around Muleshoe

Mrs. Irvin St. Clair, who broke her elbow in a fall at her home last Friday, expected to be released from St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock today (Thursday.)

Mrs. St. Clair had surgery on her elbow and will be recuperating at her home.

Three victims of a one-vehicle accident northwest of Muleshoe following the football game last Friday night are recuperating satisfactorily.

Doctors in Lubbock Monday set a broken jaw for Gina Angeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Angeley; Shelly Allen, daughter of Cliff Allen and Sherry Reese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reese, are both in good condition in Muleshoe.

Jimmy Gleason and Jimmy Overton, received only minor injuries in the accident.

Maribeth Dillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal B. Dillman, has been elected song leader of McMurry College's Theta Chi Lambda, women's social club for the 1977-78 school year.

Theta Chi Lambda is one of five women's social clubs on the McMurry campus.

Mr. and Mrs. B.C. Locke are visiting in the Dallas area this week with their sons, Ronnie Locke and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Locke, Warren and Brenna.

Kenneth King Wins Contest

With the football contest underway good for this season, new winners are showing up each week, and no definite trend has shown as to who will be the winner of the tickets to the Cotton Bowl on January 1, and the check for expense money.

Again this week, new winners showed up. Prognosticators came very close this week, and four people only missed one game. Three of the four came out as weekly winners.

Kenneth King was the first place winner by missing only one game and being a total of 15 points away on the double tie-breaker scores. He receives a $5 check. In second place with one wrong guess, and away from the top spot by one point with 16 points difference on the tie-breakers, is Jack Eades.

Also winning a weekly spot and ranking toward the final contest is Adele Tompkins. She missed one game, and was 24 points away on the double tie-breaker.

Just out of the money was Patricia Young. She also missed one game, but was 34 points off on the tie-breaker scores.

Missing two games were Derril Embry, J.K. Adams, Walter Boness, J.R. King, Toni Beversdorf, Francisco Torres, Jim Shafer, Lee Pool, Jack Stovall, Jacky Bruton, Larry Price, L.C. Roddam and Nona Blake Douglas.

TOBACCO CROP... When Lester Elmore visited back east, he brought six tobacco plants home with him. This week, the tobacco plants were taller than his head and had started blooming. Here, he is shown with his own Muleshoe tobacco crop and said he thinks tobacco could be a new crop for this area.

Mules Hunt Antelope After '76 33-3 Loss

Last year, the Mules from Muleshoe High School went antelope hunting at Abernathy, and came out losers as Mules and Antelopes failed to mix well. The Mules came out losers 33-3.

This year, the Antelopes will be coming to Muleshoe and the Mules have plans to complete the Antelope Hunt on their home grounds and avenge the loss to the Abernathy team.

Friday night, when the Mules and Antelopes meet on the Mules' home field, the Mules will be well aware that last year, Alonso Ontiveros made Muleshoe's only score against the team, a 22-yard field goal.

Director To Be Elected For Soil Conservation

An election for a director to serve in Zone Four on the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District Board is scheduled for October 6, 1977 at the Needmore Cafe, announced Doug Bales, chairman of the board. The election will begin at 8 a.m.

State law decrees that to be eligible to vote in a soil and water conservation district director's election, a person must own agricultural land within the subdivision where the election is being held, explained Bales. The person must also live in a county all or any part of which is in the district and the voter must be 21 years of age.

Legal qualifications state that a candidate for the office of a soil and water conservation district director must own land in the zone he represents, be 21 years of age and be actively engaged in farming or ranching, further explained Bales. He must also live in a county all or part of which is in the district.

Zone Four of the district generally includes an area east of Highway 214 and south of the "sand hills" encompassing the communities of Fairview, Circleback, Bula and Enoch.

Current members of the board of directors of the Blackwater Valley SWCD are Doug Bales, chairman, Muleshoe; James P. Wedel, vice chairman, Muleshoe; J.R. Carter, secretary, Needmore; E.N. McCall, member, Enoch and W.C. Eubanks, member, Maple.

Bales said the purpose of the Blackwater Valley SWCD, with headquarters in Muleshoe, is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farms and ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting property rights of landowners.

The district board of directors coordinates the conservation efforts on various levels of local, state and federal agencies and other organizations and has authority to enter into working agreements with these governmental agencies and private concerns to carry out its purposes.

All conservation programs as played this year, three of their four straight wins have been "come from behind" final scores.

He philosophized on the 'New Mules' by saying, "We have tried to instill in them they are class. By class we mean they should exhibit pride, character and poise."

The football coach and athletic director said it would be extremely hard to pinpoint just one player each week as a player of the week, as all the team is playing together as a unit. They are close, and work closely together, said the coach, and it shows in their attitudes. He praised the attitude of the Mules and their willingness to work together through the season.

Coach Cumpston downplayed, perhaps erroneously, the role of the coaches in the turnaround the Mules have made, and gave all the success they are enjoying to the players themselves.

He also praised the backers of the teams and parents who are making an all-out effort to

Police Report

Several offense reports were made at the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center during the past week.

Two reports on Thursday included Lavayne Williams reporting the theft of a wedding ring set, turquoise ring, pins, necklaces, a miniature grandfather clock and radio. Also reported on Thursday was the theft of a portable arc welder and hose from T.J. Power Co.

First Street Conoco reported a break-in of a cigarette machine on Friday, with some $200 missing.

The school store near Muleshoe High School was entered sometime Saturday night and candy and other items were taken. On Monday, vandalism was reported at the same store. James Carpenter reported Sunday the theft of a 12 volt battery and on Tuesday, Mrs. Bill Hunt reported the loss of a $1,700 wrist watch and a truck tire and wheel.

Arrests included 12 on drunk charges; one for worthless checks; one for possession of marijuana and carrying a club; one on a Littlefield warrant; two for no driver's license; one for no driver's license and fleeing an officer; one for disorderly conduct; one for driving while intoxicated and hit and run; one for drunk and evading arrest; one for driving while intoxicated and one for drunk and disturbing.

Local Teachers Will Attend Meeting

A total of 37 teachers from Muleshoe will be joining a large number of teachers and administrators from the Lubbock area public schools and colleges at a Reading Conference September 30-October 1.

The "Wonderful World of Reading" will be the theme for the conference to be held in the Coronado High School in Lubbock.

Sponsored by the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading, the conference is co-sponsored by Lubbock area public schools and Texas Tech University.

Two leaders in the field of reading instruction will give addresses at the general sessions and interest groups. Dr. Ted Clymer and Dr. Walter Barbe, will be speaking on

"Teacher, Can You Help Me? I'm Kinda Mixed up" and "Reading-Fun With A Purpose."

In addition to the general sessions Friday afternoon at 4 p.m., and the Saturday morning session at 9:15 a.m., 16 small group meetings are slated. Master teachers from Lubbock, the area schools, Texas Tech, Lubbock Christian College and Fresno State University, as well as Dr. Barbe, will be resource persons for the small sessions.

An Idea Fair, directed by Clint Johnson, will be in the boys' gym.

Ken Black, Houston president of the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading, will preside during the first general session of the convention at 4

Northcutt, Maddox Win Honors

For the second week in a row, a Muleshoe football player has been tabbed for AA player of the week awards by the Amarillo Daily News.

Last week, Brent Maddox was honored for his outstanding performance in the Muleshoe-Tulia game, and this week, Dean Northcutt was honored for his playing in the Muleshoe-Levelland game.

Also receiving honorable mentions for the Muleshoe-Levelland game were David White, Curtis Carpenter and Johnny Estep.

During the Levelland game, Northcutt had 24 carries for 194 yards, coming back from an ankle injury which saw him in limited action in the Tulia game. He also added a touchdown to his list, and he still leads the TD list for the district with six for the year to date.

Adult Basic Education Is Offered Here

Tom Jinks, director of special services for the Muleshoe Independent School System said free classes for adults are being offered at Muleshoe School.

Classes will begin at 7 p.m. on October 7 in the Muleshoe Junior High School building and classes will be conducted for two and one half hours each night, two nights a week.

Offered will be English, reading, arithmetic, science, government and other courses. The classes are designed for adults with less than a high school diploma with a high school equivalency diploma available.

COLONEL BOBBY BAGLEY

Former POW Will Speak For Rotary

Colonel Bobby R. Bagley, deputy commander for Operations of the 64th Flying Training Wing at Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock, will be guest speaker for the Muleshoe Rotary today (Thursday).

A native of Georgia, he is a 1950 graduate of Cumming High School in 1950 and attended Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., where he majored in mathematics in 1951 and 1952.

In January 1953, Colonel Bagley entered the Air Force as an aviation cadet at Lackland AFB.

He was assigned to several bases in the ensuing years before April 1966, when he was assigned to Headquarters, Seventh Air Force at Tan Son Nhut AB, Saigon, Vietnam. Colonel Bagley served in Vietnam as the senior reconnaissance staff officer on the out-of-country reconnaissance team. He also served as briefing officer on the Commanding General of the Seventh Air Force, and the Commander of the United States Forces, Military Assistance Command, Vietnam.

He was reassigned to the 20th TRS at Udorn Royal Thai AFB, Thailand in June 1967 as a reconnaissance pilot in the RF-101 and as chief, standardization/evaluation for the 432nd TRW. On September 16, 1967, Colonel Bagley's unarmed RF-101 was shot down over North Vietnam and he was captured, and held as a prisoner of war until March 14, 1973. During his imprisonment, he was incarcerated in four different POW camps in and around the Hanoi area. Additionally, he was imprisoned in a camp in Northern Vietnam near the China border for eight months.

Rotary President John Blackwell asks that all members of the Muleshoe Rotary Club attend the Thursday luncheon and hear Colonel Bagley speak.

TRUCKS LINED UP...With corn harvest some 75 percent complete, long lines of trucks are doubled up at local elevators waiting to be unloaded. In some instances, trucks are lined up three deep for several blocks while waiting to be unloaded to go back to the fields.

CERTIFIED IN GLIDER...John Young who developed an interest in gliders, became a certified glider pilot after completing instruction given by Morgan Locker. He soloed Monday morning, and praises the smooth glider flights.

relief from the early cotton. At the peak of the harvest, there is expected to be a bottleneck problem, as there are fewer gins, and more cotton than has been produced in this county crop planted in this county next year and also predicted newer types of storage for the crops.

At the same time, he warned, the land is dry, and producers can't plant any more wheat until some rain falls. He considered this a moisture-stress situation. He said it would take but about two inches of rain to meet the sub-soil moisture to allow wheat planting to continue.

Vegetable harvest is also nearing completion, and farmers are beginning to look for an early freeze, although the prospects look very dim about having a freeze as early as the October 8 freeze last year.

Enochs News

By Mrs. J.D. Bayless

The Bula-Enochs Lions Club met at their Community Center, Thursday night, September 15. Proclaimed as "Ladies Night", there were 45 people registered. The guests coming the farthest were Mr. and Mrs. Hughlen Bonnie Clawson of Camarillo, Calif. They lived at Bula many years ago.

Donny Baker and Elwood Autry were installed as Lions Cubs by Art Cook, District Governor of Lubbock.

Guests were Bob Walcup, Zone Chairman of Morton, Hubert Henry, Deputy Chairman and District Chairman of Littlefield and Marty Mangum, Zone Chairman of Littlefield.

Carl Hall presided as president. Everyone enjoyed a salad supper. Mrs. Winnie Byars, Alma Altman and Mrs. Flo Nichols were among the guests for the occasion.

Mrs. Blanche Cash of Muleshoe and her sisters, Mrs. Faye Cox of Fort Worth and Mrs. Pearl Waltry of Amarillo visited Mrs. J.D. Bayless Monday afternoon. They also visited Mrs. Johnny Cox and the Dean Waltrips. They are friends of the Bayless' since the 1920's.

J.E. Layton was a patient in the Littlefield Hospital Friday until Sunday.

Mrs. Winnie Byars and Mrs. Chester Petree are the ones that represented nochs at Galveston. They went as members of the Enoch's Home Demonstration Club. Others attending from Bailey County were Mrs. Robin Taylor, Extension Agent and Mrs. Ada Murrach of the Progressive Homes Club, both of Muleshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cunningham of Slide and Mrs. Gracy Swanner of Lubbock were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Bayless Tuesday. Other guests in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. John Blackman and Mrs. Alberta Bryant of Littlefield.

Fred Locker was a patient in the Littlefield Hospital ten days. He is home but will be in St. Mary's a few days next week for tests and x-rays.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Coffman of Muleshoe were guests in the home of his sister, the J.D. Bayless' Saturday afternoon. Roy Bayless of Muleshoe also visited his brother and wife, J.D. and Ellen Sunday afternoon.

Paula Nichols has been on crutches for some time due to a knee injury.

The Scientists Tell Me...

Drinking Water May Be Source Of Unwanted Dietary Chemicals

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Drinking water, whether bottled or tap, may be adding chemicals to human diets that are both unneeded and undesirable.

For example, a person with a problem of high blood pressure may be carefully avoiding salt on food and yet be adding salt to his or her diet with salty tap water or some kinds of bottled water.

The State Chemist, Dr. William Hoover, in response to inquiries about different types of bottled water, had samples analyzed by Agricultural Analytical Services*. Samples were of commercially available bottled water as well as local tap water.

At most local supermarkets there are one or two types of bottled water available. But, throughout the state there's a bewildering variety of different types of bottled water.

Some of these, as explained by Dr. James Melton, an associate of Hoover's, are:

Distilled means the water has been changed to steam, the steam drawn off and condensed into water again and the salt and other impurities left behind.

Deionized means that either by filtration or an electrochemical process the water has been purged of all electrically charged particles. This removes most minerals.

Texas Food and Fiber

by Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner
Texas Department of Agriculture

The paradox of high and low prices is frustrating our farmers and ranchers, and if Washington soothsayers are correct, the high rate of inflation will continue well into 1978, which will add to agriculture's woes.

What is frustrating the producers of food and fiber is the high prices they pay for the goods and services they must have to stay in business and the low prices they receive for the products they market. A continuation of such an arrangement can mean a lot of broke farmers and ranchers.

Texas' farmers and ranchers—in fact, the farmers and ranchers of America—must, like any other businessman or businesswoman, make a profit if they are to stay in business and contribute to the well-being of their community, state and nation.

What must be very frustrating to the farmers and ranchers is the continued parade of announcements from Washington that price increases in food have slackened their rise and have taken a slight dip downward.

At the same time these sayers are making their pronouncements about the decline in food prices, they are predicting prices of other goods and services to continue their climb up the inflation ladder.

Certainly, our farmers and ranchers could endure the low prices they receive for their wheat, corn, soybeans, cotton, and cattle if they could pay comparable prices for the necessities they must have to keep this nation the best fed and clothed in the world. But it isn't working out this way.

The farmers and ranchers of Texas do not seek sympathy for their plight. They are accustomed to low rewards for the fruits of their labors. All they want is a fair shake at the market place so they can earn a living for themselves and their families, pay their taxes and not be haunted by the specter of going broke and losing their farm and ranch to inflation.

Hoover says that these three local sources of tap water have moderately low to moderate amounts of sodium. Most local water sources in the state have moderate to high levels of salt.

In view of this, Hoover is of the opinion that anyone on a salt-free diet would be wise to check with his or her doctor regarding use of local tap water.

In most localities the only way to avoid sodium in water is by using distilled or deionized water for both drinking and cooking.

But, for people with no medical problems, most local tap water is quite satisfactory. In fact, Hoover says that minerals such as magnesium, calcium, iron, and potassium in small amounts are good in the diet.

These were the beneficial minerals in mineral water that was sought out and used by our forefathers.

MISS DEBBIE WILLIAMS

Bridal Shower Fetes Miss Debbie Williams

A wedding shower honoring Miss Debbie Williams, bride-elect of Joe Fahtrapp, was held Sunday, September 25, in the Community Room of Muleshoe State Bank.

The serving table was laid with a red lace cloth with an ivory lace overlay, the bride's chosen colors. A silver candelabra with red tapers, red carnations and Queen Anne lace foliage and fern served as the centerpiece. Red banana punch and cookies were served from crystal and silver appointments.

Special guests were Mrs. George Williams, mother of the honoree, Mrs. Mike Williams of Levelland, sister-in-law of the honoree, and Mrs. Loyd Garlington, sister of the honoree.

Hostess gifts were a stainless steel mixer and amber casseroles with custard dishes in wicker baskets.

Babies in goggles used for research

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Don't blink if you see babies in goggles at The University of Texas.

In studies on depth perception, Dr. Martin S. Banks, a UT psychologist, puts goggles with special lenses on infants to determine at what age babies develop stereopsis (the ability to use both eyes to see two different images of the same object and, thereby, perceive its depth).

Dr. Banks' research may make it possible for doctors to determine earlier when a child has developed stereopsis. Such detection would make it easier to correct abnormal development.

CB Rules May Change

COLLEGE STATION -- The government is seeking Citizens Band (CB) rules input, announces Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Do CB owners need to be licensed, and do CB rules need to be simplified--these are questions the government is asking, says the specialist.

To have your ideas on the proposed rules considered, or for a copy of the proposed rules, write to: Docket Number 21318, Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

Due to growth in CB radio use, there has been a crowding of the airways with an estimated 20 million or more essentially non-trained and non-technically oriented users.

To best use this limited natural resource, the radio spectrum, certain rules are necessary. Generally, failure to observe the rules as they are now written is more ignorance than from deliberate violation of the rules.

In an effort to increase compliance, the FCC is proposing new rules that are in question-answer format and speak to the licensee in first and second person.

Much of the technical language is omitted in the proposed rules--they deal only with information that affects CB operators.

The new rules are rewritten and simplified, and the FCC is trying to find out if they are more understandable, the specialist says.

Make It With Wool Forms Are Available

Entry forms are now available for the District 1 "Make It With Wool" contest, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary National Wool Growers Association, Nov. 19, 7:15 a.m. in El Centro of the Home Economics Building, Texas Tech University.

Purposes of the competition are to focus on the beauty and versatility of wool, to encourage use of wool, and to offer opportunity to win recognition for sewing, knitting or crocheting skills.

Entries must be made from loomed, knitted or felted fabrics or yarn of 100 percent wool or more than 30 percent synthetic fiber. Trimmings, interfacings, linings and underlinings may be made of fabrics other than wool or wool blends. Blouses, sweaters and other accessories may also be of other fabrics.

Age categories are preteen, 10-13, junior, 14-17, senior, 18-24, and adult, over 24. The competition is open to all American citizens, both male and female.

District winners in junior, senior, and adult categories will be eligible for state competition in San Angelo on Dec. 3. Preteens will compete at the district level only. A junior and senior winner will be chosen to represent Texas at national finals in Denver, Colo., Jan. 19, 1978.

More information and entry forms can be obtained by contacting Lillian Kountz, Department of Clothing and Textiles, College of Home Economics, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, 79409. Forms are due by Nov. 7.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa, Some time ago you complimented one of your correspondents on the beautiful marriage and property arrangement. Her letter, in part, stated she and her husband had made their wills giving all property to the survivor.

I don't know South Carolina laws but did you stop to think that maybe one might die at an early age and the survivor would want to marry again? I know of an instance where this happened; the widower married a woman with some children and before she would go through with the ceremony she had him remake his will and give all property to her in case of his death. Now, his children are "out in the cold" and there is no recourse.

The property should be left one-half to the husband/ or wife and one-half to all surviving children.

G.M.--Texas

Answer: You have a point there. There is no pat answer to how every will should be made. It depends on so many things. If there are no children or indigent parents a survivor's will seems to be a good solution. If there are children, it depends on their ages, their numbers and whether the other parent is dependable and has good common sense.

A half and half will is good in some cases. It puts a guardian over the children's money until they become of age. This entails some cost but keeps the money from being spent for other things rather than for the children.

A good will depends, too, on how much money is involved. If there is very little and small children, a wife will probably need it all to take care of the family until they grow older.

If there is much money, providing for the children would be wise, as fortune hunters have a liking for wealthy widows.

There are many pros and cons for this question. Thanks for your letter.

RECIPE

By Sarah Ann Sheridan

Cooler weather will soon be here and the spicy aroma of oven-baked fish will quicken the appetite. However, one should remember the dressing is the secret success of baked striped bass or some other fish native to your area. We share this recipe which is one of our favorite dressings for fish.

- Baked Fish
1 3 or 4 lb. striped bass
1/2 c chopped onion
1/2 c chopped green pepper
1/2 c chopped celery
1/2 c chopped parsley
6 T butter or margarine
1 1/2 c soft bread crumbs (fresh or frozen)
Salt and pepper

Cut cleaned fish along backbone--being careful not to cut through skin. Cook onion, pepper and celery 5 minutes in butter--do not brown. Add crumbs, oysters or shrimp and parsley, seasonings and oyster liquid or hot water to moisten crumbs. Heat thoroughly and fill cavity in fish with mixture. Place on greased, heavy tin foil in broiler pan-crushing tin foil around fish to hold dressing in cavity. Dot butter over fish and add a few drops of lemon juice. Bake in over 400 degrees about 30 minutes or until fish flakes easily with fork.

Being Single Has Disadvantages, Too

COLLEGE STATION -- 49 million Americans are single, reports Debby Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Some choose to be single, while others inherit it through death of a spouse, marital dissolution or other circumstances.

Today the single state is much more acceptable, and changes more acceptable, and chances for happy marriage are far greater for those who marry at a later age, says the specialist.

Many singles are happy about many aspects of their lifestyle, Miss Johnson says. For example, they do not have to explain getting home late; they have more privacy; they can keep on with their habits without having to tolerate annoying habits of others.

Singles also can pursue their own interests, have friends of the opposite sex without fear of a mate's jealousy, and set their own schedules without consulting anyone.

And unmarrieds may make their own decisions, keep living quarters clean or messy, eat whenever and whatever they choose, and try new places and experiences.

However, it is not necessarily all pleasure, says the specialist. For many, it is hard to face the truth that there is no special one who cares. There is loneliness, pity to be endured, and a lot of eating alone.

Living alone is also expensive.

EDITORIAL

The Unemployed

Almost forgotten in the worry and governmental movement to combat high unemployment is the fact that today an unemployed member of a family doesn't necessarily produce economic hardship.

Labor Bureau statistics do not yet take into account the mass movement of women and youngsters into the labor market. In the past when the father, the breadwinner, was unemployed, that almost invariably meant economic hardship.

Today, while not attempting to minimize an unemployment problem that unquestionably exists, it's also true that the numbers and percentages of unemployed are not so meaningful as in the past. If the husband is out of work today his wife may be working, or vice versa. Or a working son or daughter might be unemployed. This counts in Washington's statistics.

Therefore, unemployment in some cases today is not the traditional problem, and there are still many tough jobs which go unfilled. Any new outlay of taxpayers' money to alleviate unemployment should be realistic and fair, encouraging work when there is work available and taking into consideration how many members of a family have jobs--and whether hardship actually exists.

Tell The People

Prime Minister Teng Hsiao-ping of China revealed recently that former President Ford had pledged to recognize China if elected in 1976 and reduce diplomatic relations with Taiwan to a lesser status.

That had also been the intention of Henry Kissinger and former President Nixon. Asked for comment, Mr. Ford, in effect, confirmed Teng's account.

President Carter had similar intentions until recent months, when mounting problems and failures of foreign policy caused him to veer away from an immediate fight over Chinese recognition at this time.

The unfortunate aspect of all this is that the American people have never been properly informed. Fearing political difficulties at home, all involved in recent years in the probably inevitable change, have been less than candid with the American people.

High officials have an obligation to keep voters informed. For brief periods confidentiality in diplomatic policy is sometimes necessary, but not for years and years, in the non-secret field of official recognition. That's obviously too much domestic politics and not enough straight reporting to the people, who, with the facts, will usually reach the right conclusions.

Natural Gas Deregulation

WASHINGTON—The Administration's energy plan, announced April 20, called for continued federal regulation of domestically produced oil and natural gas, and since then the President has been a vigorous proponent of early congressional passage.

His support of continued regulation is at curious odds with the clearly stated position of candidate Jimmy Carter who enunciated his views while campaigning just weeks before the 1976 Presidential election.

In a letter to three governors from major oil and gas producing states—including Texas—Carter made no bones about the fact that as President he would actively pursue deregulation of natural gas prices to stimulate exploration and production in an effort to increase domestic supplies against foreign imports.

In deploring America's increasing dependence on foreign energy and criticizing eight years of Republican efforts to lessen that dependence, Jimmy Carter pledged his best efforts to "work with the Congress . . . to 1.) deregulate new natural gas, 2.) encourage enhanced recovery from wells already in production, and 3.) shift from the use of oil and gas to coal.

"The decontrol of producers' prices for new natural gas," Carter told the governors, "would provide an incentive for new exploration and would help our nation's oil and natural gas operators attract needed capital. Deregulation of new natural gas would encourage sales in the interstate market and help lessen the prospect of shortages in the non-producing states which rely on interstate supplies."

He went on to argue enthusiastically that "while encouraging new production, this proposal (deregulation) will protect the consumer against sharp increases in the average price of natural gas."

Those who cheered that unequivocal support must now be wondering if their eyes and ears deceived them. As a serious part of the Carter energy plan, deregulation never saw the light of day. Quite the contrary, President Carter proposed continued controls on all interstate natural gas and the extension of controls to new natural gas sold in the now unregulated intrastate markets like Texas. His plan also revised and extended controls on domestically produced crude oil.

His plan for continued controls had convincing political appeal: controls would protect consumers, so the logic went. But such arguments are threadbare when squared with what basic economics tells us about controls—of any type. We should have learned it long ago.

Not only is the President's plan for controls an unexplained contradiction of his earlier support for deregulation, but it represents only half a solution to part of our energy problem. Such controls address demand while ignoring supply.

Natural gas shortages are a direct result of federal controls on price, which discourage exploration and production. The consequences were painfully demonstrated last winter. In the long run, controls will work to extend our reliance on foreign sources, and restraining price will provide little of the strong medicine we're told consumers need to conserve precious fuels. Deregulation, on the other hand, will stimulate the search for fuels, lessening that dependence on foreign sources.

Since only one-third of the average fuel bill represents the wellhead price of gas, and only 5-10 per cent of all gas a year would be the new deregulated gas, consumers would be cushioned from outlandish bills.

It's time we all realized that a federally regulated energy market is not in the best interest of consumers, and the Senate when deciding the natural gas issue this week should remember that what may seem penny wise more often is pound foolish.

HOUSE ON WAGES
The House has beaten back attempts to require a lower minimum wage for teenagers and then passed legislation that will raise the nation's wage floor to $2.65 an hour in January. The measure will also boost the minimum wage to $3.05 by 1980.

ON CHILD PORN
The Senate Judiciary Committee approved unanimously a bill to make it a federal crime to use a child under age 16 in the production of pornographic materials. It also would prohibit the interstate transportation of any child, boy or girl, for the purpose of prostitution.

"IT'S A REAL CHALLENGE. YOU HAVE TO GET THE OIL OUT OF THE GROUND AND TO THE MARKET THROUGH THIS MAZE OF FEDERAL RESTRICTIONS, STATE RESTRICTIONS, AND LOCAL RESTRICTIONS."

Lieutenant Governor's Report

AUSTIN -- I would like to discuss with you several subjects relating to offshore oil production. One involves the lesson that all coastal states can learn from the current producing states -- both their successes and their mistakes -- about dealing with offshore development. A second centers on those things upon which all coastal states should insist as prerequisites to offshore development. And, the third emphasizes the place of offshore development in an overall national energy policy.

We've all had the chance to examine the President's Energy Policy. While its future in Congress is unclear at this time, there are some premises and ideas which do seem certain. The economy presently depends primarily on oil and gas for its energy supply. It does not appear that over the next several decades, even with conservation and development of coal, nuclear, and other energy sources, that this can be substantially changed. Demand for oil and gas resources will continue to grow and the question thus becomes: How is that demand to be satisfied?

The development of our offshore reserves depends on the degree to which our demands for energy in the short run are to be met from domestic production or importation. Since 1973, our reliance on foreign oil has increased from 35 to 40 percent. The money paid out to foreign governments and their petroleum ministries siphon off at least part of the capital that the American economy needs to equip its growing industries with the technology to control air and weather pollution and to pay the cost of government services.

If we wish to slow this drain of resources, we must develop our own reserves. Offshore oil and gas is believed to constitute a major percentage of the undeveloped domestic reserves of the United States. Thus, in deciding where, when, and how quickly to develop these reserves, both foreign policy and foreign trade considerations should be kept in mind.

Another major issue which has arisen in relation to energy production is the environmental question. Almost all forms of energy production present the risk of at least some harm to the natural environment. But even so, society demands an energy supply. The critical environmental question is the relative risk of environmental harm posed by the alternative sources of energy production. This comparative approach is particularly important in a discussion of outer continental shelf development.

There is a great fear among many people that outer continental shelf development will result in catastrophic oil spills and onshore impacts, which will endanger not only the ecosystem but fishing and recreation interests as well. This is a legitimate concern, but it obscures an important point. What are the alternative sources of energy to these regions and what are the comparative risks?

At present, most of the petrochemical fuel supply for the Northeast and Middle Atlantic states arrives by tanker, either from foreign ports or from the Gulf of Mexico. This transportation of petrochemicals poses very real risks.

Some comparison of the two is possible. The United States Coast Guard reports that 15 million gallons of oil and petrochemicals were spilled during calendar year 1975. Of this total, 35.2% came from tank ships and barges while only one half of one percent came from offshore production facilities. Other sources of oil and petrochemical spills were: vessels other than tank ships and barges, 9.4%; land vehicles, 7.1%; non-transportation related facilities other than offshore production facilities, 27.2%; pipelines, 17%; marine facilities, 0.9%; land facilities, 1.3% and miscellaneous or unknown, 1.4%.

The second point of comparison is the substance spilled in the ocean. Offshore oil development, when it results in spills, results in spills of crude oil. Crude oil is an organic chemical which tends to break up and be degraded by micro-organisms, sunlight and aeration. On the other hand, refined petroleum products carried in tankers and barges seem to be extremely toxic and to result in long-run harm to the environment.

It is clear that more and more imported energy will be refined products. So, we must balance the possibility of crude oil spills from OCS platforms and the possibility of crude and refined product spills from tankers.

The report appearing in two weeks will continue this discussion of offshore oil production.

COTTON TALKS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Two officials of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. figured prominently September 22 and 23 in Congressional hearings on legislation to revise the insurance coverage offered by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC). Hearings were held in Washington by the House Conservation and Credit Subcommittee, chaired by Congressman Ed Jones of Tennessee, author of one of the bills under consideration.

Presenting testimony for PCG September 22 was Donald Johnson, the 25-county producer organization's Executive Vice President.

PCG President Lloyd Cline of Lamesa presented a statement September 23 for the National Cotton Council, of which he is a producer delegate.

Improvement of Federal crop insurance takes on added significance in high risk areas such as the High Plains in view of the disaster payment program's scheduled expiration at the end of 1977, Johnson stated, going on to say that if in fact the current disaster program is allowed to expire, some other plan to provide disaster protection at reasonable cost to producers is going to be "imperative."

Johnson followed this by saying that if an efficient, workable insurance program is not ready by 1979, PCG will urge that the Congress extend the present disaster program.

Cline's testimony for the NCC concurred with Johnson's statement that an adequate crop insurance program will be desperately needed after 1979. Changes needed in currently available FCIC insurance plans, Cline stated, include (1) coverage of a higher percentage of risk, (2) coverage based on individual farm yields instead of county averages, (3) more emphasis on selling as a means to spread risks, and (4) extension of coverage availability to counties where it is not presently offered.

The legislation offered by Jones calls for replacing FCIC with a new Federal Production Protection Corporation (FPPC). FPPC would be empowered, beginning in 1978, to offer a plan or plans of protection against loss from virtually all unavoidable causes. Premiums would be paid by farmers for FPPC protection against "normal" losses of production. "Catastrophic or disaster" losses, under the Jones proposal, would be paid from a disaster relief fund established in the treasury, and payment for such losses would be excluded from the loss experience used by the FPPC Board to set premium rates.

Catastrophic and disaster losses under the Act are defined as losses which occur when production "falls below the normal production level for a given area or county as determined by the Board."

Johnson and Cline commended Jones and others who have introduced legislation to improve FCIC coverage, but criticized certain parts of the Jones bill. They particularly objected to a section which states that in any county where FPPC protection is offered in 1978 and 1979, producers would not be eligible to receive disaster payments.

Calling the Committee's attention to the fact that when his statement was prepared PCG had not had time to discuss the matter with the PCG Legislative Committee or Board of Directors, Johnson requested the Committee's permission to submit additional views on the subject at a later date.

AUSTIN--We don't like to talk about, think about or even admit that something as obscene as child pornography exists in Texas.

The sad truth, however, is that it has become a multi-million dollar business here and threatens to grow even larger unless something is done.

The appointment of a special House Committee on Child Pornography, Its Related Causes and Control, is a first step by the Legislature to deal with this despicable traffic.

It is no small task to delve into this sewer and seek ways to stop the sexual exploitation of children. However, if we delay undertaking it now the material will proliferate and the number of children affected will also increase.

This select committee will have 16 months to pursue this study. When the Legislature convenes in 1979, I am confident that we will have recommendations that will go to the root of the problem.

We cannot allow this exploitation of our children. Best figures available indicate that nationwide more than 1.2 million children age 8 to 16 are involved in activities revolving around sex for sale, and including both pornography and prostitution. With more than 400 runaways a month in Texas, it can be assumed that this state is very much involved in the situation.

Statistics indicate that sexual child abuse of minors has increased over 200 percent in Texas in the last three years. We have had many headlines--such as the homosexual murder ring in Houston and the trial of a Houston man as the nation's biggest producer and distributor of kiddie porn--scream out for us the need that something be done to prevent re-occurrences.

Presently our laws on the books are weak. In order for a child pornography case to be prosecuted, the children involved must be called as witnesses. Present statutes also let off adults who have sexual relations with a child with as little as a $200 fine.

This most awful form of child abuse must be eradicated and we are taking the steps to do just that.

WASHINGTON NEWS REPORT

The Election Commission-ERA & 1978-Carter & Lance-How Close?
WASHINGTON, D. C. -- There are disturbing signs politics is creeping into the Federal Elections Commission. When it was established, before the last presidential election, the idea was that the six members would always include three Democrats and three Republicans--and that politics would not enter into its activities.

President Carter is about to appoint two new members, a Democrat and a Republican. House Speaker Tip O'Neill has pressured Carter hard to name another of his choices to the body. He was largely responsible for the appointment of Robert Tiernan, now involved in hot controversy over dubious use of his government telephone credit card. (One report claimed he has charged 1,608 long distance calls to it, some by his son!)

Many fear having two of Tip O'Neill's men on the supposedly bi-partisan commission, and there are other worries about the commission's impartiality.

Proponents of the E.R.A. amendment, who met recently in California, concede their task for 1978 is difficult. Their hopes are based on the theory three states which have voted to rescind E.R.A. endorsement (Nebraska, Tennessee and Idaho) can't legally do so.

Three new states must ratify the amendment even if the courts disallow the three rescinding votes. The 1978 target states appear to be North Carolina, Virginia, Florida and Oklahoma, with prospects for success in three of the four admittedly dim.

The most explosive potential of the Bert Lance scandal reaches straight to the White House, to President Carter. Lance was Carter's closest friend and they have long worked and politicked together.

How far and wide did they wheel and deal together? Is this why Carter didn't dump Lance early in the probe? Is Lance in position to hurt the President too much? After all, he helped finance Carter as well as himself.

Lance brought in huge labor pension funds to his bank in the 1976 election year. He introduced Carter to banker friends and exploited his upcoming appointment in 1976 in many questionable ways. Did Carter take part in some of this?

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek joins the squabble over the Panama Canal, from a safe distance.

Dear editor:

Because everybody needs something to talk about till the regular football season starts, the month of August was devoted to talking about the Panama Canal. Fans with losing teams will probably continue talking about it all Fall.

The canal is not one of my major worries. I've never been through it and have no plans to. Yet it generates a lot of hot debate.

People in favor of keeping it say we built it, we paid for it and it's ours. Others say so what, if the Panamanians want it, let them have it; our big oil tankers and war ships can't squeeze through it anyway.

But in all the discussion I've not heard anybody get to the main point: is it making any money? Do we charge ship owners enough to pay for the upkeep? How many hot checks are we holding from Russian ships going through it? If there are a good many, have we thought of making it coin-operated?

Just because we bought and paid for the canal is not necessarily an argument for keeping it. There are tankers in this country who bought and paid for cattle three years ago they wish they could get their money back now. There are city people who bought certain stocks they'd now like to unload on somebody else.

Before I make up my mind on the Panama Canal I'd like to see an operating statement on it.

But if the Panamanians insist they've got to have the thing, that they're fully capable of operating it, I've figured out a deal. They can have it if they'll take over Amtrak in this country too. If that doesn't seem quite fair, we could maybe throw in the Postal Service also.

What are the prospects for the Muleshoe Mules this year?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

'A' Team Beats Farwell Steers

On Thursday, September 22, the 8th grade Mules A team traveled to Farwell to play the Farwell Steers. To start the 1st quarter, the Steers kicked off to the Mules with Lupe Rosales returning the ball to the Mules 45. On the next play, Trent Kirven ran it into the endzone for a 55 yard TD making the score 6-0 in favor of the Mules. Through out the 1st and 2nd quarter, Ronnie Angeley caught a pass and ran it into the endzone for a 40 yard TD. The point after was successful and made the score read 14-0 in favor of the Mules. To start the second half, the Mules kicked off to the Steers. The Steers were unable to get a 1st down so they were forced to punt. Lupe Rosales ran the punt for a 60 yard return to about the Steers 20 yard line. Then early in the 3rd quarter, Monty Hysinger scored to make the score read 22-0 in favor of the Mules. The Steers then fumbled on the kick off and gave the Mules great field position and again the Mules scored with Jesse Beversdorf catching a pass to make the score read 30-0 in favor of the Mules. Late in the 4th quarter Eddie Black ran a 55 yard TD through the middle to make the score read 38-0 in favor of the Mules. At the end of the game the score read 38-0 with the Mules coming out on top. The Steers throughout the game could not get anything going because our defense was playing excellent throughout the game. The Mules defense has just been scored on once. Our defense is a very strong defense and a good one as well. Our offensive line has been doing a fantastic job on opening and blocking so that the backs can score. Two weeks from now on October the sixth the Mules will travel to Dimmitt to play the Bobcats.

Fish Fry Is Super

The Junior High Student Council was asked by the Lions Club to sell tickets for the Friday night fish fry that was held before the football game. The tickets were sold for $2.50 a piece and were given to each member of Student Council. The Lions Club gave 25 cents to the Student Council for every ticket sold. The fish fry was a big success and everyone had a great time!

Library Chooses Helpers

Eighteen students were chosen for this year's library workers. They are: Rosemary Lopez, Donna Hawkins, Barbara Pedroza, Estella Mendoza, Edna Buckner, Margie Costilla, April Green, Doyla Hight, Belinda Wheeler, Tammy Grigsby, Martina Valdez, Paula Williams, Joe Neel, Terrie Martin, Alan Harrison, Beatrice Reyna, Kay Lynn Prather and Janie Martinez. Mrs. McKillip says there are over 6000 books in the library this year, and 60 new books with new books coming all year. That will keep these students busy checking out books, helping students, keeping the library clean, and shelving books.

Junior High Annual Sale Is Underway

The Jr. High Journalism Staff has already begun work on the '77-78' Muletrain Jr. They began to sell the annuals September 20th and will be selling them each day until October 21st. ### Cheerleaders Raise Spirit At First Game

All week before the first game of the M.J.H.S. 8th grade football team, the 1977-78 cheerleaders, Robin Burgess, Starla Black, Susie Pierce, Berna Lopez, Kelly Bayless, and Denise Peterson (mascot) stayed after school to make posters. The posters were hung up in the halls to get some spirit started. Thursday, September 15th they attended the game at Tulla.

The posters must have done some good in getting everyone pepped up, because the boys played a terrific game. The Journalism Staff would like to congratulate these girls for working so hard to get spirit raised at M.J.H.

Office Workers Selected

This year's office workers are: Delia Shaw, Eddie Black, Lavon Rhodes, Denise Evtets, Jill Turner, Todd Holt, Robin Burgess, and Cara Bass. Their duties are to pick up absentees, make a list of absentees, run errands, deliver messages, ect. They are chosen if they are reliable, responsible, willing to work, and pleasant to work with. These workers do much throughout the year to help Mrs. Kirkland and Mr. Mardis.

Tech Ranch Day Will Feature German Fare

German sausage and sauerkraut, with strudel for dessert, a German Oompah band along with fiddlin' and dancin' will all be a part of Ranch Day 1977 on October 8 at The Museum of Texas Tech University.

The Ranching Heritage Association sponsors the annual event at the historic Ranching Heritage Center, a 12-acre outdoor exhibit depicting the development of ranching in the American West.

The eighth annual Ranch Day will also include the annual business meeting and election of association officers. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. in the David M. DeVitt and Mallet Ranch Building. Hosts and hostesses will be in all restored buildings at the site until the "German supper" begins at noon.

Costs for participation, including the unusual German noontime fare, will be $4.50 for adults and $1.75 for children who are members of the Ranching Heritage Association. Costs for non-members, including supper, are $5.50 for adults and $2.25 for children. Youngsters under 12 years of age will be served bus lunches and cold drinks.

While barbecue has been the traditional food on Ranch Days, authentic German food will be served this year in keeping with the theme of the day, celebrating the contributions made by early German ranchers.

Texas Tech Prof. Emeritus Ise H. Wolf will speak briefly on pioneer German contributions during the business meeting.

Guests can ride in a wagon pulled by mules furnished by Arch Lamb, former Lubbock County Commissioner. They will hear German folk songs and listen to a German Oompah band, organized for the occasion by the Texas Tech University Department of Music and directed by Prof. Richard E. Tolley.

Within the visitors' center there will be a puppet show in German, but comprehensible in English. Dr. Meredith McClain of the Texas Tech Department of Germanic and Slavic Languages is director. Puppets are the work of art students in classes taught by Prof. Peggy H. Bright.

Also in the visitors' center there will be repeated several times a pictorial presentation of

Lazbuddie Longhorn Stampede

By Judy Lust

Homecoming was held last week and in case you haven't heard yet we beat Happy 27-0. Freshman Russell Windham scored the first touchdown with eight seconds left in the first quarter, and Sophomore Dennis Steinbock made the extra point. Junior Charles Steinbock then scored in the 2nd quarter, but the extra point attempt failed. In the 3rd quarter Freshman Andy Rodgers made another touchdown and Dennis made the extra point. Then Senior Rayburn Wenner intercepted a Happy pass on the 33 yard line and ran it back for a touchdown. Dennis's extra point kick was good and that made the final score of 27-0.

The Horns had 167 yards rushing and 74 yards passing. They had 17 first downs and controlled the ball most of the ballgame.

Charles Steinbock averaged 48 yards a punt on the punts he kicked and Rayburn Wenner averaged 28 yards on three punt returns, one of which was a 65 yard touchdown that was called back by a penalty. The Offensive Player of the Week was Rayburn Wenner, the Defensive Player of the Week was Russell Windham, and the Strike Award went to Russell Windham. During the halftime the Lazbuddie School Band, the 5th and 6th grade band, and the Pep Club performed.

The band formed a double L and them both bands formed a Longhorn. The Pep Club did a pom-pom routine while the band played the school song. Homecoming Queen Candidates Tammie Smith, Candy Moore, and Judy Lust, escorted by Hero Candidates Mike Windham, Charles Steinbock, and Rayburn Wenner were presented on the field. All of the Candidates and Heros were Seniors expect Charles Steinbock who is a Junior. Tammie Smith and Rayburn Wenner were named as the 1977 Homecoming Queen and Hero. Candy Matthews and Derren Menefee then presented the flowers and helmet to the Queen and Hero.

Next Friday the Longhorns play Motley County at Matador at 8:00 and everyone is urged to go and support the Horns.

The Junior High Football team played their second game of the season last Thursday when they traveled to Happy and played the Happy Junior High Team. Happy won the game by a 42-20 score but the game was closer than the score indicates. The boys all played very well and were much improved over last week. The next Jr. High ballgame will be September 29, at Whiteface at 5:00.

Members of the Senior Class are now selling magazine renewals and subscriptions. This is the magazine drive sponsored by the Readers Digest, and anyone needing any magazines can contact any Senior.

The Sophomores won both the hall decoration contest and the bonfire wood gathering contest.

Chicken Ranch Will Open As New Disco

Various cities are traditionally known for their landmarks. New York City has the Statue of Liberty, San Francisco has the Golden Gate Bridge, Washington has the White House and LaGrange, the Chicken Ranch. However, just as a land developer moved the London Bridge to Arizona, this licentious landmark, the Chicken Ranch, has gone straight and been moved to 7176 Greenville Avenue for transformation into a Dallas disco.

General Manager Bill Fair directed the move of the bucolic brothel via the back roads to its new home, site of the former Sportspace Club. John T. Evans II director of the Commercial/Retail Division of Hoyt R. Matisse Company handled the sale and lease negotiations for both Fair and seller Gayle Dalfares. The transaction was completed at Hexter-Fair Title Company.

Originally 14 bedrooms within four buildings, Fair and manager Michael Sealy have worked closely with architect Andrew Carbarreaux and interior designer Fred Merrill for the conversion and interweaving of house and club.

Opening in late September, the bill of fare will feature various chicken hors d'oeuvres and eventually an expanded menu. Entertainment emcee Don Embry was a personal friend of Elvis Presley and served as his studio and concert sound technician for two years.

"The location may have changed," said Fair, "but the notorious graffiti-covered walls have been carefully dismantled and reconstructed into the bar, remaining permanently preserved under coats of polyurethane plastic. Other relics may be purchased at the disco's gift shop and we plan to have memorabilia auctions periodically."

Founded before the turn of the century by Miss Jessie, she later sold out to Miss Edna. The name "Chicken Ranch" was promulgated during the depression when patrons paid for services with chickens. Many of the girls were college co-eds or from the near-by area and all

PRONGHORN SEASON NEARS

LUBBOCK-The brightest spot in the 1977 antelope season is the excellent range conditions on the Panhandle ranchlands and hunters participating in the hunt should have a good chance at bagging a fat buck.

Panhandle antelope herds co-located on representative ranches in the animal's natural range shows a total population of 2,059 animals with 290 permits being issued to the landowners.

Sportsmen will have four days to hunt the fleet antelope during the October 1-4 season in the Panhandle. Hunters in the Permian Basin and Trans Pecos regions will have nine days to hunt from October 1-9 with range conditions less than ideal.

"It is dry in most areas of West Texas and this will make it harder for the hunter to bag an antelope," said Herb Kothmann, wildlife biologist station-

Grain Glut to be Top Item In Discussions with USDA

AUSTIN--The sagging price outlook in the glutted wheat market will be one of the major topics discussed when Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown travels to Washington, D.C. later this month to meet with U.S. Department of Agriculture officials.

Brown said recently he will encourage the USDA to "take the strongest possible stand to insure the economic interests of the American farmer" when meetings get underway later this year in London to formulate an international wheat agreement.

It is hoped a program to ease the impact of low prices when supply is abundant among the major grain producing countries can be reached. The international meetings are scheduled in late September or early October.

The wheat situation in Texas -- as in other producing states -- has reached its most serious proportions since the early 1960s, Brown noted. Harvest in the state this year is expected to reach 117.5 million bushels, up 2.5 million bushels from earlier estimates by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. With current carryover stocks of 63.5 million bushels -- a 63 percent increase over last year -- the state's grain bins are bulging with a crop which is currently selling far below actual production costs.

In recent years, Texas has made important strides in providing better living conditions and educational opportunities for migrant farm workers, according to Reagan V. Brown, Agriculture Commissioner.

"I have announced my candidacy for Governor of Texas. I'm confident I can and will win.

"According to a statewide poll, 8 out of 10 people are ready for a new governor. The poll only confirmed what I've been hearing all over Texas this year. People are against the idea of anyone holding the state's highest office for 10 years. No governor has asked for 10. No governor has been given 10. It goes against a tradition that's as old as Texas itself.

"There are other reasons folks are ready for a new governor. State spending has jumped from $3 billion to $8 billion the last 6 years. The Dallas Morning News reported, during Briscoe's years in office, nearly all state government will have gone on a spending spree. And the Governor has done nothing to discourage it. He's vetoed less than two-tenths of one percent of the two previous budgets and not one penny's worth of the current appropriations; it's the first time that's happened in twenty years. In a related story, the News pointed to the fact that during the Briscoe years the number of employees paid by the state has risen by 50,000.

"And, while we've heard the boast of 'no new taxes,' we've seen our property taxes increase by $1 billion along with substantial hikes in state licensing fees.

"I've traveled the state this year, visiting with folks. Whatever their overall assessment, most Texans lacked confidence in the present governor's persuasiveness and vision. They felt he had failed to measure up to their expectations and to live up to his promises.

"Texans are hungry for an effective gubernatorial spokesman on energy policy. They are frustrated that our governor hasn't been able to get the Texas viewpoint across in Washington. They are wondering, too, why our governor hasn't been speaking out forcefully for a farm policy that would help our beleaguered farms and ranches.

"I fully agree with the people's assessment; that's why I'm seeking the office of Governor.

"I'm proud of my record as Attorney General and Secretary of State. It shows that I'm not afraid to roll up my sleeves and work hard. It indicates that I have the ability to assemble a capable staff, that I prefer to work closely with people, and that I'm not reluctant to make changes when they can benefit the state. I'll be this kind of governor, given the job."

James Simpson, a sophomore, started as quarterback against Cotton Center Friday night. Dale Simpson, also a sophomore, started on defense. Both of the sophmores did a good job.

The sophmores are having a cake raffle Thursday night September 22, at the Junior High ballgame. Each ticket will sell for 25 cents.

Employee Of The Week

Mrs. Annetta Chunn is the Three Way School tax assessor, bookkeeper, and secretary to Superintendent, Bert Grimes. Mrs. Chunn and her husband, Jimmy (Bo), a farmer-rancher, are the parents of two children. Ricky, age 21 and his wife, April, who live in Vancouver, Washington. Karen, age 18, lives in Levelland, Texas.

Mrs. Chunn was born at Clovis, New Mexico and was employed two years at Causey Municipal School in New Mexico before coming to Three Way where she has been employed for the past nine years.

Mrs. Chunn's favorite food is salads; her favorite colors are black and blue. Her favorite hobbies include show calves and Indian jewelry. She is a member of the Church of Christ at Causey, New Mexico. She also holds membership in the Order of Eastern Star in Elida, New Mexico and the Texas Association of Assessing Officers.

Senior News

Princess Parkman went to Abilene Thursday and Friday for the state 4-H Dress Revue. Thursday was spent getting acquainted with other participants of the Dress Revue and Friday was the day of judging. There were forty eight participants in the statewide 4-H event. Saturday was the last day of the Dress Revue, which was finished up with a style show with each girl modeling her own garment.

The senior class had a meeting last week. They discussed future money-making possibilities. During the meeting a spaghetti supper was planned for September 30. Spaghetti will be served before the after the football game between Three Way and Western Academy. The Senior Class urges everyone to come and help support the Three Way Seniors. The meeting was presided over by Jerry Waltrip, president.

Senior Spotlight

Ronnie Altman

Jazzy Juniors

Ronnie Altman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Altman, made his appearance in this world on July 21, 1960 at Lubbock, Texas. Ronnie's favorite food is steak and his favorite color is green. His favorite subject is Vocational Agriculture, because he enjoys going to stock shows. Ronnie believes Ag. teaches a man responsibility. Ronnie's favorite hobby is building sand buggies.

Ronnie wears number 50 and plays center for the Eagles. He has been a member of FFA for four years, 4-H for eight years, runs track and has entered UIL events.

Ronnie wants to go on to college and study to be a veterinarian.

When asked what he looked forward to as a Senior at Three Way High Ronnie said, "I'm looking forward to graduating and going to State in Football."

PLOVERGIRL AND SWEETHEART...Chosen Plovergirl and Sweetheart for the Three Way High School FFA were Kelly Foley and Jackie Carlisle. They will be serving through this school year.

Three Way News

By Mrs. H.W. Garvin

The Three Way Junior football team played Whitherrel Thursday evening with Whitherrel winning the game. Friday evening the Three Way high school football boys played Whitherrel on Whitherrel field with Three Way winning by a score 50-0.

Mrs. George Tyson and Mrs. H.W. Garvin of Maple and Mrs. Ray Bridges of Morton entertained the Senior Citizens at the luncheon Thursday at Morton.

Mrs. S.G. Long visited her sister in Amarillo last Friday.

Elmer Lee of Goodland was seriously injured in a fall from a gin in Littlefield last Sunday and was in ICU in Methodist hospital in Lubbock last week. But is in a private room now and is improved conditions.

Mrs. T.F. Davis from Stamford is visiting her son the T.D. Davis family.

Mrs. H.W. Garvin visited her daughter the Kenneth Fox family Sunday. Other guests in the Kenneth Fox home were Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Fox from McAdoo and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Fox from Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Masten were in Whitherrel Friday to help their grandson Brian Pollard celebrate his birthday. Brian and Wade Pollard came home with the Mastens and stayed until Sunday when their parents the Lamar Pollards came after the boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sowder were in Lubbock Saturday to visit Elmer Lee in the Methodist hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fowler and family and the Ray Fowlers from Lubbock visited their parents the D.S. Fowlers Sunday.

Eagle Report

The Three Way Eagles are preparing for their first district encounter with the Whitharal Panthers. The Eagles lost a close ballgame to Cotton Center Friday night. The Eagles showed bright spots in their offense. Sophomore Quarterback James Simpson, playing in his first game as Quarterback, led the offense to 606 total yards. The offensive line of Ronnie Altman, Jerry Waltrip and Ken Eubanks opened holes for Albert Rand and Louie Key who accumulated 194 yards.

The defense needs to show improvement in their pass defense. We are expecting a tough game with Whitharal and are expecting our first District win. GO MEAN GREEN GO!

First Grade Frolics

The First Grade Class is the proud owner of two Land Hermit Crabs. The teacher Mrs. Greathouse brought them back from Fort Worth, when she visited there last weekend. The class has them in an aquarium complete with sand, food, water and a limb as they are great climbers. If anyone has some shells they would like to give, the crabs could use them. The Land Hermit crabs like to have new "Clothes" (shells) to change to when the mood strikes them. Chad Welch and Lily Cavazos will be helping with the house-keeping duties of the crabs this week.

The girls and boys of the First Grade Class think the new pets for the classroom are very interesting.

Winners in the First Grade ABC Recognition contest last week were Jeanie Robertson, Jarrod Sowder and Stacy Lowe. They were the proud recipients of a small reward.

Second Grade Kapers

Two members of our class would love away. They were Jessie and Richard Valero. We really miss them.

We are learning a lot this year. Last week we got to visit the bookmobile and check out books for the first time. We drew pictures for Mrs. Lovejoy's Sixth Grade Newspaper. They printed two of them in the paper. We got to see a film with Donald Duck explaining mathematics.

Far Out Freshmen

The Freshman class had a carwash Saturday, September 17, 1977 at the Blue barn across from the Gin Yard in Maple. It lasted from 9:00 to 7:00 p.m. They charged $3.00 for wash and vacuum, and $2.50 for wash only. They washed around 30 vehicles throughout the day. Their sponsors were Mrs. Birkhead and Mrs. Smotherman. The class had $96.62 at the end of the day. This money will be put in the Freshman Class Fund.

Cougars, Trojans Tit Of The Week

An early answer as to how Washington State may figure in the Pacific 8 title picture and Rose Bowl race could come this week. The Cougars have an important date with Southern California Saturday. Though the Trojans will be rather strong favorites, the possibilities of upsets in conference match-ups are always good. Illustration: Southern Cal's recent seven-point squeaker over Oregon State. However, unless the Trojans have another lapse, they should beat Washington State by 13 points. Army entertains a powerful guest...they'll be confronted by the highly-rated Buffaloes of Colorado. The Buffs were co-champions of the Big Eight Conference last fall and lost to Ohio State in the Orange Bowl. The Cadets, on the other hand, are in rather an unusual spot for them after three games...they've won two of them! 'Fraid the rest of the honeymoon will end Saturday. Colorado is just too strong...they'll defeat Army by 34 points.

Mr. and Mrs. David Nelson are the proud parents of a new son, born September 20, in the Parmer County Community Hospital in Friona. The baby was named Stephen David Anthony Nelson and weighed seven pounds and 12 ounces, and was 20 inches long.

A number of college kids and out of town people came home for the Homecoming Activities last weekend. Some of them were Karen Scott, from San Angelo State University, Dana McDonald, Martha Valencia and Pat Dale, from West Texas State University, Jet and Connie Thomman of Levelland, and Tom and Olena Willis from Lubbock.

Many people attended the South Plains Fair in Lubbock Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinkson, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lust and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinkson II and Trae, attended the Greater West Texas Angus Assn. meeting in Lubbock last Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinkson gave the program and showed slides of their recent trip to Scotland.

Mr. Orin McBroom is a patient in West Plains Hospital in Muleshoe.

Corn harvest is nearing completion in the community.

that could be interesting matches Iowa and UCLA. The Hawkeys are two and one, losing bit to Arizona last week after whipping intra-state rival Iowa State two weeks ago. Being one of the "Little Eight" in the Big Ten just doesn't bring national headlines. An upset of UCLA could do it! The Bruins, after losing to Houston, came back to beat Kansas, only to be shocked by Minnesota last week. It looks as though Iowa, like Army, will lose more "status." UCLA by eighteen points.

Alabama and Georgia meet in a Southeast Conference headliner. It was the Bulldogs' upset of the Tide last fall that helped pave the road toward the conference championship. Alabama has not forgotten! Both teams have lost outside the league, so a little of the glitter is gone. It looks to be the Crimson Tide's year in this annual get-together...Georgia is a 5-point underdog.

Finally, in a battle of conferences, the Big Ten and Southwest Conference-Michigan and Texas A&M in particular, take aim at each other in Ann Arbor. The Aggies are coming off a big conference struggle with Texas Tech, the Wolves from just barely sinking the Navy. Winner: Michigan by just an extra point.

Safety Measures Boosted By State

Have you ever noticed the skull and crossbones symbol on a bottle of rubbing alcohol? If so, maybe you read the rest of the label warning "DANGER: Poison-Flammable-Vapor Harmful. May be fatal or cause blindness if swallowed."

Have you wondered who is responsible for being sure this warning and similar ones are on products used by the public as health safety measures? For many years now, the Texas Department of Health has been responsible for consumer protection through its Product Safety Division. Since 1939, the Department has enforced the Texas Bedding Act, which provides for the inspection and certification of sanitary bedding products. In 1971, the Department's product safety program was expanded under the Texas Hazardous Substances Act to identify and protect the public from hazardous substances, to ensure proper labeling, and in some cases to ban hazardous products.

"In a nutshell, what we attempt to do is to protect the consumer from unreasonable risks associated with household products," says Norman T. Mansell, product safety program chief in the Product Safety Division. "When we talk about hazardous substances, we are talking about products which might be flammable, toxic, corrosive, or an irritant."

Most know what flammable means, but "toxic" means any substance other than radioactive ones cause injury through breathing, eating or absorption through the body surface. "Corrosive" means any substance that can destroy living tissue through chemical action on contact. "Irritant" is any noncorrosive substance which will cause a local inflammatory reaction.

The program has directed its attention particularly toward the flammability of clothing, especially children's clothing, and aerosol sprays, cleaners, polishes, and other normal household items.

"We regularly check factories, warehouses, and such places as super markets, paint stores, hardware stores, garment manufacturers, and retail outlets where goods with hazardous substances are sold to the public," said Mansell. To make inspections for both the Hazardous Substances Act and the Texas Bedding Act, the Product Safety Division has nine field men working out of offices in San Antonio, Arlington, Lubbock, Houston and Austin.

"It's our duty to see that hazardous substances are labeled sufficiently to inform customers of the dangers involved in their use, storage or handling," said Mansell. "For example, a Texas manufacturer of liquid floor wax was marketing a product which was flammable-but the label didn't say so. We notified him, and now it carries the proper warning."

Mansell said the Department also sees to it that labels carry instructions for first aid when it is considered necessary. For example, the label on a brand name of everyday household lubricating oil reads "DANGER: If swallowed. DO NOT induce vomiting-call a physician."

Any product used in the household which is potentially dangerous enough to endanger the health of the consumer can be banned from channels of commerce by the Department.

"Any article of children's clothing, other than diapers, which doesn't meet flammability standards set by the Department can be banned. In the area of children's sleepwear, we have a test limiting the amount of burned material, or what we call char lengths, of clothing subjected to three seconds of moderate size flame," said Mansell. "We also limit the time after the material is removed from the flame that fallen pieces may continue burning."

The Product Safety Division participates in joint state/federal contract work from time to time. In the past, the field inspectors have visited drug stores throughout the state to be sure that child resistant packaging was being used in pharmaceuticals. This was in relation to enforcement of the Federal Poison Prevention Packaging Act. In addition, the Division follows up on consumer complaints about products concerning health-related hazard. Under the Texas Bedding Act, anyone in the business of manufacturing, wholesaling, renovating or selling bedding, or any processor of filling materials for bedding, must obtain a license from the Department.

The Act requires the Department to insure the germicidal treatment of all secondhand bedding and secondhand materials used in the manufacturing of bedding. The purpose of this is to provide sanitary bedding for the public. The Act also requires that all bedding manufacturing plants be operated in a sanitary manner, to provide sanitary working conditions.

In addition, the Bedding Act requires the labeling of all bedding, showing whether new materials or secondhand ones were used in filling, and the type and grade of cotton and other materials used in filling new bedding. This is to inform the consumer about the type and grade of material used in the product.

On Wall Street By Bob Hill

Quite a few months ago this column dealt with the booming smoke alarm market. Every house needs one. Fire departments are enthusiastic about them. And there is no question that lives have been saved because of the smoke alarm effectiveness.

Tougher standards for smoke alarms are going into effect soon. So tough that some of the present smoke alarm models won't be able to meet after performance requirements. The new standards would require a smoke alarm to sound at seven percent smoke (seven percent of vision per square foot is obscured by smoke) when a large room is slowly filled by smoke from a smoldering source. Underwriters Laboratories has been developing the new standard because there is none for smoldering fires, even though 75 percent of all homes fires start that way.

The first smoke proposal was for 17 percent smoke but the National Bureau of Standards mixed that one because they found that 15 percent smoke is the maximum limit for safe evacuation. One manufacturer proposed a four percent smoke standard so Underwriters Laboratories compromised on a 7 percent figure.

There are two types of smoke alarms, the ionization-type and the photoelectric device. The ionization-type is the most common and is manufactured by a wide range of companies. The photoelectric smoke detector manufacturer pushed for a low smoke standard in hopes of freeing out the ionization-type device.

Tougher standards are certainly in the consumers best interest. The smoke standard for flaming fires is 27 percent for a paper fire down to 13 percent smoke for a polystyrene plastic fire. Underwriters Laboratories will certify a smoke detector alarm even if half the units tested fail to meet U.L. standards.

Though some of the ionization-type smoke detectors won't be able to meet the seven percent smoke standard, those companies making the ionization-type alarm are confident that they will have no trouble meeting the seven percent requirement.

FASHION COMFORTERS

COLLEGE STATION—Create your own high fashion comforter, suggests Glenda Moore, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"A comforter offers a way of making a bed in seconds," says the specialist, "and it's a fashion statement of the natural look." Almost anyone, she believes, can cover a less expensive or an old comforter with an extra top sheet—or cover one side with contrasting solid sheet or bedspread to have a reversible comforter.

Use a matching colored yarn to tack fabric to the new comforter or matching stitch a new design, as you replace your old bedspread. Extra pillows covered with matching cases will add "plushness."

Bedrooms are often the fashion room in the home or apartment and the open bed causal look adds to the decor. Providing plenty of warmth, polyester and down-filled sheet-coordinated comforters are very "in"—perfect for the "natural look" dorm room, too.

The most popular designs in sheet and comforter coordinates are florals, patchwork and contemporary. These designs allow bold, bright prints to add color to earth tones.

And for a finishing touch to bedroom decor, Ms. Moore says, attach another matching sheet to the wall behind or at the side of the newly created fashion bed.

If you plan to buy a "coordinated comforter," expect to spend $25 to $85, the specialist says.
