

McDonald and Fincher Have The Champion Lambs in Stock Show

11 LAMBS, SHEEP SHOWN AT STERLING SHOW SATURDAY

The Sterling County junior livestock show featured 96 fine wool lambs, 34 crossbred lambs and 10 registered Rambouillet sheep and 10 groups of three commercial ewes each.

Exhibiting champion fine wool lamb was Don McDonald, 14, Future Farmer and son of Mr. and Mrs. Chesley McDonald. The lamb is a Rambouillet from the Copeland Bros. ranch. McDonald also showed reserve champion crossbred lamb, from the W.N. & L.R. Reed ranch.

Champion crossbred lamb was exhibited by Kenneth Fincher, 15, a son of the Orb Finchers and a FFA member. He got his lamb from codes Runkles of Water Valley. LeRuth Reed, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reed, showed reserve champion fine wool lamb, a Rambouillet from the George McEntire ranch.

David and Barbara Durham, children of Mr. and Mrs. Worth Durham, showed registered Rambouillet sheep. Tony Allen had first place commercial ewe lambs, from Dayton Barrett's ranch.

Chevrolet Dealer To New Mexico

R. T. Caperton, Chevrolet dealer here for the past six and one half years, is leaving Sterling and will go to work for the Valley Chevrolet Company in Roswell, N. M. He still retains an interest in the Chevrolet dealership in Bronte. R. T., along with his father, Emmet Caperton and his brother, Matthew, bought the Chevrolet agency here in September 1951 from Marvin E. Churchill and John Walraven. R. T. was manager of the Sterling house.

R. T.'s wife and two children are to stay here until school is out in May and then they will join him in New Mexico. He plans to have another dealership within two years in the New Mexico territory.

While here Caperton was a very active figure. He served as president of the local Lions Club and later as a zone chairman for the Lions. He taught a young people's class at the Methodist Church for six years. He handled the Red Cross roll call drive one year; was head of the local cancer crusade drive for three years; was head of the drive to raise funds for the Boys Scouts 6 years; served on the Sterling County Livestock Executive Committee and fund raising committee four years; served five years on the Sterling park board; was a member of the community center board of trustees three years; was a Chevrolet Dealer Planning Committee; and had served as a city councilman since the city was organized.

Caperton said regarding leaving Sterling City: "I want to express my deepest thanks for all the friendships I've made, the business patronage I've enjoyed and for the help and encouragement I've received in all the civic undertakings I've had the pleasure of working in while here."

Mustang Chevrolet bought out stock of parts Caperton had on hand and Raymond Blair has leased the building from the Foster Estate for use as a garage building.

Lions Hear About Stock Shows and City Water

Vice-president Fred Igo acted in the absence of Horace Donalson at the Lions Club luncheon Wednesday noon at the community center. A letter of appreciation from the president was read. Donalson is in a Temple Hospital following an eye operation two weeks ago. He expects to be home soon.

Igo, who is vocational agriculture instructor at the school, told of the Sterling Livestock show. He offered thanks to the club for sponsoring the show and helping raise money for the premium list.

Igo told of 31 lambs being taken to the Abilene show this week. Both his FFA group and 4-H club members were represented there. He told of Don McDonald taking a 1st in the lightweight finewool lamb division. Reynolds Lee Foster placed a 4th and 5th in that class and David Foster and Kenneth Fincher had lambs placing. In the lightweight crossbred class Don and Cecilia McDonald had lambs placing enough to be in the lamb sale.

Water System Discussed
A frank discussion of the city water system was brought up by R. T. Caperton, a city councilman. He said a lack of money caused some streets and alleys to not have pipes set in; but that the council spent the money to the best of their ability. Sam Simmons is to set the meters for the city and deposits for city water are now being taken at the city hall.

Caperton said that in event the water mains or pipes do not go up an alley, the city will take it to the nearest property owner wanting water and the ones further on as well as the first can share the expense of putting down lines in the alley. Then present a bill for the materials used (no labor) and the city will pay the property owner back with water until such expense is taken care of.

Caperton, a former Lion president, and who is moving to New Mexico soon, implored the club as a civic body, to not let the city paved streets go to pot. He said the members should see that the city keeps up the streets in good condition.

Caperton mentioned that the city fire insurance rate would drop 48c per hundred as soon as the water system is completed, noted that the fire insurance savings would be quite a help on paying city taxes. Fire chief R. P. Brown said he had a letter from the Texas Board of Insurance Commissioners, saying that the immediate rate cut would be 48c and if certain requirements were met in the city fire department (such a 20-man volunteer department, etc.) the savings would be 63c per hundred. And that that savings alone on fire insurance alone would pay all the interest on the water bonds as issued plus another $27,000.00 during the life of the bonds.

A question and answer session on water and fire insurance was carried on by the group until quitting time.

Bank Officers-Directors Renamed This Week

The stockholders of The First National Bank met this week and reelected all the directors of that institution. Directors include J. T. Davis, R. T. Foster, J. S. Cole, Rufus W. Foster, Claude Collins, H.L. Hildebrand and Roland Lowe.

The bank had paid a 20% dividend on the $100,000.00 capital stock at the end of December and paid a 15% salary bonus to all employees.

On December 31, the bank had loans and discounts totaling $877,074.92 and total assets of $2,925,642.44. Total amount of deposits on that day was 2,570,057.41. The undivided profits on Dec. 31 totaled $105,585.03.

Pictures Made for Paper Wednesday

A representative from Woltz Studios took pictures of Sterling youngsters here Wednesday. The pictures will be shown to parents later and they may pick out the proofs they want to be printed in the News-Record soon. A rule of the studio and the paper is—that the parent must pick the proof to be used for the paper printing. No exception to this rule is allowed. That way, the proof you like best is the one developed, made into the engraving for printing.

Parents will be notified of the time and day to lookover and select proofs—by post card soon.

Our WASHINGTON Letter
By Congressman O. C. FISHER

THE NATIONAL WOOL ACT, which expires at the end of this year, is up for renewal at this session. Enacted 4 years ago, this law has worked very well for the growers and it should be continued. Over in the Senate 43 Senators have introduced an extension bill, and a dozen or so have been offered in the House, including one by myself.

It now appears that the House Agriculture committee, which will handle this legislation, will want to consider it along with various other programs dealing with cotton acreage, wheat, milk, etc., and may lump them together in one omnibus bill. While I would prefer to see the committee handle the wool bill alone on its own, the committee's judgment on that must prevail.

WORKING WIVES would be permitted to deduct baby-sitting expenses for income tax purposes under a bill I introduced last week. At present working widows and others of very limited income may be allowed such deductions. This appears to be an injustice because if the income of a wife depends upon hiring someone to take care of a minor child, certainly the cost of the latter is a business expense and it should be deductible.

AMONG TEXANS in Washington, Bob Bissett of Junction, now Assistant Director of Engineering at the University of Arkansas, came by to see us this past week. Bob is a former classmate of mine at Junction High School. He graduated there, worked for the State Highway Department, was Engin-

Bissett thinks more emphasis should be given to science and mathematics in our secondary and high school curriculum, says too many young men enroll in his Engineering classes who have had scarcely any math or science in high school training.

The Sterling County Livestock Show enjoyed nice weather—a novelty for the show. Usually there was a blizzard blowing or a duster loosening the shingles on the barn roof, but none of these came about Saturday.

There was quite a crowd around all during the show. Oliver Werst, county agent at Garden City, did a good job of judging the show. He commented after the show that it was an awfully good show of lambs and that he thought the finewool class was the best class of lambs he had ever seen. The club members, both 4-H and FFA, are due all the credit since it was they who were responsible for the condition of the lambs. The parents who helped are due much credit for backing the boys and girls; this includes the parents of every boy and girl.

The auction sale was very good. Average price per pound figured on the per head basis amounts to a fraction over 89c. Buyers were present or represented from San Angelo, Slaton, Big Spring, Mertzon, Carlsbad, New Mexico and Sterling City businesses and individuals.

A complete rundown on the show placings and sale will be found elsewhere in this paper.

Nine 4-H club members and six FFA members showed lambs in the Abilene show on Tuesday with pleasing results in the finewool division of the show. Those showing lambs were Mitsy Davis, Clayton Stewart, Jerry and Carolyn Payne, Reynolds Lee Foster, David Foster, Jeanie and Cecilia McDonald, and LeRuth Reed. All 4-H club members. FFA chapter members showing were Kenneth Fincher, Bill Davis, Calvin Gaston, Don McDonald, Robert Quintana and Tony Allen. Others who took in the Abilene show were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Chesley McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reed and Mr. and Mrs. Riley King.

The Sterling County delegation did very well in the lightweight finewool class where they placed 5 lambs in the top 15. Don McDonald won first place on a Copeland Brothers bred lamb; Reynolds Lee won 4th on a Dayton Barrett lamb and fifth on a Rufus Foster bred lamb; David Foster won 9th on a Matthews and Sellers lamb; Kenneth Fincher won 15th on a Tom Humble bred lamb; Carolyn Payne won 27th on an R. T. Foster bred lamb. Eleven out of 13 lambs from Sterling County placed in the top 70 lambs out of a class of 235 lambs. In the heavyweight finewool division Don won 9th place and sister

Cecilia won 20th. All Sterling County placings were won on lambs bred in Sterling County. Breeders besides those mentioned were W.N. & L.R. Reed.

The Abilene show ends Friday (today) with the auction sale of livestock. Other shows that will find Sterling County participants are San Antonio on February 7 through 16th and San Angelo, Mar. 5-9.
