First Snow Falls, More Expected

The Muleshoe area saw the first hint of winter Wednesday morning. The first snow flakes of the season were falling as the Journal went to press.

The northern part of the state, Texas Panhandle and northern South Plains were expected to be much colder today with the possibility of rain, some mixed with snow, in the Panhandle and northern South Plains, due to an intense low pressure system and its associated cold front moving in.

The front extends along a line from Trinidad, Colo., where a temperature of 33 degrees and light snow was reported, to El Paso where light showers were occurring, according to the National Weather Service late Tuesday.

The front was expected to pass over this vicinity about mid-morning Wednesday with the temperatures dropping decidedly and winds shifting to the north after passage of the front.

Mahon Pleaded Loan Approved

Mayor Alex Williams received a letter from Congressman George Mahon, stating his pleasure of the approval of the Farmers Home Administration loan of $600,000 for the medical center to be constructed in the City of Muleshoe in the near future.

Congressman Mahon told the Mayor, "We had been assured, as you know, that approval would be provided."

"I want you to know that I am pleased with the great job which the people of your area have done, and I am hopeful that plans will work out in a wholly satisfactory manner," Mahon stated.

Congress and federal agency officials better understand the unique problems facing small cities with fewer than 50,000 population.

The councilmen looked over a copy of the Constitution of the AASC that was adopted by the full membership at the organizational meeting in Houston. It was learned that there are nearly 200 AASC members in Texas and charter memberships will remain open through January, 1976. Officials of small cities in several other states will meet at the first national conference of the American Association of Small Cities to perfect the nationwide organization in February of 1976.

AASC is not affiliated with the Small Cities League, headquartered in Nederland, Texas, nor any other organization. Its sole function will be to represent American small city interests in Washington, D.C. Al Koebig, Mayor of Seguin, was named Chairman of the Steering Committee, on Page 3, Col. 3.

4-H Group Observed Food Prices

The "Marchers for Nutrients" boys cooking group of the Progress 4-H Club met November 5, in the home of Mrs. Joe Rhodes.

The boys prepared a nutritious cheese snack and Chili Con Queso. After eating what they prepared, the group cleaned up. They then discussed how to use the Daily Basic Four Food Guide in planning good nutritious meals and snacks for their family.

The group has learned how to measure liquid and dry ingredients accurately. Also how to use measuring spoons, leveling off ingredients with a knife.

Members attending were Jason and Preston Scoggin, Andy and Lincoln Snell, Darin Shaw and Michael Barrett. Their junior leader is Jo Rhonda Rhodes. Project leader is Mrs. Eugene Shaw. Darin Shaw is reporter for the group.

On Wednesday, November 13, the "Marchers for Nutrients", visited a local grocery store. They observed the many ways carrots and other vegetables are available. They checked prices and weights of cans and packages to see which would be the most economical to buy.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas Supreme Court has agreed to hear a case involving extent of the Governor's veto power and a multimillion dollar higher education construction program.

The High Court November 5 will listen to arguments in the suit brought by Austin architectural firm Jessen Associates Inc. against Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Bullock refused to approve payment of a $2,590 fee to the architects for cost studies on a $10 million addition to The University of Texas law school.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe this year vetoed riders to the new state appropriations bill which sought to give prior legislative authorization to millions of dollars in university construction.

Briscoe cited a 1975 law which required that such projects have approval of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Attorneys for Jessen said court guidance is necessary to settle the issues for state officials and governing boards of all state universities.

Debate Rages On

Voter interest in the great debate over a new state constitution doesn't match that of ardent proponents and opponents.

Checks with key election officials over the state indicate a low turnout in the November 4 constitutional revision election, unless there is a dramatic pickup

H. Johnson Rites Held

Funeral services will be held Thursday, Nov. 20 for Homer Johnson, 77, who died at 12:35 a.m. November 18 in the Muleshoe Nursing Home. Services will be held in Saint Matthews Baptist Church in Muleshoe at 2:30 p.m. with Rev. A. Mac Frazier, officiating. Interment will be in the Muleshoe Cemetery under the direction of Singleton Ellis Funeral Home.

He had been a resident of Muleshoe since January, 1971, moving here from Sudan after having lived there for nine years.

He was born July 4, 1898 in Palisine, Texas and is a retired farm worker. A member of the Holiness Church of Sudan, he has no known survivors.

For the 44th month, the Texas Railroad Commission set the oil allowable for November at a wide-open 100 per cent.

Production is running an average of 113,047 barrels daily less than in 1974. Imports averaged nearly 4.6 million barrels a day, during a recent four weeks' period, which amounts to an increase of 824,000 barrels from early this year.

As a waste control measure, allowable for the East Texas field was limited to 86 per cent production.

Beach Force Named

Atty. Gen. John Hill appointed a "Beach Task Force" of five assistants to work with coastal county officials to assure open, clean and safe beaches.

Hill said his office is making a detailed survey of environmental protection needs on the Texas coast.

The five assistant attorneys general will be assigned to Jefferson and Chambers counties; Galveston county; Brazoria and Matagorda counties; Calhoun, Aransas, San Patricio and Nueces counties, and Willacy, Cameron, Kleberg and Kennedy counties. Attorneys from the Environmental Protection Division staff in Austin, Houston, San Antonio and McAllen will also be involved.

Session Feared

House Speaker Bill Clayton said banning school fees may cause a special legislative session. Clayton referred to a recent attorney general's opinion that schools cannot require students to pay fees for driver education, workbooks, lab materials, band uniforms and other items unless the legislature authorizes the charges.

"This will put some of our school districts in a financial bind, and we may need a special session to help them out," the speaker said. "But I hope they can make it until 1977."

Clayton emphasized he is not "beating the drums for a special session."

Courts Speak

Only landowners who show 51 per cent of their income comes from farming or ranching are entitled to a constitutional agricultural tax exemption, the Supreme Court held.

Court of Criminal Appeals overruled a district court's order setting bail at $75,000 for an Odessa man accused of killing his ex-wife.

The Supreme Court upheld a damage award to a Houston man who had money taken from his account by a bank to cover a loss from a forger's having signed his name on the back of a check.

The High Court affirmed a $205,095 medical malpractice award to a Jasper man. In another malpractice suit, the Court upheld lower court rulings which rejected a charity patient's suit against three Houston doctors.

There's a vast and fundamental difference between promise and performance.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Austin—Many people who earn their living making things with their hands probably would not think of themselves as manufacturers, fabricators or processors, but that's what they are under the sales tax law.

If you take any kind of material and improve it or make it into something other than what it was to start with, you are one of the three.

Watchmakers, bird-feeder builders, steel fabricators, rustproofers and ceramic kiln operators are all manufacturers, fabricators or processors.

I hope, however, that you don't spend much time trying to figure out which you are. Because it doesn't matter.

If you are any of the three, you must collect and remit the sales tax on your total charge to your customer -- including labor.

Many tailors, dressmakers and persons who make custom draperies have mistakenly thought that if a customer brings in material, and they make a drape or gown or suit of clothes from it, they are only providing a service and it is not taxable.

They are wrong. If they make something out of their own stock, they are manufacturers; if they make something out of material the customer brought in, they are processors. Either way, they must charge the sales tax on their total bill.

Only two aspects of their business might be exempt from the sales tax:

If the custom drapery-maker separates on the ticket the cost of that labor used to install the drapes, that portion of the cost would be exempt.

If a tailor has a suit made and hanging on the rack and sells it, the whole suit price would, of course, be taxable. But if the tailor also made slight alterations for which he charged the buyer, the alteration charge wouldn't be tax-able if listed separately on the bill.

The distinction in both examples -- installation and alteration -- is that these labor services don't have anything to do with the basic creation of the whole item.

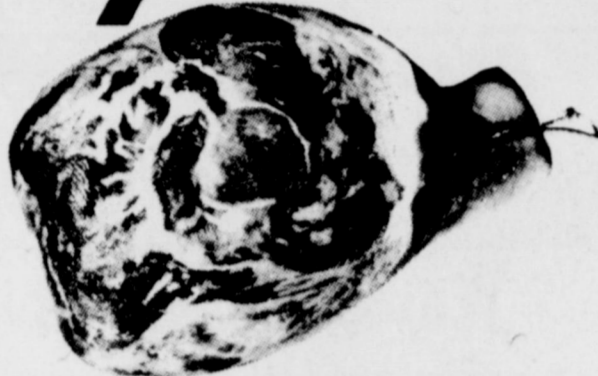

In following columns I will discuss other questions about when labor is taxable and when it isn't.

HONEY MAKING EASY . . . (l-r) Mrs. Vernon Vinson, Mrs. Jack Lee and Mrs. Lee Williams have found hominey making the "ole time way" an easy method. These women do all their own canning and preserving of produce raised on their farms.

Making Hominey Is Easy

"Not a Russian Grain Deal, but it helps," said Mrs. Clarence Kube, who has been hunting someone to show her how to make hominey, the "ole time method," for several years. She finally ran across Mrs. Jack Lee, from Muleshoe, a descendant from the Oklahoma Reservation, who agreed to come out and show Mrs. Kube how it was done.

With the modern pressing method and advice of three long time residents of the Muleshoe area, Mrs. Lee Williams, Mrs. Jack Lee and Mrs. Vernon Vinson, corn from the field went into jars filled with hominey, which was quite a treat for the eight members of the Clarence Kube family.

Mrs. Kube said it was quite an experience, both in the making and eating, because "it is so delicious, and will stick to the ribs of a hard worker all day."

All three of the above mentioned women have been through hard times in raising their families and they give the advice to can or freeze all your family needs. This past summer these four women have prepared some 2,000 quarts of vegetables, fruit, meats that they canned or froze, and the hominey which is easy to make.

Mrs. Kube says to make hominey, one simply brings water covered corn to a boil with enough lye to take out the eyes and skin about two cans to 50 pounds of corn. Then dip out and wash off the lye, skins and eyes, being careful not to get concentrated water in your eyes or a cut in your skin. Then fill jars about one-half full of corn, fill with water, and pressure 70 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

On the Kube farm the flour is ground on an electric stone grinder. Meal is made from corn, and they have chickens, cows, hogs, ducks, geese, pigeons, rabbits, meat and milk, goats, peafowls, special bantams, so there is never a dull or quiet moment on the farm.

Mrs. Kube says they do get away once in a while to the mountains to go rock hunting and for relaxation. They then take the semi-precious rocks which are made into jewelry or used as building stones.

Elimination Time Nears

Elimination time has arrived, so it's time to put all the marbles on the line in at least three conferences . . . no, make it four.

California and Stanford share the lead with U.C.L.A. in the Pacific 8 Conference, and the Bears and Indians will settle the problem in Stanford Saturday. Michigan hosts Ohio State in the Big Ten "Finals," and in the Big 8, where the Big Game has been tarnished a bit by Oklahoma's upset loss to Kansas, the Sooners take on Nebraska.

And . . . Harvard meets Yale in a game that will decide the championship of the Ivy League. We stare at these season-ending traditional games every year and realize that to pick a winner, one must throw out power quotients, games won and lost, tea leaves, and crystal balls. Sometimes the easiest way to pick the winners is to just put the names of all the teams on the wall and throw darts!

Even though the game is in Ann Arbor, it's difficult to go against the Ohio State Buckeyes. Michigan leads the series, but in recent years it's been all Ohio State. The Bucks will win the game by seven points and with it the Big Ten title.

California-Stanford is almost too close to call . . . we'd like to say "pick em." This is the final game for both teams, but the Rose Bowl representative won't be known until after U.C.L.A. meets Southern Cal on November 28th. The Indians will squeeze out a tough one-point win over the Cal Bears.

The Big Eight "Biggie" will be played in Norman, Oklahoma, where the Sooners' long winning streak recently came to an end. The dart please! The winner . . . top-ranked Nebraska will do it, and the spread is eight points.

In the "Football-For-Fun" conference - the Ivy League - Harvard is a 2-point choice over Yale for the league championship. Also in the East, Penn State is a five-point favorite over upset-minded Pittsburgh.

Through all games as of Saturday, November 8th, we're 1,426 up, 440 down, and there have been 40 ties. The average, .764. What, Missouri still #10?! They certainly are . . . all four losses have been to teams ranked ahead of them, Michigan, Colorado, Nebraska, and Oklahoma. What a schedule!!

 5. Check the team you think will win; 10 points for 1st place, 6 points for 2nd place and 4 points for 3rd place determines the Grand Prize winner.
 6. The tie-breakers will count as one of the games picked, the predicted scores will be used to determine the top three places in that week's contest, if necessary, and cash prizes and points will be divided between winners in event of ties. Please write FOOTBALL CONTEST on envelope of mailed entry.
- Decision of the Journal's scoring judges will be final.
