Gomez H D Club Wins First Place In Contest

The Gomez Home Demonstration Club is winner of first place in the educational exhibits placed in various windows in town last fall. Their display showed adequate bedding for the home. The Harmony Club with a textile display, won second place; and the Tokio Club with year around gifts from the farm, won third place. This announcement was made by Mrs. M. E. Hinson, chairman of the exhibit committee; at the regular meeting of the county home demonstration council, held in the district court room last Saturday. For having received this honor, the Gomez Club will receive a five dollar prize. Judges of the exhibits were: R. N. McClain, Mrs. Jake Gore, and Mrs. J. O. Burnett, Jr.

A baking school will be held as soon as possible after the first of May in the County Home Demonstration Agent's office. Leaders from the clubs and other interested people may attend to receive instructions in yeast breads with variations preliminary to a general county exhibit next fall. On account of the district meeting falling on the regular council day next month it was voted to hold it May 17. Each club in the county was urged to take at least one car full of women to the district meeting to be held in Levelland May 10, at the Baptist church, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Marner Price, of San Juan, Puerto Rico, announce the birth of a daughter, April 14. The baby is named Doris Dee. The Prices were former residents of Brownfield.

BABSON Discusses School Taxes

BY ROGER W. BABSON

I shall be glad to see city schoolmarm get more money although statistically the city firemen—and especially the fire chiefs—need it more. This demand for increased wages by different groups—from miners to milliners—will continue until the bust comes. Then many will have no jobs and we must start over again.

Avoid More School Taxes
When, however, the politicians demand more money for schools "in order to make young people more efficient and solve juvenile problems," this is the bunk. Until young people want to learn, they won't learn; when they do want to learn the best education is freely at their service. Education and religion are the hope of democracy; but just now most people are impervious to good ideas, immune to wise advice and hard boiled on every front.

People are getting information by newspapers, radio and movies; but not wisdom and self-control. These latter are spiritual qualities which we get only by our mother's knees, or on our own knees. We question the crude dogma of the old fashioned revivalists; but they have changed more lives for the better than have all the school committees of America. Whether people can't learn or won't learn, I do not know; but I am very sure that spending more tax money on schools will not solve juvenile delinquency.

Children Need Work

This present howl for more money for schools as a solution to our social troubles reminds me of the other cure-alls which have been offered during my day. When I started in business T. R. Roosevelt was busting the Trusts as a cure-all. Great fights resulted in dissolving the Tobacco Trust, the Standard Oil Trust and the Railroad Trusts. Yet, after these popular movements were put over, the cost of tobacco, oil and freight was higher than ever. Woman's suffrage, Prohibition and the New Deal were all tried with good intentions... but with what results?

If more money will get us more conscientious and devoted school teachers, well and good; but it won't. Our schools are too imbedded in local politics. Gymnasiums, school bands, basket ball and the other extra-curricular stuff, does not make wiser children. It would do far more good to relax the laws now preventing the employment of children during vacation. Moreover, minimum wage laws should not apply to any under 21 years of age. Young people learn mostly through applying their knowledge, more work is what they need. Let's return to the apprentice system.

Adult Education

This brings me to the subject of adult education. The brain is much like the blood. As the blood can absorb only so much vitamin, so the brain can absorb only

West Texas Today? Or 10 Years Ago?

We were just a bit amused at West Texas Today when its current issue hit our desk with a map of the western part of Texas purporting to show our resources. But we soon learned the map was ancient, and perhaps picked at random by the printers from the morgue.

For example, right in our own section—we didn't examine other particularly—the map shows no paved highway from Laméa to Brownfield and on through Levelland, Littlefield, Dimmitt, Hereford etc.

But of course all the editors of West Texas Today live off down in central Texas, and are not supposed to keep up with the fastest growing section of the United States.

Editors of WTT are advised to examine a State Highway Dept. map of June 1946 and that has been a long time to check on the growth of the south Plains.

Soil Conservation

BY RILEY W. CARLTON

E. E. Brown, Route 1 Seagraves, Texas who drilled an irrigation well last summer, but didn't have time to develop a complete ditch system, requested the District Engineers on Monday, April 7th, to complete his ditch system. He plans to develop a permanent pasture so that he can have more grazing for his dairy herd. He intends to combine two grasses with alfalfa and maybe use Madrid Clover and Balboa Rye for late fall cover.

Attend the 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Show April 19th at their new barn near the Rodeo Park.

J. W. Savell, Route 2, Slaton, Texas, reseeded 10 acres of grass mixtures Tuesday, April, 8th on his farm eight miles east of town on the Tahoka highway. Mr. Savell used the Soil Conservation Service special grass drill, which was brought in here from Abilene, Texas, by J. C. Ebersole, Associate Agronomist.

Monta Simpson, Route 5, Brownfield, Texas secured the use of the SCS grass drill and seeded 10 acres to grass mixtures on Wednesday, April 9th. Planning for this seeding was done about three weeks ago through the CYT District Program. Mr. Simpson has a long range planning for more permanent pasture, which is to be used in connection with the growing out of more beef cattle.

Terry County farmers should be proud to see the fine Club calves to be on display April 19 by their sons.

J. C. Ebersole, Agronomist from Abilene, Texas, assisted farmers in reseeding grass in Dawson, Lynn, Terry and Cochran counties last week. He will return to his headquarters April 11th and will assist farmers in the Sweetwater area from April 14-18.

Hugh G. Porterfield, Sub-Experiment Station Supervisor of Brownfield, completed a tour of inspection of Hockley, Cochran, Yoakum, Gaines and Terry counties with a Regional Research Committee out of Fort Worth on April 10th.

Myles Kelly, Associate Agricultural Engineer from Dimmitt, Texas, spent two days this week assisting Engineer Krizek on Terry County irrigation problems.

Good wheat and rye cover in Terry county in addition to much deep flat breaking has aided much during the week to prevent wind erosion. Apparently, most farmers are doing much to prevent wind erosion of the good cultivated land.

Several farmers in the county, who are interested in good permanent pastures, visited Virgil Burnett's improved pasture northeast of the city limits this past

Another Statement Of Ownership

If you don't cross every "i" and dot each "i" in dealing with our paternalistic form of government up at Washington, they will come back on you about six or eight months after you have forgotten all about the matter.

Last October, first issue in that month, we had a sworn statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the Herald. Some guy up at the PO Dept., Washington, discovered that we had not given sufficient information about the ownership of the Herald.

So for fear that Fellerbuilt or Astermorgans had a few thousand shares of stock in this modest little country weekly, they came back on Postmaster Dallas and he on us. That is why we are again publishing the statement in the Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Jenkins moved to Seminole Saturday. Mr. Jenkins is associated with the Magnolia Co.

Bert French of San Ray, Texas, Henry French of Lovington, N. M., Mrs. Eva Barron of Lamesa, with Mrs. Myrtle Lowe of the south east part of county are at the bedside of their mother, Mrs. W. J. French, who is very low in the local hospital.

Messrs. and Mesdames R. L. Bowers, Earl Anthony, sr., Earl Anthony, jr., and W. E. Storey, of Littlefield attended the funeral of Mr. J. O. Fowler of Vernon, who died of a heart attack Thursday of last week. Funeral services were held in the First Christian Church Saturday afternoon and interment was in the Vernon cemetery. Mr. Fowler was the oldest brother of Mesdames Bowers, Storey and Anthony and had lived in Vernon since 1897.

week. Mr. Burnett seeded about 10 acres to Smooth Brome, Perennial Italian Rye and Alfalfa last September. These grasses stayed green all winter. The rye grass apparently would be desirable to plant in the lake areas for permanent pasture this fall.

This week a number of farmers in Terry county expressed themselves about seeding prepared acreage for cover of grain sorghums or sudan so grass mixtures can be drilled in the spring of 1948.

We can "wear out" any soil; therefore, with proper land use a good farmer today should know how to keep soil productive. Prevent wind and water erosion. Use cover crops and plant as many desirable legumes as possible. Use adapted dry land alfalfa whenever possible. Plow under green manure crops. Save productive soils now.

Mrs. Kathryn Ince, of El Paso is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bynum.

Mr. J. A. Rushing, pioneer farmer of Tokio, is again in the local hospital undergoing treatment. Mr. Ashenbeck of this city also underwent a clinical checkup early this week.

Mrs. C. C. Carter, of Rotan visited from Saturday to Tuesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jenkins.

Mrs. M. V. Brownfield and her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Hubby of Lubbock were Brownfield visitors Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam White and Johnny Benson and baby daughter spent Sunday in Littlefield visiting friends.

Furniture And Appliance Stores Dominate South Side Of Brownfield Square

In moseying down the west side and South Sixth recently, we somehow left that smiling ginsman, Herman Chesshir off our calling card. But if there was a whimper out of him, we heard it not. Guess he reads the Herald. Now a right hungry man might eat most of the cotton Herman has ginned the past two years, but the yards of his gin has been a beehive of industry of late. The Texas-New Mexico Utilities Co., has been using this space to store worlds of high line building material for their connecting power lines between Lubbock and the big Denver City plant. While Herman has had a nice time playing around the past two years, we have an idea that he will get to put in long hours this fall. We hope so.

The first place you run into after leaving the Herald office, on the south side of the square, is the Brownfield Furniture Co., with the owner, J. B. Worsham in charge, with Mrs. Worsham a fine assistant. Then there is Charley Martin in charge of the repair and delivery service, and rendering any other assistance needed in the store. They have a full line of furniture, mattresses and in addition handle the famous Bendix line of appliances, which includes radios, and players as well as refrigerators. The Worshams are getting in new records now every few days and if you desire some new ones, they will be pleased to play them for you.

Next in line is the Swart Optometric Clinic, with Dr. Gordon B. Richardson in charge, assisted by his wife, with Miss Jane Jobe as receptionist. This clinic has been in Brownfield only a few months, but is doing a flourishing business with customers all over the trade area.

This business is a bit technical to a newsman and many things connected therewith that the layman will hardly understand. But in the front and connected with the large reception room, is the instrument room where eyes are examined, and the proper lense prescribed. The next room is the work shop and in this department are thousands of dollars worth of lens and frames, so that most people with normal eyes can be fitted on the spot. There are also grinders that shape the lens to most any pattern imaginable. Of course if you have a peculiar vision, the prescription is sent to Lubbock to be made.

Next on the program is the Akers Appliance, with Jot Akers, the Mrs. and one of the sweetest babies in town in charge. And while they too have a nice line of furniture, they have a good stock of most any appliance of a household nature you might need, with the Admiral line of radios, record players and refrigerators as the lead in that line. A full and complete stock of mattresses, and other things needed for the bedroom and obtainable at present is shown. Jot demonstrated a small washing machine that will care for small garments of the family in as efficient manner as the large machines found in the washaterias. If a fellow just had the money he could find numerous things needed by the average family. But Jot says it doesn't take much money to buy his goods.

McWilliams Furniture is next with Mr. and Mrs. C. McWilliams in charge. Mack has had many years experience in the furniture business, having worked for another firm here several years, and put in for himself in 1940. He sold out and they moved to Houston, returning on their first choice about three years ago and opened a 50x80 store on the south side. About a year ago, they leased the adjoining building giving them double floor space. They have one of the most complete stocks of modern furniture in the city. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams are, J. C. Baggett and F. M. McWilliams, brother of C.; also Mrs. W. M. Vernon. They, like most other stores in Brownfield, have a good word and friendly greeting for their friends.

Down on the corner is the friendly Furr Grocery and Market. We personally know that Roy Furr was anxious to put in a store in Brownfield several years before he was able to get just the location he wanted. He was a long time at it, but when he did get what he wanted, he really put in

Guardsmen Receive Ribbons

The men and boys of Brownfield's Company C. 34th Battalion, Texas State Guard, are receiving by mail this week an "Emergency Defense Ribbon," which came through their Captain, E. G. Akers, from State Headquarters.

These ribbons were authorized by the 48th session of Texas Legislature in a resolution approved by Gov. Stevenson on March 10, 1945. All former members of the defense guard who voluntarily enlisted and drilled from the period 1940 up to the close of the war or disbandment of the guard. Or, as in many cases, went into the regular armed service of the United States.

These green ribbons are authorized to be worn by all recipients who are entitled to them.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kendrick, with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sawyer, returned early this week from an extended trip to Mexico City. We will interview them, for next weeks issue or as soon as assured they are free from the foot and mouth disease.

a grocery and market. Alonzo Miller is the present manager, and like all Furr managers must be efficient and friendly to stay with the firm. Tommy Smith handles the market department and seven other regular employees are ready and willing to deliver the goods.

The above are a fine bunch of business men, and all are doing a good business and think Brownfield is the best little city on earth.

A Side Trip To The State Capitol

Before we get down to business we find that Editor H. G. Richards of the Anton News, also stayed in Brownwood the night we arrived there April the 4th. He and a traveling companion were headed for Houston, where H. G. was to fill a pulpit at a Primitive Baptist church. Editor Richards got a big kick out of seeing the various colored lights in Brownwood from the 300 or 400 feet heights coming in over the Coleman road. Mr. Richard called the little city of Mullen in Mills County, "Mellen." We are going to report that to the mayor of Mullen.

Well, Sunday we tracked the some route Editor Richards took, except he missed Austin, turning off this side via Georgetown, and on to Houston. Getting around 1 p. m. the first thing we hunted in Austin was the Chicken Shack and so we filled our old frame with food while Bro. Richards was perhaps pouring the scriptures to his audience.

After filling the inward man with food, we first took in the University of Texas grounds, and by we, we mean the three of us from Brownfield, accompanied by Sallie T. Trigg and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ethel Graves of Brownwood. We didn't try going in any buildings, as it was Easter and the grounds seemed to be almost deserted. But that is a huge plant, scattered over hills and dales and along a creek that runs through the grounds. Even a ride over the big campus, one has a thrill by viewing the greatness of our state university.

Having done the U of T as best a short time would allow, we did the capitol building. And here a Texan gets another thrill, as it is said to be almost as large as the national capitol at Washington.

Inside everything seems giant sized, and the huge wood carvings over the doors shows the work of a master artisan. Being Sunday, no offices were open, but we took the elevator to the second floor and got a peep at the house of representatives through the glass door. Not only is the building large and classic, being built of Texas granite, but a very beautiful and well kept park surrounds it.

However, while there is a large and growing business district, it is rather scrambled. That is, there may be a skyscraper as modern as tomorrow and right side of it a ramshackle old relic of the middle of the 19th century, that doesn't appear to have had a drop of paint for a half century. Most of the city lays on the east side of the Colorado river, but we did considerable of the city laying west of the river, on the San Antonio road, which is as modern as any highway section leading into or out of any city.

Mrs. Graves and Jack Taylor Stricklin visited on old friend of Mrs. Graves' at the old Confederate Women's home. Mrs. Graves stated that she could hardly talk to the old friend as a dear young lady of 98 summers insisted in doing most of the talking and sprinting around the room to show her agility. This old lady also confided to Mrs. Graves "that most of the inmates were childish and forgetful." The rest of us waited for them out in the car.

We returned via Johnson City, Burnet and Marble Falls, which are really in the hill country and were very beautiful at this time of year. Took supper at Lampasas and there began our only headache. A flat a mile out of town; a change by match light to a questionable tire, already half down and no pump. So back to a service station, where two young men perhaps inexperienced or just didn't care, put on a patch on the good tube. We felt they did not know their patching, but pulled out and got to Lometa, where it was practically flat, and a middle aged man really put on a patch that is still holding.

Our advice to local tourists is, that if the boys look too young at a service station, hunt one with a man with a beard on his face. And so into Brownwood at the stroke of Midnight.

Don't worry about the end of the world until the supply of taxpayers becomes exhausted.

The moon is going away from the earth, says a scientist. Well, you can hardly blame it.

Hog Weight Increased By Concrete Wallows

Fattening hogs will make faster gains when they have access to a sanitary concrete hog wallow during periods of hot weather, according to Texas experiment station tests conducted last summer. Sixty-pound pigs with access to a concrete hog wallow reached a market weight of 200 pounds in two weeks less time than pigs fed without access to the wallow. Health control also was made easier.

Emergency Squirrel Feeding Undertaken

The morale of Minnesota's hungry squirrel population is rising considerably with announcement from the conservation department that state game wardens are to distribute corn in areas where squirrels are abundant and corn is not now available.

Failure of the state's acorn crop has been extremely hard on squirrels. Planting of natural food for wildlife is encouraged, but when this method fails, artificial feeding is resorted to.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

BY REYNOLDS KNIGHT

The American wage and price picture took on a rather confusing pattern last week, with the result that outlook for the next few months is less certain. Alexander Smith Carpe' reduced prices three per cent, following the lead of Ford Motor Company and International Harvester, which reduced prices earlier this year. At the same time, rubber workers obtained an increase of 11 1-2 cents an hour, automobile workers asked 23 1-2 cents an hour more, and railroad workers were preparing to demand a 20 per cent wage hike. The price reductions of the three companies indicate that their managements believe a lower price level is necessary if present high production rates are to be maintained over a long period. On the other hand, wage increases fit neatly into a pattern of rising rather than declining prices. Thus, the question now is whether prices will have to be hiked again in order to absorb another round of wage increases, or whether union leaders will bow to the price resistance which has been evident in a number of lines and curtail or eliminate their wage demands.

TRAIN OF TOMORROW—American travelers will get a glimpse into the future of railroading early this summer when the Electro-Motive division of General Motors, manufacturers of diesel locomotives, unveils its ultra-modern "Train of Tomorrow" which is now nearing completion in the shops of the world's largest builder of streamline passenger equipment — the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Co. The new train including four cars and a diesel locomotive, will be placed on public exhibition in major cities across the nation when finished, to introduce a number of new suggestions for passenger comfort, convenience and enjoyment which were worked out by Electro-Motive division engineers and GM styling experts in collaboration with Pullman-Standard. The cars, a diner, chair car, observation lounge and sleeper, all will feature as Astra Dome a glass-enclosed upper level compartment located in the roof which seats as many as 24 passengers. Car interiors of the new train have been so designed as to permit more flexibility of movement and every opportunity is being followed by the designers and builders to use effectively new metals, plastics and textiles developed during the war years.

OIL FEVER—A lot of people in the middle and southwestern states are coming down with oil fever. It is a malady which spreads rapidly when oil prices are rising. Its early symptoms include a vague belief on the part of the victim that there may be oil beneath previously untapped surfaces of the earth. As the fever grows, the patient goes to the bank, draws down on hard earned cash and plunks it down on some land, an oil rig and a drilling crew. After several months of drilling, either his cash runs out and the fever with it, or oil is discovered and the fever remains forever. Right now, hundreds of people, who never had any symptoms, are showing the signs with the result that oil drilling is sharply on the increase. The government, hoping to see oil reserves increased, is doing nothing to stamp out the disease. Companies which supply drilling equipment are quite pleased with the whole situation because it has increased demand for their pro-

GI Question And Answer Department

Q. I was discharged from the U. S. Army because my mother was dependent on me. Am I eligible to enter a course of education or training?

A. Veterans Administration will pay for the veteran's tuition, books, supplies, fees and other authorized expenses within certain limitations.

Q. I have a service connected disability and am to be rehabilitated under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act. Will my compensation payments be increased while I am pursuing a course of vocational rehabilitation?

A. The Union Juniors and Seniors are putting on a play entitled "Damsels in Distress" on the night of April 25 at 8 o'clock at the Union gymnasium.

The play concerns two girls, nineteen and twenty who go against their aunt and uncle's wishes and find themselves in a hilarious predicament that causes a lot of lying and scheming, resulting in a state of distress for the girls.

Remember to be at the Union gym, April 25.

Local Man Helps Test Far North Army Clothing

Tec. 5 Lenard M. Williams of Brownfield left Ladd Field near Fairbanks, Alaska enroute to San Francisco, Calif., where his ship expects to dock during the 3rd week of April. He has been serving with the Army Ground Forces Arctic Winter Testing Unit, Task Force "Frigid," commanded by Col. Paul V. Kane, of Corvallis, Ore. The purpose of the Task Force has been to test all types of Army Ground Forces Equipment for use under Arctic conditions.

Temperatures lower than 60 degrees below zero have been recorded in areas where vital tests were being conducted. Tec. 5 Williams will be able to boast of having lived in the open during one of Alaska's coldest winters. His friends will probably hear tales of climbing out of a sleeping bag and dressing in temperatures of 60 to 70 degrees below. They will hear how quickly faces and noses would freeze and how the "Buddy System" of watching prevented serious harm.

A cold soldier is not an efficient soldier. "GI Joe" has been tested too. The Army had to be sure that the clothes worn were Newspapers can take heart and push on with the assurance that perhaps after all, they will not have to suspend for lack of print paper. Sunday's dailies tell us that the United States alone produced more than 5 million tons of paper of all kinds the first three months of this year, which was more than any country ever produced in a full year before. We hope that the report was correct. Also, we understand that Sweden is preparing to send us some 50 per cent more pulp this year than for several years past.

Comrade Henry Wallace is doing just what we have expected of him for the past three years. Do you remember that red hot national convention at Chicago in June 1944? Do you remember that a delegation of so-called liberals from Texas shared a half vote with each regular Democrat delegate from Texas, the former being whole-souled for "Hanrah," and the latter for Truman. And we also remember that bunch of radicals led by a cheer leader in the galleries yelling for Comrade Wallace, but FDR finally swapped him out for the promise of another job in the cabinet. No, we are not surprised at the pro-Russian views of Hen-ree.

What makes this royalty stuff repugnant to most Americans, unless it be some American dame with a marriagable daughter and more money than brains, that wants to make a match to get daughter recognized as a countess or countess or something, is the fact that in Greece, there is a living example of what royalty leads to. We are told that neither the king that just died, or his wife had a drop of Greek blood in their veins; in fact they were Germanic, and the Greek monarch's sympathies were with Hitler in the early part of the war, and were in the other world war sympathetic to Kaiser Bill We

IS THERE A SILVER LINING TO THE CLOUD ABOVE ?

They say there's a silver lining to the cloud
As the sun behind its blackness is still shining;
For its silvery beauties I can't see, as the cloud doth enshroud
Tho the sun behind may shine, I can't see its silvery gleaming;
As the blackness of the cloud hides its beauties from my view,
So the beautiful silvery cast I can't through its darkness see,
Hiding the silvery lining from me, the same with you;
As to the truth of the adage, I may fail to agree.

As with the silver lining to the cloud, so is it with life,
Most the beauties of the soul, maybe obscure to our view,
It being blurred by sin, mingled with hate, toil and strife;
With this blackness in the soul its beauties may not shine thro:
Then God alone may of the souls, all the beauties see,
He alone the beauties of the soul, can make known or reveal,
For in the deepness of the soul can those beauties be;
That God only, can the impulse of the soul know or feel.

Then do not condemn man, if you do not see his hearts deepest desire
The depth of his soul may be burning with loves unquenchable fire,
And as he reaches old age, the flame may have burned thro,
Then as the cloud, the light of his soul may be seen of yore;
Too, his form may be bent and he be slow of pace,
Yet as he nears life's end, he showeth God's grace.

—W. J. Sullivan.

Unless the people of Texas want to pay whatever price the eastern and northern manufacturers want to set as the price under the so-called fair trades act, they had better get in touch with Senator Parrish and Representative Smith and never permit them to rest until that bill is polished off. Don't forget Bud, that the big boys are down there with plenty mazooka, and they are using it. If the bill passes, you will have a setup more drastic than the OPA. This time it will be "private enterprise" instead of the government, and they are after your last dollar, brother and sister. Strange as it may seem, these big boys from the east have, by whipping around the stump, made some converts among small business setups. These big manufacturers are NOT interested in any one but themselves.

Speaking of dollar diplomacy, it is true that we have a bit of it scattered about over the earth. One instance is that of our big oil interests in the Near East, particularly in Arabia. But in this instance, while the big four oil companies there are making millions for themselves, they are helping one of the most backward countries in the world. Since these companies have begun to drain oil from those deserts, they have also brought some $300,000,000 in wealth to those nomadic tribes, good roads, modern medicine and scientific agriculture. In just a few years those people have been raised higher physically and financially than for the past 4000 years. Finally, it teaches the Arabs that democracy really works, and works better than dictatorships.

Dead Wrong

To Prevent Bloating On Green Pastures

LUBBOCK, April 16—Cattle are not likely to bloat when grazing pastures of alfalfa or alfalfa and grass mixtures if the pastures are completely dry and animals are full of dry feed when they are turned in, and if stacks of dry feed are available in the pasture, according to W. L. Stangel, dean of Agriculture at Texas Technological College.

Dean Stangel suggested that cattlemen start initial grazing about noon on a sunny day and watch the animals for signs of bloat at first. Cattle may then be left on the pasture, but if they are taken off, the entire procedure must be repeated before grazing begins again.

Soil Conservation District News

The official recording of rainfall on the Soil Conservation District gauge for the month of March was .85 here in Brownfield. This happens to be the 35 year average for March at the Lubbock Experiment Station. April's 35 year average from the same station is 1.48. If this is any indication, Terry county can expect a slight increase in rain during April; however, all moisture should be carefully conserved. Where good flat breaking has been done, where terraces have been constructed, and where a good contour system has been established these practices should all aid in holding moisture for planting time. Several irrigation farmers in Terry county have already done pre-irrigation in order to develop sufficient moisture for spring seeding of crops.

Apparently through the CYT district there is a decided increase in the development of more new irrigation wells and this being true, many new farmers should give consideration to the quality of the water after it has been found in sufficient quantities. Recently an authority on irrigation offered the following comments: "It has come to the attention of those of us who have worked with the development of well irrigation care here in the South Plains that in some instances the water obtained is not suitable for irrigation. For this reason all newly drilled wells should have a sample of water tested.

"The following is a short discussion as to the effects of water containing salts upon soil and plant growth.

Water from irrigation wells, unlike rain water, contains dissolved substances in quantities large enough to cause profound changes in the character of the soil being irrigated.

Certain elements in irrigation water are beneficial to crops and to the soil. For example, potassium and nitrate to crop plants, and calcium and magnesium, under certain conditions, will benefit the physical condition of the soil. The elements such as chloride, sulphate and sodium in higher concentrations are definitely injurious. If the concentrations are low irrigation water may be used for many years before the evidence of injury becomes obvious.

The use of water of high salt content will cause land to alkali thereby greatly cutting down crop yield.

Water for irrigation in dry land farming areas should not contain, as a rule, more than 500 to 700 parts per million if the salts contained in the water are principally carbonates, bicarbonates or chlorides, with the higher concentrations permissible only with water containing principally chlorides. If an appreciable part of the water for plant growth is supplied by rain, higher concentrations are permissible.

If soils take water rapidly and have good drainage, 1750 parts per million of salts in irrigation water can be safely used in dry land farming areas if the carbonate salts are not present. Water applied to heavy texture soil that take moisture slowly should not contain more than 1000 parts per million sodium sulphate being used successfully in sandy soils of good drainage. In irrigation water containing sulphate (gypsum) or calcium chlorides, higher concentration of all salts, particularly carbonate salts, are permissible. Because of the flocculating action on soils or salts containing calcium, water for irrigation containing such salts is superior to that without them.

If there is any doubt in the mind of the farmer who plans to irrigate from a newly developed well as to the quality of water encountered, a sample (1 qt. or 1-2 gallon sample placed in a fruit jar tightly sealed) should be sent to a laboratory for a chemical analysis report. Through the CYT Soil Conservation District program, headquarters in the P. O. Building at Brownfield, Texas, samples of water can be sent in for a test. Those who want water tested should furnish the following information: Completed depth of well, log or formation of drill-in, Section and block number. It is believed that a farmer securing this information will help to protect the further production of his land."

Considerable interest is being manifest by all farmers and oth-

Meat Never Tough, Says Authority

Meat, as bought at the market, is either tender or less tender—never tough, according to the National Live Stock and Meat Board, which is considered an authority on this food.

Use of the word "tough" should be banned, the Board says, because all meat is tender after cooking—if the proper cookery methods are used.

The cuts of meat classified as less tender are those that contain the most-exercised muscles. They have a larger amount of connective tissue, which needs to be softened during cooking in order to have the final product appetizingly tender. This is accomplished by log, slow cooking with moisture.

There are two acceptable methods for cooking less-tender meats—braising and cooking in liquid. In braising, the meat is cooked in its own juices or with a small amount of liquid added. In the second method, enough liquid is used to cover the meat. In both the pan is tightly covered.

Whenever meat is cooked with moisture, it is important to have the liquid simmer, never boil. This is one more example of the general principle which applies to all meat cookery—that low heat produces the best results.

Their club animals will be shown with much pride, and as a result of their efforts it will point the way in future years that feeding out home grow feed to home grown livestock will become a worthy farm enterprise. Orvalene Rhader Weds Theodore L. Cole

Old friends of Mrs. Orvalene Rhader have received announcements of her wedding to Mr. Theodore Leonard Cole, of Beaumont, last Thursday the 10th. The newlyweds will take a Caribbean cruise for their wedding trip before returning to Beaumont to make their home.

Many of us older people here can remember Orvalene as a child. She is the daughter of Lense Price and wife by his first marriage, and was reared on the old Howard place, north of town. She attended school and graduated in Brownfield and later attended Tech where she majored in Home Ecs. She was teaching when she and Mr. Rhader married.

Come the war, and Mr. Rhader got in the QM department, and was sent overseas. At the battle of the Bulge, when every man counted, he like others inexperienced with guns, were thrown in to hold the line, and was killed in action.

Orvalene was one of the most likable of children, and developed into a young lady of fine personality. We learn that Mr. Cole is a man of means and one of the prominent business men of his city.

How To Care For Baby Chicks

Farmers may help prevent respiratory diseases in baby chickens by lining brooder house walls up about 36 inches from the floor with heavy tar paper, according to Delbert Devin, assistant professor of animal husbandry at Texas Technological College. Paper will not only keep out drafts, but will also prevent chicks from piling up in corners if it is rounded there instead of being tacked tightly.

A chick guard of 12-inch hardward cloth, commonly known as hail screen, should be kept around the hover for 36 hours after baby chicks arrive to keep them in. The guard may gradually be moved back for about four days, when it should be no longer needed.

Temperature under the hover should be 95 to 100 degrees during the first week, 90 to 95 degrees the second and gradually decreased until the end of the eighth week. Two or three inches of litter should be kept over the floor at all times, to be changed weekly for two or three weeks and twice weekly thereafter. Ground bundles or shredded corn stover are recommended for litters, but farmers should make sure no grain remains on the stalks before they are ground.

When chicks are 24 to 36 hours old they should be fed a good chick starter, containing about 20 per cent protein and fortified with cod liver oil for vitamin D.

Cleanliness is of utmost importance in disease prevention. Brooder house floors and walls up about 12 inches should be scrubbed with a stiff broom dipped in lye water, and the rest of the house sprayed with a good disinfectant before the chicks arrive.

Save Sugar For Canning Purposes

Easy on the sugar! There will be no sugar stamps issued for home canning this year.

As consumers start using the sugar made available by a new 10-pound stamp April 1, the Texas A and M College Extension Service cautions that the sugar bought with the new stamp will have to take care of both home and canning needs. No stamps labeled specifically for home canning will be issued this summer.

Miss Gwendolyn Jones, Extension food preservation specialist explains that this situation does not mean that each consumer will get less sugar this year. Actually, each person will get 30 or 35 pounds this year in comparison with only 25 pounds last year. In the past, the OPA issued stamps at regular intervals for table use, using sugar stamps. Under the board's new system, each stamp is worth ten pounds instead of four or five, but no canning stamps are available. Therefore, homemakers will have to save from this last 10 pound stamp if they plan to do any home canning.

The stamp issued April will be good until October 1.

All movable equipment should be soaked in lye water, using one can of concentrated lye to 10 gallons of water.

Bartenders Union Doesn't Like The 'Drys'

The Bartender's Union of New York City, representing about 50,000 members, has gone on record as unanimously opposed to prohibition. Apparently, they intend to "run the Drys ragged," and they made a pretty good start by endorsing a resolution to be presented to the International Bartenders' Convention in Milwaukee for the appropriation of $100,000 to finance the activities of a "Temperance Department" in the International Union to combat the efforts of the Dry forces which "threaten our industry." The New York Bartenders were addressed by Mr. Jack Townsend, president of Local Number 15, and the following is an impression of his speech:

"These hypocritical agitators . . . the double-crossing Drys . . . this handful of little Hitlers . . . these hypocritical, double-crossing blue-noses . . . these sanctimonious, would-be dictators . . . these gluttons . . . will stop at nothing!"

The speech was enthusiastically received—Clip Sheet.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

I just been readin' an "apple-cart upsetter." The piece bores holes in the bottom of the boat of the boys who been saying the Govt. should take over this business or that business, and let the people have the profits.

The piece is in the Pacific Rural Press. It says a grand jury has concluded that the street car situation in San Francisco is the worst in the USA—and the grand jury also says, and recommends, a return of the street cars there to private ownership—where efficiency, it says, has not been tossed out the window.

I kinda half-way feel sorry for those 2 fisted folks there in that old town with its rip-snort'n', roarin' reputation for hardness, for being took-in by this pinkish idea of City ownership—with easy profits. With the old roulette wheel, those native sons had almost a 50-50 chance—they should have stayed with same. They know it now.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

POKE GREENS IS SALAD

We noted somewhere in reading the other day, probably in one of these University Press things they call quarterlies and sometime print stuff that is screwball, a writer spoke of poke sallet. It put us to looking. Had we thought of poke sallet all these years as poke salad? Had our raising been all wrong, the years wasted as it were?

If we understand Mr. Webster the country folks that call it salad are right and the town people who lean back so hard trying to be right and correct and proper about everything are wrong. Sallet is a sort of helmet of a thing with a projection over the neck, the only definition we can find for it. Salad is, among other things any kind of a green herb grown to make salad, as for instance, you take poke and put in some seasoning and cook it right and you've got poke salad and it doesn't taste like a helmet with a projection over the neck. At least it doesn't taste that way to us.—Floydada Hesperian.

NO INCREASE IN SCHOLASTIC CENSUS

While the recent census taken of scholastics in the county is not officially tabulated, school authorities state it is practically the same as last year.

Texas To Observe - National Nursing Week

The State of Texas is planning to celebrate national "Public Health Nursing Week" April 20 to 26, as proclaimed by President Harry S. Truman.

The purpose of the week, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer will be (1) to recruit more public health nurses (2) to increase understanding of the fact that much needless sickness and suffering can be prevented by using public health nursing service (3) to encourage greater understanding of public health nursing as a service for everybody regardless of size of income (4) to encourage development of public health nursing services wherever needed (5) to increase citizen participation in public health nursing services.

From the beginning of this work more than thirty years ago, public health nurses have been concerned with the total health situation of the family including sickness, disease, prevention and health protection.

In setting aside April 20 to 26 as "Public Health Nursing Week," for America, health administrators and all other friends of nursing should exert their efforts toward the extension of public health nursing services, so that there will be enough qualified nurses to meet the needs of all the people, and thus help in maintaining a maximum health level throughout the nation.

Miss Donna Rae Jones, of Seagraves spent the week end with her uncle and aunt. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jones.

Veterans News

The Veterans Administration has reviewed more than a third of its disability compensation cases in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi in the Congressionally-authorized program to establish more accurate ratings for disabled veterans, VA reported this week.

Of the 207,000 compensation and pension cases in VA's Dallas Branch Area subject to review under the new disability rating schedule approved by the last Congress, VA has reviewed 75,353 cases, slightly more than 36 per cent.

VA said virtually all veterans drawing compensation for service-connected disabilities will have their cases reviewed under the new schedule. Reviews are automatic, therefore, VA requested disabled veterans not to make inquiries about their cases while they are pending.

Although the new schedule provides increased ratings for certain types of disabilities and decreases for other types, it does not make any blanket change in rating. However, the increases far outnumber the decreases.

World War II amputees eligible for free automobiles, who intend to apply for them, should file their claims immediately because funds for purchase of the cars will not be available after June 30, VA said.

The appropriation authorized by the 79th Congress for the purchase expires on that date.

VA cannot purchase a car until the claim has been filed, the veteran declared legally eligible and a sales agreement made with a car dealer. Since this processing requires considerable time, veterans who intend to apply should file now so that money for purchase of the cars can be encumbered before the appropriation expires.

Veterans who suffered the loss or loss of use of one or both lower limbs at or above the ankle during service in World War II are entitled to the cars. They must obtain an operator's license.

So far, 1,376 World War II veterans in the Dallas Branch Area of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi have filed claims for cars. Of these, 990 have been found eligible. Nearly 600 veterans have received delivery of their cars at an average cost to the government of $1,576 per vehicle.

HISTORY OF THE SOUTH FOR 340 YEARS

A volume in a long-awaited complete history of the South from 1607 to 1946, will be published around Nov. 15, 1947, Dr. T. S. Painter, president of the University of Texas, announced. Dr. E. Merton Coulter, professor of American history at the University, now on leave of absence with the department of history at the University of Georgia, has written, "The South in Reconstruction, 1865-1880," as Volume VIII of the 10-volume history.

All 10 volumes are expected to be completed by 1950 with the nation's foremost authorities on Southern History as the authors.

Dr. Painter is chairman of the board of trustees of the Littlefield Fund for Southern History, a fund started in 1914 by the late Major George W. Littlefield for purchase of source materials.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Chesshir spent several days last week in Dallas attending a ginners convention. They also visited Mrs. Chesshir's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Avary.

TRY A HERALD WANT AD

Elected or Appointed, State Superintendent?

One of the best pieces of legislation ever started in the Texas legislature is the bill to take the naming of the state school superintendent off the long ballot and let him be named by the State Board of Education. The Hanna bill has been reported favorably by the committee. It is hoped that both houses pass it overwhelmingly as it will make for better education for our state. As the situation now stands, L. A. Woods has been state school head so long that he holds a whip over every school superintendent in Texas. If one of them dares to oppose him on election year, he immediately takes action to have him black-listed. That is why you don't hear some local school head opposing L. A. Woods. He has brought it upon himself. Write your Senator and representative to vote for this Hanna bill—Lorenzo Tribune.

L. A. Woods, State Superintendent, sends out press releases to fight the proposal in the legislature to cut off his political head. A bill is pending to make the State Superintendent appointive by the State Board of Education, rather than elective by the people. Woods is basing his defense of the right of election on the fact that it would be removing from the people their right for a free expression of choice in filling this political office. While we hold no brief for L. A. Woods, we think that he missed one of the strong arguments in opposition to the bill: The Board of Education is composed entirely of laymen, with no school men allowed on the board. You can fancy what would happen if some one proposed that the lawyers and the doctors be regulated by boards on which members of these professions were barred by law! Yet the schools of the state are regulated to a considerable degree by laymen who may or may not be educators; and the buying of millions of dollars of school text books is under the direct control of such a body.—Canyon News.

Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Daniell had as their guests her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Tanner, of Rule and her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fouts, as Haskell.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Campbell left last week to make their home in Garcey, Calif. Mrs. Campbell, the former Miss Joyce Trotter, was employed at the State Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cruce left last week to spend several weeks at Possum Kingdom Dam supervising the construction of their cabin.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. D. Waggoner and sons, Rodney and Bruce and Nelda Mae Henry of Winters were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hamilton Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis of Perryton and Miss Edna May Spinks of Borger visited their grandmother, Mrs. A. L. Spinks and other relatives over the week end. Mrs. C. D. Green, of Ralls, also visited Mrs. Spinks, who is her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mayfield and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Blair were in Lubbock on business Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bradley and daughters spent the week end in Amarillo with Mrs. Bradley's father who has been a patient in the hospital there for the past seven months.

Mr. T. J. Wood of the Arizona Chemical plant east of town, went by plane to Kansas City on business, returning Tuesday.

VANCE SMITH VISITS BIG DRUG PLANT

One hundred pharmacy students at the University of Texas have returned to Austin after spending their spring vacation on an educational tour of the Eli Lilly pharmaceutical plant in Indianapolis, Ind.

Entertainment and incidental expenses were paid by the Texas wholesale drug houses and Lilly Company. Cost of the transportation was the only expense to the students.

The group was accompanied by Dr. C. C. Albers, associate professor of pharmacognosy, and Mrs. Albers and Fred Borth, pharmacy instructor and Mrs. Borth.

Students on the trip included Vance Smith, of this city.

Winter Backfires

Well, while it was cloudy, misting, raining, sleet or snowing almost all the time from last Saturday until Thursday morning, we did at least get three quarters of an inch moisture, and we really doubt that it was ever cold enough to damage anything.

Joe Shelton reported a bare 30 at 6:30 Thursday morning, which was very likely the lowest point. The West Texas Gas Co. gave a low of 32. That doesn't kill. Our experience is that during a damp spell, it takes 24 or lower.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jones have moved back to Brownfield from Arizona and Clifton will put in a boot-making establishment if he can get a building or part of one. His brother, Oscar, Jr., who has been out there with them, since his return from the Navy, has also returned and weighs over 200 pounds, and is over six feet in his sock feet.
