Jim Reese, 19th Congressional District candidate, will be honored at an introduction coffee at 7 p.m. on Thursday, August 26 in the Tri-County Savings & Loan Community room, according to campaign manager, Derrell Oliver.

Oliver also said Reese will be noon speaker at Rotary on Thursday and special speaker at Kiwanis on Friday, August 27.

Although J.K. Adams' tomato crop received hail damage recently, he said it is recuperating and he will still have tomatoes available.

He has two acres of tomatoes at the south edge of Muleshoe.

The Flatlander's Radio Club Inc. of Lubbock plan their fourth Annual Labor Day Jamboree September 4-6 in the Merchant's building at the South Plains Fair Grounds.

All proceeds will go to the local Texas Boys' Ranch and many prizes will be presented CB'ers attending the celebration.

Mickey Sowder was among area residents in Levelland last week to visit a reception for Allen Steelman who is a candidate opposing Texas Senator Lloyd Bentsen in the November general election.

Sowder said Steelman spoke on current problems of the South Plains agriculture, including farm programs and OSHA.

June sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Bailey County were reported by Dean Sprabrey, County Chairman at $3,210. This makes the six-month cumulative total $27,221 which is 34 percent of the $80,000 goal for 1976.

Nineteenth District Congressional Candidate Jim Reese announced that Derrell Oliver, 1821 West Avenue D, has been named Bailey County Campaign Chairman.

Oliver, owner of an irrigation business, will be responsible for recruiting precinct leaders who will, in turn, ask volunteers to help in the neighbor-to-neighbor, grass-roots campaign. He will also be in charge of arranging meetings, coffees and fundraising for the Congressional candidate.

spotted areas in this county during the past few days. Tanksley said corn head smut, a soil-borne disease, has been found in several fields, inflicting damage to ears and tassels and dropping production where it has been found.

"Now is the time for producers to check their fields," said the county agent, "if they have a problem, they will need to be planning to plant a variety of corn resistant to corn head smut."

He added, "If any producer finds a field he is not sure about, if he will call me, I will be glad to consult with him on the problem, as I am familiar with it."

The county agent said the disease is relatively new to the area, but this week was confirmed here. Last year, for the first time, the disease was confirmed on the South Plains and High Plains when it showed up in Castro County around Dimmitt. Now, it has moved into Hale, Lamb, Parmer Counties

Weekend Family Problems In Police Activity

Back to back calls for family, or domestic, problems kept members of the Muleshoe City Police, Bailey County Sheriff's office and Texas Highway Patrol hopping over the weekend.

Early Saturday night, simultaneous calls came in about a man run over west of Muleshoe on Highway 1760. Instead of a wreck, or a man run over by a vehicle, he had been run over by fists in a domestic argument.

After he was patched up at the hospital, he was jailed.

At the same time, officers received a call about a family fight, and after the wife signed a complaint, the man was charged with assault.

A horse race between Lariat and Oklahoma Lane in Parmer County sparked a shooting and a stabbing late Sunday afternoon. West Plains Medical Center reported to the Law Enforcement Center that they had one shooting and one stabbing victim at the hospital around 7 p.m.

Responding to the call were Bailey County Sheriff Dee Clements, City Patrolman Wayne Holmes and Highway Patrolmen Louis Cardinal and Jim Williams. They found Jamie Campova of Muleshoe had a gunshot wound in his leg and Jessie Cano of Morton had a series stab wound in his right leg.

After officers ascertained that the incidents occurred in Parmer County, officers in that county were notified.

CORN HEAD SMUT FOUND IN COUNTY . . . Bailey County Agriculture Agent Spencer Tanksley has issued a warning to Bailey County Corn producers about corn head smut which has been confirmed in this county. This is a relatively new corn disease, and was found on the Texas Plains the first time last year. A soil-borne disease, corn head smut is being found on spotted farms throughout the area. The county agent has warned that farmers should check their fields, and if they have questions, call him. The inset shows a close-up of what should have been an ear of corn, but is instead a shuck full of smut.

Longhorns Small But Speedy

Dewayne Sexton, head football and track coach at the Lazbuddie School was openly optimistic about his 27 varsity players who hit the field for practice.

"We are looking for a good season," he commented, "and although our players are young and inexperienced, by the time we reach the tough part of the season, I expect them to be responding very well."

County Discusses Ambulance, Judge

Meeting in special session on Tuesday, August 24, one item of business occupying the members of Bailey County Commissioners Court was opening bids for a new ambulance to be operated by Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home.

After checking bids, it was decided to accept the low bid of Summers Funeral Car Co. of Duncanville, for a 1977 Ford Hi-Top Van Ambulance with all metal roof for $13,986.85. Delivery for the vehicle was promised in 30-60 days.

The action was taken after Frank Ellis reported recently that the present 1969 ambulance had reached a critical stage and had already stopped running twice with patients inside. He said repair costs for the vehicle was enormous and that soon repairs would not keep the vehicle in safe operating condition.

A discussion was also held by commissioners as to approaching the city for additional funds to help pay expenses incurred

Guest Speaker To Be Featured By Methodists

Rev. Wesley Daniels of the Littlefield United Methodist Church.

He will be sharing his experience of four weekend missionary conferences held in his church while pastoring in both Spearman and Littlefield with three missionaries, Dr. Harold Spann, Miss Trefren and Rev. Ayo Ladigbolu, who will be guest speakers September 10 and 11, and 12 at the Muleshoe First United Methodist Church.

Early in the season, the Longhorns don't expect major problems with the teams they will be facing, although the coach said they will have some tough games before them toward the end of the 1976 football season.

With only four seniors, the team also will utilize three freshmen in offense and three freshmen in defense. "Much of what we do this year will depend on how well they learn and how they come around when they are needed."

Seniors are Mike Mimms, who played center last year. This year he will be in a tight end position. As a center, he won honorable mention All South Plains last season. Coach Sexton said he was changed to get him more involved in offense.

Last year playing split end position, senior Wade Cargile will be in a half back position this season. The coach said he is running very well.

Joe Hawkins started during the latter part of the 1975 season and will be playing defensive tackle while Ronald Powell, out for the first time will be starting as a defensive end. "Ronald is the quickest one we have," added the coach.

The Longhorns and the entire coaching staff were more optimistic and openly enthusiastic following a scrimmage with 5B Wilson last week. Wilson has been picked to win the district this year, and the Longhorns made them sit up and take notice with five turnovers in the game.

Forced by strong defense, the Wilson team made four fumbles and lost the ball another time in an interception. At the same time, the Longhorns only lost one fumble.

"We will have to depend a lot on speed as our team is very small," said Coach Sexton. "However, we are a little larger in size than last year's team."

He is starting his second season as head Mentor of the Longhorns. His assistants are Mickey Wilson, athletic director and James Counce, head junior high school coach.

First game for the Longhorns will be Friday, September 3, when they tangle with the Whiteface team at Whiteface. The coaches and the team all were unanimous in saying that public support of the team efforts would go a long way in determining the outcome of the season. "Spirit and support help a team and the team efforts," they concluded.

Also discussed by commissioners was possible health insurance for county employees. Because a sharp increase in rates was submitted by the company presently insuring county employees, commissioners are presently checking to find rates and services offered by other insurance companies.

Vegetable Harvest Leads 1976 Season

Across Bailey County, with the harvest season approaching, people are thinking along the lines of getting their produce out of the fields, said Bailey County Agent Spencer Tanksley.

Corn will be the first major harvest to get underway, and Tanksley said he anticipates harvesting to begin during the first three weeks of September and be in full swing by the third week.

"Ensilage harvest is very strong across the county at this time," said the county agent, "and the producers are very pleased with results to date."

He added that many producers are finalizing land preparation and wheat planting, while the cotton crop looks very good. Tanksley predicted a good yield however, warned, weather may be a factor in determining maturity of the crop that is now two to three weeks late.

"We are already having cool nights," he cautioned, "and in order to have high quality cotton, we must have warm weather into September."

Dryland producers who have planted crops following intermittent and spotty rains, have planted mostly grain sorghum and sunflowers in some areas. Most fields below the sandhills in Southern Bailey County are plowed and unplanted as not

Mule Fans Out In Full Force Tuesday Night

A lot of Mule-minded people showed up Tuesday night, as they packed the east stands at Benny Douglass stadium around 7:30 p.m. Why? They had heard the Mules were going to be there -- and they were, all 119 of them. An estimated crowd of more than 500 people attended Meet The Mules night.

Also on the field were members of the Muleshoe Schools' coaching staff, cheerleaders, the Muleshoe Athletic Booster officers and the freshmen, junior varsity and varsity football teams.

Athletic Director Don Cumpton said, "I am not going to stand here and tell you we are going to win 10 straight games, but I am going to tell you the boys will play as hard as they can, and give it all they've got."

As the coaches introduced the players, and the cheerleaders were introduced, the Muleshoe High School Band, under direction of Director Tony Clines presented 'spirit' music for the enthusiastic crowd.

Starting at 4 p.m. Friday will be scrimmages at the Muleshoe High School football stadium. The freshmen will scrimmage at 4:00; junior varsity will scrimmage at 6:30, followed by the Mules' Varsity at 8 p.m. Scrimmages will be against Springlake-Earth.

enough moisture was ever received to allow planting any crops.

"In order to realize any yield at all," said Tanksley, "the dryland crops must receive additional moisture in the very near future."

The county agent said that producers and homeowners need to be aware of a strong invasion of armyworms at this time. "They do exist in our areas now, and can strip foliage of field crops and vegetables in a hurry," he warned. He added that armyworms can be easily controlled with recommended pesticides.

He also issued a word of caution for producers to be aware of mildew that can blast and destroy late blooming grain sorghum heads. Small amounts of the insect have shown up in some grain sorghum in the area at this time.

Potato and onion harvest are almost complete, and both the yield and quality look good at this time, commented Tanksley. He added that the vegetable harvest is gaining momentum, with harvest just getting underway good for peppers, cucumbers, cabbage and early tomatoes.

With the recent addition of a new vegetable processing plant near Muleshoe, several producers increased their pepper crop this year and anticipate good yields and top quality peppers to be shipped to buyers in distant states.

Even with scant moisture, and a heavy dependence on irrigation throughout Bailey County, producers are very optimistic about the potential top crops expected where irrigated lands were planted.

Second Day Registration; 1693 Students

Muleshoe School Superintendent reported that on the second day of the 1976-77 school year, registration is down 35 students from last year. On the second day this year a total of 1693 students had registered, as compared to 1728 on the second day last year.

High school gained 21 students, and have registered 496 this year; Junior High School lost 20 students as 413 had registered Tuesday; Mary DeShazo had a loss of 13 students with 408 students registered and Richland Hills registered 363, which is a loss of 10 students. There is also a loss in Special Education with 13 registered at this time, compared to 16 at the same time last year.

Superintendent Dillman said he expected other students to register and a few to drop out before school settles down for the year.

77; Joe Hawkins, No. 75; Dan Copeland, No. 70; Randy Smith, No. 74 and Keith Smith, No. 66. The Longhorns are called "small but speedy, and ready to play".

Cotton Prices Plunge Down After Rising

Cotton prices took a sharp plunge during the last three weeks of July, dropping about 20 cents per pound after reaching high levels earlier. With this, an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service believes the cotton market has experienced both the high and the low for the season.

"Two steps forward and one back can be expected until price recovery is complete," says Charles Baker. "Supply, demand and crop prospects should take hold soon to steady market conditions."

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's August 12 cotton crop estimate of 10.7 million bales points to the fact that we can't produce enough cotton in 1976 to meet demand, notes Baker. Domestic consumption is estimated at 6.8 million bales while 4.5 million will be shipped abroad. That's 600,000 bales more than the expected crop.

"U.S. cotton growers have contracted 47 percent of their crop, with 22 percent of the Texas crop under contract. More contracts will be signed when prices get back up near early July levels," predicts Baker. "If contracts aren't right and price isn't right at time of harvest, farmers are expected to use the loan much more than in 1975." Farmers should be concerned about seed prices also, notes Baker. The average price of $90 per ton paid to farmers in 1975 was extremely low compared to the total value of products from that seed. Cottonseed prices can be the difference between profit or loss in cotton production, yet farmers give little attention to what they receive for seed.

From The Paster's Desk

By Rev. Evetts

A HOLY BOLDNESS: Acts 4:13 - "Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marvelled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus." The surprising element in the conduct and behavior of the early Christians was their unexpected, and unaccounted for boldness as they faced the rulers and accusers of the day. It was the last thing to be expected from such unlearned and ignorant men. And it was so surprising it shot a tremor of fear through the hearts of the rulers. If we let these men other than Christians stand for the world - there were several reasons why the world could not cope with this element of surprise and power.

FIRST OF ALL THEY COULD NOT ACCOUNT FOR IT: Scientists tell us that back of every effect there is a causative agency. And to these rulers and learned men - there was no sane explanation for the action of these Christians. They reasoned that when men occupy high places, and are backed by the law and authority - they could naturally assume such boldness and they could afford to take certain liberties. Or if they had possessed superiority in rank, station - learning and experience - it might have been understandable. As they looked at the Christian - there was certainly no Divine obligation because they were different from themselves. Here was a plain case of the ignorant teaching the learned - the servant ruling the master - and the weak dominating the strong. These

Texas Tech Registration Is Scheduled

Registration for the fall semester at Texas Tech University will take place 8 a.m. - 6 p.m., August 25-27, in the Coliseum. Students who wish to continue attendance at Texas Tech but have not received their registration materials in the mail by Monday (August 16) should consult the Registrar's Office, 742-3651.

Transfer students, and students who have recently reapplied to Texas Tech, should receive their registration packets by Wednesday (August 18). If those students fail to receive their packets, they should check with the Office of Admissions, room 101, West Hall, 742-3661. Schedules of fall classes will be available the day before registration in room 108, West Hall. Classes will begin August 30. Labor Day will be a student holiday and classes will resume September 7.

men who felt they had a corner on Religion - couldn't account for the sudden burst of boldness on the part of these common, ordinary disciples.

THEY REASONED IT MUST HAVE BEEN DIVINELY INTERPRETED: Though they didn't understand - they took knowledge of Peter and John that they had been with Jesus. And the people marvelled at the boldness expressed by Jesus and His humble followers. He had taught as one who possessed divine authority. It was he who had driven the traders from the Temple with an authority unquestioned even by the High-Archy. If one is filled with evil he is filled with fear and cowardice; but if he is filled with the Holy Ghost, he is filled with holy boldness. And these men were filled with the Holy Spirit of God.

WE NATURALLY REASON THEREFORE - ALL CHRISTIANS NEED THIS BOLDNESS: It's been my humble experience that boldness in any field comes only when one is filled with assurance. Doubt always fills us with uncertainty - but assurance brings certainty. And it need not be said: "What any Christian who is continually doubting is a Christian unarmed and disarmed for Christian warfare." Every Christian needs boldness that comes through conviction. Paul gives us some very vivid and gripping phrases: "I know whom I have believed." "I can do all things through Christ." "I must of necessity" and so forth. These came out of his convictions concerning his relationship to the Lord Jesus Christ. We need that boldness expressed that comes out of daring faith. A faith that comes after sight fails and human reason can go no further. Was it not Paul who said: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." Again we need that Christian Spirit of boldness that comes from Divine Obligation. This was the word of Peter: "We can not but speak the things which we have seen and heard." "Woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel." "Whether it be right to harken unto you more than unto God, judge ye." In the heart of every Christian - there should be a Divine "Oughtness" that would compel him to do God's will whatever it is.

as well as Bailey County. Corn head smut is the most damaging disease known to corn, and can drop production as much as 30 percent, warned the county agent, who added that the disease is characterized by loss of ears and in some cases, the tassels being infested with smut. Tanksley said the fungus that attacks as head smut is a soil-borne disease.

Some ears have no grain, the entire ear is smut, and the grower must learn to identify between head smut and common smut, emphasized Tanksley. Common corn smut can be found in most all fields, and has been present in the area for many years.

"At the present," warned the county agent, "No effective chemical control is known. Plant rotation to other crops or the planting of resistant varieties to this disease is our best recommendation."

was a resolution allowing South Plains Community Action of Levelland to continue to operate Manpower for Bailey County, and it was approved to allow the bank to withdraw $15,000 in bonds from the county's account and substitute another $15,000 in bonds. Judge Williams explained that this is a routine matter and is generally done when the original bonds are sold. At that time, a request is made to withdraw the bonds in the amount as sold and substitute bonds issued.

Some growers and seedsmen at the Dimmitt tour seemed pleased with the prevailing interest in corn. Arlen Simpson of Littlefield, said that a long time ago older folks said corn couldn't make it in the Texas Panhandle.

"We've been able to hold down problems with our crops," he said, "until we could adjust. This has happened in sorghum and cotton, and is now happening in corn. We will have to level off our production and try to hold costs down, but I believe corn will be around for a while where sufficient water is available."

Recently, County Agent Tanksley attended a field tour conducted on the George Sides farm near Dimmitt, along with 145 other participants. Featured were hybrids planted in four-row plots one-half mile long. The 70 varieties are being observed for resistance to head smut, leaf rust and maize mosaic dwarf virus.

Dr. Robert Berry, plant pathologist for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service is giving leadership to the project, said Tanksley, and he will make a valuation of the project for publication in the fall.

The county agent said, "If you don't have head smut, you don't have a problem, because if the disease does not exist now, you will not acquire the disease since it is soil born."

Corn rust got an early start in the demonstration because of heavy July rains, and the disease attacked all but one of the 70 varieties featured in the test plot on the Sides farm. Berry said it appeared that 66 of the 70 hybrids tested are "very susceptible to rust."

Dr. Berry also told the group, "Maize Dwarf Mosaic Virus has been recognized as a serious disease of corn for several years," and although it has not caused many problems in High Plains corn production, infected plants have been present in nearly every field.

The prevalence of corn on the Texas High Plains is in striking contrast to what it was just three years ago, he added. Acreage has jumped from about 300,000 acres in 1973 to over a million this year.

While there is mixed speculation regarding amount of water supplies that will be available to corn growers on the Texas High Plains, most experts agree there will be yet further expansion of corn acreages, mainly toward the eastern and southern portions of the 40-county area. Heaviest corn production is now centered around the northern and western areas.

Besides long-term water supplies, farmers also have to face what they believe to be certain increases in energy prices and even further energy shortages. In addition, the southwestern corn borer and fall armyworm present formidable obstacles.

Some growers and seedsmen at the Dimmitt tour seemed pleased with the prevailing interest in corn. Arlen Simpson of Littlefield, said that a long time ago older folks said corn couldn't make it in the Texas Panhandle.

Firemen's Hall Of Fame First In The Nation

The State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association of Texas announced today that they are launching a two million dollar campaign for the purpose of raising money to build an Archives and Hall of Fame in the State of Texas.

The Campaign Chairman is a Veteran Fireman, Chief Blondy Rucker, of Killeen. The State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association is celebrating its 100 years of service this year in Texas. In 1896, a beautiful monument was unveiled on the State Capital grounds in Austin, in honor of the Volunteer Firemen who died in the line of duty.

The Board of Directors of the Association, in a recent meeting at College Station, decided that the time has come to preserve many of the outstanding pieces of equipment and documents.

Pickling Pointers For A Perfect Product

COLLEGE STATION -- Summer means pickling -- and following a few important steps ensures a good quality product. Mrs. Sally Coble, a foods and nutrition specialist advises.

"She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University system. Get ready -- with the right equipment:

"Select standard canning jars and canning closures. Check the jars to be sure they're free of nicks, chips or cracks. Jars and closures should be thoroughly clean.

"For heating pickling liquids, use unchipped enamelware, stainless steel, aluminum or glass utensils. Utensils made of copper, brass, galvanized or iron materials should not be used since the pickling liquid may react with the metal," she explained.

Handy small utensils for food preparation include measuring spoons and cups, sharp knives, sponges, colander and wooden cutting board.

A long-handled wooden spoon, cheesecloth for spice bags, rubber spatula, jar lifter and a glass measuring cup are needed for the cooking and filling procedures.

A water bath canner is necessary for processing the pickles. Get set -- with the right ingredients:

Produce:

"Select top-quality produce, free from blemishes, uniform in size and slightly underripe. Remove the blossoms and pickle within 24 hours."

Salt:

"Use coarse salt, sometimes called dairy or pickling salt.

I-ized salt may cause pickles to darken.

Water:
"Soft water is recommended."
Sugar:
"Brown or white, granulated sugar may be used."

Spices:
"Use fresh spices for best flavor. Whole spices, tied in a cheesecloth bag, are preferred. Remove spice bag from pickling liquid before filling jars."

Vinegar:
"Use a high-grade cider or white distilled vinegar of four to six percent acidity (40 to 60 grains)."

Go -- with a favorite recipe from a reliable source:
Following are a few recipes from this publication you may want to try.

In-Laws-Why We Get Along With Them

Editor's note: This is third of a four-part series on in-law relationships. Part three considers reasons why some in-law relationships are harmonious and others may not be.

COLLEGE STATION -- Many couples enjoy pleasant and satisfying relationships with their in-laws -- but others are plagued by conflicts and ill-feelings at each meeting.

No clear-cut explanations exist for the dynamics of in-law relations, but researchers have found that certain factors contribute heavily to a satisfactory relationship, Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist, points out.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Couples who marry at a later age are generally less likely to experience in-law difficulties than younger couples."

"It was reported in 1968 that 45 percent of the couples married between the ages of 17 and 19 reported excellent relationships with in-laws, while 60 percent of those married at 24 years of age and older reported excellent relationships with in-laws."

"A possible explanation is that younger couples may be either unwilling or unable to accept the new attitudes and life styles of their in-laws," she noted.

"Couples who rate their marriage as very happy generally classify their in-law relations as excellent. It stands to reason that in a happy marriage, couples would not be as likely to use parents or parents-in-law as scapegoats for their marital problems."

"In-laws could serve as a strength rather than a weakening source for the marriage. Research also indicates that in-law problems decline as the number of years married increases," she said.

In-law difficulty, generally -- but not always -- involves the husband's mother, according to research. As a new bride assumes responsibilities her husband's mother used to have, the mother may feel that her position has been taken over by the new wife. Jealousy and resentment may grow out of this situation, the specialist said.

"Generally, the male in-laws present the fewest problems, with only a small percentage naming them as the greatest source of difficulty."

County Agent Explains Cost Of Beef Cuts

The rancher or farmer who pays $2 a pound for a T-bone steak in the supermarket probably can't understand why he only got about 30 cents a pound for his calf, says Spencer Tankley, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"First, the animal had to go to a feedlot where he was fed to obtain the grade and weight desired by most retailers. As a 1,000-pound steer, he was probably sold for about $400. A packer purchased him and found he yielded only a 620-pound carcass. The price for the carcass then was at least 64.5 cents a pound," says the county agent.

"The retailer buying the carcass must then cut and package it for the consumer. Cutting loss along with bone, fat and some moisture are lost during this process so that only about 440 pounds of meat are left for retailing. The cost goes up rapidly to about 91 cents a pound."

When the other costs of slaughtering, transportation, labor, advertising and packaging costs are added, the price goes up to about $1.40 per pound. Of course, the $1.40 retail price is an average for all cuts of meat of a steer. Since the 440 pounds of meat included only about 16 pounds of T-bone steak, it must naturally bring a higher price than the cheaper and more abundant cuts.

"So, the next time you look in shock at the price of a T-bone steak, think of all the steps and people involved in transforming that 1,000-pound live steer into a neatly packaged piece of meat available at the grocery store," notes Tankley.

Doctor Shortage Hurts Rural Area

People who choose to live in rural or sparsely-populated areas deserve the same quality of health care as their big-city neighbors. The problem is that not enough physicians and other health providers want to live in rural areas.

The problem concerns the entire health services system, both the public and the private sectors. For a number of years, the medical profession in Texas, through the Texas Medical Association, has looked for ways to encourage young doctors to locate their practices in small towns where they can serve the surrounding countryside.

According to Dr. Ed Schmidt, the past president of the Texas Medical Association, practicing medicine in outlying areas offers several advantages: "short travel time between places, no smog, no traffic problem, relative freedom from crime, a wholesome atmosphere" are some of the examples he cites.

On the other hand, Dr. Schmidt recognizes that most young doctors are not attracted to rural practice. He explains, "Some doctors feel that they may not be able to cope with the situation, since they've been trained in an academic environment with a large amount of backup from big hospitals and medical centers. They don't feel comfortable" in a more isolated environment, he says.

It's also true, according to the medical association, that doctors in rural areas work harder, often for longer hours, and generally have lower earnings than their big-city counterparts. Furthermore, the doctors -- and their spouses -- often miss the social life, entertainment, and other amenities of a metropolitan environment.

Dr. Mario Ramirez, who has based his practice in remote Roma for the past quarter of a century, knows first-hand the problems of both poverty and rural areas. Until recently, he was not only the only physician in the area, but he operated his own hospital -- the only one in the South Texas county. Now there's a new hospital in Rio Grande City, but there is still a shortage of skilled medical personnel.

Dr. Ramirez believes that the best solution is to help young people from the rural areas obtain an education in medicine. Hopefully, after they receive their education, they'll return to their hometowns to practice among the people they know best. This approach has been used with some success, but it's inherently a slow process -- and the young doctors don't always want to go back home once they've spent a few years in the bright lights of the big town.

According to Dr. Schmidt, science and technology are beginning to help rural physicians provide better care, and to end the feeling of isolation. New devices such as remote telemetry, closed-circuit television, and computers can be used to give the rural practitioner access to expert consultants and other sources of vital information even if it's thousands of miles away. Also, the expanded use of paraprofessional medical personnel, such as physician's assistants and paramedics, helps to relieve the rural doctor's burdensome caseload.

Public health in Texas has made great strides in its effort to provide better service to people in the countryside. Although there are full-time local health departments in only about 75 of the state's 254 counties, the local agencies now serve roughly 80 percent of the population.

Six years ago, the first of ten Public Health Regions was established. This Fall, the last two

Tractor Overturns Can Bring Death

Overturned tractors are the greatest cause of tractor-related deaths, says Spencer Tanksley, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Sixty-three percent of all tractor fatality victims are killed from tractor overturns. Other deaths result when victims are involved in highway crashes, are caught in the power-take-off (PTO) shaft, or are run over by or thrown from the tractor.

All these tractor accidents can be prevented, emphasizes Tanksley.

When stuck in a hole or soft spot, a tractor can easily upset backwards if a forward escape is attempted. The best bet is to back out if possible, or get help and be pulled out.

A tractor may tip backwards or sideways when crossing a ditch. Avoid steep banks and cross ditches where banks have gradual slopes, advises Tanksley.

Tractors are less stable when operating on a slope. Keep wheels spread as wide as possible and drive slowly, with no sudden turns. When using a mounted mower, keep it on the uphill side of the tractor.

Pulling loads up steep grades increases the chances of backward overturns, points out the county agent. Attach items only to the drawbar and add adequate front-end weights.

Tractors could overturn when pulling from a three-point hitch if the hitch is raised too high. A high hitch with sufficient traction and plenty of power is a ready target for a backwards overturn.

Operators are often thrown when the tractor hits a sudden object while traveling at high speed. Also, a sharp turn at high speed reduces the tractor's stability and can unsettle its driver.

Many tractor accidents on highways happen when the driver's attention is diverted from the road, causing him to drive off the shoulder and overturn. The key to preventing such a mishap is to give full attention to the driving tasks, emphasizes Tanksley.

A line of cars behind a tractor on the highway makes auto drivers irritated and irrational, causing them to take chances. When traffic backs up, a safe and courteous tractor driver will pull off the highway to allow cars to pass.

Tractor operators should always make sure the PTO shield is in place while the tractor is running. Always shut off the power before dismounting. Unshielded rotation shafts can catch clothing and wrap a person around them in a fraction of a second. PTO shafts revolve at a speed of 9 to 19 revolutions every second and exposure to this shaft could mean instant death.

A tractor is built with only one seat for the operator, so hauling extra passengers is extremely hazardous. Additional riders often fall from, or are thrown from the tractor and are run over by the wheel or other equipment. This is especially true of small children.

Cyclists To Perform For Lubbock Fair

"The Three Albanis" will perform a free, aerial motorcycle act on special rigging throughout the 59th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here September 25 - October 2.

Steve L. Lewis, general manager, said the two men and a woman would perform a total of 20 shows outdoors.

Labeling the act as "very exciting and unusual", Lewis said the trio would be featured on a spinning platform 75 feet high.

Lewis said the act is "the most breathtaking of any previous aerial act" ever carded for the fair.

Show times will be 4 p.m., 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. on September 25, 26, 27 and October 2; and 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. only on September 28, 29, 30 and October 1.

More than $50,000 in premiums will be offered during the "Festival 76" edition of the fair, which is continuing the bicentennial celebration with a red, white and blue extravaganza highlighting the area's ethnic roots.

In addition, a money-saving ticket-selling system will debut on the million-dollar midway to be operated by Gene Ledel Shows, Inc. of Fort Worth.

Tickets will be available at special booths on the midway at 25 cents for singles or in book form, offering 20 coupons for $4 or 40 coupons for $7.

Two or more of the coupons will be presented at the rides or shows.

Lewis said purchase of the 20-coupon books represented a saving of $1 over singles, while the purchase of the 40-coupon books represented a saving of $3 over singles.

An all-star lineup also has been slated for the stage in Fair Park Coliseum. It includes: --Charlie Pride, plus the popular singing trio of Dave and Sugar, one day only - September 26. --Barbara Mandrell and Freddy Fender, September 27-28. --Charlie Rich, September 29
