HOSPITAL NOTES

There was only one patient in the Sterling County Hospital on Thursday noon of this week. That was Mrs. Will Meyers.

Dismissals since last Thursday include Mrs. W. B. Atkinson, Alvie Cole, Mrs. Raymond Blair and Tom Asbill.

Visit in Kerrville

Visited the Gordon Daves'

Last week-end Mrs. A. G. Daves, Gravy Daves, Mrs. Madia Langham and her son, Don Carper, all visited the Gordon Daves' in Kerrville. Gordon, who was injured seriously in a service station accident last year, is to soon have a spinal operation. Gordon was injured when a truck tire blew out as he was filling it with air at the station. His condition is serious.

Pfc. Leslie W. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Davis, now stationed at Camp Biloxi, Miss., spent last week-end here visiting his parents.

Red Cross Drive Opens Soon

The annual Red Cross Drive is scheduled to get underway soon. The drive in Sterling County will be under the direction of Mrs. F. F. Westbrook, and the quota is $756.

Such announcement was made this week by Miss Sue Nelson, who handled the drive last year.

7 Texas 4-H'ers Win National Honors

HIGHEST honors were accorded seven Texas 4-H Club members recently when they were named national winners in their respective programs. Accomplishment, personal achievement and participation in club and community activities were all considered when their records were judged. Pictured here are the champions in the National 4-H Clothing, Food Preparation, Beautification of Home Grounds, Field Crops, Dairy Foods Demonstration, Farm and Home Safety and Tractor Maintenance programs.

Leon M. Langford

Ray J. Riley

Yolanda M. Ellis

Mary Ann Goertz

Yolanda M. Ellis, 16, Plainview, winner in the 4-H Clothing Program, in six years of club work made 80 garments, 41 articles, five hats, eight bags and one pair of gloves, exhibited at 31 local, county and state shows to win many blue ribbons and $148.75 in prizes. One costume was made from an old tan woolen plaid coat and a pair of tan woolen trousers and displayed with accessories in the local fabric mart window. The Spool Cotton Co. provided Yolanda's $300 college scholarship award.

Food Preparation champion Mary Ann Goertz, 17, Red Rock, has planned, prepared and served 5,875 meals in eight years. She was state cherry pie winner in 1950 and this year represented Texas in the national contest in Chicago. She served as chairman of the 4-H Camp Foods Committee, planning menus, buying food and coordinating work. She managed a county-wide 4-H supper, serving 100 plates in 30 minutes. Mary Ann received a $300 college scholarship from Kelvinator. Outstanding work in 4-H Beautification of Home Grounds won a trip to Club Congress, donated by Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, for Leon M. Langford, 16, of Farmer County. He began his four year beautification program by cleaning up unsightly trash left from building a new home. He made an outdoor fireplace and lawn chairs for picnicking. Landscaping included a rock garden and a rose trellis entrance to the garden which contains every flower in his locality. Leon won the county beautification award in 1948, 1949 and 1950, and the state award in 1950.

Ray J. Riley, 16, of Hart, a certified seed grower since he was 13, was named National 4-H Field Crops winner. Ray grows certified grain sorghums, broom corn, sweet sorghum, grass sorghum, rye, oats, barley and wheat. He also grows state registered grain sorghums to sell to other certified growers. His yield of 2,110 per acre of sweet sudan was the greatest ever raised in Texas, the previous record being 2,000 pounds per acre. Inter-

Lions Hear The Rev. Bruce Brannon

The Rev. Bruce Brannon of Marshall, Texas spoke to the Sterling City Lions Club at the Wednesday luncheon this week.

Dealing with the corruption in high places, government in particular, Brannon proposed the way for reform, which is to begin at home—with each individual. He stressed each person's reverence, righteousness and responsibility.

Brannon is currently doing the preaching at an eight-day meeting now in progress at the First Presbyterian Church here.

March of Dimes Total $957.00

A total of $957.54 was realized in Sterling County from the March of Dimes activities this year. Such was the final report made by Mrs. Sterling Foster, who was chairman of the drive this year.

Such total was not quite up to last year's high, but no square dance was held this year and the drought conditions are worse. So, in considering all factors, this was a very good report for Sterling.

"CHAMBER OF HORRORS"

Defense officials have come to refer to the exhibits of waste before the House Armed Services Subcommittee as the "chamber of horrors". It is indicated that some members of the armed forces are disposed to write off duplications and waste too lightly. Certainly the taxpayer has a right to be angry when he reads of one service paying substantially more than another service for the same supply item.

This expression and the attendant recent publicity was a result of a committee display of various items, picked at random, purchased by the various services at prices that in some instances were far from uniform, even though the things bought were practically identical.

For a year now, the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Hebert of Louisiana, of which I am the ranking member, has been exposing waste and inefficiency wherever it could be found. As a result, multiplied millions have been saved, new centralized procurement methods have been set up, and procurement officers have become more economy-conscious. All three of the services have cooperated with the committee in this revamping operation.

Of major importance has been the Committee's drive for a uniform catalogue system for all supply items. The Munitions Board has the task of unifying procurement between the services. Already, some 15 million separate catalogue items have been reduced to 1,500,000. This is a painstaking process. In some instances, one item has been found to have as many as 50 different listings.

We are assured that once this uniform catalogue system is perfected, cases of excessive purchases will no longer result. And there will no longer be any excuse for the "chamber of horrors."

STRAW IN THE WIND

Whether we like it or not, ever since our government was founded, politics plays a big part in law-making and in party politics, particularly on Presidential election years. Evidence of politics is often bad in legislating, because too much attention is given by some Members to votes in November rather than to what should be done in some instances.

It is no wonder, therefore, that early elections and primaries are watched with eagle-eyes by Party Big-Wigs, watching for indications of how the voters may line up in November when the chips are down. A special election in New York City last week grabbed Washington headlines because an anti-Truman Republican defeated a pro-Truman Democrat in the election of a Congressman in an normally Democratic district. The vote was light, and it might not mean much. But it was a 'straw in the wind' as both Party leaders put their interpretations on it.

Some Dopesters, who get paid for using crystal balls and writing out theories and exploding others, think the "straw" indicates a swing toward more conservatism as opposed to Fair Dealism and excessive spending. If that is true, the trend bodes well for Southern conservatives who have been outspoken against many of the Truman Fair Deal policies and non-essential spending in recent years, and who have not gone along with the leadership which has been smitten with a pro-labor complex on issues where the Big Brass in the unions have favored excessive spending and many "Welfare State" measures.

Then, there are the crystal gazers who figure the South might revolt this year and thereby throw the election of a President into the House of Representatives for the first time since 1824. If, they reason, the South should refuse to accept the Democratic or Republican candidate for President, and favor their own choice, the election would

Next Week Is Public School Week

Next week is Public School Week and the general public is invited to visit the schools, reminded superintendent O. T. Jones this week.

A special assembly will be held at the school auditorium on Wednesday at 1 p.m. and it is hoped that a good crowd will attend.

A panel of six seniors will present a program at the Lions Club on Wednesday noon, dealing with the atom bomb.

GEORGE WASHINGTON The Father of Our Country

By Kent Greathouse

George Washington was born on February 22, 1732, at a farm in Virginia called Wakefield. The family was large.

George was eleven when his father died. He stayed a few years at the farm and then he went to live with his brother, Lawrence.

His first job was for Lord Fairfax. He was surveying his land for him. Thus at sixteen he had a job and owned some land.

In 1751 he sailed to the West Indies. On this trip he had smallpox. It was the only foreign journey he ever made.

In 1754 he was sent to the Northwest by the governor of Virginia. He was then a lieutenant-colonel. He was in command of a force sent to drive the French out of the territory.

Washington was with Braddock in 1755 when he was defeated and killed by the French near Fort Duquesne. Washington was raised to colonel and put in command of the wilderness. He served for 3 years, and resigned in 1758 after the French had been defeated.

In January, 1759 he married Martha Custis, a wealthy widow with two children. They lived for awhile in Williamsburg, Virginia. Washington was a tobacco grower and shipper. When the British put a tax on imported and exported goods, it hurt him as much or more than the others.

When the war started, Washington was named commander-in-chief. He fought the war brilliantly and won many battles, such as Brandywine, Saratoga, Trenton, and Yorktown, the last being the place where Cornwallis surrendered his army to Washington.

He was elected chairman at the Constitutional Convention in 1787. After the constitution was ratified, Washington was elected President of the United States. In 1794 he was reelected for another term in office. In March, 1797, he decided that the country didn't have a need for him anymore and he retired from office, which made John Adams president.

In 1799 when it was thought we might go to war with France, he was called back to duty as commander, but when nothing came of it he went back to the plantation.

On December 13, Washington went out riding in the wind and dampness. That night he developed a severe attack of quinsy in his throat. Three doctors came as fast as possible, but in vain. At ten o'clock on the night of December 14, 1799, he died, and the country lost one of the greatest men it has ever seen.

then go to the House of Representatives.

The last time the House decided an election was in the contest between Andrew Jackson and John Quincy Adams. Jackson got 99 electoral votes and Adams got only 84. However, Adams won in the House balloting when Henry Clay threw his support of Adams and as a reward was named Secretary of State.

In the House elections (if an impasse should occur and neither candidate got a majority of electoral votes in November) the voting is by States. Each state has one vote. The vote is cast by the State's Congressional delegation after a caucus. Bitter wranglings could be expected within the various delegations. In the case of Texas, most of the Members are considered conservative and through a coalition consistently oppose extravagance and socialistic measures despite the Party leadership and Administration overtures.

San Angelo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo Now Underway

SAN ANGELO—February 27—A sensational new high diving act and several special entertainment features have been added to the 1952 program at the San Angelo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo opening on February 28 and continuing through March 2.

Sol Solomon, daring aerilist, will dive from a height of 120 feet into a tank filled with four feet of water. This free attraction will be presented at 1:45 p.m. on each of the four days.

Two new 1952 Chevrolet Sedans will be given away free at the stock show grounds. Registration for the drawings will be made at the fair grounds.

A new act has also been added to the rodeo. It is the Hendricks Family of Los Angeles which includes the "Flying Twins," Byron and Lee Hendrick, and Lee's wife, Ann. The rodeo is being staged by Gene Autrey and Associates with Everett Colborn, producer.

The stock show midway will feature the Don Franklin Shows, filled with entertaining shows, thrilling rides and fun concessions. Kiddie rides as well as adult amusement features will be staged during the four-day show.

Prize livestock competing for $20,000 in premiums will be on exhibition. A junior college and the 4-H and F.F.A. livestock judging contests will be held on Saturday, March 1.

To Carolina After Prisoner

Sheriff Bill Green left Monday morning for North Carolina after a suspect in an assault and robbery case here. He went after Jack Edwards, who along with Wilford Arnold, are accused of assault and robbery, wherein H. J. Riley of Brady was bound and trussed up, and carried on to Canyon where he was dumped out and left.

The assault and robbery is alleged to have happened in this county.

Green had already picked up the other suspect, Arnold, in Austin, last week.

February 28 Is Ethel Foster Day in Ft. Worth

WORTHAM, Feb. 25—Club leaders from over Texas will converge on Fort Worth Thursday, February 28, to observe "Ethel Foster Day" and fetter their candidate for national honors.

Miss Ethel Foster of Sterling City will be honored as the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs candidate for treasurer of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. If elected at the May convention in Minneapolis, she will hold the purse strings for 11,000,000 club-women for the coming two years. To date she is unopposed.

Mrs. Van Hook Stubbs of Wortham, TFWC president, and Mrs. J. Howard Hodge of Midland, past president, are honoring Miss Foster with the luncheon climaxing Thursday's program. It will be held at the Fort Worth Woman's Club, which was headquarters for the Texas Federation before the building of its present headquarters in Austin.

Taking part on Thursday's program will be club friends who have worked with the likeable West Texan on every level of club activity.

Miss Foster is GFWC chairman of the budget, and has served a two-year term as GFWC finance chairman. Outstanding state honors include the presidency of the Texas Federation in 1942-1944, two terms a chairman of the board of trustees, and presidency of her own 6th district from 1936-1938.

She is nationally known for her work as general chairman of the 1942 GFWC convention at Fort Worth, and has served her native Texas as a member of the Texas Governor's Postwar Planning committee and on the Texas Technological College Foundation.

Mrs. J. T. Gardner of Rising Star visited the J. H. Fowlers here over the week-end. Mrs. Gardner is a sister of Mrs. Fowlers.

HEALTH TALKS

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Life begins with the nose. In a pinch—a pinched nose, that is—life can be diverted to mouth channels, but without a nasal breathing there is usually some diversion from good health.

So the nose obviously has some reason for the jutting out appearance it creates in the middle of your face. When a nose assumes larger than normal proportions, such as that of Jimmy Durante, it is usually comically referred to as a proboscis, a word which literally means "a way of providing food." In Jimmy Durante's case, his proboscis may be considered his means of a livelihood, his nose is his fortune.

Everyone's nose might well be considered his fortune, however, and the interpretation that it is a means of getting food might fit in to the picture of health, with the nose in the middle. The original Greek word from which "proboscis" was taken meant leading to pasture, painting a picture of a shepherd taking his flock into fields where they could eat and gain strength.

The nose can be well considered the shepherd of the body, and a good shepherd it is. The flock could be all those organs inside of you, each part of you that requires the food from the air that the nose pulls in to the body. So good is your shepherding nose, however, that your flock stays put, more or less, and the shepherd sees that the food gets where the flock is tethered.

What does the nose do about the food it picks up in the air? In the first place, it guards against impurities by thousands of little hairs, sticky little hairs which try to catch and cleanse the impurities before they get started to the organs of the body. There are many impurities in the air of course, and the nose has two scrub teams working hard all the time, one in each nostril, just a scrubbing and a-washing to beat the band.

With so much action going on in the nose, the air is also heated so that the "flock" of organs that will receive nourishment from the air won't get a cold blast from the outside. The good shepherd takes care of everything.

Some things have no place among the flock that the nose guards. Take pepper, for instance. That is a fine fodder for the flock that the mouth feeds, the organs of digestion. But pepper evidently does the respiratory flock, which is fed by the nose, no good; so when the nose gets hold of some pepper, it sends a signal down the line that a "wolf" is at the door, and the whole flock of respiratory organs gang up to shoo the wolf away—it comes out more "kershoo" than "shoo", however.

There are several oven-like jobs adjoining the nose, back inside the face. These are the sinuses, which might be considered the depository for real stubborn impurities that the normal scrubbing doesn't clean up enough for the flock. They are also lined with sticky hairs but since they are enclosed within the body they could provide a little more heat for the impurities and maybe "get" a few more bugs than the normal nasal channel could catch. Maybe they could be considered to do a scalding job after the air has already been washed.

The hard palate, the arched top of your mouth, is the floor of the nasal cavity. From the nose, the air goes through the nasal cavity with all its sinuses, they hit a downward dip called the pharynx, which is the throat.

The pharynx may be pictured as something like a lighthouse. The dome of the pharynx is jammed up against the bottom of the skull, the bone that encloses the brain. The dome is right at the beginning of the downward dip from the nasal cavity, called the nasopharynx, the spot noted for the growth of adenoids. Since that light in the dome of the lighthouse hits the air as it passes but has no connection with the food that goes through the mouth, it may be considered as (Continued on Next Page) the electric eye that tells the air food it's supposed to head off for the forward track down the way, going down the windpipe or trachea instead of taking the backward track, the gullet or esophagus, which is the route of food from the mouth.

Anyway, it knows what to do, the air swishes past the mouth opening (there by the tonsils) and takes out for the epiglottis, that trapdoor that flaps over the windpipe. This epiglottis does not open for solid foods under normal conditions though it seems that kernels of beans and corn often have a way of getting off the back track and going into the front track, the trachea, where they don't belong, and causing much consternation.

From the epiglottis, the air skids down the moistly lined larynx, past the voice box, splitting off into various branches at the bronchial tubes and finally landing up in the lungs.

All of this life-sustaining process started from the nose. Air can certainly get to the lungs from the mouth. But since the nose is known to be a purifier and warmer of air, then the air breathed through the mouth is not as good fodder for the respiratory organs as the air that has been filtered, scrubbed, baked, scalded, and guided by all those gadgets that make up the respiratory tract, starting with the nose.

The Sterling County Hospital Auxiliary will meet in the hospital at 3 p.m. on Thursday, March 6, reminded Mrs. Martin C. Reed, this week.

All the women of the community are invited to attend the auxiliary meetings. In fact they are urged to come and join the organization and work for the betterment of the hospital.

Last week the organization, with help from the Boy Scouts, set out some evergreen trees and shrubs about the grounds.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

With a stroke of genius, the Office of Price Administration has now embarked on establishing a dollar and cents ceiling price on holes. So far, no price ceiling has been established on doughnut holes, but it is presumed that progress will be made in this direction as soon as the bureau hires more high priced personnel.

But the ceiling price on a bungle has now been officially established by Ceiling Price Regulation No. 86 at 10 cents. Thus, anyone who makes barrels, now knows that he can only charge 10 cents for each bungle.

And it is doubted if ignorance on this bungle decision can ever be used as a defense.

For this decision of vast import has been spread over the land by vast quantities of government press releases, official printed notices, and other printed matter consuming many tons of precious and scarce paper so all would know the nation's official position on bungs.

Of course, the public is confused over just what prices the Office of Price Control is controlling.

The only squeeze of any consequence has been felt by millions of small retailers who have been forced to consume billions of man hours trying to obey edicts issued them.

For sheer waste of tax money OPS operations amaze Washingtonians. For example, industry meeting was just held on price ceilings for the electroplating industry.

©National Federation of Independent Business

Present were six industry spokesmen. In addition, fifteen high priced OPS executives were present. No definite decisions were reached.

However, OPS sometimes makes definite decisions, and they too, are widely published at government expenditure of more tons of scarce paper. An example of positive action is General Overriding Regulation No. 5.

No shilly-shally indecision is found in this forthright edict which exempts from price ceilings butterfly wings, incense burners, bird cages, spinning wheels, and hand painted used bottles. In connection with the last item, a decision is awaited on hand painted new bottles.

Trivia such as this may cause Congress to either knock out all price controls or else approach the subject from an entirely different slant.

Many Congressmen are feeling that Big Labor, Big Business, and Big Bureaucrats have formed an unholy alliance to break through the anti-inflation line at will.

For example, the railroad labor wage increase of $100 million per year was immediately followed by ICC permitting railroads to increase rates an estimated $500 million per year.

This same triple play just increased milk prices to New York infants 1 1/2 cents per quart.

Milk delivermen struck one day for higher wages. Strike mediators were immediately handed an OPS order permitting a milk price increase, so the wage boost was granted.

Do not be surprised if curious Congressmen investigate cases such as this for evidences of criminal conspiracy.
