U.S.-Russia Farm Comparisons Made

After receiving comparison reports on United States and Russian farms, Terry Hill, executive director of the local ASC office consolidated the information into a comparison story on farms in both countries. He said, "The contents of this article is the result of research conducted by the U.S.D.A. Economic Research Service which allowed me to interpret the economic charts into word form and write this condensed article."

Hill said, First the wide gap between Soviet and U.S. agriculture has narrowed. But, we're still way ahead of them in efficiency, crop yields, livestock production, value of production, output per person, use of fertilizer and farm equipment -- just to name a few.

"Take farm equipment. The Soviets have one tractor for every 265 acres of cultivated land, versus one for 88 acres in the U.S., and they have only one combine to cover 460 acres in small grains, whereas U.S. farmers have one for 150 acres.

"Also," he continued, "Soviet tractors don't last long, only eight or nine years, compared to 15 in our country. On the other hand, Soviet tractors average 60 horsepower, about a fourth more than U.S. machines."

He said the Soviets use only about two-thirds as much mineral fertilizers (nitrogen and phosphates) per acre of arable land as American farmers. But the U.S.S.R.'s fertilizer use has been growing by leaps and bounds in recent years, and by 1980 it may equal or top ours if the current five year plan meets its goal.

"A few words about differences in agricultural resources of the two countries," stated Hill. "Although the U.S.S.R. has about two and a half times more land than the U.S., only about one fourth is suitable for agriculture against one half in the U.S."

"Had you been Soviet born, chances are you'd be agriculture employed. More than one fourth of the Soviet labor force make their living that way compared to only four percent in the U.S. About 45 percent of the force is women compared to only about 15 percent here."

Continuing, Hill added, "In Soviet agriculture, you wouldn't have your own farm. State farms number around 18,000 and average 47,200 acres and occupy only half of the total cultivated area of 560 million acres. The remainder is farmed by 28,600 collective units, averaging around 16,000 acres."

"In the U.S., we have 2.8 million farms averaging less than 400 acres. In the U.S.S.R., one farm worker feeds only seven people, while in the U.S., a farmer feeds 52. The Soviets also lag in yield of most crops."

The agriculture specialist said that in the U.S., we produce more meat, eggs, fruit, corn and soybeans than the U.S.S.R. However, the Soviets produce far more milk, wheat, rye, barley, potatoes and sunflower seeds. The U.S. uses only one half as much grain for food as the U.S.S.R. but about one fourth more grain for livestock feed.

Trade in agriculture production is equally important to both countries, making about one sixth of total trade. However, the U.S. are traditionally exporters -- with the world's largest exportation of farm products.

Mules Take Hale Center In Triple Win

Three of the four Muleshoe teams who tilted off against Hale Center in Muleshoe Tuesday night came home with wins over Hale Center basketball teams.

Winning 52-42 were the junior varsity girls. They were led in scoring by Karen Stovall with 26; Beth Whitt, 15; Banetta Roming, nine and Denise Reeder, two points.

Varsity girls also won their game, in a closer match, 62-59. In the scoring column for the varsity girls were Elizabeth Isaac, 27; Sheryl Stovall, 17; Tanya Burton, 14 and Evelyn Grace, four points.

Third winner during the evening at Hale Center was the junior varsity team, who won 57-52.

Varsity boys lost to Hale Center, 66-56. However, the score does not entirely reflect the game. At the end of the first quarter, Muleshoe was leading, 21-18 and still maintained a 32-30 lead at halftime. In the third, the Mules led by as much as 12 points at one time, but a couple of turnovers had skidded the Mule lead to 47-48, one point behind, going into the fourth.

Varsity basketball coach Raymond Schroeder said Hale Center is picked to win in their game.

★★ CB Manners Make Just 'Good Sense' ★★

How are your CB manners? Are you with it and aware of the fact that there are basic good manners, along with FCC rules and regulations that you should apply everytime you pick up the microphone on your own CB radio?

Have you 'walked' all over someone else when they were trying to talk? This is being guilty of just starting to talk when a conversation is already going on.

Are you one of the ones who 'hogs' the channel, refusing to give it up to someone else who would like to talk for awhile? Good manners dictate that you

Future Events Are Discussed

By CofC Board

Routine reports were given during the Tuesday morning meeting of the board of directors of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture at 6:30 a.m. at the Corral Restaurant.

Eleven directors, incoming directors and one guest attended the meeting and heard incoming CofC president John Clark report on the upcoming Chamber of Commerce banquet. The date of the banquet has been confirmed for Tuesday, February 1, and Bob Murphy, well-known attorney and humorist will be guest speaker.

Bob Finney reported on the Chamber of Commerce special breakfast scheduled for 6:30 a.m. on Thursday, December 2, to honor Muleshoe Outstanding Citizen for the past year. Tickets are $2.50 each and any interested persons are invited and urged to attend the breakfast.

Finney announced that only a short program will be conducted and said that everyone could be at their respective place of employment on time.

Other discussions centered around the recent water meeting in Muleshoe; the proposed Farm Family of the Year; Christmas lights and decorations; the Christmas parade scheduled for 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, December 4, and the ambassadorettes selling mule coins and jewelry for Christmas.

Also, a report on a seminar attended by CofC Executive Director Tommy Black at Texas A&M last week; a proposed seminar to be conducted in February by Homer Tucker; updating labor survey materials to be done by Lonnie Merriott and the proposed civic center plans.

Also the future of the industrial foundation was discussed with future meetings scheduled.

Malone Wins First Place For This Week

After entering the contest for several times, he finally came up with a winning entry. This week, Pat Malone came in with a win correctly predicting some of the upsets that marked last weekend's college football.

He missed two games and was 23 points off on the double tiebreaker games. Longtime prognosticator L.C. 'Shorty' Roddam also persevered until he came in with a winning entry. 'Crystal Ball' Roddam also missed only two games, but was barely out of the first place slot to take second with a total of 27 points away on the tiebreakers.

In third place was Morris Douglass, who joined several others in missing three games. However, Douglass was only 15 points away on the double tiebreaker.

Also missing three games, and their tiebreakers scores were Gerald Shanks, 22; Mary Frances Perez, 24; Harold Cowan, 36; and Derrik Malone, 51. Still leading by four points is James Roy Jones, with one more week after this week in the contest for this year. His closest opponent is Maggie Gutierrez.

JAYCEE TRAP SHOOT . . . All lined up in a row, some waiting to shoot, and more poised to fire when the trap is sprung releasing a clay pigeon. The Jaycee trap shoot, being held just west of the Muleshoe city limits is scheduled again for Saturday and Sunday of this week from 2 p.m. until dark. They already have a number of shooters lined up and ready to go.

POST OFFICE BECOMES DRIVE IN . . . Not really! But is almost did Sunday morning. The pickup, which was left running proved to be too much temptation for children in the pickup. They got it in gear, it jumped the curb and knocked down a support post shown against the wall. The pickup then hit the metal on the windows in front of the post office building. Mary Cervantez was surprised to find that her children had attempted to turn the post office into a drive in facility.

U.S. Postal Service Gives Mailing Dates

The Postal Service today advanced its suggested Christmas mailing deadlines for domestic parcels and letter mail to December 3 and 10, respectively.

Jerrell Otwell, Jerrell C. Otwell, Donny Kinzie, Sudan; Lusky Green, Crispin Green, Tommy Green and Harold DeLoach are deer hunting in the Ozona area this week.

Returning last Friday with their deer from a trip to Ozona were Gary Pierce and Louis Cardinal. They reported their deer were small, but did expect some good eating.

Mrs. Viola Lane returned Friday from Kingfisher, Okla. She has been at the bedside of her brother, Camby Sharp, who is seriously ill with lung cancer.

Following resignation of Floyd County (Floydada) Sheriff Bud Rainey this week, a former deputy of that county was named sheriff to complete Rainey's term of two years.

Named Sheriff of Floyd County was Fred Cardinal, father of Louis Cardinal, Department of Public Safety Trooper of Muleshoe.

Trooper Cardinal said his father would take office on December 1.

in anticipation of an exceptionally high mail volume. Citing the impact of greatly increased mail volumes generated by the 15-state United Parcel Service strike in the East and South, and its residual effect on other parts of the country, the Postal Service said it is compelled to ask the public to mail even earlier than normal.

The Service said that because of the dedication of its employees, many of whom have been working long hours, it has had little trouble handling the increased mail volume since the parcel strike began in mid-September. It expressed confidence it will continue to be able to cope with the increase, with the cooperation of the public and major mailers.

Parcel volume has already more than doubled in the strike area and is up significantly nationwide, and letter mail is also on the rise, the Postal Service said. It said most of the increase, to date, has been from large volume business mailers, who presort their mail and deposit at scheduled, non-peak hours in plants prepared to handle it. For example, the Service said it is working closely with shippers of perishable goods to handle millions of gift packages normally moved by other shippers.

As Christmas nears, however, more and more of the mail will be from the general public, deposited at neighborhood post offices, branches and stations, on top of the already unprecedented business mail volume, the Postal Service said.

As a result, the Service said, while priority will be given to letter mail, many postal facilities normally dedicated to letter mail may have to be used to prevent an unmanageable backlog of parcels.

Therefore, the Postal Service said, it strongly urges the public to deposit their parcels by December 3 and their letters and greeting cards by December Hill concluded, "The U.S.S.R. has become a major market for U.S. grain in recent years. U.S. grain exports to the U.S.S.R. ranged from two to three million tons in 1971-72 and 1974-75 to 14-15 million tons in 1972-73 and 1975-75. It asked that customers mail as early as possible, use proper packaging materials and techniques, and properly address and ZIP Code their mail.

The previous suggested mailing dates had been December 10 for domestic parcels and December 17 for letter mail.

Suggested mailing dates for international mail are unchanged. However, customers were strongly urged by the Postal Service to deposit overseas packages and greetings immediately, and to send them by airmail if they want to assure delivery by Christmas.

Area Gas Users Plan To Attend

Austin Hearing

Gilbert Dale, president of Bailey County Irrigation Gas Users, urges all users of natural gas, both town and country, to attend a hearing before the State Natural Resources Committee at 10 a.m. on November 30 in Austin. Dale emphasized the meeting would be beneficial to electrical users also, as the source of electricity in this area is through natural gas.

Bill Millen, director of the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association, has stated that our area wide Gas Users Association proposes legislation in an effort to get natural gas under the jurisdiction of the Texas Utilities Commission and legislation to abolish, or limit the 100 percent pass through as employed by the natural gas utilities and other utilities.

He said the pass through defeats any protection of consumers, and destroys any incentive to purchase natural gas at a low price, and that the allowance of such 100 percent pass through has worked to the disadvantage of consumers, and should be eliminated or limited.

"I would like to urge all farmers and businessmen from this area, including farm organizations, to attend the meeting in Austin on November 30 and urge them to act favorably on the proposed legislation," commented Millen.

Any persons interested in attending the committee hearing are asked to notify Bill Millen of your plans by Friday, November 26.

Police Report

How do you catch a drunk driver, one who is driving up to 120 miles per hour? Simple, explained DPS Trooper Louis Cardinal. You just chase him until he stops to remove a tumbledweed from the front of his car.

In fact, Trooper Cardinal caught one just that way Saturday night. He watched the car driving erratically, but the driver was not inclined to stop for the highway patrol red lights, nor red lights and siren. He made an attempt to outrun the pursuing police vehicle.

A hard wind had started blowing and a large tumbledweed stuck on the front of the pursued vehicle. When the driver, who had successfully outrun the police vehicle to that point, stopped to remove the tumbledweed, it proved to be his downfall. He ended up in jail.

Trooper Cardinal said that when he walked up to the car, he was more than a little surprised to find four 16-year old youths in the vehicle with the 20 year old driver, two boys and two girls. They were not jailed, but were released to their parents after being brought to town.

Four minor accidents were investigated over the weekend by city officers, two of them occurring just minutes apart Sunday afternoon.

Also logged were missing items, including a bicycle, reported by Nina Pitcock and a stolen CB radio, reported by Carl Cunningham.

FAITH Shows Us How Much We Can Be Thankful For!

Thanksgiving Day is an event celebrated by more than one nation, and aside from being a traditional family feast day, it is intended for those of us who are more inclined to dwell on our misfortunes than on our advantages, because we are naturally more conscious of them. For example, sickness is more likely to command our attention than a state of good health. Regardless of our circumstances, we must remind ourselves of all the good things that have happened to us, and also, of all the misfortunes that we have been spared; and we should do this every day of our lives, rather than wait for a special occasion such as this. By attending the Church of your choice you will learn to recognize and be grateful for your many blessings, and thereby be better able to cope with your problems, whatever they may be.

Pork Good Meat Choice Now

COLLEGE STATION -- Pork fits all needs now -- it's plentiful, nutritious and moderately priced in most markets, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist says.

"Pork supplies are considerably larger than last year's 40-year low and are expected to increase throughout the first half of 1977," she added.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Since most pork comes from young animals, tenderness and flavor are fairly consistent. Be sure to read the label on prepackaged cuts. Labels show the name of the cut and its price per pound, weight and total price," she noted.

The specialist advised consumers to look for these high-quality characteristics:

--Lean meat, delicate rose or grayish pink in color, smooth, fine-grained and velvety, marbled with fat.

--Fat, firm and white.

--Bone, pink in center.

"In some markets they are trimming off part of the outside fat before packaging pork cuts. Producers are trying to grow pigs that have less fat, too. These practices are making pork better values," she said.

The specialist noted that consumers may be wondering how much to buy to provide the number of servings needed and how to compare the cost of various cuts of pork and different forms.

For a three-ounce serving of cooked edible meat without bone from one pound of the specified pork cuts, plan on the following number of servings:

Fresh pork chops: two and one-fourth to two and one-half.

Fresh pork roasts: ham with bone two and one-half; without bone three; loin with bone two and one-fourth; without bone three and one-fourth; shoulder butt with bone three; without bone three and one-half; picnic with bone two; without bone three.

Spareribs: one and three-fourths; sausage two and one-half; variety meats two to three.

Cured pork ham: canned boneless four; fully cooked with bone three and one-half; without bone four; shoulder butt with bone three; without bone three and one-half; picnic with bone two and one-half; without bone three and one-fourth.

"Consumers can save money by buying cuts less in demand and serving them in various ways. Even the small family can purchase larger cuts when they are available at favorable prices.

"The larger cuts may be cut into smaller pieces and cooked separately and on different days."

"One of the most important points to remember is that it is false economy to buy a lean roast -- and it is not necessary nor wise to buy meat so fat it is wasteful. A uniform covering is all that is necessary. When pork is too lean, moisture evaporates in cooking, leaving dry meat which crumbles on carving," she explained.

When bringing pork home from the market, store it immediately in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Cook within one to two days. Cool unserved cooked pork promptly, in refrigerator, uncovered.

Once chilled, protect with transparent film. For longer storage, freezer wrap pork immediately, freeze and store at 0 degrees F. or lower, she advised.

storage, freezer wrap pork immediately, freeze and store at 0 degrees F. or lower, she advised.

This specialist noted that recommended freezer storage for fresh pork is three to six months -- for ground fresh pork, not more than 60 days.

"Whether you select a loin roast, a fresh ham or meaty chops, your purchase represents an investment in flavor and tenderness. And to make the most of that purchase, be sure to treat the meat fairly in the kitchen."

"Slow and easy" is the secret of successful pork cookery. You want to retain the moist tenderness, so cook the meat thoroughly to develop the delicate flavor. Roasting is ideal for the large cuts; pork steaks and chops take well to gentle braising.

"Cost per serving can be reduced considerably by cooking at low temperatures, regardless of the cooking method used. Low temperatures mean less shrinkage and assure more servings per pound of meat purchased, especially with roasts," Mrs. Clyatt said.

Good Marriage Requires Work

COLLEGE STATION -- ... and they lived happily ever after."

This is the dream -- and goal -- of all married couples.

But it doesn't happen automatically. Good marriages require work on both partner's parts to achieve happiness. Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist, says.

"It is true that in the past, and even today in many parts of the world, not much notice had been taken of the private dreams of the bride and bridegroom. Often the family has arranged the marriage for its own convenience.

"But even when young people were used as pawns in a game, or when marriage was judged only by the number of sons born, men and women still dreamed their own dreams about happiness in marriage. These dreams have been handed down from generation to generation in love songs and love stories," she said.

Miss Taylor is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"People wonder whether dreaming for happiness leads to a happy marriage on the whole -- or even to a great increase in happy marriages.

"Nobody knows, or will ever know. The fact that there are more broken marriages today does not necessarily mean there is more unhappiness. It only means that some of the unhappiness comes to the surface. We have no way of judging how many couples would have separated in former times if it had been possible for them to do so."

"We do know that, whatever may have been true in the past, many men and women are failing to reach the goal they have set for themselves -- the goal of a happy marriage. Add this up and you get a disturbing picture of frustration, disappointment and misery. This has led many cynics to suggest that marriage has been over-rated, that the dream of happiness is an illusion," she said.

Many factors lead to the success or failure of a marriage. Many researchers have found that married couples often expect too much with too little effort. Unhappiness in marriage is the difference between what you want and what you get. Naturally, the more you demand, the harder you will be to please. Too many young couples enter marriage expecting it to be something out of this world, the specialist said.

"A highly romantic idea of married life as a state of heavenly bliss that just goes on effortlessly forever and ever is a myth. A real live, flesh-and-blood relationship between two ordinary mortals just won't stand up to that sort of expectation. Marriage is only one among many human enterprises -- people who succeed in marriage are also the people who succeed in other human relationships," she pointed out.

Dangers Of Too Much Vitamin C

COLLEGE STATION -- Massive doses of Vitamin C may not be all good, Mrs. Sally Coble, a foods and nutrition specialist, contends.

"A vitamin is a substance vital to the body in small amounts -- but those who advise 'megavitamin therapy' are speaking of amounts sometimes 1,000 times greater than individual requirements for the vitamin," she explained.

Mrs. Coble is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Although there is some evidence that Vitamin C may have an antihistaminic effect, there is nothing conclusive that this kills the cold virus.

"Large doses of Vitamin C can produce 'rebound scurvy'. When one takes megadoses, the body machinery for destroying C is speeded up and will continue to function at high speed when one goes back to normal intakes.

"Symptoms of scurvy which might develop include bleeding and swollen gums, loose teeth, muscular pain and rough skin. These symptoms are not so likely to occur in adults as in newborn babies whose mothers were taking megadoses," she noted.

Evidence also exists that megadoses of Vitamin C have some adverse effects on growing bones and tests for diabetes. Additionally, megadoses of Vitamin C may lead to the production of certain kidney stones, the specialist said.

or write to you unless you do the writing and calling--but goes with someone else --I wouldn't consider him shy. It seems to me that he is a polite boy who is not interested in you but doesn't wish to hurt your feelings. He probably likes you and is flattered because you like him but the main point is that he evidently likes someone more than he likes you.

Stop running after him and it may make him more interested in you.

Heart Association Explains Dieting

It is common practice to place the patient with a high serum cholesterol level on a polyunsaturated diet to decrease the risk of coronary heart disease. But it has now been determined that these diets may increase the likelihood of developing gallstones.

Glen Mott, Ph.D., an instructor and researcher at the University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio, is conducting research he hopes will lead to a method of controlling this unpredicted offshoot of the polyunsaturated diet.

"We want to lower the risk of heart disease, but we don't want to increase the risk of gallstones," Mott said.

He explains that cholesterol production is a natural function of the human body. Cholesterol is secreted in the bile and stored in the gallbladder with bile salts which aid specifically in the digestion of fats. When too much cholesterol is present, it cannot dissolve properly and consequently forms crystals which turn into gallstones.

The enzyme which controls cholesterol production varies throughout the day, producing more cholesterol in the rat during the dark active hours which also increases the amount of cholesterol in the bile.

The polyunsaturated diets are high principally in vegetable fats and oils, although, unlike animal fats which contain cholesterol, these vegetable fats contain plant sterols which are chemically similar to cholesterol. Strangely, it is these plant sterols which may increase cholesterol in the bile.

Working with small groups of rats, Mott feeds one group food containing no plant sterols. He feeds a second a group the same diet with sterols added. Any differences in bile composition or in the enzyme controlling cholesterol production between the two groups is attributed to the sterols.

"An estimated 6,000 people a year die in the United States from diseases related to gallstones," Mott stated, but emphasized that not everyone on polyunsaturated diets will necessarily get gallstones.

Mott's research is funded by the American Heart Association, an organization which recommends the polyunsaturated diet for the control of high blood cholesterol levels.

If his research does indicate that gallstones are a side effect of the polyunsaturated diet, Mott may call for caution in use of polyunsaturated fat diets for prevention of coronary heart disease.

Two to four years is generally often enough to sample for routine soil tests except under high annual fertilization and intensive production, notes Welch.

"Fall is a good time to take soil samples. Sampling early allows adequate time to get results and enables producers to make plans for obtaining fertilizers needed for next year's crop," says the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Many farmers take their own samples. However, in some areas, power sampling equipment is available and reduces the time and effort required to collect samples. Power sampling equipment is especially useful in collecting subsol samples for nitrate testing.

"For those taking their own samples, a spade or sampling tube, a clean plastic bucket, soil sample boxes and information sheets are all that are needed," Welch says. "Instructions for sampling as well as additional information on soil testing are available from any county Extension office."

Time Release Fertilizer Adds Nutrients

For agricultural producers having their soil tested, each soil sample should represent up to 40 acres of cropland, says a soil chemist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

However, a recent survey by the U.S. Department of Agriculture showed that the national average was 144 acres for each sample tested in 1975 and the Texas average was almost 630 acres per sample. "This low rate of sampling in Texas points up the need for more soil testing," says Dr. Charles Welch.

Texas Farm Bureau Announces Speaker

Speakers at the 43rd annual meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau December 5-8 have been announced. They include Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton of Springdale, Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka of Dalhart, and Shirley Cothran (Mrs. Richard Barret) of Denton, Miss America of 1975. Clayton and Chaloupka will speak at the opening general session, Monday morning, December 6, at the Tarrant County Convention Center Theater. Miss Cothran will speak at a ladies luncheon at the Sheraton Hotel.

Rep. Clayton, who has farming, ranching and banking interests in Lamb County, was first elected to the Texas House in 1962. He was named Speaker in 1975 and is seeking re-election in 1977 without opposition. Chaloupka, who raises wheat, feed grain and livestock on 10,000 acres near Dalhart, was elected TFB president in 1974. Miss Cothran, named Miss America of 1975, traveled more than 300,000 miles and visited scores of places from Greece to Hong Kong during her reign. She is currently working toward a Doctorate degree in family counseling and also busy traveling as a former Miss America.

More than 1,100 voting delegates from 210 organized county Farm Bureaus will adopt policies to guide the state organization next year. They will also approve recommendations for national policies that will be forwarded to the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation to be held January 9-11 in Honolulu. The last order of business of the convention will be election of directors and the president. Immediately following adjournment, the TFB Board of Directors will meet to select a vice president and secretary-treasurer.

Youth events at the meeting will be a Discussion Meet and Talent Find on Sunday, December 5, and the annual Queen Contest the next evening. Vesper service speaker Sunday evening will be the Rev. Carl Treat, pastor of First United Methodist Church of Crane and the Methodist Church of Imperial. He was named "Texas Rural Minister of the Year" in 1976. Reed Lang of Rio Hondo, TFB secretary-treasurer, will make his financial report on the morning of December 6. TFB Executive Director Warren Newberry will make the administrative report at the beginning of the business session on Tuesday morning, December 7. Eleven special conferences will be held Monday afternoon in the Sheraton Hotel. Conferences at 1 p.m. include Livestock and Animal Health, Community Services, Cotton, Wheat and Feed Grains, Rice, and Farm Bureau Services. The five conferences which begin at 3:30 p.m. are Peanuts and Oilseeds, Research and Education, Farm Labor, Natural Resources and Dairy.

A breakfast meeting of the TFB Young Farmers and Ranchers organization will be Tuesday in the Sheraton Hotel.

Leaders from farm organizations, government, agricultural education, and private business will address the various special conferences.

A-M Library Gets Rare Book On Livestock

A rare book on the livestock industry will hold a key place in the Texas A&M University Library when it is formally presented November 20.

The book, "Prose and Poetry of the Live Stock Industry of the United States", will have the distinction of being the symbolic millionth volume in the library. Published in 1905, the volume will be presented at a 10 a.m. ceremony in the Sterling C. Evans Library on the A&M campus by T. Edgar Paup, a 1973 A&M graduate, on behalf of his mother, Mrs. M.F. "Chan" Driscoll of Midland.

The copy being given to the library was originally owned by C.C. Slaughter, one of the founders of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association.

Mrs. Driscoll is immediate past president of Friends of the Texas A&M University Library and organized the A&M Mothers' Club of Midland when her older son, Harry B. Paup, attended Texas A&M. He is a 1970 graduate.

Accepting the prized book will be Clyde H. Wells of Granbury and Dallas, chairman of the Texas A&M University System Board of Regents. John Lindsey of Houston, 1976 president of Friends of the Texas A&M University Library, will preside at the presentation ceremonies. Welcoming remarks will be made by Dr. John C. Calhoun, Jr., A&M's vice president for academic affairs.

In the 75 years that Pittsburgh and Penn State have been meeting on the football field, there probably hasn't been a more important game for the Pitt Panthers than this 76th meeting. Their first undefeated season in many years hangs in the balance. Aside from three ties in the long series, Penn State leads in games won, 37 to 35. And the Harmon tea leaves forecast another close game reminiscent of last year's 7-6 Penn State win. On a hunch, we're picking Penn State to upset Pittsburgh by a point.

The history of the Army-Navy classic goes back only one year longer than Pitt-Penn State. This is re-match #77, Navy leading by two games. The Middies won last year's game, 30-6, but it should be a much closer dog-fight this year. The spread is just eight points, Navy the favorite.

There's not another football conference in the country where the teams consistently mow each other down week after week as do the powerful members of the Big Eight Conference. The league was in a five-way tie for first place before last Saturday's games, and it's still locked four ways. Colorado and Oklahoma State have completed their seasons and they'll be joined in the championship circle by the winner of the Nebraska-Oklahoma game Friday. It'll be close . . . the Cornhuskers by four points.

Houston did it! Well, almost. In its initial season as a member of the Southwest Conference, Houston is about to either share the championship or be King of the Hill by itself. After whipping previously unbeaten Texas Tech last week, the Cougars have only Rice standing in the way of a post-season bowl. The Owls have given up over 370 points so far this season, so Houston shouldn't have trouble winning by about 27 points.

In two other big rivalries, Southern California, the new #1 team in the Pac 8 after gunning down U.C.L.A., meets Notre Dame, and Georgia entertains Georgia Tech. Winners: Southern Cal by fifteen points and Georgia by 29.

The forecasting average this season has been like a yo-yo, up one week, down the next. Two weeks ago we had much better success with the major college games than with the small colleges. Our average through November 13th stands at .740 as we've picked 1,451 right and 511 wrong. 34 games ended in stand-offs.

Fertilizer Decisions? Soil Test!

One way of making nutrients available to plants gradually is to apply time-release fertilizers, says the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Time-release fertilizers are plastic coated pills, tablets or other special packages containing essential soil nutrients that dissolve into the soil gradually when moisture penetrates the plastic coating. The warmer and more moist the soil is, the faster the pill disintegrates and releases nutrients.

One advantage time-release fertilizer have over other types of fertilizer is that they are easier to apply to the soil. Since these fertilizers become available over a period of months or even years, fewer applications are required.

In addition, there is less leaching with time-release fertilizers and less chance of root burning. Time-release fertilizers are used mostly on potted plants, and to a lesser extent with trees and shrubs.

Presently the widespread use of time-release fertilizers on field crops would be uneconomical, but they may be used in the future on certain vegetable crops.
