Heart Sunday Plans Are Formulated Here

February has long had the tradition of being the month of "Heart." But, the heart that most people associate with February is the heartshaped boxes of candy on Valentines Day, February 14.

For the last several years, February has been designated as "Heart Month" for a different reason. The American Heart Association, through Texas Affiliate Inc., will be conducting a door-to-door campaign during February on February 12, for funds for continued heart research.

They would like to remind "Life is a gift. A gift from God."

"Far too often we show our You Can't Have Your Cake, And Eat It, Too!"

Hazel Cunningham has a daughter-in-law, Kathy Cunningham, wife of her son, Cecil, who is not a Dallas Cowboy fan. So, in honor of Superbowl XII, Kathy made a special cake.

The chocolate cake (for the soil) is covered with green coconut (for the grass playing field) with stripes of white coconut.

Goalposts were located at each end, made of freezer bag 'twisties. A blue helmet was at one end and an orange helmet was at the other. In the center was an over-sized, exaggerated football on one side and two players on the other.

The players are a Cowboy, shown lying on the ground beneath a stomping, rearing Bronco.

Needless to say, before the end of the game Sunday, the Cowboy was rearranged by Cecil Cunningham and was riding the Bronco, as the Cowboys won 27-10 to become the world champion football players for the 1977 season.

Mrs. Ray Griffiths is hospitalized at Highland Hospital in Lubbock. Her family reports she is resting well in room 313 at the hospital.

Several sportsmen were in Muleshoe the first three days of this week on a special sandhill crane hunt.

Representatives of major hunting and fishing magazines were included in the group who stayed at the Ranch House Motel during the two day hunt.

In Muleshoe were Bill Wiggins, Chub Merritt, Don Houseman, Bill Williams, Ben Wilson, Mike Clark, Stan Neely, Jack Garrett, Bill Braecklein, John Rauscher, Jimmy DeLoache and Tom Norsworthy. It was explained that the Texas Department of Wildlife is making a promotional story and films on the sandhill crane hunt.

CAKE COMMEMORATES SUPERBOWL--When Mrs. Cecil Cunningham came to Muleshoe to watch Superbowl XII with her mother-in-law, Hazel Cunningham, she presented Mrs. Cunningham with this cake. By the end of the game, the Cowboy shown on the ground beneath the Bronco, was riding the Bronco.

City Approves Ordinance On Paving Bonds

Tuesday morning, with Joe Smith of First Southwest explaining procedures, members of the Muleshoe City Council approved an ordinance selling $100,000 in general obligation bonds to pay for the current paving program in the city.

Briefly discussed was the progress of the current paving program.

"Although the Bailey County Commissioners Court has been scheduled to meet with the City Council, the commissioners did not meet with the city leaders. The meeting was to have been conducted to discuss an agreement with the county on operation of the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center.

City Manager Dave Marr briefly explained problems which have arisen in the present operation and the meeting will be scheduled at a later date.

City Council members agreed to pay the final $1,984.40 for repairs to the 1,000,000 ground storage tank for water which is located south of the city.

Also, city attorney Dee Teadwell explained the progress in the airport expansion, and said he foresees no major problems in working out title questions in the property involved. The city attorney said everything still looks favorable at this time.

With a new budget to be prepared, city council members will be meeting during the next few weeks on a weekly basis in work sessions to prepare the budget for the new year. Meetings are scheduled for 6 p.m. on January 26, February 2 and February 14.

They will include Floyd, Dickens, Garza, Borden, Mitchell, Lamb, Hale, Andrews, Martin and Howard counties.

This year, the contest is relative to the U.S. Constitution, and/or its history, and will be for eight to 10 minutes.

The winner of the district contest will receive a $300 scholarship and will compete on Friday, March 3 in Denton on a state level. National finals are scheduled at Klamath Falls, Ore. on April 21.

Regional contests will be on April 17 and the American Legion department will award a $500 scholarship to the college of his choice, provided the winner enters college in the fall term after graduation from high school; second place will be a $350 scholarship.

First place national winner will receive a scholarship in the amount of $8,000; $5,000 for second place; $3,000, third place and $2,000, fourth place.

The American Legions Oratorical program was started in 1938, with the National Finals being held in Norman, Okla. Cont. on Page 3 Col 3

Cotton Prices Up To 44.35

High Plains growers sold cotton for around 4.25 per bale higher than one week ago, according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of Lubbock's Cotton Classing Office. Mixed lots of mostly grades 31, 41, 32 and 42, staples 30 - 33; mikes 3.5 - 4.9 brought around 44.35 cents per pound, Dickson said.

High Plains Classing Offices graded 67,000 samples the week ended January 13. The season's total stands at 2,859,000, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. This compares with only 1,640,000 on the same date a year ago.

Staple lengths were mostly staple 30 at 16 percent, staple 31 was 37 percent and staple 32 accounted for 32 percent. Micronaire continued mostly in the desirable 3.5 - 4.9 range at 82 percent of the total. Nine percent was higher and nine percent was lower. Six percent was reduced one grade because of grass and two percent for bark. Average breaking strength was 85,000 pounds per square inch. Gins paid growers 62 to 70 dollars per ton for cottonseed, mostly 64 to 65 dollars.

Low Farm Prices, High Costs Put Pressure On Agriculture

The combination of low farm prices, high energy costs, and decreasing water supplies in some areas could substantially reduce Texas agricultural production, contends an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Sixty percent of Texas crop production comes from irrigated land, notes Dr. Ron Knutson. Studies indicate that unit costs of production from irrigated land for major Texas crops such as cotton, wheat, milo and corn are substantially higher than lower yielding dryland costs and above current market as well as wasteful use of water supplies, and contigued low prices will increase the severity of the problem.

Research has shown that through the use of new crop production systems, it is often possible to produce crops at lower costs using less energy, water, fertilizer and chemicals. Some drought and disease resistant varieties are also available. However, this research is just beginning and has not yet been applied on an extensive basis.

Are there any current solutions to the farmers' dilemma?

farm program target prices.

For example, the economist indicates that total irrigated cotton costs on the High Plains average 63 cents per pound and dryland cotton costs an average 46 cents per pound while the target price for cotton is 52 cents per pound. Irrigated wheat costs average of $4.72 per bushel; dryland, $3.39, and the target price is $3. Milo costs in the Rio Grande Valley on irrigated land are estimated at $5.26 per hundred-weight; dryland costs are $4.04. The target price for milo has not yet been announced but is expected to be about $4.

Knutson explains that under the 1977 Food and Agriculture Act, the government pays producers the difference between the target price and the average market price whenever the average market price falls below the target price. Market prices are currently substantially below target prices for all major Texas crops except rice. Target prices are based on the U.S. average cost of production. These costs consider out-of-pocket costs, machinery costs, overhead costs, a return to management and family labor, and a 3.5 percent return to land. "These cost figures indicate there is trouble ahead for many Texas producers," says Knutson. "While Texas production costs estimates cited here are not strictly comparable—and substantial cost variation exists among producers—a comparison of target prices and average costs clearly indicates serious pressures exist on many producers to make ends meet financially."

A continuation of producer prices in the neighborhood of U.S. target prices over a period of years could result in a realignment of land values, increased risk of financial failure, increased consolidation of farm operations, conversion from irrigated to dryland production, and even a reversion from crop to ranching and cattle production in some areas of the state. The result could be an absolute reduction in Texas crop output, contends the economist. The magnitude of these effects is not known and must wait further study. What is known is that a further increase in energy costs,

American Agriculture Report

Seven Bailey County farmers left Muleshoe Tuesday to join the thousands of farmers converging on Washington, D.C. this week.

Flying to Washington Tuesday were Randy Marlow, Billy Gore, Mike Bean, Carrol Kelton, Bill Wooley, Gene McGuire and Doyce Turner.

They are hoping to help present the farmers' story to Congressmen in an attempt to alleviate some of the farmers' financial problems.

Morris Killough of the American Agriculture office in Muleshoe said Tuesday afternoon, "These people have shown their concern by contributing to the American Agriculture Movement:

S.K. Scott, A.R. McGuire, John Fried, Jimmy Briggs, C.J. Feagley, Mrs. Mabel Caldwell, Jim Young, Wooley-Hurst, Inc., J.L. Cox Spraying, Tim Campbell, Charles Flowers, D.J. Cox, Eugene Black and Muleshoe Motor Inc.

Also, Texas Sesame, Rudolph Moraw, Howard Watson, Jim Crawford, Barry-Young Equipment; American Valley Inc., Lowe Pump Co., Wayne Crittenden, Pay and Save, Leo's Welding, Charles Saylor and D.O. Burelsmith.

And, Muleshoe State Bank, Jack Bates, Butch Vandiver, A.J. Shafer, N.C. Moore, Douglas Bales, KMUL and the Muleshoe Journal.

Killough also said, "We who are involved in the American Agriculture Movement are grateful for your participation. We need your continued support."

Gerald Ford, former President:
"Carter's reported plan to trim taxes by $20 billion to $30 billion next year is just not good enough."

Texas Farmers Union Blasts Bob Bergland

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco has issued a statement blasting Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland, saying Bergland's recent statements concerning parity and government programs for farmers are "preposterous and almost unbelievable."

Bergland's comments came during a speech to the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in Houston in which he said that the government could NOT protect farmers with programs allowing for 100 percent of parity because it would amount to a monstrosity of costs and government controls.

Naman says Bergland's speech has "shocked and disappointed farmers to hear the Secretary of Agriculture repudiate the preservation of the family farm system by rejecting the concept of 100 percent of parity."

Naman continues by accusing Bergland of "playing politics with agricultural policy by telling each farm group with which he meets that he is in agreement with their particular approach to solving problems." He also says that the speech means "Secretary and expects action during February. "I must remind the Secretary," says Naman, "that farm programs in the past have provided farmers with 100 percent of parity without the detrimental implications which he described in his speech. I must further remind him that other farmers in the free world are protected by their governments with various programs and pricing mechanisms that guarantee the farmers of those countries a fair return. In fact, this country under this administration is one of the few of the developed countries in the world that is unwilling to protect farm income."

The sentiments of the state farm leader are expected to be echoed when the voting delegates and members of Texas Farmers Union gather in Austin, January 20 and 21 for their annual convention. At the same time many Farmers Union members will be taking part in a national protest in Washington. National Farmers Union says its Washington office is ready for the fight for amendments and additions to the inadequate farm bill when Congress reconvenes and expects action during February. "I must remind the Secretary," says Naman, "that farm programs in the past have provided farmers with 100 percent of parity without the detrimental implications which he described in his speech. I must further remind him that other farmers in the free world are protected by their governments with various programs and pricing mechanisms that guarantee the farmers of those countries a fair return. In fact, this country under this administration is one of the few of the developed countries in the world that is unwilling to protect farm income."

Naman says that essentially Bergland has told the nation's farmers that "they would be better off bankrupt than to have to comply with the restraints of an adequate farm program."

Consumer Food News

COLLEGE STATION—Attractive prices on grapefruit and fryer chickens will greet shoppers at Texas grocery markets this week along with good values on beef, pork and several vegetables. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt says.

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agriculture Extension, The Texas A&M University System.

FRESH FRUITS — Texas Grapefruit shows excellent quality, especially pink and red-flesh varieties, and prices are attractive. Orange prices are a bit lower than December levels. Other values are apples, bananas, pears and pineapples.

FRESH VEGETABLES—With prices generally a bit lower than a year ago, this week's plentiful vegetables featuring reasonable prices are: broccoli, cabbage, carrots, celery, hard-shell squash, potatoes, turnips, rutabags and dry yellow onions. Also, head lettuce prices are down, and fresh green beans (mostly from Mexico) are moderately priced.

POULTRY—Fryer chickens have outstanding values, both whole birds and parts. Look for more attractive egg prices as the heavy holiday demand eases.

BEEF—Demand is increasing and prices are trending upward, but many markets are featuring chuck roasts and steaks and sirloin and T-bone steaks.

Good values also appear on ground beef and liver.

PORK — Prices somewhat irregular, but good values include quarterloin (in chops) and Boston butt roasts. Scattered features are on ham portions, picknics, bacon and frankfurters. Cured products show less price fluctuation than fresh items. GROCERY MARKET AISLES—Specials appear on an assortment of fruit pie filling, canned peaches, green beans and pork and beans. Frozen features are fried chicken and a variety of vegetables.

CONSUMER WATCH WORDS: Save up to 20 percent on some canned fruits and vegetables. Spend time "comparative shopping" among brands (note those you like), buy for intended use and understand label information. Look for lower prices on house brands and regional brands—and on food with assorted or irregular pieces.

Terrycloth Enters World Of Fashion

COLLEGE STATION -- Terrycloth's "step" out of the bath-tub into the world of fashion brings fabric variety to home-sewers, and it poses to problems, but they have solutions, a clothing specialist says.

Today's terrycloth enters the fashion scene as a knitted or woven fabric in a variety of weights and fiber contents. Some is 100 percent cotton, but much is a blend of fibers, such as cotton/polyester, triacetate/nylon, polyester/acrylic or cotton/nylon.

For added versatility, some terrycloth has shirred velour on one side or a coating of slick water-repellent fiber, such as polyurethane.

Although it is easy to sew, terrycloth creates two challenges--how to keep surface loops from catching on the front-pronged "toes" of a sewing machine pressure foot and how to prevent shedding or raveling of loops from cut edges, says Mrs. Becky Culp with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

To keep loops from catching, use a special pressure foot or adapt a regular one, she advises.

Some machines are equipped with a foot such as a roller foot that has a flat continuous front. To adapt a regular pressure foot so it will have a continuous front, wrap the protruding "toes" with masting tape.

To prevent shedding or raveling of loops from cut edges, make seams that enclose the raw edges, the specialist suggests. Flat-fell seams are one example.

Also, homesewers can greatly reduce raveling by using a special stitch to make a seam finish on cut edges. A close zigzag stitch or an overcast stitch are two examples.

On the fashion front, terrycloth is enjoying year-round popularity as it meets growing demands for active and leisure sportswear, Mrs. Culp says.

Spurred by the energy issues, terrycloth's impact is partly due to its warmth, absorbency and ability to breathe. Because it is also easy-care and not too expensive, it is fast taking its place as a fashion frontrunner, she adds.

Hart-- An increase in the number of pheasant hen violations were recorded in the Panhandle by Texas Parks and Wildlife game wardens during the recent December season which ended on Christmas day.

A group of five hunters near Hart issued citations for possession of pheasant hens and fines totalling $600 were paid to the local judge.

"We recieved a tip from another pheasant hunter who had noticed several dead hens at a farm house near Hart," said Charles Cosper, Hereford game warden.

"A search warrant was obtained and after a search of the premises was completed, 15 hens were found in the possession of the hunters," Cosper continued.

Several more cases of pheasant hen violations have been filed by both Warden Cosper and other officers working the Panhandle hunt.

Shooting pheasant hens and possession of pheasant hens are Texas game violations. A few states allow hunters to bag pheasant hens, but the Texas regulation protects the hen as the state's pheasant population continues to increase. It is common to see more hens and roosters during the annual pheasant hunt with an ideal ratio of one cock pheasant to every three-to-five hens during the spring nesting season.

Governor Briscoe Upholds Educators

In response to inquiries as to his views on the endorsement of the Texas State Teachers Association's political action group of another gubernatorial candidate, Governor Dolph Briscoe made the following statement today:

I respect the right of any individual or group to endorse candidates of their choice.

In the five years I have been Governor there has been no higher priority in State government than public education. This is amply demonstrated by the fact that the annual level of State funding of the Minimum Foundation Program has increased nearly 122 percent, average teaching salaries have increased 53 percent, a new program of equalization aid has been funded at more than $130 million annually, and many other steps have been taken to improve the quality of education.

My commitment to a better educational system is firm. However, I have not nor will I ever support a specific program of salary increases in return for a political endorsement. The questions raised and responded to during a recent interview I had with members of the TEPAC committee were directed primarily at salaries and fringe benefits. The public processes made by the candidate the committee endorsed certainly underscored a cost far exceeding a billion dollars.

To promise a program of this magnitude is to presume one of two things: (1) sharply reduced state services in favor of salary increases for one group of public employees; or (2) the largest tax bill in Texas history. Otherwise it becomes only an empty promise for political gain.

I thought it would be both improper and irresponsible for me to make such a promise. Other candidates must make their own decision.

My candidacy is supported by many teachers and administrators individually and in organized groups. One such committee, School Administrators for Briscoe, announced its support this week.

I say to all educators as I have told these administrators: I will continue to work with you toward a better public school system in Texas which in turn leads to a better life for all Texans. I also repeat my pledge to work for the improvement of all state services within existing revenues by maintaining a strong economic climate in our State--and without new or additional State taxes.

U.S. Senator Tower Gives Announcement

The time has come for the decision making process to begin. The people must decide, in the next eleven months, who best reflects their hopes and their aspirations, for themselves and their children in the Senate of the United States.

No one, who is intellectually honest, and who loves his fellow citizens, would aspire to serve in so important a body as the United States Senate without approaching the undertaking of all humility. To represent one's people, to speak for them in matters great and small, is a high honor and an enormous responsibility that have to be felt to be understood—and I want all Texans to know that I am aware of that honor and that responsibility every waking moment of my life and I am grateful for the confidence you have reposed in me.

In that spirit, conscious of all that lies ahead, and confident of the good judgement of an informed people, I today offer myself for reelection to a fourth term as United States Senator for Texas.

I have a profound and abiding love for Texas and her people. I have been in all 254 counties of this "empire wide and glorious", this great land that strikes so deeply in us all a sense of gladness and infinite pride.

I am going to carry this campaign into every corner of our great state in the coming months and return to as many of those counties as time and circumstances will permit. I will represent the issues as I see them, confident that when the people make their decision it will be made on the basis of the issues and on the records and credibility of those in the race. I will speak with candor.

I will appeal to our farmers—who are now being driven from their farms because of economic policies that make it practically impossible for them to exist as independent operators.

I will appeal to our small businessmen who are being driven to distraction by a horde of government regulators and regulations.

I will appeal to our educators and parents who have seen their classrooms given over to social experimentation rather than learning.

I will appeal to our working people who do not wish to be forced, against their will, to pay dues to eastern labor bosses before they can get or hold jobs in this state.

I will appeal to our senior citizens who have seen the purchasing power of their retirement income dwindle in the face of constant inflation.

I will appeal to our young who ask only for the opportunity of upward mobility in a stable society.

I will appeal to those ethnic minorities of our state who want to take their rightful place in our free enterprise system.

I will appeal to those who are concerned about our national security at a time when the Soviet Union is outstripping us in so many aspects of modern warfare.

And finally, to all those Texans, in every walk of life, of every race, color or creed, who long for the day when the heavy hand of government shall be lightened, and the oppressive army of regulators, bureaucrats, and tax-eaters once again enter the private work force of a free society.

As you are aware I have not been a shrinking violet in Washington when it comes to fighting for the interests of Texas and her people. There are many people there representing vested interests and an entrenched bureaucracy who would like to see my voice stifled and my vote silenced. They have their minions in Texas as well. It is frustrating to them to have

RECENT FIGURES SHOW CONSUMERS are evidently not listening to the barrage of dietary misinformation about meat coming out of Washington, D.C.

According to these figures, per capita consumption of red meat last year is estimated to total a record 208 pounds per person, up one-and-a-half pounds from 1976. And indications are that the trend will continue in 1978, in spite of "scare" stories claiming we eat too much meat.

a spokesman for the great and powerful state of Texas stand in the way of their efforts to regiment our society and plunder our resources.

It is frustrating for them to have a political leader from this state stand in the way of their plan to give away the Panama Canal.

It is frustrating to them to have in this state an effective opponent for their ultimate plans to repeal our right to work laws.

It is frustrating for them to have someone around who is not afraid to point out the folly of their inflationary economic policies.

For all these reasons and more they have targeted me for defeat in 1978.

They would like nothing more than to be able to trumpet to the world that Texans have repudiated a champion of individual liberties and national strength.

But I say to you now with your head that message will NOT go out.

The message WILL go out when this campaign is done will say to the nation and the world that Texans have reaffirmed their devotion to principles that have made this country great and have given its people home for the future.

The road ahead is long and arduous. The forces arrayed against us are powerful and cunning. Victory will require untiring effort on the part of all of us. I promise you my one unflinching dedication and effort. But we will need your support, your labors, your strength of conviction and that of thousands more like you all across Texas, to see this through. Together we will prevail.

Latin leaders
AUSTIN, Texas (Sp.) — Improving the skills of mid-career Latin Americans who bear promise of future leadership in their countries is the goal of a new program in the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at The University of Texas.

The U.S. State Department has selected the LBJ School as the site for its Fulbright-LBJ Program for Visiting Fellows. Only one other program like it exists in the U.S.

Beginning next fall, 10 Latin American professionals and managers will come to the campus to spend nine months pursuing studies in their areas of interest.

TEXAS AGRICULTURE FACED PROBLEMS in 1977, not all of them the fault of the producers. But, as we enter the New Year, let's not look back too long; we must look ahead.

Production-wise, 1977 was a year of great achievement. But it was that production which caused surpluses in many cases, and low prices for the second year in a row. By early fall the parity ratio had fallen to its lowest point since the Great Depression. As I've said in hundreds of speeches throughout the state, I believe that one of the most significant solutions to the current farm situation is expanded markets and improved marketing techniques for agricultural products.

And I'm not talking about giving our farm products away to foreign countries, either. The farmers and ranchers of Texas and this nation deserve — must have — adequate profits to stay afloat, and these profits must come from fair prices gained on the open market.

It seems senseless to me that such large grain surpluses and dairy surpluses can exist while babies are crying for food in impoverished countries.

In an attempt to expand overseas markets for Texas agricultural products, the Texas Department of Agriculture is gearing up to bring in specialists in foreign markets. These people will be knowledgeable about supply and demand in the world market, and can represent Texas in major trade centers throughout the globe. This is just one of the ways the TDA is trying to get food in the mouths of hungry people and dollars in the pockets of Texas farmers and ranchers.

Whether or not Texas producers participate in the farm strike movement, 1978 will be a time to plan and proceed cautiously. We must produce, but with a wariness brought on by past experience.

Mrs. Alma Altman was transferred from Littlefield Hospital where she had been a patient for the past two weeks to the Roberts Memorial Rest Home in Morton last Wednesday, Jan.

THE UPCOMING TEXAS ONION HARVEST is expected to be large this year, although production estimates are not yet available. We're hoping for a good harvest after onion growers ran into problems with wet weather last year.

If the predictions are true, shoppers should find Texas onions to be excellent values in supermarkets. Look for them to start moving in volume around the end of this month.

AN OPEN LETTER TO OUR FARMING FRIENDS

PIONEER HI-BRED INTERNATIONAL, INC.
SOUTHWESTERN DIVISION
BOX 788 • PLAINVIEW, TEXAS 79072 • PHONE (806) 293-5231

An Open Letter To Our Farming Friends--

Charges are being made to the effect that Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., is not sympathetic to the financial difficulties you are experiencing. I want to emphatically state that such is not the case. Nothing could be further from the true stand of Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc.

No company or organization is more aware of the contribution American farmers make to the economic health of the U.S. and to the survival of the world's population. In fact, Pioneer has spent untold manhours and dollars telling this story to the general public and to economic and governmental leaders...NOT for just the past four or five months, but from our company's earliest beginnings.

No company or organization is more aware of the economic pressures put on you, either. In fact, our success is directly tied to you. You're not just a customer. Many of you participate in the research that develops our products. Others of you help produce our seed. And then many of you also help market Pioneer brand seeds. To understand your problems is as basic to our business as is the research, production and marketing of our planting seed.

The man who founded Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., dedicated his life to the welfare of the American farmer. It was our founder, Henry A. Wallace, who first produced and marketed hybrid seed on a large scale...which may be the greatest individual contribution in the history of agriculture. To suggest that the company he founded does not understand or support you, the farmer, is a serious error and a supreme injustice.

A letter written by an individual of the Garst and Thomas Hybrid Corn Company of Coon Rapids, Iowa--an independent company which distributes Pioneer brand products in Southwestern Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Missouri--is being circulated among farmers. The comments in that letter do not reflect Pioneer policy and attitudes. The letter was NOT written by an official of Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. It reflects ONLY the views of its writer.

I will not speculate about who is spreading this charge among you...or why it is being done. Farmers who know Pioneer, and the work we've done to support your cause, will know this charge is NOT true. If you don't know already, we hope you'll recognize that, through honest error or malicious intent, you are being misled if told that Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., is not the farmer's friend.

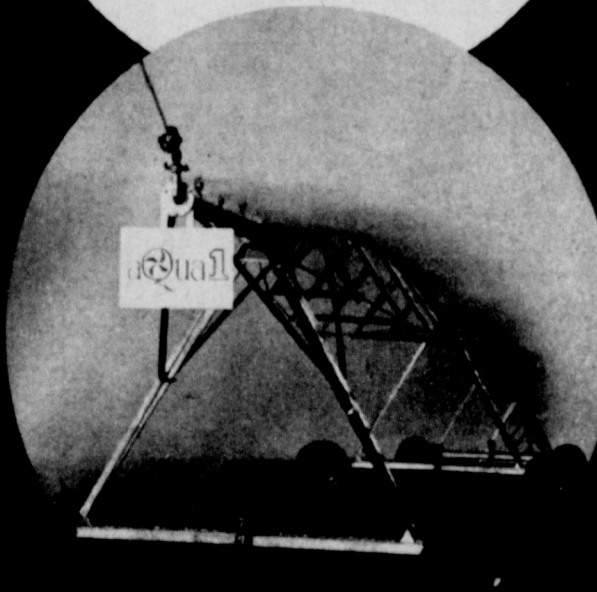

Sincerely,
James W. Lindsey

FB President Asks Raise In Farm Price

Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka said that Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has promised a number of actions to help alleviate the current farm income depression.

Chaloupka, a beef and grain producer from Dalhart, met Jan. 5 for an hour Thursday in private audience with the Agriculture Secretary in Washington.

The Texas farm leader said Secretary Bergland promised to move on a number of fronts -- including increased from credit, expanded dollar exports, more food for peace shipments, and changes in the meat import law -- to help farmers and ranchers during the present income crisis.

"Secretary Bergland felt that the best way out of our current problems would be expanding farm exports and the movement of surpluses overseas under Public Law 480, the food and peace program," Chaloupka said.

The TFB president said Secretary Bergland promised his administration would do everything within reason to make available Farmers Home Administration loans to keep farmers in business.

Chaloupka said that Bergland agreed to have the U.S. Department of Agriculture work with Farm Bureau and other organizations to expand dollar sales abroad. The secretary reported that the United States is now working to lower tariff barrier on American beef coming into Japan.

Under Public Law 480, American farm products -- primarily surplus grain -- is moved to needy nations on a subsidized basis. Chaloupka said Secretary Bergland agreed to set up such shipments.

Chaloupka said Bergland agreed to help get legislative changes in the meat import law to assist cattle producers. The Texas farm leader said what is needed is a formula that reduces red meat imports during periods of high beef production in this country and that Secretary Bergland agrees with this.

Chaloupka said Bergland expressed the desire for farmers to get their income in the marketplace because he said the alternative is total domination by the federal government. "I told him that we would appreciate it very much if he would take a real strong stand for the farmer instead of being a champion of the consumer, and he agreed with me," Chaloupka said. "He understands our problems, and it's nice to talk with a farmer who heads up the Department of Agriculture."

"I can work enthusiastically behind him. So can business types."

Benjamin F. Bailar, Postmaster General: "I think it is appropriate to have mail service paid for by those who use it, rather than shifting a burden on to individual taxpayers."

Menahem Begin, Israeli Prime Minister: "In three weeks serious negotiations will open. I left a hopeful prime minister. I return a happy man."

Arbor Day Encourage Tree Planting

Texas Arbor Day on Jan. 20 is designed to inspire Texans to plant trees.

Arbor day was once a special event in the lives of many Texans, notes Everett Janne, horticulturist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service. In many communities, the trees that are so admired today are the direct result of the labor and attention given so readily by the children and interested adults of by-gone generations.

"There is no better way we can aid in preserving our environment than by planting a tree adapted to our area of this great state," contends Janne.

In recent years much has been written about the value of trees for other purposes than to provide lumber and shade. Research reports indicate that tree barriers can reduce noise levels as much as 50 percent. They also serve as giant air cleaners, filtering out dust as well as using carbon dioxide in the air to produce the lumber and shade we need.

"Too often we take the majestic beauty of our trees for granted, and we forget the benefits they give us," points out the horticulturist. "As a gift to future generations, we should initiate programs in our community to plant trees in our home yards, parks, public grounds and many of the so-called waste lands."

Give some thought in selecting varieties and species suited to the area. Too frequently people are impatient and want immediate results, so weak, fast-growing varieties are used. All too often the silver maple, cottonwood, Siberian elm and other rapidly growing trees grow, mature and die out in one or two generations. For permanent plantings select the oak, pecan, cedar bald cypress, Deodar cedar, and similar species, suggests Janne.

"Texas Arbor Day occurs during the prime tree planting season. The cold, usually moist soil at this time allows tree roots to become established before top growth occurs. Trees are usually in prime condition for transplanting at this time and the chances for success are greatest," says the horticulturist.

So, why not plant a tree on Arbor Day, Jan. 20? Future generations will thank you for doing so.
