Galvesten, Feb 13—A larger number of strangers are said to be in attendance-upon the festivities of the carnival than ever before. All parts of the State are represented. The colebration of Mardi Gras is a complete success throughout. The Midday Revelers chose for their theme the genius of Shakspeare, illustrated in ten-trb least. After passing through the principal streets, the procession escorted Rex from the steamer agon which he had just arrived to the Artillery Hall, where the King gave a reception. After the reception the hall was cleared for dancing, which was kept up until preparations began for the night display.

The theme chosen by the Knights of Momus for the night procession was the Romance of American History, in seventeen tableaux. It was witnessed by an immense crowd of people who filled the streets, galleries and house tops. The illuminations, costuming, music, &c., were unqualified successes. The tableaux reviewed American history from the discovery of the continent by the Norsement to the present time, as follows:

"TIMON" propounds the following ques-tion: "Is Roscoe Conkling as great a man as Daniel Webster !" Answer-He occupice as much space in a cheval glass.

THEODORE Tilton makes no more mis takes on sleeping cars. He carries a red woolen shirt around with hin to pin on the curtains of his berth as a guide board.

THE New York World says: "It can not be disguised that the rumor that the Judges of the Supreme Court, on this occonnections, has awakened some surprise alarm and distrust in the public mind.

THE New York Graphic, of a roce date, contains a wood cut of Tilden and Hayes throwing dice for the presidency, represented by a huge turkey. The three dice used are the Supreme Court, the Senate and the House of Representatives; and both are bending over the table with the most terrible earnestness depicted on the countenance of each. But it seems that Hayes played the old tricks of using dice.

THE Republican party evidently learned a lesson by the November election. Since the Florida decision many of their paper while feeling naturally exultant over the their joy have full eway. They jump off with a ruch, but catch themselves before half through, to provide for contingencies This agonising hisd of joy is hard to bear. It saves them in one respect, however. Should the balance in the remaining disput- to have decided otherwise. They are reedfcases incline the other way, they won't have so far to fall.

MATT Carpenter seems confident of his ability to carry the Louisiana case for Tilden. It will be too nasty, he thinks, for the Commission to awallow. There should be something in this, for Matt certainly has had an extensive experience in nasty things. But we were really not prescribed day, are hadmissible" for the aware he had a coating to his stomach We presume he refers to the copper one, which he has been testing these many

PERHAPS the Democratic press that was in wild haste to denounce Senator Eaton for his opposition to the Electoral Commission, will now, under the Florida reverse, accord him credit for more wisdom than they were then willing to allow. Those who will read his remarks as published in the Congressional Record, will find matter well calculated to back up and sustain his position. Roger Q. Mills, one of our notable Texas delegation, took the Commission can avoid sustaining the desame ground land sustained it by a forcible and logical argument that makes him the he is associated. We, by no means, give up Mr. Tilden's case before the Commission, but mention these tried Democrats as most worthy the trust that has been placed in them. They could not be sha will bestow on them, a merited reward.

Justice Clifford is still joined to his old Democratic idols, and Justice Field has a brother.—Globe Dem.

The insinuation contained in the above paragraph strikes us in view of the facts as wholly unwarranted. Justice Field is the brother of David Dudly Field, a memhad charge of the Florida case for the Democrate. But because Justice Field in the sworn discharge of his duty, can not find it according to the law and to justice, and under the oath he took, to strain at a technicality and swallow a case 'tainted with frauds and clouded with error," It is insignated he has been bent by the influence of his brother. It would be well if some such influence could impress those of the Commission, who have found themselves able to make the decision they have recorded in the Florida case. It would be as well also for the Repubicans to bear in mind that the advantage they have in the Commission has been so corded them by the liberality of the Democratic Judges, Clifford and Field, who hoose Mr. Bradley, when, if they had been partizans, would have insisted upon Judge Davis.

LOUISTANA.

We have always regarded the Leuisiana case as much the strongest the Democrats could present. We confidently look for a favorable decision, after the points as indicated by the Democratic councel in that before the Commission. It does not seem before the Commission. It does not seem to us as easy to give a State to Huyes that was carried by his opponent by a majority of near 9000, as one in which the mejority claimed by either side was not far from 100 votes. In the Louisiana case, Levisse, the ineligible elector, as proven by the ocrate, did not resign till after his intment as an elector.

The Democrate propose to prove that according to the Statutes of Louisiana the Returning Board, as constituted, had no Returning Board, as constituted, had no authority to canvase the vote. That the law requires that the Board shall correct of five persons, thaken from all political parties. That the Republicans almointely refused to allow a Democrat to be appointed. It will be shown, in answer to the clurges of intimidation, that the vote cast is Louisians last November was larger in proportion to the voting populaand larger even in prop registration, than in Northern States; that while Illinois cast 100 votes to every 127 males over twenty-one. Maine cast 100 votes to every 120 males over twenty-one, and New York cast 100 votes to every 118 males over twenty-one years, the returns show Louisiana, with bad roads and distant polling places, cast 100 votes to every 119 male persons over twenty-one years, and that while the vote of Democratic New Orleans was but slightly increased over 1874, the vote of the country parishes where intimidation was alleged was in creased over 1,400 in two years.

It will be proven that this partizan Board, in secret session, threw out Demperatic majorities in precincts where no protests had been thed, and where local Republicans thus counted in refused the office to which they frankly acknowledged they were not elected.

With these facts before them, and the developments made concerning, Wells and his confreres before the investigating committee, we cannot believe but that at least the Electoral vote of Louisiana will be thrown pat. We say, thee, to disponding Democrats, keep up your spirits, the

THE COUNTING.

The country has seen, we venture to say with much regret, that in deciding the case of the Florida electoral vote, the Grand Commission has decided just on the line of party politics, Judge Bradley going on the side of his old antecedents. We are not sure that we fully understand the scope of the decision thus made. In the case of Florida, Governor Stearns gave a certificate of appointment to the Republican electors. There was then re-count ordered by the new Governor Drew, or by the Legislature, and a certificate was given to the Demceratic elec-tors. Then the Supreme Court of Florida affirmed the validity of this second count and certificates. The Democrats claimed that, inasmuch as the first certificate was obtained by a fraudulent manipulation of the returns, the Commission should go behind that certificate, and determine what electors were in fact chosen by the people of Fjorids. The Commission seem ported as saying "that it is not competent under the Constitution and the law as it existed at the date of the passage of said act [the electoral law not] to go into evidence aliunde," They are farther reported as saying that "all the proceedings of the sourts, or acts of the Legislature or the executive of Florida, subsequently to the easting of the votes of the electors on the purpose of showing that the certificate should not be given to the Republican electors. In other words, they seem to years. It would not be safe to bet on have decided that masmuch as the Florithat, for by this time it must be in a leaky da Republican electors had received a certificate in proper form from Gov. Stearns, and had thrown their votes for Hayer and Wheeler, no proof could afterwards be admitted to show that they were not honestly elected; and no action of the Lec islature of Florida, or the Supreme Court of that State, in pronouncing the election fraudulent, or ordering a re-count, or giving the certificate to other persons, could be of any avail.

If this is the real scope and intent o the decision, it is not easy to see how the cision of Governor Grover of Oregon in ocratic electors from that State. If such be the case Tilden would be elected, ever if Louisions is given to Hayes, unless the Commissioners, or a majority of them, retreat through a small hole, which they placed in them. They could not be share perhaps reserved for that purpose, ken from the honest conviction of right and duty. They deserve, and the future the Florida elector, Humphreys, who was alleged by the Democrate to be the holder of a Federal office at the time of his election, and therefore disqualified. The Com mission decided that he was not a Federa office holder at the time; but add that they make the decision "without refer ence to the question of the effect of the possibly the question still open for decision whether they might not go behind the certificate of the Governor, if the Governor (of Oregon, for instance) had refused to give it to a Republican elector, on account of ineligibility, and had thereupon given it to a Democratic elector, who had not received a popular majority. It would be a small hole to crawl through; but politicians, and political judges can sometime crawl through a pretty small hole, if neo

> It can hardly be said how far the rule laid down in the Florida case will apply to, or control, that of Louisians. In the atter case there is presented chiefly the question of enormous bare-faced fraud or the part of the Returning board, known to and sustained by, the Governor of the State; and a well proved conspiracy on the part of these officers and others to give the electoral certificate to the Re publican electors without reference to the fact of election by the popular vote. The Democrats make a far stronger case, in the matter of fraud, and in some respects a different case from that of Florida. It precents in simpler form the question ple of their State out of the appointment of Presidential electors by anbatitating perco. s whom the people did not elect?

A BISHOP DEFENDS THE STAGE

The Bishop of Manchester delivered an address last night in the Theatre Royal, Manchester, to the companies of that theatre and of the Queen's. It was another noble and eloquent defense. He said he was the first bishop of the church of England, if not the first bishop of Christ's Church, that ever addressed a congregation in a theatre. Aristotle taught him that tragedy was a great instrument for purifying the passions. He thought that no one could leave a good performance of "Hamlet" or "Othello" without feeling his whole nature elevated and strengthened.

[Paris Correspondence of the London Standard.]

The reader may remember that not long ago the clerical papers published special telegrams announcing the miraculous cure of a pilgrim named Riviere. This poor fellow had suffered for many years from a complication of it. He was afflicted with paralys, we id an ulcer on the left leg, and was deaf and damb, and half blind. He went down to Lourdes, and had no sooner drank of the holy waters of the shiring than he was instantly and completely cured of all his numerous defects; he could once more dance, sing, hear, and see as in his tender years.

The miracle naturally made a great sensation, and when the fortunate pilgrim returned home to Maranes, in the Maine-et-Loire, he became the subject of general attention, especially on the part of the Church authorities, who kept him in clover for some time. Unfortunately there was a skeptical doctor in the neighborhood who desired to examine Riviere, and it was arranged that the examination should take place; but on the day fixed for it the happy pilgrim was nowhere to be found. This sudden disappearance was about to be attri-buted to another miracle, when he unexpectedly turned up between a brace of gendarmes, who had arrest ed him for swindling.

It then transpired, according to the man's own confession, that he was a very old offender, and had feigned the aforesaid infirmities, as used to be done in the notorious Cour des Miracles of farmer times, with the object of imposing on publie credulity and charity; in short, he was a professional Beggar. It must be admitted that his success was a miracle in its way.

GOV. TILDEN ON HORSEBACK.

[From the Buffalo Courier.]

I had started on again, in a sort of brown study, when a solitary horseman turned the corner right in front of me. I looked up, and behold! there was the very identical man. I had a chance to observe our ex-Governor's face after he passed, and a calmer or pleasanter face I have not seen for a long time. Not a shadow of anxiety there, not a line indicating uneasiness or concern about the moment. ous proceedings in Washington, He was out for his regular afternoon's ride, and so far as any observer could judge, he had left all the cares of politics behind. I have seen Goy. Tilden a number of times in the last few years. But I never saw him look as well as he slid yes-terday, sitting as straight and firm in the saddle as anold cuirassier, and seeming as fresh and buoyant as a man of forty. I am told that he does not worry himself at all he does not worry himself at all about the pros and cons cf White House possibilities, and that he heeds but little of what is publish. ed daily on that subject. He knows exactly what the situation is, and he does not want to have his habitual composure ruffled by keeping the run of this, that, and the other statement and disclosure, so called. At all events, he won't allow any. thing in that line deprive him of his regular two hours in the saddle, and he keeps the matter as far from him in his comfortable home, facing Gramercy Park, as the cir ctmstances will allow. If Congress and the Electoral Tribunal decide the question (against him, I much doubt it Gov. Tilden would lose one hour, sleep in consequence,

ARTISTIC EEFECT.

[From the Detroit Free Press.] As a horse and dray were yesterday quietly standing on Jefferson avenue, near Griswold street, the owner walked out from the curbstone and gave the animal a severe cut with his whip. "The horse was very quiet-why did you hit him?" asked a pedes-

"That hoss knows why I hit him, replied the man. "I've trained him to take an artistic position when he's on the street, and there he was, one hind leg bent up, his fore feet spread apart and his head down. See him now! Look at the hang of that tail-the carriage of that head, and take a glance at them feet!"

The man booked, and when satisfied with the pase, the drayman continued:

"Now, then, look at these other plugs around here. Would a man, being a round here.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

It is a curious fact that the old holidays that were wont to be looked forward to by both old and young with anticipations of pleasure, are losing their hold upon the popular faucy. Many have ceased being observed, and others are nearly so. Originating back in the medgeval ages, they have much of romance and super stition connected with them. There was a time when St Valentines Day was observed by the most gallant knights as well as the low liest peasant.

The origin of the sustem is not exactly known. It is a popular error that it was instituted as a commemoration of St Valentine, who suffered martyrdom in the whatever to do with the custom to which thology so many observances have de scended through the middle ages to our day. In aucient Rome, the feast of Lupopular was celebrated on the 14th of February. Part of the ceremonies was the drawing out of a box, by youthe, the names of young women, and it may be that the name was changed by gealous Christian pasters, who is the middle age were most particular in trying to root out lingering superstitions, and so substitut origin. A great deal of taste is often die played in getting designs for the better class of valentines. They are dainty messengers of love, and bear on the 14th

THE SEASON-FAY'S BENEFIT. There is . doubtless, no drams now being acted on the etage that appeals more direct to our sympathies, or plays more upon the emotions of the people, than the Two Orphans. In addition to this fact is coupled the circumstance of the connection of the play with the recent Brooklyn horror, and the piece cannot fail to be witnessed with an absorbing interest by all classes. The Two Orphans was presented by the Templetons at the Literary Hall last night in a manner that amply suetained the high reputation of the company as successful personators of character, and to draw forth many expressions of delight

To night the Templetons will make their good friends personally—and ail, while wishing the entire company the greatest good fortune wherever they may go, will long for their early return under their present organization. Miss Fay, the beneficiary to-night, early won her way to the hearts of our amusement loving people, and has well maintained her position. The Two Orphans will be presented again to night, and we have no doubt the house will be crewded.

Full of music, fun and frolic.
What a pretty living picture
Fornas this radiant little Fairy!
Mirth-eyed Fairy, full of laughter!
Swan-like grace, poetic motion,
Exquisite in every detail,
Mirth and music riphing o'er her.
On her cheeks the reddest goses,
On her lips the fune of cherries,
In each eye a gleam of sunahine,
In her voice the sweetest carols,
Round her mouth, all wreathed in dimple
Smiles chase Smiles—what merry courser
What a darling little Fairy!
Lisson, light, bewitching Fairy!
Sparkling, gladsome, rosy Fairy!
Cherry-lipped and mirth-eyed Fairy!
Let us loud appland and cheer her,
For she always strives to please us.

We noticed in one of our exchanges this week the statement of Dea. John Hodgkins, of South Jefferson, Me., whose son was cured of incipient consumption by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. We refer to this at this time as tending to corroborate the statement we made last week in relation to this Liniment as applied to consumption.

If Congress had employed as much scientific skill in the arrangement of its "Reconstruction Policy" at the close, as the War Department did in the beginning of the war, in arranging for the manufacture of what was called Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders for the use of the Cavalry horses, no doubt the Union would have been restored long ago.-Exchange.
