Dr. Percy Turner, veterinarian from Water Valley, will be in the county to do the fall veterinary clinic next Monday, November 17. On this date he will test cows for Bangs and tuberculosis for all who desire to have their milk cows tested. Letters have been mailed but in case you do not get a letter and desire to have your cows tested, call me before 8 o'clock Monday morning when we will start the program.

Bangs disease in cattle is the causative agent of undulant fever in man. It is transmitted from the cow to man through milk or milk products. The only way to be sure your cow does not have it is through the blood test.

While testing cows, Dr. Turner will also vaccinate pets for rabies if it is desired. Cost of the rabies shot is $2.50; the Bangs test and tuberculosis test $3.00.

On Thursday, November 20, Dr. Turner will set up on the west side of the courthouse to vaccinate all pets that need rabies shots. All dogs and other pets that were vaccinated last fall need to have their shots renewed. Dr. Turner will be here from 4:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. for this part of the program.

About 25 Sterling county ranchers attended the varmint control meeting Tuesday afternoon at Bubba Foster's. E. G. Pope, district agent of the Fish and Wildlife Service's Predatory Animal Control branch was present to explain how to get the best results from the program.

He explained that it is going to be difficult to get really good results from the baiting unless the rodents such as mice and rats are also controlled. They will get most of the baits and either carry them off, eat them, or make them unfit for the varmints. He advised the use of poison grain to control the rodents in the field and on the range. In accordance with this, the Game Management Association ordered a quantity of the grain to begin baiting the rodents. Then along about the first of December it will be cool enough to begin work on the varmints.

Also with Mr. Pope was Milton Caroline of San Antonio. Mr. Caroline is State Leader of the Rodent Control branch of the Fish and Wildlife Service.

The coming of winter and frost often brings a problem to livestock raisers. This trouble comes in the form of hydrocyanic acid or prussic acid poisoning. The poisoning comes when livestock eat some of the sorghums or grasses such as Johnson grass, sudan grass, or sorghum almum. Ordinarily all these are good feeds but when the growth is interrupted by frost, drought, or some other condition, the glucosides change to hydrocyanic acid which is poisonous. Second growth plants, suckers or sprouts after harvesting are the worst offenders. Older growth generally is not quite so bad.

Symptoms of poisoning are uneasiness of the animal, rapid breathing, depression, stupor, convulsions, paralysis, and the mucous membranes turning blue. Death may occur within a few minutes or it may take several hours. Animals can sometimes be saved if given injections of sodium thio sulfate and sodium nitrate.

Frozen plants can be made into hay or silage without trouble. If thoroughly cured, the hay will lose the poisonous residue. Also, the ensiling process in making silage seems to destroy the process.

Reynolds Lee Foster, one of the two state winners in the 4-H club Range Management Awards program sponsored by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, will be presented with his state award at the annual convention of the association in Dallas on December 10. His award in the state program is a scholarship to the Texas Range Camp at Junction next August. The district award, also sponsored by the association, is an engraved belt buckle.

It is very befitting that an organization such as the TSGRA

Mr. and Mrs. Dillard and Elizabeth met them in San Angelo and they all went to see the Benny Goodman program at the coliseum.

Let's Talk Livestock

FIRM PRICES PREVAIL FOR ALL CLASSES CATTLE

Cattle and calf supplies were about normal at this market for the Monday trade. The trade responded with good activity and sales on all classes were generally steady to strong as compared with the previous week's close.

Most of the fed steers and heifers brought $24 to $25, a few short yearlings on the calf order on up to $27 and higher. Four loads of fed heifers in the 900-pound bracket cashed at $25. Fat cows brought $18 to $20.50 with canners and cutters ranging from $12 to $18, a few outside that spread. Bulls sold from $18 to $23 including two loads of range bulls at $22.

Lions See Ball Game Film Wednesday

The Lions Club members met at the community center Wednesday noon for the regular weekly luncheon. A film of the Forsan—Sterling City football game was shown for the program.

Alvie Cole told of raising some money for the local stock show to be held here on January 3. The club is sponsoring the stock show and is raising money for the prizes, etc.

County agent Arthur Barlemann told of a veterinarian to be her on November 20 for vaccination of pets against rabies.

Trucker Injured in Wreck Wednesday

Billy Ray Everetts of Tarzan, a truck driver was injured when his truck got out of control and ran off the highway into a culvert 16 miles up the Big Spring highway Wednesday noon. Everetts suffered gas burns, bruises, broken ribs and possibly undetermined injuries.

Everetts was pinned in the cab of the truck and it took a lot of work to free him. Hack saws were used to cut loose parts and Simmons' winch truck pulled part of the cab away that was imprisoning Everetts. His condition was described as fair.

Lowe's ambulance made the run to the scene and brought the man to the Sterling County hospital.

PYRAMIDS AND CASTLES TO EXPLORE

The mystery of pyramids and the impressive grandeur of massive stone castles continue to lure visitors to Egypt and Syria, as they did even before the days of Marco Polo. Egypt has some eighty pyramids which extend from Cairo up the Nile. Syria has twenty-one castles which dot its Mediterranean coastline and its deserts.

A whole day, and more, can be spent exploring a pyramid or a castle, if you are curious and unhurried. Walking around the Great Pyramid at Giza is in itself a thrilling experience, though few tourists take time to do this. The Great Pyramid, built by the Pharaoh Cheops, towers unbelievably high above you, some forty-five and more centuries old, and more impressive than the tallest skyscraper that modern man has built.

As you walk, you can stop to visit the solar boat pits, to see the symmetrical streets of stone tomb-chapels of nobles closely hugging the pyramid of their pharaoh. You can see the entrance of the Tomb of Queen Hetep-heres, mother of Cheops. You can walk down the rock causeway, which once led down to the Nile and along which blocks of granite were transported to build the Great Pyramid.

Inside the Great Pyramid

Climbing the Great Pyramid is a thrilling experience if you feel strong and husky. Agile Arab youths are provided to help you. Or you can climb up inside the Great Pyramid and visit the Queen's Chamber and the King's Chamber. To feel yourself within the very heart of one of the world's greatest monuments, and the only remaining Seventh Wonder of the Ancient World, is an awesome experience, and gives you a feeling of detachment from today's world, of being transported back four thousand years in time.

Twenty-one Castles

Of castles, the most exciting Syrian castle to explore for a day is the Krak des Chevaliers, a Crusader Castle not far from Homs. It stands on a hilltop among green and rolling Syrian plains, dotted here and there with tiny stone villages. From far away the Krak looks like a story-book castle. But as you wind your way up its steep hill, you are aware of its massive stone strength—of its thick surrounding walls, its square keep, its drawbridge, its aqueduct, its moat.

The Krak des Chevaliers was so strong, in fact, that it was never taken by storm in battle. It surrendered in 1271. You can walk today along its ramparts, visit its chapel, its refectory, look seaward to the Mediterranean from its round towers, and dream of knights in armour who lived here, two thousand strong, in the early thirteenth century offering hospitality and succor to pilgrims to the Holy Land.

Should pyramids and castles become your hobby, you can easily arrange a pyramid itinerary or a castle itinerary for one of your visits to the United Arab Republic. In Egypt, in addition to the Great Pyramids, the pyramids of Dahshur, Sak-kara, Abu Sir, Lisht, Hawara, Meidum, Abu Roash are interesting to visit. Syria's most fascinating castles include Sah-yun, Marqab, Tartus, Kasr el Hair, Aleppo's Citadel, and the picturesque Turkish castle which stands on a treeless hilltop overlooking the desert caravan of Palmyra over which the beautiful and gifted Queen Zenobia once ruled.

How to make a teen-ager believe in Santa:

Give her a color telephone of her very own and you'll make her the happiest young lady in town this Christmas!

What's more, a phone of her own leaves mother's and dad's line free for their exclusive use.

There's a choice of ten attractive colors to blend or contrast with the décor of her room (or his). And the cost of an additional telephone, in color, is only pennies per day!

It's the easiest Christmas shopping you can do—and a gift that's appreciated all year. Just call our Business Office, and we'll do our best to arrange the installation at your convenience.
