Meet Will Highlight Water, Agriculture

Water and agriculture will be the topics of concern at the 12th Annual Membership Meeting of Water, Inc. in Lubbock Saturday, in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown and Congressman Kent Hance headline the program which will begin at 9:15 a.m. in Room 111 of the Civic Center.

Hance, who in this, his first term in Congress has been named to the powerful House Agriculture Committee, will deliver the keynote address after the meeting is convened. Commissioner Brown, who is noted for his humorous addresses, will be the luncheon speaker.

Registration for the meeting begins at 8 a.m. in Room 111 and costs $7.50 per person. The registration fee includes the cost of the luncheon at which Brown will speak. The meeting is open to the public.

Other participants on the program will be Harvey Davis, the executive director of the Texas Department of Water Resources; Dale Raitt, assistant regional director for the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation; and Harvey O. Banks, the project director of the High Plains Ogallala Study which is being conducted by the engineering firm of Camp, Dresser and McKee, Inc.

Water, Inc., Executive Director Duncan Ellison said, "The program brings together several experts who are working at solving the problem of a declining water supply in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. While this is a regional problem, it will have national and worldwide implications because our water availability is tied directly to our agricultural productivity."

Gas Rationing 'Not Likely' In Near Future

Local gas wholesalers say they have no information about possible gas rationing.

Contacted Tuesday afternoon Leon Warren, Phillips '66 gas jobber said they have had no supply cutback and have received no information on a possible rationing procedure.

Gary Dale said Gulf has issued no orders to suppliers to cut back, and said he does not look for any problems in the near future.

He said most of Gulf's supplies came from Kuwait and Paraguay, and Gulf deals very little with Iran.

The Journal was unable to contact a spokesman for Texaco or Conoco, but the general consensus is that, at least for the present time, gas supplies in this area are not in any immediate danger.

Springlake-Earth Volleyball Tourney Scheduled Soon

Radford Tylor of the Springlake-Earth Athletic Department said the AD will sponsor a men and women's volleyball tournament March 5, 6-8, 9 and 10 in the Springlake-Earth High School gym.

Taylor said the tournament will be double elimination and team trophies will be presented first through third and consolation, as well as individual trophies to the first and second place players in each division.

Deadline is Tuesday, February 27, to enter and entry fee is $20 per team, according to Taylor.

Entries may be reserved by writing him at the Springlake-Earth High School, P.O. Box 436, Earth, Texas 79031. For additional information, call Taylor at 257-3819 or 257-3310.

Without adequate water over the long term," Ellison continued, "our agricultural production will decrease. The ultimate impact will be higher prices for the American consumer and decreased commodities for export. That result would be bad for the American economy."

Leading off the Water, Inc., program will be Hance who was sworn into Congress last month, replacing George Mahon from the 19th District. Hance, a native of Dimmitt, served in the Texas Senate for four years. He is a graduate of Texas Tech University and the University of Texas School of Law.

Brown was appointed Texas Agriculture Commissioner in 1977 and subsequently was elected to a full term last year. Since he became commissioner, he has become one of the most sought after speakers in Texas because of his wit and knowledge of agriculture. He is a graduate of Texas A&M University.

As head of the Texas Department of Water Resources, Harvey Davis oversees the state agency which works to insure the state has water of adequate quantity and quality to meet future needs. Before heading up the TDWR, Davis was executive director of the Texas Soil and Water Conservation Board. He is a graduate of the University of Houston.

In the five years that Dale Raitt has been assistant regional director for the Reclamation Bureau, he has been involved in the planning, construction and operation of 40 water projects in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado. The University of Nebraska graduate has worked with the Bureau for 30 years.

Government Awesome Says Johnny St. Clair

Johnny St. Clair, Guy Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Kittrell returned to Muleshoe from Washington, D.C., and Johnny St. Clair came home with some distinctive impressions of the plight faced by farmers lobbying in Washington.

He said his impression of government is "awesome" and "things a person has to go through there to get something done is next to impossible."

According to St. Clair, he visited with Texas representatives and with Texas senators, and attended meetings conducted by both Senator Lloyd Bentsen and Senator John Tower, who met with Texas delegations.

St. Clair said Bentsen was questioned closely about the new senate building, which is costing in excess of $200 million and said Bentsen was asked about voting for the new and expensive building, plus Bentsen's vote to add additional millions to complete the building.

Senator Tower was very encouraging and made several helpful suggestions for the farmers to check with and visit different buildings and senators.

He added that Senator Tower was instrumental in getting National Wagonmaster Gerald McCathern of Hereford on the "Good Morning, America" show in rebuttal of statements made by Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

"I think it's a crying shame that any group has to go to the extremes to get the attention of Capitol Hill and to get news coverage," added St. Clair, as he spoke about the tractorcade and events that occurred when the tractorcade reached Washington, D.C. on February 5.

He added, "They (the farmers) just wanted people to know they were in trouble and were willing to sacrifice time and money to try to help force a change that they wouldn't have to leave the rural farms and move to cities."

St. Clair stated that he thought progress had been made in that Secretary Bergland agreed to meet with American Agriculture Movement leaders and said Bergland agreed to look into the matter of parity on a deeper level.

According to St. Clair, in a visit with Senator Steinhilf, the senator assured him the Agriculture Department agreed to hold the agriculture hearings much earlier than they had in the past, with the meetings getting underway this week, as farmers said they planned to stay in Washington, "until we get what we want."

Scheduled to testify before the agriculture committee are members of the American Agriculture Movement, WIFE and the Farm Bureau.

St. Clair also said newly elected Senator Hance of Lubbock is "doing a world of good for us."

He visited with Larry Myers, graduate of Muleshoe High School, now employed in Washington, D.C. and said Myers was optimistic about what farmers will be able to do in the next two years.

Secretary Bergland is expected to ask for a voluntary set aside program as he cannot order a mandatory set aside. He is further expected to support the 90 percent of parity on loans if the voluntary set aside goal is met.

"There's one thing for sure," concluded St. Clair, "The Senators and Representatives are now really aware that everything is not okay, and they are beginning to go out and ask the farmers questions."

Returning from Washington, D.C. a local group who made the first trip with the tractorcade issued the following statement. It is signed by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Killough and David; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Williams; Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Kittrell; Kem Bales and Sonny Kelton.

The statement is as follows: It is impossible to describe our caravan to anyone. Words cannot begin to convey the gamut of emotions that run through a person's head and heart as we travel toward our goal.

Look at the caravan; the first thing that stands out, are the tractors, proudly flying "Old Glory", and state and American Agriculture Movement flags. Then you notice the support vehicles flying similar flags. Then you must read the signs and quotations that are carried on many of the tractorcade vehicles. These signs express despair, anger, frustration, humor and even Biblical quotations.

Look most closely, though, at the participants. These people, men and women, range in age from 12 years to 70 years, roughly, and they all exhibit strength, determination, and a fierce love for their God, their country and for each other. These people know that they are probably the last hope for a dying way of life. These people have enough courage to disrupt their lives and their families for a chance to help each other. These are the people who have been seen by thousands of Americans, as they write their page in the history books of our country.

One can stand beside the highways many times a day and watch the procession go by and it will always send a chill down your spine. If you have any love for your country, you will find that your eyes are moist. You will notice, though, that the same things have happened to people around you, and you feel proud to be a part of such a happening. At the same time, you feel humble, that your part seems so small, and others are doing so much more than you.

You wish that the people back home could be here to see the thousands of people who daily line the road sides and overpasses waving flags and signs and cheering as the tractorcade rolls grandly past, you know, however, that without the people back home to watch our farms and businesses, and send their contributions, it would be impossible for most of us to be here. This is truly a united effort among all farmers of our country.

So we travel on our way, amazed and gratified by the hospitality and good wishes of all the people that we come in contact with. We realize that not all people agree with us or even understand our purpose, but now, they are willing to listen. Maybe our display of determination by driving tractors thousands of miles is working even better than we had hoped. People seem to realize that something is met.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek comes to the defense of Congress this week, perhaps.

Dear editor: Sometimes it is hard to believe what you read in the paper. For instance, an article in a newspaper that turned up out here the other day reported that both the House and Senate in Washington are having trouble finding members to serve on their Ethics Committees.

This puzzled me. I thought all members of Congress wanted on committees so if they lived long enough and kept getting re-elected they would eventually become chairmen and powerful and could hold the job until they retired or were indicted, whichever came first. Then I got to thinking. It is statesmanship that keeps members from accepting appointment to the Ethics Committee.

For example, you would not expect a Congressman from the Bronx to serve on the Agriculture Committee. "It would not be fair," he would say. "I could not represent agriculture, that is out of my field. Don't know anything about it."

So, you ask somebody to serve on the Ethics Committee and naturally he declines. "That is out of my field. Don't know anything about it." That makes sense. You would not want a line-backer in charge of atomic energy, would you? Or an illiterate teaching college English? Or a football coach running the New York Times?

We've got to stop criticizing Congress. If members don't feel they are qualified in the field of ethics, it is to their credit that they decline, in a statesman-like way, to serve on any Ethics Committee.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

SURPLUS PANHANDLE TURKEYS TRAPPED

Recent trapping operations by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department netted the biologists 50 wild turkeys which were transported to southeast Texas and released in areas with little or no turkey populations.

"The weather has hampered our attempts to catch the Rio Grande turkeys, but, we finally made a good drop on a ranch near Clarendon and removed 17 gobblers and 37 hens from the large flock of birds," said David Rideout, wildlife biologist.

"We used the standard drop net with grain as bait but the wind blew parts of the net down twice during the trapping operations," Rideout continued.

Only surplus turkeys are removed from the huge flocks of turkeys sometimes numbering up to 500 birds. Ample breeding stock of turkeys are left at each site as the P&WD continues its statewide turkey restoration program.

The flocking characteristic of wild turkeys can be detrimental if the flocks become too large for the natural food supply. Supplemental feeding by landowners often increases the flocks and the potential threat of a turkey disease spreading through the birds is multiplied.

The 50 turkeys caught and removed during the recent operations were transported to southeast Texas and stocked on predetermined sites approved by P&WD specialists.

The areas chosen for this particular stocking are located on the border between the normal range of the Rio Grande and the eastern wild turkey in Texas. The Rio Grande turkey which inhabits all of central Texas from the Panhandle to the coast, is the most numerous species in Texas sometimes numbering a half million birds.

FISHING FEVER HITS

The least little bit of warm weather seems to have a marked affect on Texas anglers.

The first symptom is a flexing of the casting arm and the only sure cure is several hours of throwing a bass lure, chunk of catfish

Rural Hero Search 'On'

Some deserving individual who has performed an act of exceptional bravery during a time of crisis will receive the 1978 Rural Heroism Award sponsored by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council.

The council sponsors the annual award program to help promote safety in rural areas, notes Dr. Gary Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and vice president for farm and ranch with the Texas Safety Association.

Anyone aware of an individual who risked his or her life to save another is asked to submit a nomination. All entries must be submitted by March 5 to the Rural Heroism Award Committee, Texas Farm and Ranch Council, P.O. Box 489, Waco, Tx. 76703.

According to Nelson, the heroic act or deed must have occurred in Texas during 1978 and should be related to farming or ranching operations.

Nominations should include a written account of the incident and names, addresses and phone numbers of all persons involved.

Newspaper clippings and pictures should also accompany nominations if available.

The 1978 Rural Heroism Award will be presented at the opening general session of the 40th Annual Texas Safety Conference and Exposition, March 25-28, at the Shamrock Hilton in Houston.

bait or fly on some stretch of water.

Another symptom among anglers is the desire to look through the tackle box and determine what replacements will be necessary.

To keep the fishing urge alive till the ice goes out, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department suggests you go ahead with the annual project of cleaning out the tackle box, repairing and oiling reels and replacing the spools with new fishing line.

A check should be made of all lures and hooks for bent, broken or dull points. Replacement hooks are available at all tackle shops now as are all the new lures and tackle.

Don't forget to inspect the fishing rods. Check all ferrules or guides for wear and possible replacement. Also inspect the bindings for frayed or broken thread. A little varnish or clear finger nail polish could put the bindings in good shape.

While you are checking your fishing gear, remember to inspect the boat, motor, trailer, trolling motor, life preservers, personal flotation devices, paddles and depth indicator.

Make sure your boat is currently registered with the P&WD if it is to be used on public waters. The expiration date is stamped on the current P&WD decal on your boat.

Repairs to electronic gear may take a few weeks and now is the time to get the gear repaired by either local technicians or send the devices to the repair centers.

Whatever you do now with your time will keep the fishing fever alive and ready for the warm spring winds to blow away the ice and cold exposing the varied lakes and streams you will want to try in Texas.

LUBBOCK GETS NEW WARDEN

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department graduated 26 new game wardens last month and one of these officers will be stationed in the Lubbock district.

Robert Guevara, a 28 year old native of Marfa, is assigned to work Lubbock, Terry and Lynn counties on the South Plains of Texas.

Guevara and the other 24 men and one woman studied and trained for 4 1/2 months at the game warden school before successfully completing the final test Jan. 19, 1979.

Guevara along with the other new wardens are trained in the enforcement of game, fish and water safety regulations. Specialized training was completed in civil defense, handling of all types of firearms, search and seizure and court procedures. The new wardens are also commissioned as peace officers in Texas.

Guevara, his wife, Rose Marie and son and daughter moved to Lubbock last week as the new game warden began his duties with the law enforcement of the P&WD Feb. 1, 1979.

Consumer Food News

Best food buys at Texas grocery markets this week include potatoes, poultry items, canned fruits and vegetables and items "on special."

Also, pork values appear in some markets, reports Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This week's price quality trends are the following: Fresh Vegetables -- Potatoes are an "A-1" bargain with excellent quality and big supplies -- from the largest crop in U.S. history. Their prices are lower than last year's.

Dry onions have feature prices in some markets although overall prices are up.

Green peppers and cucumbers from Mexico have excellent quality and low prices. Cabbage and carrots are economical choices in spite of a price increase.

Good quality broccoli has moderate prices. Lettuce prices are high, and prices on rutabagas are up since many were frozen in storage.

Fresh Fruits-- Look for values on apples, pears, bananas, avocados and pineapple. Grapefruit reflects adequate supply levels, but oranges and tangerines are limited. Freezing weather conditions have sent many oranges to the juice plants.

Poultry-- Some whole fryers have lower prices and eggs are an economical protein choice. Look for scattered features on chicken hens and turkey parts. Grocery Market Aisles -- Features include canned fruits and a variety of processed vegetables. Also, peanut butter, rice and tuna fish have special prices.

Dairy -- Features are milk, yogurt, margarine and several cheeses.

Pork -- For shoppers with freezers, good values appear on family packs of ribs and loin halves of pork loin. Boston butts and liver may have feature prices.

Beef -- Specials appear on chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, rib steaks and liver.

Consumer Watchwords -- Moneywise, potatoes offer more energy than other vegetables. One 90 calorie medium sized potato gives Vitamin C, thiamine, niacin, iron, phosphorus and potassium.

TSTI Celebrates Vocational Week

TSTI Amarillo joins with other vocational schools around the nation in recognizing National Vocational Education Week, February 11-17. This special week was first established by the American Vocational Association and has since been recognized by the Congress of the United States and the State of Texas.

The main purpose of Vocational Education Week is to recognize the growing and important need for vocational education in connection with preparing individuals for satisfying careers and meeting the employment needs of business and industry.

Since TSTI Amarillo opened its doors in 1930, 1537 students have received training from one of TSTI's regular occupational and technological programs. More than 80% of these graduates are working in their primary field of training with about 10% working related vocational areas.

Current enrollment for the winter quarter at Amarillo's only full-time, residential vocational training school is just above the 600 mark. That is almost 10% above last year's winter enrollment of 553.

More than 10,100 individuals have been trained through TSTI's Adult Continuing Education Program since 1970. This included Adult Education, Industrial Start-Up Program, Industrial Start-Up Program, and Special Training Programs. The latest project of TSTI's Industrial Start-Up Program is with the new Owen's Corning Fiberglass Plant south of Amarillo. The Electronics Department at TSTI is working with 28 students in connection with training in industrial instrument operations.

Almost all students that come to TSTI want top quality, professional training in the shortest time possible with immediate entry into the labor market upon graduation. A good example is two graduates that finished the Aircraft Mechanics Program.

Mike Flaherty is a 29 year old resident of Happy and 24 year old Joe Vaughn lives south of Tulia. Both finished Aircraft Mechanics in 1975 and 76 respectively and both work for Joe's father who also goes by the same name as Joe Vaughn's Spraying Service located about 2 miles north of Kress. Their story is typical of most students who finished vocational programs. Both are working in a trade of their choice, enjoying what they are doing and making a good living. Both attribute their success to the training that they received at TSTI. Flaherty said that the Aircraft Mechanics program provided him with a good basic knowledge of all aircraft systems and that the training aids and instruction were excellent. Vaughn says that he recommends the program to anyone interested in aircraft mechanics.

SHEILA RADAWN LAURA GARNER

The birthday cake was

Safety Tips For Using A Microwave Oven

Proper use of a new microwave oven can make it an energy and time saver, says Bonnie Peirnot, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

As with all appliances, care will increase the length of service it can give, she explains.

The following information will help the homemaker enjoy her new microwave oven.

READ INSTRUCTIONS
Read the instruction book carefully, the specialist advises.

This is of vital importance with a microwave oven. Learn the oven features in order to know what the appliance is able to do and to give the consumer confidence in using the appliance.

KEEP DOOR SEALS IN TOP NOTCH SHAPE

Keep door seals on microwave ovens in top notch condition, Mrs. Peirnot urges. Regularly, clean both sides of the door, door gasket and the door closure area with a warm, sudsy cloth.

Food particle build up can prevent proper door closure and create a hazard.

Do not attempt to operate the microwave oven if the gasket or seal is damaged or if particles of food have built up around the closure area, she cautions.

DON'T ABUSE DOOR

Never allow anyone to pull on the microwave oven door, lean on it or mistreat it in any way -- proper and permanent close fit of the door is vitally important.

CHOOSE PROPER UTENSILS

Cooking in the microwave oven means learning to do things differently than before, including choosing proper utensils, the specialist points out.

Don't use melamine plastics, nylons and metals -- including metal or metal core utensils -- for microwave cookery.

However, metal foils can be used to keep parts of meat or poultry from overcooking. Avoid using plastic utensils with products containing large amounts of fats or sugar, she says.

Fat and sugar become hot very quickly in a microwave oven and could melt the plastic.

Different colors of utensils absorb microwaves at different rates.

This trait might cause breakage of two tone dishes due to different expansion rates.

Use this test to see if a dish is safe for use in a microwave oven:

- Place the empty dish and one ovenproof cup of water in the oven.
- Operate the oven for one and one half minutes.
- Remove the dish from the oven.
- If hot, it should not be used in the oven.
- If cool, it is suitable for microwave oven use.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Raymond T. Moore, M.D.,
Commissioner

During this cold weather season, many of us will suffer from bouts with the most prevalent disease affecting our population--the common cold.

Even though there is probably very little we can do about it, maybe understanding the common cold will help some, says the Texas Department of Health.

Just what is a cold? "The common cold is a name given to any of a number of short-lived viral infections of the nose and throat. All of these infections are highly contagious and have similar symptoms," says Dr. Jerome H. Greenberg, Deputy Commissioner for Preventable Diseases.

"Sometimes these infections are called by other names, which simply tell you what part of the upper respiratory tract is particularly affected. For example, rhinitis affects the nose, pharyngitis the throat, and laryngitis the voice box."

What causes a cold? Dr. Greenberg points out there are many different viruses which cause a cold. A virus is a disease-producing agent so small that it goes right through the very fine filters that stop bacteria. The cold-causing viruses are present in great numbers in your nose when you have a cold. They are carried on the droplets you expel when talking, coughing, or sneezing.

How do you catch a cold? Even though science doesn't know exactly how or why, a number of conditions seem to increase your susceptibility. "People appear to catch colds mainly indoors," says Dr. Greenberg. "They get more of them during the colder months. Fatigue, chilling, and poor physical condition seem to give the virus a better foothold."

What's the course of a cold? From two to seven days after the virus takes hold in your body, the symptoms appear. Other people, however, can catch your cold even before the symptoms appear, and this is one reason why colds are so hard to prevent. Within a few hours, your nose gets stuffy and you have vague feelings of discomfort and illness. Usually you start sneezing, too.

Within 48 hours, your cold is in full bloom--eyes teary, nose running, voice husky, breathing obstructed, and your senses of taste and smell dulled. You may feel lethargic and achy. It's common to have a moderate headache and you may have some fever, although that's unusual in adults.

What's the best way to ward off a cold? "It really sounds a little too simple," says Dr. Greenberg, "but it's up to the body to resist colds, and the better condition your body is in--the better resistance you will have. You should stay in good health, get plenty of rest, practice good nutrition, exercise, and wear the proper clothing for the weather."

Dr. Greenberg said it is almost impossible not to be in contact with people who have colds. "But, if you know someone who has a cold, don't let them cough on you," he said. "In return, if you have a cold, avoid coughing without covering up and don't talk right in someone's face. Everyone has the responsibility to try to avoid exposing others."

Sore Throat Nature's Warning of Illness

Does your throat hurt? If so, you may console yourself with the knowledge that you have plenty of company.

Sore throat is one of the more common physical discomforts that plague most of us from time to time.

Sore throat is nature's warning system that something in your body is out of order, says the American Medical Association.

Often a sore throat accompanies a common cold, and the soreness passes in a few days. But, sore throat also can be the symptom of any of a wide range of diseases, from diphtheria to leukemia, that require your physician's skill, not your guessing, to diagnose.

Sometimes tonsils and adenoids are involved in causing a sore throat, and when these organs repeatedly cause trouble they frequently are removed. Tonsil-adenoid removals account for half of all surgery performed on children. Sometimes the removal helps prevent sore throat, sometimes it doesn't.

Allergies can cause sore throats. Cold, dry winter air can trigger it. So can extreme thirst, excessive smoking or mouth breathing. Anything that dries out the throat and cuts off secretions that normally wash dust away.

Virus infections of many types also are a cause of sore throat, and everyone who has had flu knows that this particular virus disease often causes the throat to hurt.

"Strep throat" is a serious infection that occasionally leads to rheumatic fever and possible heart damage. It can be knocked out with penicillin, if it is diagnosed in time.

The crucial diagnostic test in sore throat is the swab test, through which the germs causing the trouble can be identified.

There is little or nothing you can do to cure a sore throat at home. There are medications which bring temporary easing of the discomfort. Most sore throats will clear up in a few days without treatment. If the sore throat persists, the cure must be launched by your physician.

Kindness has never yet done anyone serious harm.

Tell Children What They Can Do

Tell or show children what they can do rather than continually saying "don't." If parents do not want children to do something, they can react with "positive" instructions, points out Jenny Reinhardt, a family life education specialist.

Frustration, resentment, stifled creativity and discipline problems can result if children are continually told "don't," she continues.

Miss Reinhardt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Prevention in the positive form of planning with the child what he or she can do is a key to successful parenting.

For example, parents often tell children "don't jump on the bed," "don't run the cars on the furniture," and "don't write on the walls," the specialist says.

Children who have learned to jump, push cars and write, enjoy these activities.

However, parents can choose the positive approach and provide "planned" opportunities for children to use these experiences, such as:

--Provide a jumping and bouncing surface for children by obtaining a used about to be discarded spring and mattress for this purpose.

To the people back home who are supporting us, we humbly thank you. Your part is so necessary to ours. To those who are joining us, welcome. You are becoming a part of the finest group of people alive. To those who still haven't joined, here is a thought for you: Wouldn't it be a shame if we should lose our fight for parity and our way of life and our country, when with just one more participant, we could have won?

BEST OF TEXAS HAM STEW

- 2 c diced ham
- 1 1/2 c cabbage, shredded
- 1 c cooked carrots, cut in chunks
- 2 stalks celery, chopped
- 2 10 1/2 oz. cans chicken consommé
- 2 c boiled noodles

Saute celery in 3-quart saucepan. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer stew until all flavors are well blended, about 20 minutes. This recipe yields four hearty servings.

For a delicious cold weather meal, complement this tasty ham stew with biscuits and honey or homemade cornbread, suggests Texas Department of Agriculture Home Economist Fran Gerling. This dish is excellent all by itself, but can also form the basis for a variety of nutritious meals.

Members and interested persons in the WIFE organization are encouraged to attend a meeting of the organization at 7:30 p.m. Thursday (today) at the 16th and D Church of Christ. February is National W.I.F.E. Membership Month.

Washington sources have informed Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. that the organization's continuing efforts toward a voluntary acreage diversion program for 1979 may still have a chance to succeed.

PCG has been working to secure a 10 percent mandatory set-aside and 15 percent voluntary diversion program since its Board of Directors adopted that position at a meeting on October 11 last year. USDA agreed a set-aside was needed and recommended to the Administration a 10 percent mandatory and 10 percent voluntary set-aside. The Administration however refused to accept the Department's advice and a no set-aside, no diversion program was announced at the end of December.

At this late date, almost planting time for producers in some areas of the Cotton Belt, USDA's legal counsel has ruled the Department cannot announce a set-aside, but has the option to offer a voluntary paid diversion program. And a high USDA official advised PCG February 8 that such a program "is still under consideration and is still a possibility." The official was not, however, overly optimistic.

The prospects for almost 14 million planted acres in 1979 is generally given much of the blame for a decline of almost seven cents per pound in the market price of cotton since late November.

As PCG President Lloyd Cline pointed out at a press conference in Lubbock February 7, the current price of from 49 to 50 cents per pound for average High Plains qualities is below the cost of production. Using per-acre production costs from Marvin Sartin, area farm economist for the Texas A & M Extension Service, and assuming 10-year average yields, Cline cited a 1978 per-pound cost to produce irrigated and non-irrigated cotton, respectively, of 66.6 and 55.7 cents. He also called attention to Sartin's projected nine percent or more increase in production costs for 1979.

"Which simply means," Cline said after the conference, "that unless something is done to alter the prospects for huge cotton acreage and production this year, cotton producers may well be in serious trouble this Fall."

The conference was called to rebut the much publicized remark by Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland that some farmer demands for better prices are motivated by "old-fashioned greed."

Other principals of the conference were Carl King of Dimmitt, President of the Texas Corn Growers Association, and Elbert Harp of Lubbock, Executive Vice President of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association. All three of the producer representatives quoted production cost figures well above current prices for the respective commodities. King was especially critical of Bergland and called for the Secretary's resignation.

Asked for PCG's feelings on the Secretary's remaining in office, again after the conference, Cline said the PCG Board has never considered the issue.

ASKS CONGRESS--HELP

President Carter asked Congress to help him build "a new foundation" for prosperity at home and peace abroad, dismissing as myths the notions that America's only choices are between inflation and recession, confrontation and surrender in his State of the Union address.

BOND DISCONTINUED

The Treasury has announced plans to replace the Series E bond, first issued in 1941 and sold to the smallest investors, with a Series EE bond in denominations ranging from $50 to $10,000. The face amounts of Series E bonds range between $25 and $100,000.

"Little Strokes" Alter Personality

Strokes Hit Many

An often unsuspected cause of mental and physical incapacity is a series of "little strokes."

A stroke occurs when the blood supply to a part of the brain is reduced or completely cut off. This can be caused by a blood clot or by hemorrhage—bleeding from an artery in the brain. When the nerve cells of a part of the brain are deprived of their blood supply, the part of the body controlled by these nerve centers cannot function normally.

Little strokes may start when a person is in the 30s or 40s, striking silently at night, or passing almost unnoticed as a sudden dizzy spell, a momentary blackout, or just a few moments of confusion. The stroke itself is not severe enough to compel the patient to seek medical aid, but some permanent brain damage remains just the same, the American Medical Association reminds.

A formerly kind, gentle person may become highly impatient and irritable. Judgment often is impaired. A strong man may become weak and prone to tears. Suspiciousness is common. A person with a tendency to emotional instability, held in check heretofore by will power, may suddenly develop a psychosis. Some become sloppy in dress and befuddled in thought, others lose part of their moral sense.

Sometimes the sufferer loses interest in family and friends, and lives secretly, constantly hiding things that through forgetfulness he or she cannot find later.

When the symptoms are mild, as they often are, the person may get along fairly well. The problem of small strokes is one of the most difficult ever tackled by medical science. The most hopeful research approach is that of finding ways of preventing stroke. Science seeks to learn more about how to recognize early symptoms so that treatment can be instituted promptly.

Carter's Challengers

It appears President Carter is likely to have Kennedy opposition within his own party—for next year's nomination—if California's Governor Brown embarrasses the President in early 1980 primaries.

Governor Brown is said to be determined to enter early primaries, buoyed by his 1976 experience, when he defeated Mr. Carter in their primary head-to-head test. If this happens again, according to close friends of Senator Ted Kennedy, the Massachusetts Senator would feel compelled to enter the nomination derby since otherwise the nomination, if Carter is rejected, would likely go to the conservative Brown.

Kennedy, rated more liberal than the California Governor, and thus thought to be well positioned to score heavily in industrialized states, especially in the east, could scarcely allow Brown to become the party's new leader, if he now or later wishes to run for the nation's highest office.

Thus the outcome of primary races early next year between President Carter and Governor Brown may decide more than which of these two candidates wins an early delegate lead.

Sunset Law Needed

One of the 1979 hopes of the American public is for enactment of a sunset law by this first session of the 96th Congress. Such a law would require that all federal programs be justified anew every ten years—or be terminated.

Hopes are high this year. Led by Senator Ed Muskie (D-Maine), sunset bill proponents in the Senate already number more than a majority. The proposal was overwhelmingly passed in the upper body last year, only to die when the House failed to act.

The idea, however, is backed, 325 to 6, by House members according to a recent poll, and Speaker Tip O'Neill (D-Mass) has announced he will give priority consideration to the measure. That, plus promised support from Chairman Richard Bolling (D-Mo) of the Rules Committee, should clear the way for passage.

Such a law has long been needed; it could save taxpayers considerable sums in future years as obsolete bureaucracies, which now live on long after their usefulness is at an end, are dismantled.

CALIFORNIA & TAX

SACRAMENTO, CALIF.—A modest tax increase is expected in California because of a reduction in property taxes approved last November. A. Alan Post, chairman of the 14-member commission, predicted.

WORLD GOLD PRICES

LONDON — Feverish speculative buying of gold, sparked by a threatened world oil shortage, sent the price of bullion soaring nearly $15 an ounce to a record $246.50 an ounce at the close of trading in London recently.

WAGE-HIKE CUTBACKS

NEW YORK — President Carter's wage and price guidelines have caused about three-quarters of the nation's major companies to cut back on wage increases from the assembly line to the executive suite, according to a recent survey.

GOVERNMENT FALLS

ROME — Italy's 36th government since World War II fell after the powerful Communist Party removed its support from the Christian Democratic government that had run this NATO nation since last March.

WASHINGTON NEWS REPORT

1979 Recession? Helms On Budget-The Dollar

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The good 1979 news President Carter is getting these days could be bad election year (1980) news. Economic experts agree the economy is doing better than expected in the first quarter. Some believe a recession isn't now in sight.

If the recession, when it comes, begins as late as the last quarter of this year, that might mean trouble for Mr. Carter. Its effects will be evident in November, 1980. And, Carter and his aides know, the economic issue is what enabled them to defeat President Ford two years ago.

Meanwhile, if the political implications are disturbing, the economic implications of Carter's budget and administration continue to be more disturbing. The dollar has continued its steady but slow slide.

In recent weeks the fall has been minor, daily, but the direction is down. The stock market is nervous as the fuel supply situation remains unclear—because of events in Iran. By early summer or late spring a mild shortage of some gasolines might be felt in some regions.

On Capitol Hill opposition to Mr. Carter's 1980 legislative proposals is very strong. There seems little hope Congress will agree to Mr. Carter's wage insurance program—the backbone of his anti-inflation fight.

Many members are saying his much-publicized austerity budget turns out to be no such thing. Congress seems certain to cut Carter's proposed spending by ten or fifteen billion.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—In protest over federal mandates that each state conduct "outreach" activities in conjunction with the food stamp program, members of the Legislative Budget Board at a recent hearing voted to cut from the Texas Department of Human Resources' budget the funds allocated for such activity.

"Outreach" as envisioned by the Federal government is designed to make eligible recipients aware of the food stamp program. It is estimated that in Texas only 28 to 35 percent of all eligible recipients participate in the program.

However, problems occurred with this program in the early spring of 1978 when various regional DHR offices began instructing their employees to recruit as many eligible persons as possible to participate in the program. Among activities, that I deemed inappropriate, were contests held among various workers with a prize going to the worker who recruited the most people eligible for this program.

Additionally, many letters from DHR offices were brought to my attention by Chamber of Commerce officials and other interested individuals across the State. In these letters, potential recipients were invited to come in and apply for the stamps. To supplement these activities, some regions required their employees to conduct door-to-door interviews to determine if people were eligible for the program.

I found such activities abhorrent and contrary to the fiscal policies of this State. From the response I received from the public, I believe that many Texans, also, are not in favor of recruiting people to participate in this program.

As a result, during the meeting of the Legislative Budget Board (of which I am vice-chairman), I recommended that we delete any funds from flowing into the outreach program for food stamps. I believe that such activities are a waste of the taxpayers' money and contrary to sound fiscal policy.

During the 66th Legislature I expect that this issue will receive considerable attention—from the standpoint of what the federal government may do to the Texas food stamp program if Texas refuses to comply with the mandates regarding outreach.

It is my personal belief that if the federal government deems such an activity to be mandatory for the operation of the food stamp program, and intends to punish the State for not complying, that the Federal government should administer the program and not the State. I have no desire for state government to participate in administering a program of this type.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Performance proves... The top 8 corn hybrids on the Irrigated Plains are all from Pioneer.

That's a pretty bold claim, we admit. But in farmer's fields, county agent test plots, wherever they're grown, these Pioneer® brand corn hybrids consistently out-perform competitive hybrids year after year. Each hybrid has its own particular strong points that make it especially well suited for certain environmental and management conditions. When thoughtfully selected and properly managed to meet the conditions, each of these hybrids delivers top performance... winning performance that's head and shoulders above the competition.

High-yielding, full-season powerhouse! 3195 gets off to a good start with high seedling vigor, then makes the most of High Plains growing conditions. High test weight grain is hard textured and dries down fast. Ideal for grain or silage.

Contest winning yield potential with excellent disease tolerance makes 3183 an ideal companion for 3184. It also has excellent seedling vigor plus good standability and stay-green qualities.

A silage grower's dream come true (even if your plans change mid-season)! Tall with good standability and a high grain-to-stover ratio. Adapts well to the high plant populations required for top silage yields. And if your plans change, excellent grain yields make it a profitable grain crop, too.

Steady corn maker, popular for excellent yields and consistent performance. Strong stalks, good roots provide outstanding standability.

The corn you can manage almost like sorghum. Total fertilizer, water and insecticide requirements similar to sorghum. Maximum water use period makes it an ideal companion crop to cotton. Yield average of more than 7,800 lbs./A in four years of High Plains production at 96 locations.

A new hybrid you can trust like an old friend! It delivers top yields and is an outstanding companion for 3195. It silks earlier than 3195 and performs better under stress.

Very early silking, a long kernel fill period, and fast drydown help 3541 produce extremely high yields for its maturity. Give 3541 the management it needs, and it could easily be your top income producer. Excellent standability, ear retention and head smut tolerance.

Plant this one for your banker! It has the consistency to be the high-yielding workhorse hybrid you can rely on. Outstanding early season vigor. Excellent for silage on the Irrigated Plains.

Agriculture Secretary Blasted By Naman

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco has condemned Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland's remarks to protesting farmers in Washington last week as being "insensitive and inflammatory." Naman, addressing the Oklahoma Farmers Union Convention in Oklahoma City, denounced Bergland as being "one of the worst if not the worst Secretary of Agriculture in history."

"We considered Ezra Taft Bentsen as scourge of agriculture and Butz not much better, but it appears that Bergland, hopefully the last of the 3 B's, the most insensitive, irresponsible and inflammatory of all the Secretaries of Agriculture in our history," Naman said.

"Hopefully the President will recognize that Bergland has been discredited and will ask for his resignation immediately. Bergland's performance is damaging to farmers, to consumers, and to the credibility of the Carter Administration. His infamous remark that farmers are "greedy" will go down in history as one of the most insensitive comments ever made by a Cabinet officer about the people he was hired to serve."

"If farmers are greedy, what do you call the three major food processors and distributors? When the December 31 profit results were announced, the three major package-food companies posted some of the highest earnings in history. General Foods Corporation led the group with a 79% fiscal third-period earning gain, according to the Wall Street Journal. While farmers are trying to recoup their costs, and make enough profit to support their families, the people who buy from farmers and process foods are showing the highest profits in history. Why doesn't the Secretary of Agriculture label these unprecedented profits as greed?"

"The fact is that Secretary Bergland is continuing to give the farmers a black eye by blaming them for inflationary prices and making them the scapegoats for inflation. While at the same time, Bergland continues to whitewash the people who buy from farmers. These are the real culprits in the inflationary spiral."

Naman went on to point out that most Cabinet officers maintain an empathy for the people that they work with. The Secretary of Labor is compassionate for the working people and speaks out in their behalf, according to Naman.

Naman said that "somewhere along the line, Bergland has lost touch with the agricultural community and has become the farmer's enemy."

Naman said that he felt that the farmers had a legitimate right to peacefully protest, and that they are certainly justified in being unhappy at the treatment which they are receiving from the Carter Administration. "They certainly haven't done anything to warrant the abuse which Secretary Bergland has heaped on them," Naman said.
