Truck-Train Crash Kills Muleshoe Mother Of Five

Mrs. Ruth Snell, 30, of Muleshoe was killed Wednesday in a truck-train collision at a railroad crossing just inside the city limits. Mrs. Snell was dead on arrival at West Plains Medical Center after the accident which happened around 4:49 p.m. Her four-year-old son Jessie, a passenger in the 1952 Chevrolet truck she was driving was injured and is listed in satisfactory condition at West Plains Medical Center. The Mules finally scored in the second period when Carey Sudduth ran nine yards for the touchdown.

Clipping away at the Portales lead in the third quarter, Muleshoe's Julian Dominguez scored on a two-yard run and Tommy St. Clair added the extra point with his kick.

Local Firemen Attend School

Last week local firemen from Muleshoe joined 427 fire fighters from 49 area towns to participate in the Second Canyon Area Fire Control School, which was held at Canyon.

Classes were conducted under the auspices of the Firemen's Training School, Texas A&M University Engineering Extension Service, and were sponsored by the State Firemen's and Fire Marshal's Association. Facilities were provided by the Canyon Fire Department.

Following a brief orientation, the firemen were transported to the drill field where they fought controlled fires in three separate projects, which included L.P.G. fires, truck spill fires, and house fires.

At the completion of the course, certificates were awarded to Earl M. Ladd, Jr., Earl Ladd, Sr., Odell Rasco, Johnny Ziegenfoss, Jerry Maxwell, Wayne Wauson, and Jack R. Rennels.

Also, J.O. Parker, David A. Parker, Danny McNeil, Bob

Copeland, Richard Alsop, Robert A. Berry, and Ellen Ladd.

Area Girls With Tex-Anns Group

Two area girls, Debbie Ferguson of Three-Way and Beverly McCamish of Muleshoe, are members of the Tex-Anns, a women's dance and drill team at South Plains College, who marched Saturday, October 4, in the annual Harvest Festival Parade at Brownfield. The parade was held at 10 a.m. down Brownfield's main street.

In addition to marching routines, the Tex-Anns also are preparing a new routine for a performance at the Texans' first basketball home game November 13 against Hill College. The Tex-Anns also are scheduled to perform during the annual Homecoming and Parent Day activities on November 15, said Mrs. Mary Shea, Tex-Ann Director.

Bailey County Hosts Meet

Bailey County Judge Glen Williams, chairman of the Criminal Justice Advisory Committee, played host to the committee when they met in Muleshoe Thursday, October 2, in the hospitality room at the Muleshoe State Bank.

Judge Williams presented certificates for diligent service to members present.

The Committee approved a request for second year funding for the Hale County Major Crime Control Unit. This unit was organized for Hale County and is a pilot program, to help combat drug abuse in Hale County. Judge Williams said the program has brought about state-wide and national attention, and as a result, could bring about other such projects on a district level.

It was noted during the meeting that there was a little money left over from funding of the new 15-county law enforcement communications project which could be utilized by cities and counties who need additional radio equipment. Some funds are also available for other technical equipment needed by law enforcement agencies and that some requests have been received from several cities and counties in this district.

The Committee authorized the staff to prepare application for a grant for this equipment. The Criminal Justice Committee will buy the equipment and give it to the counties and cities who have requested same.

Lloyd Watts, Chief Juvenile Probation Officer in Lubbock, was reappointed chairman of the Criminal Justice Committee will buy the equipment and give it to the counties and cities who have requested same.

Lloyd Watts, Chief Juvenile Probation Officer in Lubbock, was reappointed chairman of the Criminal Justice Planning Sub-Committee. Judge Williams said this committee is the group that draw up the Criminal Justice Plan for the next year. He pointed out that the plan must be drawn up by April c next year.

Information is compiled for each county, concerning crime, where the communities are deficient, where their needs are and what can be done to help them. These are all put in a plan, each is assigned a priority, and if the programs are included Cont. on Page 2, col. 1

Publication Aimed At Reducing Calf Loss

Cattlemen could prevent some calf losses at birth if they just know what steps to take to help the cow. Now a publication has been prepared by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service that will help cattlemen deal with calving problems.

The publication is titled "Recognizing and Handling Calving Problems" and is authored by John R. Beverly, Extension animal reproduction specialist. It guides cattlemen through the calving process and Cont. on Page 2, Col. 1.

National 4-H Week Set For Oct. 5-11

COLLEGE STATION -- 4-H boys and girls throughout Texas and the nation will join in a salute to America's Bicentennial celebration during the National 4-H Week, Oct. 5-11.

The annual observance, with this year's theme of "4-H -- '76. . . Spirit of Tomorrow," is designed to accent the history, ideals and goals of the 4-H program, points out Dr. Don Stormer, state 4-H and youth leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Many county groups are planning special events, service projects and recruitment drives during National 4-H Week," notes Stormer. "It's a special time when 4-H is recognized for its contributions to the growth and development of youth."

Boosters Plan Carnival

The Muleshoe Fine Arts Boosters met Sept. 29, 1975 and discussed plans for the Halloween Carnival.

It was decided that the carnival will be held Saturday night, Oct. 25, 1975, in the Muleshoe High School Bus Barn. This carnival is held annually for people of all ages.

All organizations or clubs wishing to have a booth in the carnival this year need to contact Owen Jones or Duane Lloyd at 272-3562.

It is important to do this as soon as possible.

RECEIVES CERTIFICATES . . . Members of the Criminal Justice Advisory Committee who were in Muleshoe for their regular monthly meeting were presented certificates honoring them for their diligent service. Making the presentation was Bailey County Judge Glen Williams, who is chairman of the Criminal Justice Advisory Committee. (l-r) Edward Barkley, adult probation supervisor, Northeast area; Judge Williams; Harry Hamilton, vice-president Texas Boys Ranch; Robert Work, Crosby County Judge; Glenn Farmer, Director Major Crime Control, Plainview; Jan Holleman, regional deaf education; Jean Sterns, misdemeanor probation officer, Hale County and Bill Angel, Lamb County Judge.

Safe Tractor Operation, Law

Farmers and ranchers whose employees operate tractors are now required to train these employees on the safe operation of tractors, especially regarding the prevention of rollovers. This training shall be provided at the time of initial assignment and at least annually thereafter. The required training became effective June 1 and is a part of the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA), which also requires all agricultural tractors (except the "low profile types") to be manufactured with roll-over protective structures (ROPS) and seat belts after Oct. 25, 1976.

"Low profile" tractors may be operated without ROPS while being used in orchards or vineyards where vertical clearance requirements of the protective structures would interfere with normal operations. However, even exempted tractors must have ROPS attached when operating under conditions not covered by the exemption.

The required tractor safety training includes the following operating instructions:

1. Securely fasten the seat belt if the tractor has a ROPS.
2. Where possible, avoid operating the tractor near ditches, embankments, and holes.
3. Reduce speed when turning, crossing slopes, and on rough, slick or muddy surfaces.
4. Stay off slopes too steep for safe operation.
5. Watch the direction, especially at row ends, on roads and around trees.

6. Do not permit others to ride.
7. Operate the tractor smoothly no jerky turns, starts or stops.
8. Hitch only to the drawbar and hitch points recommended by the tractor manufacturer.
9. When the tractor is stopped, set the brakes securely and use the park lock if available.

Operators of tractors equipped with ROPS are required to wear seat belts to keep them inside the protective structure in case of a turnover. Operators of tractors without ROPS should not wear seat belts.

both tells and shows them how to give assistance, points out Spencer Tankley, county Extension agent.

If a cow does not successfully give birth to a live calf, the total management and feed cost invested in her is lost. Research indicates that 80 per cent of all calf deaths occur at or near birth and that calving difficulty accounts for 75 per cent of these. Further more, calving problems are most common in heifers giving birth to their first calves—more than half usually have calving problems.

Since the reproductive capability of a cow, that of conception, gestation and parturition, is by far the most important economic factor in cow-calf production, good management of the cow herd is of vital importance, emphasizes Tankley. And, if calving problems develop, cattlemen should be able to recognize these and provide assistance.

The new publication on calving problems should be of value to all cattle producers in Bailey County. And, with the fall calving season approaching, the information it provides might be put to firsthand use. The county agent invites all cattlemen to stop by the county Extension office for a copy of "Recognizing and Handling Calving Problems."

7.2 million youth between the ages of 9 and 19 are currently enrolled in 4-H, with more than 215,000 of these in Texas. More than 21,000 volunteer adult and youth leaders assist with local 4-H programs in the state.

"Although the majority of 4-H members still live on farms and in rural communities, 24 per cent now come from larger urban and suburban areas," notes the 4-H leader. "Well over half the Texas 4-Hers live on farms or in towns of under 10,000 population."

Texas 4-Hers participate in more than 60 educational project areas, with the most popular being food and nutrition, clothing and textiles, and horses and ponies.

"Since its beginning around the turn of the century, 4-H has offered practical learning and citizenship experiences to millions of young people," Stormer points out.

TSTA Sets Up Booth For Fair

AUSTIN—Education from all over Texas can be seen and heard—literally—throughout the 1975 State Fair of Texas in Dallas, through a program planned by the Texas State Teachers Association.

Forty-eight school districts—of all sizes and from all areas of the state—are represented in the TSTA Bicentennial booth—"200 Years of Education in Texas"—in the Better Living Center on the fair grounds.

These schools have sent displays depicting the educational history of their localities during the last 200 years, according to Mrs. Sara Bess McDougald of Nacogdoches, who chairs the special TSTA Bicentennial Committee.

Job Creation Campaign Exceeds Goal

Governor Dolph Briscoe's Job Creation Campaign has exceeded its goals a second time by identifying 18,000 jobs in only four months, according to Reagan Brown, chairman of the Campaign.

The TEXAS FIRST goals set at 4,000 when the program was announced in May were revised upward to 15,000 one month later.

The 18,000 jobs were identified through response from top Texas industrialists to letters sent out by Governor Briscoe offering the state's resources in helping them with economic expansion.

"There seems to be no limit to the number of vacant jobs in Texas," Brown said. "Rather than constantly revising our goals, we're going to see just how far we can go matching Texans with these jobs."

On the drawing boards now are 114 Industrial Start-Up Training programs being designed to meet the employers' specific requirements for workers. The Texas Industrial Commission, Texas Education Agency and local learning institutions are cooperating on this project. "This training will refine the skills of trained workers and guarantee employment for the many unskilled and unemployed Texans sincerely searching for a way to support themselves and their families," Brown said.

Positions and training programs not immediately filled from existing job banks maintained by local prime sponsors of manpower programs and the Texas Employment Commission are posted in local TEC offices across the state.

The Industrial Commission is also working with 34 industries which want to establish branch plants in the state.

Other agencies comprising the Governor's Job Creation Campaign phase of TEXAS FIRST are the Texas Department of Community Affairs and Governor's Division of Planning Coordination.

Weed Control Topic At Meet

LUBBOCK* TX.—Weed control in sorghum was the topic discussed by Dr. A.F. Wiese, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station weed scientist from Bushland, at a Pest Management Conference held for scientists from the USSR and United States on September 29 and 30 at the Hilton Inn. Twelve Russian scientists exchanged information with 25 weed scientists, entomologists, and plant pathologists from Southern United States and California at the conference.

"Twenty-five years ago, weeds plagued American sorghum farmers because herbicides were not available", Wiese told the visitors, "and if weather prevented cultivation of small sorghum, replanting was frequently necessary".

Johnsongrass and field bindweed are the two most perennial weeds that plague sorghum farmers. "It is impossible to grow a profitable sorghum crop on land infested with Johnsongrass", Wiese told the visiting scientists. Common milkweed is another perennial weed that means trouble for farmers in the northern part of the sorghum belt. "Perennial weeds cost 50 to 100 percent of the crop", Wiese continued.

Wild sorghum or shatter cane is the worst annual weed in the crop. Herbicides that kill this pest also kill sorghum. Barnyardgrass and foxtails are hard to control annual grass weeds in the central and northern part of the sorghum belt. Broadleaf signal grass, crabgrass, brown-top panicum, and Texas panicum trouble sorghum growers in central and south Texas. Several species of pigweed grow wherever sorghum is planted. These weeds are easily controlled with herbicides.

"Weeds are expensive to have around", Wiese stated. Studies at the USDA Research Center at Bushland show that one pigweed in 32 feet of 40-inch row will cut irrigated sorghum yield 10 percent. This amounts to 500 pounds of grain, worth about 15 dollars per acre, in an average sorghum crop. In the same study, one pigweed per foot of row cut yields 50 percent. The phenoxy herbicides, 2,4-D and MCPA, were proven safe and effective in the early 1950's. Each year several million acres of the crop are sprayed over for broadleaved weed control with these herbicides.

Propazine or Milogard was the second major advance in chemical weed control for sorghum. "I received my first sample in 1957 and after five years of testing, propazine was ready for farmers", Wiese said. It was the first herbicide that would control both broadleaved and grass weeds in sorghum.

Shortly after propazine was labeled, atrazine was evaluated as a postemergent herbicide for sorghum. Atrazine applied in a non-phytotoxic oil-water emulsion spray carrier would usually control both grass and broadleaved weeds.

In 1968, studies were started to determine the feasibility of applying atrazine and propazine by air. "Our results were almost unbelievable," Wiese stated, "Excellent weed control was obtained when as little as one quart per acre was used to apply one pound of herbicide".

Russian visitors were shown how research can whip a weed problem when studies were described that led to control methods for barnyardgrass in sorghum. In the three year experiment three pounds per acre of propazine, applied prior to planting and incorporated, usually controlled the weed and increased grain yields threefold. If it rained within two weeks after planting, preemergence treatments with high rates of Milogard, Igran and Lorox or Ramrod also controlled barnyardgrass. Unfortunately, many farmers have used low rates of these herbicides and have had bad luck", Wiese continued.

Limited tillage research is improving sorghum production efficiency, the visitors were told. Double cropping sorghum after wheat harvest is feasible when no-tillage planting is used. Sorghum can be planted in wheat stubble the day of harvest and watered up the next. AAtrex controls weeds and volunteer wheat after sorghum emerges. The system is faster than regular tillage and sorghum is seldom hurt by frost. Sorghum plants protected by stubble grows off faster than those on bare soil. In a five year study, by Ron Allen, USDA engineer at Bushland, no-till planted sorghum yielded 500 pounds per acre more than conventionally planted double cropped sorghum. Dr. Paul Unger and Jack Musick, USDA scientists from Bushland, have worked with Wiese to perfect a limited tillage system in a wheat-sorghum-fallow cropping sequence. Wheat stubble is maintained intact and weed-free during the 11-month fallow prior to sorghum planting with 2, 4-D and AAtrex. "Soil moisture storage during that fallow has doubled in most of our experiments compared to regular tillage", Wiese stated, "and sorghum grain yields have been increased about 1500 pounds per acre by the extra soil moisture". The weed scientist stated, "We have good cultural practices and excellent herbicides for controlling weeds in sorghum". Milogard can be used preplant or preemergence. Igran and Lorox or Ramrod each mixed with Milogard are used preemergence.

Farmers can select postemergent herbicides to suit their locality and weed species. Banvel, MCPA and 2,4-D will control broadleaf weeds. MCPA and Banvel are safer to use near cotton than 2,4-D. Karmex and AAtrex are postemergent herbicides that are safe to use near cotton and both have soil residual to control weeds that emerge after treatment", Wiese concluded.*

Pest Management Meet Held

LUBBOCK--A six-member Soviet Union delegation of agricultural scientists met in Lubbock this week with 32 U.S. scientists to exchange scientific information about pest management in crops.

The high level international conference was sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University; Agricultural Research Service--USDA; U.S. Environmental Protection Agency; and Cooperative States Research Service--USDA.

Coordinator of the three-day event at Lubbock's Hilton Inn was Dr. P.L. Adkisson of the Department of Entomology, Texas A&M University, College Station. Billy C. Gunter, district Extension agent and Dr. Don Rummel, Experiment Station entomologist, both of Lubbock, served as hosts.

Rummel said that the conference was called as part of the U.S.-U.S.S.R. scientific exchange program.

Lubbock was selected as a meeting site because of its importance as the center of the most important cotton and grain sorghum production areas in the U.S. and because of the importance of research being conducted on cotton and grain sorghum at the Lubbock Experiment Station.

Rummel said the conference is being used as a way for U.S. and Russian crop production scientists to exchange ideas and information on pest control measures that are of interest to both countries.

The six Russian scientists, Drs. Y. Fadeev, V. Lebedev, K. Novozhilov, V. Shapa, G. Susidko and V. Vasiljan represent universities and agricultural experiment stations at Moscow, Leningrad, Kishinev and outlying areas of the Soviet Union.

The U.S. scientists are from Auburn University, University of California, Michigan State University, Washington State University, Cornell, Texas A&M and USDA and EPA.

Formal lectures were presented at a conference in the Lubbock Hilton Inn Monday and Tuesday. The meeting terminated Wednesday with a tour of experimental plots at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center.

The Soviet delegation was scheduled to go from Lubbock to Weslaco and Mission, Texas to view citrus, vegetable and screwworm fly research. From there they will visit the University of California at Berkeley then return to Washington, D.C. to visit Federal agricultural and environmental laboratories.

"This was a very important meeting for specialists and scientists," said Rummel. "Discussions included topics of importance to the High Plains such as the greenbug on sorghum and the bollworm in cotton."

Reduce Homemaking Efforts

COLLEGE STATION - Homemakers can reduce time and effort spent on household work - if they are willing to make a "standard" shift, Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, a family resource management specialist, says.
"Often, a family must adjust its standards to meet changing situations. For example, they may decide that the second paycheck and personal satisfaction of the employed homemaker are more important than daily vacuuming," she explained.
Mrs. Chenoweth is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
"Another approach to reducing household work time for the homemaker is sharing family responsibilities. And sometimes this means accepting the standards of the person to whom a job is delegated. If children make the beds, they may not look quite as neat as if the homemaker made them - but they'll be made."

Reorganizing chores is another way to ease the homemaker's load. She suggested washing sheets and putting the same ones back on the beds to eliminate time spent folding them.
"This may mean the beds stay unmade longer on laundry day and the sheets wear out sooner - but the homemaker saves time."
"Each family has to make decisions about what satisfies them," she said.

RUIDOSO COUPLE MARRIED - Mr. and Mrs. George W. Chapman announce the marriage of their son, Jeffrey Lynn, of Ruidoso, N.M. to Mrs. Sue Blackwelder of Ruidoso, N.M. Mrs. Jackson came the first of the week to see Mrs. Jessie Lewis.

Mrs. J.B. Harbin visits her mother-in-law, Mrs. Habin.

Mrs. Nonnie Howard is our new social worker here at the nursing home. We are happy to welcome her here and hope she too, will be happy working with us.

Several of Mrs. Brays relatives came to see her this week. Among those visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bray of Norman, Okla. and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bray, of Fredricksburg.

Mrs. Lavada Lassiter came to see her mother, Mrs. Newton, on Thursday morning.

The following is a little prayer I read once that made an impression on my mind and is one that I pray similar too. You too will feel its meaning and can at least pray a part each day. "Give me the strength to meet each day with quick will. God give me faith to know thou art my shepherd still. Give me the light to find my way where shadows fall. Be thou my steady guiding light to find my way where shadows fall. Be thou my steady guiding star, Father of All." This is similar to my daily prayer, for without our Heavenly Father's guidance, how easy it would be to stumble and fall. He will give us strength, faith and guidance, if we go to him in humble prayer.

He who lives at high tension usually blows a fuse.

Classroom Etiquette
"What dirty hands you have, Tommy!" said the young teacher. "What would you say if I came to school without washing my hands?"

DECA Has Mule Shirt

Our DE club in MHS now has a new product in our mercantile store. It is an iron-on Muleshoe Mules Decal, 12 inches by nine inches. The cost is $1.50. Bring in your shirts or sweaters and we'll iron 'em on for you, or you can take 'em home and iron them on yourself. They can be ironed on any color of shirt with an ordinary home iron; and if you wish, our store could start carrying shirts especially for our mule decals. So, get some spirit and wear a mule shirt!

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Early fall is a time when many Texans are trying to locate an apartment, duplex, or house to rent.

And many persons may be depending on getting some professional assistance with the job of finding a suitable spot that fits their pocketbook from a rental listing agency.

Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division suggests that the selection of a rental listing agency be made with care, since reports from other states indicate that some consumers have had problems involving misleading or deceptive trade practices in dealing with a few such firms.

Rental listing agencies operate by charging a fee to persons who want to gain access to their special listings of rental property, since most such agencies obtain exclusive contracts with owners to advertise and rent their property.

Some rental listing services specialize in property in certain areas of town. Others specialize in certain types of rental units, such as efficiency apartments, luxury townhouses, or duplex units.

Thus, persons interested only in certain types of rent property or property only in a certain location, may save a great deal of time and effort they might otherwise have spent in looking at property that doesn't meet their needs or wants by dealing with a listing agency.

Real estate advertisements placed in the newspapers by such rental listing agencies may sound like ads placed by owners or real estate brokers, except that the agency name, and sometimes the stipulation "fee," may appear in the ad.

Problems for some consumers have involved rental listing agencies that operate in such a way that consumers sometimes pay a fee to get information they could have obtained free.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys have learned that some rental listing agencies charge customers from $20 to $30 to check their "exclusive listings," when those listings amount to nothing more than a duplicate of newspaper ad clippings.

Other persons have been attracted by a listing agency's advertisement for a particularly appealing property, visited the agency, and agreed to pay the required fee in order to get more information about the listing.

It's only then that they have discovered the property they're interested in is "no longer available," or that the ad misrepresented the quality or size of the apartment, duplex, or house.

Consumers who have such problems with a rental listing agency should contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, the county or district attorney, or the local Better Business Bureau.

And our Consumer Protection attorneys remind consumers that many resources are available for shopping for rent property. Friends, relatives, and classified ads can supply information about possible apartments or houses. And some landlords pay the fee themselves to list their rent property with a real estate broker who then advertises it in the paper.

The Lieutenant Governor's Report

By Bill Hobby

9.19.75

AUSTIN -- On September 8, the Governor's Energy Advisory Council graduated to a new level of responsibility and brought the State of Texas closer to a comprehensive state energy policy. On that date the first meeting of the new Governor's Energy Advisory Council was held in accordance with new legislation passed last spring.

The passage of the bill introduced by Senator Max Sherman of Amarillo was the Legislature's diploma to the Council for successful completion of its initial two-year responsibility.

Created by executive order by Governor Dolph Briscoe on May 10, 1973, the Governor's Energy Advisory Council completed this year an assessment program that is acclaimed throughout the nation as the best documented and most thought out program anywhere in the country.

The council, consisting of representatives of consumers, labor, industry, and numerous state officials produced approximately 50 reports on different aspects of the energy picture in Texas. Each report is widely hailed as the authoritative source in the field and has been distributed throughout business and government circles for use in planning for the future.

The new Council consists of the governor as chairman, the lieutenant governor as vice-chairman, the speaker of the House, the attorney general, the chairman of the Railroad Commission, the commissioner of Agriculture, the commissioner of the General Land Office, the comptroller, a member of the Senate, and a member of the House of Representatives as voting members.

The bill also calls for the creation of an advisory committee to the Council comprised of the heads of other state agencies and citizens representing a balanced cross section of socio-economic, geographic, and economic segments of the state.

The Council is charged with the broad responsibility of developing a coordinated, comprehensive state energy policy to be implemented by all agencies of state government.

More specifically, the Council is to develop and maintain an energy data base system, to provide and improve the econometric modeling of the state's economy, to analyze manpower needs for anticipated and desired developments in the economy in light of expected energy situations, to assess technological developments in the field of energy, to maintain an awareness of all energy related research of importance to the state, to promote the exchange and coordination of information regarding such energy research and development, to monitor and review existing and proposed policies of state and federal agencies in regard to the energy impact, and to recommend legislation and executive action to implement a state energy policy.

EXPERIENCE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERY HOME

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

CORNER CATCHER
The only center pivot in the world that hits the corners.

In a typical quarter section where a regular center pivot is irrigating 132 acres, you can now do about 150 acres. But the new Valley Corner System isn't limited to squares. Irrigate both ends of a rectangle. Irrigate odd shaped pieces of land too. It's the answer to getting valuable productive land that's been wasted, back under center pivot irrigation. For flood irrigators, it's also the answer to automatic water and labor saving center pivot, without wasting valuable acres. No monitoring, no labor problems, no night work. But you have all the advantages of precise irrigation and fertilizer application through the system, that produces higher yields than ever before. It's a simple concept, precise in operation and engineered with quality of all Valley-built Center Pivots. VALLEY

Texas Taxes

Austin-AN URGENT MESSAGE FOR ANYONE THINKING OF BUYING A BUSINESS IN TEXAS:

You better check carefully to see if the business you are buying owes the state delinquent sales taxes.

If it does, you are buying a problem. You are buying the responsibility for paying off that delinquency.

The Comptroller's Department wants to save you from that pitfall.

Information about any possible delinquent sales taxes is something every business buyer should have in hand before closing any deal.

The lawyers call this "successor liability". In plain English that means that the new owner is responsible for tax debts left behind by the former owner.

The law actually requires the new owner to withhold the amount of any delinquent taxes from the purchase price of the business, but as a practical matter many deals are already closed and paid before the new owner finds out about the back taxes.

We are moving to correct this by making certain all new owners are aware of what can happen and by speeding up the information they need.

We first find out that a business is changing hands when the new owner comes to one of our district offices for a sales tax permit in the new name. It is at this point that we want to emphasize to the new owner that the tax liability goes along with the business.

For immediate protection this should stop any closing of any deal in which there are questions. Previously the possibility of a tax liability wasn't brought to the new owner's attention until the sales tax permit application went through some time-consuming channels, and by that time it was often too late.

Once the possibility of situation has been identified we can act quickly through our computers to get the new owner the necessary information.

Most new business owners have a hard enough time starting out without facing an unpleasant surprise of a delinquent tax notice.

Totally unconnected with good, honest business buyers, we have found some cases of fraudulent operators trying to change their business names from time to time to avoid paying taxes. They think they can tell us that they are a brand new business and not a successor to the former business.

I would strongly warn all such frauds that this doesn't work. The law is on the side of the state.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith, from Hurst, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Price and son Timmy, from Plains, Miss Jackie Withrow, of Muleshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maxwell, Bula, and children of the home Jeff, Jarrod, Karla, and Mrs. Withrow and a friend, Steve Danford, of New Deal.

Trinity Baptist Church Slates Revival Meeting

The members of Trinity Baptist Church of Muleshoe and their Pastor, David C. Everts, are announcing their Fall Revival, October 5-12.

The meeting will begin in an unusual way by the premiere showing of the widely proclaimed movie "The Burning Hell". Dr. R.G. Lee, famed Southern Baptist Evangelist comments regarding this film - "A Burning Hell" - I saw and heard the movie . . . "A Burning Hell". It is most effective in presentation of the awful reality of a hell as the Bible presents it. This movie should bring joy and gratitude to the saved, since the saved will never go to Hell. It should awaken the unsaved to repentance and to the need to have Christ for Saviour, so they can escape Hell. I pray that God will use this film to the salvation of many. I believe it will."

Paul Chambliss
Because the evident horrors of a literal Hell may cause emotional stress to younger children, there will be a simultaneous showing of the film "Survival" in the fellowship hall of the Trinity Baptist Church. This film has been proclaimed as outstanding in its effect upon all age groups.

US CrimeRate Rose 13 Percent

Suburban areas reported 15 and 14 percent increases respectively. Wallace says big government no friend.

This compares with a 16 percent increase recorded in the first six months of 1974 over a similar period in 1973. Mr. Levi noted that the rate of increase showed a slight drop for the first half of this year when compared with other recent increases. Serious crime for all 1974, for example, was 17 percent higher than in 1973 and, during the first quarter of 1975, rose 18 percent over the same period a year ago.

Mr. Kelley said the property crimes of burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft collectively increased 13 percent. Burglary and larceny-theft rose 14 percent each, while motor vehicle theft was up 4 percent. Cities with 100,000 or more inhabitants reported a 12 percent increase in the volume of serious crime. Rural and the Christ, who died in love for the undeserving and as the Living Lord of all creation. I recommend that the residents of our area make every effort to see and hear this dedicated servant of God."

Bro. Everts reports that there will be a nursery provided for toddlers and babies of those who attend.

In further comments regarding the film "The Burning Hell", Bro. Everts said "I realize that many may be appalled with the severity of the illustration that is used to depict the nature of eternal punishment presented in the film but question whether the human mind is capable of putting in human terms the reality of Hell. Surely anything our human mind might conceive about Hell would not be sufficient to describe the punishment God has prepared for Satan, and the Christ rejecting. We are not showing the film to promote emotional scare-tactics, but I do believe we must warn the people of Bible fact."

RATES TO INCREASE
The U.S. Export-Import Bank said it would increase its maximum interest rates from 9 to 9 1/2 per cent in order to increase earnings and improve the bank's competitive position with foreign lenders.

For Rent

You're doing without a Zimmatic center pivot. Saving your hard-earned capital for other improvements. Don't want to borrow right now.

But it's costing you money every year you wait. Two ways. First, you're losing the extra crop production you get under irrigation. Second, inflation is at work. Boosting prices, dropping the value of your dollars.

Why not rent a Zimmatic under our new lease plan? Let the system pay for itself and put some extra money in the bank for you at the same time.

Our rates are reasonable. You can include freight, installation, pump . . . other "above ground" items in one flexible package, tailored to your needs. Why wait to irrigate? It's just costing you money. Call us today for details on our new lease plan.
