STERLING CITY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1941

NO. 12

Around OUR PLACE
by Fred Gipson

All my life I have been informed by persons in the know that since Eve ate the apple man has been born with an inherent sense of shame and all consuming desire to hide his nakedness with clothes. And while I would be the last to contradict tradition, I must confess that I did pause and wonder a bit the other day upon learning that 18 month old Rusty Russell has been toddling up and down the sidewalks at town clothed only in his diapers, offering to sell them for a nickel cash or swap for an ice cream cone.

One might be tempted to ignore Rusty's boldness and lack of shame shrugging it off as an isolated case, an exception that proves the rule, but for the fact that last winter his 3 year old cousin, Bumpy Russell, was discovered circling the house at high speed on a tricycle with not one stitch of clothing protecting him from the icy blasts.

Be it sad for Bumpy that when blue fingers and chattering teeth made him aware of his nudity, he did stop long enough to go into the house and return with a bit of flannel which he spread out upon the tricycle seat, thus ending from prying eyes his little goose pimpled rear.

Even these two incidents might be passed off as merely a family trait were it not for the case of 5 year old Marjorie Marsh, who with a Gypsy Rose Lee swing to her hips stepped out into the street the other morning strapped to a red bandana handkerchief which she wore in lieu of the better known fig leaf.

Her mother caught sight of her through the window and was horrified but the concern of Majorie's 7 year old brother was passive to say the least.

"Get Marjorie out of the street George," she commanded sharply. "Aw, she's all right, Mama," said George. "She's got her tail light on"

And there's the case of Jackie Polk, who learned to take his first steps by first removing his dress and holding it out in front of him while he followed in around.

Fear of bringing down around my ears a hail of protest against my writing propaganda for the cult of nudism, I avoid drawing any conclusions from the above paragraphs and pass on to quote from the brush country sage and philosopher, Pecos Turner.

"Humans dress up and cow punches down", Pecos observed. "When I see a man raise from his bed and reach for his hat, then his shirt and vest never baring his hind-quarters to the elements till he slips into his pants—well he don't have to show me no rope burns in his hands. I can tell from his manner of dressing that back along the trail somewhere he's quit his bed in the open when the ground was froze and there was icicles hanging in the flanks of the cows he's nursing."

And to prove that the sins of the children can be visited upon the father, even unto this generation,

Horn Flies to Be Destroyed

The hornfly, one of the major cattle pests, is soon to be eliminated according to a writer in the Readers Digest of August, 1941.

The writer says that recently an entomologist—entirely ignorant of veterinary traditions—opened the road to the answer. In trying to control the blood sucking hornfly that scouraged cattle on West Texas ranches, he found that the fly reproduced only in its victims' droppings. Why not feed insecticides to the cattle, thereby poisoning the droppings so that the fly larvae could not develop in them? The new insecticide used was the new sensational synthetic phenothiazine. Any trained veterinarian would have laughed at his experiment. But it worked. In the journey through the animal, little of the phenothiazine's potency was lost; the droppings were thoroughly poisoned and the hornfly destroyed.

Veterinary parasitologists took up this lead; repeated tests with every sort of domestic animal showed the new drug to be an undreamed of panacea for practically all vitality-sapping internal pests that have plagued Southern livestock.

If a true remedy for the hornfly has been discovered, it will mean millions of dollars to the cattlemen of West Texas. No doubt the new discovery will be tried out by experts and we shall soon know its value.—Uncle Bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jones and children accompanied by Mr. Jones mother, Mrs. W. A. Jones of Carlsbad, New Mexico, came in last Tuesday to visit Mrs. Lena Findt, Mrs. W. A. Jones mother and other relatives here. Mrs. Findt has been severely ill during the past week.

I cite the case of G. A. Walker, bishop of his church, who reached for his pocket Bible and drew out a pack of poker cards which scattered like gaily colored leaves among the aghast members of his Bible class. Walker's sons considered this outrageous switching of cards for Bible a highly entertaining joke on their parent.

Spencer Tracy

Spencer Tracy has been acclaimed by critics who have seen his latest picture "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" as an "Academy Award" winner for his grand characterization in this latest M-G-M thriller.

Elsie Knight Named Student Assistant

Outstanding scholastic and citizenship records have earned the position of student assistant at Texas State College for Women for Miss Elsie Knight of Sterling City.

Majoring in Home Economics Education, Miss Knight will be an assistant in the Chemistry department. She is a junior student and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Knight. Chosen because of her excellent record, Miss Knight must maintain this high standard while she is occupying this position.

4-H Club Elect Officers

The 4-H Club met in the High School gymnasium September 23, at 2:30, P. M., for the purpose of electing officers. Fred Mitchell, vice-president in 1941, called the meeting to order and explained that its purpose was to elect officers. The election resulted as follows:

Fred Mitchell, president; Ross Foster, vice-president; J. B. Clark, secretary; Jack Mitchell, treasurer.

The Club members plan to have as their demonstrations, beef calves, mutton lambs, registered lambs and hogs, to be exhibited at the 1942 Spring shows.

STICKS

Up to a short time ago, one rarely saw a man with a walking stick on the streets of Sterling City. The other day, while I was teetering my way along the sidewalk with a cane my father used after he was a hundred years old, I met Gid Ainsworth whose gitalongs refused to chiboberate without the aid of a walking stick. Then along came Roy Foster and Al Rutherford with canes. Herbert Cope was so much improved that he was about to discard his stick. E. B. Butler gets about as if he needed a stick, but says he does not need one. Judge Brown has lost his stick and gets about all right without it. The only reason I know why so many of us fellows have to use sticks is because we have been on our legs too long.—Uncle Bill.

LEGS

Most every normal human was born with a pair of legs. At first these legs were of little account except to keep time with each squall let out by their owner and show his impatience when milking time came.

Then came a time when these legs were called on to bear up their owner in a standing position and later to take a step. When this occurred, Mamma was thrilled and bored all her friends and neighbors with the news that baby could stand alone and had taken a step.

At first these little legs were wobbly and gave their owner many a fall, but as the days came and went, they grew stronger and carried him swiftly and safely wherever he wanted to go.

I said "he", because I was a grown man before I knew that women had legs. Yet in my day, women were so careful of concealing their legs that they wore dresses that even hid their feet. But even with all this care, I suspected they had legs that might be of the same model of those I had, and later, I found out that my suspicions were well founded.

Legs are a most beautiful part of a woman's nomenclature, and I never could see why they took such care in concealing them from the sight of men. Today, they are more sensible and dress as if the sight of these beautiful appendages were not to be entirely concealed.

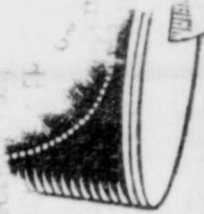

Nearly 87 years ago, I drew a pair of legs. At first they were no good except as above stated. Later on they became strong and dependable. I could hold my own in a foot race and they have carried me out of many tight places. I could climb any tree and swim swollen rivers. They have carried me all over these hills and valleys for miles around and have enabled me to peep in every nook and crannie in the rocks.

For more than 80 years these legs have served me well. One cold day last winter the demons of rheumatism with red hot daggers began to stab and slash at the muscles and these dear old servants that have carried me so well and long refused to carry me any longer. They refuse now to track and I have to help them hobble along with the aid of a stick.

Well, after all, I have gotten the best of these good old legs, because they have carried me more than 80 years without a complaint. When a fellow first draws a pair of legs, they are not much good, and after using them for a long time, they go back on him. Well, you can't expect them to last always.—Uncle Bill.

WHAT YOU MAKE IT

A town or community is what its people make it. If the institutions and industries of a town are not supported by its people, the town is not worth three whoops at a dog fight. A man or woman who takes up his residence and accepts service in an industry or one of the institutions of a town should take a pride in supporting his town. He should trade at the shops and stores of the town and cooperate in the upbuilding of the community which makes it possible for him to gain a living. There are always a few who give their support to other towns instead of their own town. These are always spotted and classed as birds of passage.

Our new governor, Coke Stevenson, seems to be fitting in as if he had been molded for the place. I don't think Coke is much of a fiddler, but he knows his onions when it comes to getting things done by the legislature. He gets around among the boys and talks to them in such a way that they like him and have confidence in his ability and honesty of purpose. I predict that in the future he will get along with the legislature and get things done. A governor may be ever so wise and good, but if he can't get along with the legislature he amounts to very little as governor.

Coke may be hard headed and firm in his convictions, but he is wise to the fact that he must team up to get things done. Later on, we will read that Coke Stevenson made Texas a good governor.—Uncle Bill

In a resolution by the House of representatives asking Lindbergh to stay out of Texas with his speeches, these boys did not deny him the right of free speech. They merely exercised the right of free speech themselves by letting Lindbergh know that they did not approve his opposition to the administration's defense policy. Lindbergh has the right of free speech and no one in Texas has denied him this right, but he and his friends ought not to expect Texas people to run over each other in getting a place for him to speak in.

The Nazis are having great sport with the people of the countries which they have conquered. When things get dull with these brave (?) Nazis, they round up a bunch of Frenchmen, Poles, Czechs or whatever comes handy, back them again at a wall and shoot them. It must be great fun to those who follow Hitler, but it is awful on those helpless people who were sold down the river by a bunch of isolationists like Wheeler et al are trying to do in America.

WHAT WE WORK FOR

It's a common question to ask of every fifteen-year-old boy you meet, "Bill, what are you going to be when you grow up?"

Kyes

And these bills certainly have a variety of answers ready to give us. They cover the whole range of human activity—from flying two miles above the earth to mining a mile underground.

One of the great advantages of our American way of life is that we encourage our young folks to set their own sights. And even if most of them never hit the mark, they are better men and women for trying.

There is one bit of homely advice this column would like to give to any young boy or girl who is getting ready to start living his own life. And that is, "Don't be fooled by the amount of money that passes through your hands. That is not a true measure of success in life."

A good many thousands of young men from farms are now being attracted by factory jobs in the industrial centers. Certainly, working in a factory that is busy with defense orders is a patriotic thing to do right now. But not always is it the best start in life. The returns are not always as great as they promise to be.

Consider the case of a young man working on a farm for a dollar or a dollar and a half a day and found. He eats well and regularly. He can save most of his money, for his only out-of-pocket expenses are clothes and amusements.

Now move that same man to a city, and pay him five dollars a day. Out of that five, he has to pay room rent and board and laundry. He lives a different kind of life—spends more money for passing entertainment, and more for clothes. He has more opportunities to spend money—not always in the most wholesome way.

Of course, the city worker has more money passing through his hands. Maybe he gets a kick out of that. But the real measure of success is how much of that moving stream of money sticks. How much does he have left at the end of a year, or perhaps at the end of a lifetime?

City work wears men out. It seldom replaces energy like farm work does. It is not so healthy—either the working conditions or the living conditions. The greater a man's progress in industry, the more pressure is put on him. Finally there may come a day when somebody says, "Sorry, Jim, but you are too old to stand the pace."

When that sad day comes, only a very small percentage of city workers can retire and live the rest of their lives in decent comfort, on their own savings.

But chances are, the same number of years and the same amount of energy spent on a good farm will net a good, comfortable home, and reasonable security, for old age.

On the farm, there may have been less money passed through a man's hands, but there are rewards in life that are far more important than cold dollars, especially if you can't keep very many of the dollars.

Did you ever stop to think why we have unemployment insurance and old age pensions, both financed in part by government agencies? It is because city work so seldom provides any great degree of security.

Yet you seldom hear of any farmer who has been reasonably industrious and reasonably thrifty spending his last years in the poorhouse, or living with his relations as a dependent.

There is a lot to be said in favor of a man's spending his life on a family farm in America. There is no better life, when you weigh everything.

Auto Production Slash REALLY Hits Farmer

The farmer has a double interest in news from Washington that automobile production is to be slashed by 50 per cent. For one thing, automobiles and trucks are prime necessities on the farm. But more important, the automobile industry is one of the farmer's biggest customers. This diagram map shows how seriously the curtailment of car production will hurt rural America. It gives statistics on approximately how much material comes from the farm for every one million units the motor car industry produces. How much the farmer will be affected by the proposed cut in car production depends on how deeply Washington makes the incision. But here are the facts! During the 1941 model year just ending, the automobile industry turned out approximately 5,000,000 units.

Our good old time friend, Al Ruth erford who has been down with his head under him for the past three months was able to visit the News Record shop last Saturday.

County Commissioner Roy T. Foster who has been in ill health for the past several months, is now able to come up town these days. While Roy is somewhat "drawed", he is getting along all right.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Wallace of Waco and Mr. and Mrs. David P. Wallace Jr. of Dallas were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Reed.

Mrs. Wallace Jr. was formerly Miss Johnnie Bess Reed.

In the sixman football game here last Saturday, Sterling defeated Courtney 14 to 0. The Courtney team were heavier than our boys, but no doubt lacked the training which the Sterling team had.

Our friend H. M. Mills of Alpine was a welcomed caller on the News Record force last Tuesday. After selling ranch holdings on Lacy Creek Mr. Mills moved to Alpine where he established a home for his family in order to be convenient to school. He bought a 31 section ranch about 75 miles southeast of Alpine where he resumed the raising of sheep. Mr. Mills says he has fine grass on his range and that part of the country is in fine condition.

Mr. Jones was giving a lesson on the powers of different explosives in chemistry.

"This he explained," is one of the most dangerous explosives of them all. If I am in the slightest degree wrong in my experiment, we are liable to be blown through the roof. Kindly come a little closer so you can follow me better.

Bobby to a Senior "Who was Hamlet?"

Digfied Senior, "Aren't you ashamed of ignorance. Bring me the Bible and I'll show you".

Honest truth by Scooter Carr "Three drops of skunk mush will sent or era about one mile square"

"B e d spells bed" said Mrs. Emery to one of her pupils. "Now do you understand?"

"Yes," said Tommy

"Well, c-a-t spells cat, d-o-g spells dog and b-e-d spells — what did I tell you b-e-d spells?"

"I've forgotten, Mrs. Emery," whis pered Tommy.

"Well once more bed spells what you sleep in. Now what is it?"

"My shirt, said Tommy.

WE WONDER

We wonder who was in the car with Joe Allen and William Thursday night after the pep rally.

Who was Georga Belle with Saturday night. This freshmen seem to be getting around.

Jack and Billy seem to have this Martin fever, eh what boys?

Where June and Joe were Sunday evening. Round top seems to be a favorite spot with quite a few kids.

If Jerry really got stood up Saturday night. Her boy friend seemed to be with someone else.

Jerry seems to be quite Sharp lately.

Who that good looking girl Fred was with Saturday night. Everitt where you look there they are.

For 1942—a Beautiful New

FORD

"6" OR "8"

IN THESE UNUSUAL TIMES we invite you to inspect an unusual new car—new in its beauty, its comfort, its choice of two fine 90 horsepower engines, 6 cylinders or 8.

See it and you sense at once that here is new style that will stay good for years. On a lower, wider chassis, we have designed new long, low, wide and modern lines.

Interior treatment is entirely fresh, distinctive, pleasing. The beauty of this Ford will more than hold its own in any company.

Inside, the car is big—wide across the seats, generous in knee-room, leg-room, elbow-room.

On the road this year you find the "new Ford ride" still further advanced in its softness, quietness, steadiness and all-round comfort.

At the wheel, you will find driving easier than ever. Steering, gear-shifting, action of the big and sure hydraulic brakes have all been made smoother and easier.

In quality, the car is sound to the last detail. Defense requirements have all been met without a single reduction in the basic and lasting goodness of the Ford mechanically. Some new materials have replaced old ones, usually at a greater cost to us, but in every case the new is equal to or better than the old.

If your family needs a new car, go see and drive this Ford. For what it is today and for what it will be through the years ahead, we believe that you will find in it more and better transportation for your money than you have ever found before.
