroa, at that time chief clinician with the Laredo Health Department. Inspired by the potential scope of the health project, Dr. Cigarroa immediately telephoned an executive of a leading nationwide health insurance company (Blue Cross-Blue Shield) and invited them to join the program. This resulted in a contract between the agencies. Much of the development planning as well as the evaluation and interviewing protocols were established in conjunction with the University of Texas School of Public Health.

The work of enrolling the families went to the Laredo Migrant Health Program, a section of the Laredo-Webb County Health Department headed by Roland Nanez, section chief who serves as project director.

Last year and this year the job grew with the introduction of more families into the program.

Gonzalez says utilization of the program has been great. "The families haven't abused the privilege by unnecessary utilization of services. This has allowed the study to continue and to bring in more people," he said.

The program is described as an excellent one. "We hope at this point to later enroll the entire eligible migrant population of Laredo under this program," said Gonzalez. There are some 1,600 migrant families in the Laredo area.

All types of medical problems are being treated under the program. It may be a broken arm suffered by an enrollee in Colorado, a persistent fever in a small child, or injuries suffered in an automobile accident en route to the next job.

Each family carries a packet of information with it. Included is a medical insurance card for each family head, and a listing of the dependents by age and sex.

There also is a list of instructions for the health provider who treats any family member. Benefits are spelled out to the provider. Instructions are given in both Spanish and English.

The health program also functions in Laredo. "If the family is referred to a physician in Laredo by the Health Department, the doctor is paid 100 per cent of the usual charge," said Gonzalez. "If the family goes on its own, then the program pays only 75 per cent of the doctor's charge and the family pays the other 25 per cent."

Gonzalez says another state--Florida-- has investigated the Laredo program and now has started one of its own.

Eventually, all the migrants in the country could be covered by an insurance plan--probably one in which the families pay a minimal amount for coverage. And, it is possible that the statistics compiled in the comprehensive Laredo study, says Gonzalez, will provide at least part of the final answer to the attainment and assurance of adequate health and equal access to quality medical care for all.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems a little worried this week, whether it's justified or not.

A week or so ago in this space I was joking about New York City, how it had so much brains and talent and yet couldn't pay its bills and was facing bankruptcy if Washington didn't lend it a billion dollars immediately.

Washington declined, and I have now decided this is no laughing matter.

For example, what if New York does go under, the banks foreclose, and everybody has to move out, like the people of that Cambodian city I can't pronounce, Pnom Penh? (On the other hand, how many Cambodians can pronounce Philadelphia or Schnectady?)

All right, Here we'll have 8 million dis-placed people, all swarming out across the United States seeking food, shelter and jobs. How many New York refugees do you figure Muleshoe can handle? Can you find a place say for 15 taxicab drivers and 20 subway conductors? How many of those high-priced refugee editors can you place on the Journal? You know how many dogs and cats those refugees will bring with them?

I know the Statue of Liberty says we should welcome these huddled masses but the more you think about this the more frightening it gets. I mean, what if the domino theory was right and other cities start falling too? San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Baltimore, Lubbock?

You spill that many people over the nation and the countryside and the small towns will be ruined. We'd like to do our part but we just can't handle that many people. Couldn't start to find that many tents. As for jobs, it's hopeless. Probably not over a dozen tractor drivers in the whole lot.

No sir. If we're smart we'll start a financial drive right now to save the cities of America. Here we've spent years herding those people into cities and trying to make them feel happy there, and to let them break out and over-run us now would be disastrous. It'd take us years to get them all back in again. I'm warning you, we'd better start doing something about it.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.
