Mrs. R. P. Brown's Father Dies at Arlington

Jones was born at Bexar, Ala., and came to Texas some 60 years ago. After a short time near San Antonio, he moved to Grandview, where he first owned a grocery store and later went into the dry goods business.

Survivors include the widow; a son, Evan Jones of 3802 Mattison, Fort Worth, is vice president of the South Fort Worth State Bank; two daughters, Mrs. R. P. Brown of Sterling City and Mrs. E. E. Young of Kosse; five grandchildren, Mrs. Stanford Perrett of Arlington, Mrs. Paul Otto of Lake Charles, La., Mrs. Milton Peery of Houston, Mrs. O. W. Bengston of San Antonio, Mrs. Howard Snyder of Wichita Kansas, and one great-niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Tice McIntosh of Arlington and 12 great-grandchildren.

Week's Revival at Baptist Church To Start Easter Sunday

Acting with all the other Baptist churches west of the Mississippi, the Sterling Baptist Church begins a week's revival on Easter Sunday. The simultaneous revivals are a part of the Baptist program this year.

The local pastor will do the preaching for the week's meeting. The local choir director, Clyde Everitt will lead the singing and his wife will be at the organ during the services, which will be held nightly only at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. McEntire stressed a cordial welcome to all to attend the services.

Census Takers

Mrs. D. C. Dunn, Mrs. Bertha McCabe and Mrs. A. H. Fulcher began taking the U. S. Census in Sterling County the first of the month.

These ladies will be around soon (if not already) to ask you a lot of questions that you may have never thought of as being connected with a head count, BUT Uncle Sam has a reason.

All information is confidential. No other government bureau, such as the Internal Revenue, can peek.

After a week of House debate, the ECA bill was passed last Friday; the House heard news of the signing of the cotton and peanut bill by the President at Key West, and braced itself for a 10-day review of the $29 billion omnibus tax bill. The latter will be interrupted by a few day's rest during the annual Easter holiday period.

The European aid bill will cost $2.7 billion, a considerable reduction from a year ago, and was cut to that figure by an amendment on the floor of $250 million for which I voted. But in addition a hundred million was carried for Korean aid and, of all things, $27 million for the relief of Arab refugees who have been uprooted from their homes in Palestine. For technical aid under point four (aid to backward areas) the bill included $25,000,000.

Many of us felt the latter to be non-essential but the best we were able to do was to reduce the amount to that figure. The trouble is it will probably be the beginning of more demands for the same purpose, year after year.

The measure was finally adopted by a vote of 287 to 86. I voted for the bill as amended.

Natural Gas Bill Passed

The House also took an hour to debate and pass the bill exempting independent gas producers from Federal price regulation. It was a photo-finish victory, the vote being 176 to 174. For about the first time since the Speaker was elected, all Texans in the House voted together in support of this measure.

Actually, it was an important States' rights bill, leaving to the individual States the right to regulate the price of gas purchased from independent producers before it reaches the pipe lines. A provision to this effect was written into the 1938 Natural Gas Act. But the Supreme Court indicated in a decision that the Federal Power Commission might have jurisdiction over the whole field—both interstate and intra-state. This measure, which now goes to the President, will remove any doubt about that. It will leave control over the small independent producers—including many small farmers who have a gas well or two—to the States and avoid more concentration of power in Washington. That's the way it has been all through the years.

Odds and Ends

The current Senate race in Florida is the most talked about subject around Capitol Hill these days. The election is only a month off and the decision will be final, Florida being a one-party State. A week ago the dopesters were picking Rep. Smathers. Now they say it's a toss-up, and that Senator Pepper is gaining due to CIO activity down there. A huge CIO task force with money packets bulging was called in, according to reports, to get the Negro voters registered before the deadline on April 1. The inducement is said to be up to $3 a voter. And thousands of the colored folks flocked in to beat the deadline. They'll everyone vote for Pepper, of course.

Young Smathers has a lot of good will around the House where he has served and made friends for four years. He voted for the Taft-Hartley law, against the FEPC, and has shown other evidences of independence against the domination by pressure groups where the public

Make a 'Surprise' Vengeance

By BILLY ROSE

When Martin Quint, 71, married Ellie Reynolds, 34, their friend Nyack didn't give the union much chance of success. Five years later, however, they were ready to admit they had been wrong. Ellie was doing a good job of taking care of Martin, and as for the old coot—well, he was a lot friendlier than anyone had ever thought possible.

On their fifth anniversary, Martin sent Ellie to New York on a errand, filled the parlor with gifts and paper curlicues, and invited dozen neighbors in for a surprise party.

The plan was for a lookout at the railroad depot to phone when he saw Ellie get off the train, and then they would turn out the lights and hide. When Ellie walked in and turned them on again, everyone would yell, "Surprise!"

Well, what happened was a surprise, all right, but there was no yelling. As the front door opened, Quint and his guests heard Ellie whisper, "Sssh! He might be awake."

"I don't like this sneaking around," said the voice of a man. "Why don't you ask him for a divorce?"

"Think I'm crazy? He doesn't figure to live much longer, and I'm pretty sure to get the savings and insurance. Thanks for taking me home. See you Tuesday at the regular time."

Then Ellie closed the door and switched on the lights . . .

AFTER THE embarrassed guests had left, she said to her husband, "I suppose you want me to pack." "Why should I?" said Martin. "It's only human nature for you to take up with someone nearer your own age."

"Don't you want a divorce?"
 "Not unless you insist on it. All I ask is that you stop seeing the young man as long as I'm alive. If you'll agree and put it in writing, I'll fix it so you'll get every cent I've got."

And that's how it was arranged. An agreement was signed and locked in the wall safe, and the couple went on living together.

Of course, the neighbors gossiped a lot, particularly when it was whispered around that Ellie was still seeing the young man, but their talk seemed to make no impression on Martin. Instead, he busied himself with a new hobby—the study of insects—and spent most of his waking hours in a spare room over the garage, mounting butterflies and beetles on small exhibit boards.

"I wouldn't mention this around," he told his wife. "As it is, people think I'm not quite all there." One evening, just after Ellie had brought him the usual glass of warm milk, Martin began to have convulsions. Ellie phoned the doctor that her husband was having a heart attack, but by the time he arrived the old man was dead. The doctor examined the body, then called the coroner, and an hour later the corpse, together with the empty milk glass, was taken away . . .

EARLY THE following morning a detective rang Ellie's doorbell. "I have a warrant for your arrest," he said. "According to the coroner, your husband died of cyanide poisoning, and the drug-store in town reports that you bought a bottle of the stuff two weeks ago."

"That's right," said Ellie. "Martin used the cyanide to kill the insects he was studying. There are hundreds of specimens in the laboratory over the garage."

"I never heard of his being interested in bugs," said the detective. "Can I see this laboratory?"

Ellie led the way up the garage stairs and opened the door. There was nothing in the room but a few bits of junk and an old bicycle.

"I'm sorry, but you'll have to come along," said the detective. "You're the only person who figured to profit by Mr. Quint's death."

"I swear I didn't do it," said Ellie. "Both Martin and I knew he wouldn't live long, and we signed an agreement which explains everything. It's in his study."

She ran into the house, opened the wall safe and took out a brown envelope, but when she tore it open there was nothing inside but a piece of blank paper.

Blank, that is, except for one word penciled in a childish scrawl—"Surprise!"

again in 1942 to the House of Representatives. Hardeman resigned from the Legislature and enlisted as a private in the Army. After several months enlisted service he was sent to Officer Candidate School and received a commission in the Judge Advocate General's Department. He was honorably discharged as a Captain in February, 1946.

In the Senate, Hardeman is considered a leader for constitutional government. He is a member of the powerful Finance & State Affairs Committees and is Chairman of the Constitutional Amendments Committee and Vice-Chairman of Civil Jurisprudence Committee. Hardeman also held membership in several other standing Senate committees.

In addition, Senator Hardeman is a member of the powerful Senate Investigating Committee and also is a member of the Legislative Budget Committee.

Mr. Hardeman said that he expected to make an active campaign in an effort to visit with as many citizens of the District as possible.

The 25th Senatorial District embraces 16 counties, namely, Brown, Coke, Coleman, Comanche, Concho, Gillespie, Irion, Kimble, Mason McCullough, Menard, Mills, Runnels, Schleicher, Sterling and Tom Green.

In his formal announcement, Senator Hardeman said:

"Four years have elapsed since I submitted my candidacy for the office of State Senator, to which I was elected. For the help and support given me in that campaign and subsequently, I am grateful.

"Two regular sessions and one special session of the Legislature have come and gone. They are now history and the records thus made must stand.

"It has been my purpose to represent this district and the State within the terms of the Constitution and the principles of sound governmental practices. In so doing, I have not hesitated to oppose those measures and proposals which I believed were violative of either of these. Such course will be mine in the future.

"It is upon this basis that I offer for re-election as a candidate for a second term as Senator from the 25th Senatorial District.

"I have sponsored or supported such constructive legislation as establishing an adjunct of A & M College at Junction; the Legislative Budget Board; the soil conservation bill; the rural telephone bill; farm-to-market road program and numerous other measures designed to serve the general welfare.

"I have been conservative in expenditures of public funds and have opposed discriminatory and unconstitutional appropriations.

"Limited space suggests that I not discuss in detail my legislative record at this time. I expect to conduct an active campaign for re-election and will visit each of the 16 counties of the District in an effort to see as many of the citizens as is possible and to discuss the various issues with them.

"I earnestly solicit your active support and your vote in the forthcoming election on July 22, 1950."

Ribbons will be awarded the first five places in Quarterhorse classes and first three places in other classes. A Quarterhorse Assn. Inspector will be present.

The Grand Champion Quarter-horse mare and stud trophies are given by the American Quarter-horse Association. The other trophies were ordered by the trophy committee. Chase Holland, San Angelo jeweler, stated that he would donate a trophy to the show, but did not state to which class horse it would go.

The show committee decided to add a gelding class for this year. This class will show the spectators just what kind of offspring the sires and dams produce.

Mrs. Glenn Mayes of Garden City is going to present an extra trophy in memory of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Sullivan. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan were the raisers and owners of Ole Nub. According to Mrs. Mayes, her parents were pioneers in Quarter-horse breeding in West Texas.
