RED CROSS DRIVE REACHES $324.00

The local Red Cross drive was started last Friday, under the direction of Miss Sue Nelson, Roll Call Chairman for this county.

On Thursday morning of this week, $324.05 had been turned in by workers to Miss Nelson.

With hopes of winding up the drive before too long, Miss Nelson urged the people to make their contributions soon as possible. With expanding facilities, due to the Korean war, more money is needed than last year, it was pointed out.

Volunteer workers in the drive are L. C. McDonald, Mrs. Nan Davis, George Blackburn, Mrs. C. C. Ainsworth, Mrs. Nelson McClellan, Mrs. T. F. Foster, H. A. Chapple, W. R. Morgan, Mrs. Finis Westbrook, Mrs. E. F. McEntire, Mrs. Anna Lee Johnson, Jeff Davis, J. T. Davis, Roland Lowe and H. L. Hildebrand.

Lions Hear Area Scout Leaders

Boy Scout executive P. V. Thorsen of Midland and other Scouters addressed the Lions club members at the luncheon Wednesday at the Community Center.

Thorsen, executive of the Buffalo Trail Council out of Midland, was one of a three-man Scouter crew down for the day. Joe Pickle and Jimmy Hale, both of Big Spring, talked on Boy Scout work. Sterling County is a part of the Buffalo Council unit.

Other guests were Chesley McDonald, local Scouter, Kack Cole, local Scoutmaster and H. E. Granberry of Dallas.

McDonald told of progress on finishing the local Scout house. He said work was nearing completion and that the Boy Scouts, under Cole's leadership, would soon be meeting in the house.

Named On Pastures Improvement Committee

Jim Butler, head of the State Highway Department here, has been appointed a charter member of the Better Pastures Committee of Texas by Governor Allan Shivers. Butler's appointment was recommended by C. W. Voyles, the permanent chairman of the set-up for Texas.

Mrs. Chesley McDonald Elected P.T.A. Head

Mrs. Chesley McDonald was elected president of the P.T.A. for next year at the regular meeting of the organization last week. To serve with her are Mrs. Martin Reed, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Worth Allen, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Finis Westbrook, 3rd vice-president; Mrs. David Glass, secretary; and Mrs. C. T. Williams, treasurer.

Following the devotional, led by Mrs. C. D. McEntire, Mr. James Miller discussed "Creating in Children a Taste for the Good." Kathryn Weimer entertained with two piano numbers.

Mr. Johnny Ozee's eighth grade pupils presented "Lochinvar" in a pantomime, much to the delight of the entire audience.

Plans are being made for representatives to attend the Sixth District Conference in Big Lake on March 28. Any P.T.A. member wishing to go may contact Mrs. David Glass, president or Mrs. Henry Bauer, secretary.

Price Stabilization Clinic In Angelo March 21

San Angelo, Texas, March 14—A representative from the District Office of Price Stabilization in Ft. Worth will be in San Angelo on March 21 to hold a clinic on Ceiling Price Regulation number seven.

OPS regulation seven requires merchants to file a pricing chart on certain clothing and household items. Deadline for the filing of such charts is March 29.

The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday, March 21, on the Roof Garden of the St. Angelus Hotel. The public meeting is being held for merchants in the San Angelo area.

A member of the OPS board in Fort Worth will attend the meeting to explain the regulation and hold an open forum to answer any questions relative to the compiling and filing of OPS charts.

According to Guy Witherspoon, of the Fort Worth office, other meetings have been scheduled in other Texas cities including Brownwood, Abilene, and Wichita Falls. Local arrangements for the San Angelo meeting are being handled by the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce.

Regulations in Judge's Office

The O.P.S. regulation number seven, which pertains to the filing of ceiling prices by merchants, are to be had in the office of County Judge G. C. Murrell.

"Covering the County"

By Garlyn Hoffman, Co. Agent.

If any of you are planning to plant corn when it rains, now is the time to begin getting ready. The hybrid corns are the most productive. The yellow hybrids seem to do best in West Texas and they include No. 18, 24, and 28. If you want a white hybrid, the No. 1100 appears to give the best results in West Texas. In West Texas the yellow hybrids have outproduced the white hybrids. The hybrid corns will usually increase the yield from 20 to 50 per cent over the regular open-pollinated variety of corn.

As it is about time to begin planning what you are going to plant for the coming year, here are seven steps to remember about and other crops. They are: (1) fit cotton into balanced farming, (2) take care of your soil, (3) act together on the best variety, (4) make your labor count, (5) control cotton insects and diseases, (6) pick and gin for higher grades, and (7) sell for grade, staple and variety value.

You should buy your cotton insecticide now so you will be able to hit the insects the first time they show up.

Rose pruning should be done as soon as possible. It is not recommended to do excessive pruning on roses as it reduces the life and number of blooms. Pruning should be done primarily for shaping the rose bush. The climbing rose should be treated differently from the bush rose. They should be pruned almost to the ground after they have bloomed in the spring. If your roses are budded or grafted it is not recommended to prune them below the budded or grafted zone.

There will be a meeting of all the Rodeo Association Tuesday night, March 19, at 8:00 p.m. in the County Agent's office.

TALENT SHOW AND BOX SUPPER TONIGHT AT SCHOOL

Sponsored by the senior class of Sterling high school, there will be a box supper and talent show tonight at 7:30 in the school gym.

Awards will be made to the winners of the talent show. A prize will be given to the best decorated box.

Admission will be by box or by donation. Any lady, bringing a box, and her escort, will be admitted free. Immediately after the auction of all boxes, the Senior class will serve coffee and iced tea to those who wish to eat in the gymnasium. A few family boxes will be provided if you would like to buy an unattached box and eat with your friends.

Proceeds will be used for Senior activities. The class will appreciate your support.

JIMMIE D. HALL RECALLED TO ARMY

Captain Jimmie D. Hall has been recalled into the army and will report for duty in Washington, D. C. on March 24. They left here Wednesday, after a visit with Mrs. Hall's mother, Mrs. L. R. Knight. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Heller of Weimar visited her at Mrs. Knight's this week. Mrs. Heller is the former Dixie Knight.

Mrs. James McWhorter was taken to a hospital in San Angelo early Wednesday night by Lowe's ambulance.

Sandra Ainsworth Listed On College Honor Roll

Sandra Ainsworth, sophomore at Sul Ross College at Alpine, has been listed scholastically on the upper fifteen per cent for the fall semester, it was announced this week. Of the almost 1,000 students registered during the semester, only 35 rate the upper fifteen percent.

Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Ainsworth, manager of the Spade Ranch, and is the granddaughter of Mrs. G. G. Ainsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Butler and Elroy spent last week-end in San Angelo visiting the Norman Butlers.

Salesman Has Heart Attack

R. T. Powell, salesman for the San Angelo Motor Parts Co., had a heart attack while at the Sterling Motor Company here early last Friday morning. Lowe's ambulance took him to a San Angelo hospital. He was not doing very well at the last report.

Sterling Independent Basketball Girls Defeat Midland

The Sterling City women's basketball team defeated the Midland Flying Sisters, 29 to 28, here Tuesday night.

Dottie Colbert of Midland was high-pointer with 17. Edith Campbell of Midland scored six and Eloise Graham of Midland two.

The Sterling City scorers were Yvonne Avery nine, Darlene McEntire seven, M. Huff, Mary Davis and Betty Davis four each.

Infectious, Congenital, And Hereditary Diseases

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

The difference in the names applied to diseases are frequently confusing. Someone may speak of a "catching" disease as an infectious disease, a communicable disease or a contagious disease because they are all three "catching" but the method of getting the disease may vary slightly.

Disease you catch when the air, food or water are the source of infection make up the broad classification of infectious diseases. If the infection that causes disease originates with animal or man, either contact with the animal alive or the eating of any part of the diseased animal, it is known as a communicable disease. If the disease is caused by direct contact with a person, usually from germs that do not live long in the air or on food, it is a member of the contagious family.

Diseases are changes in the normal manner in which you develop. When a germ causes the change from normal, it is an infectious disease. When you are born without normal function of some part of you, it is a congenital disease; when you are born with some variation from normal that is not evident at birth but is likely to show up during some phase of growth, it is a hereditary disease. When some organ of your body fails to function in the normal manner, due to either a defect you were born with or a defect created by germs, it is called an organic disease.

There are many different classifications of diseases, but the infectious family is the most numerous. Infections are today pretty well under control, however, with the many new miracle drugs and are not as frequently the cause of death as other forms, such as organic diseases that affect the heart.

Keeping the germs of infection from food and water by sanitation methods has been one of the major controls of infectious diseases. The reporting of communicable diseases by public health officials has meant they can seek the source of a disease and by eliminating the source can cut short its spread. The airborne diseases remain as the greatest threat because the air is more difficult to sanitize and isolate, though the new medicines and vaccinations, immunizations and inoculations can protect the body to some extent even if the infection does enter the body.

That period while the infection is in the body trying to grow and overcome the body's defenses is known as the incubation period. When you have been vaccinated for smallpox, there are smallpox de-

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Cherry Former Residents Dead

Both Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Cherry, former residents here, died at their home in Ballinger last week-end, and were buried there. Both elderly, the Cherrys had been in ill health for a number of years.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE ELECTION - HERE APRIL 7

There will be a school trustee election here on Saturday, April 7. Two members of the board terms are expiring. They are Hal Knight, president and Riley King.

The Homer Hagertys of McCamey visited the Lee Hunt's here last week-end.

CROP INSURANCE is proving successful as a result of an experimental program begun three years ago. Before then an insurance program applied to cotton and wheat turned out to be too expensive and Congress ordered it dropped.

The experimental plan which followed has been closely watched to see if such a program, carefully supervised and operated, could be actuarially sound.

Last year's reports of the previous year's experiment looked good. More counties were added to further test the plan. The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation has recently announced that a net profit was made during the past year, as was true the year before.

Today, the insurance experiments are applied to cotton, wheat, flax, beans, corn, and to multiple coverage of all crops produced on a farm. New crops are added each year. It may be a bit early to become too optimistic, but every indication now points to a permanent, actuarially sound, crop insurance program, within the reach of the average farmer who desires to insure his crop against the hazards of drought, grasshoppers, insects, floods, hail, and other uncertainties that plague the average producer.

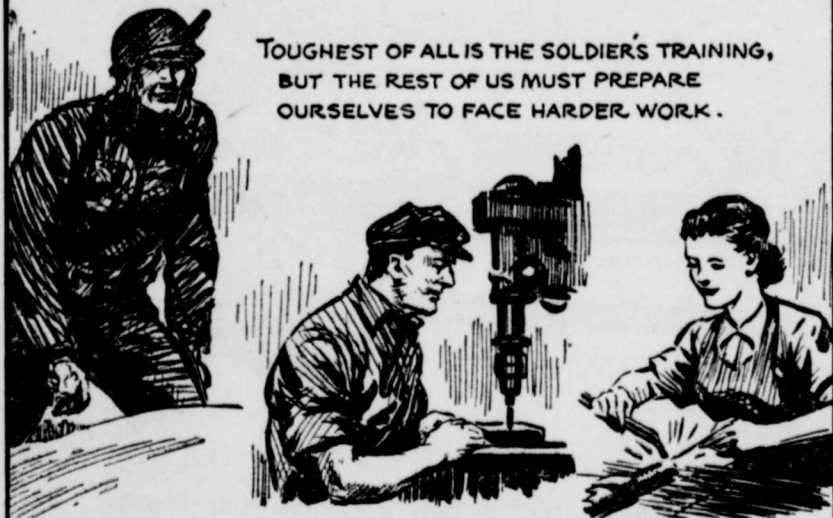

In charge of Accounting in the Crop Insurance branch office in Chicago is Wilbur Brown of Richland Springs. Brown came to Washington last week to attend a business meeting and make a report to the top men in the Insurance Agency.

Other recent visitors have included Earl Rudder of Brady, Ernest Bayett of Telegraph, Bob Reed of San Angelo, Forrest Kyle of Bangs, Wendell Mayes of Brownwood, J. V. Hammett of Lampasas, O. L. Hammett of Huntsville, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wardlaw of Del Rio, M. D. Fanning, Bryan Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brown, Newell Griffin, and Charles Upton Sheffield—all of San Angelo.

Editorial
WHAT SONG FOR TEXAS?

Along about the middle of the last century, there was a cryptic notation which law-enforcement officers in the east placed upon their records when they were unable to serve warrants. The notation read: "GTT."

"GTT" was part and parcel of everyday language then. It meant "Gone to Texas." The wild bucks who got into a little trouble and had to leave town in the middle of the night streamed into Texas by the hundreds. So also did hundreds of more or less professional criminals.

As a result, the empire that Sam Houston and the other giants were building in Texas had a certain lawless flavor for many years, to put it mildly. But at the same time leavened by the thousands of venturesome but solid citizens who came here too, out of the ferment of the early desperate years there grew a firm and great tradition of personal freedom in Texas. Texans insisted upon being left alone. They insisted upon working out their destinies in their own way. They knew that there was a "ceiling unlimited" for any man who threw himself into the struggle of life with courage, resource, and initiative.

Now in 1951, there is a good deal of evidence—we can only hope it is superficial and transitory—that a good many Texans are developing a "father-complex" to replace that responsible self-reliance. The counties want the state for their father (rural road subsidies is an example) and the state wants the Federal Government for its father (Federal subsidies to education, highways, public health, and public welfare are examples.)

In the east a hundred years ago, "Gone To Texas" was used as a synonym for "gone to the dogs". Let us hope that in another hundred years Texas will not really have gone there. It's easy for a county or a state to lose its freedom as well as for the individual; it is hard to regain independence. Never forget the ancient maxim: "Whose bread I eat, his song I sing."

BAPTIST W.M.S.

Mrs. Roy Morgan was hostess to the Baptist W.M.S. at her home here Monday afternoon. A mission study was led by Mrs. J.A. Revell.

Present were Mrs. Lee Augustine, Mrs. Henton Emery, Mrs. Lee Hunt, Mrs. Ray Lane, Mrs. Harold Shaw, Mrs. W. B. Everitt, Mrs. C. N. Crawford, Mrs. Mud Allen, Mrs. J. A. Revell, Mrs. Jack Douthit and Mrs. D.C. Durham and Mrs. Morgan.

It was announced that the Mrs. Tucker's Co. will give 5c for every box end with her picture on it from Meadowlake Oleo to the Texas Baptist Children's Home at Round Rock, Texas. The tops have to be in their possession by April 4. If any one will give such box ends to the W.M.S., they will be sent to the home in time for the offer from Mrs. Tucker, it was announced. Call Mrs. Lee Hunt or Mrs. J. A. Revell if you have any such box ends.

Named On Oil and Gas Statewide Organization

DALLAS, Texas, March 14—Mrs. Prebble Durham Morgan, Sterling City, has been named County Chairman for Sterling County in the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's statewide organization, Charles E. Simons, Association General Manager, announced today.

Mrs. Morgan will serve in the district organization headed by H. E. Chiles, Jr., Midland, Association vice president for the Permian Basin District.

The Texas Mid-Continent is composed for oil and gas operators, royalty owners, land owners, and other interests associated with the state's petroleum industry.

Marine Recruiter Here March 21

A representative of the United States Marine Corps recruiting service, Sgt. Jim Purvis, out of San Angelo, will visit the post office in Sterling City March 21 to interview young men and women for enlistment in the Regular or Reserve Marine Corps.

Young men with no prior service between the ages of 17-29 years, inclusive, are eligible. Young women from the ages of 18-29 years, inclusive, can enlist provided they are high school graduates, single, and in good standing in their community.

Veterans of the military receive special consideration and are eligible to sign with the Marines up to their 31st birthday. In some cases men who exceed that age can be enlisted.

Former Marine sergeants and those of lesser rank can re-enlist for the duration at their old rank.

All men with prior military service must have been honorably discharged. Men with dependents, vets or non-vets, can now enlist.

Enlistment periods are for three or four years in the Regular Marine Corps or for the duration in the Reserves, where a man has the same privileges and opportunities as the Regulars.

Watch Out For The "Blind-Spots"

Stopped by Squint Miller's farm the other day and saw a vinegar bottle in his kitchen with an oversized cucumber inside it. The cucumber filled the whole bottle.

"What's a cucumber doing in there?" I asked him. "That's my 'blind-spot' reminder," says Squint. "My grandmother kept one in her kitchen to remind her to take stock of herself now and then."

"I slipped that bottle over the cucumber when it was just starting to grow on the vine," he went on. "And like certain viewpoints, not noticed, it just grew and grew—now it's there to stay."

From where I sit, we could take a cue from Squint and watch for our own "blind-spots" and prejudices before they grow too big to get rid of. We've got to respect our neighbor's right to his preferences . . . preferences for a certain make of car, a favorite movie star, or a temperate glass of beer after work. We won't be tripped by any blind spots if we keep our eyes—and minds—open!

fenses present in the blood stream and perhaps other parts of your body; when they see a smallpox germ in your body, they call out the guards and destroy those germs before the germs can gain a foothold. You may have natural immunity to some other disease germ which work the same way, but the shots you get to prevent disease are shoved into you just for that purpose.

If your bodily defenses are not strong enough to keep the invader from spreading, then you come down with something. The disease has the upper hand for a few days until the body (plus maybe some outside help in the form of medicine) bats it down and you are all right again. If the disease is short and snappy, it is known as an acute attack of something or the other. If the disease sticks around for a long stay and the body does not seem to be able to overcome it, it is a chronic disease. If the disease is not too short and not too long and fails to produce the usual reaction but eventually get under control, it may be branded a subacute attack.

Tuberculosis is no longer the leading killer that it used to be, though it is still a serious disease. Undulant fever and tuberculosis have both been brought more under control since the destruction of cattle infected with tuberculosis and Bang's disease has become a necessity. Further protection is provided in the pasteurization of milk.

The control of breeding places for mosquitos has cut down on the number of persons afflicted with yellow fever, malaria and dengue fever. Rabies, anthrax, glanders, trichinosis, tularemia and Rocky Mountain spotted fever can all be traced to animals and controlled to some extent when the specific source is located.

Man-carried diseases such as the common cold and influenza are much more difficult to trace, perhaps because like pinkeye, the itch, measles, mumps and chicken pox, you usually have "got it" before you knew it was anywhere around.
